Fund Started for Leon Lakekeeper's Child

Haden Lee Johnson isn't very old — but when he's older he'll know that he has a lot of friends in Eastland.

Actually, Haden Lee is only seven weeks old, but for a boy so young, he's already had major surgery, and it is for this reason that friends — those who know him and some who don't — have started a special fund for him.

He's the son of Lake Leon Keeper and Mrs. James Johnson. Born Sept. 29, the tot's problems began with what was diagnosed at his six-weeks check-up as a birth defect and he underwent surgery at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene last Friday. His parents got to bring him home Sunday.

Haden Lee probably doesn't know much about the operation because it was compli-

Master Development Plan Okayed By Commission

The Ranger City Commission, in session last Thursday evening at City Hall, approved a proposed master development plan for Ranger and will submit a resolution for consideration of the Texas State Department of Health.

The project will cost $15,000, but two-thirds of that amount will be furnished from state and federal funds available for such purposes.

The master development plan was first presented to the City Commission during a meeting on Sept. 17.

The research and survey project will be supervised by Bruce Clark, planning and zoning consultant of Abilene, and Robert E. Hogan of Dallas, associated with Henningson, Durham & Richardson, nationally known engineering firm.

The city's share of financing the master development plan presents no problem, according to Mayor Morris Newnam, who added that funds for such purpose could be included in the city's budget.

In other action during the meeting the Commission approved the purchase of more city bonds at a discount and okayed payment of routine bills.

Here is an outline of the master development plan as was approved by the Ranger City Commission:

Team captains are Barbara Dawson for the Whites and Jan Watkins for the Maroons. Both are seniors.

The White team is composed of Cathy Rogers, Connie Gilbert, Sharon Brown, Kathleen Hudson, Elvera Renteria, Delia Camacho, Dorothy Ann Oliver, Debbie Johnston, Ruby Cole Celeste Scott, Jane Ann Bradford, Barbara Dawson, Patsy Stokes, and Nancy Vesle.

The girls are being coached by six very capable 1964 Bulldog gridmen: L. H. Pounds, Richard Lebrede, Jesse Renteria, tutoring the Whites and Ray Newnam, Johnny McGee, and Melton Kennedy piloting the opposing Maroons.

Cheering their teams on to victory will be Jerry Bov Wardien, Alberine Garcia, Don Hartfield, and Jerry Watson. Also Lee Ausburne, Don Buntton, Alec Garcia, and Mike Landroop.

Battle Jury Selection Is Long, 2-Day Prelude

Testimony got underway Wednesday morning in the Battle murder trial in 91 District Court after a long two days taken up the questioning of 44 potential jurors.

The 12th juror was qualified about 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Six were seated Monday and six Tuesday.

James Battle, 49-year-old Negro, is being tried for the July 4 slaying of Don Gonzales at the Little Gem Cafe in Ranger. Battle appeared in court accompanied by his wife and small daughter.

The death penalty is being asked — which made jury selection difficult. From an original list of 50 prospective jurors called for the case which began Monday, 24 were excused before the trial opened and attorneys began whittling the list of 26 remaining prospectives Monday. From that 26, these were seated: Mrs. B. H. Clifton of Eastland, James Reid of Eastland, Jack Whitehead of Cisco, Mrs. P. A. Cox of Eastland, Jerry Carter of Eastland and M. H. Perry of Eastland.

Sheriff Lee Horn brought in a list of 25 extra talesmen Tuesday morning (two of whom were excused) and attorneys began questioning.

Seated Tuesday were J. D. Parsons of Eastland, Alvy Taylor of Cisco, K. D. Butler of Eastland and C. L. Noble of Eastland, C. F. Coats of Cisco and C. A. Nance of Cisco.

District Attorney Earl Conner, Jr. is prosecuting and Eastland Attorney Bill Hart is defense attorney. Battle, through Hart, asked for and was denied a motion for continuance as the trial got underway Monday.

The defendant is charged with murder with malice aforethought and line of defense is self defense.

Jury questioning followed this pattern with prospectives on the stand some ten or 12 minutes: Have you read or heard about the case? Does the fact that a man has been indicted influence your thinking as to his guilt or innocence?

Do you believe a person to be innocent until proven guilty? Do you understand what murder with malice means? (Continued on Page Two)

Oil Museum Charter Is Due in Few Days

The charter for the proposed Texas Oil Museum is expected within a few days. Charles Fox, executive director of the Ranger project, said Wednesday.

An extensive report on progress on the project was presented to officers and directors of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce during the monthly meeting held at the chamber offices last Thursday night.

W. T. Eaton, president of the organization and chairman of the oil museum steering committee, Dewey Cox, local attorney and one of the incorporators seeking the charter, and Fox discussed various phases of the museum project. Cox said that the charter will set up an independent, non-profit corporation to organize, build and operate the museum.

In addition to the Texas Oil Museum, the chamber directors also heard committee reports, including plans for a Christmas season program sponsored by the C-C with the cooperation and support of the Ranger Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Present for the Thursday night session were Dr. W. P. Watkins, Pete Brasher, Dr. Theodore Nicksick Jr., Lee Cantrell, Jay Bethany, Joe Collins, Fox, Cox and Eaton.

ARTHRITIS PRODUCES PAIN DEFORMED JOINTS FOR MAN

Arthritis, says a new American Medical Association pamphlet, is a general word that includes several different but related illnesses. It comes from "arthros," meaning joint, and "itis," meaning inflammation.

The most common forms are rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis. They are different ailments, but each produces painful, deformed joints.

Rheumatoid arthritis is a disease of the whole body. Three times more common in women than in men, it usually begins when a person is between 20 and 35 years of age. Early symptoms may include weakness, fever, loss of appetite and loss of weight. The skin, especially the hands, may be cold and clammy. Mental depression is common, and the patient both feel and looks below par. On or more joints become inflamed and swollen.

An attack may begin with a gradually increasing discomfort, or a sudden, dramatic, confining illness, or anything in between. Attacks may come and go for no apparent reason.

Treatment reduces the pain of an acute attack and usually increases motion. Often an attack of pain in the joint will subside by itself. It usually returns. The quick capitalizes on this tendency of the disease to fluctuate. He claims credit for the treatment being used at a time when actually it is a period of natural remission.

Osteoarthritis is a quieter, less dramatic disease. However, when it does develop in a joint it is less likely to go away. Eventually the joint is injured, the smooth lining membrane and the cartilage pads are damaged and permanent changes within the joint limit its motion and make any motion painful.

Everyone will develop osteoarthritis if he lives long enough. It begins in middle age, usually in a hip, a knee, shoulder or in the back. Overweight people whose work requires standing or walking, thus over-burdening the knees and hips, are especially susceptible to osteoarthritis. Often it is first noticed after an injury to a joint.

Management of arthritis involves skilled medical supervision over a long time, rather than periodic dosing with pain killers or going to bed when one's joints hurt. The physician individualizes his treatment. It is common to prescribe drugs to reduce pain and inflammation. Exercise and physical therapy may be recommended. Weight control may be necessary. An arthritic patient often must learn new ways to do common daily tasks. Rest is essential at all times, even in the interludes between acute attacks of pain and swelling.

A person with rheumatoid arthritis or osteoarthritis has a problem that will be with him for life. He should develop a tolerant attitude toward his disability without surrendering to it, rather than exhaust himself fighting against it.

Because the more common forms of arthritis are chronic conditions that fluctuate from better to worse to better again, they are a favorite field for the quack and the nostrum peddler, says the AMA pamphlet.

regulations are observed, this year's deer season may spell disaster for a number of Texas hunters, says Wallace Klussmann, Extension wildlife conservation specialist, Texas A&M University. It's the "over-anxious" hunter who endangers the lives of fellow hunters and causes needless damage to wildlife.

Two-thirds of all hunting accidents are caused by humans in the line of fire, humans mistaken for animals and hunters not using the safety catch on their guns, points out Klussmann.

Among the rules of good hunting sportsmanship are using the proper caliber gun for the game, hunting only in season and bagging no more than the limit permits.

Thoughtful hunters are careful with fire, asserts the specialist. They never throw away a lit cigarette or leave a burning campfire, since either can start a destructive grass or forest fire. It is important to respect the rights of others and to obtain permission before going onto another's property. Treat all property as if it were your own and don't litter the countryside.

Handle every gun as if it were loaded, never carry a loaded weapon in an automobile and be sure the action and barrel are clear of any restriction, advises Klussmann. Carry the gun so you have control of the muzzle direction even if you should stumble, never pull the trigger until the target is sure and never point a gun at anything you don't intend to shoot.

Lastly, gun powder and alcohol don't mix. Klussmann urges hunters not to drink one for the road or for the woods, either. Follow these safety rules for an enjoyable hunting season and have a "bag full" of fun, says the specialist.

Fireside Fancies

Maxine Limbocker Patrick

Man's power of reasoning is the thin line that separates civilization from raw nature—yet, there are times that those lines become so strained. The far-off distant sound of a train, the honk of the leader goose guiding the trusting flock south at the proper seasonal time, the distant fainting hum of an airliner somewhere up there, the lights of a car fading into darkness late at night; these are the things that strain the binds of man's civilization.

So when you are restless and discontent, recall the wise words of Wilde; "Discontent is the first step in the progress of a man or a nation," and don't be afraid — maybe it is the stir of God within you.

Self preservation is still an accepted animal instinct, yet has to be so carefully guarded by society. Man is a social animal now and as an accepted rule, must adhere to the standards set down by society as a whole. One would perhaps feel the sting of guilt to admit that he felt restless with life at the sounds of a flock of wild geese or the sound of a distant train. This, to the mind of Society, would tend to indicate that this restless moment meant irresponsibility, selfishness, rebellion, wander-lust. But this doesn't really mean any of these things. It only means that man has taken the time to look out at nature or at the rest of the world for a moment and that it has stimulated his mind and soul. Show me a man, woman or child that hasn't felt such restlessness and I will show you someone who is incapable of being stirred emotionally.

Some of our most stable and successful men are some of our most restless ones. It takes restlessness to produce our great literature, music, inventions. A complacent mind can not turn out the greatest masterpieces. It takes restlessness to produce progress, and progress produces our rules of society — really, I guess, it all seems to go in a circle, but it is all needed to govern man.

Answer To A Universal Cry

THE CHRIST: "I AM THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD: HE THAT FOLLOWETH ME SHALL NOT WALK IN DARKNESS, BUT SHALL HAVE THE LIGHT OF LIFE... IF YE CONTINUE IN MY WORD, THEN ARE YE MY DISCIPLES INDEED; AND YE SHALL KNOW THE TRUTH, AND THE TRUTH SHALL MAKE YOU FREE."

Funeral for Carl William Hoffmann, 69, former mayor of Eastland and considered one of the pillars upon which the city was built, was held Tuesday at 3 p.m. at the First Methodist Church.

Officiating was Dr. Cyrus Barcus, pastor, and burial was in Eastland Cemetery under direction of Arrington Hamner Funeral Home.

Mr. Hoffman died at 4:30 p.m. Sunday at Eastland Memorial Hospital, which he had re-entered Saturday after having been at home for a short time following earlier hospitalization. He had been in ill health for several months.

His place of death was in the hospital to which he had devoted so much of his means and talents in building.

Born Aug. 6, 1895 in Nebraska City, Neb., Mr. Hoffman came to Eastland at the end of World War I and entered the oil business. He married Miss Bessie Hilton in Eastland Jan. 25, 1923.

He operated Hoffmann Drilling Co. and was in the oil producing business. He was a past president of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Producers Assn.

Mayor in Eastland prior to and during the early part of World War II, Mr. Hoffmann was cited just this past year by the Eastland Chamber of Commerce as one of the city's Most Outstanding Men.

A Mason and Shriner, he was a member of the Lutheran Church. Active in civic affairs in Eastland throughout his life here, Mr. Hoffmann was noted for his unselfish contributions to worthwhile projects in the city.

One of the wings of the Eastland hospital is affectionately known as the Hoffmann Wing because of Mr. Hoffmann's assistance in its construction. In late 1959, the year the wing was completed, the board of directors of the hospital issued the following statement regarding Mr. Hoffmann and his son, Bill's contributions:

"Though many volunteered their services and funds, without which the wing could not have been built, the largest part of the credit for that wing should go to Hoffmann and his father, C. W. Hoffmann. In addition to putting thousands of dollars of their own money into building materials, furniture and equipment, they brought their own crews to the hospital to do construction work, taking them from work that would have been profitable to the Hoffmanns personally. C. W. Hoffmann personally supervised the construction of the wing from early morning until late at night during each day of the construction job. No one else could have done or would have done the wonderful, unselfish job done by both Bill Hoffmann and C. W. Hoffmann."

Survivors include his wife; two sons, W. H. (Bill) and C. W. Jr., both of Eastland; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Gavrel of Fort Worth; one brother, Fred of Los Angeles, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Herman Richter of Nebraska City and Mrs. Berte Panke of New York City, N. Y.; and seven grandchildren.

Funeral bearers were R. L. King, Leonard E. Huckabay, Raymond Beck, Milton Hunt, Bill Walters, Bill Collings, Harold Evert and R. M. Sneed.

Ladies, a vote for gas is a vote for cooler cooking!

(down with hangover heat!)

Turn a gas burner off... and it's OFF! There's none of the hangover heat you find with electric ranges—wasted heat that causes boilovers and burned foods. Gas broiling is cooler, too, because you broil with the door closed. And it's smoke-proof broiling—(the flame consumes the smoke!) With gas your kitchen stays cooler and cleaner! Now's the time to elect a modern gas range to head up your kitchen: it's sale time!

"Presumptuous Sins" Is Topic At Bible Study

The Ladies Bible Class of the Mesquite and Rusk Church of Christ met Tuesday, at 10 a.m. for their weekly Bible study.

Gary Beauchamp, minister, taught the lesson which was entitled "Keep Me From Presumptuous Sins."

David, who often asked Divine aid in keeping his heart clean, prayed saying, "Keep back thy servant also from presumptuous sin," Psalm 19:1.

The lesson stressed that we might think what the presumptuous sins are; any time we set aside the authority of God and presume our way to be just as good, we become guilty of committing a presumptuous sin. Sin in any form or degree destroys spiritual beauty. The study on how to be beautiful could not be complete without this aspect of sin. We can also learn by the lives of others as in Numbers 20:7-12 when Moses smote the rock when God commanded him to speak to it. Genesis 4:25 when Cain presumed something else would be just as good and God rejected Cain's gift.

Cards were mailed to Mrs. Frances Elaine Jones of Lubbock, Mrs. C. S. Campbell, Mrs. Isabell Hilburn and Mrs. Myrtle Reddell, all patients in Ranger General Hospital; George Miller in Eastland Memorial Hospital, John Donowho in the Gorman Hospital, R. E. Ranching And Conservation Full Time Job For Fambro

Operating a 7,200 acre ranch and representing the farm and ranch people of Zone I of the Palo Pinto Soil Conservation District go hand-in-hand for Joe Fambro of Thurber. Fambro and his father, Alex Fambro of Breckenridge, have been operating the Twin Mountain ranch 12 miles south of Thurber since 1947, and Fambro credits his interest in conservation to his father, and the younger Fambro is keeping the tradition alive by teaching conservation to his 11-year old son, Alex. Since 1947 Joe has cleared 1,000 acres of brush from the ranch and has carried out essential practices such as deferred grazing and proper use of range grasses. Fambro has much of his native ranges in excellent condition.

All cow-calf, goat and sheep operations are carried on at Twin Mountain. Fambro uses his goats to help control oak sprouts as well as make them a paying operation. In managing his sheep, Fambro claims that they need to be rotated every six weeks to keep them from spot grazing. Fambro practices the principle that to clear brush in a pasture is not adequate. He also sets out 50 cents per acre per year for maintenance work. With this he controls mesquite sprouts as well as keeping up the remainder of the ranch. In the past two years Fambro has taken 80 acres of cropland and sodded it to coastal bermuda grass. He plans to use the coastal to relieve his native range pastures during the growing season. In the past Fambro has rested at least a third of the ranch every year. As the coastal improves with Fambro's management he will rest more of the land. "Resting a pasture is like putting money in the bank," Fambro says. Area farmers and ranchers can point with pride to their district representative for Fambro sets an example of not necessarily doing what I say do, but as I do.

Boatrights — Charles and Mary Jane, DeAnne and Dan, of Austin — met in Governor John Connally's reception room recently with a group of thirteen other families from across Texas. They watched the governor sign a proclamation of Christmas Seal Days in Texas. All the families had one thing in common — they had each experienced tuberculosis. Their purpose in meeting was to thank the governor for his efforts at bettering TB control in the state, and to watch him sign the proclamation. The Boatrights have been designated the 1964 Christmas Seal Family by the Texas Tuberculosis Association.

'Remember That Song' Musical Given By Tom Dills Of Dallas

Many memories of yesterday were brought to mind when Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dill of Dallas presented a musical at the Community Clubhouse, November 12, under the sponsorship of the 1920 Club of Ranger. Mrs. Mamie Ruth Hamrick welcomed the guests and introduced the artists, Mr. and Mrs. Dill. The Dills attended Birmingham Southern College in Birmingham, Alabama and studied music in New York City. They are well known soloists in the Dallas area. Ms. Dill is a mezzo soprano and Mr. Dill is a baritone soloist.

'Remember That Song' Musical Given By Tom Dills Of Dallas

Using the theme "Remember That Song," the Dills rendered a wonderful program of songs of years past as well as numbers which are currently popular. Among the many numbers presented were "The Sound of Music," "If I Ever Leave You," "Begin the Beguine," and "I Left My Heart in San Francisco." Mrs. Dill was her own accompanist at the piano, as well as accompanist for her husband. They sang a number of duets, as well as each singing solos. Len Karnes of Breckenridge, who was a member of the audience, accompanied the Dills in several numbers. The Dills conducted a sing song session with the audience which was enjoyed by all. The musical was presented as the 1920 Club's project for their scholarship fund which is awarded each year to a deserving student to Ranger Junior College.

If you're already planning your Thanksgiving menu, here are several ideas that can make this year's dinner just a little different. For an attractive centerpiece that's also good to eat, use two turkeys. There's such a variety of sizes now available that you can choose a pair of birds that are just the right size for your Thanksgiving dinner. Try fryer-roasters weighing from 4 to 9 pounds. There'll be more small birds available this year than last. Two turkeys lined up on a serving tray simply garnished with carrot curls and parsley will draw comments from even your youngest guests. Then, give them an added surprise — a different stuffing inside each bird. Bread stuffing is always a favorite. Or, you can start with this old reliable then let your imagination run wild — adding apples, chestnuts, giblets, oysters, sausage, even prunes. If you want to make a completely different dressing, try rice stuffing, a cranberry stuffing, or a cracker-custard filling. To set off the fine flavor of the turkey, serve a frozen salad of cranberries and frozen orange juice. Take a 6-ounce can of frozen orange concentrate, a can of cranberry sauce, 1/2 pint heavy cream, whipped, 1/4 cup of sugar and a pinch of salt. Put them all together and freeze in paper dessert cups or a decorative mold. For maximum food value in lettuce, look for heads with dark green leaves. Many easy care qualities mark the all-cotton simulated leather fabric on the market. An Italian textile technician "made a mistake" and created the new fabric. It was discovered when a silicone finish was applied to the napped surface of a cotton fabric.

The fabric has the luxury look and feel of real leather, but is water-repellent, comfortable, supple at temperatures from -40 degrees to 340 degrees Fahrenheit; crease resistant, and is dry cleanable or machine washable. It can be pressed safely on the treated or untreated side of the fabric at a woolen or steam setting. A report from the National Institute of Dry Cleaning indicates a minimum shrinkage, or less than 3 per cent; and some bleeding of the fabric. There was more bleeding in laundering than in dry cleaning.

Imported from Italy, Belgium, Spain and West Germany, the fabric is trademarked under the names of Aerpel, Cardoba, Haledora, Leatha-cotta, Leathakin and Wampelt.

A new commemorative stamp will salute American homemakers. The First-day ceremonies were held October 26 in Honolulu, Hawaii, in conjunction with the annual meeting of the National Extension Homemakers Council. The stamp also is a tribute to the 50th anniversary of passage of the Smith-Lever Act, which created the Federal Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This legislation opened the way to improved home life throughout America by providing women on better ways to feed and clothe their families. The National Extension Homemakers Council is made up of nearly 700,000 women, many of whom serve as local leaders to assist some 4,600 USDA home demonstration agents. The colorful 5 cent stamp simulates the needlework of a sampler. It shows a farm scene in which husband, wife and small son stand beside their horse watching their cows grazing peacefully. A deer and a pond of ducks complete the scene.
