

Around Town...

by Dwaine Dennis

Two new public telephone booths have been installed by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company at Motley's Grocery and Ranger Hill Service Station.

The new units are made of aluminum and have an automatic light switch that turns the light on inside of the booth at dusk and then switches it off the next morning at daylight.

Mrs. Orvella Ford and Bill Paschall are mighty put-out with someone.

It seems that last Sunday, July 9th was Bill's 60th birthday and Mrs. Ford decided to bake him a birthday cake.

After the baking chore was completed she wrapped the cake real pretty like and placed it on the front seat of her car.

On the way to Bill's house she decided to buy a present to go with the cake, so she made a stop at Swansy's Pharmacy to make the purchase.

When she returned to the car, she hurriedly got in, looked around, and NO CAKE. Thinking maybe that she had sat on it, Mrs. Ford jumped out—but still no cake.

A thorough search of the car didn't turn up anything. Driving on to Bill's house, she told him of the missing cake and they decided that somebody must have been plain hungry or maybe they had a birthday that day too.

Another angle could be that someone knew of the delicious cakes that Mrs. Ford bakes and decided to borrow it. Of course, I haven't had the pleasure of sampling one of Mrs. Ford's cakes, but I imagine that a big chocolate cake with a lot of thick icing would sure be good.

By the way—today's my birthday.

A RICH MAN

An old supernannated minister had unwittingly told of his wealth and fortune, and the fame of his possessions got to the ears of the tax assessor.

One day the government's representative came to his door to press him for a statement of his wealth.

"In that case," began the assessor, "that you have capital?"

"Yes," said the preacher, "I am a rich man."

"In that case," said the visitor interestedly, pulling out his book, "I shall have to assess you. What are your possessions?"

"I am enjoying good health," (Continued on page two)

Bible Teaches That "The Wages of Sin Is Death"

By REV. RALPH E. PERKINS, Pastor First Baptist Church

The things that the Word of God teaches concerning "the way of life" and the rewards given when that way of life is followed, ought to be the challenging force to cause all of us to turn from evil to righteousness.

More startling than that statement is the fact that, "The wages of sin is death," the ungodly shall perish," as ye sow that shall ye also reap," plus the horrible examples that we see daily and read about in every news paper ought to cause us to forsake the evil way of unrighteousness and follow Jesus. Tragedy of all tragedies, we do not heed the daily forsaking of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Daily people walk in darkness, rejecting Jesus, "the light of the world."

Daily people die of thirst, rejecting Jesus, "the water of eternal life."

Helen Crawford Gives Program At Rotary Meet

The regular meeting of the Ranger Rotary Club was held Wednesday at noon at the Ranger Junior College cafeteria.

Roy Plumley presided in the absence of the president, Herman Cupp.

Alvar Simmans was program chairman for the day and presented Miss Helen Crawford of Cisco as the guest speaker for the day.

Miss Crawford gave a very colorful and educational program on Spain. She visited the country last April and took many beautiful color slides on the trip.

As she showed the slides she made many interesting comments about the pictures. Pictures of the many palaces and castles in Spain were fantastic.

Miss Crawford told of the difference between a castle and a palace. She said that palaces were built as living quarters and were very elaborate, while the castles were built and designed for protection or as a fort.

Many of the rooms of the different palaces were adorned with silver and gold and the huge medieval banquet rooms were fabulous.

Next week's program will be in charge of David D. Pickrell.

SCS DISTRICT NEWS

Grass In Area Is Given New Life by Good Rains

(Editor's Note: This article was written prior to the more than 3 1/2 inches of rain received over the weekend.)

By SCS PERSONNEL

Every one knows it takes water to grow grass. Both the man of the house mowing the front lawn or the rancher following his herds are ever conscious of the need of grass for water. Our June rainfall was truly a blessing to both.

Moisture studies after our recent rains by local Soil Conservation Service workers show that in general we have enough moisture stored deep in the soil for good grass growth in the immediate future. Prior to our June rains grass growth was much below normal. Grass was suffering for moisture in many places even though we started our spring growing season with saturated soil.

At present sandy land and mixed land pastures are generally wet over six feet deep which represents about 8 to 10 inches of stored rainfall. Grass cover on this land is from around two thousand to in some cases over five thousand pounds of green grass per acre. Total green cover depends both upon previous stocking rates and the kind of grass present on the land.

On heavier shaly prairie range-land (mesquite flats) the soil is generally wet to around four feet with some moisture even deeper. This represents about 8 inches of stored moisture. Depending upon stocking rates this past winter and spring this land now has from fifteen hundred to twenty five hundred pounds of green grass per acre a major portion of which is Texas Winter grass. One unusually good site which had not been grazed this past spring and winter clipped six thousand five hundred pounds which probably represents close to the maximum production to be had from Texas Winter grass.

It takes skill to grow grass either on the front lawn or on the range. Most people know that only light sprinkling of the lawn is wasteful of water as only deep watering is effective in growing grass. The stockman can store rainwater deep in the soil only with a good grass cover. In this country this maintenance of sufficient range cover with fluctuating rainfall requires skillful range management. If cover is not maintained rainfall is lost in run off and grass production declines to an unprofitable point.

At present our range grasses are growing vigorously. Side-outs, grama and buffalo are seeding and a few bluestem plants are beginning to root. Goats are eating more grass and less brush each day as oak leaves become more mature. The stockman's management as we go into the summer season will do much to determine his future grass production.

In this area many good fields of sudan and Johnson grass which have been planted to relieve the summer grazing pressure on native grassland. By switching livestock to these fields the skillful rancher will assure himself of a better grass crop next year. In addition he will have cured dry grass on the land for wintering his stock next winter.

Name Contest Announced By Group

Ranger's own Teddie Bears announced today that their new record is expected to be on sale Monday morning at the Ranger Montgomery Ward Store.

A limited number of the records have been released at this time and the Montgomery Ward Store will receive the first shipment.

The local group made the record recently in Hollywood California and word received from the Admiral Record Company indicates that it will be a big hit.

The number one by the Teddie Bears, their own composition, is "Forever and A Day." On the flip side will be "Please Be My Love", also an original.

The Teddie Bears, Teddie Neely, Joe Barker, Charles Shugart, Alvin Rogers, Butch Owen and Bill Patton said that they were very grateful to the people of Ranger for their support and hoped that their new record release would be pleasing to the public.

The Teddie Bears also announced that they are seeking a new name for the group. It seems that every name they decide on, has already been copyrighted by some other group.

A spokesman for the locals said that a contest would be held to secure a name. All residents of Ranger and the area are invited to submit an entry in the contest. A cash prize will be offered to the person sending in the name selected by the Teddie Bears. The name selected by the Teddie Bears is subject to approval in Hollywood.

They are seeking a name such as "The Eternal", "The Constans", or "The Impulses", all of which are copyrighted. Names of a western nature will not be considered.

To enter the contest, just print your name suggestion and your own name and address on a postcard and mail to contest, P. O. Box 99, Ranger, Texas. Only names submitted on postcards will be accepted.

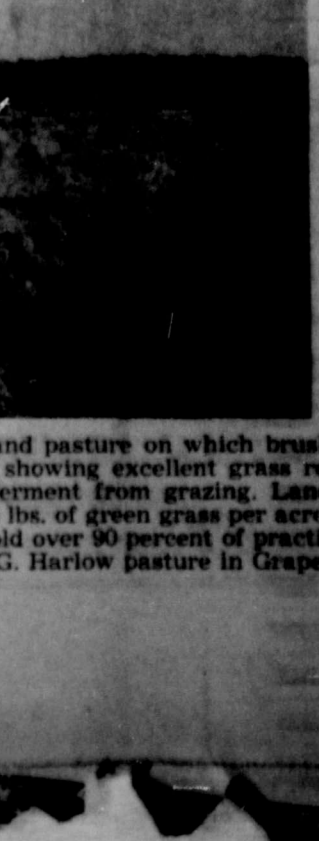

Names sent in will be published in the Ranger Times on a weekly basis in that way repetition will be eliminated. You can enter as many names as you wish, but they must be mailed to the above address. Remember—the winner will receive a cash prize.

Service Pins Awarded By Lone Star

Three Ranger men and one from Gordon have been awarded service pins by Lone Star. Service pins are awarded employees of the company on completion of 5 years of service, and then for each additional 5-years of service they are given another pin.

Ranger men receiving 25-year honors were James L. Higginbotham, auto mechanic and Paul Smith, operator George Guydium utility man, also of Ranger received a 15 year service pin. John H. Hienndi, welder, of Gordon, was honored with a 25 year service award.

GOOD RECOVERY—Mixed land pasture on which brush has been pushed and goated, showing excellent grass recovery following summer defoliation from grazing. Land now covered with 4000 to 5000 lb. of green grass per acre, which is sufficient cover to hold over 90 percent of practically all rainfall. Photo on J. G. Harlow pasture in Grapevine community.

ORIGIN OF JURIES
 Speaking before juries—the beginning of jury trials—goes way back to Greek colonies about 600 B. C., in lawsuits over lands seized by tyrants.
 Soon afterwards Athens itself took over such oratory, but seems never to have worked out rules of evidence or control of the trial by a judge.
 Jurors often booed or cheered the parties, talked together, and shouted at speakers. What one man knew or thought he knew about the case he told his neighbor.
 All evidence could go: Personal knowledge, hearsay, prejudice, and a juror's opinion.
 The Athenian juror had power: Each "dicast" (a juror chosen by lot) was both juryman and judge. Jurors sat in many courts; the smallest had 201 dicasts, the largest one such as tried Socrates had 601. (The odd man broke ties.) The jurors heard and decided their cases out in public, often amid swarms of citizens and foreigners.
 One day to each case; and the accused—like Socrates—had to prove his innocence.
 Each juror earned one obol a day—about three cents.
 Each juror swore: "I shall vote according to the laws of the Athenian people and the Council of the Five Hundred; but as to things about which there are no laws, I shall judge as best I can without favor or enmity. I shall judge as to things at issue and shall listen fairly to both the accuser and the defendant. These things I swear by Zeus, by Apollo, by Demeter. May there be blessing on me if I keep my oath; but if not, let there be ruin for me and my family."
 Today as yesterday our juries are under fire: Some say juries waste time, people won't serve; jurors make stupid mistakes. Let experts do justice, critics say.
 Such things hold true if citizens forsake their right to serve.
 Only a free people can enjoy the privilege of jury duty. A Greek thinker once said that the mark of a citizen, as opposed to an alien, was his right to share in administering justice.
 When jury duty calls, think of yourself as seeking truth, hearing said the man, "and health is worth very much."

 "Well," said the caller, "what more have you?"
 "I have a good wife—worth more than diamonds."
 "Congratulations," exclaimed the tax man, "but don't you own more?"
 "Yes, I have healthy, intelligent, upright sons and daughters, and that is a possession of which any man can feel rich."
 "Do you own anything else?" asked the inquirer.
 "Yes, I own citizenship in the United States, and an assured inheritance in Heaven. What more could a man own?"
 "But don't you own any money or real estate?"
 "No, otherwise I own nothing," said the man happily.
 "My friend," said the assessor, as he closed his book, "you are indeed a rich man, and your riches no man can take away—not even the government."
 We received a letter from Mrs. H. E. Angus, formerly of Ranger, the other day and she must be kinda home sick.

 Highlight of this annual active duty training program was the appearance July 8 of the Army's chief of staff General George H. Decker. He watched the Governor's Day mounted review of more than 1,000 muddy vehicles, handed out awards for proficiency and recruiting and presented the division a flag with some 145 streamers representing all Army battles since the Revolutionary War.
 On hand with him was Miss Deloris Del Foley of Mineral Wells, named by motion picture and television star Jack Webb as "Miss 49th Armored Division for 1961."
 Training for the men has included two trips to the field—one a night move under blackout conditions—maneuver problems, weapons firing, traditional guard duty, KP and other training activities.
 The two-week soldiers will all be back in their civilian offices on Monday morning ready for work.

"When Jesus Went To Calvary" will be the pastor's theme at the morning worship hour at the First Baptist Church.

Rev. Perkins said, "Why did Jesus go to Calvary?" and "Did His trip up Calvary's mountain accomplish the purpose for which the Son of God came into the world." He also said that every moral act of mankind will be measured here and hereafter as to how we answer these two questions.

The evening message at 8 p.m. will be based on the theme "Jonah, A God Called Man." Jonah was God's messenger, and as he went he carried others with him. It is always true, the sinner is not content to drag himself and his family down into the gutter of sin, shame and disgrace, but he wants to take all the boys and girls with him and all his neighbors.

Sunday is God's day, so make it a day of worship and righteousness. Bring your family to Sunday School and then stay for the worship hour.

Frags "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this passage will be read: "Ignorance of God is no longer the stepping-stone to faith. The only guarantee of obedience is a right apprehension of Him whom to know aright is Life eternal" (p. vii).

Back in Genesis, the 23rd Chapter

... there is recorded one of the early-day real estate transactions. Sarah had died at the age of 127, and Abraham had bought a field containing a cave for her just resting place. While there is no direct mention of an abstract, the evidence is clear that Abraham got a good title in the purchase. Time changes many things, for better or worse, but the caution used by Abraham still prevails. The title was important then, it's more so now.

THE ALL ELECTRIC HEAT PUMP

DOES BOTH JOBS AUTOMATICALLY WITH ONE SETTING OF THE THERMOSTATIC CONTROLS

Year-round indoor climate control is completely automatic with the All Electric Heat Pump. The same central system unit that cools your home in summer also heats it in winter, using only air and electricity. In hot weather, the Heat Pump extracts heat from indoor air and pumps it outside. In cold weather, the Heat Pump automatically reverses itself. It extracts heat from outdoor air (even when it's below freezing) and pumps it into your home. And during changeable weather, the Heat Pump switches automatically from cooling to heating or back again, as needed, to maintain the temperature you like best. You just set the thermostatic controls once and enjoy perfect comfort the year round. See your air conditioning contractor soon . . . or call Texas Electric Service Company for complete information.

The Royal Ambassadors camp is sponsored by the District Brotherhood of which George McDonald of Rotan is president. Royal Ambassador director is Rev. V. D. Walters of Abilene, and the Missions Secretary is Rev. L. L. Trost of Abilene.

Mr. Walters will be director of the camp and Rev. Ralph Perkins of Ranger will be camp pastor. Dr. W. H. (Dub) Jackson, missionary to Japan, will be camp missionary. Recreation will be under the direction of Rev. Murrell Johns of Knox City. The camp nurse will be from Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene. Camp personnel will direct the music, and the life guard for swimming will be furnished by the encampment.

Ages for the intermediate camp will run from 13 through 18 years. Registration cards are to be filled out by each church group before leaving for camp, one card for each person. Fee is $7.00, including insurance.

The opening day will start with recreation and at 5 p.m. a get-acquainted period will be held under the tabernacle. After supper at 6 p.m., Dr. Jackson will speak under the tabernacle. After a free period, vesper will be held at 9:15 p.m. down by the riverside with the camp pastor leading.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

AUSTIN—Texas consumers of foods, drugs and cosmetics will come out on the long end of an almost completely new state law which goes into effect late next month.

The new law, aimed at consumer protection against adulteration, mislabeling, and false advertising, was passed by the 57th session of the State Legislature with strong support of a major segment of the food, drug, and cosmetic industry. It becomes effective August 28, and represents the first major overhaul of the State's basic food and drug law in more than 50 years.

State health authorities say the law is good as is in force anywhere in the nation. It puts Texas on the side of the proponents of uniformity in state food and drug laws.

The old law made no provision for checking on the wholesomeness of cosmetics, whereas the new act requires truthful advertising, complete labeling as to ingredients, forbids the use of harmful ingredients, and requires that products be produced and held under sanitary conditions. The law also brings therapeutic devices under control by outlawing worthless contrivances such as "cancer belts" and "arthritis rings" and similar quack appliances which take advantage of the desperation of afflicted people.

Under present Texas law the use of certain additives in food or drink is illegal. But after August 28 it will be permissible to use additives to enhance taste, color, texture or preservative qualities of certain foods. However, the burden of proving the additive is not injurious to human health will be on the manufacturer rather than on the enforcement agency as has been the case heretofore.

"Advances in food and drink technology over the past several years indicate a definite place in the food industry for chemical additives," says Joe F. Lahey, director of the State Health Department's food and drug division. The department takes its task of consumer protection seriously. Lahey says division inspectors had supervised the destruction of 997,978 pounds of food as unfit for human use in the period between September 1, 1958 and August 1, 1960. He listed water, fire, rodent and insect damage as some reasons for condemnations. To make the transition from the old law to the new one as smooth as possible, the department has already scheduled training sessions for field inspectors to familiarize them with the document they will be working with. I Give You Texas

By BOYCE HOUSE

How do you go about writing a bio?

The first step—and much the most important—is the gathering of the material, assuming that you are not going to write on a subject which you know at first hand—your recollections of a famous friend or a winter you spent in the Antarctic.

Then the materials must be grouped, so as to be easily handled. If it is a biography, the groupings would be the boyhood and early schooling, college days, beginning of career, etc. After the groupings, material must be given time to assume shape and significance in the writer's mind. Last of all comes the writing—which often takes the least time of all.

Research is fascinating. A while back I became interested in the subject of William Jennings Bryan, so all the biographies—five or six—were read.

When Bryan ran the first time for president, his opponent was William McKinley—and so the biographies of McKinley and of Mark Hanna, the mastermind of Mr. Kinley's campaign, were examined. The next race, the Republican candidate for vice president was Theodore Roosevelt and he and Bryan were rivals thereafter—hence the biographies of "T. R." were read; similarly, with William Howard Taft, Bryan's opponent in his third campaign.

Then, since Bryan had much to do with the nomination of Woodrow Wilson, came the reading of chapters in the Wilson biographies. Also there were contemporaries who had contracts with Bryan, such men as Bourke Cockran, Grover Cleveland and John Peter Altgeld. Then there were journalists who wrote their recollections of "the great and near great."

Besides, there are the writings of professors on government, who have analyzed the methods and influence of various political leaders. And sometimes in an autobiography of someone, you find a recollection of Bryan.

Besides books, there are contemporary magazines which give accounts of the various conventions and campaigns; and the old newspapers, too.

The search for facts, incidents and color becomes intriguing, indeed.

The fourth study, "Churches for New Times," will be taught by Miss Alice Alsop, Fort Worth, a former missionary in Asia.
