The Ranger Fire Department has ordered new jackets for its members. The jackets will be royal blue in color with white lettering on the front and back. Each jacket will have "Ranger Fire Department" on the back with the member's name on the front.

Dick Brashier, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Brashier, stole the show Thursday night when Rotarians and guests met at the Bullock Community Club House for a dinner meeting.

Dick's grandfather, Felton Brashier, was auctioning off a cake and had sold it to B. A. Tunnell. Tunnell decided he didn't want the cake and said to sell it again. Felton said O.K. and asked the audience who would give $5.00 for the cake. Immediately, Dick put up his hand. His brother, Alex, and father, Pete, almost fell out of their chairs trying to get his hand down. Dick didn't buy the cake, but like all grandfathers, Felton did.

The weather seems to be in tune with the early football schedule this year. The first "norther" of the season has really made the fans start talking the game.

To be successful, look for work after you have found a job.

Rev. W. A. Flynn, pastor of the First Methodist Church, says that he caught a sizeable "minnow" out at Lake Leon the other day. The "minnow" strongly resembled a bass, weighing 5 1/2 pounds.

Happy Birthday... The merchant sent his bill to a slow-paying customer with the notation: "This bill is one year old." By return mail he received a greeting card saying: "Happy birthday, Bill."

Jesse White Is Awarded State Certificate

State health authorities this week awarded an official certificate of competency to Jesse W. White of Ranger, plant superintendent for the Eastland County water supply district, for excellent performance of a vital public service.

The impressively designed document, signed by the commissioner of health and authorities of the Texas Water and Sewage Works Association, is springily awarded only to those who can demonstrate "skill and knowledge of sewer treatment plant management and an understanding of the public health importance of the work."

Under the State Health Department's operator certification program, operators are carefully examined on their technical ability and on their knowledge of their work's influence on community health. Each must pass a stiff written test to qualify for certification.

The Texas general sanitation law requires that at least one plant operator per shift be certified by the state health agency, but other plant personnel and persons in related fields frequently seek certification on their own time and at their own expense to advance themselves professionally and to increase their efficiency.

Texas Savings Bonds Sales Show Increase

Texas Savings Bonds sales in July increased 3.1 percent over the same month in 1960. Sales of both E & H Bonds in Eastland County total $17,001 for the month, which represents 60.4 percent of the 1961 goal for the county," according to Guy Parker, chairman of Eastland County Savings Bonds committee.

"The Savings Bonds Committee is gratified to note the continued increase in purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds. There is nothing in this world safer than U. S. Savings Bonds, and their purchase is not only patriotic, it is sound, good business, too. E Bonds are an excellent appreciation investment for those not needing immediate returns, and H Bonds are designed for those needing income. Interest on the H Bonds is paid by government check every six months. Both E and H Bonds are easily liquid. Principal and interest are fully guaranteed by the faith and credit of the United States," concluded Parker.

Present-day evangelism will tell America about Christ and help Him win the world. If this is to be done effectively, the program must be adequate to meet the perplexing conditions of our present age.

Twentieth-century evangelism must affirm the Lordship of Christ for every life and all of life. It is not enough to believe that Christ was a teacher, a prophet, a voice. John the Baptist was that, but he said that he was not worthy to untie the sandals of Jesus. Present-day evangelism must tell abroad that Christ is King and Lord of Lords. It must hail Him as the Savior for the individual, the Healer of our many sickness-es, the One who forgives our sins. He is the only One who can really make us whole, bring harmony within and set our feet in the way God intended they should go. Though this is basic, it is just that. After He had called, He trained His followers and sent them forth to win in His Name. This we must do. To do it effectively we must know His Word. Here the best scholars can help us. They have been diligent in searching it out. It is now a clear, saving Word for men and nations. Too much of our present-day evangelism seems not to understand the full, clear Word. All too often the New Testament is interpreted in the light of the Old. An Evangelism worthy of our time will interpret the Old, in the light of the New. Present-day evangelism must also proclaim that Christ is Lord of all life. All kingdoms must be brought to Him so that He may present them at the feet of God. This means every realm—the Church, the home, economics, politics, race—every realm you can name.

Present-day evangelism must make local what it strives to make universal. The Lordship of Christ must become reality in every individual in every local community—your community and mine. Christ must become the Lord of every local Church, whether it

Code of Ethics For Hunters Adopted by NRA

Eastland County hunters are taking stock of hunting equipment in anticipation of the opening of the hunting season Sept. 1, when dove season begins, to be followed by the seasons for hunting deer, duck and quail. With the number of hunting enthusiasts increasing each year, it becomes doubly imperative that safety practices and game laws be followed and that property rights and good conservation principles be observed.

The National Rifle Association of America has adopted a Hunter's Code of Ethics, to which it urges its members to subscribe. The principles in this code are also combined with an identification card to be given to the landowner when seeking permission to hunt on his property. This is another effort by organized sportsmen to open more privately owned land to hunters who pledge themselves to respect property rights, safety practices, game laws, and good conservation principles.

Regardless of whether hunters are members of the National Rifle Association, as sportsmen they should observe the Code of Ethics, which is as follows:

1. I will consider myself an invited guest of the landowner, seeking his permission and conducting myself that I may be welcome in the future.
2. I will obey the rules of safe gun handling and will courteously but firmly insist that others who hunt with me do the same.
3. I will obey all game laws and regulations and will insist that my companions do likewise.
4. I will do my best to acquire those marksmanship and hunting skills which assure clean, sportsmanlike kills.
5. I will support conservation efforts which can assure good hunting for future generations of America.
6. I will pass along to younger hunters the attitudes and skills essential to a true outdoor sportsman.

Christian Science

Significance for today of the healing theology of Christ Jesus will be explained at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus" will include this verse from Matthew 9: "And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people."

One of the correlative citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "The highest earthly representative of God, speaking of human ability to reflect divine power, prophetically said to his disciples, speaking not for their day only but for all time: He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and 'These signs shall follow them that believe' " (p.52).

Present Day—

be "Big" or "Small". He must be made Lord of Labor and Industry, Race and Politics. All areas of our community life must be brought unto Him.
Present-day evangelism will use the best techniques to reach the goal. All techniques are not of equal value. Some are definitely better than others. Even the best is none too good, so improvement must always be sought.
Now this worthy task of telling America about Christ and winning the whole world for Him cannot be accomplished without the deep commitment of lay people—both men and women. "Them He also called". This world-embracing job is too big for a few professional evangelists and a few more so-called specialists. All who call themselves Christian are needed for this task. Present-day evangelism will say to lay people "Here is a big place for you—a great job for you." The goal of present-day evangelism calls for great faith, great devotion, great energy, great plans. It especially calls for YOU. WILL YOU join up for the duration? Victory is possible if YOU do! Communion is possible if you don't.

Replica of Space Capsule to Be At State Fair

A replica of the capsule in which America's first astronauts, Commander Alan B. Shepard and Capt. Virgil Grissom, were launched into space this year, will be exhibited along with other space age displays at the 1961 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 7-22, Dallas.

The full-sized model of the capsule used in "Project Mercury" is being sent to the State Fair by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The capsule will be occupied by a dummy astronaut in flight position and attired in an actual space suit like those worn by Shepard and Grissom. The capsule replica also has a simulated instrument panel and control board of the type used by the astronauts.

The space capsule will be an exhibit in the Varied Industries Building at the State Fair. Other NASA exhibits will illustrate the many aspects of Project Mercury which include wind tunnel tests, capsule drop tests, capsule fabrication, astronaut selection and training, test firings, the chimpanzee "Ham" space flight and the flight of Astronaut Shepard in the Freedom 7 rocket.

Another space age exhibit by the Convair division of General Dynamics will be devoted to the Atlas missile program which is designed to put an astronaut into orbit around the earth.

The Federal Aviation Authority will have a number of exhibits demonstrating how aircraft traffic is regulated. They will include an actual weather reporting station, sector control equipment used to direct traffic in the air corridors, a working model of a modern airport, operating radar for tracking aircraft and a simulated flight control tower where passengers can participate in controlling a simulated approach and landing by a model airplane.

Also on exhibit at the State Fair will be several actual Army missiles, including a Lacrosse, a giant Redstone and a Little John rocket.

Public Reminded Of New Laws Effective Sept. 1

A modern and uniform food, drug, and cosmetic act becomes effective in Texas Sept. 1. It will be uniform with similar laws already adopted in 38 states. A product of the regular session of the 57th legislature, the act did not receive a great deal of publicity because of the tax fight that took most of the front page news space.

This new law is a correction of one which passed in 1959 but was vetoed by the governor because of a last-minute floor amendment. It modernizes the 50-year-old Texas food and drug law to provide more protection for the consumer public.

An amendment to the vital statistics law passed by the regular session of the legislature allowed an increase in the cost of birth certificates. On Sept. 1 a certified copy of a birth certificate, a necessary document in this age of pensions, social security, and foreign travel, will cost $1.50, an increase of 50 cents over the previous charge.

Also, after Sept. 1 the fee for renewing an automobile driver's license will be $3 instead of $2. This is the second increase in recent years in the driver's license fee.
