

Pineapple Meat Loaf Is Tops For Flavor

Luscious, golden pineapple lends irresistible flavor and eating goodness to meat loaf.

Looking for something different and delicious to serve for dinner tonight? Then try this easy-to-do hamburger loaf, glorified with bright, sunny pineapple slices as it looks like your favorite upside-down cake. You'll find that pineapple adds a wonderful fruity flavor to the meat, and excellent texture contrast. There's also an economy angle since the pineapple helps to make smaller meat portions more satisfying.

Thanks to a bountiful harvest, pineapple is back in good supply now and you can get all five types—slices, chunks, tidbits, crushed and juice, ready to serve as is, and in dozens of tempting salads, cakes, pies and puddings. Pineapple juice, for example, is easily stored, requires no refrigeration, and makes an ideal breakfast beverage because it's not too sweet, nor too sharp. For variety, add a cup of chilled tomato juice to two cups pineapple juice and shake well together. If you like a decided tangy flavor, add a dash of lemon juice. Or, treat the family to sliced bananas topped with pineapple juice instead of cream.

More Women Than Men In U.S., Femme Gain Due To Continue Life Insurance Statisticians Say

Women already outnumber men in the United States, and the indications are that the difference in numbers will become even larger in the future, statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company said today in New York.

The reversal of the historic sex ratio in our population occurred in 1946, the statisticians reported, and showed up for the first time in the 1950 census. At that time there were about 1,430,000 more women than men.

On the basis of findings of Metropolitan's statistical experts, it might be estimated that there are approximately 1,000 more women than men in Eastland County. That figure, of course, based on the probability that the county's adult population is in the neighborhood of 15,000—7,000 males and 8,000 females.

Many Factors Involved

Many factors are contributing to the increasing proportion of females in the population, according to the statisticians. The most important is the higher death rate among males. At birth, the ratio of the two sexes has been very stable for many years, at a level of about 1,055 males per 1,000 females. On the other hand, the ratio of male to female deaths has been increasing; in 1930 this ratio was 1,210 males per 1,000 females, and by 1951 it had risen to 1,333 males per 1,000 females.

Both sexes have shown a long-term improvement in mortality, but the reduction has been more rapid among females. As a result, the gain in population by natural increase (the excess of births over deaths) has been greater for females. In the six postwar years 1946 through 1951, natural increase added half a million more females than males to the population.

Males Leave U.S.

Another factor has been the trend in the sex pattern of migration. For most of the country's history, there was a marked excess of males over females among immigrants. However, this picture was reversed about 1930; in every year since then, more females than males have come into the country. During the depression years 1932 to 1936 three of each five immigrants were females. After the war the difference became even greater with the arrival of war brides and fiancées of American servicemen. In 1946, female immigrants outnumbered the males three to one.

On the other hand, more men than women leave the country. During the early 30's the number of male emigrants outnumbered females by almost two to one. This ratio declined in the postwar years, but combined with the excess of females among persons entering the country, there was a net gain of 181,000 females over males by migration in the five years immediately after World War II.

War Hits Males

War deaths have been another factor in widening the margin between males and females in the population. The present excess of women over men would be about a third of a million less had it not been for our losses in World War II.

"The excess of women is concentrated largely at ages 45 and over, where the sex ratio is 956 males per 1,000 females," the statisticians added. "This difference age, and at ages 70 and over it increased rapidly with advance in reaches 855 males per 1,000 females. According to present indications, the excess of females over males will grow, with an attendant increase in widowhood and dependency."

Use Of Freezer Popular Method Preserving Food

This is the day of trends, and the family food supply is keeping step with the general tendency to change and improve. Self-sufficiency, in providing meats, fruits and vegetables for the family table, has always been the tendency for farm and ranch families in Texas. The methods of preserving these foods have definitely changed and improved during the past decade.

Louise Mason, foods and nutrition specialist for the Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M College, says canning still retains a major portion of the food preservation budget, but freezing is catching up.

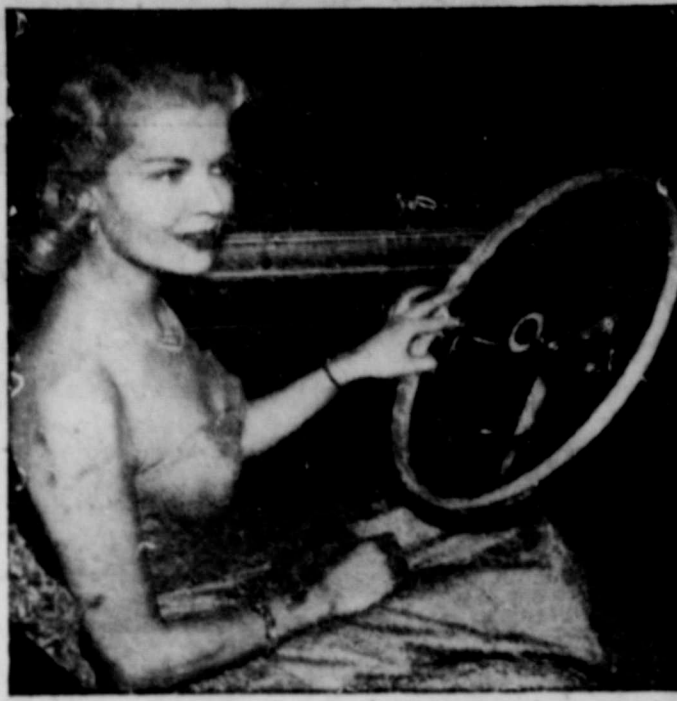

Home freezers came into use immediately after the last war, and consistently have increased in numbers since. The specialist says Extension Service reports show more families are helped each year in improving their food conservation by freezing. At the mid-century mark there were approximately 5,000 more home freezer owners than in 1949. This figure had climbed to nearly 33,000 by 1951 with many more thousands using community frozen food lockers. The 1951 report showed two and a half million quarts of fruits, vegetables and meat canned, plus nearly 400,000 quarts of pickles and relishes. The same report estimates that in addition more than 24 million pounds of vegetables, fruits, meat and poultry were frozen.

Miss Mason says, "Another measure of the increase is shown by the demand for the bulletin, Frozen Foods. This information prepared by the foods and nutrition specialists is available to homemakers in Texas through county Extension agents' offices."

Deer Trapping To Begin Soon, Officials Say

The annual fall trapping of deer for restocking begins soon in Texas, according to the Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Texas Game & Fish Commission in Austin.

He said this routine normally begins in early October and continues through February. The procedure, which involves white-tailed deer, will be of particular interest to residents in the Davy Crockett Wildlife Management area.

Originally plans for restocking this new restoration project called for substantial deliveries early in 1952. But nature intervened. The winter was so mild on the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, where most of the deer are trapped, that the animals found adequate natural food and were not tempted by the cottonseed cake used to bait the traps.

Only one truck load, comprising 14 deer, was released to the Davy Crockett area. As a result, that project has first priority this year. Up to 150 deer are expected to be released there before spring.

Nearly a dozen large areas will be re-opened to white-tailed deer, as well as wild turkey, hunting. The restoration procedure, worked out in cooperation with landowners, ordinarily requires a minimum of five years from the time of restocking until the opening of the area to hunting.

Noseprinting Of Cows Is Perfected

BOSTON (U.P.)—You may not be able to fingerprint a cow, but they can be identified positively by taking a print of their noses, the New England Dairyman reports.

The monthly magazine for New England dairy farmers said it long has been known that every cow had a distinctive noseprint, but until recently there has been trouble in classifying the prints for quick identification.

Three researchers at South Dakota Agricultural Experiment Station, with the assistance of the FBI, now have developed a classification system for each sex of each breed, the Dairyman said. The magazine said the method of noseprinting is simple: "Ink from an ordinary pad is applied to the dry nose, and a 4 x 7-inch No. 2 blue bird blotting paper is rolled against the nose to obtain a clear print."

The reason Europeans believed for year that syphilis was of New World origin is that a Spanish surgeon, the first to describe the disease, diagnosed syphilis in member of the crew of Columbus on their return to Spain.

Dove Hunt To Open in South On Wednesday

The Executive Secretary of the Texas Game & Fish Commission in Austin said "a pretty good" hunt is in prospect for the south zone mourning dove season opening October 1.

He said field reports indicate a good crop of birds in that area and added that no severe cold weather had arrived to shoo the birds farther south and out of Texas.

Meanwhile, northern zone hunters continue the dove season, which opened September 1, on through October 10. Gunners in some parts of that area were described as disappointed because drought cut down the number of birds. The luck seems to have been particularly poor in the Panhandle.

However, the Executive Secretary said the overall state situation shows improvement over the 1951 dove hunting season which was marked by generally unfavorable shooting.

He cautioned south zone hunters, eager to get their limit, to watch out for bag limits, shooting hours and gun safety. He said several gun accidents already have marked the fall hunting season.

Doves may be hunted only in afternoons from 12 o'clock noon sunset. The bag limit is ten per day and not more than ten in possession. Shotgun, the only legal weapon for taking doves, must be permanently plugged to three-shell capacity and shotguns may not be larger than ten gauge.

The Executive Director suggested that hunters harvesting doves, bearing leg bands, forward the bands to the United States Fish & Wildlife Service, Washington, D. C.

Hand-Weeding Carrots More Costly Than Spray

WESLACO, Tex. (UP)—It's cheaper to spray weeds in carrots to death than to dig them out.

W. H. Friend, associate county agent of Hidalgo county, said today that hand-weeding formerly cost up to 60 per cent of the total production cost in carrots planted in August and September.

One properly timed and properly applied naphtha spray, at a cost of less than $10 an acre will do the job of weed elimination that would cost $50 an acre if done by hand labor, he said.

"Carrots and their near relatives are so constituted that they can tolerate an 'oil bath' that kills most small weeds and grasses," he said. "It is this selective action of oil on this group of plants that makes it feasible to weed carrots with a single application of naphtha spray."

"Devotion Essential"
"General Eisenhower has asked me to acknowledge your letter," Washburn wrote Mrs. Elder, "and because the General feels that a sense of devotion to our Creator is essential to the accomplishment of any purpose, he is happy to give you the information you requested concerning his religious background."

"General Eisenhower's grandfather was a pastor of the River Brethren, a sect akin to the Quakers. As a result, he was brought up in a devoutly Christian home, in which the Bible played an almost daily role. After he became an Army officer, it was General

Eisenhower's habit to attend Protestant services on the post with his men. As you may know, these services are non-denominational, and for this reason, he never became a member of any denomination.

"Mrs. Eisenhower," the letter concluded, "has been a life-long Presbyterian, and when she and General Eisenhower are in Denver, they attend Corona Presbyterian Church."

Eisenhower's personal assistant then added, "We hope you will pass this word on to your friends. Thank you for writing."

This is the recipe of Ethel Louise Riddle, an attractive brunette with shining eyes and shining spirit in the war against whiskey. Miss Riddle had quit her Clarksville, W. Va., school teaching job at the age of 26 to work as general secretary of the WCTU's Youth Temperance Council at St. Louis, Mo.

"I liked school teaching," Miss Riddle said Thursday, "but I'm doing sort of the same thing now—teaching young people to say 'no, thanks, I'll take fruit juice instead.'"

It Comes Naturally
Does it take much soul-searching for a young girl to decide on a career as a professional temperance worker?

"There's no deep psychological motive behind me," she said. "I've always been interested in church work and my parents have taught me temperance, so I come by the work naturally and have found it enjoyable and interesting."

Miss Riddle, whose mother is a life member of the WCTU, blames the teen-age drinking problem on drinking parents.

"Christian parents who open Bibles instead of bottles on their dining room tables," she said, "remain the strongest influences against drinking and other delinquency among children."

The WCTU has taken a swipe at the "other delinquency" by including an abstinence pledge for youths against use of tobacco and narcotics, besides alcoholic beverages. The WCTU pledge taken by adults overlooks tobacco.

Good Time With Purpose
Miss Riddle is here to preside over meetings of about 50 state officers of the youth temperance council in conjunction with the WCTU's 78th annual convention beginning Friday.

She thinks everybody concerned will have a good time.

"That's our motto," she said, "a good time with a purpose."

Miss Riddle's parents operate a small hotel at Hundred, W. Va. It has no cocktail lounge.

triumph... The radio network and TV ballyhoo about "Register and vote" (the "register" word, that is) is just blah here in Texas, but reports indicate it is confusing many who want to vote in the November general election, Stanley Webb, Eastland County tax assessor and collector, reports. Many persons, he says, think they are required to register as in some states. But in Texas, he pointed out, there is no registration. However, the voter must have a poll tax issued before the deadline, last Jan. 31...

PRISONER'S TESTIMONY
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Defense Department had an comment Tuesday on reports that 7,000 to 12,000 Russian troops are assisting Communist forces in Korea, but a veteran of Korean service said the fact had been known for a long time.

Other high, non-military sources said they "would not be surprised" if Russians are attached to all high-level Communist military units in North Korea.

The veteran military officer, who asked not to be identified, said interrogation of prisoners frequently brought information that Caucasians, presumed to be Russians, were serving in advisory and training jobs behind the lines.

Air Force pilots tangling with Communist MIG-15 fighters have reported hearing the Russian language on their radio channel.

Further bolstering the view that the Russians have been serving only in top-echelon advisory positions is the fact that United Nations troops have neither captured a Russian soldier nor found a "soviet body" in the Korean war.
