Dr. Reynolds Is Lions Speaker

The Easter holy season is a good time for people to take an inventory of their lives, Dr. S. W. Reynolds, superintendent of Cisco District Methodist Churches, said in a talk Thursday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Ranger Lions Club at the college cafeteria.

Dr. Reynolds, who spent the past week in revival services at the First Methodist Church in Ranger, said that overflowing churches on Easter Sunday was evidence that people truly believe in a life hereafter, that their sins can be washed away, and that there is a better life for those who seek it.

"To get the most out of life, we need to put much into life," Dr. Reynolds said. "Those who carry out His commandments can hold their heads high."

Dr. Ted Nicksick, club president, was in charge of the meeting.

A group of five Lions from Cisco attended in an inter-city visitation program. Those in the group were Gene Abbott, O. L. Stamey, J. W. Sitton, Sterling Drumwright and Sam King.

Four RJC Art Students Enter Work In Exhibit

Four students of Mrs. Florence Pearson, chairman of Art Department of Ranger Junior College will have pieces hung in an exhibit in Austin, beginning the latter part of April.

Students whose pieces have been selected for the extended showing are Ella Joy Holiday of Eastland, Mary Rhoades of Abilene, Russ Ward, Ranger, and Dorothy Ryerson of Breckenridge.

The Texas School Art Display and Recognition Project which invited the students to enter, is sponsored by the Texas Education Agency and the showing will be held in a new building of the agency in Austin.

Mrs. Pearson said the 12 pieces for exhibit will be oils and pastels and are now in the process of being framed and packed for shipping to Austin.

The framed pieces will range in size from about 18 to 24 to one which is 22" X 26".

Ranger Barracks 1871 To Honor Veteran's Kin

Ranger Barracks 1871 will be host to the Auxiliary, wives, widows, and daughters of the Veterans of World War I at the National Guard Armory Tuesday evening, April 16, at 7 p. m. with an old fashioned stew supper.

Music will be furnished by the Wheat Brothers String Band.

Royal Neighbors District Convention To Be Held In Ranger Friday, April 19

The Oil Belt District Convention of Royal Neighbors of America will meet Friday, April 19, at the Elk's Hall on Main Street in Ranger.

Registration will begin at 9:30 Friday morning at which time coffee and cookies will be served. Mrs. Leona Artburn, General Chairman, Ranger, will call the meeting to order. Presentation of the flag will follow. Mayor Morris Newnam will give the welcome address and Mrs. Velma Hawkins, State Supervisor of Wichita Falls will give the response.

Lunch will be served at the hall during the noon hour.

The afternoon session will be called to order at 1:30. Mrs. Della Rushing, district president, will be president for this convention. The former Ranger resident now resides in Wichita Falls. During this business meeting, a selection of a meeting place for the next convention will be made. Election of officers and the installation of such will be conducted.

At 6 p. m. a banquet will

Four - Day Civil Defense School To Be Held Here

A Civil Defense school will be held in the Ranger High School auditorium on April 29, 30, May 1 and 2, it has been announced.

The school will be open to the public and no charge will be made, it was explained. All persons are invited to attend the course to learn more of survival plans as outlined by the Civil Defense.

The course will be sponsored by the Texas Education Agency.

The four-night school will be held from 7 to 10 p. m. each night.

A Base Plan of Survival for the city of Ranger was approved last week by the Civil Defense headquarters in Austin. This plan will also be explained during the course.

RJC Team Leads Cisco Wranglers In Bowling Score

In the intercollegiate Bowling eague this week Ranger Junior College won 26 games and lost 14. For the season this gives Ranger 8 victories compared to 73 for Cisco Junior College.

Glen Carrigan had high score and high series this week. He bowled a 198, a 193, and a 145 Monday night for a total series of 536. Ronnie Flowers and Don Fox were next with a 507 and a 501 respectively. Don was also second in high game with a 196.

Because of the Easter holidays, the bowling for next week will be held on Wednesday, April 17, instead of Monday.

Classes Resume April 17 At Ranger College

Ernen Haby, Dean of Ranger Junior College, announced that the Easter Holiday for the college began at the end of classes on Thursday, April 11.

Classes will resume at 8 a. m. April 17 and for any unexcused absences on either April 11 or April 17, students will receive an F, which will be averaged in with their test grades.

Curry Trial Will Be Held In Eastland County

Trial Date To Be Set Next Week

Nathan Curry will be tried for murder in Eastland County.

Judge T. M. Collie decided after three and a half days of testimony by over 125 witnesses that young Curry can get a fair trial in his home county.

Curry's attorney, John H. Watts of Odessa, said that the decision is not appealable, but would be held as a point of error in case of a later conviction.

Attorney's arguments were completed at 2:30 p. m. Thursday and Judge Collie recessed the court for an hour and a half. At 4 p. m. he reconvened the court and announced that in his opinion there does not exist such prejudice in this county that would prevent Curry from receiving a fair trial.

District Attorney Earl Conner Jr. announced late this week that he will seek a May trial date. Judge Collie said that the exact date will probably depend on Attorney John Watts' schedule.

In his closing argument Watts recalled the testimony of many of his 71 witnesses in which persons had said prejudice against the youth does exist to the extent that a fair trial couldn't be held here.

"The liberty of this boy is at stake," Watts said, and told Judge Collie, "This trial here today is the deciding point for the boy."

Watts recalled the horror of the crime, the character standing of the murdered Mrs. Florence Hussey, and told how Mayor John Webb of Cisco had employed Fort Worth crime specialists to solve the "hideous" crime so that the people of Cisco might be safe.

He said that regardless where the trial is held, he (Watts) intends to see that the confession, which he claimed was obtained illegally is not admitted as evidence.

District Attorney Earl Conner Jr. objected when Watts attempted to tell about the flower pot and explain that it was not the murder weapon.

Watts recalled Mrs. Ellen Justice's testimony in which she said, "You can't read that (about the confession and the flower pot) without knowing that he is guilty."

"No man on earth but Jesus Christ Himself could help but be prejudice about Nathan after hearing and readings such things," Watts said.

Watts quoted Shakespeare, Nathan Hale and numerous legal cases in his argument to show that Nathan Curry couldn't get a fair trial in this county.

In his closing argument Conner explained that the "pendulum of sentiment" now leans toward Curry and that whereas at one time perhaps the majority of the people in Cisco might have been prejudiced against him, that today according to state witnesses, the percentage is nearer fifty-fifty.

"There is a growing sympathy for the boy and perhaps the state should be seeking the change of venue so that justice may be done," Conner said.

He asked Judge Collie to consider the extent of prejudice, and the element of time. "Time is of the essence for the defendant in any criminal case," he said.

"Prejudice is less today and Nathan Curry could get a fair trial in this county," he closed.

Watts in his closing rebuttal said, "Earl (Conner) talks as though Eastland County has a vested interest in having the boy tried here. Perhaps the county should want it moved."

"There has been one hanging here following a murder trial (referring to the events following the famous Santa Claus bank robbery and the ensuing lynching at Fort Worth). It could happen again, with the feeling that exists," he said.

VISITING FATHER

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Beck and family of Lindsey, Oklahoma are visiting in the home of his father, Mr. G. F. Beck.

EASTER CUSTOMS

Do you know where we got our Easter customs? If you don't, you may be surprised to learn the origin of some of our Easter observances which a bit of research by a Ranger Junior College student revealed.

The name Easter comes to us from Ostero or Eastro, the Anglo-Saxon goddess of spring for whom a spring festival was held annually.

The practice of eating Easter eggs on Easter Sunday and of giving them to children probably arose from the belief in the early days of the English church forbidding the eating of eggs forty days before Easter but allowing them to be eaten on Easter Sunday.

The ancient Egyptians and Persians had the custom of coloring eggs for their spring festival, a custom that has

Mayor and Water Commissioner To Be Named In Tuesday's Runoff Election

Ranger citizens will make a familiar trek to the voting booths again, Tuesday, April 16, to make final decisions regarding selection of a city mayor and a water commissioner.

On April 2, voters cast the ballots for mayor with a close count between two men in the mayor's race. Dewey Cox, Jr. Ranger attorney, was the choice of 433 voters while incumbent Morris Newnam polled 431 votes. With the total of 10 votes cast for Matthew Roberts, a runoff was forced.

Mr. Cox, a Ranger native, attended Ranger Junior College two years, and University of Texas School of Law. He has taught in both the high school and the college. His wife, Frances, recently was elected to the Ranger School Board, along with Dr. Luther Gohlke. They live on Foch Street with their sons, Lee and Paul. His office is at 120 South Austin.

Mayor Newnam graduated from Longview High School and attended Rice Institute, receiving an engineering degree in 1944. He operates the Ranger Frozen Food Center. Mr. and Mrs. Newnam have two children, Ray and Nancy.

Also falling into the bracket of a close counting, was the water commissioner's race. G. C. McGown led the three candidates with 309 votes, Lee Cantrell coming in next with 297, with Jack Robinson getting 264.

Mr. McGown is a retired Premier gauger and resides on Pine Street with his wife. They recently were honored on their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. Cantrell is presently serving as police commissioner and he and Mrs. Cantrell own and operate the El Rancho Motel. They are the parents of three children, Jimmy, who lives in Houston, Jerry, who teaches in McCamey, and Diane who is a student at Hardin-Simmons University of Abilene. The two Cantrell grandchildren are also residents of Houston.

A third runoff dissipated when V. V. Cooper withdrew from the street commissioner's race last week, leaving Fred Bennett an open field. Mr. Bennett had received 426 votes, Mr. Cooper 360, and O. J. Caraway 86.

Absentee voting got underway, Monday, April 8, at the city hall and will end three days before the April 16th election.

Rangers Lose One, Win One Baseball Game

Texas Wesleyan College of Fort Worth, behind 3-hit pitching, downed the Ranger Junior College nine 2-1 in a game in Fort Worth Monday.

The Rangers' Lone Score came when Tommy Green reached first and stole three bases on his way to home base.

Carl Haddock and Robert Moore together turned in a 3-hit performance for Ranger. After Monday's loss the Rangers journeyed to Cisco Tuesday to down the Wranglers 12-6 in their second meeting. It was the Rangers' first conference win in three tries. Home runs were hit by Larry Reck and Gary Watson. Tommy Camacho and Robert Moore shared the mound duty.

Senior Citizens
May Be Missing
Extra Income

Some 875 persons past age 65 in the Abilene district will soon have received a reminder that they may be overlooking an income possibility from social security, reports R. R. Tuley, Jr., district manager for the Social Security Administration. Such letters have been going out in small batches for the past several months. The electronic records-keeping equipment in the Baltimore headquarters of SSA has noted that these people are over age 65, seem to have enough credits on their records to be insured for retirement benefits, apparently had little or no earnings in 1961 (the last complete calendar year fully posted), and have not filed claims as yet. Most of those contacted in a pilot study last summer hadn't filed claims because they had mistaken ideas about how long one must be covered by social security to be insured. Due to the 1960 and 1961 amendments, the time required has been cut in half from earlier law. Now one need have social security credits for 1/4 of the time after 1950 (for age 21, if later) and before age 62 for women or age 65 for men, to be eligible for retirement payments. The retirement test was also liberalized by those amendments, Tuley added, and everyone past age 62 should look into the possibility of collecting some social security checks even though still actively employed or self-employed for some or all of the year. The social security representative will be in Cisco at the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, April 10, 1963, at 10 a. m.

$12,000 A YEAR?

Red Cross Blood Program Could Save County Money

Most would agree that any project that would keep $12,000 in additional circulation in Eastland County every year, is a good project. Add to that the fact that every individual in the county would also receive a life-saving service, and the project does take on appeal. That's what Les Kraft, field representative for the American Red Cross, had to say about the Red Cross blood program, in Eastland this week. The program is new and requires total county participation, but the benefits are many, Kraft said. Talking with Mrs. Carl Lamb Monday, he said that people in the county now use 683 pints of blood per year, based on the national average and the population of the county, and that at $20 per pint, the total cost to Eastland Countians is about $13,660 annually. Cost of participation would be $1,562.08 yearly, figured at eight cents per person for the 19,526 population, plus 683 pints of blood donated annually. The amount of blood is based on the average of three and one-half pints per 100 persons (the national average need.) Blood would be available to every member of the county anywhere in the U.S. or Canada without cost to the patient for the blood itself, although there would be a charge for the administration of the blood in most cases, he said. Mrs. Lamb is County Red Cross Representative. Kraft further explained that if the county were to join the program, pay its share of the money and donate its share of the blood, the money saved from the first 78 pints used during the first year would pay the total yearly cost.

Any blood used in excess of the first 78 pints would realize a $20 savings per pint and if the county's blood usage is average, this could mean a potential savings of $12,098 that would be spent for something else within the county.

Editor: (Editor's Note: Morris Jeffries of Ranger has written the following letter to Tom Harmon of the American Broadcasting Co., concerning several ideas he has concerning the game of football.) Tom Harmon A.B.C. Broadcasting Co. New York, New York Dear Mr. Harmon: I am writing to you about a development which would rid the game of football of about forty or fifty minutes per game of needless delay. It may be that the idea is already registered in the Patent Office. I have not progressed to the point in proceedings to have the records searched. And, too, the scheme may not be subject to patent as all of its elements are already in use in one form or another.

The device is a three-seated electric tram car which moves up and down the sideline. The headlinesman takes the center seat flanked by a line captain from each team. A line captain may be one of two types of players — a first-line injured player or some smart kid who has never been particularly good at evicting big tackles. In the face of the car is a camera focused on a spot on the nose of the football. At the beginning of each series of downs the yard-meter is set on 0. The nose of the ball is kept in the eye of the camera on progressive downs. When the yard-meter reads 10 the opposing line captains are there to verify a first down. The down box is perched high above the car on a revolving support. In other words, I have paroled the chain gang.

The second device is an electric onic penalty computer. When a game official drops the flag and signals a particular type of infraction the headlinesman punches the following keys on the penalty computer: the down, the field position, the spot of the foul, penalty yardage and the yardage to be gained. The line captains are sitting with the official ready to read the options as they are spelled out. The third device snacks at science fiction. It is an electric tram and float that moves the bench up and down the

Shrinks Hemorrhoids Without Surgery Stops Itch — Relieves Pain

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all — results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in proprietary or statement form called Preparation 89. At all drug counters.

field thus keeping the coach on the line of scrimmage at all times. I am sure you remember running fifty and sixty yards to get into the ball game while the team stood in a ruptured huddle waiting for you to get there. And think of the travel time it would save the poor pros who shuffle into and out of the game with plays on every down.

Even if I had complete patent rights for all of these ideas I would be financially unable to defend myself in lawsuits. For that reason, and if you think the facts are newsworthy, I would appreciate your appealing to athletic directors, coaches, and managers to deal with the person who originated the idea. In return, I promise to deal only with manufacturers who will keep the items at the same price level of similar devices in other manufacturing processes.

I am writing to you because you are the only sportscaster I know who campaigns for ethical principles even though the position you take is not always a popular one. Even though they did not avail, I wish to thank you for soliciting prayers for the injured fighter.

Very truly yours, Morris Jeffries

This letter was from an old manuscript in a Monastery in Europe where it had lain for centuries. In some of the older communities of Europe its reading follows the washing of the feet of the poor on Good Friday in remembrance of Christ washing the feet of his Disciples.

A vocal duet was given by Linda Noth and Tawana Nicholas. They sang "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord?" Refreshments were served to the following: Mmes. W. F. Creager, T. J. Anderson, Arthur Deffebach, Richard Henderson, B. S. Dudley.

Thursdays, April 18 Mrs. James P. Morris will be guest speaker at the regular meeting of the 1920 Club, Thursday, April 18, 4 p. m. at the Community Club House. Mrs. John T. Roberson will be program leader for the program on Canada.

Thursdays, April 25 American Association of University Women will meet Thursday, April 25 instead of the regular meeting date, April 18. Mrs. Ted Nicksick will be hostess to the meeting. The program will be a panel on "Education in the Sky."

REGIONAL INTEREST IS SEEN IN COUNTY'S PECAN SCHOOL

The annual Eastland County Pecan Budding and Grafting School at Cisco Junior College on Thursday, April 18th is expected to attract participants from a dozen or more counties, according to Don Kincaid, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce in Cisco.

The Chamber of Commerce and County Agricultural Agents J. M. Cooper and Roger Blackmon are sponsors of the affair.

Beginning at 9:30 a. m. on that date with lectures and demonstrations, the group will move in the afternoon to the Ken Word pecan grove, three miles south in the Leon River bottom, for a practice session, according to plans given out by Kincaid.

The affair has been held annually in the county for the past six years. It is designed to interest more people in pecans and to teach them to improve their native seedling trees to some of the better papershell varieties especially those released by research stations in recent years.

Kincaid stressed that the school was free and also open to those from out of the county who wished to attend. Women as well as men are welcome he said.

A limited amount of dormant pecan budwood including some of the new varieties such as Wichita, Apache and also Burkett and Western Schley will likely be available to those desiring it.

C. Earnest Smith Pecan Growers President

C. E. (Ernest) Smith, Rising Star orchardist, was named as president of the Eastland County Pecan Growers Association at a meeting held recently in Cisco.

Smith operates an irrigated pecan and peach orchard southwest of Cisco and replaces Hank Sims of Eastland, who has served the organization's top post for the past several years. Sims was elected as vice president of the group and replaces Sam Kimmell of Cisco.

Ben McKinnis of Eastland, rural representative of the Texas Electric Service Co., was re-elected to serve as secretary and treasurer. He has a young pecan orchard in the Flatwood Community.

Directors named for a two-year term were W. V. Fenter of Rising Star and Joe Philpott of Cisco. Both have producing pecan orchards in the Romney-Rising Star area. They replace Edwin Schaefer, Cook, and Smith.

Date for the organization's annual Spring Field Day was set for May 24 with the morning session to be held in Cisco. After lunch, the group will visit some nearby orchard.

County Agent J. M. Cooper, McKinnis, and B. B. Freeman of Cheatey were named to make arrangements for the all-day meeting.

Farming Without Soil? It's Being Done Here

Farming without soil? It can't be done, you say? It is being done in Eastland County — and ironically, this most modern of farming methods is being carried on at one of the most historically significant locations in Eastland County.

C. L. Hash, 34-year-old Albany native, is growing stock feed "hydroponically" (without soil) on his farm on the banks of the old McGough Springs, seven miles southeast of Eastland.

The Springs in days of old, naturally attracted the first settlers to this area, and Hash's modern operations today may be the forerunner of farming methods of the future.

The venture is a joint undertaking by Hash and Bill McGough, a native of the county, now of Andrews.

McGough owns the land and the two young men are partners in the feed-producing, space-age style, operation.

Every day, Hash turns out a 1,000 pounds of high-protein, highly-platable feed. He uses four ingredients — Oat seeds, water, chemical fertilizer and "control".

He's had the plant in operation for six weeks and the present cycle of six days from seed to feed is proving to be a money-saver.

In an electrically-heated, thermostatically controlled 12 by 22 feet building, the trays of oat seeds grow to a seven-inch delicacy for stock in six days.

Temperature is kept at 68 to 72 degrees and with all the water inside the building, humidity is always high.

Saving? Well, Hash figures the feed is costing from $9 to $10 a ton, versus about $40 a ton for alfalfa hay or $20 for Johnson grass hay.

The facilities cost Hash $8,100 completely installed, and "You've got to have the stock to be fed to justify the expense," he says.

Right now Hash is feeding 20 head of cattle, 117 goats and 42 hogs from the automated project. The calves didn't like the oat shoots at first, but they learned.

Today they line up at the feeding trough as soon as Hash turns on the auger that takes the ground fresh feed from the building right into the pens.

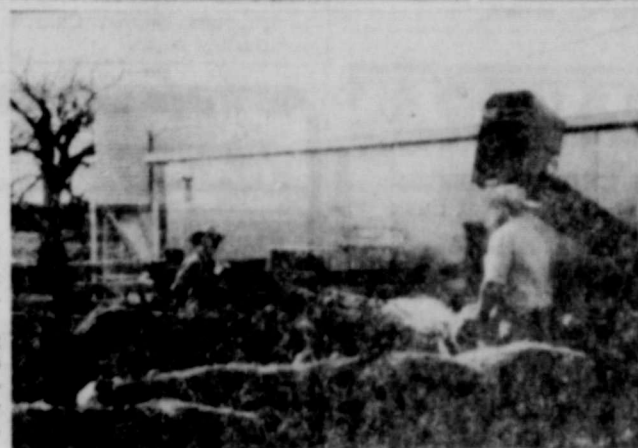

Every day Hash empties the "ripe" trays as feed, and refills them with 100 pounds of oat seeds. Chemical fertilizer is added to McGough Springs water, 225 gallons a day, and the pans are flooded automatically, from the top and soaking each in line.

Two "coffee dispenser size" dippers of the fertilizer are used daily. Analysis is 15 per cent nitrogen, four per cent phosphate and 33 per cent potash, and the fertilizer costs $7.50 for three pounds.

The finished feed has a 26 per cent protein content and other trace minerals which whet the appetite of the animals causing them to eat and gain from other, less rich food stuffs.

Hash and his wife, Beula Jo, have two children, Charla Jo, 3 and Mike, a Carbon High School fifth grader.

The amount of feed the plant produces, is equal to about that of a 100 acres of irrigated wheat pasture, Hash says.

MODERN FEEDING — Regularly 1,000 pounds of oat seeds are dumped into the bin at left. The seed is transferred into the low building at rear where the oats are grown "hydroponically" (without soil). The six-day-old oat shoots, ground and distributed from the spout (above C. L. Hash's head at right) into the cattle troughs. It's a composite feeding operation. At left, behind calves, County Agent J. M. Cooper. (Staff Photo)

DUMPING FRESH FEED — Eddie Swan, employe on the Hash ultra-modern farm, dumps a "tray" of six-day old sprouted oats which were grown hydroponically. The plants are about seven inches high, and are fed at this stage because research has shown that further growth reduces the food value content. The tender feed provides 26 per cent protein.

TUNA FIESTA

Tuna Fiesta, a complimentary and delicious bow to our Latin American neighbors, is a continental way of dressing your summer tables with an unusual Spanish flavor. Besides being nutritional, the dish is in keeping with Lenten fish dishes. Ingredients are 1/4 cup onion chopped, 3 T. green pepper, 1 can cream mushroom soup, 3 T. milk, 2 T. butter, 1 can tuna, 1 t. worchestershire sauce, 1 cup pimento, 1/2 T. grated cheese. Heat oven to 440, saute onion. Pepper in butter until tender. Add soup with milk, tuna and pimento and worchestershire sauce. Beat, pour into casserole, roll biscuit dough and spread with grated cheese and pimento. Serves about 6.

Women who cook electrically know...

Electric cooking SAVES WORK because it's flameless

There's less work keeping your kitchen clean when you cook with flameless electricity. An electric range makes this chore easier because it cooks with heat as clean as electric light. There's no fuel grime to soil pots and pans or settle on kitchen walls and curtains. Your kitchen stays bright and new-looking with a minimum of washing and care.

Flameless automatic electric cooking cuts down on needless hours of watching pots and clocks. With an automatic electric range, you just set the time and temperature controls and a complete oven meal cooks to perfection, unattended. And with the automatic electric surface unit, cooking temperatures remain constant, eliminating the need for pot-watching.

Electric cooking also is fast, cool, accurate and economical. See your dealer and change now to a 1963 flameless electric range. Electric cooking is one of the nicest things about living better... electrically.

END YOUR CONSTIPATION WORRIES
Now you can end your constipation worries once and for all. Put aside chemical laxatives, oils or bran-like roughage that may upset your system. Instead, take SERUTAN in a glass of water every day. SERUTAN is an all-vegetable laxative aid that provides the proper moisture, bulk and peristaltic stimulation you may need as you grow older—to promote daily regularity. This is entirely different from chemical laxatives. Prove it to yourself. Take SERUTAN as directed for at least one week. You must be well on the road to daily regularity or your money back from the maker.
