

Stevenson Charges GOP Is Ignoring The Issues

By United Press
Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson said Tuesday Republicans have flopped on the "two fundamental issues" of peace and prosperity, while Dwight D. Eisenhower accused his rival of a "shake-down" on the question of tidelands oil fields ownership.

Stevenson, in a speech prepared for delivery in Casper, Wyo., said the GOP would rather have "alogans, emotion and confetti" than discuss issues. The Democratic presidential nominee said that as a result of "Republican isolationism in foreign affairs and inaction in domestic affairs," there is no question that the Democrats are the party which can "keep this nation prosperous and lead the way to an enduring peace." Eisenhower celebrated his 62nd birthday in Houston—where he made one of his strongest stands on states' rights. The GOP standard bearer said in an address prepared for delivery that the oil-rich off-shore territories belong to the states, but Stevenson "wants to take over the tidelands and dole out to the states whatever Washington wants you to have." Eisenhower said "that isn't what I call a fair shake. I call it a shake-down." Nixon Criticizes Adlai Eisenhower's running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon, charged that Stevenson gave a deposition for Alger Hiss after all the facts were known in the Hiss case. Nixon in his first nation-wide radio-television broadcast since defending his $18,235 personal expense fund Sept. 23, said the Illinois governor is unfit for the presidency because "he has failed to recognize the Communist threat—his actions, his statements, his record disqualify him from leading the United States and the free nations in the fight against Communism." The Stevenson camp appeared confident that Nixon's speech would not harm the Illinois governor. Wilson W. Wyatt, Stevenson's campaign manager, said in a statement that "a group of leaders of the American bar, many of them prominent Republicans, have reviewed the matter of Gov. Stevenson's deposition in the Hiss case." Wyatt said the attorneys would "make their views known" in a statement.

The Ranger Community Chest campaign takes the "bother" out of giving, friends. You can give once for all. One campaign—starting a week from today, Tuesday, Oct. 21—one generous gift from you, and the job is done. No more campaigns, no more contributions for a full year.

The Community Chest conducts a joint campaign for the eight agencies of Ranger, serving the community 365 days a year with service, guidance and aid. Agencies that help make Ranger a place worth living in... agencies that fill a need for so many unable to help themselves.

Sure you'll be asked for a larger contribution than you gave last year to the Ranger Community Chest. This year your contribution has more work to do. And you'll be solicited only once. You can afford to be more generous. The Community Chest solves your giving problem.

Fierce Battles Rage!

Weekend Busy For Cops; Nab Stolen Auto

Smart, if there are such, auto thieves should detour around Ranger.

Because Ranger has the "auto-recovering" police department in this section of the state.

Recovering stolen vehicles and nabbing auto thieves seems to be one of the favorite hobbies of Ranger's vigilant gendarmes who like to combine business with pleasure.

Patrolmen Joe Faircloth and Ralph Neal hit the jackpot again Saturday night at 11 p.m. when they recovered a stolen 1950 Chevrolet tan at a local service station on U. S. Highway 80.

The vehicle, stolen a few hours earlier belonged to J. B. Jordan of Abilene. The pair of Ranger officers picked up the car following a telephone tip that the driver, unable to produce proper identification papers, was attempting to sell the spare tire and wheel to "finance his trip." When the RFD patrol car whizzed up to the station a few minutes after the call, the driver, described as a 20-year-old Mineral Wells youth whose identity is known to officers, fled around to the back of the service station and disappeared into the darkness.

Ranger officers also found themselves busy about 2 a.m. when they picked up half a dozen Ranger youths and jailed them on charges of fighting. All were released on payments of $15.70 fines.

Mrs. Mae Belle Oyster was re-elected secretary—manager of the group.

All directors were re-elected during the RMA's annual business session. They include Aishman, Anderson, Ratliff, H. G. Adams, W. F. Creager, H. C. Henderson, Floyd Killingsworth, Morris Newham, and John Tibbels.

Ranger Pilot Escapes Death In Jet Crash

Lt. Richard B. Kelly, Air Force F-80 Shooting Star jet pilot and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kelly of Ranger, miraculously escaped death Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock at St. Cloud, Fla., when the jet he was piloting collided with another F-80, piloted by Lt. Alexander Ortiz, 24, of Brady.

Lt. Ortiz was killed in the collision, but Lt. Kelly was able to escape from his ship and parachute to safety. Both planes were from Pinecastle Air Force Base near Orlando, Fla.

Lt. Kelly called his parents in Ranger Saturday at noon and reported he suffered only scratches and bruises in the mishap.

UN Forces In Year's Biggest Allied Attack

SEOUL, Korea, Oct. 14 (UP)—United Nations forces battled to the top of one Communist-held mountain on the central Korean front Tuesday and secured the crest of a second in the biggest Allied attack in a year.

With Sniper ridge safely in their hands, the Allies fought desperately to dislodge grenade-tossing Chinese from Triangle Hill under a hail of Communist artillery and mortar shells.

Soft shale and sand on the slopes hampered the UN troops.

"It's a big, tough fight and very bloody," one UN officer reported. "It hasn't slackened off a bit. The assault people have been under terrific fire since they jumped off."

UN soldiers, tanks, artillery and air force fighter-bombers teamed up in the huge dawn assault on Triangle Hill north of Kumhwa, eastern base of the old Iron Triangle, and on Sniper ridge across the valley to the east. Massed UN guns were firing at the rate of one shell a second.

UPSET OF RAMS IS 'GREATEST THRILL' IN 21-YEAR CAREER AS COACH, SAYS YARBROUGH

By Grover Lee
"I'm telling you—I still can't believe it. It was the greatest thrill of my life—believe me—and what a thrill!"

Coach Boone Yarbrough, mentor of Ranger Junior College's now-famous Rams who upset the national No. 1 junior college team at San Angelo Saturday night 12-7, exhaled billowing cigarette smoke, yawned.

"Golly," he told a reporter early Monday morning in the office of Grover C. Boswell, president of the smallest school in the Pioneer Conference, "I haven't had any sleep."

He took a long drag off his cigarette, then slowly inhaled it in the nearby ash tray.

President Boswell, seated behind his desk, was listening to the a.m. conference. He must have been a little highly-keyed, too, because he didn't say much.

Praise From Ram Coach
Boone hung up dreamily, almost wearily perhaps, and—like he was floating on a cloud—made his way back to his chair. "You remember Max," he said to the reporter. "He was All-American end at Texas U. in 1947. Played some pro ball, too. A good coach and a good guy." Still breaking training the weary Ranger pilot lit another cigarette. "Max said again," he told his listeners. "Same thing he told me after the game Saturday night. He said we fully deserved to win—and our bunch had his Rams out-buffed, out-fought, out-coached, out-played."

The RJC mentor was lavish in his praise of the handful of 39 fans and the small group of Ranger bandsters who accompanied

"I didn't get back to town from San Angelo until 5 a.m. Sunday," Boone explained. "Didn't go to bed. Sat around and waited for the papers. Then dozed only a few minutes—sorta catnapped. The phone started ringing. Kept ringing. Never got so many calls. Folks all seemed excited, happy, about the victory!"

He yawned as he paused. Then he grinned. "When I did finally go to bed Sunday night, I couldn't sleep. I'd just lay down—try to sleep—but couldn't make it. I'd get up and fool around the house. Then go to bed—get up. G to bed—get up. Over and over."

The telephone rang.

It was for Boone, Coach Max Baumgartner, the San Angelo Junior College mentor, was calling from San Angelo about some prints of the movie films of the big game. They talked about five minutes. His confab was lost in the buzz of conversation in President Boswell's office.

6,000 Stunned As Rangers Upset San Angeloans

Last week San Angelo's grid-hop populace was stirred to frenzied joy with the announcement that their San Angelo Junior College Rams had been rated as the No. 1 junior college football team in the nation.

And during those same days in Ranger, home of the Ranger Junior College Rams, a cloud of gloom and impending doom had settled over the city's likewise grid-erased folks. The Purple & White of Coach Boone Yarbrough had been blasted by Navarro Junior College 12-6, a few nights before and slapped from the ranks of the land's glamorous unbeaten, the injury jinx was stalking the

But that Saturday night did come. And at kickoff time, 8 p.m., the nation's No. 1 rated junior college team kicked off to Ranger Junior College's depot-to-lose Rangers, while a mob of 6,000 rabid fans looked on anticipating the slaughter to come.

Working Their Way Thru College - USA

Dreams came true for 66 girls—all members of the biggest sorority without a college campus. Last week these members of Sigma Alpha Sigma—Midwest sorority for working girls only—took over the business, scenic and night life of New York City. On a sailor's holiday they observed careers in action of 105 food specialists in the General Foods Consumer Service Department kitchens at 250 Park Avenue. Typical of the group is Jeannette Graywala, (extreme left in the first row, top picture). Jeannette is a clerk in the advertising department of a national mail order house and had never been to New York before. Her SAS membership made it possible to have a week in New York with total train, hotel, food and expenses for around $150. Left middle picture shows Jeannette, Nancy Mulhall of Chicago and Donna Johnson of Racine, Wisconsin, learning all about recipe testing from Vera Swope, GP home economist. Right, Ginney Mahoney describes technology of jelly recipe testing to Jeannette and Nancy. The girls took part in the actual recipe testing of a new minute rice product, as seen in the bottom picture. Sigma Alpha Sigma, or "the miracle of Jackson Boulevard" sprung from an idea of Muriel Davis (second from left in bottom picture). It was Muriel who conceived the idea of a non-profit organization of working girls, which would give them a chance to explore the country at cut rates from a handful of girls in 1946. SAS now has 2500 members and a long waiting list. Most members are in their twenties. It operates on the idea that a group can get better rates for travel—transportation, meals and rooms. The idea works. On top of it all the State of Illinois granted Muriel a charter in 1948. Now there are SAS chapters all over the middle west—and the idea is spreading fast.

The mayor's formal proclamation, released early Monday by City Manager Lester Crossley, follows:

WHEREAS we dwell in a land which is the very symbol of the progress, comfort and security which petroleum makes possible, and

WHEREAS the citizens of Ranger who are engaged in producing, transporting, refining and marketing petroleum products desire to participate in the observance of Oil Progress Week by arranging exhibits and joining in various other activities for the purpose of showing how, through initiative, skill and daring, America's competing oil companies serve and will continue to serve the people of this nation and of this state or community.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Price Crawley, Mayor of the City of Ranger, do hereby proclaim the week of October 12th to 18th inclusive to be OIL PROGRESS WEEK and do call the attention of all men and women to the many contributions and services rendered to us by the American Petroleum Industry, and most particularly to those rendered by the members of that industry who live and work among us, and who we of Ranger know as friends, neighbors and good citizens.

Mrs. William J. Powell

Miss Thomas and Dr. Powell Wed October 11 In Utopia

Miss Pattie Jean Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Thomas of Utopia and Dr. William J. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Powell of Ranger were married Saturday night, October 11 at the First Methodist Church in Utopia. The Rev. Phillip C. Dioreil officiated at the double ring candlelight ceremony.

Mrs. William Richey of San Antonio, cousin of the bride, was soloist and Mrs. D. W. Matthews was accompanist. The couple was married before a three tiered arch topped with candles and entwined with English ivy. The arch, which was flanked by baskets of white gladioluses and mums, was backed by two, eight branch candelabra holding white tapers. The rostrum was entwined by ivy entangled with mums, and each window in the church held an arrangement of ferns and stephanotis centered with a candle. Baskets of ferns and greenery were placed in each corner. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported chantilly lace covering two full skirts of imported net over heavy slipper satin. The bouffant skirt swept to a chapel length train.

The tightly fitted lace bodice was scalloped to the illusion that covered the shoulders and the sleeves of lace tapered to a point over the hands. The veil of imported French illusion cascaded to fingertip length from a calot of satin leaves encrusted with seed pearls. Her only accessories was a string of pearls belonging to her mother. Her bouquet was a white orchid set in a shower of stephanotis.

Miss Louise Risen of San Antonio was the maid of honor and men were Dr. Rex Corpus Christi, brother of the bride, and Dr. Thomas Smith Taylor of Galveston, Ushers were Dr. George Culver of Houston, Keith Rodgers of San Antonio and Dr. Eck G. Frudhomme of Houston.

Mrs. Thomas, mother of the bride, chose a dress of soft green taffeta with toast colored accessories and a Taisman rose corsage. The mother of the groom, Mrs. Powell, wore a combination of Rose Tope crepe with matching lace and gold accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The flower girl, Kathryn Thomas, niece of the bride, wore a long dress of white net and scattered roses from a pink satin basket.

Others assisting were Mmes. E. B. Rooker, W. M. Dodson, H. Cummins of Woodboro, C. F. Porter, S. Fisher, H. Fisher, F. W. Jones, W. V. Gross and J. A. Mitchell of Utopia, Mmes. Following the ceremony, a garden reception was held at the ranch home of the brides parents. Those in the receiving line were the newlyweds, their parents, the Maid of Honor, the Matron of Honor and the Brides Maid.

The brides table was laid with a white organdy cloth over pink satin and centered with a three tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. The small bridal veil trailed to an arrangement of white stock, asters and pink roses which were placed in a crystal container flanked by crystal candelabra.

Serving the cake and punch were Miss Viva M. Thomas, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Oscar Johnson, and Mrs. Thomas J. Taylor of Galveston. Mrs. Winston Martin of San Antonio and Miss Maxine Radoff of Galveston presided at the brides table.

For her going away ensemble, the bride wore a navy suit flanked with lilac and navy accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

The bride received her nurse's degree from the University of Texas where she was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta. Mr. Powell attended Ranger High School, Ranger Junior College, the University of Texas medical school and interned at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, and is a member of the honorary medical fraternity, A. # DESPITE CONTROVERSY OVER OIL-RICH TIDELANDS, DRILL BITS BUSY IN COASTAL STABS

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH WASHINGTON (UP) — Despite the squabble over control of the oil-rich tidelands, petroleum operations in the coastal areas are continuing and the government is collecting millions of dollars yearly in revenues from the output.

But new drilling to develop the areas further is being held to a minimum pending a final decision in the feud between the federal and state governments over ownership of the submerged coastal lands.

Interior Department experts — present custodians of the tidelands — don't like this. But they expect new drilling to remain low until the dispute is permanently settled.

The Supreme Court decided in 1947 that the federal government has paramount rights to submerged lands off California. It issued a similar ruling on areas in the Gulf of Mexico in 1950.

Operations Underway
In both cases operations that were underway when the decisions were handed down have been permitted to continue but the federal government now collects all revenues in a special fund.

A total of $30,720,297 has collected since 1950. Of that $17,544,586 has been collected from operations in areas off the coast of California, $12,882,506 from those off Louisiana and $293,205 from those off Texas.

California collected additional sums from 1947 until 1950 for the fund but officials here were unable to say how much.

Secretary of Interior Oscar L. Chapman, meantime, has sought unsuccessfully to get Congress to lay down rules for him to administer the tidelands. He backed a bill to give his department interim control with the states getting a share of revenues.

However Congress passed a substitute bill to give title to the states. President Truman vetoed the measure and it died when Congress adjourned.

Operations Continue
While the controversy goes on operators continued to take oil out of the tidelands. More than 1 million barrels are pumped out each month from areas off California and about half that from tidelands in the Gulf of Mexico.

Some new wells are being drilled but the number is relatively small. Only about 30 have been sunk in the Gulf since 1950 and those were approved for conservation purposes or to protect the government's interest.

Some wells have been authorized on government leases when a nearby well was being operated and was draining petroleum away from the area controlled by the government.

A minimum of wells are being authorized in California under a special agreement between the state and the federal government. The agreement was needed because of a dispute over the border of the submerged lands which the government controls off California. The matter is still before the Supreme Court.

To Drill Well
One well authorized off California will be drilled by Monterey Oil Co., which is spending more than $1 million on a new technique to tap oil deposits that cannot be reached from the shore. The technique calls for building a man-made island about a mile offshore and drilling through it.

Part of the estimated 4 billion barrels of petroleum estimated to lie under the sea off California can be reached from shore by directional drilling. The largest portion cannot.

Monterey's plan is designed to tap those sections that can't be reached from shore. The island will consist of a steel structure about 75 feet in diameter filled with sand and clay. The drilling rig will be located over a hole in the island's center.

Appeals for Permit
Monterey applied for a drilling permit in 1947 to work on the idea but got approved from the federal and state governments only this year. It claims the delay was due to the federal-state controversy over the tidelands.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) allotted an extra 25,000 tons of casing and tubing to 157 oil and gas operators for delivery during December.

The agency said it took the action because production of oil-country tubular goods at some mills since the steel strike has exceeded expectations.

The Federal Power Commission reported electric utility power plants used a record of 104,965,791,900 cubic feet of gas during August. It was the first month consumption exceeded 1 billion cubic feet.

Refineries
A bureau of mines study showed the number of U. S. refineries decreased from 357 to 350 during 1951. However capacity increased from 6,963,644 to 7,332,885 barrels a day.

PAD revoked its tetraethyl lead conservation order, the first order issued by the agency. Actually the revocation merely eliminated a requirement that petroleum refiners submit monthly reports on their use of tetraethyl lead in auto fuel. Actual limitations on its use in automotive gasoline were removed April 1.

The Bureau of Mines forecast market demand for crude petroleum during October at 6,450,000 barrels a day. That compared to a daily demand of 6,400,000 predicted for September.

USDA BUYS TURKEYS
DALLAS, Oct. 11 (UP)—The Agriculture Department's Production and Marketing Administration said Thursday it has bought $210,000 pounds of frozen turkeys in the Southwest in order to prevent prices from dropping. The PMA said the turkeys would be distributed to school lunch programs.

More about Ranger Daily Times carriers: Little Jimmy Needham, 11-year-old grandson of Mrs. Leon Wells, 912 Young St., has been pitching this p.m. newspaper on local porches for a little over three months and says he likes his job "fine." Jimmy's favorite sport is football and he likes to hold down a halfback spot. He's a student at Young Elementary School where he's a sixth-grader.

Hobby? "I really like to read," Jimmy says brightly. "Specially," he adds, "adventure stories." Arithmetic, too, fascinates him and math is his favorite subject in school.

The energetic young carrier, who first saw the light of day on May 11, 1941, isn't decided as to his future career. "I just don't know what I want to do when I get big," he adds. But we'll bet, as a Times carrier boy, he's getting some mighty valuable business experience that'll help him in future years.

Jimmy has a sister and brother—both older than he is. The brother, Weldon W. Needham, is 13, and sister, Linda Lou, is 11. We're proud to salute Jimmy Needham today. Keep up the good work, Jimmy!

It'll Be Cooler, But Still Dry

Partly cloudy and cooler weather Tuesday made parched Eastland Countians hopeful that badly needed rain might be in the offing in the coming hours.

Put the weatherman this morning offered little encouragement. His forecast— "Partly cloudy

We were talking to a Ranger man the other day, and he told us he was anxious to contribute to an old ladies' home. He wants to give them his mother-in-law.

and cooler Tuesday and Tuesday night. Cooler Wednesday."

A biting cold air mass, the most severe this fall, sent temperatures hurtling down 30 degrees Tuesday as it moved through the Southwest, reports United Press.

Snow started falling Monday night in southeast Wyoming and was still coming down at daybreak. The snow was due to spread to Colorado later Tuesday.

The front was moving southward early Tuesday and had reached southern Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle. The main body of the cold air, however, was just reaching Kansas.

Forecasters said it was too early to tell if this frigid mass would follow the front south into Oklahoma and Texas or would veer east.

Frosts and below-freezing temperatures were due as far south as Oklahoma Tuesday night.

The front brought a hope of rain to Oklahoma, which has been nearly bone dry all month.

OCT-12-18 THIS IS OIL PROGRESS WEEK

Progress 1952

Texans have a natural interest in the oil industry, which is so important in their State, and in the progress made since Oil Progress Week was last observed.

Here are a few quick facts:

NEW WELLS

During the twelve months ending August 31, 1952, the Texas oil industry drilled 17,000 new wells, at a cost of over $700 million. Most of the heavy expense of drilling these new wells was paid from earnings plowed back into the development of the State's oil resources.

PRODUCTION

Production has reached a record level. Texas currently is producing about 46 per cent of all the crude oil produced in the U. S. In the year ending August 31, Texas production totaled about 1,015 million barrels. There are now 133,800 producing oil wells in Texas.

RESERVES

Proved oil reserves in Texas of 14 billion barrels represented 57 per cent of the U. S. total at the beginning of 1952. During 1951, the last year for which figures are available, proved reserves increased two billion barrels. These are developed oil reserves and the figure is important; developed reserves supply our needs currently and provide reserve capacity that is immediately available when we need it.

TAXES

The Texas oil industry continues to be the largest tax-payer in the State. Through the year ending August 31, gross production taxes alone on Texas oil and natural gas amounted to more than $137 million; in addition, the industry pays large amounts in other taxes.

REFINING

The Texas refineries will have a big year. They now employ, in round numbers, 46,000 Texans, and process about 28% of all the oil refined in the U. S. The daily refining capacity of all Texas refineries exceeds 2,000,000 barrels. A program to expand and improve these facilities has been general throughout the industry.

TRANSPORTATION

The total mileage of Texas' trunk pipe lines for oil and finished products is over 29,000. This low-cost transportation system is a major factor in the maintenance of the low prices you pay for petroleum products.

Why Should I Have an Abstract?

... is a question often asked of abstracters and one we like to answer. When ownership of real property enters your business life then title problems also come in. Buying, selling, mortgaging and otherwise dealing with real estate require correct title information. The abstract reflects the true record title and therefore has everything to do with values. That's one answer, there are many others.

In brief, the Texas oil industry during the past year continued to do its part in meeting the demand for oil. It has expanded pipelines to provide low-cost transportation. It has improved facilities for making more and better petroleum products for your use. Today, two gallons of gasoline do work that required three gallons in 1925; and the gasoline costs no more than it did then.

Tuesday Notes
Of A Sunday Morning
Quarterback

Only dropping an A-bomb in these parched pigskin parts could top the furor and excitement—and dazing shock—which struck Ranger early Sunday morning and mushroomed as the city's current No. 1 topic of conversation . . . everywhere.

review Friday night's high school holocaust, the Ranger Bulldogs 27-6 win over the Hamilton High Bulldogs, here are some interesting scribbles from the press box out at Bulldog Stadium:

Little Charlie Masseege, Ranger High's fleet 135-pound halfback, had a night, a big, beautiful night, for himself—witness this brief recap of his activity: He carried the ball 20 times and four of those journeys were good for 10-plus, first-downer gains. The diminutive Maroon & White flash streaked up a total of 140 yards for a better-than-good average of 6.6 yards per carry. He fumbled once, marring what might have been a near-perfect exhibition of pigskin prowess, but a few seconds after the ball-handling bobble he redeemed himself when he pulled down a Hamilton pass and cradled the interception 14 yards to score one of the total of four TDs he tallied during the night. A big salute to Charlie—yes, and to his fellow blocking, ball-handling teammates who helped the youngster have one of the best nights of his yet-young gridiron career . . .

And these jettings about other Bulldog backs: Bill Browning carried 8 times for a net of 27 yards. He was set back on three trips, but averaged 3.37 yards . . . Jim Cantrell was a ball-toter on 9 plays, piled up 40 yards for the Maroon & Whites for a 4.4 yards per-try . . . Herbert Williams banged the opossum Red & Black Hamilton forward wall twice for 6, a 3-yards per average . . . Quarterback Gerald Bagwell lost a yard each on two plays, lugged the oval seven other trips for a final net of 48 yards, a per-tote 5.3 yards . . . Bagwell, too, shot 11 passes—connected with End Hill Brazda once for 10, his End Chico Mendoza twice for 9 and 14 respectively and then on another pitch to the right flankman, the receiver lateraled off to Brazda for a 12-yard pickup. Total pass yardage, 45—average per connection, 11.2 yards . . .

Ranger's victory over Hamilton was aired over radio station KCLW, Hamilton, Saturday morning at 8:15 a.m. with Bob Miller doing the taped play-by-play and Smitty Smith, a genuine monicker, handling the as-usual commercials from our Bulldog press box . . . Doing the field p. a. work in the traditionally fine style were those two swell brothers, D. C. and Walter, who've been calling the what's-going-on-out-there dope for the benefit of spectators since postwar 1946 when they both reunited civitas after hitchhikes with Uncle Samuel during World War II. D. C., who's employed by Anderson Chevrolet, and brother Walter, who receives his daily bread by performing workday chores at Art's Tool & Supply and whose voice booms out of the stadium speakers, do a bang up job . . . And, by golly, we really enjoy working with them . . . Incidentally, do you know what the "a.m." and "p.m." abbreviations stand for? Walter pops that question. Can you give him the answer?

For the final-gunner, we'll report the one about the maid who rushed in to tell the master of the house, a plutocratic gent with balding pate and bulging waistline: "Oh, sir! Your wife has just eloped with the chauffeur!"

The exec, calmly flicking the ashes off his El Ropo, wrinkled his brow, then was seized with panic: "My gosh—terrible!" he exclaimed. "How in the world am I going to get out to the golf course!"

Attendance at the Baptist Church and Sunday School is on a low ebb, and it is hoped we can have more people in church Sunday.

Mrs. Cicero Rogers passed away Sunday night, and was buried in Alameda Cemetery Tuesday.

Granny Wimberly continues to be a bed patient and shows very little improvement.

Uncle Tom Northcutt who has been bedfast for many months, shows little sign of improvement.

Among the visitors here who visited in the Cicero Rogers home Sunday afternoon, were Mr. and Mrs. Anse Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Clayton, and Mrs. Clayton's mother, Mrs. Tom Lindsay, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Quinn.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Rogers left Tuesday for a week's vacation, to be spent in the Corpus Christi area fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Major Keith visited Sunday with Mrs. Keith's mother, Mrs. N. S. Partain in Dublin.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Moore Thursday afternoon. No one was at home at the time of the fire. A small amount of insurance was carried. The home a rummage were a complete loss. Practically nothing was saved as the first was not discovered until it was too late to save anything. Junior was away at work and Mrs. Moore was in Eastland working. A love offering was taken, and next Friday night at the gym a shower will be given to the young couple. Everybody invited to come and bring something useful.

The other house to burn within a 50 day period was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Joiner. The Joiners lost another home in a fire here three years ago.

Miss Frances Warden, a teacher in grade school at Ranger, spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Warden.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stewart and family of Penwell, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wilcoxson.

Buck Hensley of Fort Worth spent Monday night in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Less Williams and family.

LIVESTOCK ASSOCIATION TO STAGE BARBECUE OCTOBER 23

D. S. Buchanan, Stephenville, has accepted an invitation to be the principal speaker at the annual barbecue of the Eastland County Livestock Raisers Association to be held at the City Park in Eastland on Thursday night, Oct. 23.

Buchanan now owns and operates the Livestock Auction company in Stephenville. A former professor of Animal Husbandry at Texas A&M College, he was for more than a year a livestock specialist in Europe and the Middle East with the Marshall Plan aid. He will discuss livestock production and management in those countries.

Tickets for the annual affair are now on sale by various directors and officials of the livestock organization over the county at $1.00 each according to Sutton Crofts, Cisco, president. Livestock men, farmers as well as business and professional men and women are invited to attend the affair. Over 500 is expected if the attendance in the past years is used to judge.

Judge M. S. Long, Eastland, will again head up the large list of committees and volunteer workers to prepare and serve the food. Barbecue at this function has been rated as the finest according to consumers of it in past years.

The Eastland County Livestock Raisers, one of the oldest agricultural or livestock organizations in the county sponsors the county livestock show, holds spring livestock tours, send a group of 4-H Club and FFA on an expense paid trip to Ft. Worth each spring and has as its objective the progressive improvement of better livestock in the county.

The officers and directors for the coming year will also be installed at the meeting Crofts said. A nominating committee has been at work for several weeks getting a list of nominees to be voted upon by the entire membership at the barbecue.

Only a certain number of barbecue tickets will be sold. Those who plan to go are urged to get them as soon as possible. T. D. Wheat, Eastland, secretary, has a list of those with barbecue tickets for sale.

the Purple & White to San Angelo Saturday night. "They really whooped it up," he said proudly. "They really gave us backing every minute." His boys? He was proud of every one of 'em, even the reserves who didn't get to play in the fracas. "I've got the sweetest bunch of kids in the country."

He was silent a moment. Then "Saturday night's game—that terrific fourth quarter—that final score—it was the biggest thrill of 21 years of coaching."

Yarbrough is a native of Weatherford, played football at Weatherford High, went on to Weatherford Junior College where he continued his grid career until 1930, then to East Texas where he received his degree in 1932. During his high school and college grid combat, the RJC mentor played all positions—every line slot and the backfield posts.

Another Thrill in 1945
He started his coaching career at Throckmorton, moved to Albany and two district titles, then to Harold and two undefeated high school grid aggregations, from there to Weatherford, then to Mineral Wells, then Graham.

At Graham came another big game that will always remain etched in Yarbrough's memory. It wasn't a victory. But it was another upset.

His Graham Steers, out-weighted, out-classed, out-rated, played a heavy, experienced, rugged Wichita Falls High eleven—held their favored foe to a meager 19 to 14 win. Graham folks still talk about that one. That's the one that put Graham in the football business. Wichita Falls, of course, went on to miss winning the 1945 state title by a whisker.

Yarbrough is happily married to the former Miss Gussie Carroll of Weatherford, and they have a son Boone Carroll, 12. Is young Boone a football enthusiast?
"Nope. Baseball's his favorite sport," said Boone. "But that's okay."

The reporter was kicking a gelo Junior College, 7 — those 6,000 spectators, all but about 40 of them (the total Ranger entourage) plunging for their long-crowded seats out of the back of the stadium. They were stunned, bewildered, dazed. It couldn't have happened. It shouldn't have happened. But it did.

Because following three mad quarters of pins-and-needles, nip-and-tuck play, Coach Boone Yarbrough's underdog Rangers exploded.

Twice before that climatic fourth stanza when the Rangers punched the Rams off their mighty perch and battered them into the clogged tanks of the beaten, the San Angeloans had stabbed deep into Ranger territory—inside the RJC 10. But both assaults were thrown back by a determined defense.

In the final quarter, after missing on a field goal attempt from the Rangers' 13, the San Angeloans lost the ball to the Rangers.

From their own 20, piloted by Quarterback Del Barker, the Purple & Whites got in the saddle and began to ride but tall Baker, a cool-as-a-cucumber passer, hit Freddy Samners twice for first downs, pitched into the arms of Rusty Talbot for another first in the middle. From there Baker shot one to Bobby Skipworth, who juggled the oval madly for a few seconds, then steamed down the right sideline to reach the 3 on a breath-taking play. There Baker passed to Talbot for the first tally of the night.

Ranger Passes Pay
Ranger kicked off to San Angelo, and ace Ram Quarterback Henderson, scooped up the boot on his own goal line, raced back to midfield—nearly loose for a touch-down-jump. But he was nabbed at that spot by Charles Blanton, Ranger halfback. A Ram pass connected Henderson with the 17. And there the Ranger defense tightened and the San Angelo attack fizzled with two thwarted queries around in his mind. He fired up a cigarette, took a drag, finally blurted: "I reckon you're kin to old Daniel," and accompanied it with a smile.

Descendant Of Daniel
"As a matter of fact, sure am," the RJC mentor said. "I really am a direct descendant of the most famous Boone of all. In fact," he went on, "I can even trace the Boone clan back to Scotland and England—they even had a family coat of arms."

He was honest, wasn't kidding. But the reporter understood when Boone added that lots of folks didn't believe the oft-told tale of his ancestry.

"But," he wound up, grinning broadly, "maybe that's why I like to hunt and fish so doggone well!"

About that time the little party broke up, and everybody took off, leaving President Boswell alone at his desk.

Yep. Saturday night was history now. But what history? And we understand that Boone slept like a log Monday night. Sorta maybe like old Daniel used to do after he'd finished a tough job.

ground stabs and a pair of batted-down passes.

Taking over on their own 20, the Baker passing and Blanton running moved the leather down to the Ram 20. Baker hit Left End Charles Brazz in the left flat and the Blanton scampered down to the 5. Baker faded. Another pass Blanton scattered it in the flat. Another touchdown.

The clock was running out—three minutes to go.

Ranger kicked off to San Angelo. Henderson pulled in the end-over-end boot on his 10, started down the middle, cut to the right behind beautiful interference, and scored on a 90-yard paydirt gallop. Talley kicked the point for the San Angeloans.

Final Threat By Rams
A few minutes later the Rams began to roll again as the clock ticked away. They roared down to the 10. Three two attempts to break through the Ranger line were stopped at the line of scrimmage. Then the S. A. quarterback tried an aerial to Leon Jones.

Ranger's Blanton pulled the oval down. Ranger—1st and 10. The Rangers held on to the ball but tight. And the final gun exploded. And then it was over. A wild nightmare. But true. The Rangers had won one of the upsets in the nation to bring to an end a football-mad Saturday with a sensational 12-7 triumph over the San Angelo Junior College Rams.

Even this reporter is stunned. He'll believe it when he sees it in print.

Night Driving Is More Dangerous Than During Day

DALLAS — Warning to motorists: Don't drive at night unless it's absolutely necessary.

Seven steps for safer night driving were outlined today by an insurance expert. The dangers posed by after-dark travel also were cited.

"Night driving is infinitely more dangerous than daylight driving," said Homer R. Mitchell, chairman of the Texas Mutual Insurance 200th Anniversary Committee. "This is especially true for motorists determined to 'get there' or 'get home' after long hours on the road."

The seven night driving rules outlined by Mitchell are:

1. Make regular stops. Get out, walk around, relax. You'll rest your eyes, muscles and reflexes and be more alert when you continue.
2. During a long night trip, stop halfway to your destination and eat a good meal, not just coffee and doughnuts.
3. Don't fight traffic, drive defensively. Be constantly on the alert for the driving errors of others.
4. Get into the habit of not staring directly into oncoming headlights. —Look beyond the beams to the road ahead and avoid temporary blindness.
5. Don't over-drive your headlights. Keep your speed down to where you can stop within the distance shown by headlight beams.
6. Overtake slower cars and pass with caution. If a car is coming toward you and two distinct lights are visible it is unsafe to pass.
7. If possible, have a companion with you to help you stay awake, alert and responsible to highway dangers.

"Night driving often is cooler and more pleasant," Mitchell said. "There usually is less traffic and fewer distractions. You can go greater distances in less time."

The disadvantages and dangers, however, are very real. He pointed out that night driving is more monotonous, you get sleepy, there's a tendency to drive too fast, windshields get spattered with insects, making visibility poor, and help is harder to find in case of car trouble.

Sex Appeal Isn't Enough For Gals Who Push Career

By Jay Breen

One of the nation's top business women has warned her feminine confederates that a girl has the best chance of getting an executive's chair if she keeps her stockings seam straight and never gives a male an order.

"Don't expect sex appeal to get you any more than an introduction to the man you want to see," blonde Tillie Lewis of New York added, "and another page from my notebooks would be to act always as though you know exactly what you want. Men don't believe a woman can ever make up her mind."

On the basis of the way she built a California tomato cannery into a multi-million dollar business Miss Lewis was named the perfect example of the American business woman. She's a pretty, blue-eyed tomato, herself, who freely conceded that good looks can mean plenty in aiding a modern business woman.

It's Hart Facts That Count
"But it becomes a dreadful boomerang if a woman tries to get by on that," she added. "When a desk separates a man and a woman, he wants to hear hard facts, not see soft glances—"

Miss Lewis started canning tomatoes some 10 years ago and had to learn tact in handling men right from the start, since she was president of the outfit. She recalled but wouldn't discuss in detail a few unhappy experiences which taught her a man's ego is as sensitive as a butterfly's antennae.

"When a plant manager went for me thought what I wanted prima donna on me, a man who really was good at his job, I realized I was ignoring the time-honored method a successful wife uses on her husband," she said. "Thereafter, I just dropped careful hints so the man, who worked Mr. and Mrs. Henry Collins and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Digby were in Austin Saturday, to see the football game between Texas University and Notre Dame."
