Chest Drive Total $5,188 Saturday Noon

Ranger's 1952 Community Chest drive passed the $5,000-mark late Friday, President W. C. Whittle, president of the local fund-raising organization, reported early Saturday.

The total collections of the Ranger chest's volunteer workers were $5,188 at noon Saturday, according to Miss Marjorie Maddocks, secretary.

Of this amount, Miss Maddocks said, $4,356 was in cash contributions—the remaining $832 in pledges.

The drive goes into its fourth week Monday.

The quota—$6,800.

The shortage at noon Saturday—$1,612.

"We're getting mighty close to making our goal," President Whittle said. "We hope we can raise that amount in a few days. And we urge our workers to get busy and complete their contacts."

DICTATES—Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., President-elect Eisenhower's "liaison" man, dictates to his secretary at his office in the Senate Office Building as he begins laying the groundwork for shifting the administration from the old to the new. The Senator will meet with high Government officials in the near future.

Deer Season Laws Cited By Commission

With fair shooting expected, the Executive Secretary of the Game & Fish Commission outlined some major regulations designed to guide Texas hunters when the deer season under the general law, opens Sunday, Nov. 16. The season extends through December 31.

He said gunners should remember that game wardens are not privileged to ignore violations since the state law specifies what hunters should NOT do. For example, if a hunter shoots a doe deer he must be prosecuted regardless of the circumstances unless it is the rare case of a doe having horns. The same applies to buck deer bearing less than the legal pronged horn.

Some other regulations: Two legal deer are allowed each hunter, with the law requiring a paper tag from the hunter's own license to be securely attached to the carcass. One secure method, he said, is to slit a small pocket in the hide to insert the tag. This has an added advantage in case the buck is stolen.

Hunting from public roads or on enclosed land without permission of the land owner is prohibited by law. Dogs or deer calls cannot be used. Horn rattling is permitted.

There are some special seasons on deer. West of the Pecos the shooting runs from November 20 to November 25, both days included. (Continued on Page 3)

Deer Outlook Is Fairly Good

As the November 16 opener for the general Texas law on deer approaches, reports indicate fairly good prospects, according to the Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission in Austin. The wild turkey outlook likewise is better.

He said an on-the-spot check for an article in the November issue of Texas Game and Fish Magazine credits a fine acorn crop as the principal reason for optimism.

Ranchers and nimrods in the Eastland County confines today were looking forward to a very fine hunting season with deer reported more plentiful in this vicinity than in recent years. The supply of bucks in the area is better than average, a survey of ranchmen reveals. However, the wild turkey crop is light. In fact, very few turkeys have been reported.

"Texas" acorn crop, an all-important factor to deer in most areas, generally is well above the average," states the magazine. "With the extended dry weather creating havoc among Texas wildlife species by dissipating natural foods, this has come as quite a surprise, although a most pleasant one. The flush acorn crop means that as the open season approaches, deer in those fortunate sections are fat and healthy. It means, too, that the new crop of fawns in the flush areas is of a good start."

Here is a summary of the statewide survey based on reports from wildlife biologists and game wardens:

"Mason County—Hunting should be about the same as last year. A good acorn crop is reported in the eastern part of Mason County. Although live oak mast in the southern part appears fairly plentiful, these acorns are falling prematurely. A good crop of Mexican persimmons benefited deer in the late summer.

"Travis County—Deer reported in good flesh with prospects for fair hunting. Excellent acorn crop with large amounts of live oak, Spanish oak, and black jack acorns present.

"Gillespie County—Estimates indicate more bucks than last season. Deer in good condition. Best turkey crop in several years. Area benefited by September rains. Acorn crop good.

"Kendall County—Deer crop about normal. More turkey than 1951. This area helped by September rain generally reported in fine shape. Acorn crop extra good.

"Llano County—Deer looking good. Reports indicate more bucks. Only few turkey in this county. Acorn crop spotted.

"Panhandle—Prospects for deer and turkey appear about the same as last year. Deer in good condition near streams which is only area reporting deer to any extent. Good fawn crop. Turkey hatch definitely lower than last year.

"East Texas—Deer generally in fair to good condition. Local areas may produce some fat deer and turkeys where mast is adequate. Good fawn crop. Blackjack appears best bet for acorns.

"Possum Kingdom area—Not as many deer as last year. Deer in pretty good condition despite poor range. Few acorns.

"Colorado and Wharton County area—About same number of deer as last year. Deer all fat. Big acorn crop.

"South Texas Brush Country—Probably a few more deer this year. Ranges exceedingly poor due to dry weather but deer surprisingly in good shape. Coyotes rough on fawn crop.

"Trans-Pecos Region—Deer fewer than last year which was below average. Best fawn crop for three years. Best ranges are in Davis Mountains where white tailed deer are fairly numerous. Acorn crop spotty."

Only 33 Left— Shopping Days Are Dwindling

How about your Christmas shopping?

Have you begun to select those Yuletide gifts, to attend to some of those buying details that sometimes are left to be done at the last minute?

If you haven't, next week might be a grand time to start.

Only 23 more shopping days remain before Christmas, Eastland Countians are reminded today, and they're also advised that "early bird" shoppers get best selections and, usually, effect greater savings in their purchases of Yuletide gifts.

Merchants over the Eastland County area report largest stocks of Christmas merchandise in years and urge families in this section to fill their gift needs now.

Most merchants offer convenient layaway and budget plans that make early Christmas shopping both easy and economical.

Remember—only 33 more shopping days until Christmas.

Alligators Stage Long Death Battle

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Two young alligators got into a week-long fight here which ended up in death for one and multiple wounds for the other.

"This is the third time in that past seven or eight years they've had a fight," said Mrs. Joel Richards, proprietress of a curio shop where the battle occurred.

She estimated the 'gators to be about 25 years old. A third saurian in the pen paid little attention to the death struggle. Mrs. Richards said he was about 200 years old and was probably getting a little senile.

'Monotonous'—No Arrests By City Cops In 8 Days

There were no arrests in Ranger Friday or Saturday up until this early Sunday edition of The Range Daily Times went to press.

And the city jail remained unoccupied for an eighth straight day.

However, Police Chief W. G. Pounds and his crew of Ranger Police Department blue-clads expect the lull on the crime front to end soon—probably Saturday night.

They're confident a few citizens may get tipsy.

Or—maybe something bigger will happen.

"This is getting monotonous," said Chief Pounds.

No arrests have been made by local police since a week ago Friday.

The Yellow Jacket fans went wild. And about 500 or more spirited cheering Maroon & White followers swarmed hard and chewed their fingernails through a dozen thrill-packed minutes until the brilliant-playing Bulldogs, near the end of the game, scored, added the point, and jumped out in front.

The Bulldogs' upset triumph put them in the top spot for the 1952 District 10-AA championship. They face the Comanche Indians at Comanche next Friday night and a victory over that final conference foe will cinch the coveted schoolboy title.

Prospects of bagging the championship had appeared completely remote only a few days ago. The mighty Yellow Jackets, heavier and with a far more impressive combat record, had been rated top-heavy, odds-on favorites to grab the '52 title flag with ease. And only a week ago while the Bulldogs were grinding out a slow, unimpressive 28-14 victory over the Cisco High Lobos in their final home appearance out at Bulldog Stadium, the Jackets blasted Comanche 35 to 7.

DOCS STRIKE FIRST
The Maroon & White Ranger crew, highly keyed to win the Friday night clash at Stephenville, stunned the audience when they scored the first tally of the night, giving promise of things to come, midway in the first period.

The Jackets, after receiving the opening kickoff boot of Eddie Jones, took over on their own 39 and began a vicious drive. It rolled on down to the Ranger 18 with ease. But there a 10-yard setback as a result of the fast, hard-charging Ranger defense chilled the threat and the Stephenville eleven was forced to punt.

The Bulldogs took over on their own 27 and launched a blazing ground and aerial assault that carried them down to the Jacket 3-yard stripe on 10 plays. Quarterback Gerald Bagwell plunged over center to score. And Halfback Frowning's extra point was perfect.

Midway in the second quarter the Rangers' lead melted away to nothing when Stephenville recovered a Bulldog fumble on their own 33-yard line and 8 plays later Herman Kaufman went over from the Ranger 3. He also added the extra point with a perfect kick from placement.

The Jackets broke the tie and took a 6-point lead midway in the third quarter, capitalizing on a Bulldog play-acting blunder. With the oval on their own 31 and about a yard to move to garner a first down, the Rangers gambled and elected to try a run instead of the conventional four-to-down punt. But the Stephenville line held and the ball went over to the Yellow Jackets. Eight ground slashes moved them down to the Bulldog 3-yard line, and Clayton Roberson whizzed around end to cross the double stripe. Kaufman, however, failed to convert.

DRIV' IS BEAUTY
Four plays after the fourth quarter opened, the Maroon & White warriors took over on their own 20 after a Yellow Jacket fourth down punt had crossed the goal line. From that point Bagwell tried a pass to Birds but missed and then on second down, fleet Charlie Mosegoe found a hole through tackle and scampered 26 yards before he was dropped. Browning picked up a yard through center to reach the Ranger 47. Bagwell kicked up six over right guard, Masseegee knifed through left guard for 8. Herbert Williams picked up a 4-yard gain over left guard, and then a pass — Bagwell to End Chico Mendoza — was good for 9 yards as the Bulldogs sizzled with power. Williams rounded right end for 4. Bagwell plowed over left guard for 3 more, and then another aerial—Bagwell to Mendoza—moved the oval to the 3-yard stripe. Herbert Williams pounded through center to score.

And—in one of the most dramatic moments of the night—Bill Browning booted the extra point. It was perfect.

INDIANS WIN, TOO
While the Bulldogs were scoring their sensational upset victory, their foes of next week—the Comanche Indians—were also performing in red-hot fashion as they scalped the Cisco Lobos, 40-12.

The Indians, who tried but two unsuccessful passes, rolled up 257 net yards rushing and 7 first downs while the underdog Lobos garnered 12 first downs, totaled 142 yards via the ground and added 50 strikes via the aerial route on 5 completions of 12 attempts.

5 Drunks Are Arrested, Put In Hospital

Five assorted individuals, all no doubt nursing hangovers Saturday morning, spent the tail-end of Friday night as patients in a Ranger hospital.

The quintet of inebriates were arrested on U. S. Highway 80 near the Stephenville cut-off late Friday night by State Highway Patrolman Ray Hatten. The men, all drunk, had overturned their car and were staggering around the scene of the mishap when the officer arrived.

He brought them to Ranger and interned them in a local hospital for treatment of minor injuries, cuts, bruises and lacerations.

When released Saturday they faced drunkenness fines in Justice of Peace Charles Toba's court.

Some of the men were military personnel of Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth.

Tot, 4, Breaks His Leg In Fall Off Tricycle

Larry Jack Mace, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mace, is a patient in Ranger General Hospital today receiving treatment for a broken leg.

The tot fell off his tricycle Friday morning about 10 o'clock and broke the limb between the knee and ankle. Relatives reported he was "restless" during the night, but seemed in good spirits this morning. He is expected to be confined in the hospital for several days.

The Mace family resides at 601 Homer Avenue in Ranger.

Strawn Loses To Clyde, 40-2, Friday Night

The Clyde High Bulldogs gained a tie for the championship of the District 8-B schoolboy grid loop Friday night at they hammered out a 40-2 triumph over the Strawn High Greyhounds in a conference clash unrec'd at Clyde.

At the same time the Baird High Bears battered the Carbon Wolverines, 39-7.

The Strawnites' lone two points were scored on a safety early in the fracas at Clyde when a bad passback from Center John Bailey was juggled by Tailback Bill Barr, who was tackled in the end zone.

Leading 14-2 at halftime, the Clyde powerhouse exploded twice in the third quarter and pushed over two more TD tallies in the final quarter to jump their triumph to the 40-2 count.

CHARLESTON, S. C.—A woman telephoned the sheriff's office and asked to speak to "Mr. Perry Mason."

The police dispatcher, L. Cain, when he recovered from his shock, asked "Perry Mason's a detective story detective, isn't he?"

"Oh yes," answered the embarrassed female voice, "I mean I want to talk to Sheriff Chester Perry."

LAST HUDDLE—Texan coach Jimmy Phelan, right, holds a strategy huddle before breaking up the last practice session of the team in Dallas. The former New York Yankees playing the season under the banner of Dallas, will have to find a new home next season after the owners turned the franchise back to the National League. Is He Bulldogs No. 1 Fan?

A guy who'll drive 538 miles to see a football game must be tabbed a red-hot fan.

And that's exactly what Wayne Lingle, former Ranger resident and ardent fan follower of the Ranger High football Bulldogs did Friday night.

Lingle, who now resides 218 miles away from our Oil City out in Odessa, was one of the hepped-up spectators in the stands at Stephenville to witness the thrilling Bulldog-Yellowjacket 10AA title scrap Friday night. He arrived late, but barely. In fact, he was there before the initial canto was more than four minutes deep.

But, in order to make the game, Lingle, an oil field worker, had to drive like a bat out of you-know-where, because he didn't get away from his job until late Friday afternoon. He whizzed 218 miles to Ranger, raced into Brother Ray Lingle's house and changed his work clothes and donned dresy duds, then sped 50 miles over to Stephenville.

The trip probably cost Lingle a cool fifty bucks.

"It was really worth it," he said after the Rangers' stunning 14-13 upset. "And, you know," he added, "I knew they were gonna win all the time!"

Lingle made another long hop to watch the Bulldogs several weeks ago when he witnessed another Ranger upset—out at Winters.

Maybe this guy Lingle, who's very superstitious, is a lucky guy to have hanging around a ball game. Maybe—if Ranger plays a bi-Districter—this gent ought to be urged and cordially invited to be present.

99 Per Cent American Adults Believe In God

Off-heard comment that America's younger generation is headed toward Hades and that this great land of the free and home of the brave is spiritually decadent were counteracted today by the first impartial nationwide survey of religious beliefs ever made in the United States.

The heartening finding of the coast-to-coast poll: Ninety-nine per cent of American adults believe in God.

The survey, made by an independent commercial opinion research firm, cut across racial and religious lines and examined the beliefs of Catholics, Protestants, Jews, other sects, and those professing no religious beliefs. The questionnaire and polling techniques, four months in preparation, were reviewed and approved by Dr. George Gallup of the Gallup Poll.

In the questionnaire, the basic question put to Americans was: "Do you believe in a God?" The question was understood. It could not be side-stepped because of a lack of directness. Ninety-nine per cent said they believe in God. Only one percent said they do not believe.

Looking more closely at the survey, belief in a God among those who said they were Protestant was found to be just under 99 per cent, those who said they were Catholic just under 100 per cent, among those who said they were Jewish slightly less than 97 per cent. Disbelief was greatest among those who said they belonged to no church group. Of the sexes, women stood at close to 100 per cent while men mustered only 98 per cent.

In addition, all who answered "Yes," were asked: "How strong would you say this belief is?" "Absolutely certain there is a God"—fairly sure there is—not quite sure, but like to think there is—or, not at all sure, but not sure there isn't.

Of the total, 87 per cent were absolutely certain, 10 per cent fairly sure, and 2 per cent not quite sure, with less than 1/5 of 1 per cent not at all sure. Of the Catholics 92 per cent were absolutely certain, 7 per cent fairly sure, 1 percent not quite sure. Of the total Protestant, 87 per cent were absolutely certain, 10 per cent fairly sure, 2 per cent not quite sure. The Jews were 76 per cent absolutely certain, 18 per cent fairly sure, 9 per cent not quite sure. Of those from no religious group, only 55 per cent were absolutely certain, 21 per cent fairly sure, 7 per cent not quite sure, and 2 per cent not at all sure. From this group came the largest percentage who did not believe in God: 12 per cent, and the 3 per cent who did not know.

Future reports on the survey's findings will show the intensity of that belief in practice.

Ranger Pastor To Help Conduct New Evangelism Experiment

The Rev. Garland Lavender, pastor of Ranger's First Methodist Church, is one of 400 clergymen across the nation selected to help conduct a new experiment in evangelism to be tested in Washington, D. C., November 28-December 5.

Coming from every state, the 400 ministers will participate in a Spiritual Life Mission sponsored by the Methodist Church's General Board of Evangelism, Nashville, Tenn.

"Our goal will not be new church members, but how to reclaim inactive and indifferent members," said the Rev. D. G. Ernest Thomas, staff member of the Nashville board, who will direct the program. He said the Washington project will serve as a test pattern for metropolitan Methodist churches throughout the country.

The mission will be based at Hamlin Methodist Church in downtown Washington. The visiting ministers will attend a training school every morning, then fan out to 317 churches of the area to team with local ministers and laymen to preach and visit. Every church member will be urged to observe "holy habits," Dr. Thomas said. The covenant pledges regular attendance, family devotions, daily Bible reading and prayer, and support of the church program. The mission will open with an address by Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, resident Methodist bishop of the Washington Area.

Other speakers in the training school will include Bishop Hezen G. Werner, Columbus, Ohio; Bishop F. Gerald Emery, Des Moines, Ia.; Bishop Paul N. Garber, Richmond, Va.; Bishop Edgar Love, Baltimore, Md.; Dr. Harry Denman, Nashville, executive secretary of the evangelism board, and

What's the Use of an Abstract— . . . if it doesn't cure the title? is another puzzling question to some abstractors, but we have never worried much about this one. Neither does the doctor's prescription cure human ills in all cases, but it may help. The abstract never was designed to cure anybody's title, but the better type of abstract will reveal the condition of the title and place it in position where it may be perfected, if necessary, by the examining attorney.

Miss Falls And Mr. Hazard Wed In Candlelight Ceremony Nov. 7

Miss Betty Jean Falls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Falls became the bride of Bobby Ray Hazard, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hazard in a double ring candlelight ceremony performed November 7 in the bride's home.

The Rev. Ralph E. Perkins, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated at the ceremony and the music was presented by Mrs. Clyde Harris, pianist, who played "I Love You Truly," "Always" and "The Wedding March."

The couple was married before an arch of white candles flanked by large baskets of white mums. The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a ballerina length dress with fitted bodice and brief bolero of satin and a skirt of nylon net with bands of satin. The veil of imported illusion was attached to a half-hat of satin. Mitts of white satin and white satin pumps completed her ensemble. The bride's something "old" was a wedding ring belonging to her grandmother.

Miss Wynona Raines, maid of honor, was attired in a pastel yellow net over taffeta ballerina length dress with matching mitts of net. She wore a band of bronze chrysanthemums in her hair. Kenneth Falls, Jr., brother of the bride, lighted the candles and Charles Williams served as the best man.

A reception, following the wedding, was held in the Falls home. The brides table was centered with an arrangement of white mums and chrysanthemums. The table was laid with white imported linen. Lighted white candles completed the table setting. Miss Deanne Hazard served the cake and Mrs. L. L. Tackett served the punch. Miss Paule Raines presided at the bride's book.

For her going away suit the bride wore a gray suit trimmed in gold with dark brown accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mrs. Hazard was graduated from Ranger High School and attended Ranger Junior College where she was a member of the Debs Club and Phi Theta Kappa. Mr. Hazard graduated from Ranger High School and is now a student at Ranger Junior College.
