The Board of Regents of Ranger Junior College have announced plans for a building and improvement program to be undertaken by the college immediately which will cost in excess of $400,000. At a meeting on Monday night, February 6, by unanimous agreement the Regents indicated that it was necessary and immediate for the college to improve its facilities. Realizing that new structures and renovating of old structures are a prime importance in order for the college to attract additional students, the Board is confronted with the tremendous task of financing these projects.

Attempts over the past two years whereby individuals were contacted in an attempt to obtain gifts, endowments, etc., have not been successful. Because of the low economic status of the entire county, private investors were reluctant under the present financing system available to the college to supply the necessary funds for implementing the needed buildings and repairs.

In order for Ranger Junior College to effect the necessary total program of curriculum revision and facility improvement, the Board of Regents have indicated that they will seek assistance from the citizens of the junior college district by way of a tax bond. Petitions calling for an election will be circulated in the immediate future.

Horton Installs New Tire Machine

Horton Tire Service of Eastland has announced the addition of another machine that completes the necessary equipment for making perfectly round and balanced tires, according to an announcement by Horace Horton.

The new machine uses a novel method to trim off high spots on out-of-round tires, changing them back to perfectly round tires, Mr. Horton said. After the tire has been trued, balancing weights are properly placed around the wheel for perfect balance.

"Many motorists are familiar with an out-of-round tire as it causes difficulty in steering, excessive shimmy and thumping," Mr. Horton said. ## Air Conditioner Manufacturing Company To Open In Ranger

E. H. Everett of Oiden, announced today that the New Line Manufacturing Company would start production of fiber glass air conditioners in Ranger in approximately two weeks.

The air conditioner manufacturing firm will be located in North Austin Street in a building formerly occupied by the Ranger Steam Laundry.

Everett said that the all-new air conditioner line will be made of fiber glass except for the blower wheel and the motor. The pump will be made of plastic. He said that it would be the nearest all fiber glass air conditioner that could be made.

The new air conditioner will carry the brand of "The Ranger". Several types and sizes of air conditioners will be manufactured in the Ranger plant. They will include window, commercial and a down-draft from 4000 to 15000 size.

Everett said that the fiber glass construction of the air conditioner was very sturdy and should last indefinitely. The air conditioner will carry a five-year warranty against rust. Weight of the air conditioner will be approximately half as much as a metal air conditioner.

He said that the fiber glass construction would cut maintenance to a minimum and also said that noise usually associated with metal air conditioners, would be eliminated.

In tests conducted by Everett, the air conditioner without dampers temperatures of 110 degrees down to 8 degrees with no ill effects. He pointed out that fiber glass does not absorb heat and therefore the new air conditioner will have a much better cooling capacity than a metal air conditioner.

"The Ranger" will be manufactured in a variety of colors to match exterior house paints and will have several designs on the pad covers.

Everett indicated that several other fiber glass products would be manufactured by his firm.

Born in Paris, Texas, Everett conceived the idea for fiber glass air conditioners about two years ago. After building his first model, he secured a patent for the air conditioner.

Everett moved to Oiden in 1919 where he worked for Lone Star Gas Company for many years.

He served in the navy for three years in the Pacific Theatre during World War II as a first class master of arms. He was stationed at the San Francisco Naval Base for two years, serving as a secret and confidential messenger. Wounded in action in the Pacific in 1942, he was hospitalized for one year.

Everett is a member of the Ranger Masonic Lodge, Moshah Temple of Fort Worth and the Cross Timbers Shrine Club.

SCOUTING AND THE FAMILY... CORNERSTONE OF CHARACTER

Since 1910, more than thirty-four million Americans have been identified with the Boy Scouts of America, whose 52nd anniversary is observed by Boy Scout Week, February 7-13.

There is scarcely an American family that has not felt its influence.

In many families there have been three generations active in its work.

Even as Scouting strengthens family life in America, this year's Boy Scout Week observance focuses on the contribution families make to Scouting and the American way of life.

In the younger boy program—Cub Scouting—parents participate with their sons. Mothers serve as Den Mothers or helpers in other and fathers become Den Dads and Cub Pack Committeemen.

In Boy Scouting and the older boy program of Exploring, parents show their interest by their participation in Scouting functions. It has become tradition in Scouting for mothers to wear the miniature pins of their son's rank.

Scout leaders feel that because of the active participation of parents in Scouting's programs that a profound impression is being made on the home life of millions of Americans. Families brought together by Scouting are said to be stronger families. Certainly stronger families mean a stronger America.

During Boy Scout Week, Through unit, district and Council programs typical Scouting families will be recognized.

We join in saluting Scouting for the role it plays in the families of the 979 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers of the Northeast District of the Comanche Trail Council. And congratulate the families selected as outstanding Scouting families in our area. They are the kind of families that are building the kind of character in young people that is America's true strength.

County Crashes Claim 75 Lives, $2 Million

Traffic accidents on Eastland County's roads and highways accounted for 75 deaths and almost two million dollars property damage in the past ten years.

The amount of property damage for the ten years, 1952 through 1961, stood at $1,867,290.00—equal to almost $100 per person in the County.

According to information by Department of Public Safety Sgt. J. O. Tanner, there were 691 persons injured in 398 accidents during the period.

In all, there were 1,209 accidents with 1959 the heaviest year with 150. There were 82 persons injured that year, with property damage reported at $110,134.00.

The most number of deaths were recorded in 1958 when 14 people died as the result of crashes within the bounds of this county.

The year '54 appeared to be the better of the lot, with "only" 96 accidents reported, three deaths and 45 injuries.

Temple Junior College Defeats Rangers 95-69

Revenge-bent Temple Junior College put their scoring machine into high gear and massacred the Ranger College Rangers 95-69 in a TJCAC basketball game at Temple, Saturday night.

Ranger's five starters hit in the double scoring figures, but that was not enough, as Garner and Popp sparked the Temple attack with 22 and 26 points respectively.

The first half of the game was close with the Rangers trailing by only 5 points at half time, 50-45. During the second half, however, the Rangers could not put together a scoring combination, and Temple gradually pulled away for their first win over Ranger.

PETITIONS IN Consolidation Election Could Be Held In March

A petition asking for an election to vote on the consolidation of six Eastland County school districts has been sent to the Texas Education Commission for approval.

The petition, bearing 271 names, was presented to County Judge John Hart Tuesday, by Mrs. Joseph Perkins, chairman of the Six-District Better Education Committee.

After receiving the petition, Judge Hart turned it over to County School Superintendent H. R. (Pop) Garrett to mail to the state office.

If the petition is found to be in order in Austin, it will be returned and Judge Hart will, within 30 days after its return, announce a date on which the election will be held.

Accompanying Mrs. Perkins Tuesday in the presentation of the petition was Dr. James Whittington, Eastland physician, who has been the most ardent backer of the consolidation move.

If the consolidation election were to carry, it would mean that the districts of Eastland, Ranger, Olden, Carbon, Gorman and Desdemona would be joined together into one district.

Backers of the plan propose that elementary schools be left at each of the two towns, with a high school in the Lake Leoville area. One junior high school would also be put in the present Ranger facilities, according to the plan.

County Clerk Johnson Smith verified the names on the petition as being qualified.

A public meeting sponsored by Eastland Jaycees will be held Thursday night in the Eastland High School at 7 p.m.

A panel discussion on school consolidation will be held at this time. Participants on the program will be Wendell Siebert, Cyrus Frost, Dr. James Whittington and others.

The public is invited to attend.
