

RANGER CHEST DRIVE PASSES HALFWAY MARK; $3,379 STILL NEEDED TO FILL 1952 QUOTA

Ranger's 1952 Community Chest drive climbed past the midway mark Thursday.

Cash contributions and pledges early Friday, Miss Marjorie Madocks, secretary of the local fund-raising group reported, totaled $3,521—slightly more than half of the $6,800 being sought by volunteer workers in the big campaign which now is in its second week.

In the meantime, Ted St. Clair, chairman of the busy solicitations committee, said early Friday that many reports have been received from team captains supervising volunteer canvassers in the intensive fund-raising effort and that drive statements to date are expected to be in the hands of St. Clair and other chest leaders by late today.

Sometime over the week end President W. C. Whittle and his associates who head the Ranger chest organization are expected to confer regarding the remainder of the campaign.

Leaders have expressed the hope that plans may be mapped at that time to draw the fund-raising effort to a close by next weekend.

Proceeds from the current drive will be split among eight civic and charity agencies serving Ranger and the surrounding territory—the American Red Cross, the Salvation Army, the Ranger Child Welfare Club, the USO, the Community Public Library, Boy and Girl Scouts and the Teen Canteen.

Demo Speaker To Plug Adlai

G. Ray Lee, prominent Dallas attorney and regular Democratic party leader, will speak in behalf of the national ticket—Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Sen. John J. Sparkman—Saturday at 3 p.m. in Ranger, local party leaders announced today.

The Dallasite is expected to bring a stirring and timely message to voters on the eve of Tuesday's all-important general election.

A large throng is expected to hear Lee who will speak immediately after the usual 3 p.m. weekly Trades Day drawing which attracts hundreds of visitors and shoppers to Ranger every Saturday afternoon.

It is possible that the prominent Dallas Democrat may speak elsewhere in the county, but no further arrangements for additional addresses had been completed early today at county Democratic headquarters located at 113 North Austin Street in Ranger.

Representatives of the state Stevenson-Sparkman headquarters, Dallas, were in the city last night and brought a large amount of additional campaign material for distribution over the county between now and election day.

Heavy, the wailing meat shortage reporting on this bright and shiny morning of another Footloose Friday and introducing one of our pals, a gent named Harman W. Nichols, who reports, to wit:

I'll bet there are a lot of things you don't know about flowers. Since National Flower Week begins Nov. 2, I'll give you some interesting information I got from the flower people.

For instance, flowers often are sensitive to noise!

The posey folks say that if you set a vase of flowers too close to a blaring radio or TV set, the flowers will act like people and turn their heads from the noise. They will, however, recover when the racket stops or if they are moved.

Also like people, flowers are affected by chloroform, alcohol, and drafts.

I never have seen a geranium drop off to sleep after sniffing chloroform; I never saw a mountain daisy with a hangover, or an African violet with the sniffles.

The flower people have come up with these other oddities:

The Arabs of Spain used the white lily for poultices to stop wounds from bleeding.

According to historical references dating back to 1896, lilies have been grown for food in Japan and China. The references are a little vague as to whether the flowers are served up as lilyburgers or lily steaks—well done.

Roman streets were strewn with roses at public festivals. Roses also were used to decorate banquet halls and for other fetes. Nero is said to have spent the equivalent of $150,000 for roses for one of these occasions.

The mignonette once was valued as a medicinal herb in Egypt. Its penetrating fragrance was used by early doctors as an anaesthetic.

As early as 1500 B. C., the iris was used as an emblem of power on the scepters of Egyptian monarchs, and also was carried on the brow of the Sphinx.

The yellow chrysanthemum has been worn as a badge of courage. Japan's War of the Dynasties.

Buck Wallace Head Of C-C Civic Group

Buck Wallace is chairman of the new civic committee recently appointed by Charlie Joe Owen, new president of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce.

The seven-member group which numbers three prominent Ranger women on its roster will work with the city in planning and carrying out sanitation and beautification programs for Ranger.

The committee will also aid other organizations and civic groups in promoting projects which will contribute to the betterment of Ranger.

In addition to Chairman Wallace other members of the group are Mmes. Aubrey Yonker, J. P. Morris and Betty Wolford, and Wesley Poyner, Dr. M. E. Jolly, and Aaron Bell.

Ranger Firemen Will Entertain Eastland Group

The Ranger Fire Department is to entertain Eastland Firemen, and their families, with a chili supper in Ranger Monday night, Nov. 3, at 7:30 p.m.

It will be remembered that the Eastland group recently won a contest in Weatherford, and the supper is being given in their honor. However, it will also be remembered that the win was very close, Eastland's time was 28 seconds, while Ranger consumed 26 seconds time.

How Will Eastland County Vote Next Tuesday?

What are Eastland County's prospects in Tuesday's general election—will the area's precincts go Republican for the first time in history... or... will a usual Democratic victory again be scored?

Seeking an answer to that important question for our politically-interested readers, a staff member of the Ranger Daily Times and The Eastland Daily Telegram today ended a county-wide quest for revealing information—after driving many miles over the area, talking to the rank and file, and listening to the opinions of key political figures in the ranks of Loyalist Democrats, Democrats for Eisenhower and the Republicans.

His unbiased, impartial, brief and to-the-point word picture of Eastland County's pre-election pulse will appear in Sunday's edition of this newspaper. Watch for it.

34TH YEAR

Fate Of Grid Special Will Be Known Today

The fate of Ranger's proposed special train to Arlington next Saturday, Nov. 8, for the big Ranger Junior College - Arlington State College football game, a Pioneer Conference top-billed pigskin contest, was expected to be known late today.

R. V. Galloway secretary-manager of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, reported yesterday that only about 225 of the 275 needed reservations to assure chartering of the rail special had been made with 50 more needed in order to guarantee a final decision.

The project is being sponsored jointly by the chamber and the board of regents of Ranger Junior College.

Round-trip fare is only $3.10, Galloway said. The special is scheduled, if chartered, to leave Ranger at 12:45 p.m., arrive Fort Worth 3 p.m., depart 3:30 p.m., arrive in Arlington at 3:50 p.m., Rangers-Rebel game time.

Persons interested in securing a reservation are urged to notify Ranger Junior College or the Ranger Chamber of Commerce today—sure.

It's Hallowe'en --Spooks, Goblins Reign Tonight

This is Friday, Oct. 31—the calendar says.

And tonight's the night, say boys and girls, for the annual one-night reign of Hallowe'en's traditional spooks, goblins—and pranksters.

It's "trick or treat" time, so door bells will be rung, doors will be knocked and tapped, and total tummies will be bulging ere the night draws to an end.

Chief W. G. Pounds, head of the Ranger Police Department, said early today that he and his blue-clad crew expect no serious troubles tonight.

The Ranger Police Department anticipates a few calls and complaints, however, and Chief Pounds urges youngsters to be careful about destruction of property.

The RPD head also warned motorists to drive carefully since many boys and girls will be roaming the streets.

The annual Hallowe'en season was officially ushered in last night at the Recreation Building with a gala carnival sponsored by the Hodges Oak Park Parent-Teachers Assn. A very large attendance was reported, and Rangerites were still chuckling today over the hilarious "Womans' Style Show," which featured a cast composed of prominent civic and business male leaders in the leading roles.

Shivers Says 1,750,000 May Vote Tuesday

With a record high vote likely in Texas next Tuesday, both sides made an all out effort Friday to capture the ballots of "undecided" Texans—and both sides operated on the theory that the best defense is a good offense.

In Dallam county, the absentee vote surpassed the absentee balloting in the first Democratic primary for the first time in the county's history.

Another record absentee vote was predicted by Tarrant County Clerk Mel Faulk. He said the total would be more than 6,500, compared with a previous record of 2,076 set in the first Democratic primary this year.

Gov. Allan Shivers Thursday predicted the total vote would be about 1,750,000.

Thursday night Shivers spoke in Harlingen and McAllen. He described the Democratic party workers as "tired party hacks" and attacked Col. Lawrence Westbrook, an assistant to the chairman of the Democratic national committee who was fired Wednesday on the ground he helped negotiate a $9 million contract with the government.

"They caught the vice admiral of the Democratic campaign in Texas," Shivers said, "and he was the biggest five-percenter of them all."

Will "Bury Trumanism"

"Come next Tuesday," he declared, "we're going to bury Trumanism and Stevensonism face down so that if it sprouts it'll grow the other way."

Rayburn said in a state-wide broadcast Thursday night: "Money is the one big difference between the Republicans and the Democrats."

"They the Republicans have spent their big money, but they have not bought the votes of good Texas Democrats," he declared.

He said the Republicans and Texas Democrats for Eisenhower had spent "hundreds and hundreds of thousands of dollars in Texas during this campaign."

"It is the most glaring attempt to buy an election I have ever seen in my long experience in politics," he said.

3 Sentenced To State Prison For Burglary

Three persons were tried, convicted and sentenced to two-year terms in the State penitentiary at Huntsville for burglary of the Leveille Motor Company, Ranger Ford dealers, in September.

Mr. and Mrs. George Huffman and Huey P. Ward Wednesday appeared before Judge George Davidson in the 91st District Court at Eastland and pleaded guilty prior to receiving the sentence. The two-year term of Mrs. Huffman was suspended and she was released.

Deputy Sheriff L. N. Threet left today with Huffman and Ward and will deliver them to the Huntsville penal institution this afternoon.

Fourth man in the Leveille burglary case, Cecil Taylor of Louisiana, entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced last week. He already has started serving his two-year term for the offense at the State penitentiary.

Severe Drouth Cuts County's Crop Output

Between 300 and 400 bales of lint, bulk of which is being raised in the Carbon area, constitutes Eastland County's 1952 cotton crop, E. E. Powell, Eastland County PMA administrator, recently announced.

This year's peanut crop, the PMA head said, will be only about 10 per cent of normal due to the severe drouth. The area's '52 goober acreage totaled 25,000, but weather conditions have so drastically affected the growth that most of the peanuts are being baled as hay.

Initial harvest of the county's 1952 castor bean crop yielded about 200,000 pounds, the county PMA administrator reported, and an additional 200,000 pounds is anticipated for the final harvest.

Castor beans are currently bringing a price of 10 cents per pound at the shelling plant at Carbon.

The continued drouth in the Eastland County region is greatly hampering agricultural activity, Powell said, and the usual winter crop program already has been delayed.

Farm Bureau To Hold Meeting

Members of the Farm Bureau will hold a meeting in the basement of the Methodist Church in Eastland, Monday, Nov. 3, at 7:30 p.m.

The purpose of the meeting is to draw up resolutions, elect officers and directors, and delegates to the convention. All members are urged to be present.

Bulldogs Ready For Hill

Fort Worth '11' Favored To Win Tonight's Battle

The usual suspense of Football Friday charged the air this afternoon as kickoff time—8 p.m. tonight—of the Ranger High Bulldogs non-conference clash with a mighty Diamond Hill eleven of Fort Worth drew nearer.

A throng of at least 2,500 fans is expected to be seated in Bulldog Stadium by the time the shrill blast of the opening kickoff whistle cracks the nippy autumn air.

Diamond Hill school officials said early today that a large entourage of Fort Worth fans is expected to follow the big, tough Hill grid aggregation to Ranger for tonight's encounter.

Coach Stubby Warden's Maroon & White warriors will be battling to keep alive a precious winning streak which has been stretched to four straight.

But the cards are stacked—and the heavier Hillers, boasting a very impressive record in six starts (one tie, one single touchdown loss) are the odds on favorites to be on the long end of the score at final gun time.

Local fans expect Ranger to uncock a new passing offensive. Especially since ace pass-grabber Tommy Hinds, benched for several weeks due to a shoulder injury, is back in the lineup and ready to lope for the long ones pitched by ace-finger Gerald Bagwell, the crafty RHS back who engineers Coach Warden's T-powered juggernaut.

After tonight, the chips go down but flat, beginning a week hence.

It'll be the Cisco Leboes here next Friday night, Nov. 7, and two crucial away-from-home encounters with Stephenville and Comanche—with the prized district championship at stake.

BONE-DRY OCTOBER DRAWING TO END; NO RAIN IS FORECAST

Unless the skies cry for Eastland Countians between now and midnight, October's 31-day reign will end at the stroke of 12—bone dry.

Not a single drop of moisture during the month has been recorded in the area, and at noon today the weatherman had little encouragement to offer Eastland Countians whose parched lands and pastures are thirsty for directly needed showers.

The forecast for Friday—"continued fair and mild."

Highest temperatures today is due to be recorded in the 80s with tonight's low in the mid-50s.

Dry, mild weather prevailed throughout the rest of the Southwest Friday, and the weather bureau said nature again would make things difficult for the men fighting a wave of forest fires.

The fires have already blackened more than 275,000 acres in the Southwest. They threatened the 50,000-population city of Joplin, Mo., late Thursday, and Friday a 600-man brigade was mobilized to hold back the flames that were halted on the very fringe of the city.

Although the fire was brought under control, officials said the danger was not over, and all available men and equipment were scheduled to fight the fire on a round-the-clock basis until Joplin was safe.

Fires were raging throughout Missouri, and were especially furious in the dry Ozark area.

In Texas, fires continued to rage through the woodlands in the eastern part of the state. Thursday the fires actually affected the weather.

The weather bureau said the thick pall of smoke from burning timber covered a tremendous sector of the state, shutting off the sun. Although a cold air mass had vanished, temperatures did not warm up appreciably because the sun couldn't get through the haze.

The region was due to warm up slightly Friday, with maximum temperatures in Texas and southwest Oklahoma ranging up to the 80s, while readings were to be in the 70s and upper 60s in the rest of the area.

John Roosevelt Will Speak For Gen. Eisenhower

Lion J. A. Bates of Lone Star Gas Co. had a number of guests who were present and introduced.

A movie showing Texas' famed and never-to-be-forgotten 36th Division in action in Italy during World War II was shown to the Ranger Lion Clubbers and a number of guests at the Gholson Hotel Thursday at noon.

County's 1953 Budget Is Set At $315,605

A proposed budget of $315,605 to cover Eastland County governmental expenditures for the coming calendar year 1953 has been approved by the Commissioners Court, it was reported today.

Biggest item on the '53 list of operating expenses is the $137,000 road and bridge appropriation. Other budget figures include: $7,320 for jurys, $36,000 for interest and sinking funds, $14,000 for the general fund, and $72,000 for the officers' salary fund.

The road and bridges appropriation which accounts for more than a third of the county's total anticipated operating expense for the coming year includes a sum of $120,000 which is explicitly earmarked for maintenance and improvement of Eastland County roads.

The county expects to begin 1953 on January 1 with a balance of about $202,000 in all funds, according to County Auditor Earl O'Brien, who prepared the budget for the new year.

Eastland County's 1952 tax valuation is $21,987,000 with the area's current tax rate set at 70 cents, a 15-cent hike over the usual 60-cent level of past years. The state tax rate is 42 cents.

Eastland County is in excellent financial condition, the county auditor declared pointing out that the area's bonded debt as of Jan. 1, 1953, will be $389,800, including bonds for building the courthouse and for roads and machinery warrants.

The courthouse bond issue, O'Brien said, will be completely retired in 1962—ten years away. A total of $128,000 of the original amount of $500,000 remains outstanding.

A large chunk of the county's bonded indebtedness is due to be paid off in the next few years by the state under the road bond assumption program.

Machinery debts of the county commissioners' precincts total $48,890, $28,000 of which expected to be paid-off during 1953.

Total payroll of Eastland county is 67 persons, including county and precinct workers. Forty-five are employed in the county courthouse at Eastland.

Not Oil But Justice

Tidelands Squabble Truman's Blunder

By H. Mewhinney

The side of our country must... An' President Polk, you know, he is our country.

James Russell Lowell, THE BIGLOW PAPERS, 1841. It is a little hard to read two million words of law briefs and articles in lawyers' journals...

They are Mr. Justice Reed's dissenting opinions in the California case and in the Texas case. They are short, clear and beautifully logical.

But Mr. Justice Reed is not available to write stories for this newspaper. Its readers must be content with such rough-and-ready reasoning as appears below:

NEVER CHALLENGED — It must be remembered that from the founding of this country until the Truman administration the coastal states' ownership of the land beneath their off-shore waters was never challenged.

State legislatures decided to the federal government whatever submerged land might be needed for lighthouses and the like.

The states granted to citizens or municipalities the sites for docks, wharves, fishing piers, bath-houses, seafood cafes, or what-not. The states sold leases to dredge for oyster shell, sand, gravel, etc., and in some instances even granted licenses to look for pearls, pirate treasure and various precious metals.

Kelp beds were leased. Oyster beds were leased. Huge and immensely valuable sections of some cities, such as New York and Boston, are built on land which was reclaimed from the sea by filling in shallow-water strips.

IT WAS THE LAW—And, indeed, in the California case, which was the first decision denying a state the ownership of its submerged lands, the majority opinion of the Supreme Court calmly conceded that such had been the law until that time.

As previously stated this court has followed and reassured the basic doctrine of the Pollard case many times. And in doing so it has used language strong enough to indicate that the court then believed that states not only owned tidelands and soil under navigable inland waters, but also owned soils under all navigable waters within their territorial jurisdiction, whether inland or not.

(The Pollard case is Pollard vs Hagan, in which the Supreme Court ruled in 1845 that the states owned the soil under inland navigable waters.)

A FLUID LAW—But at this point there are two principles which are commonly forgotten by laymen elementary though they seem to lawyers:

1) The Supreme Court is not necessarily bound by its own previous decisions. That is to say—whatever the Supreme Court says it is. If the court chooses to disregard or reverse the precedents and decisions clustered around the Pollard case of 1845, if the court now decides that the states do not own their offshore lands, the court has that right.

2) In law—as distinguished from justice, which is not necessarily the same thing—laches, estoppel and prescription do not run against a government. It makes no legal difference whether or not the agents of the federal government have neglected ever since 1789 to exert any claim it might have to the offshore lands. It makes no difference that since 1789 the agents of the federal government have uniformly conceded that those lands belong to the states. And it makes no difference that since 1789—and earlier, for that matter—the states have occupied, possessed and used those lands.

NOT OMNIPOTENT — As has been noted, the United States Supreme Court has the power to alter the law—even by reversing its own previous decisions.

But under the tripartite system of powers set up in the Constitution, the court has no authority to enact ordinary statute law. That authority is reserved to the Congress.

An odd and even freakish situation has resulted. It has never been the intent of the Congress to deny the states the title to offshore lands. On the contrary, the Congress has twice voted to restore title to the states. Both bills were vetoed by President Truman.

Opposing the policy of the Supreme Court's decisions against California, Louisiana and Texas, a law that would set up rules and the Congress has declined to enact methods whereby the Interior Department could handle oil leases on the submerged lands.

Lacking the authority of a law, the Interior Department has been unable to proceed on any large scale along the Gulf Coast. All it can do is grant leases in emergency cases.

Roughly, then: The Supreme Court can deny Texas the title to the land; but it cannot pass a law to put the Interior Department in charge.

ENTER MR. IKES—One further thing needs to be carefully remembered. The federal government considered as a whole, as an entity—has never tried to deprive the states of title to their offshore lands.

It was a small group of men in the Interior Department, which is only one division of the Executive Branch, that prevailed upon the Justice Department to bring the suits. The chief mover among them was the late Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior. He needed, of course, the approval of President Truman.

It is the Congress which makes this country's laws and which in consultation with the President decides and passes upon national policy. The Congress has never at any time favored expropriation of the offshore lands from the states. The Congress has twice voted to restore title to the states. Both bills were vetoed by the President.

Now what was it that Mr. Lowell gently and satirically suggested, away back in 1847?

The side of our country must oiled be took. An' President Polk, you know, he is our country.

Midwest Leads Top States In Angus Raising

The Middle West retained its lead in all phases of Angus business during the 1952 fiscal year, reports Frank Richards, secretary of the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association.

The highest number of purebred Plack registered during the past fiscal year which terminated on September 30 was from Missouri. This great state has led in registrations since 1950. The recent tabulation for Missouri totaled 18,683 purebred calves registered in the American Herd Book. Iowa trailed with 17,892, and Illinois ranked third with 15,442 new registrations. Other states listed in the top ten included Texas, with 8,814; Kansas, 8,406; Kentucky, 8,294; Virginia, 7,090; Oklahoma, 7,060; Indiana, 7,008; and Tennessee, 5,201.

Missouri again topped its brother states in the number of cattle transferred during the 1952 fiscal year. The "Show Me" state led with 18,139 transfers. The number two position was taken by Iowa with 12,830, and Illinois placed third with 11,577. Fourth spot was retained by Texas with 8,710; next came Kansas with 6,397; Kentucky, 6,266; Oklahoma, 6,240; Virginia, 5,883; Indiana, 5,351; and Ohio, 4,818.

The Bonham Daily Favorite EDITORIAL

Following is a letter received by Speaker Sam Rayburn this week from the DISABLED AMERICAN VETERANS, Bonham Chapter No. 129. This letter shows the deep concern over the coming national election, especially by the veterans of World War I who remember the soup lines of the Hoover days, T. Frank Stewart.

Bonham, Texas, October 20, 1952. Hon. Sam Rayburn, Speaker House of Representatives Bonham, Texas. My Dear Congressman:

At our regular meeting last Friday night I was instructed by a unanimous vote of the members of this Chapter of the Disabled American Veterans which has a membership of 116 men and women who were wounded, gassed, injured or lost their health in World Wars I or II to write you a letter and congratulate you and your colleagues for the fight you are making for the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket. We, to a man, are for this ticket, win or lose, and we know in our hearts if right prevails, we will not lose.

How any veteran in his right mind could even think of voting the Republican ticket this year is beyond our comprehension. We, especially here in the hospital and domiciliary, know what we have here and with what excellent care we are being given. We know this would be impossible under a Republican administration for those of us old enough to remember when we were not drawing compensation, the time we were not able to work, did not have enough clothes to cover our nakedness, and to eat we were lucky to get one bowl of soup and a hamburger once a day, to get this some of us had to sell apples and pencils on the street corners. That was under three Republican administrations: Harding, Coolidge and Hoover. We cannot go back to that and we will not, but if the Republican nominees are elected the veteran stands a chance of seeing the same thing some of us old World War I veterans did see as it will be the same old bunch running things who run them then.

So, Mr. Speaker, we say to you, 116 of us from your own home town DAV Chapter, God give you speed and God bless you and your colleagues for we know right will prevail and that Stevenson and Sparkman will be elected.

Sincerely yours, James E. Boley, Adjutant Ray W. Smith, Commander

DRAFTEES DON'T NEED MONEY, WEST POINTERS DO, IKE SAYS

General Eisenhower's views of less than two years ago, on the subject of pay for men in uniform, make interesting reading while he campaigns for the Presidency.

A clipping from The Springfield (Ill.) Journal bears the headline: DRAFTEES SHOULDN'T BE PAID, IKE SAYS.

The body of the story, a United Press dispatch from Washington of January 4, 1951, follows:

"Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today that men called to military service involuntarily—under the draft, for example—should get little if any pay because they are fulfilling an obligation to the state.

"He told a news conference that men who undertake a military career should be paid along professional lines. But the Government's only concern for those who are simply discharging their citizenship responsibilities should be to take care of dependents and disabilities, he said.

"You don't pay a person to go to school," Eisenhower said. "You don't pay a person to work out his poll taxes. As far as I am concerned, it is an obligation to the state."

CAMPAIGNERS ARE VICTIMS OF 'FLUFFS', VERBAL MISCUES

Call them fluffs, boners, blunders, or whatever. But they crop up in every campaign—those slips of the tongue and memory lapses. They may be momentarily embarrassing to the candidate involved, but usually they result in more humor than damage.
Many remember the incident in 1940 when the late Wendell Willkie referred to St. Paul as its arch rival neighbor, Minneapolis. And how he once warily endorsed a local candidate but used the wrong name.
Something like that has happened in almost every national campaign. This year is no exception.
During the early days of Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign, a western crowd that had never seen him and wasn't sure what he looked like cheered the wrong man, campaign manager Wilson Wyatt, who stepped off the plane ahead of the Democratic presidential nominee.
"Senator Pat Nixon"
One introductory speaker at a Republican rally recently referred to GOP presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower, who was not there, as "General Ike D. Eisenhower."
Sen. Richard M. Nixon, Eisenhower's running mate, has run into plenty of "fluffs" by introductory speakers and has pulled a few himself.
One local orator presented Nixon's wife, Pat, to the crowd and then introduced Nixon as "Sen. Pat Nixon."
In Salt Lake City recently, Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, the Utah GOP national committee-woman, presented Mrs. Nixon to a big crowd and a state-wide radio and TV audience as "the next wife of the vice-president."
Sen. Arthur V. Watkins R-Utah, followed Mrs. Priest and observed that "everybody seems to be a little excited." He proved it promptly, presenting Nixon as "Sen. Richard M. Nixon."
Stevenson drew snickers from baseball fans when he reportedly told strong-armed Alvin Reynolds, star World Series pitcher of the New York Yankees, "I wish I could hit like you do."
Forgot Candidate's Name
On his recent swing through New Jersey, local Republicans at one town gave Nixon a new doghouse for his Cocker Spaniel, "Chuckers." The GOP vice presidential nominee thanked the crowd profusely, and said: "We've been close just about everything for the dog except a bone, and I guess we'll get that at the next stop up the road—at Somerville."
That would have been alright, except he was already in Somerville. The next stop was Morris-town.
Perhaps the most embarrassed of all was the Midwest Democrat who nervously presided over a nationally televised party rally. He introduced the speaker as "the next

FEW PRESIDENTS BORN WEST OF MISSISSIPPI

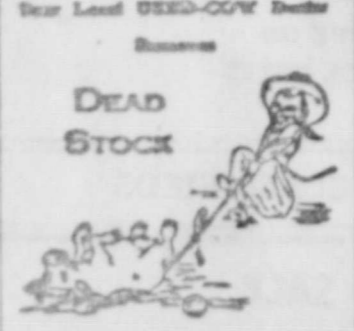

The next President, the 33rd man to hold the office, will be only the third born west of the Mississippi river.
Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, was born at Denison, Tex., and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, was born at Los Angeles.
The only previous presidents born west of the Mississippi were president of the United States... There was a long, agonizing pause where he groped for the name. Then he finally blurted "Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson."

They never had it so good!

THE order is, "Forward march"—and off they go, feet sucking against the Korean mud, every bone crying, "I'm tired!"
The order is flop and eat—and they flop and try to eat, no matter how little they like the food.
The order is, "Take hill number 63!"—and they fight forward, not ready for death, but expecting it with every splatter of bullets.
Then, in the quiet moments, one soldier will turn to another and half grin and say, "You never had it so good."
A joke—a classic Army joke—but these days it has a real bitter note to it. Because at the same time everyone is wondering and saying:
"Did it have to come to this?"
"Couldn't the shooting have been stopped before it began?"
"What's the matter with our foreign policy?"
"Why didn't the Administration see this coming?"

"Must we keep paying for their mistakes?"
"WHAT? We've never had it so good? COME INTO MY FOXHOLE AND SAY THAT!"
All right—the damage is done—and we all know what has been badly begun must be well ended.
BUT—shall we forget or forgive those who blundered? Will you? Do you dare? Will you trust America's future foreign policy to those responsible for Korea? Is this official fumbling what you want for America? You know it isn't!
Not if you value the lives of your sons. Not if you value your own life and welfare and that of your family. Not if you value the peace and prosperity of America.
No—you will want to clean house. You will want to sweep out of power and into the ash can the Administration that brought your country to this. You will run, not walk, to the polls. You will vote eagerly, glad that you can make a change. You will Napoleon's favorite flower was the common violet. When he was banished his followers wore violets to show their loyalty and their confidence that he would return when the violets bloomed. Sure enough they were in bloom when he returned to Paris in the spring of 1815.

Why Should I Have an Abstract?

. . . is a question often asked of abstracters and one we like to answer. When ownership of real property enters your business life then title problems also come in. Buying, selling, mortgaging and otherwise dealing with real estate require correct title information. The abstract reflects the true record title and therefore has everything to do with values. That's one answer, there are many others.

Quick Fruit Cake Pudding

A most appealing dessert for an autumn day is fruit cake pudding made the quick way with packaged fruit cake slices and pudding mix. It's a picture pudding with every bite of mellow fruit cake deliciously coated with smooth pudding—just the kind of hearty dessert we all look forward to in the fall. You'll like it for family meals, for drop-in guests to enjoy with coffee, and certainly for company dinner desert.

Fruit cake slices are made from a famous cook book recipe. You'll find them at your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. They are cut by the baker from a loaf fruit cake and packaged individually for your convenience in buying just what you need. Each attractively wrapped slice is as fruit rich as though you had cut it yourself. Five slices make five servings of pudding with one package of pudding mix, or about the same amount of your own delicious soft custard.

Quick Fruit Cake Pudding

1 package vanilla pudding mix 2 1/2 cups milk
5 fruit cake slices

Prepare pudding mix as directed on the package, using 2 cups of milk. When cooled to room temperature, stir in the remaining half-cup milk. Cover and chill. Break fruit cake slices into marble-size pieces; add pudding, mix carefully, and pile into sherbet glasses. Keep chilled until ready to serve.
