Memorial Day Attracts 350

There has been only a few years in the history of mankind where there has been peace, and before we can have everlasting peace, there is going to have to be personal peace within our own hearts. Rev. Calvin Bailey, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, warned a large crowd that gathered in Evergreen Cemetery Sunday to honor war dead in Memorial Day Services.

More than 149 flags marked the graves of veterans who had died in any of the wars beginning with the Spanish-American campaign. Sponsored by the Carl Barnes Post of the Ranger American Legion, the precise firing squad and color guard from Wolters AFB in Mineral Wells gave the program sufficient military flavor.

Post Commander A. H. Powell estimated the crowd at 350 persons and said, "This is the biggest we have ever had."

White crosses in this area mark the graves of most veterans who have died in war.

The Pathfinder

By Lee Harr

Eight years working for the same firm, he was never absent or late. Then one morning he came in an hour and a half late. His clothes were torn, his face and hands scratched and bloody.

"How come you're late?" asked the boss, indignantly. "I leaned out the window and fell three stories."

"That took you an hour and a half?"

Anticipation is already growing among the Little League ranks on their planned excursion to Fort Worth June 8 for "Little League Night," and also to witness the "Cats and Houston Buffs in a Texas League contest."

One small eight year old player asked Friday night at the practice session under the lights, "Are we really going to play the Cats?"

Uncle Mat says, "The other day I heard a guy talking." He said: "Like a bolt from the blue he leaped on the guy in one full swoop."

It started me thinking about expressions people use. Because of the colorfulfulness of some of these expressions, they are used so often they become trite.

What is a bolt from the blue? I suppose it means lightning suddenly striking when you least expect it, like the wife returning ready from a vacation and find you doing a tango with a girl from the office.

Of course, there is no such thing as a bolt from the blue, and when I hear expressions like this it makes me hotter than a pistol. Incidentally, how hot does a pistol get? I don't know that they get hot at all. Probably just an old wives tale.

There we go again. What's an old wives tale? A story told by some old wife? Whose old wife? Once you start this you wind up like a pig in a poke. Incidentally the poke would have to be pretty big to get a pig in it. What's a pig anyway, outside of something you get on the nose for acting like a dog in the manger.

By the way, how many dogs these days spend any time in the manger? A guy gets lost at sea just thinking about these things.

Once I saw a girl in a restaurant. She was as pretty as a picture but she ate like a horse. If I ate that much I'd be as dead as a doornail. I got dog tired just watching her. But she kept on eating just as cool as a cucumber.

Now I've seen pictures that weren't pretty, especially those drawn by Picasso and I've seen

At 6:30 they will be entertained at dinner in Eastland, an occasion in which the company's area supervisors will be in attendance.

Minor League Organization Is Postponed

Organization of Minor League ball teams was postponed Monday morning because too many of the players were "out-of-town" for Memorial Day.

The Minor League is being formed from players who were cut back from regular little league teams.

Division of the players into four separate teams will be made Friday afternoon, however, before a regular game is scheduled that night.

Minor league players, as those in the regular Little League, will have regular scheduled night games each Friday and they will have some type of identifying uniform, even though it will not be as complete as those in the Little League.

June 8 Contests, Prizes Planned For Little Leaguers

Little Leaguers from Ranger will have a busy night June 8 when they go to Fort Worth to see the Cats tangle with the Houston Buffs.

A schedule received from La Grave Field this morning outlining the various events during "Little League Night" lists a varied program of contests from pie eating to blindfold races.

Nearly 1500 fully uniformed Little Leaguers are expected to be on hand for the grand entry at 6:45 p.m.

The contests begin at 7 o'clock with wheel barrow races where one boy holds the feet of another who walks on his hands.

Second event will be three-legged race where the inside of the ankles are tied together and the contestant hops toward a finish line.

Other events include the accuracy throw, where one catcher per league throws a baseball from home plate to second base; watermelon eating contest; distance throw, where contestants throw from centerfield toward home plate; pie eating contest; blindfold race, where contestants are blindfolded, spun around by judges and hoisted to any of the bases; and finally the gigantic stamper race, where contestants race from the right field fence across the left field foul line—a distance of 360 feet.

Prizes ranging from balls, bats, and gloves are to be awarded in each of the contests.

CORNY, BUT NICE—Synthetic material with corn fiber as its base is what these mademoiselles are modeling in Paris, France. The sprinkling can is to show you that the material is waterproof, and the manufacturer claims that garments fashioned from the new fiber are also warm as wool, soft as cashmere.

LONG STORY—Sixty inches and 52 pounds of sturgeon will be a conversation piece for many winter evenings to come for Gary Booth, left, and Edwin Heidke, of Wisconsin Dells, Wis. The 15-year-old Explorer Scouts now can add an authentic fish story to their other lore; have already come up with one about the "one that got away"—a Jonah that towed their boat along the Wisconsin River for 20 minutes before breaking a 40-pound test line.

Record Keepers Rush Season Starts In August

AUSTIN — Most people are partial to months of late summer and fall. But not State Health Department birth record keepers.

To the staff of the department's Bureau of Vital Statistics, August through October is the roughest time of the year.

The reason: parents who know their children must have birth certificates before they can enter school for the first time but who put off making requests for certified copies until the last minute.

Last year bureau personnel processed more than 40,000 requests during those three months. For a limited staff, that means hours of night and week-end work without overtime pay.

Bureau personnel shudder when they think of the estimated 227,000 kids who will be eligible to enter the first grade in September.

Many of them have copies of birth records already and will create no problem. Others live in areas where local school boards do not require proof of age before admitting the child to the hallowed halls of learning.

But the majority don't have certified proof of age, despite the fact that they live in areas where school officials insist on such proof. It's this category that gives bureau statisticians and clerks sleepless nights.

Says Bureau Director W. D. Carroll: "We're ready to give immediate service to applications which come in before the first of August."

Carroll, a long time veteran of vital statistics work, directs the affairs of the bureau where more than ten million birth and death records — some dating back to early 1903 — are on file.

Several hundred parents have already taken advantage of the spring lull in bureau activities by requesting and receiving certified copies of birth records for their children, Carroll says.

The first one came in on March 24 from Mr. and Mrs. Alvin M. King of Port Lavaca. Their son is due to enter the first grade in September. They wanted to make sure they could prove he is six.

"All we need is the child's name and date and place of birth, and the mother's maiden name and the name of the father," Carroll said. That information, together with the statutory fee of fifty cents, will buy anyone a copy of their birth certificate — provided the bureau has the certificate on file.

There's just one more thing: if you don't want to write to Austin, check with your local registrar. Chances are he can supply the record for you.

In either case, do it soon. That fall hind can get mighty tight.

Husband: "Dear, I have tickets for the theater."
Wife: "Splendid! I'll start dressing at once."
Husband: "Yes, do. The tickets are for tomorrow night." — (Cheer).

In Chesney Chatter, (Ranger Times, Tuesday, May 10, 1955) Mr. Bill Tucker, correspondent, wrote, "And do you know, we found out why the sale of long-handled underwear at E. L. Martins in Ranger was over so soon. The garments were priced at 25 cents a pair and Henry (Perrin) bought 32 pair.

Today, Mr. Perrin visited the Times office with a note that read, "In regard to underwear that I bought, 32 pair is in error—malicious at that, if you know what I mean.

"However, I do have enough to divide with the lady if she is short."

Deer Survive Mild Winter

AUSTIN — Texas' main deer herds in the Hill Country, although dangerously concentrated in some areas, survived the winter without abnormal dieoff, reports the Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Game and Fish Commission.

He said thousands of deer were undernourished during the cold months but escaped death from starvation because there was no sustained severe freeze.

The Director said this development merely prolongs critical conditions in many locations where deer overpopulations have become acute because of the record drought and inadequate harvests.

Commission technicians long ago foresaw the crucial status created by surplus deer but were able to correct the situation in only a comparatively few places where localized regulatory authority prevailed over game. Extra harvest of antlerless deer was ordered in these instances to spare lingering death from starvation and to supply added game for sportsmen.

"It's hard to look very far ahead about the deer herd conditions in the Hill Country where conditions have been so unfavorable because of the drought and chronic overpopulation," said the Director.

"Our Wildlife Biologist Bob Ramsey said the winter dieoff was about normal. This means we are carrying over a large number of animals in areas which lack the food to sustain all of them in good times, much less in the dry spell which has denuded the ranges."

He emphasized that "everything hinges on the weather." "If we get the rains from here on in," the Director observed, "we could count on plenty of fat deer for fall."

The Director stressed Ramsey's notation that a wet cycle would endanger young deer during the fawning season now just getting under way since deadly screw worms thrive during moist weather. He added that continued dry weather would benefit the fawns

Airman Smith In Lengthy Cruise On USS Midway

Two weeks were spent in Yokosuka, allowing the Midway's 3,400 crew members visits to Tokyo, Yokohama and Kamakura during the cherry blossom season. At Kamakura, city of shrines, they viewed the colorful processions during the Birthday of Buddha festival.

The Midway is scheduled to return to the U.S. this summer for overhaul and modernization at the Naval Shipyard, Bremerton, Wash.

Former Ranger Couple Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. (Ben) Rawls of Fort Worth celebrated their 50th anniversary at their home in Fort Worth Sunday, May 29, amid a host of friends and relatives.

Visitors called between 1 and 6 hours of 3 and 6 p.m. and were greeted by the hosts and served refreshments by five young ladies, all of whom were nieces of Mrs. Rawls.

Mrs. Rawls is the former Martha Yates of Cadde and Ranger. Mr. Rawls is a former resident of Ranger and a brother of Mrs. John M. Gholson and T. O. Rawls of Ranger and Mrs. George L. Davenport of Eastland.

The home was very attractive with its simple but proper decorations and arrangements.

The numerous gifts were beautiful and in line with the occasion.

Guests began arriving at the appointed hour and some two hundred fifty registered during the afternoon, all with congratulations to the honored couple for their achievement in reaching this milestone in their lives, and wishing for them many more happy years together.

Mr. and Mrs. Rawls were married in Ranger on May 29, 1905.

HERD PROFIT

Are you getting only $50 or $100 profit from cows that can make $300?

You'll never know until you feed and manage for top results. A good way to be sure of top feeding and management is to put the herd on the Purina Program.

The Dry Cow is a good place to start toward increased profits. Every 100 lbs. of body condition put on while dry should make 1000 to 2000 lbs. extra milk during the next lactation. Purina D & F Chow is a special dry-cow ration high in minerals and vitamins.

For the Milking Herd we recommend Purina Milk Chow, a complete feed containing a variety of crushed grains, proteins, minerals, and molasses. No screenings. If you have home grains, feed these with a Cow Chow supplement to make a high quality, low-cost milking ration.

Let us help you get top profits with the same tested and proved Purina Program that helped 70 Purina farm grade cows average $375 profit per head over feed cost per year. Ask about it now.

PURINA FLY CONTROL PAYS OFF!

1. Purina Fly Bait—Just toss it on the floor or ground. Knocks flies dead like magic.
2. Purina Building Spray—Controls flies resistant to chemicals such as DDT and lindane for 2 weeks or longer. Spray on walls, sprinkle on floor or burlap sacks.
3. Purina Dairy Spray Concentrate—Mix with water, one spraying on the cows lasts a full week. Inexpensive. Easy to use.

J. H. HANKINS

MRS. J. H. HANKINS

J. F. HANKINS

MRS. J. F. HANKINS

Leaders In Old Hankins College Were Widely-Known Educators

Leaders in old Hankins College, abandoned long ago, yet kept alive by reunions — the 23rd of which will be held at Gorman Sunday — were widely known in educational circles.

J. F. Hankins was one of the founders of Hankins Normal College at Gorman. At that time he was considered a bachelor — an eligible one as far as the young girls were concerned.

He and his brother, J. H., were identical twins; still one felt that he was the younger of the two, perhaps on account of his "slight build."

Both men took a personal interest in each pupil. They could be found at night visiting the weaker pupils and helping them in their work. That is one of the secrets of the way they endeared themselves to their pupils. Many of the students are graduates of other colleges, holding bachelors, masters and Ph.D.s; still they regularly attend these homecomings at Gorman.

J. F. is the only survivor of the twins, J. H. having died in 1949. He will make the main afternoon address. One marvels at his keen memory and his mental alertness. He is beloved by his pupils and is the main attraction of the homecoming. J. H. Hankins, deceased, was more reserved than his bachelor twin. He was the counselor of those in trouble. He had a way of making each pupil feel that he counted. He has called many pupils to his desk after school to make "pep" talks to them about their future. He would say, "Remember you are as good as anyone. You can do anything anyone else can do. But you will have to put your own price on yourself. Other people are not going to do that. Learn to sell yourself for what you know you are worth."

Many pupils have left his desk with much needed self esteem. They went away feeling they could really do something worthwhile.

The Hankins brothers did a work that will live on and on, said Mrs. Slaton. They had had many close friends. Perhaps C. M. Caldwell of Abilene and J. E. T. Peters of Cisco have been a little closer than some of the others.

The demise of J. H. Hankins saddened the lives of all his pupils. Perhaps no other teachers were loved as these two brothers. Mrs. J. F. Hankins was Ada McEntire before her marriage to Mr. Hankins. She was one of his former students whom he married after the discontinuation of the college. Her brother, J. B. McEntire taught history during the entire life of the college.

Mrs. Hankins is literary and has kept herself informed on national affairs and is aware of the international problems. She was considered one of the intellectuals of the studentbody. Her marriage to her former teacher was not a surprise to her college friends.

She will make a brief talk sometime during the afternoon sessions of the homecoming. Mrs. J. H. Hankins, wife of the late J. H. Hankins, was a student of his in the Ranger Public Schools, and they had already married then Mr. Hankins and his twin brother, J. F. Hankins, founded Hankins Normal College at Gorman in 1903.

She was not as old as some of the Hankins normal students but in her dignity and charm she captivated the love and admiration of all the students. She was a beautiful, modest and unassuming young woman when she went to Gorman with her husband.

Some of the students have said that she was a composite of all that they had ever hoped to be, beautiful, intelligent, gentle and lovable. In the words of Proverbs 31:26, "she openeth her mouth with wisdom; and her tongue is the law of kindness." The homecoming is not complete until there has been a speech by Nell Hankins.

Hankins College 23rd Reunion To Be Held Sunday

Hankins Normal College alumni will meet Sunday for the 23rd annual homecoming to be held in the high school building at Gorman. A chicken dinner will be served at noon in the school cafeteria.

Ben Grant, county clerk at Breckenridge, is president of the alumni association this year and Mrs. Millie Slaton of Breckenridge, teacher at Dimmitt and formerly county superintendent of Stephens County, is secretary of the association.

The abandoned college has been closed about 30 years. It was organized about 1903 and was closed when the boys' dormitory burned, said Mrs. Slaton.

Two brothers — J. F. Hankins of Lubbock and the late J. H. Hankins, identical twins, founded the college. Mr. Hankins said he and his brother had never lost but $10 on tuition the entire time he and his late brother operated the college.

The welcome address will be by John Kimble of Gorman, son of the late Dr. E. W. Kimble, one of the trustees of the college; response will be by George T. Adams of Lubbock, a former student of the college; the memorial address will be by Trimble Sprattling of Smithville, former student there, and the inspirational speaker will be J. E. T. Peters of Cisco.

In the afternoon the "Memoirs" program will be conducted by Clyde Speer of Breckenridge, Stephens county treasurer.

Brief talks will be made by Mrs. J. F. Hankins of Lubbock, former student and wife of one of the founders; D. O. Neill of Slaton; Mrs. J. H. Hankins of Lubbock, wife of the late J. H. Hankins, one of the founders, and the main address will be given by J. F. Hankins of Lubbock, who founded the college with his brother, the late J. H. Hankins.

Among the "exes" of the college who usually attend the homecomings are Clyde Garrett, ex-congressman from this district, now of the VA office at Waco; Dr. Hob Gray, University of Texas professor and editor of achievements test used all over the United States and author of books; Dr. Daisy Purdy, professor at A&M, Stillwater, Okla., and scores of others.

The entire faculty married former students, including J. F. Hankins, said Mrs. Slaton, and all former students of Hankins Normal with the exception of J. H. Hankins and even though he was married when the brothers founded the college, he was married to a student of his at the Ranger Public Schools where he taught before going there.

World's first electric streetcars are believed to have been placed in service in Cleveland, Ohio, July 26, 1884.

First Baptist Wed. Evening Services Announced

The Junior Department of the First Baptist Church will serve the covered dish supper at 6:30 Wednesday evening, in the lower auditorium of the church. This program is sponsored by the Sunday school department and all members of the school and church are invited to bring their food and come share the wonderful fellowship.

At 7 p.m. there will be a period of information, then a planning period for the departments, and a teaching of the lesson for June 5. Supt. Wilson Guest gives general direction to the officers and teachers meeting each week. He has served as general superintendent for the past four years.

The prayer meeting service begins at 7:30 with a song and a praise service. This hour of inspiration gives the spiritual lift that draws the entire church closer together. The pastor will lead in the Bible study in the third chapter of the book of James.

Choir practice follows at 8:25. The choir members are urged to be present at both the worship hour and for rehearsal. The scripture tells of hundreds of instances where the "congregation" sang a joyful song unto the Lord. The choirs and singers were in the kings courts. David both sang and played for King Saul. Today Christians who have voices should use them to the glory of the Lord. . . . All who are interested in helping make the music program of the church better are invited to attend these practice nights.

The Nursery is open for the little fellows. Come bring your to the mid-week services.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

DIVISION OF SEPARATE
ESTATES BY STATUTE

death of a husband or wife. Now we shall see that, where separate property is involved, a completely different set of rules applies in determining heirship and apportioning the estate among the rightful claimants.

It may be well to recall that the separate estate of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

The death of an intestate person (one who has made no will) may give rise to many problems distribution of his separate estate. In the preceding column we investigated the manner of dividing the community estate upon the

Now, here is a general idea as to how your separate property will be divided if you do not make a will with contrary provisions prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and if, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of previously deceased children, they and their descendants immediately obtain a full (fee) title in two-thirds of the real estate involved. The surviving spouse receives a life interest in the remaining one-third of the real property, which passes on to the children and their descendants upon the death of the spouse.

The rule for distributing personal property — cash, stocks, bonds, furniture, or any other items not constituting real estate — is different. Here the surviving spouse gets full ownership of one-third, and the children and their descendants inherit the balance.

Now suppose your husband or wife survives, but there are no surviving children or their descendants. In this case the surviving spouse inherits all of the personal property involved.

With regard to real estate, the survivor obtains full title to one-half, and the other half is divided between your mother and father, if both survive you. If only one of them survives, he or she receives only half of this portion, and the other half (or one-fourth of the entire real estate) will be divided among your brothers and sisters (and their descendants) who survive. If there are no surviving brothers and sisters and their descendants, then the one surviving parent inherits the full one-half.

Where no parents survive, but there are brothers and sisters and descendants, the one-half is divided among these survivors.

And, if there are no parents or brothers and sisters (and their descendants) surviving, then the surviving husband or wife inherits all the real estate.

YOUR REFRIGERATED ROOM AIR CONDITIONER

cools more efficiently

WHEN YOU FOLLOW THESE SUGGESTIONS

COOL ONLY AN AREA WITHIN THE SIZE your unit is designed to cool. When cooling a larger area, the unit works harder and its efficiency is lowered.

KEEP AIR FILTERS CLEAN. Clogged filters lower efficiency of the unit and cause it to use more electricity.

INSULATE CEILING AREA above room being cooled. Insulation is comparatively inexpensive and keeps hot air out, cool air in.

LOCATE UNIT IN SHADE if possible. The north side of house is best, followed by east, south and west. Proper shading of unit increases its efficiency.

PROPERLY REGULATE intake of outside air. This is important to operating efficiency of your unit. Follow manufacturer's instructions carefully.

KEEP OUT DIRECT SUNLIGHT. It brings in heat which your unit must work extra hard to remove. Awnings over your windows will help.

AN AUTOMATIC THERMOSTAT is recommended to hold room temperature to 78 to 80 degree level recommended for comfort. Each degree below 78 degrees increases power consumption unnecessarily.

REMEMBER, TOO, that operating cost is governed by hours of use. Turn off your unit when you expect to be away for several hours. You can quickly lower the temperature when you return.

Free Booklet Contains additional information about refrigerated room air conditioners and evaporative coolers. Gives approximate operating costs—tells how to get the most economical service from cooling equipment. Come in or write for your copy.
