It's hot back home. That is the report Bill Bradshaw gave this reporter following his return from a vacation to cooler places. Bill said it was in the 60's and 70's in Detroit while he was up that way. He also advises that he saw some American League baseball games while he was away. I'll bet a Dr. Pepper none of them were as thrilling to him as the last Little League game of the Ranger Yankees and Giants.

In our feature, "Who Is This?" a few days ago we had the picture of Mrs. C. J. May, the former Miss Hazel Erwin, who was reared in Ranger. She was in nursing service in the Army during World War II and we are advised that she is now working at the V. A. Hospital in Albuquerque, N. Mex.

Fishermen in these parts will regret hearing the news that the Game and Fish Commission is transferring W. L. Baum from Cisco to the Garza-Little Elm Lake Hatchery near Lewisville in Dallas County. He has worked energetically in helping to provide better fishing in these parts during the years he has been with the hatchery at Cisco.

We have it from official sources that Les Crossley's fishing results around Galveston these past few days haven't been so hot. We are certain that Police Chief Pounds wouldn't give us anything but the straight dope on reports coming in on the fishing expedition of Les.

What do some of you younger folks, and older ones too, think about giving Robert and Mary Jane Maddux a card shower? This could be done with very little effort and there is no doubt that the cards and greetings from Ranger friends would be appreciated. Mrs. Maddux told us the other day that they are now able to read and enjoy mail.

You can address them at Hendricks Memorial Hospital and the mail will get to them.

Ranger has a business which is an important one, and is more important that a lot of folks think. It is the Ranger livestock auction held every Monday. Banker W. F. Creager says this is a very good thing for Ranger, and reports from the management are that they are pleased with the overall operations of the auction since it was started last year. It will continue to grow and it will provide livestock producers in this area with a nearby market on small lots of cattle and hogs that is comparable to the markets in larger areas.

Rumors are afloat that the coffee shop in the Ghoulon Hotel may be reopened soon.

How about helping the March of Dimes? This old country boy tried to be the first to get a donation into Chairman Jess Cole but he wasn't fast enough on the draw. That honor went to an Olden man, J. C. Everett, who is to be congratulated on his prompt reply to the appeal for emergency funds to fight polio.

Men, you might as well give up. The women are thinking up new ways to get ahead of you — more every day. Here's the latest that has come to our attention.

It seems that the women have discovered a new method of creating a stylish hat — cost-free. Hubby's favorite summer straw hat is being converted by the ingenious wife to a very feminine and eye-catching chapeau.

According to the report the method used is simply to submerge the hat in a pan of water until it becomes moist enough to shape. After the submersion at the girls have to do is to press the brim wide and over or under, and either slouch or angle the crown of it. A ribbon tied or tacked around the crown gives it a bright finishing touch.

There ain't no justice, men's hats are not even safe any more — at home least of all.

Fishing Forecast: It won't be too good for several days yet.

Quotable Quotes: Only the idle rich and the idle poor can afford adequate leisure in this workaday world. Yes, cousin, that's what makes it hard on you and me, the squeeze is on the middle man.

March of Dimes Fund Contributions Begin Reaching Office Here

Members of the Texas National Guard unit in Ranger are lending strong support to the Emergency March of Dimes drive for funds to fight polio, M-Sgt. Jean Cole said today.

At the Tuesday night meeting of the guard, all members pledged contributions equal to one day's pay, and the non-commissioned officers pledged a total of $25.00, Cole said. Total contributions to the fund from this source alone will amount to $200,000, Cole said.

Cole, who is county chairman of the Eastland County Chapter of the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, said the response to an appeal for funds is good, and that donations are being received in every mail, in response to letters sent out earlier this week. The drive, seeking to raise $20,000,000 nationally, will end on August 31.

The first contributions received by Cole was from J. C. Everett of O'Brien. The letter soliciting funds went out Monday and the contribution was received Tuesday bearing a postmark of 6 p.m. Monday.

Collection canisters have been distributed throughout Eastland County and small change donations are beginning to accumulate in all of them, Cole said.

One Ranger cafe, Tiny's on Highway 80 east, was offering free coffee Wednesday to patrons if they would contribute to the polio fund.

One of the first to make a donation in person was a Ranger polio victim, Dillard Jacoby, age 9, who appeared at the Chamber of Commerce office asked Manager Rip Galloway to accept his contribution of $2.50.

Mail contributions being received for the fund drive have ranged from 10 cents to $15, Cole said today.

Joseph Returns From Attending Dallas Market

The American Fashion Association's Midwinter and Holiday Market in Dallas this week was attended by Dr. Joseph, owner of Joseph's Department Store.

Over a thousand lines of women's and children's apparel are being shown at the Adolphus, Baker and Dallas Hotels by the 400 members of the American Fashion Association, according to H. W. Stanley, manager of the Market Division of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

The theme of American Fashion Association's famous Breakfast Market in Dallas this week was "The Season to be Jolly" was carried out in a series of seven promotions dramatized in the Crystal Ballroom of the Baker Hotel. Strong emphasis was placed on accessories as items, and a special sequence of the show was devoted to the Blue Ribbon Winners. These are designs by Texas manufacturers to be exhibited at the Fashion Fair, marking the official opening of the new Women's Exhibits Building of the State Fair of Texas.

Mr. Joseph attended the market Sunday and Monday returning Monday night. He was accompanied to Dallas by his daughter Mrs. Ray Ameen and her two children, Evelyn and Tina, of Houston. Mrs. Ameen had been in Ranger visiting her parents and met her husband, Dr. Ray Ameen in Dallas on their return trip home.

Bob Womack, Eastland Junior at H-SU, transferred there from Cisco Junior College last spring and gave a good account of himself in Spring drills back in April. He weighs 190 pounds and stands six feet tall. He fills a left end position.

Masseege is the son of Chaplain (Capt.) and Mrs. J. C. Masseege of Ranger. Womack is the son of Eastland School Superintendent and Mrs. W. G. Womack of Eastland.

The 1954 Bulldog—RANGER HIGH ANNUAL TELLS FULL STORY OF SCHOOL YEAR

If you have seen, or if you own, or if you do see a copy of the 1954 annual of Ranger High School, there's no doubt that you will be reminded that Ranger Bulldogs won the 1953 Class A Championship in high school football competition.

The 1954 edition of The Bulldog was received and distributed several days ago. It is an attractive annual, bound in white simulated leather, with an embossed map of Texas, and printed across the face of the map in maroon are the words, "The Bulldog Class A State Champions."

DROUTH AID FORMS ARRIVE AT EASTLAND

Applications are now being taken at the Farmers Home Administration office in Eastland for drouth relief aid, George Lane, head of the FHA office here, said today.

Lane said that the emergency drouth feed program would go into effect in the near future. The County committee will meet Friday.

All farmers and ranchers in the county are eligible for a 60 day supply of hay and grain, he said. The FHA office is open Monday through Friday.

Lane, Ewing Baker Jr., Emmett Powell and Lesley Hagerman all attended a school in Abilene on the program earlier this week.

Next Year's School Budget Being Studied

The budget of the Ranger Independent School District for the school year 1954-55 has been prepared and is under consideration by the Board of Trustees, it was announced today by G. B. Rush, school superintendent.

The proposed budget covers a total expenditure of $221,665, as compared with a total anticipated revenue for the school district in the amount of $221,737.35. The total current expenses are proposed at $193,965, and of this amount over 40 percent is for one item, salaries for teachers in the elementary schools alone. Salaries and miscellaneous operating expenses for teaching, in all the white schools and in the negro school, amount to $148,925.

In discussing the budget, Rush said that the salary schedule of the Ranger Independent School District is operated on the minimum salary schedule set up by the Gilmer-Aiken law. This means that the school district must meet the minimum salary schedule in order to qualify for state assistance in the administration of the Gilmer-Aiken school act.

Rush said it was estimated that 70 percent of the public schools in Texas are operating on the minimum salary schedule.

It was pointed out that $28,600 is for capital outlay and school district debt retirement.

The miscellaneous items have been estimated on a conservative basis to meet minimum needs for the coming school year.

It is noted in the breakdown far estimated revenue for the district, that almost $150,000 is expected to be received from the state.

Rush said, "In compliance with the law the budget listed below has been prepared and with such changes, if any, will be adopted by the Independent School Board. The budget may be amended or supplemented when approved by the local Trustees of the District."

ABILENE MAN WILL DIRECT RANGER HIGH SCHOOL BAND

Ranger High School will have a new band director at the beginning of the 1954-55 school term. It was announced today by Supt. G. B. Rush. The new band director will be Sam Houston of Abilene.

Houston will succeed Fred Steffy, who has resigned to accept a position in the Abilene school system. He and Mrs. Steffy are moving to Abilene where she will attend Hardin-Simmons University and Mr. Steffy will teach in the Abilene school system.

Houston, a former band director of the Gorman High School, was recently discharged after three years of band and music work in the Army. He attended Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene where he received a degree in music and was a member of the famed Cowboy band of the university. He was reared in Abilene, where he finished high school. He was also a member of the Abilene High School band.

Supt. Rush said that Houston will direct both the high school and junior high bands, and teach music in the sixth grade classes of both Ranger elementary schools.

Need To Teach Americanism Is Told Rotarians

Speaking before the Ranger Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon meeting at noon Wednesday, Rev. Cliff Brannon, Baptist evangelist issued a challenge to Rotarians to help teach the ideal of democracy by telling the reasons why they believe in Americanism.

Members of the Brannon evangelistic team, engaged in a tent revival for the First Baptist Church in Ranger, provided the program at the Rotary Club meeting.

Jerry Barnes, song leader in the revival, sang and was accompanied by the piano by Miss Beverly Brannon. They were introduced by Rev. Ralph Perkins, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Rev. Brannon stated that his subject to the Rotarians was "Securing the Security of Opportunity," saying that today wars are not fought for economic reasons, but in the support of or opposition to ideologies.

He urged the Rotarians to help keep the public schools of this country independent, and to help teach the ideal of freedom and democracy. He declared there is a need for all Americans to safeguard the constitutionally endowed freedoms and work to keep our educational institutions free and independent.

R. V. Galloway, manager of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce discussed briefly the proposed city-wide civic improvement program. He was a guest of W. F. Creager, Rotary club representative and member of the Ranger Civic Affairs committee.

Dewey Cox, Jr., announced that the Rotary Club's attendance record for July was eighth in the district of 32 clubs.

Bob Kuhnheim a member of the Eastland Rotary Club was a visitor.

Port Arthur Trio Tell Of Strike-Bred Terror

Three residents of strike-torn Port Arthur Wednesday gave Eastland citizens a verbal picture of what happens when a "communist-led union" gains broad-based into a community. Speaking in the Eastland County courthouse, a leading citizen of the South Texas city, his wife and another housewife gave the story of Port Arthur.
Asking that their names not be used because of "fear for our families," the trio gave a black picture of life in what was once another medium-sized Texas city.
Placing all of their troubles on the DPOWA-CIO, the visitors told of hatred among families, neighbors, students, churches and other organizations caused by the union's attempt to organize Port Arthur's business houses.
The DPOWA-CIO, headed by Fred Pieper, is what remains of a union that was led by "fifth amendment communists." The trio speaking here Wednesday insisted the union is still controlled by reds.

Port Arthur businessmen didn't think anything about it until suddenly their taxes were raised 600 per cent.
Saying that woke up the citizenry, they told how the city of 68,000 had 149 deputy post tax stations, of which 69 were at one address—the CIO Hall.
Next came an announcement that stores and shops were to be organized. Next an announcement 50 stores would be struck and next the actual picketing of 22, which are still being struck.
"Tactics used were unheard of," the man said. "Shops and stores were told to sign up or be picketed." It was about this time that the "communist leaders" were chased from the state and Pieper was sent to take over the union by the CIO.
Saying that most of the pickets being used are paid outsiders, the trio told of seeing white women and negro men walking the same picket line. The vilest language was used by strikers on any who crossed the picket line, they asserted.

They told how a Negro man who was picketing was arrested and convicted for indecent exposure. He was found guilty, fined $200, and later released when he appealed, they said. For the next three days he was back on the picket line.
They told how those who crossed picket lines received "threatening phone calls in the middle of the night." And one of the women speakers said, "I've tried to make it my duty to cross those picket lines as many times as I can."
They told how the Port Arthur baseball team defied the union when they were refused permission to stay at a struck hotel and stayed there anyway.
They told of a strike of school children, and of a young girl be-

Steak Recipe For Backyard Chefs Preserves Tenderness

The growing popularity of outdoor cooking has brought with it a whole new school of food preparation — as well as an array of backyard chefs. Just moving the cooking locale from the kitchen range to the barbecue releases a daring and willingness to experiment with food which doesn't exist indoors. More often than not it is the view of the house which takes over. The sight of a thick steak and a bed of gleaming coals puts his ingenuity to work. His innovations become a success story to be passed on to his business associates the next day.

It was the venturesomeness of an outdoor amateur cook which resulted in the newest recipe now being exchanged by collectors of pit recipes. The originator of this recipe wanted to preserve the tenderness of a choice steak by slow — even cooking. At the same time he wanted to seal in the rich meat juices with their healthful minerals. He accomplished both goals by packing the steak with a thick coating of moistened salt. Pronto, the hot coals formed a shell-like crust which drew the heat and steadied the cooking temperature. At the same time the heavy salt crust prevented the juices from dripping away into the fire. Before serving, the salt coating is scraped off to reveal a seasoned, tender, juicy just-right steak.

The recipe for cooking a salt-packed steak on a barbecue grill follows:

Use steak about 2 inches thick. Trim off surplus fat. Make a paste of 1 cup of salt and 5 tablespoons of water. Spread a 1/4 inch layer of the paste on both sides of the steak. Cooking time depends on the depth and heat of the coals.

For camp cooking, try tossing the salt-packed steak in the live coals. The intense heat forms a crust which roasts the meat evenly, while preserving all the natural juices. Peel off the crust when serving.

A salt-packed steak can be broiled with equally satisfying results in an oven range. With controlled temperature, the broiling time for a rare steak is 5 minutes on each side; for medium rare, 8 minutes on each side; and for well-done 10 minutes on each side.

Beef Featured On September Plentiful List

COLLEGE STATIST — Beef is featured on September's plentiful food list. It gets top ranking because supplies are heavy and prices are about the lowest so far this season.

Beef, however, will not be the only major food on next month's list for at least 15 others are listed by the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service in the south-west.

Home-makers will find plenty of medium and small eggs; milk and other dairy products; turkeys; hens broilers and fryers; honey and rice; peanuts and peanut butter; fresh and processed lemons and limes; salad oils and vegetable shortenings when shopping in September.

According to a Hungarian border guard who escaped to western Germany, Communists are using a new weapon in their fight against religion. Orphans in Communist youth homes are being trained to riot when religious processions are held.

Ice Cream Cone Celebrates 50 Years

"Meet me in St. Louis, Louis, Meet me at the Fair! And we'll have an ice cream cone together!" These aren't the exact words of the song, but they would have been fitting in 1904, as well as suitable for 1954. For the St. Louis World's Fair ground was the birthplace of the ice cream cone in 1904—just 50 years ago.

From the first cone born of necessity at a pastry stand located next to an ice cream cone booth at the Fair, the ice cream cones turned out today number in the multi-millions every year.

A native of Damascus, Syria—Ernest A. Hamwi—is credited with originating the first cone holder for ice cream. Hamwi had a commission at the St. Louis Fair to sell Zalabia, a crisp wafer-like pastry baked on a flat wafer iron served thin with sugar or other sweet. The Zalabia recipe came from countries around the Persian Gulf.

Hamwi Helps Out

One day when the ice cream booth ran out of dishes because of the terrific demand for its product, Hamwi quickly assisted by rolling out one of the thin wafer-like waffles into the shape of a cone or cornucopia. When the cornucopia filled with ice cream was handed to an eager customer, his reaction was spontaneous. The cone was on its way to becoming a great American institution.

The combination cone-shaped pastry and ice cream became known as the World's Fair Cornucopia. It was not until 1906 that the word "cone" instead of "cornucopia" began to identify the handy and delicious ice cream container.

Rolled and Molded

The modern ice cream cone developed along two patterns, the rolled cone and the molded cone. The rolled product was a baked wafer in round shape which was at first rolled by hand, later mechanically, as soon as it came off the griddle. In a few seconds, it hardened in the form of the crisp cone that is known today.

The molded cone was shaped in one of two ways; either the batter was poured into a shell and a cone inverted on which the cone was baked, or the cone was formed in a mold which was split so that the cone on the form or pin could be removed without difficulty.

Horse Shows Set For State Fair Program In Oct.

Four of the most famous horse shows in the nation will brighten the schedule of livestock events at the 1954 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 9-24, in Dallas, Ray W. Wilson, the fair's livestock manager, has announced.

"These four nationally recognized shows will be the Quarter and Palomino horse classes, the open cutting horse contest and the Shetland Pony Show," Wilson said.

"The combined premium purse for the four shows is $10,910, with $3,840 posted for Quarter horses, $2,070 for Palominos, $2,000 for the cutting horse contest and $3,000 for the Shetlands."

Quarter horses take the spotlight during the first week-end of the fair. First and second rounds in the roping and cutting divisions are set for opening day, Oct. 9, with the finals in both divisions on Oct. 10. Reining classes will be on Oct. 12; halter classes for mares on Oct. 15 and halter classes stallions, geldings and d groups on Oct. 16.

The fair's open cutting horse contest will begin on Oct. 15, race into the second go-round on Oct. 16 and smash into the finals on Oct. 17.

"The top event of our Palomino show the last week-end of the fair will be the selection of the Stock Type Palomino Horse of the year and the Pleasure Type Palomino Horse of the year," Wilson continued.

A recent survey found Americans guessing that a teaspoon of sugar contained anywhere from 50 to 600 calories. Actually there are only 15 calories per spoonful.

Seventy-five per cent of 3,000 persons interviewed recently reported they drank coffee every day, one out of every four of them claiming four cups or more every day.

'Boss Gland' May Be Key To Cancer Cure

A tiny, fingernail-size organ at the base of the brain, the pituitary gland, may hold the secret of a new victory over cancer, report medical researchers.

The gland, which controls an amazingly complex series of functions in the human body, sends out hormones which somehow promote the growth and spread of some cancers. According to the September issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine, three groups of medical researchers have removed the pituitary gland of 55 hat-ditch cancer patients, and the results — though preliminary — are hopeful.

At the very least, doctors reported, the delicate operation may prolong life and ease pain in the last stages of cancer. The brightest report came from Havana where a dying woman underwent the operation, and now, 18 months later, she is alive and well. Almost every sign of her cancer has disappeared.

Keep Swedish Delicacy on Hand for Coffee-Time Treats

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

FRIENDS of ours just back from Sweden, report on a wonderful soft spice cake they ate there. The aroma was familiar; spicy, like American gingerbread, but the "face" was different. Instead of a flat square, there was a high and handsome cake which had been baked in a tube pan (the kind we use for fancy gelatin desserts).

"The cake wasn't frosted as ours usually are, but it didn't need finishing with frosting. Lining the buttered pan with fine dry cake crumbs made it come out beautifully smooth and pretty."

"The Swedish people call our American cakes frosting cakes. They're a little sweet for their tastes."

As the cake slices fell, we could see chips of candied orange peel and citron. "We put those in especially for the holidays," said our hostess, "and the rest of the year, we serve the cake plain."

"It's so quick to stir up, and keeps so well that most people always have it on hand to serve when friends drop in for coffee."

Home economists of the Pillsbury Test Kitchens adapted this recipe for us. They lined the pan with chopped nuts instead of cake crumbs, believing the flavor and texture of nuts would appeal more to American tastes than a plain crumb finish.

Good Soft Spice Cake (God Mjok Pepparkaka—Pronounced God Meyok Pepper-Kaka)

Melt 1/2 cup butter or margarine; cool. Sift together 1 1/2 cups enriched flour, 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon ground cardamom, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon ginger.

Beat 3 eggs with 1/2 cup sugar and 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar until very thick. Stir in 3 tablespoons finely chopped citron, 3 tablespoons finely chopped candied orange peel, 1/2 cup blanched almonds, chopped fine, and half of the dry ingredients. Mix well. Blend in 1/2 cup light cream. Add the remaining dry ingredients; mix well. Add the cooled, melted butter; stir just until blended.

Turn into 9- or 10-inch tube pan which has been generously greased and coated with finely-chopped almonds or other nut. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 to 60 minutes. Cool in pan 15 minutes; invert on wire rack. Serve warm or cool.

Note: If desired, cake may be baked in 9x5x3-inch bread pan. Citron and candied orange peel may be omitted, if desired.

Soft Swedish Spice Cake, served with coffee, is a treat that's welcome at any hour of the day or evening.

Pretty New 'Peekaboo' Plastic Handbag Tells All This Summer

Time was when the inside of a lady's handbag was no one's affair but her own — except when she couldn't find something in a hurry. Now, fashion's playing a trick on us, and our secrets are shown to everyone. That pretty new "peekaboo" plastic handbag indicates that you're conscious of the latest fashion, but it can also tell everyone you most that you're careless in your handbag habits.

Your hot bag accessories, to be correct, are: match — billfold or french fry, eyeglass, key and cigarette. There's no limit to the number of beautiful and interesting new colors available in even the most of personal leather goods. You can find everything from turquoise yellow to sea-green turquoise. There are conversation-starter leathers, fabrics and synthetics used, too, and metal or jeweled ornaments to catch sunlight on the beach, moonlight on the terrace.

We've even seen accessories cued to the designs of the bags, such as gold embossed stars on pale pink kidskin which pick up the glitter pressed into the clear plastic of a handbag. There are billfolds trimmed with tiny seashells, little rhinestones, even pearls. And for evening, gold mesh, snakeskin and embroidered brocades certainly can cause men.

Right now, if you're showing the world a faded, dog-eared billfold, a crumpled package of cigarettes (with tobacco wisps lining the folds of the bag) and a jangle of keys, it's time to look at that new bag as others see it!

Ladybugs Given High Praise By County Farmer

"I never expect to put a duster in my watermelon patch again. I'll use ladybugs," Fred Brizendine, farmer of the Rising Star Community told Eastland County Agent J. M. Cooper recently.

"I already had lice showing up on a good many vines when I put the bugs out on June 29. In less than two weeks they had cleaned them up and I could not find any," Brizendine said.

Cooper, had been using one percent lindane, the Gamma Isomer of DDT for the past several years to control the lice. He asked Cooper early in the Spring to locate him a source of ladybugs.

TO THE CITIZENS and VOTERS OF EASTLAND COUNTY

I am making this statement early, so my opponent, J. B. Williams, can answer it if he so desires. I do not believe in this last minute stuff. This is J. B. Williams' record:

On August 22nd, 1947, a prisoner was in jail charged with a felony offense, this prisoner did not break jail, the jail door was unlocked and the prisoner walked through the door and left the jail. On February 6th, 1947, a prisoner was placed in jail, William Lobb, for investigation, on March 6th, 1947, four felony Grand Jury indictments were returned against the said William Lobb, Numbers 10445, 10446, 10447 and 10448. On March 13th, 1947, one felony indictment, Number 1051, dated June 1st, 1947, William Lobb was released from jail by Sheriff J. B. Williams and September 16th, 1947 made bond in all five indictments, this subject was out of jail for 196 days without bond, during this time subject was riding around with Sheriff J. B. Williams and William Lobb and wife attended a birthday party given by J. B. Williams. On December 3rd 1947 William Lobb was sentenced in the 91st District Court of Eastland County, was sentenced to ten years in each of the five indictments, a total of fifty years. Upon the request of the District Attorney and Sheriff J. B. Williams, William Lobb was paroled to Sheriff J. B. Williams in all of the above indictments and turned loose. J. B. Williams says, we have got to be strong and firm and even a bit rough when necessary in handling criminals, I wonder what he means by that statement.

In a campaign rally at Olden my opponent J. B. Williams made this statement: he said when he was Sheriff, he thought he did a good job with the bootleggers, he said he collected $2000.00 during his first term and $1800.00 his second term and he thought that he did a pretty good job for a county this size. I would like for J. B. Williams to tell the voters and citizens where that $2800.00 went to, that the county did not get the money.

My opponent J. B. Williams, says he is highly qualified, I believe in and practice modern scientific crime detection, I am fully acquainted with and experienced in such streamlined technique including laboratory analysis, lifting and taking finger prints, identification and spotting cleverly disguised clues and other modern methods now being employed to bring criminals to justice. That would take a trained expert such as the state has in Austin. I challenge J. B. Williams to show to the citizens of Eastland County his qualifications.

We have the same old issue we had four years ago, bootlegging and whiskey. We have the county in a lot better shape and a lot better condition now than it was when I took over following J. B. Williams January 1st, 1951. I only solicit your vote and influence on August 28th, lets keep this county a decent place in which to live and raise our children and for our families sake.

We have all the Horse Walker men out of the Court House and lets keep it that way.

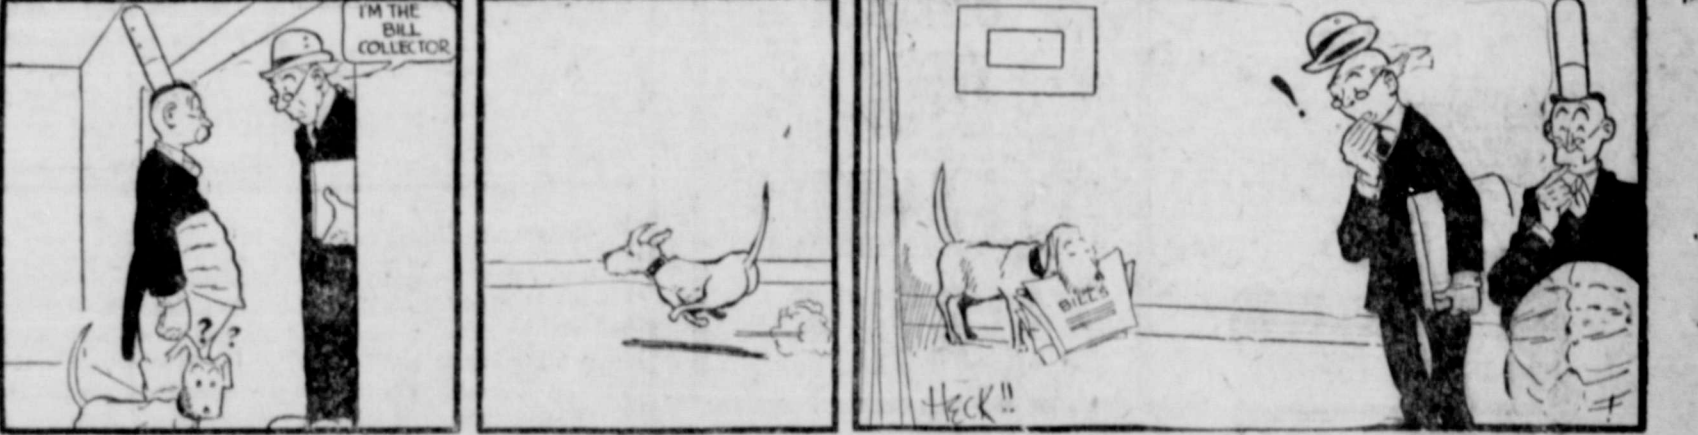

Sincerely yours,
SHERIFF J. F. TUCKER

Heavy Fines Paid For Shocking Fish; Killing Game Illegally

AUSTIN, (Spl.)—The Director of Law Enforcement for the Texas Game and Fish Commission reported that some of the heaviest fines in the last arrest report were for stunning fish with old-fashioned hand-cranked telephone sets.

Top levy for the month, among 244 cases listed, was against a Houston man. It was for $200 and court costs for using the once standard magneto-equipped phone set to shock fish so that they rise to the surface.

Several such violations were detected in the Houston area. In addition to the $200 fine plus costs, there were three for $100 fines and costs. Smaller levies were made against others.

The report contained 22 cases for taking fish illegally. Most of these involved "telephoning fish." The largest fine outside the Houston area was $100 plus costs against a San Antonio man.

Of the 244 cases in the arrest report, 118 involved individual fishermen's troubles. There were others affecting commercial violations.

Another chronic problem prompted several seizures. This is hunting out of season, particularly headlighting of deer. A Seadrift man was fined $200 plus costs for killing a doe deer. The same offense yielded a similar levy against a Port O'Connor man. Three Houston men drew $100 fines and costs for headlighting deer.

Individual fines for raids on the deer herds ranged downward to $10 which were assessed against two Fredericksburg men for hunting deer out of season.

Total fines for the month was $4,923.15, with court costs of $470.80, as compared with $5,246.85 in fines and $419.00 in court costs for the corresponding period last year.

University Is Investigating Night Cooling

AUSTIN—Scientific facts of interest to truck farmers and fruit growers are expected from a University of Texas investigation of night cooling.

Egyptian Graduate, Student Mahmoud Mahamed Mahmoud is studying the natural phenomenon known to his ancestors as far back as 2,500 B. C.

Night cooling or radiation is a process responsible for many freezes. Here's what happens: Air is the earth's outer atmosphere always is cooler than air near the ground. In the daytime, the sun heats up the earth and that in turn helps heat the lower atmosphere.

When the sun disappears, cool rays from the upper atmosphere replaces hot daytime rays, dropping temperatures on the earth and in the lower atmosphere. Any object slows night radiation — clouds, other moisture, smoke, trees—but on a dry night the cooling process lowers temperature considerably on any object it strikes.

Thus a way cloudy nights usually are warmer than clear nights and why truck farmers and fruit growers light smudge pots when a freeze is predicted. Mahmoud's research is expected to provide more detailed knowledge of night radiation to help agriculturists prevent freezes more efficiently and economically.

Night radiation also offers possibilities for summer air-conditioning through a system which provides a water-covered roof with night-cooled water run through wall-sized radiators during the day.

Feed Wastage Cuts Profits

A continuing object of feed manufacturers' research is to find new formulas which will produce high quality meat, milk and eggs on less feed than before. Over the years, feed manufacturers have made great progress in this direction. Only by sound management practices, however, can a feeder get out of a bag of feed all the economical meat, milk and eggs that have been built into the bag. Sometimes good profits are lost on seemingly minor carelessness in management.

A chick starting experiment conducted recently on the Balston research farm gives a clue to an important source of feed wastage in poultry feeding. The experiment showed that the amount of feed put in the trough each time the birds are fed has a big effect on how much feed is wasted.

In order to get the chicks started eating well for the experiment, there was no attempt to regulate feed levels in troughs until the chicks were a week old. Then, in all pens the feeders were allowed to become practically empty before being refilled. The height of feeders was controlled so the top edge was about level with the birds' backs. Wastage was measured by placing each trough above a feed trap.

Birds eating mash from troughs that were filled level-full wasted 23.8 per cent of their feed, while those eating from troughs refilled to the half-way mark wasted only 2 per cent. Up to the time the chicks were six weeks old, birds eating mash from level-full troughs wasted 1385 pounds per 1000 birds, while only 75 pounds of feed per 1000 birds was wasted out of troughs filled half full.

These findings show why it is so important to have adequate feeder space. The subtle erosion of feed wastage eats away big hunks of profits.

American Women Pass Up Fifty Million Dollars Every Year

No one likes to pass up a chance to save on the family food budget, particularly during these summer months when savings on several standard items can mean a few extras to dress up your next picnic basket.

You can afford twice as many bags of potato chips and popcorn—or get that extra beach ball and shovel for your child. If you're strictly the back-yard picnic type, you can manage some of those small delicacies you've always wanted to try, but have hesitated to buy and upset budget plans.

Next time you're in your grocery store, you'll be delighted if the cashier totals up your bill and then subtracts half a dollar from it. This may happen, if you take advantage of the next coupon offer that arrives at your door. Every year more than a billion coupons are mailed out by American companies, just to get you to try their products at a reduced cost. And every year, American women pass up more than $50 million dollars in savings by not redeeming coupons.

Why are companies so interested in these premium offers? Procter & Gamble, now engaged in a Coupon Jubilee of its own, puts it this way:

"Today there are a wide variety of products on the market, many of them designed for the same use. Advertising helps to tell the stor-
