The junior college is still battling one thousand in the won and lost column. From indications here last night they plan to keep up the good work.

Several persons were overheard mentioning the fact that the team seems to have more spirit than at any recent season. And brother they're hitting hard, running hard, and playing hard. And those factors will win a lot of ball games.

Come time for Pioneer Conference play they should be molded into a hard working ball club that will deal misery to their overrated opponents.

Ex-Frog Dick Henderson should be at home with the running of the Dutch Meyer TCU Spread, being a graduate of that school.

Running from this formation last night the Rangers looked both good and bad. Penalties were rather numerous during the use of this formation.

Buddy Hamrick, seemingly fully recuperated from a knee operation that removed a disk from his knee, still runs a ball club as if he had ice water in his veins. Hamrick seemed to have a "consoling" effect on the nervous squad last night when he was at the helm.

Freddie Sanders was doing some fancy pass tossing from the spread formation and Jimmy Cole shows promise of being a fine field general for the team.

Too bad about his being injured in the collision with the train here last night. That'll probably set him back in his development for some time.

None of his injuries are serious, but will be plenty painful. On defense the Rangers sparked. They hit hard and fast and made secure tackles. Some pretty good downfield blocking was seen in last night's game.

The Bulldogs will be in Stamford tonight seeking to get into the win column. Although their opponents are generally conceded to be the favorites in that game.

Better football will be seen from the Bulldogs than at Jackboro last week. They're in a mood for the game, which they weren't last week.

As far as we can find out they are still hunting the driver of the car that was wrecked in Ranger the other night. The law thinks it was a 16 year old Strawn youth, but haven't been able to catch him.

The Strawn constable was told where he was and went after him, but his fleet feet again left the law in the lurch.

We've heard several people, both rural and town, say that merchants should show more interest in our rural neighbors and try to help them with their problems. For what helps the rural population benefits the town.

Meetings are held quite frequently in rural communities to discuss their problems and local leaders who would attend might help in some way if they would go and try. Anytime you do anyone a favor they can show their appreciation by helping you.

More interest in rural problems, to put it bluntly, would no doubt mean more business for Ranger merchants.

Ranger has a new driver license examiner, this time it's a home town boy, Murray Peterson. Murray left here some time ago to go into that work and has been heretofore stationed in Waco. When this division came open he applied for and got a transfer and will operate out of Eastland to surrounding towns.

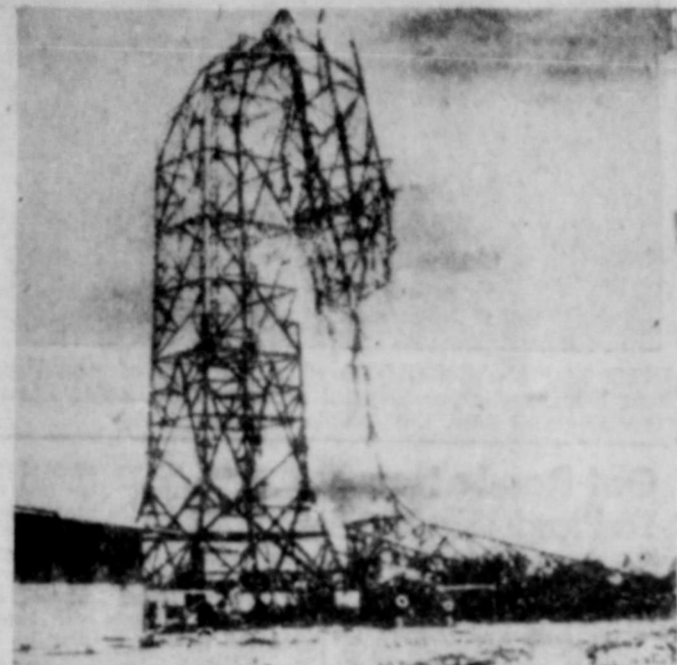

At the time he went into the Highway Patrol License Examiners Division Murray was a student at Ranger Junior College.

Lions Vote RJC One Scholarship

The Lions Club voted to award a scholarship for some one student to Ranger Junior College for 1952-53 as has been the custom for the past several years at Thursday noon's meeting. This and the announcement of several meetings comprised the meeting Thursday. The Lion who was scheduled to bring the program was unable to do so and the Lions adjourned.

One new member, Shelby Parnell, was introduced to the club.

BULLDOGS MEET STAMFORD AS UNDERDOG TONIGHT AT 8 P.M.

Defensively the Bulldogs are predicted to hold their own in battling Stamford there Friday night. In last year's meeting of the two squads Stamford held Ranger scoreless for the first and last time that year by beating them 7 to 0.

This year Stamford is again recognized as a threat in their district in 2-A competition. Fred Sanner, Abilene Reporter-News sports writer predicted the Bulldogs would fall to Stamford by 14 points, with the final score reading 21 to 7.

After a week of the hardest workouts the local field has seen in many a moon the Bulldogs will probably be primed at least mentally for tonight's game. How they will react while on the offense is the question.

Injuries will block a full showing of the team's ability at Stamford as it did at Jackboro. Fullback-tackle J. L. Barnes will see little or no action; halfback Billy Don Browning is another on the list who may ride the bench, while principal ground gainer Charles Massegee has a pulled muscle that may keep him from operation with the team. Eddie Wallace, victim of two freak injuries to his knee, is still listed among the sidelines two games deep in the season. Wallace was a promising candidate for one of the backfield slots in the pre-injury calculations.

This past week the team has received intensive schooling in tackling and blocking in the line. A weakness that stuck out like a sore thumb this past Friday.

The backfield has seen its share of hard knocks along with the forward brawn in pre-Stamford workouts. Improvement will be shown accordingly, but whether they will be able to cope with the veteran manned Stamford eleven is a question that remains to be answered on the 100 yard green field tonight.

Charles Massegee starting at right half is still a question, Jimmy Cantrell will occupy left half, Scott Forney has been shifted and will start at fullback, and Gerald Hagwell will do the field general's functions.

On defense Tommy Hinds shifts to halfback, Forney out replaced by Herbert Williams at defensive left end; Cantrell bows out in favor of Brada who will play tackle; James goes for Hill at the other defensive tackle slot.

The deceased passed away Thursday evening in a Ranger hospital after a long illness. He was born April 5, 1869 in Georgia and married the former Medora Yaws in Bastrop County July 19, 1891.

To this union survive in addition to his wife, four sons, J. A. and Virge of Ranger, J. T. of Lubbock, and Buster of Toledo, Ohio; two daughters, Mrs. Carl Eakin of Lubbock and Mrs. Boyd LaQuey of Breckenridge. Two brothers, C. A. of Rising Star and Buek of Sweetwater, 10 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren also survive.

Rev. Ralph Perkins and Rev. A. Lynn Robbins will officiate at the services at 2 p.m. Interment will be in the Evergreen Cemetery in Ranger.

Pallbearers will be H. O. Woods, Jr., A. H. Powell, Joe Faircloth, Jack Mace, T. I. (Ike) Lee, and Leo Monte, all of Ranger. Killingsworth Funeral Home will be in charge of arrangements.

Syndicate In Deal For RKO Picture Firm

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (UP)—A once obscure Chicago salesman has announced that a syndicate he heads will purchase Howard Hughes' interest in RKO Pictures, Inc., for $7,350,000.

A spokesman said the sale papers were to be signed in Los Angeles soon by the syndicate headed by Ralph E. Stolkin, 33-year-old Chicago entrepreneur who parlayed a $15,000 loan after the war into a multi-million-dollar business.

The sale includes 1,050,000 shares of RKO stock, approximately 30 per cent of the outstanding stock in the motion picture studio.

Hughes' industrialist-movie maker who brought such stars as Jean Harlow and Jane Russell to the screen, would relinquish all interest in the studio under the terms of the sale.

Stolkin is president of Empire Industries in Chicago. He is vice president of National Video Corp., manufacturers of television tubes and holds large oil, gas and ranching interests in Texas, the spokesman said.

Stolkin's associates in the RKO transaction are Edward Burk and Robert Hayes, both of San Antonio, Tex., and Ray Ryan, San Antonio and Evansville, Ind.

The spokesman said Stolkin's big boost came in the East Texas oil fields, where he went into business with Burk, Hayes and Ryan with half of his profits from Empire Industries.

The studio will resume production as a result of the sale, the spokesman said.

The latest and "more correct" version of the interview was reported by Richard H. S. Crossman, a journalist and lieutenant of left-wing British Laborite Aneurin Bevan.

Crossman detailed in the current issue of the left-wing New Statesman and Nation a recent discussion he had on the Stalin interview with Nenni in Italy.

Nenni gained the impression in the interview Stalin had a much higher regard for Europeans and the British than the Americans, Crossman said. The Russian premier "found it difficult to take Americans seriously and seemed to derive a jocular pleasure from discussing diplomacy," Nenni was quoted as saying.

The Crossman-Nenni account said Stalin was confident Russia could hold its own in a competitive armaments race because the Soviet bloc could stand the economic strain better than the West. However, it added, Stalin said he would do everything possible to avoid any provocative action."

Other major points in the Crossman-Nenni interview were:

1. The Kremlin did not believe the world situation has deteriorated in the last two years.

STALIN SAYS HE IS ANXIOUS TO AVOID OUTRIGHT BATTLE

LONDON, Sept. 19 (UP)—Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin was quoted Friday as saying he was anxious to avoid a shooting war but was fully prepared for a 10 to 15-year cold war.

The Soviet leaders' views were contained in a revised version of an interview he granted Italian pro-Communist Socialist leader Pietro Nenni last July at the Kremlin.

2. Strategic airpower is not a "decisive weapon," Stalin acknowledged it could wipe out both Moscow and New York but adds the U. S. lacks the land forces necessary to occupy territory on any considerable scale.

3. He has written off prospects of a successful four-power conference to unify Germany.

4. He is pleased with the U. S. action in Korea because he thinks it has swung Asian opinion against America and has tied up half the U. S. Army on the Korean peninsula.

Reds, Wearing U. S. Uniforms, Take Ridge In Suicide Attack

By Warren Franklin

WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Sept. 19 (UP)—Chinese infantrymen virtually annihilated the United Nations forces in capturing "Kelly hill" west of the Imjin river on the western front Thursday night, a high-ranking Allied officer said Friday.

The officer saw the Chinese, who attacked in estimated battalion strength under the "deadly" hell of their own marching artillery fire, wounded or captured a considerable portion of the UN force on the strategic outpost west of Yonchon.

Only a handful of Allied soldiers survived the "suicide" attack which began at 9 p.m. (6 a.m. CST Thursday) and ended at about 1 a.m. Friday (10 a.m. CST Thursday) when the last man on the surrounded hill were cut down in their bunkers.

The officer said that communications with the UN force on Kelly hill were lost almost immediately after the beginning of the attack.

"The Chinese apparently knew exactly where our command post was," he said.

He said Chinese artillery and mortars had been firing constantly in the Kelly hill area for nearly a week and that more than 1,000 rounds crashed into the position on both Allied and Communist infantrymen during the hand-to-hand fighting for the position.

Relays of UN fighter-bombers flashed in on the Communist-held hill Friday, pounding Red infantrymen who were feverishly digging in.

"It was the first night I have been in," said Pvt. Efrain Yotay Ferrer of Penuelos, Puerto Rico, who was one of the few who escaped.

Ferrer, who passed the order to his platoon to hold to the last man, was wounded in the hand by mortar fragment; and was cut in the arm by barbed wire during his escape through a mine field.

"Some of the Chinese were wearing American fatigue uniforms," Ferrer said. "I can't tell how many, though, because of the darkness and confusion."

Pfe. Jaime Cortez Sanchez of Manati, Puerto Rico, said, "I believe most of the men were killed."

Sanchez said the fighting was "very close," with Communists and Allies using bayonets, grenades, knives and fists.

"The Chinese bayonets were filed down to razor-sharp, three-inch daggers," he said. "I remember mostly a lot of noise—whistles and bugles blowing and lots of yelling."

Sanchez escaped in the darkness after crashing his rifle butt into the chest of a Chinese soldier who had grabbed him by the shirt collar during the "eyeball to eyeball" fighting.

Two From Ranger Attend Farm Bureau Meeting Friday Night

Charlie Joe Owen, president of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, and R. V. Galloway, manager, attended a meeting of the Community Farm Bureau at the Cheaney Church of Christ Thursday night and reported a well attended and successful meeting, in which the welfare of the farmers of that community and their problems were discussed.

E. E. Blackwell, presided at the meeting which started with a sing-song led by Mrs. Bill Tucker. After the sing-song, A. Z. Myrick, president of the Eastland County Farm Bureau was introduced and told of the accomplishments of the organization from a county, state and national level. He stated that it was absolutely necessary for the farmers to cooperate closely if anything was ever accomplished by the organization for their benefit, and urged an extensive membership campaign all over the county.

Talks were made by the county membership chairman, Walter Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. John Love, J. M. Cooper, county agent and others.

County Agent Cooper stressed the necessity of the farmers of Eastland County, especially the peanut farmers, having other projects such as the growing of turkeys, chickens, broilers, etc. to guard against the time when price supports were removed from peanuts.

Sportsmen Up Over World War II Count

AUSTIN—The executive secretary of the Texas Game & Fish Commission said the number of hunters and fishermen in the state has more than doubled since World War II.

He made the announcement in a speech before the International Association of Game Commissioners in Dallas.

The executive secretary added: "It cannot be said that the wildlife population has improved to meet this demand. So far it has been met by lower bag limits and shorter harvest periods. There is an end to how far such curtailment can go and yet be satisfactory.

"The problem of the ever increasing number of sportsmen who go afield and cause an additional pressure on the wildlife resources has as yet no answer. Everyone is encouraged to go hunting and fishing who will. It is the job of the professional conservationists to find ways and means and furnish leadership for maintaining the highest possible harvest so as to accommodate the maximum number of sportsmen."

The executive secretary noted that "it would not be well to say that wildlife work in Texas is poorly financed, but never has it been financially strong enough to accomplish more progressive management practices that those closer to the problems would like to see done." He went on to observe that "the work of wildlife conservation is as well financed as the people of the state want it to be and will be improved at such time as public sentiment sees the need for it, and this without pleading from the commission itself."

No Bond Granted In Slaying Of Politician's Son

ALICE, Sept. 19 (UP)—The search for the killer of Jacob S. "Buddy" Floyd, Jr., continued Friday with the two men charged as accomplices both held in jail without bond.

Mario El Turko Sapate, San Antonio tavern owner, Thursday failed in his bid for release on bond. The other man accused of being an accomplice, Nago Alaniz, had been denied bond at a hearing Wednesday.

Testimony at the examining trials of both men was to the effect that Alaniz had warned Jacob S. Floyd, Sr., that Floyd was marked for murder. Witnesses said a 1952 green Packard, like one Sapate owned, was parked across the street from the Floyd home at the time the younger Floyd was shot down.

Police believed his killer intended to shoot the senior Floyd, a prominent South Texas attorney and a foe of Sheriff George Duke of Duval Parr of Duval county. District Attorney Homer Dean told the hearing Thursday that Sapate furnished the getaway car for the murderer and also for the murder gun.

The elder Floyd testified that Alaniz, law partner of the district attorney-elect, told him on the night of the murder that both he and District Judge Sam G. Reams were marked for murder.

Floyd said Alaniz also told him that Alaniz "fixed the ballot boxes" in 1950 after a Jim Wells county election.

Sam Rayburn To Lead Move For Democratic Unity

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (UP)—The Democrats Friday picked House Speaker Sam Rayburn to lead the campaign to block a secessionist revolt in Texas and keep the Lone Star state in the Democratic column.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell announced that Rayburn has agreed to head the "Stevenson-Sparkman Democratic campaign committee" in Texas. The committee, Mitchell said, will have "complete responsibility for all campaign operations" in Texas.

Daniel Seeks Sparkman Vote On Tidelands

AUSTIN, Sept. 19 (UP)—Texas Attorney General Price Daniel Friday asked Sen. John Sparkman, Democratic vice presidential nominee, whether Sparkman would support legislation in the next Congress to restore the Texas tidelands to state ownership.

Daniel, Republican and Democratic candidate for U. S. senator, said he would introduce a measure to "confirm the Texas annexation agreement and restore all submerged lands within Texas original boundaries."

Daniel said his bill would "give an opportunity for performance to those who now say they might vote differently on the Texas claim."

"This will include Sen. Sparkman—who has recently said that he would like to have opportunity to vote separately on the Texas claim."

Daniel said he would also join "other senators in re-introducing the general bill concerning ownership of submerged lands to all of the 48 states."

Daniel said he had written to Sparkman asking whether the Alabama senator would vote for the Texas measure. "He has heretofore voted against quit claim all the states, including his own state of Alabama," Daniel said.

Politics Gets New Measure

AUSTIN—Looking for a new term to describe issues in the current political battles? Try "blue hot," advises a University of Texas scientist.

"Red hot" and "white heat" are not so hot for discussions nowadays, Dr. Robert L. Stone, ceramics engineering faculty member, says. He and other University researchers are performing experiments involving temperatures around 3,300 degrees Fahrenheit—which cause a blue glow.

Dampness May Be Taken From Home Type Cooler

AUSTIN—If you're one of those persons who object to the humidity created by evaporative coolers, here's a cheering note. University of Texas engineers have started investigations of ways to take the "swamp effect" out of the average man's air cooler, seen so often in the windows of Texas homes during the hot summers.

The Naval Civil Engineering Research and Evaluation Laboratory, Port Hueneau, Calif., which has a special interest in economical cooling in humid areas, has granted $12,952 for the research. University Engineers John R. Watt and Wayne E. Long are directing the project.

Get Ready Now To Plant Winter Pasture Is Said

COLLEGE STATION—Secure now the seeds and prepare the land for planting an increased acreage of winter grazing crops. That advice to farmers and livestock producers comes from E. A. Miller, agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Winter grazing crops, he continues, will provide nutritious feed that are so badly needed now to take the place of drouth ruined pastures and meadows.

For grazing, winter crops may be planted as soon as moisture is available after the middle of September. Many farmers plant these crops in dry soil, when the soil has been prepared, in order to save time and get a crop up in a hurry after a rain. In order to get fall grazing, Miller says the crops should be planted, if possible, during the last half of September or the first part of October.

Oats, wheat, barley, rye and rye grass are good winter grazing crops. A mixture of barley and oats, barley and wheat or all three make good combinations for grazing. Barley, in these mixtures, will usually provide more fall and early winter grazing and the oats and wheat reach their maximum later in the season. Abruzzi and Balbo rye are good crops for the sandy soils of East Texas and the West Cross Timbers area.

He points out that vetch or other winter legumes may be planted with these grain crops to improve the grazing. Hairy vetch is widely used in Texas with rye or other grain crops not only for grazing but for seed production and soil improvement. The legumes furnish some fall and winter grazing but make their heaviest growth in the spring.

In the southern half of Texas, fall planted hubam, madrid and the annual yellow blossom sweet-

Drouth Curbs Bass Planting

AUSTIN—The Chief Aquatic Biologist of the Texas Game & Fish Commission said distribution of hatchery fish is being hampered by low water in farm tanks.

He said many Texans applied for bass and other kinds of fingerlings only to find that the long dry spell has either dried up their tanks or left them unsuited for the fish.

The Chief Aquatic Biologist urged that persons who have applied for fish and then have found water too low to receive the fish, should notify the nearest hatchery or the Austin offices of the Commission. Those who do so will be given preference for future fish distribution. He said that considerable damage to fish has resulted when shipments were delivered to farms where the water areas had been dissipated by the drouth.

Texas hatcheries are expected to produce approximately 15,000,000 young fish in 1952, including black bass, channel catfish, crappie, bream and goggleeyes.

The output is less than normal because two of the state's thirteen hatcheries have been out of commission because of the water shortage. They are the Cisco and Medina hatcheries.

"We are all too prone to ignore these warning trifles when we think we have even a half-chance," says Jack Kullgen, president of the Texas Good Roads Association.

"Sometimes when you are driving along at 60 miles an hour, have your companion clock you. You'll be surprised at how many times you are facing death in the matter of just a few seconds," he said.

Such carelessness last year caused a large percentage of the 266,000 motor vehicle accidents that killed 2,546 persons in Texas.

Vision Problem Highway Planners

AUSTIN—How much clear vision should you have to pass an automobile when it is going 55 miles an hour and you are going 60?

This is one of the problems facing Texas highway planners in their efforts to modernize Texas as highways and make them safer. They must make it possible for you to see a half-mile ahead, or you are taking a chance at passing another vehicle traveling at a mile a minute.

With highways built for only two-lane or three-lane traffic, the Highway Department has to depend upon yellow paint to furnish the safety factor. Every year thousands of dollars are spent painting the center stripe and warning lines down the highways.

Perfectly Marvelous Flavor Makes This Rice and Vegetable Chowder a Mealtime Favorite

Hungry folks will be completely satisfied by this hearty and really good Rice Chowder which is crowded with the garden goodness of the red, green and yellow vegetables which help the rice "make for" yummy eating.
Here is a smart thrift which doesn't show except in the pleased and happy expressions on the faces of the lucky eaters of this extra special Rice and Vegetable Chowder. It is the clever addition of one little bay leaf that transforms just a dish into WHAT A DISH—and causes the bottom of the soup kettle to appear in a mighty big hurry.

Those attending were Mmes. Jim Reed, Chick Ross, E. L. Norris, D. A. Weems, Buck Reed, J. R. Wilson, I. W. Warren, Tommy Huckaby, Della Laminack, E. W. Wilson, O. P. Ainsworth, Wynn, L. Thrilling Technicolor Film At Your Tower

—The guided missiles launched by the Navy against North Korean targets are Model-T versions compared with the sleek, powerful new models which soon will be ready, reliable sources said Friday.

The new missiles, nearing the production stage, would be "truly guided" aerial weapons, these experts said, and some of them would be capable of carrying atomic warheads.

Scientists who have been working on development of push-button weapons tended to belittle the significance of the Navy's use of remotely controlled fighter planes.

First Try At Primitive Method

Rear Adm. John H. Sides, director of the Navy's guided missile division, called the attacks by the World War II Gruman Hellcats, equipped with radio controls and television eyes, "one of the very first tries at a primitive method of operation."

Sides indirectly cast some cold water on speculation that the unmanned planes plunging into Communist targets ushered in a new era of push button warfare.

As he pointed out at a news conference Wednesday, the Navy has been using the obsolete Hellcats as pilotless, radio-controlled "drone" planes for several years as gunnery targets. About the only thing new was installation of a television camera so the control pilot, miles away in a guide plane, could see where the "kamikaze" was going and direct it smack onto the target.

TV Guidance A Step Ahead

Sides indicated, however, that television guidance of planes was a step ahead in clearing up the troublesome problem of pinpointing guided missiles on targets.

But if the pilotless Hellcat is "primitive," Sides left no doubt that all the Armed Services are readying more up to date missiles to be used against ground or air targets.

Sides said the U. S. guided missile program is "coming along nicely... showing promising results."

While the Navy's missiles, at least, are not yet in full production, he said "many advance types" are under development.

Social Security Checks Be Larger After This Month

Social security checks mailed September 3 to some 5000 people in the 16 county area served by the Abilene office were the last under the old rates of payment, according to Ralph T. Fisher, manager of the Abilene social security office. Payments due to the same people early in October will amount to about $169,000.00; this is an increase of about $20,000.00.

As a result of changes made in the social security law in July, nearly everyone receiving old-age and survivors benefits will get higher payments. Most retired workers will receive increases ranging from $5 to $8.60, although a few will get smaller increases. Increases for dependents and survivors will be less than those for retired workers. In most cases, these increases will be between $2 and $5.

"For example," Fisher says, "a retired insured worker whose August payment mailed this week is $40, based on earnings received since 1936, will get a September payment of $45; a worker who got $68.50 in the current check will get $77.10 in the first week in October. If the payment is based upon earnings after 1950 only, the $40 amount will be raised to $45, and the $68.50 amount will be raised to $73.50."

It will not be necessary for persons now getting old-age and survivors insurance payments to call or come to the social security office to get the increases. The checks they will receive early in October will automatically carry the increased amounts.

Poem In Memory Of Late Minister Methodist Church

Poem written by Mrs. Beulah Kingston in memory of J. H. Weathers, a retired Methodist minister living in Coleman. Mr. Weathers was the father of Mrs. Iva Hatton of Ranger and Mrs. Guy Cooper also of Ranger.

In Memory of Brother Weathers Our Loved One

He traveled a long weary pathway
A pathway of suffering and pain;
But he bore his illness with patience,
Smiling bravely again and again.
He watched by his side in our sorrow,
We ministered in all known ways;
We long to soothe away anguish
To brighten his long weary days.
As he neared the end of his journey
The mortal grew weaker and frail;
Still faith kept his soul safely anchored
In the Christ who never will fail
The gate of the City swung outward
And our dear one entered in peace;
He went from the road of affliction
To blessed, eternal release.
We will miss his smiles and his kindness,
His counsel, his prayers and his love;
But we trust the wisdom and justice
Of our Father, who called him above.
Then onward and upward we'll hasten
To the City on Zion's fair hill;
Where we'll live without loved one forever
For this is our Father's sweet will.
Mrs. Ruth Neely,
Your friend and sister in Christ Jesus,
Mrs. Beulah Kingston.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

That spiritual "not material things afford lasting security and satisfaction will be brought out at Christian Science services next Sunday. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Matter."

The Golden Text is from Jeremiah: "Truly in vain is salvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains: truly in the Lord our God is the salvation of Israel" (2:25).

Selections from the King James Version of the Bible will include this verse from Matthew: "Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal" (6:20).

This correlative citation from the Christian Science textbook will also be read: "We cannot fathom the nature and quality of God's creation by diving into the shallows of mortal belief. We must reverse our feeble flutterings—our efforts to find life and truth testimony of the material senses, in matter—and rise above the above the mortal to the immortal idea of God" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, page 262).

ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

Church Fathers Tell Mitzi To Take Grinds Out Of Burlesque

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19 (UP)—Mitzi Gaynor, the new performed dancing star, is doing the bumps and a hip-wiggling burlesque tassel dance in the auditorium of a Baptist church these nights—but the church fathers censored out the grinds.

Miss Gaynor, who's been a baby by sex type so far on the screen, set the town on its ear with her shimmy number.

The Baptist church also doubles at the Philharmonic Auditorium, where the local Civic Light Opera Association is presenting Miss Gaynor and Bobby Clark in "Jollyanna," a new version of the Broadway musical, "Flahooley."

On opening nights of any stage show the church executives show up to pass their verdict on what their tenants are doing.

"I didn't know that," chattered the vivacious dancer.

"I went to the side of the stage and did a slow grind and twirled this long gold tassel that hangs down in front. Then I would up with a bump."

"After the show when the producer regained consciousness he said, 'Do you know who you did that grind to?' The church executives sitting in their box,"

"They were very nice," added Mitzi. "They suggested I take out the grind, which I did. They said if anybody else had done that dance, it would be out, but because it was me, it was all right."

Returning to the stage is old home week for Mitzi. She was dancing in a civic light opera version of "The Great Waltz" when Fox Studio whisked her off to become a star in her first movie, "My Blue Heaven."

She'd never been censored in the Philharmonic before, but other stage shows have. A touring company of the Broadway musical "Bloomer Girl," had to add clothing to some background set paintings on nude ladies.

Texas Attorneys To Meet At UT For Conference

AUSTIN—Attorneys, law enforcement officers and municipal officials will gather October 17-18 at the University of Texas to discuss two of the state's growing legal problems — traffic law enforcement and insanity pleas in criminal cases.

Arthur T. Vanderbilt, chief justice of the New Jersey Supreme Court, a past president of the American Bar Association, and former dean of the New York University Law School, will open the conference with an address on "Traffic Law Enforcement From the Standpoint of the Courts."

Other speakers Friday, Oct. 17, will include Robert A. Hall, judge of Criminal Court No. 1, Dallas; "Survey of Texas Law on Effect of Insanity at Various Times and Procedures for Ascertaining It," C. G. Conner, Texas Highway Patrol inspector, Austin; "Handling Traffic Violations in Texas"; Henry Wade, Dallas district attorney; "Texas Law on Insanity From the Standpoint of the Prosecution"; John Cofer, Austin attorney; "Texas Law on Insanity From Standpoint of Defense"; and Dr. Hubert Winston Smith, University of Texas law professor, "Medico - Legal Observations on Insanity."

The conference will end Saturday morning, Oct. 18, with talks by Fred E. Inbau, Northwestern University law professor, on "Technical and Legal Questions Related to Scientific Proof of Intoxication," and Mace Thuman, County Court at Law judge, Austin, on "Driving While Intoxicated in Texas—Problems of Enforcement—Penalties."

Robert W. Calvert, associate justice of the Texas Supreme Court, will be the main speaker at a conference banquet Friday evening, Oct. 17.

Sgt. Thomas Albert Barker of San Antonio; Coast Guard Chief Petty Officer Maynard Joseph Fontaine, Wilmington, Calif.; and Flying Tiger airline employee Blair Johnson and Robert Moore.

The four injured men were the first to leave devastated Wako Island after Monday's typhoon. They were flown to Kwajalein by a Navy patrol bomber and treated for injuries, none of which was serious.

Last Of Wake Islanders In Safe Quarters

HONOLULU, Sept. 19 (UP)—The last of 452 Wake Islanders who were driven from their homes by typhoon Olive have arrived at Hickam Air Force Base, the Navy reported Friday.

The last plane in the mass airlift evacuation of the battered islanders landed with 24 passengers after a flight from Kwajalein.

They included four persons injured by the typhoon, Air Force chon collapsed when a battalion of screaming Chinese engulfed UN troops on a hillcrest.

The Allied defenders, as a last resort, dove into their holes and called in UN artillery on the attackers. The big guns fired but the Communists stayed.

UN planes also poured napalm and bombs on the Reds in an attempt to soften them up for an Allied counter-attack but United Press war correspondent Warren Franklin reported the Chinese held despite a heavy pounding.

Attacks on "Porkchop hill" and "Finger ridge" were less successful. The assault on "Porkchop" apparently was an attempt to divert attention from the assault on "Old Baldy." It was repulsed, as was that against South Koreans on Finger ridge.

B-29s Splatter Hamhung In First Recent Day Raid

By Robert Udick
SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 19 (UP)—Thirty-three B-29s dropped 297 tons of incendiary bombs on targets near Hamhung late Friday in the first Superfortress daylight raid in 11 months.

Brig. Gen. Wiley D. Ganey, commander of the Far East Air Forces bomber command, flew in one of the Superforts which hit the target, an important port city in northeast Korea, about 5 p. m. (2 a.m. CST).

The Superforts aimed their bombs by electronic means because of a solid undercut covering the target. Ganey flew in the lead bomber.

One of the targets was Chiryong, a supply area five miles southwest of Hamhung and a vital supply distribution center.

The second target was the Yeopso military barracks, which contains about 140 supply buildings.

Earlier, screaming Chinese Reds captured "Old Baldy" and another western front hill from Allied troops and fanatically resisted Allied attempts to dislodge them.

The Chinese swarmed up the slopes of shell-marked "Old Baldy," and plunged into bunkers and trenches with guns blazing. Most of the Allied defenders fell back, but some stayed to fight back through the night with fists, rifle butts and bayonets.

At mid-morning, UN troops launched a two-pronged drive up the hill to help the small band of men who would not give up. Tanks shelled Red bunkers, but the Chinese doggedly held firm.
