Chest Drive Starts Slow

After more than 24 hours had passed since the kickoff of Ranger's big 1952 Community Chest drive here Tuesday morning, volunteer workers began the second day of the campaign early this morning a long way—$6,269.75 to be exact—from the goal of $6,500.

Mrs. Marjorie Madlocks, secretary of the local chest organization, reported early today that reports of volunteer workers at that time indicated contributions of $429.25 in cash plus an additional pledged amount of $101 to bring the first days chest receipts to $530.25.

However, the chest secretary said, many captains of crews of volunteer workers had not reported at the time of her early Wednesday morning report, and as yet no report has been received from W. F. Creager, chairman of the big gifts committee, which has been working hard in the current fund-raising effort.

A report on the big gifts, presented at the kickoff breakfast at the Gholson Hotel early Tuesday morning, indicated at that time that approximately $1,000 had been collected from business firms and industrial enterprises which had been contacted by Chairman Creager and his volunteers up until that time.

At the second day of the city's big charity fund rush began, President W. C. Whittle, chest head, urged Rangerites to be ready when called upon by volunteer workers to "give a day's pay—to give ONCE for ALL."

President Whittle also re-emphasized that a budget plan is in effect and that contributors are not required to pay their pledged amounts now. They may be collected via installments over a period of time, he said, and solicitors will be glad to discuss such plans of payment with contributors.

Sharing in this year's drive for funds will be the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the Child Welfare Club, the Teen Canteen, Red Cross, USO, Salvation Army, and the Community Public Library.

SATURDAY IS DEADLINE FOR PURCHASE OF TICKETS FOR RJC GRID TRAIN TO ARLINGTON

Round-trip tickets for the special train scheduled to carry about 300 football fans to the Pioneer Conference grid clash between the Ranger Junior College Rangers and the Arlington State College eleven on Saturday, Nov. 8, are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office in Ranger.

A. N. Larson Is C-C Membership Group Leader

The responsibility for planning and staging a membership campaign during the coming year will be on the shoulders of A. N. Larson, chairman, and a group of eight other men recently named to the new membership committee of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce by Charlie Joe Owen, chamber president.

This year, says Chairman Larson, it will be the goal of his group to secure a membership "from every business and professional firm in Ranger—as well as individuals."

Date and details of the forthcoming C of C campaign for new members will be announced later. Other members of the committee, one of 14 standing groups recently named by President Owen, include W. F. Creager, J. E. Meroney, Dr. M. E. Jolly, John Smith, E. F. Arterburn, Lem Rushing, Joe Fraley and B. A. Tunnell.

Approximately 100 college students are expected to ride the special train, it was reported today. In addition, there'll be 50 musicians, members of the Ranger Junior College and Ranger High School bands, aboard.

H. C. Henderson is general chairman of the special train arrangements which were completed during a joint meeting of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce directors and members of the board of regents of Ranger Junior College Monday night.

R. V. Galloway, secretary-manager of the chamber, is in charge of the train ticket sales, and President Grover C. Boxwell and W. W. Smith of Ranger Junior College will handle duets at the college.

Alvin Woods is in charge of arrangements for raising funds for transportation of the band group aboard the special.

Unless at least 275 reservations are secured on or before Saturday, Galloway said, it will be necessary to cancel plans for the special train.

Mrs. Morris, Joe Nuessle Leading Ike Democrats

The Democrats for Eisenhower movement in Ranger was officially kicked off Tuesday night when a group of civic-minded Rangerites and Eastland residents met at the Community Club House in Ranger for an "Ike Rally."

Joe Nuessle, young Ranger attorney, presided at the meeting and introduced A. H. Brackeen of Palo Pinto, chairman of the Palo Pinto County Eisenhower fraction.

"I would be a great benefit to the United States if the majority of voters would swing to Ike and we especially want Texas to go for Eisenhower. People who have been paying such high taxes are beginning to realize that the philosophy in Washington is to get your stomachs full so you will go to sleep and then they'll steal the horses out of your barn," Brackeen told a sparse gathering.

"Texas is its own salvation and we don't need the federal government telling us what we can and can't do. We need to get some of the timidity out of the would-be Eisenhower supporters so we can stop this drift toward federal domination by changing administrations," he added.

Virgil Seaberry Jr., of Eastland, told the group that the Eastland County drive is under the guidance of Gov. Allan Shivers and then said vehemently, "we do not want any Republicans working actively in this movement. We are Democrats."

Mrs. James P. Morris and Nuessle were elected as co-chairmen to direct the Ranger drive.

The meeting was brief talks by Ray Newnam of Tyler and Mack D. King of Strawn.

Texas Electric Service Co. for 25 years. After the awarding of watches the toastmaster introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. James W. Fifield, Jr., of Los Angeles, California. Dr. Fifield is a dynamic speaker, a Congregational minister, and was master of his subject, "What Can I Do To Help Save Freedom?"

The speaker has visited many sections of the world, and is fairly well acquainted in China, Russia, Switzerland, England and 4 other nations, and has been associated with numerous outstanding American citizens.

His address was based, in a general way, around what might be "God-fearing Christian Faith" and he is alarmed over our present day situation. He feels that certain national leaders are largely responsible for the predicament we are now in, and that some of them are too close to Communistic influence.

In simple words he let it be known that the Korean war is not what we may have been thinking it is, and that it is useless and unnecessary, and a war we can not hope to win. He told of restrictions our fighting forces must face, and of the low morale over there.

Governments that govern the least are the successful ones, implying that we have too much centralized government power at this time. Americans do not go in for regimentation, but covet freedom and free enterprise. There is a lot of trouble in this world today, he said, and even though we do our best to combat the evil forces, victory has not been assured.

It is the violation of our natural laws that causes this trouble, implying that men have undertaken to substitute man-made laws for the natural, God-given laws.

The speaker is really alarmed, and did not try to hide the fact. He feels that certain powers that be, have double-crossed some of our friends and allies—that they sold China down the river and delivered that friendly empire into the hands of Communist Reds. He was very frank when he said that our State Department was directly responsible for this betrayal.

This is a serious hour and it will take men of the Lincoln and Jefferson type to save us in our extremity of peril, was his view. He also fears that America's moral attitude needs bolstering, for we are becoming too prone to take the easy route, rather than demanding right and justice. He stated that America's moral stamina is at the lowest ebb since the days of Carpet Bagger.

Dr. Fifield suggested that possibly our leaders who serve as referees, may be playing on the other team.

He told of Freedom Clubs, now being organized all over the land, who are insisting on better government. They do not promote the activities of any political party. These clubs operate on the basis of Freedom under God, and not on the basis of party endorsement. Edwin Burke was quoted: "All that is necessary for the triumph of Evil is for good men to do nothing."

The Republican nominee, while Jupiter lies near the ascendant of the Democratic candidate. If there were only these two factors to be considered one might judge that the person with the Jupiter favored ascendant would win, but on the other hand one can but notice that the nominee of the Democratic Party has practically every planet below the horizon, so that one would feel that there is something ineffectual about their publicity campaign. The Republican nominee has the Sun and Venus favoring his 10th house—the house assigned to public honor. If the election could have been held close to the nomination date there is no doubt but that the general's election would have been sure. The nomination chart shows that his popularity tends to decrease somewhat towards late October, thus the Republican Party cannot afford to relax in their efforts if they wish to win. The transit of Saturn close to the general's Sun warns his party against being too sure. Only strenuous campaigning can overcome the effects of Saturn.

Finally, there was only one paragraph left. We hoped it would be the clincher. It was: "Eight basic horoscopes were studied and analyzed carefully before announcing the winner of the presidential race. These charts follow: (a) horoscope of Dwight D. Eisenhower, (b) horoscope of Adlai E. Stevenson, (c) horoscope of the United States, (d) horoscope of the Democratic Party, (e) horoscope of the Republican Party, (f) horoscope of Election Day, (g) horoscope of the time of the Republican nomination, (h) horoscope of the time of the Democratic nomination.

eratic nomination. The astrological educational department concludes that the next president of the United States will be Adlai E. Stevenson.

Now we don't know a thing in the world about astrology. We've never had much faith in it or any theories of an occult nature.

But— We're saying that blue and white covered astrology magazine. And—if Adlai Stevenson is elected president of the United States comes Nov. 4, we're gonna get interested in the study of planets and stars and all that stuff that makes astrology click.

We've always got a few interesting questions of our own. And wouldn't it be great to know all the answers ahead of time. Humm! Bein' a swami might beat bein' a typewriter jockey, at that!

11 NEW RECORDS ARE SET, 13 MORE TIED, DURING '52 WORLD SERIES, UP SURVEY SHOWS

By NORMAN MILLER

NEW YORK (UP) — A few new pages of records, many of dubious distinction, were written into the books for the 1952 World Series, which many baseball men rated one of the most thrilling of all time.

A total of 11 significant records were set and 13 more were tied, in addition to the cumulative marks which the Yankees automatically establish every time they participate in a World Series, a United Press check showed.

Duke Snider of the Dodgers set the most noteworthy individual mark, breaking one record and tying two more. His 24 total bases on four homers, two doubles and four singles broke the old record of 22 set by Joe Harris of the Washington Senators in 1925.

Shades of Babe Ruth

Snider's four homers tied the old mark set by the immortal Babe Ruth in 1926 and Lou Gehrig in 1928, and his six extra base hits tied the old record made by Ruth in 1928 and Pete Fox of the Tigers in 1934. The Dodgers:

Most home runs one club—10, Yankees.

Most home runs by both clubs—16, 10 Yankees and 6 Dodgers.

Most extra bases on long hits one club seven-game series—39, Yankees.

Most extra bases on long hits by both clubs seven-game series—64, 30 Yankees, 25 Dodgers.

Most chances accepted by catcher—67, Yogi Berra, Yankees.

Fewest one-base hits in seven-game series—33, Yankees.

Fewest two-base hits by both clubs in seven-game series—12, five Yankees, seven Dodgers.

Fewest sacrifices one club in seven-game series—2, Yankees.

Fewest hits by player in seven-game series—none, Gil Hodges, Dodgers.

Lowest batting average of winning club in seven-game series—.216, Yankees.

Records Tied

Most homers by player in series—4, Snider ties Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig.

Most extra base hits by player outfielder's two homers in the sixth game also was a new high for a National League player in a single contest.

The Yankees tied the record of four straight world championships set by their 1936-'39 predecessors and Casey Stengel equalled the mark of leading a team to four straight world titles set by Joe McCarthy.

There were also a few records which the players involved would like to forget. Gil Hodges of the Dodgers became the first regular player ever to go through a seven-game series without a hit, and Gil McDougald of the Yankees set a new high for errors by a third baseman by committing four.

Here is a rundown of the most significant marks set or tied during the seven-game series:

New Series Records

Most total bases—24 by Snider, four singles, two doubles, four homers.

Most home runs one club—10, Yankees.

Most home runs by both clubs—16, 10 Yankees and 6 Dodgers.

Most extra bases on long hits one club seven-game series—39, Yankees.

Most extra bases on long hits by both clubs seven-game series—64, 30 Yankees, 25 Dodgers.

Most chances accepted by catcher—67, Yogi Berra, Yankees.

Fewest one-base hits in seven-game series—33, Yankees.

Fewest two-base hits by both clubs in seven-game series—12, five Yankees, seven Dodgers.

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Many actors work for years to perfect those little added touches that help make a screen performance great, but for nine-year-old Brandon de Wilde, they come as natural as teased hair.

Most of the "spontaneous" gesture or pieces of "business" as they are called on the sound stages are the result of hours of work and thought either by an actor or a director.

They are dressing of a fine movie however. Remember when Paul Henreid, as the suave continental lover in "Now, Voyager," lit two cigarettes at the same time?

Jimmy Stewart's casual, folksy mannerisms appear, natural enough but each one is carefully worked out to provide just the right effect.

Brandon is Hollywood's leading exponent of the "doing what comes naturally" school of acting, with the result that he usually is upstaging veteran actors.

In Two Hit Plays
Brandon became an actor by accident. He scored hits in two Broadway plays, "The Member of the Wedding" and "Mrs. McThing." He currently is re-creating his stage success in Stanley Kramer's film version of "The Member of the Wedding."

Whatever he's doing, on or off the screen, he plays the same role—himself.

When not delivering dialogue in a scene, he generally is scratching, fidgeting or fusing in an uninhibited way that captures the fancy of audiences.

Unaware that he is giving out with "business" that other actors would gladly pay to learn, he never repeats the same gesture unless it is purely by chance.

in series—6, Snider tied Ruth and Pete Fox, Tigers.

Most home runs in one game by National League player—2, Snider.

Most consecutive world championships by club—4, Casey Stengel, Yankees ties Joe McCarthy Yankees 1936-39.

Most consecutive world championships by club—4, Yankees ties own record.

Most home runs in consecutive games—7, Yankees.

Most putouts by catcher—59, Yogi Berra.

Most assists by National League first basemen in one game—5, Hodges, first game.

Most errors by third baseman in series—4, Gil McDougald, Yankees.

Most times at bat without hitting—21, Hodges.

Fewest two base hits by one club in seven-game series—5, Yankees.

Fewest assists by one club in seven-game series—66, Yankees.

Fewest runs scored by player participating in seven games—none, Roy Campanella and Andy Patko, Dodgers.

Cumulative Club Records All Set by Yankees

Most World Series—19.

Most series victories—67.

Most world championships—15.

Because the Yankees have participated in more series than any other team in baseball, their cumulative marks for homers, hits, runs, bases on balls, etc., all are records too numerous to list.

Wed To Live Long Is Advice Of Japs

TOKYO (UP) — A Japanese with a wife can live a lot longer than one without, according to the Welfare Ministry.

A single man faces three prime hazards—tuberculosis, fatal accidents and suicide, government researchers said.

Marriage, they concluded, "is helpful to maintain health."

"More than 40 per cent of the unmarried persons died of tuberculosis," the ministry reported.

"It might be expected that there were more deaths by suicide among the unmarried. However, more unmarried men were killed in accidents than married ones."

The ministry said a man could expect to live about 43 years after his marriage, if he started somewhere in his twenties.

If a 23-year-old man stays single, the ministry said, his life may be expected to end—one way or another—at the ripe old age of 49.

Film Queen Of India Arrives In Hollywood For Studio Tour

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 7 (UP)—One of the world's top movie stars is a shapely brunette who has millions of fans, the usual cleavage problems and pulls down $100,000 per movie—but Americans never heard of her.

Nargis, the No. 1 film queen of India, is in movietown with a goodwill delegation of Indian stars and producers.

At 23 she's starred in 50 movies in the 10 years she's been an actress. India boasts 60 movie studios—six times as many as Hollywood—and six million fans see pictures there daily, compared to 1.5 million popcorn eaters a day in this country.

Unknown In Movietown
But when Nargis walked down the streets of movietown she was unknown.

"In Bombay I can't go out shopping, I collect too many crowds," said Nargis in her clipped British accent.

Her life isn't much different from that of Joan Crawford or Marilyn Monroe, she shrugged.

Her real name was Fatima. This was changed because "it sounded too holy and not sexy," she explained, and that complaint sounds familiar, too.

"Four years ago we got censorship," she went on. "Now I must always keep my low neckbones covered."

"We have movie critics, also. I have an oval-shaped face, so one always writes I have a face like a papaya! This upsets me."

"However, in the studios we are one happy family. Stars are so loved," she said, "we can do anything. If the director is rude to us, we walk off the set. If we don't like the script we ask them to rewrite it."

No Petty Jealousies
"We are very polite, though," she added. "We do not have petty jealousies."

Nargis and the 13 other members of the Indian delegation will be given the grade-A tour of the studios here and parties at the homes of local big-wigs. One night they will show Hollywood the first Indian picture to be given a general release in this country, "Ann."

"I like this country," decided the movie star. "I thought it would be all bare legs and girls and divorces, but the people are very friendly and I met someone who's been married 27 years."

Staff Citizens Call Meet To Discuss Roads

The citizens of the Staff community alarmed over the fact that present roads in that area will eventually be closed by the new lake to supply water for Eastland and Ranger, are staging a mass meeting at the Baptist Church there tonight to discuss the problem.

The meeting is slated for 7:30 p.m. and it is expected that members of the board of the water district and also county commissioners will be present.

Staff citizens hope to learn what plans have been made for construction of new farm-to-market thoroughfares to replace the present Ranger and Eastland routes which will be inundated by waters of the new lake supply.

CHANGE, BACK TO WHAT?

Remember, The year was 1932. Republicans had been in power for 12 years. And the Great Depression was in its third terrible year. What was it like...

The story of the Great Depression can't be told in words or statistics. You've got to dig it out of your memory.

Historians try to tell the story in cold figures. Fifteen million men and women begging for jobs. A million and a half farms and homes foreclosed. Five thousand banks broke and suspended.

Eighty-five thousand business failures. Two million families evicted from their homes.

Seven million savings accounts wiped out. But you can't add up misery and despair and heartbreak and hunger. You can't put down in words how a hungry child feels, and you can't describe how a man feels when he knows his child is hungry and knows he can't do anything about it.

You just had to feel the Great Depression to know what it was like.

You had to live with it!

And now the Republicans say they want a change.

A change back to what—1933.

Movie, Book, TV Show Win Award

NEW YORK—A new motion picture, a recently published book, and the nation's most popular television program today were designated as winners of Christopher awards "for the inspiration and high quality entertainment they provide to a vast audience."

Awards for the month of October, as announced by Father James Keller, M. M., founder and director of the Christophers, go to the film "Ivanhoe," to "Karen," the biography of a youthful victim of cerebral palsy, and to the "I Love Lucy" TV show. Bronze medallions will be presented to the winners for their contribution that represents "a significant step in the direction of providing the public with entertainment of enduring spiritual quality."

"These three works are living proof of the power of the creative arts, under God, to provide a vast audience with inspiration and high quality entertainment," Father Keller said, adding that while it is not required that an award winner have an explicit religious theme, it is expected that each of them will reflect a warmth and freshness that can stem only from spiritual inspiration."
