Of all the words
Of tongue or quill
The saddest of these:
YOU pay the bill!

Monday morning Mrs. Glenn West phoned this scribe to add her bit to that of other readers regarding the strange "object" which has been reported in the skies by many residents in the Ranger area. Mrs. West and her husband viewed the "thing" through a 15-power telescope and report: The "object" is simply a star—the second brightest in the sky. And more explicitly, according to the Ranger amateur astronomers, its name is "Canopus" a first magnitude star. The illusion of various changing colors, the Wests say, is due to the fact that the celestial body is low and the color panorama is due to viewing it through the earth's atmosphere. Furthermore, they declare, it really doesn't move. That is "just" imagination. "I thought it moved," Mrs. West said, "but Glenn proved to me that it didn't. I was sort of weaving back and forth and it made it appear that the star was moving, too." Says her husband: "Stars are always more visible during the winter months." Then he added: "People should look at the stars more, because—well, they're really very interesting." ... Thanks to the Wests for their call ... and likewise to Mrs. Shelby (better known as Corky) Farnell for her telephone contact to inform us that her husband, the "one-armed bandit," described the "object" as a cat which had swallowed a Mexican jumping bean. The changing colors, the "stars" in the feline's eyes. Brother! ... We'd like to join Coach Sam Aills, the personable Ranger High basketball mentor, in inviting all sports fans to journey down to the Recreation Building in Ranger Friday night to watch their 1953 high school Bulldogs open their District 10-AA round-ball campaign against the Cisco Lobos. There'll be five games. First, beginning at 7 p.m., the "B" teams of both schools will collide in a preliminary contest. Then at 8:30 comes the main event between the Bulldogs and the Lobos. About three full hours of stellar "hardwoods" action and entertainment—all for only 25 cents for students and 35 cents for adults. That's a real bargain, fans!

In the days of yore when a woman wanted a fur coat, she just grabbed a rifle and hied off to the woods and knocked off a fox. In this streamlined era, the modern woman just shoots a little bull.

Social Security Representative Here This Week

Mr. E. Glen McNatt will be at the Retail Merchants Association Office in Ranger at 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 14. Persons wishing advice or assistance in connection with their social security accounts are invited to call at that time. The next scheduled visit will be at the same hour on Jan. 28.

In making this announcement, Ralph T. Fisher, Manager of the Abilene office, called attention to the fact that it is again time for self-employed people to file their social security reports. This report is a part of the income tax return and is due in the office of the Director of Internal Revenue not later than March 15, 1953.

Practically all persons who operate their own businesses as sole owners, or as partners, are included if net earnings are at least $400 for the taxable year. Not included is income from farm or ranch operations, rentals from personally owned real estate or income from certain professions listed in the law. Social Security tax rate for self-employed persons is 2 1/2 percent of net earnings up to $3,600.

Any self-employed person who needs information as to whether he is included under the social security provisions should get in touch with the nearest office of the Social Security Administration or the nearest Internal Revenue Office. Persons needing social security numbers—and each self-employed person who files a social security return will need one—should get an application blank at the Post Office. These completed applications for original or duplicate number can be mailed to the Social Security Administration in Abilene, Texas.

The date for the annual Eastland County Livestock Show has been set for March 27 and 28 according to an announcement by Sutton Crofts, Cisco, President of the Eastland County Livestock Raisers Association, sponsoring organization.

The show will again be held in Eastland at the old airport, a mile northeast of the city.

The general rules and regulations of the show have been changed this year to permit FFA and 4-H Club members from adjoining counties to exhibit and compete with local county members for prize money it was said.

The horse show will be held separately from the livestock show this spring. Livestock classes will be approximately the same as they were at last spring's show, except that a class of fat yearling sheep will be added, Crofts reported.

Roland Phillips To Attend Meet In San Antonio

J. R. Phillips, bulk agent for Humble Oil & Refining Co., Eastland, will attend the Company's annual Sales and Cost Conference January 18-21 in San Antonio.

At the conference, Humble's sales program for 1953 and a review of 1952 operations will be given. Meetings will be in the Plaza Hotel.

Equipment for the new high school will be purchased on Monday, January 12th, was a statement of School Superintendent Charles Gibbs.

"The interior walls will be white face-brick and varnished wall-board. Exterior walls are 3-foot depth of brick and steel frame windows, several of which will cover the entire length of the outside wall.

"Sky domes will light the hallways where fountains are being installed. Restrooms are being conveniently and appropriately located.

"It is not expected that the high school will be used until the entire building project, including the auditorium and the offices, is completed.

"Lowering and leveling a portion of the play ground is being arranged for as the project is finished. The leveling will take care of drainage, a problem that the school has been faced with for a period of years. A driveway and parking space is also listed among the improvements.

"The auditorium, the foundation of which has been laid with the subfloor of concrete, will compare in seating capacity with other schools recently built in towns of like size in population and school enrollment."

Workers Hounded By Loan Sharks, Survey Discloses

More than half the concerns replying in a Houston survey report that their employees are hounded by high rate loan companies. The survey, conducted by the Better Business Bureau, revealed that most of these business firms find their mail cluttered with collection letters and cards from loan sharks and the phone lines of nearly half these businesses are tied up by collectors for high raters.

"Business leaders are tremendously interested in solving this problem," declared Fisher G. Dorsey, president of the Better Business Bureau. "Serious consideration must be given, in the immediate future, to securing effective legislation that would enable legi-

The Junior Bar of Texas has endorsed the principle of a small loan bill, similar to legislation in effect in 30 other states, and its adoption will be urged by the present legislature.

Vandals Plague State Highways

RALEIGH, N. C.—The North Carolina department of highways figures sign vandals cost state taxpayers $250,000 a year.

Among the vandals:

1. The hunter who fails to find a deer and drills a hole through a highway marker instead.
2. The doodler who alters words and figures on signs.
3. The fun-loving college student who decorates his room with signs saying "No Passing" and "Soft Shoulders."
4. The would-be Hercules who contents himself with simply bending the sign around its post.

Dallas on New Year's Eve, has been in difficulty with the long arm of the law on past, but less notable occasions. He's been arrested five times—in Arkadelphia, Ark., Louisville, Ky., and Dallas. He's still unapprehended. His morning even though a nationwide dragnet is out. Some folks theorize that someone must be "helping" Brown. Allegedly his wife and two very small children are with him as he successfully eludes the law for his eighth day. . . . Even the erudite United Press pulls "bulls." Marylin Scott of the staff of the Commercial Recorder, Fort Worth business man's daily, showed us the following first paragraph of a UP story: "Houston police," the dispatch read, "looked for clues today in the death of a 53-year-old grandmother in the florist shop where she worked part time with a .32-caliber bullet wound in her head." Miss Scott guffawed. So did we. And so probably will you. All of which is proof that your Ranger Daily Times the only Fourth Estater which unintentionally commits mistakes. . . . C. M. Parnell, who's 86 years young, is in excellent condition and is proud of it. "In 14 years," he says with a twinkle in his eye, "I'll be 100. And the way I feel now—well, I believe I'll make it." Mr. Parnell, who makes his home out on Sinclair Avenue, gets around with the vim and vigor of one many years younger than his four-score and six. He peppy treks downtown twice daily and has a host of friends who always find him in fine fettle and excellent spirit.

It happened recently in a local super-market:

A woman wheeled a fully loaded cart to the checkstand

and said: "Take out $10 worth and then put the rest back on the shelves."

Congressmen are in favor of all appropriations and against all taxes. . . . Important reminders: The 55 members of Ranger's Country Club have a date tonight at 7 p.m. A wonderful dinner is promised for tonight's business meeting and banquet. . . . A new bride was accosted by a good friend: "Just back from your honeymoon, eh? How did John register at the hotel?" "Just fine," said the new Mrs., "just fine." According to the calendar just 14 days remain before the deadline for poll taxes. Have you paid yours? . . . Have heard much complimentary comment regarding the Sunday night special broadcast, "KRLD Salute to Ranger," heard from 9:30 to 10 over the 50,000-watt big D station. Good music (Phil Spitalny and his all-girl ork), good script, and good words (about 2 minutes) worth during taped address of Mayor Price Crawley. His brief address was good sales talk for Ranger. . . . by a good salesman. . . .

Many are the stories told about the care Gen. Smedley D. Butler always took in looking after the welfare of the men in his command—especially as regarded their food. One re-lates that when he was in command of Camp Pontzen, France, he met two soldiers carrying a large soup kettle from the kitchen. "Here you," he ordered "let me taste that." "But, Gen. . . ."

"Don't give me any buts get a spoon!"

"Yesir!" the soldier replied, and running back into the kitchen, brought a spoon.

The general took the desired taste and gingerly spat it out. "You don't call that stuff soup, do you?" he shouted. "No sir!" replied the soldier. "That's what I was trying to tell you, sir—it's dishwasher!"

Common Cold Cuts Fertility, Medics Declare

The common cold can cause temporary sterility for a period of at least two weeks. This surprising discovery, revealed by the American Society for the Study of Sterility and reported today in a national magazine, is significant news for the 7,000,000 people in the United States afflicted with sterility problems.

Because sterility is also a world problem—10 per cent of the world's population is afflicted with barren marriages—the First World Congress on Fertility and Sterility will convene May 25th in New York, attended by 1,800 doctors from forty-eight countries. A preview of some of the essential facts and controversial points that will be explored by the Congress is the subject of the article based on statements by Dr. Abner I. Weisman of New York, Dr. Somers Sturgis of Boston and Dr. Walter W. Williams of Springfield, Mass. All three are pioneers in this new field.

In fertility occurs about equally in men and women, but many more women can be helped than men. With women, about 50 per cent of the cases can be successfully treated. According to the specialists, sterility results from:

1. Erosion of the cervix or blocked Fallopian tubes (in women).
2. Psychic or emotional disturbances that affect the endocrine glands.
3. Overly prudish or unobservant parents who do not pay attention to a boy's under-developed genital organs during his adolescence.
4. Excessively fat or tall persons, male adults who have had the mumps, or injuries sustained in athletics.

With the widespread use of penicillin today, gonorrhea is no longer the chief cause of sterility. So far, no cure-all for male sterility has been found. "In some cases, if the husband's potency level is low, it is possible to raise the wife's fertility quotient, with pregnancy resulting," says Dr. Weisman.

One of the startling points that will be raised at the Congress in May is the finding that the incidence of barren marriages is higher in the monied third of the population, a group in which sterility frequently can be traced to emotional or psychic disturbances. Supporting this finding are U. S. Census figures which show that since the turn of the century the percentage of childless couples invariably decreases as the social status declines.

Eisenhower Will Have Prayers Of Christian People

Following up their original proposal of a Special Day of Prayer for the new President, the Christians have just sent another request to over 800,000 followers in every state in the union. They urge as many persons as possible in every walk of life to observe Sunday, Jan. 18, as a special day of national prayer in behalf of President-designate, Dwight D. Eisenhower, as well as his cabinet, the Congress and the Judiciary.

The proposal of setting the Sunday before the inauguration as this Day of Prayer for the new President was originally made at a gathering of the radio and television industry at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City on Nov. 23, by Father James Keller, director of the Christians.

Millions were reached with the first proposal through newspapers, television, and radio, and the warm reception given it over the country prompted the Christians to repeat the appeals. Pursuing the same idea, the Christians now suggest that persons and groups in schools, clubs and other organizations spread the idea to each and every American of every race, color and creed.

"The suggestion," Father Keller said, "is in keeping with one of the best of our National traditions. Days of national prayer have been a part of American life from its beginnings. This important moment in our history is an ideal time to observe this practice which dates from colonial times in America."

The Christians, who maintain their only headquarters at 18 East 48th Street in New York City, have no meetings, no dues, no memberships. The movement, started in 1945 by Father Keller, now has 800,000 followers who seek to bring the love and truth of Christ back into the marketplace.

The nation's railroads have 867,000 cars for carrying coal, ore, sand, stone and gravel. If placed in train formation these cars would stretch more than twice across the continent from Eastport, Me., to San Diego Calif.

Drilling operations are sensitive barometers in the oil picture, and 1952 in Texas closed almost 1,000 wells shy of the number generally forecast a year earlier. Oil men drilled 17,028 holes, a new record, but only 88 more than the year before.

A dampening effect on drilling apparently came from curtailment in the Spraberry trend area, where high well costs and low recovery rates were proving a disappointment. This situation with general high costs and steel shortages was further aggravated by the fact that although more wells were drilled, 487 fewer were completed as oil or gas producers.

The approximately $3 billion which entered Texas business arteries as a return on the sale of crude oil plus the some $705 million added to its value by transportation and manufacturing processes again proved the petroleum

TEXAS OIL OUTPUT SOARS OVER ONE BILLION BARRELS DURING 1952, REPORT SHOWS

Texas, the nation's Number One storehouse of power, provided the country with 1,168,000,000 barrels of petroleum in 1952 and set a production record that passed the billion mark for the second time in history.

An estimate by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, based on U. S. Bureau of Mines figures, showed a flow of some 1,028,000,000 barrels of crude oil and 140,000,000 barrels of distillate.

Producer of 45 per cent of U. S. crude oil, Texas fields flowed at the average rate of some 2,815,900 barrels per day. This was some 700,000 barrels a day more than the rate for the whole Middle East; some 300,000 barrels per day higher than total output of all Western Hemisphere countries outside the U. S.; and, more than twice the estimated output of Russia and her satellites, the Association pointed out.

The effect of the petroleum industry operations on the state's expanding general economy was underwritten by other figures such as these:

139,629 producing oil wells, a 7,162 increase over 1951.

3,241 separate fields, a gain for the year of 570.

163,000 Texans employed in production and refining, up 9,900.

Some statistics, however, in the year-end picture spelled rougher times for the Texas oil and gas producers:

The nation's tank farms were pretty well loaded with crude—some 272,000,000 barrels, nearly 50 per cent of it from Texas, forcing slow-downs in production allowances.

Too, the odds against success in drilling got just a little tighter with 36.8 per cent of all 1952 wells being dry, compared to 33.6 per cent in 1951.

Meanwhile the state tax levied on gross production had drained off nearly $120 million from crude oil operations alone.

Drilling operations are sensitive barometers in the oil picture, and 1952 in Texas closed almost 1,000 wells shy of the number generally forecast a year earlier. Oil men drilled 17,028 holes, a new record, but only 88 more than the year before.
