The game was a nip-and-tuck affair with both teams leading by as much as ten points at one time. Despite a 17 point scoring performance by Cerna, the Leopards held a 48-40 halftime lead. During the second half neither team could build up a substantial lead and held it. With about five minutes left to play Sammy West became the first of three Rangers to foul out. THE QUIET BETRAYAL

BY DR. SIDNEY L. DE LOVE

Following is installment 4 of EDITORIAL PAGE'S condensation of Sidney De Love's timely book on the decline of Americanism. CHAPTER FOUR

Love of country is not an image of sentimental imagination. It is a real, it is vibrant, it is sacred, as life itself. — Hon. Sol. Bloom.

THE DECISION—A REBIRTH OF PATRIOTISM

The brilliant French political writer, Alexis de Tocqueville, visited America and wrote at great length about the people he came to know so well. Among other things, he said:

"I sought for the greatness and genius of America in her commodious harbors and her ample rivers, and it was not there; in her fertile fields and boundless prairies, and it was not there. Not until I went to the churches of America and heard her pulpits aflame with righteousness did I understand the secret of her genius and power. America is great because she is good, and if America ceases to be good, America will cease to be great."

The secret of our genius and power is simple goodness. Can we hold the good of material advance in our stream-lined age and avoid the bad? If the American dream is to remain our goal, we must lift our communal, spiritual and intellectual lives above the level of our material abundance. This task belongs solely to the people. Unless the individual citizen accepts the responsibilities of freedom, he will lose his heritage and its blessings for himself and his children.

Do we lack the basic experience or emotional stimulus necessary to recover the ground we have lost? Much is expected of us in this time of crisis. The preservation of our heritage demands that we alter the very atmosphere of modern America. We are obliged to participate in the government of an almost recalcitrant world power. We are to re-assert our right to equality under God and the law, reform the national character, curtail the centralization of our federal "Frankenstein." We are expected to exert a very real amount of effort to retrace our steps and right every wrong.

But Americans need never act out of fear of self-destruction or hatred of tyranny alone. We have a far better motive—the only motive within our nation's common experience that is strong enough to overcome love or self—and that is love of country. Survival itself, is one of the most powerful forces within man, and yet the history of America is filled with moving accounts of men who laid down their lives for their country. These acts of supreme heroism were inspired by deep love of America. Mindful of this, we cannot help but realize the importance of patriotism as an incentive for our fight against internal decay and external ideology.

Let's not beat around the bush: patriotism is dormant in America. In the past it was one of America's most sterling qualities. Today it is scorned. Semantics has played cruel havoc with the meaning of American patriotism. In some quarters it has been appropriated as a by-word by persons who are actually opposed to its original meaning, just as the Communists have attempted to re-define democracy and appropriate it as a name for their system of enslavement. Others are under the impression that patriotism is identical with nationalism. This belief is wrong, even in the non-corrupted sense of these two words.

When nationalism meant a consciousness of, and pride in, the individual character and spirit of a people as it was felt by the people themselves, it was still only a part of patriotism.

The memory of these famous patriots, the founders of our country, our military heroes, our great statesmen shall forever burn in our hearts. But let us not forget that there were other patriots; that patriots are not of some rare species. Patrick Henry would not have delivered his immortal speech if that convention hall in Richmond had been empty. Col. Prescott would not have given the order "Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes" if he had been the only man atop Bunker Hill.

There was only one author of the Declaration of Independence, but fifty-six men faced the hangman's noose to sign it.

What is to keep us from becoming once again a nation of patriots? Are we too old? Seven of the signers were over 60. Are we too young? Eighteen of the signers were still in their thirties. Edward Rutledge, who was later captured by the British, and whose South Carolina home was plundered by the enemy, was 26 when he signed.

Are we too busy making money? Each signer was willing to risk his fortune. The great Jefferson spent the last years of his life struggling against bankruptcy because the struggle for independence had left him no time for his personal affairs.

Are we afraid to be called flag wavers? The signers were called traitors. It is said that fifty-year old John Morton, who died eight months after he signed, was the victim of a broken heart caused by loyalists friends and relatives who cruelly ostracized him for his political beliefs.

Have we too many other responsibilities? Braxton, Ellery and Sherman had eighteen, sixteen and fifteen children respectively to provide for. Only two of the signers were bachelors. The rest had a total of 275 sons and daughters.

Today, patriotism requires of us, as it required of our Fathers, devotion and dedication to the task of maintaining individual freedom within a voluntary society and a free market economy. It requires that which has served as a common motive for patriots of every generation: love of the American way of life, and love of the men who shared the burdens and suffering and deaths that went into its making.

The patriot is recompensed a hundred-fold! In return for his allegiance and concern America gives him her soul-stirring history and a hope for his future. She gives him a feeling of pride and at the sight of her Star-Spangled Banner, the sound of her anthem quickens his heart. Her tombs and war memorials put a tear of appreciation in his eye. America gives him knowledge and understanding of the priceless legacy he has inherited. She gives and encourages his pursuit of happiness.

Yes, the patriot has many rewards because he knows the value of his American heritage. And the greatest of these rewards is his United States citizenship—his right to keep the fruits of his labor, his right to self-government, his right to forge ahead. Patriotism inspires integrity and responsibility in him by fusing them with pride in his own individuality and his own country.

Shall we then, in this hour of crisis, open our hearts and our minds and allow American patriotism to be reborn? Shall we find the moral strength to assume our duties as citizens of a constitutional republic?

The decision is yours.

21, 1867, Mrs. Cornelius came to Eastland from South Anna. She married A. B. Cornelius Feb. 22, 1884, in Corinth, Miss. He died 36 years ago. One son, S. G. of Temple, also preceded his mother in death on Nov. 3, 1961.

Mrs. Cornelius was a member of the Susan Steel Sunday School class of the First Methodist Church and of the 50-Year Pioneer Club.

Since her 80th birthday, her entire family gathered each year for a joint family reunion and birthday celebration.

Survivors include four sons: Victor and C. C., both of Eastland, M. T. of Abilene and A. B. Jr. of Graham; one daughter; one step-brother, Baxter Bennett, now of McCombs and formerly a long-time Eastland resident; 27 grandchildren; 57 great-grandchildren and two great-great grandchildren.

Grandsons who served as pallbearers were Albert Blanchard and Glen Miller of Houston, M. T. Cornelius Jr., of Abilene, Aubrey Cornelius of San Marcus, Robert Miller of Big Spring, and Albert B. Cornelius, who is stationed at Fort Chaffee, Ark.

Milk Producers Show Decline During 1961

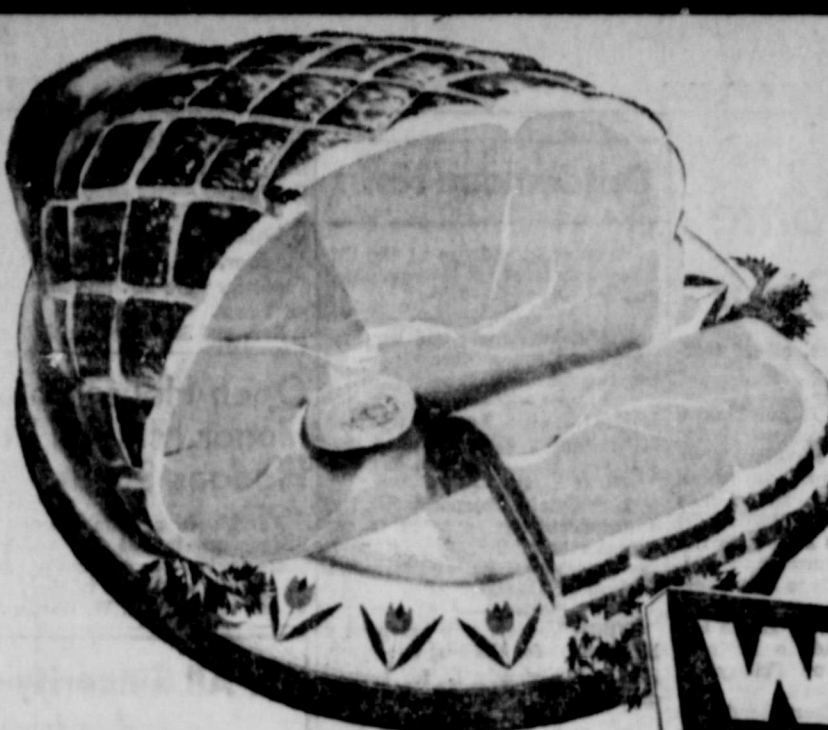

During December 1961 there were 401 milk producers on the Central West Texas market compared with 407 during November 1961 and 472 in December 1960. This number of producers during December is the smallest number of producers on the Central West Texas market since the effective date of the order. Although there were 16.04% fewer producers on the market during December 1961 than during December 1960, producer receipts were only 3.21% less. The average daily delivery per producer during December 1961 was 1,173 pounds compared with 1,029 pounds during December 1960.

Class I utilization during December was 12,581,238 pounds. For a daily average of 405,846 pounds compared with 428,452 pounds during December 1960, a decrease of 5.28%.

The minimum uniform price that Central West Texas producers will receive for 4.0% milk delivered during December will be $5.40 per hundredweight, according to an announcement by Byford W. Bain, market Administrator. This price is subject to a location adjustment. For each point (0.1%) that the average butterfat content of producer-milk varies from 4.0%, a butterfat differential of 7.3 cents applies.

Eastside Church of Christ

Corner Young and Strawn Road. A prominent human church has published a tract in which it states that they have laid "chief emphasis upon experience". By experience they state, "every person can and should have a personal, saving knowledge of Christ." It also states that, "We should find God for ourselves. The ways and forms may and do differ, but the results will be the same." Now where does this "experience" that they laid chief emphasis on leave the New Testament as the way by which man can know God? They picture God as a lost being that each person must find by his, not God's, own method. I heard of one man that thought he had found God by "experience" while shucking corn one moonlit night. The preacher told him he must have such experience before he could be saved as he was constantly looking for something that could be considered such. As he shucked and prayed a beam of light came right through the barn wall—this was it. He runs and tells his wife, then the neighbors, and the next day the church. He was accepted and considered saved by all. What a glorious thing this was—until he went back to the barn to shuck corn on Monday night. While shucking the light appeared again, and since the man had already had his "experience" with God he made a closer examination of the matter. And what do you think he found? Not the Lord, but a knot hole that the moon was shining through when it reached a certain place in orbit. This man, by experience, learned that this knot-hole religion was a sham. And he was not deceived, my friends, not by any tall tales that may be told. There is ONE WAY by which you can know God, Christ, and what you must do, the New Testament which is the revealed Will of God to all that seek to know him. You cannot believe what you have not heard from the only source that is made available to us, that is the Gospel or New Testament. We can believe through the apostles word (John 17:20). The "experience" that all need is that or hearing what the Gospel says for his kind of Experience will bring faith in the Lord, a faith that will move you to do his will and not man's. IT'S THE LAW in Texas

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION KEEP RECORDS!

Back in pioneer times our forefathers found they could keep track of the family history pretty well with a few notations on the flyleaf of the family bible. But life's not quite that simple any more. Great-grandpa wasn't covered by social security or workman's compensation. He didn't have a bank account or safe deposit box, a car and a dozen home appliances being bought on time payment, or a half-dozen insurance policies. We have taxes great-grandpa never heard of and wouldn't have believed if he had. And had you asked him for a certificate to prove his birth, he'd have thought you'd talk on leave of your senses. The point of this is that the average American today has a good many important papers to keep track of. There are birth certificates, receipts, copies of tax returns, sales contracts, and a host of other papers. With a little tidy record-keeping, you can make life easier for yourself and your family when you are gone. So, why not make a New Year's Resolution to follow these suggestions: 1. Get a heavily bound notebook or folder or file folder as a central collecting point for all the records of your affairs. 2. Put your especially important papers in your safe deposit box, but make a list of those papers and a brief summary of their contents to put in your home file. 3. Get for your files copies of birth certificates for all members of the family, and add them to the file. Add your marriage license or at least a statement as to when you were married and by whom. 4. Insert your will or copy of it. If your will is kept elsewhere, include a note telling where it may be found. 5. During the year, put into the file your income tax withholding statements and receipts for expenditures which may be deductible. Then keep a copy of each year's tax return in the file. 6. Make a list of all the stocks

Many Senior Citizens Qualify Under New State Medical Plan

Eastland County has 1,368 recipients on Old Age Assistance rolls who are paid a total of $75,000 monthly from the State Department of Public Welfare. Many of these recipients qualify for two types of medical services, nursing home care and in-patient hospital care, provided by the Medical Assistance Act, Senate Bill No. 79, which was passed by the State Legislature at the regular session in 1961 and went into effect Jan. 1 of this month. Under the new bill, which was approved by Texas voters Nov. 4, 1958 through a Constitutional Amendment, the Texas State Department of Welfare will pay most of the costs of Old Age Assistance recipients care in a program of health care for Old Age nursing home. Old Age Assistance recipients may also receive hospitalization from the Blue Cross hospitalization organization, which was purchased Nov. 15, 1961 by the State Board of Public Welfare as underwriter. Before Assistance recipients may receive nursing care payments or hospitalization they must have a doctor's certification that they should receive nursing home care or in-patient hospital care. Under the Medical Assistance Act a recipient receives a monthly OAA check. From this check, the nursing home is paid a certain amount, minus the amount needed by the recipient for personal use. The State pays the nursing home operator the balance of the nursing home care cost, minus whatever amount relatives may be able to pay. There are many variations to the example. The program was formulated by the Texas Medical Association, the Nurses Association, the State Department of Health and the State Department of Public Welfare. The law, effective beginning Jan. 1 and extending till August 31, 1963, was arranged by the State Department of Public Welfare, subject to Federal approval under the Kerr-Mills Bill. This bill states that the State of Texas pays about 34 per cent of the program's cost with the Federal government paying 66 per cent.

Employers Are Required To Deposit Taxes

Employers liable for income tax withheld and social security taxes in excess of $100 for the month of January, must deposit such taxes with a depository, district director Ellis Campbell, Jr., of Internal Revenue Service, announced today. Recipients who need nursing care aid have been asked to contact the State Department of Welfare, and recipients in need of hospitalization should contact their family doctor. Under the present bill the applicant for aid must be examined and approved by a doctor for nursing home care before being eligible for assistance. The State Department of Public Welfare will pay eligible applicants assistance check not over the maximum of $71 per month, depending upon financial circumstances of the person involved. If there is still need of assistance the state will make a regular payment directly to the nursing home operator, under one of the three following payment headings: minimum $39 per month, moderate $141 per month, and intensive (the same as hospital care) $180 per month. Every nursing home receiving state payment for Old Age Assistance recipients must be licensed by the State Health Department, according to type and amount of facilities and kind of staff it has. Under the Medical Assistance Act a recipient receives a monthly OAA check. From this check, the nursing home is paid a certain amount, minus the amount needed by the recipient for personal use. The State pays the nursing home operator the balance of the nursing home care cost, minus whatever amount relatives may be able to pay. There are many variations to the example. The program was formulated by the Texas Medical Association, the Nurses Association, the State Department of Health and the State Department of Public Welfare. Jan. 15 Deadline For Filing Tax Estimate

Deadline for paying the final installment on estimated federal income tax returns for 1961 is Monday, January 15, 1962, Ellis Campbell, Jr., Director, Internal Revenue Service, Dallas, reminded taxpayers today. "If you have previously filed an estimated return and events occurring in the last quarter of 1961 indicate that your income will be substantially more or less than your original estimate, you should file an amended declaration on January 15," he said. This declaration, he added, should be marked "amended" and filed with the District Director of Internal Revenue in Dallas. A blank amended declaration is printed on the back of the notice of payment due which the taxpayer received by mail. The IRS representative said an original declaration of estimated tax for the year 1961 should be filed by January 15 on Form 1042ES by taxpayers who first became liable for filing an estimate during the fourth quarter of 1961. He continued: "There's one exception to these rules. If the taxpayer finds it necessary to file a declaration for the first time on January 15, he need not file or pay on that date if he files his final return for 1961 and pays in full the balance of tax he owes on or before February 1, 1962. "Many questions about your estimate or your tax return can be solved by telephoning the local IRS office," he advised.
