

600 Expected To Attend Stockmen's Barbecue Thursday

S. J. Croft, Cisco, prominent Angus breeder and president of the Eastland County Livestock Raisers Association for the past year, has been renominated according to a report of the nominating committee recently released. The report stated that all of the officers of the organization including Johnny Aaron, vice-president; T. D. Wheat, secretary and C. M. McCain, treasurer, all off Eastland, were nominated to serve for the ensuing year. Election not only of the officers but also for the directors will be held in connection with the annual barbecue of the organization at the City Park in Eastland on next Thursday night, October 23 at 6:30 o'clock. Other nominations can be made from the floor prior to election. However, nomination is virtually tantamount to election, it was said.

At least 600 are expected to attend the annual affair and preparations are being made to feed that many according to Judge M. S. Long, Eastland, general chairman of arrangements. Various committees have been at work for some time. D. S. Buchanan, Stephenville, livestock specialist in England and Europe with the Marshal Plan Aid to foreign countries will make the principal address at the barbecue. He is to discuss livestock production and management practices in various foreign countries in Europe and Africa and the Middle East.

Tickets to the function are $1 each. T. D. Wheat, Eastland, is in general charge of ticket distribution.

Tickets to the barbecue can be obtained in Eastland from Geo. I. Lane, Pete Tindall, Johnny Aaron, C. M. McCain, Bernard Hanna, Waverly Massengale, Mrs.

Vernon Humphries, Homer Smith, H. H. Durham and the Davis-Maxey Drug; in Cisco from Jibby Donovan and Sutton Crofts; in Ranger from B. S. Dudley, Jr., and Dr. Dick Hodges, and in Rising Star from H. L. Geyer.

PRICE FIVE CENTS No. 101

Thanks to a recent issue of the Lions' monthly magazine, here's the way most of us talk—
"Whachagonna package?"
"Sabook."
"Whasansimuvitt?"
"Sadickshunery fullanaim."
"Gonna getapieesdog angotagetta namferim."

We are mighty glad that hundreds of Ranger young people—the student bodies of Ranger High School and Ranger Junior College—were privileged to hear the Friday addresses of Dr. Glenn Cunningham, the former athletic great who honored us and our city with a visit during his big temperance tour over the nation.

Dr. Cunningham, ex-Kansas Olympic star and holder of five world track records, blames the loose living of our time on the poor example adults set for their children and other youth.

"It takes guts to stand against the crowd," the ex-tract star declared as he urged his youthful listeners to abstain from the use of liquor and tobacco.

"Impressions gained early in life are the most lasting ones, because they determine the behavior, likes and dislikes, habits and other traits that he will develop in future life," he said.

"It is our responsibility to youth to see that our lives are conducted in such a way that they would be wholesome examples for young people to emulate," he continued, "because every thought, every attitude and every habit are threads in the cable of life."

"And once that cable is finished in maturity, it is impossible to break simply because most people haven't got the moral strength to break their bad habits," he added.

Another factor Cunningham blamed for the plight of today's rapidly degrading society is the dispersion of the old-fashioned family gathering.

"Today each member of the family has his or her own selfish interest, and has not enough time to spend at home with another," he said.

Youth of today, he said, do not necessarily want excitement but the satisfaction of living a good life. Lack of inspiring leaders to follow leads them to drink, smoking and narcotics, Cunningham suggested.

He flayed what he termed "too many religious hypocrites, who practice 'one-day or one-hour a week religion' as well as 'social indulging in alcohol.'" He lashed at ministers who drink socially and smoke, saying they are not leaders but followers.

He condemned the "insidious tobacco and liquor traffic" that

Food Prices Dropping

Food prices in this section of Texas, including the Eastland County area, have taken the sharpest drop since the Korean War exploded back on June 25, 1950, it was announced early Monday.

The declines, lead by seasonal drops in pork products, were fairly general among the items checked by a retail grocers' organization. Twenty-eight items were included. It cost $12.43 to buy those items Saturday.

Six weeks ago it took $13.04 to buy the identical foods. A drop, in other words, of 61 cents.

It was the biggest drop, incidentally, since similar price survey checks were instituted prior to the outbreak of hostilities in Korea, and the general declines put total cost of the 28 items back to the level of December, 1950—nearly two years ago. And that was just prior to the general price freeze.

Saturday's total cost, in fact, actually was lower—by a 19-cent margin—than the $12.62 the list of food items cost when prices were frozen in Jan., 1951.

Also, the current cost is far below last October, when the peak of $13.57 was recorded.

Prices are still higher than the period preceding the Korean war, however. Saturday's $12.43 was 71 cents above pre-Korean war's $11.72.

Recently, the survey showed, prices have dropped on 14 of the items, 11 have remained the same, and only three went up. Prices dropped substantially on pork, as the new crop of pigs came to market. Smaller declines also were registered on tomatoes, veal, venison, ground meat, fryers, bacon and potatoes.

Who's going to win the November 4 election?

That's the $64 question in Eastland County, in Texas and all over the nation. Will it be Illinois' Gov. Adlai Stevenson, nominee of the currently in-power Democratic party—or will it be Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republicans' 1952 standard-bearer?

Grover Lee, Ranger Daily Times and Eastland Daily Telegram staffer, got an interesting answer to that $64 question for a quarter.

And you'll get it—for free—tomorrow!

Dr. Harris Head C-C Committee On Education

Dr. Calvin W. Harris is chairman of the education committee, one of 14 standing groups recently appointed to serve during the coming year by Charlie Joe Owen, newly elected president of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce.

One of the main projects of the new group is consideration of a proposed cinder track at Bulldog Stadium. The oval trackway, to be of regulation size, could be used by track and field teams of both Ranger Junior College and Ranger High School, opponents say. It also has been pointed out that the track would be of great benefit to both schools.

The eight-man committee devotes its full activity to supporting the college and local public school system in whatever methods necessary. The group also will work to encourage safety and fire preventative measures for the benefit of the hundreds of public school and college students, R. V. Galloway, secretary-manager of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, said.

In addition to Dr. Harris, the chairman, other members of the education committee are Dr. Grover C. Boswell, president of Ranger Junior College; G. B. Rush, superintendent of the Ranger Public School; Lloyd Bruce, O. G. Lanier, C. R. Mansfield, Carl Page, and Dr. W. P. Watkins.

Cemetery Group Meeting Called

A meeting of members of the Pleasant Grove Cemetery Association has been called for Thursday evening, Oct. 23, it was announced today.

The business session will be held at 7:30 p.m. that evening at the Harmony Baptist Church, Morton Valley, and all members are urged to attend the important meeting.

J. N. Harrison Dies At Home; Rites Are Set

Funeral services for John William Harrison, 57-year-old Morton Valley grocer who died at his home in that community Monday night, will be held at the First Methodist Church in Ranger Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mr. Harrison, born in Oklahoma on May 30, 1895, owned and operated a grocery store in Ranger for 11 years prior to moving to Morton Valley seven years ago. He had been a resident of Eastland County for 28 years.

On July 17, 1926 he was united in marriage with the former Annie Pearl Glanton at Desdemona, who survives him.

Other survivors include their two sons, John Mack of Morton Valley and Bobby Gene of Kermit; two sisters, Mrs. F. D. Harrington of Caddo and Mrs. Sam Jones of Rising Star; and one brother, O. A. Harrison of Carbon.

Woman Faces DWI Charge After Collision

Liquor got two Rangerites in trouble with the law over the weekend, Police Chief W. G. Pounds reported Monday morning.

Early Saturday night, local officers picked up an intoxicated Ranger woman following a collision with another vehicle, occupied by Ranger residents, within the city limits. No one was injured, but an expectant mother suffered shock.

Shortly after her arrest by city officers, the woman was picked up by Sheriff Frank Tucker of Eastland and transferred to the county jail.

She is charged with driving while intoxicated, and due to the collision the case may grow into a serious matter.

Early Monday morning a 35-year-old Ranger man was released from the city jail after having been arrested and jailed Sunday night for drunkenness.

CORONATION OF HOMECOMING QUEEN SET BEFORE KICK-OFF OF GRID DUEL SATURDAY NIGHT

One of the highlights of the 1952 Homecoming of the Ex-Students Assn. of Ranger Junior College next Friday and Saturday will be the coronation of the Homecoming Queen just before the kick-off of the Pioneer Conference grid battle between the Rangers and the Tarleton State Ploowboys.

Students of Ranger Junior College will elect the Homecoming Queen during balloting Wednesday.

The pre-kickoff ceremonies will consist of an invocation to be offered by the Rev. F. M. Talbot, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Electra. Rev. Talbot, is the father of Rusty Talbot, one of the Rangers' top secondary stars who will see action in the homecoming grid duel with Tarleton State.

Homecoming activities get underway Friday night with a banquet at the Gholson Hotel. Price for the dinner is $11.00 per plate and all are urged to make reservations for the banquet at once by contacting Pete Brasher, president of the Ex-Students' Association of Ranger Junior College.

Following the banquet a dance and party will be held at the Student Union building on the college campus.

Saturday's highlight feature of the '52 homecoming will be a mammoth parade in downtown Ranger. Included in the long and colorful procession will be several bands, units of the Texas National Guard, representative paraders of various Ranger civic groups and floats of college classes and all business and commercial firms.

Two Men Die In Auto Crash

Two Stephenville men died shortly after midnight Saturday in Palo Pinto County's sixteenth fatal auto accident of the year.

They were George Washington Carter, 31, and Day Oscar Carter, 41, brothers of Stephenville, who died a few minutes after their car had crashed into bridge railing on Highway 80 nine miles west of the intersection of Highway 80 and 281.

Texas State Highway Patrolmen John Fletcher and Clayton Culp, who investigated the accident, said the crash occurred about 12:45 a.m. Sunday.

MASS MEETING AT STAFF WEDNESDAY

A mass meeting will be held at the Baptist Church in the Staff community Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the route of the new farm-to-market highway in that area and also the new lake. All citizens are urged to attend.

What Goes On Here? Is This Guy A Swami?

The unpredictable Pioneer Conference title chase will get underway in earnest Saturday when the giant-killing Ranger Junior College Rangers play host to the smart, well-drilled Tarleton State Ploowboys and the high-scoring Arlington State Rebels travel to Kerrville for a setto with the spirited Schreiner Mountaineers.

As the loop race begins, Pioneer teams sport a gaudy record of 20 victories against 6 defeats in competition with outside opposition including intersectional, valley, Texas Junior College Conference, and Big Six Conference teams.

The two conference games this week will certainly bring out a pair of real contenders for the league championship.

Couch Boone Yarborough's loop-leading Rangers will put on the line the best defensive record in the league when they tangle with the Tarleton State. Thus far this season the Rangers have allowed five opponents only 32 points. The Ranger line, spearheaded by such performers as Joe Angel, 135-pound guard from Birdville and Ross Nall, a 250-pound tackle from Graham, is rated one of the finest in its class.

Offensively, the Ranger passing attack has not appeared too impressive, but the club has an extremely effective rushing game featuring Freddy Sanders, one of the league's best runners, Rusty Talbot, Charles Blanton, and Bud Hamrick, a real triple threat.

Couch H. A. "Sandy" Sandford's bright and clean-cut Tarleton State Ploowboys, fresh from a 13-7 victory over Kilgore, will confront the Rangers with a one-two passing attack starting a couple of the league's best tossers, Joe Bill Fox of Ft. Worth, and Tommy Hudspeth of Weatherford. The Ploowboys also have a pretty neat running department with Guy Hill, Dick Castleberry and Willis Grayson in stellar roles.

Ex-Convict Is Nabbed Sunday

Officers from Abilene were due to arrive in Ranger sometime today to pick up Thomas M. Spoon, 22-year-old Mineral Wells ex-convict who has been held in the Ranger city jail since his arrest late Sunday by Patrolman Ralph Veal of the Ranger Police Department.

The slight-built, light brown-haired man is wanted by law enforcement officers in at least two states for burglary, theft, forgery and breaking and entering.

Sheriff Fred Foreman of Palo Pinto County and Chief of Police Frank Granbury of Mineral Wells were in Ranger Monday and took a statement from the 5-foot-2-inch ex-Texas National Guardsman behind closed doors at the City Hall. They questioned the Resort City man regarding burglaries in adjoining Palo Pinto County. Sheriff Foreman had a warrant for Spoon's arrest—the 22-year-old has been hunted during an intensive search by area officers for the past two weeks—but the Palo Pinto officer agreed to let representatives of the Taylor County sheriff's department have the young ex-convict who served a two-year term for burglary in the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

Taylor County officers have a warrant for Spoon's arrest on charges of "breaking and entering" and car theft.

However, Spoon is also wanted by officers at Hobbs, N. M., and at Lubbock, according to Police Chief W. G. Pounds of the Ranger Police Department. He faces burglary and forgery charges at Lubbock and is also charged with burglary in a warrant issued at Hobbs, N. M., Chief Pounds said. It is possible, too, he added, that the young Mineral Wells man may be named in warrants elsewhere. Spoon's picture has appeared in several bulletins of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Spoon's post-penitentiary wave of petty crime came to a climax in Ranger little more than a week ago.

On Saturday, Oct. 11, the green-eyed ex-convict broke the lock on an auto dealer's used car lot in Abilene and drove away in a 1950 Chevrolet sedan.

About midnight, Ranger police officers, who have become "notorious" in recent months for their amazing success in spotting and recovering stolen automobiles, received a call from a service station on Highway 80 reporting that a "suspicious-acting" young man was attempting to sell a spare wheel and tire to finance the purchase of gasoline. He said the car was "borrowed," belonged to a friend. The suspicious service station attendant notified police. But Spoon quickly abandoned the vehicle and disappeared in the darkness behind another service station as the Patrolmen Veal and Joe Faircloth whizzed to the scene in a patrol car.

On checking the abandoned vehicle, the Ranger officers found a suitcase of clothes. Later, down at headquarters, a thorough search of the bag payed off with discovery of a discharge certificate from the Texas National Guard which gave officers a complete description of the man and checked with the description on the FBI circular.

How Spoon was approached and picked up and arrested Sunday by Patrolman Veal is almost fantastic.

It was a beautiful Sunday afternoon and there was considerable traffic on Highway 80 west of Weatherford.

The neat-appearing hitch-hiker, a nice-looking young gent in his early 20s, was headed westward toward Eastland.

He wouldn't have much difficulty. Not today. And he didn't.

Because the driver of a pickup skidded to a halt a few yards ahead.

The young man jumped in with the driver and his wife and the trio were on their way.

C-C Directors, Regents Okay Special Train

Directors of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce and members of the board of regents of Ranger Junior College meeting in joint session in Ranger at the chamber headquarters Monday night voted to sponsor a special train to Arlington Saturday, Nov. 8, for the Pioneer Conference grid contest between the Rangers and the Arlington State College elevens.

Round-trip tickets, priced at only $3.16 each with tax included, went on sale this morning at the Chamber of Commerce office in Ranger.

Reserved Seat Ducats On Sale

Reserved seat tickets in the A and B sections of Bulldog stadium for the Saturday night battle between the Ranger Junior College Rangers and the Tarleton State Ploowboys go on sale Wednesday. Dr. Grover C. Boswell, president of the college, announced today at noon.

The ducats are available in downtown Ranger at Crawford's Drug and also at Swaney's Drug Store.

Turkey Dressing Demonstration To Be November 3

... are complete for the turkey dressing and processing demonstration to be held at the high school in Rising Star on November 3, says Dr. Ben H. Bradley, of that city, president of the Central Texas Turkey Growers Association, who is sponsoring the all-day affair.

Purposes of the demonstration is to teach the proper method of killing and dressing the big birds for the home freezer or for the locker box and to teach those who expect to exhibit at the National Turkey Show in Dallas in January how to prepare their dressed turkeys according to Dr. Bradley.

F. Z. Beamblossom of the A&M College Extension Service and George Draper, an official of the National Turkey Improvement Association will be present and have charge of the demonstration, Dr. Bradley said.

A large group of producers of the big birds in Eastland and adjoining counties are expected to attend this meeting which will start at 10 o'clock on the above date. Producers who wish are ask-

USDA Has Good News For Steak Lovers Of Nation

The Agriculture Department forecasts Americans will be eating more and paying less for beef and veal next year.

But there won't be much price change to go along with reduced supplies of lamb, mutton, and ed to bring one of their birds along to dress.

The turkey organization has been planning the affair for the past several months.

"More and more people are buying and using home freezers and should know when and how to kill and prepare the big birds for cold storage," Dr. Bradley said.

Turkey growers and those interested are cordially invited to attend.

The Chamber of Commerce in Rising Star is also cooperating in the all day meeting, it was said.

pork, the department said.

The department, which has predicted these trends in general terms in recent months, was specific for the first time about the 1953 meat situation.

It predicted an almost one billion pound gain in beef supplies and 150 million pound boost in veal cuts. Lamb and mutton production is expected to show little change from the year but supplies of pork should drop about 600 million pounds.

The department said housewives can look for "moderately" lower retail prices of beef and veal.

It said the price of lamb may decline a little because of increased competition from beef. But the price of pork may be about as high as this year as the effect of reduced supplies may offset beef competition for that meat.

Why Should I Have an Abstract?

... is a question often asked of abstractors and one we like to answer. When ownership of real property enters your business life then title problems also come in. Buying, selling, mortgaging and otherwise dealing with real estate require correct title information. The abstract reflects the true record title and therefore has everything to do with values. That's one answer, there are many others.

Ex-Convict—

"I know they'll attack me," Spoon told a reporter Monday afternoon. "But I'll take it and then maybe I'll get another chance."

"I tried to go straight," he said. "But everytime I'd get a job they would find out I was an ex-con, they'd let me go. I got tired of it."

So, he explained, he went back to crime, the business "that doesn't pay."

"I've been doing some heavy thinking," he said. "And I hope I've learned my lesson."
"And when another chance comes," he added soberly, "I'll stick it out and make it—the right way."

"Wish I'd have done that this time," he said forlornly. Then he lit a cigar and went back to his bunk.

he said runs rampant in our time. After mentioning the lucrative offers he has received from liquor and tobacco interests in the name of advertising, Dr. Cunningham said: "If I can save one boy or girl from using tobacco and liquor—and I put them in the same class—then it is worth to me more than all the money in the world."

In a religious vein, he said to be a Christian, one must live as Christ-like as humanly possible. "When one can no longer live as Christ would live, he has no right to wear the name Christian."

Standing against the crowd, he said, takes courage, but it inwardly strengthens. And those in the crowd, he said, down deep have a deep-seated admiration for those who stand for their convictions.

He said he would rather go to the pig pen and hear the hog grunt than hear the ramblings of a cocktail party.

"If a man doesn't have enough intelligence to converse without a social drink, he hasn't enough intelligence to be worth talking to," Cunningham, now a Kansas rancher, told his young listeners.
