

RANGER WEEKLY TIMES

RANGER, TEXAS, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1934

NUMBER 44

So much of New York lives in tall apartments, the night clubs alone won't accommodate the tenants if the elevator men's strike becomes city-wide.

Santa Claus decided to make an early trip this year to the Dionne quintuplets, so he'll be able to make it for all the rest of us on Christmas.

ONE IS KILLED IN ROBBERY AT GLADEWATER

GLADEWATER, Texas, Nov. 21.—One man was killed, another wounded critically, and two others hurt less seriously today when two brothers attempted to hold up a domino parlor.

"Foot" Matthews, well known oil field worker and a patron in the parlor, was wounded fatally when a stray bullet struck him in the back. He died 45 minutes after the shooting.

Claude Simmons, 26, who was with his brother, Clarence, when they attempted to hold up the domino players, was shot and wounded by a policeman. Clarence was captured.

The policeman and another domino player received minor wounds.

Food For Relief Clients Expected In Near Future

H. E. Driskill, county relief administrator, announced today that he was expecting a shipment of 108,000 pounds of Irish potatoes to arrive in Eastland at any time now. The potatoes are to be distributed among the relief clients in Stephens, Palo Pinto and Eastland counties.

Shipment of 4,500 pounds of butter has been received and an additional 4,500 which will complete the allotment for this section, is to be trucked from Abilene today.

An allotment of 5,000 pounds of rice is also expected before long. Mr. Driskill announced and it is hoped that a supply of pinto beans can also be secured.

There will be no more flour for distribution, he said, as the entire quota for Eastland county has been used up.

Federal Officers Begin Big Drive On Illegal Liquor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The treasury began today its biggest liquor enforcement drive since repeal of prohibition.

Its goal was the drying up of 20 states which still have anti-liquor laws. Texas was included in the list.

The program involved rigid collections of federal taxes in a roundup of thousands of liquor dealers in dry states who have not paid their excise duties in full. In this manner the government expects to obtain new revenue and aid dry states in driving out illicit sales of liquor.

Former Oil Man At Eastland Is Buried Tuesday

Funeral services for John Molarky, former Eastland resident, were held in Cleveland, Okla., on Tuesday, where he had been ill six weeks prior to his death.

Mr. Molarky is identified in Eastland for his association in the oil business several years ago. He, with his wife, were members of the Presbyterian church at Eastland.

His wife and one brother survive.

Dove Killed After Long Migration

BEEVILLE, Tex.—A dove that had been branded in Fargo, N. D., on August 2, was shot by Oscar Fox of Skidmore.

The bird had been branded in Fargo by H. G. Heggeness, Fargo, while it was still a fledgling. The bird was killed about two months after it had been branded.

Oil Producers of Texas File Appeal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Texas oil producers, challenging the validity of the national industry recovery act, today filed with the supreme court briefs in their appeal which will constitute the first test of national emergency legislation to come before the tribunal.

Arguments to be made before the court next month will follow in general the outline established by the brief.

Driskill Speaks at Rotary Meeting On Subject of Relief

H. E. Driskill, county relief administrator, was the principal speaker at the Rotary club program Wednesday, and presented a talk with some interesting figures about relief in Eastland county.

He said that when he came to Eastland county on Feb. 10, 1934, the county was receiving $19,000 monthly, but that in April this had been reduced to $5,000, which was inadequate for the needs of the county. There was much criticism at that time, he pointed out, which was justified under the circumstances.

He immediately went to work to secure more for the relief clients and figured out that by working more men more money could be secured. The allotment to the county is now much higher than it was in the early months of this year.

There are now $54,000 in projects submitted for the county, of which $32,987 have been approved and they are still working on the others.

The relief office has tried to show no favoritism and has worked for each community alike. There are now 1695 men and 175 women on the relief rolls of the county who are willing to work.

A project for Ranger, he said, was being submitted, which would require 51 men to build a new road and would cost $1,835. A toy project here at present is working five men and a number of men are working on the auditorium, for which an allotment of $4,447 was secured through much work on the part of those sponsoring it in Ranger and the relief administrator.

He said that he was not entirely satisfied with the ruling about hospitalization for relief clients in this county, and was still working on it trying to get Eastland county on the approved list.

The Rotarians appreciated his explanation of the various phases of the relief work and urged him to come back as often as possible. Mr. Driskill expressed his appreciation for the spirit of cooperation he had found in the county, and said that it was largely due to this cooperation that he was able to accomplish some of the things he has done.

Youths Confess To Slaying And Several Thefts

WACO, Texas, Nov. 21.—McLennan county officers today took written statements from two Hill county youths who reportedly confessed the slaying of one man, the kidnaping of three others and a woman and the theft of several automobiles.

The youths, Joe Averett, 28, and Roy Curry, 26, surrendered last night after four days of desperate flight. They confessed they robbed and then killed Malcolm Stewart of Katy, former Baylor university student.

H. C. Davis Elected To Officership In Credit Association

H. C. Davis, secretary of the Eastland Retail Merchants Association and Chamber of Commerce was elected vice-president of the West Texas district of the state retail merchants association at Abilene Monday. C. R. Pennington of Abilene and Idallia Robertson of Breckenridge were elected president and secretary, respectively.

Others who attended from the vicinity were Miss Idallia Robertson, Breckenridge; Miss Eva B. George, Ranger; and Miss Rachel Pennington, Eastland.

Representation from the following towns were recorded: Ft. Worth, Ranger, Eastland, Mineral Wells, Sweetwater, El Paso, Winters, Stamford and Breckenridge.

Court's Routine In 1875 Now Known as Epochal Points

Minutes of the Eastland county court in 1875 are in a well preserved form in the county clerk's office. Reports of the body were written in large fancy writing, no typewriters were possessed by the county in that date.

In the book of the minutes of the body is recorded the order authorizing removal of the county court from Merriam to another location.

The present location, then what was described as the Retts survey, won in the ballot casting. Sixty-nine votes were cast in the present location's favor.

One order of the court described the action the body would take in re-organization of Callahan county. The county was then attached to Eastland county for judicial purposes.

Another order authorized a prepared survey of a road to Albany. Names of persons who are remembered as pioneers appear frequently in the minutes of that year. Connelley, Daugherty and Ammerman, a firm in that date, appeared numerous times in the records. Three streets in Eastland bear the name of one of the trio.

H. S. Schmick was sheriff at that time, and a Hale initials not clear in the book, was county judge.

RESULTS ARE CLAIMED FOR THE NEW DEAL

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Pointing to "substantial results" in the national recovery program, President Roosevelt today told the American Conference of Mayors that "it is through teamwork of all governmental units that victory may be attained."

The president's message, predicting action by the next congress on further relief for the unemployed and aged, was brought to the municipal executives by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of New York.

"It is undoubtedly true," the president said, "that the coming session of congress will give further attention to proposals involving unemployment relief, unemployment insurance, public works, old age pensions and housing, all of which vitally affect the city government."

"I cannot say what final action congress will take on these subjects, but I assure the government is anxious to work effectively and cooperatively on all of these common problems."

The Bolivians captured Fort Senator Long from the Paraguayans in the Gran Chaco, making this the first defeat Huey has felt since the last session of congress.

TEX-LA POWER ORGANIZATION GETS HEARING

FORT WORTH, Nov. 21.—Re-organization of the bankrupt Texas-Louisiana Power company moved a step nearer today when a hearing was set here in federal district court for Dec. 1.

Bayler I. Agerton, special master in chancery, filed a report with the United States district court which will be taken up at the hearing. Agerton approved the re-organization plan with modification.

The plan proposes issuance of $7,000,000 in 5 per cent bonds to replace the present issue. In addition, each bondholder is to receive a share of new common stock for each $100 in bonds. Other claimants are to get one-third of a share for each $100 owed them.

If the federal judge favors the re-organization plan, he will issue a re-organization order after the court hearing.

MOTHER KILLS HERSELF AND HER DAUGHTER

DALLAS, Nov. 21.—A despondent mother today clashed her five-year-old daughter to her and lay down in an overflowing bath tub. Both were drowned.

Justice of the Peace E. J. Baldwin returned a verdict of homicide and suicide. The dead were Mrs. M. E. Meade, 32, wife of a telephone company employe, and her daughter, Marian.

The pajama-clad bodies, completely submerged, were discovered when the management of the apartment house where the tragedy occurred went to investigate the sound of running water.

Interest, Penalty Not on Taxes of Eastland County

The county tax collector has been authorized by the commissioners court that taxes on delinquent property shall be accepted without penalty and interest.

The order should be construed as to apply to state taxes, County Judge C. L. Garrett stated. The burden of the taxpayer should be lightened considerably by the move, the judge said.

Circuit Rider Is Again Transferred

Rev. Ephraim D. Conway, who for the past year has been circuit rider of the Ranger circuit of the Methodist church, has been transferred to the Bula circuit of the Plainview district. He left Tuesday afternoon to assume his new duties.

At the annual conference held last week he was transferred to the Sipe Springs circuit, and filled his appointment Sunday at the Sipe Springs church, later receiving word that he was being transferred to the Plainview district.

Cotton Reduction Signers Receive Rental Payments

Over $7,000 was distributed through the county agent's office Tuesday and Wednesday to cotton reduction signers, County Agent J. C. Patterson announced.

The payment was the second rental payment. Distribution was made at Rising Star, Cisco, Gorman, Carbon and Ranger. Another payment is expected soon.

Respiration Is Administered to Resuscitate Babe

The grim reaper with heat-easily Wednesday morning in Eastland when efforts of artificial respiration on a two-month-old babe were successful.

The baby, riding in a car with six Hieks residents, enroute to Anson, was thrown from the automobile when it slipped from the wet pavement into a ditch southwest of Eastland on the Carbon highway.

A large portion of the automobile, bottom side up, was encased in mud. A night watchman from the highway department warehouse heard the accident and aided the party.

Women in the party were frantic and crying. The baby, stuck in the mud, was taken from its unpleasant position feet first. Only after a laborious respiration effort at a nearby house by the group was its condition normal. The party continued their journey to Anson at about 2:30 when another car was procured.

Houston Hotel Safe Is Robbed

HOUSTON, Nov. 21.—The office safe of the Ben Milam hotel was looted here today by four men of $10,000 in unregistered negotiable Liberty bonds belonging to G. H. Hamilton, resident of the hotel and an employe of the Missouri Pacific railroad.

The quartet, armed with rifles and a pistol, entered the hotel early this morning and forced six employes to lie down back of the lobby desk while they took $350 from the cash drawer and then plundered the safe in which guests had left their valuables.

Connally to Be Banquet Speaker

MINERAL WELLS, Nov. 21.—United States Senator Tom Connally will discuss possibilities of the Brazos river development project at the annual banquet of the Mineral Wells Chamber of Commerce Nov. 26, it was announced today.

The banquet will be open to the public and one of the largest crowds in the history of the local organization is expected.

Circuit Rider Is Again Transferred

Rev. Ephraim D. Conway, who for the past year has been circuit rider of the Ranger circuit of the Methodist church, has been transferred to the Bula circuit of the Plainview district. He left Tuesday afternoon to assume his new duties.

At the annual conference held last week he was transferred to the Sipe Springs circuit, and filled his appointment Sunday at the Sipe Springs church, later receiving word that he was being transferred to the Plainview district.

Insull Attorneys Denounce Federal Prosecution Basis

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Attorneys for Samuel Insull and his 16 associates today turned down pleadings of innocence to bitter attacks on tactics of the prosecution.

J. F. Reese, counsel for four of the main fraud defendants, told the jurors the government "has done an excellent job of prosecuting a case built on misrepresentation."

BROWNWOOD LIONS TO PLAY BULLDOGS HERE ON FRIDAY

Brownwood's scoreless Lions will invade Lillard field Friday afternoon at 2:30 in an effort to shove off an Oil Belt record, possibly a Class A high school record. The Lions will be trying to break the jinx that has kept them from scoring all year, either in practice games or in district contests.

Or the Lions may be trying to maintain the jinx they have held in some seasons, over the Bulldogs. Never has Ranger gone into a Brownwood game as the underdog, but they have come out at the tail end of the score on several occasions after the Lions had made a poor showing in every other district contest of the season.

The Brownwood jinx does not work every year. In fact it just works now and then when least expected. And comparative scores mean nothing to the Lions.

Back in 1931 the jinx did not operate successfully, though they did play a closer game against Ranger than they did against the other teams. That year they lost to Breckenridge 34 to 0, lost to Abilene 34 to 6, lost to Cisco 22 to 0 and to the Bulldogs 21 to 0.

However in 1932 their jinx reigned once more. They lost to Breckenridge 18 to 13, to Abilene 20 to 6 and to Eastland 34 to 7, but tied the Bulldogs, who had defeated those teams by anywhere from three to 21 points.

Brownwood's record is not any more impressive this year than in the past, but they still have that potential threat and should put up a good scrap against the Bulldogs, particularly since they have much at stake, as it is reported that they must score Friday or be denied their football letters.

Then, too, the Lions may prove to be an excellent team in the mud, while the Bulldogs have yet to prove their ability on a wet field, so it is possible that the condition of Lillard field might make the two teams more evenly matched than has been expected.

The scores by which the Lions have been defeated this season are as follows:

Brownwood
0—Thomas Jefferson 8.
0—Comal 0.
0—Polytechnic 50.
0—Cisco 14.
0—Breckenridge 13.
0—Abilene 26.
0—Eastland 29.

This will be the last game of the season for the Lions unless they

Morton Valley PTA Met November 15

Mrs. Josie K. Nix, publicity chairman of the Morton Valley Parent-Teacher association, submitted following as the report of the group's Nov. 15 meet:

Weimes, Andrew Beck, Foy James, Carl Davis, Charles Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Orby Ranseover.

Little Water Caught In Hagaman Lake

In spite of the fact that Ranger has had a large amount of rain in the past week there has been very little of it that found its way into Hagaman lake.

The city water department reported today that a total of only about three inches had been caught in the lake because most of the rain soaked into the ground. The rain, coming as it did in brief showers, which allowed it to sink into the ground, did much to give moisture to the soil but did not run into the drainage ditches that feed the lake.

It was estimated that the supply of water impounded in Lake Hagaman would be about enough for one week's supply under the present conditions and at the present rate of consumption.

Babe Didrickson Is Winner at Golf

FORT WORTH, Nov. 21.—Mildred (Babe) Didrickson, 1932 Texas Olympic track star, turned in a dazzling performance here today to win her first round match in the Fort Worth Women's Golf association tournament.

Then Babe eliminated Miss Nell Moody, Sherman, 4-5, shooting a 31 on the front nine, despite a high wind, and closing out the final six holes in two over men's par.

Mrs. Vanderbilt to Appeal from Court Ruling About Child

Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt received part of her 10-year-old daughter's $4,000 a month income may be reconsidered as a result of the court decision placing little Gloria in the custody of her aunt.

The court decision, making Gloria a ward of the state, placed her in the custody of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, except for weekends, the month of July and Christmas Day. Mrs. Vanderbilt is hoping to appeal the decision.

Olden P. T. A. Is Entertained By Mrs. Anderson

The Parent-Teacher association of Olden was entertained at the home of Mrs. Anderson, Wednesday, Nov. 14. A lovely powder bowl was to be presented Mrs. Richards, past president of the association, but illness prevented her from being present.

Interesting games were enjoyed by all. Refreshments of sandwiches, pickled pears, cake and cocoa were served to the following: Mrs. Eldler, Huddleston, Timmons, Nix, White, Cox and Fowler, and Misses Olga McCoy, Annie Allmon, Eunice Hamilton and Nan Timmons, and little Sue Marine Cox, and hostess, Mrs. Anderson.

Penney Store Burns At Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, Nov. 21.—The busiest fire loss in the history of Wichita Falls resulted today when flames swept the J. C. Penney department store, causing damage estimated at $250,000.

Jack Davis Called To Join the Navy

Jack Davis, son of Mrs. F. D. Hicks, received notice this morning to report at Dallas on Dec. 11, from which place he will leave for San Diego with a number of other young men to join the U. S. Navy. Jack passed the examination in June and has been waiting for the call since that time.

American Telephone Declares Dividend

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Directors of the American Telephone & Telegraph company today declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2.25 a share, involving a distribution to more than 600,000 stockholders of nearly $42,000,000.

14-YEAR-OLD YOUTHS PROUD OF DAUGHTER

FORT WORTH, Nov. 22.—A 14-year-old wife put aside her paper dolls today and assumed the life-sized responsibilities of rearing her own baby—her own child.

The baby, a 5½-pound girl, was "doing nicely" as the adoring young mother, Mrs. Pauline Mullins, cuddled it closely and made great plans for its life.

The father, Bert Mullins, also only 14, was well pleased with his new daughter, but he had hoped "it would be a boy."

Mrs. J. R. Nosh, mother of Mrs. Mullins, said the young couple was married last April, leaving school when the husband was in the seventh grade and the wife in the fifth.

TESTIMONY IS TAKEN UP IN DOGGETT TRIAL

Testimony of state witnesses in the trial of Clifford Doggett, charged with the murder of L. F. Threest, rancher, near Cisco, slain on Aug. 15, continued in 88th district court at Eastland Thursday. Juror selection was completed late Wednesday afternoon and taking of testimony commencing immediately.

Testimony of Cisco officers took up the majority of the morning court hours Thursday morning.

Joe Wilson, Cisco Justice of Peace, Said He Investigated Threest Case After Hearing of Incident

Joe Wilson, Cisco Justice of Peace, said he investigated the Threest case after hearing of the incident. He said after arriving on Threest property he found a parked car and Threest's body lying at the side. Near Threest's body was a bloody pallet and blood-stained floor slacks. Examination of Threest disclosed two wounds, apparently gunshot, Wilson stated. Examination of the car by which Threest was laying produced 30-30 caliber cartridges, Wilson said. Also found several .22 calibre rifle shells. Wilson took Threest to the Graham Sanatorium in Cisco, the witness said.

O. Gustafson, Cisco policeman, told jurors of going with Clifford Doggett's son, Earl, to an empty lot in Cisco where the son of the defendant took $120 from a tractor. The money was counted and $120 was the sum. Gustafson said.

Dr. E. L. Graham, owner of the Cisco hospital where Threest was taken, brought forth numerous photographs by Doggett's attorney, J. Frank Sparks. The majority of the objections concerning Graham's testimony were overruled by Judge B. W. Patterson, presiding judge.

Graham testified that Threest had been brought to his hospital at about 3 in the afternoon on Aug. 15 and died on the morning following.

Graham told of removing Threest's brain. He told of removal of rifle bullet from near the substance of Threest's brain. The wounds in Threest's head, Graham said, were located near the center of the head. One of the wounds broke the skull, the doctor said.

Arrest of Doggett was made by J. B. Hicks, Cisco constable, according to testimony delivered by the officer under state interrogation. The officer said that he and Clarence Noryk, Callahan county deputy sheriff, drove up to a grocery store outside Cisco, Doggett and his son, Earl, were starting to drive away. The two officers took the party to the Cisco jail. No arrest was made at that time. Doggett's son left after he was brought to the hall. According to testimony of Hicks, Earl left and was not seen until the following day.

Mary Lou Howell, co-defendant, who will eventually be tried on the charges in connection with the death of the aged rancher, was a spectator in the courtroom.

Wednesday J. J. Mott, Cisco tourist camp operator, testified that on the night of Aug. 14, Mary Lou Howell and Doggett came to his camp.

Jurors in the case are: I. N. Hart, Northwest Eastland; J. H. McKinney; G. M. Harris; Eastland; E. F. Jackson, Carbon; Arthur Bennett, Gorman; W. V. Whitley, Ranger; Lon Meador, Carbon; W. E. Conwell; J. E. Mosely, Ranger; J. E. Ramsey, Pleasant Hill; R. W. Fullington, Eastland; and Bob Boucher, Gorman.

J. E. Black, district attorney of Shackelford, Taylor and Callahan counties, who handled prosecution of Doggett at Baird is assisting Criminal District Attorney Grady Owen for the state. Owen aided Black at Baird when Doggett was given 99 years for robbery with firearms.

New Manager Will Take Charge of the Mattress Factory

H. E. Driskill, county relief administrator, has announced that J. A. Cameron, an experienced mattress factory man, will take charge of the mattress factory in Eastland, which is operated by the relief office. Cameron will take charge Friday morning of this week.

There are 18 men and 12 women employed in the factory, which has made up, or is to make, mattresses for the surrounding counties. The allotments of mattresses for counties in this area is as follows: Callahan county, 175; Comanche county, 100; Brown county, 100. For Eastland county 56 have been delivered and 144 more are to be made up and distributed.

Wild, Woolly West Has Tamed Down

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex.—The wild and woolly West has at last tamed down.

There still may be many people here who are handy with their shooting irons, but W. L. Knight, it appears doesn't know how to handle his.

The story goes that recently Knight, who purchased a German pistol to protect his home, was awakened when someone flashed a light through his bedroom window.

Knight drew the gun on the prowler but he had trouble with the safety catch and couldn't make it fire. He finally gave up and shouted to frighten the prowler away.

After the prowler had fled, Knight released the catch and the gun discharged accidentally, blowing a hole in the ceiling.

QUANAH, Texas, Nov. 22.—Coach Dan Stallworth has announced that the Quanah Indians' invasion of Cisco, scheduled for Friday, had been definitely called off.

However, Cisco will still get a crack at a District 5 team, as Coach Joe Gibson of Childress has stepped forward to claim the game. The Oil Belt aggregation will journey to Childress for a contest to be played Friday night.

With this change in the schedule, Quanah is in no big hurry to start preparations for the Thanksgiving Day tussle with Eastland, also of the Oil Belt.

MINGUS

Special Correspondent

Misses Laverne and Ernestine Andreatta and Misses Lena and Elsie Meneghetti of Mingus were Strawn visitors Sunday evening.

Boyd Hart, Oland Calvert, Misses Ernestine and Laverne Andreatta and Oscar Roberson attended the show at Thurber Wednesday night.

Geno Meneghetti and Floyd Haynie of Mingus were visitors at the home of Miss Vanga Bee Mayers of Strawn Saturday evening. The Home Demonstration club had its last meeting in the home of Mrs. H. S. Duke. The program was on "The Origin of Thanksgiving," and a well balanced Thanksgiving menu and suitable decorations. Several of the members gave their ideas on Thanksgiving Day that would be a pleasure to the entire family. The meeting also had its election of officers for the year 1935, as follows: Mrs. L. F. Simons, president; Mrs. Bert Viean, vice president; Mrs. A. R. Fletcher, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. L. F. Simons and Mrs. L. S. Waddington, council members; Mrs. L. S. Waddington, reporter; Mrs. H. S. Duke, pantry demonstrator; Mrs. A. R. Fletcher, wardrobe demonstrator No. 1; Mrs. J. T. Spratt, wardrobe demonstrator No. 2; Nell Bogguss, canning demonstrator.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Dixon of Ranger spent Saturday night and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Duke.

Miss Evelyn Tucker, teacher at Dodson Prairie, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Tucker.

F. H. Hill and son and daughter, Wilbur and Geenie, made a trip to Kerrville, to see his oldest son, Ernest, who has been confined in a hospital there for some time.

Tom Davis, who has been ill for the past week, is able to be up.

The Home Demonstration club has been asked to meet with our county demonstration agent, Miss Pauline Lackey, on Friday, Nov. 23, in Mingus, at a building in town to be instructed on how to make old mattresses into new ones. Every member is urged to be there and others if interested in this line of work.

Mrs. F. H. Hill and daughters, Sue and Genie Hill and Mrs. Nell Bogguss and Mrs. Harper Spillars, made a trip to Cisco Friday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Hill's sister, Mrs. Bill Parsons, of Brownwood.

Clarke Adds Wrecker to Large Equipment

Clarke's Radiator and Repair Shop, located on Rusk street, has added a wrecker to its regular equipment and is now ready to answer any calls where wrecker service is needed.

W. H. Clarke, proprietor of the repair shop, has been adding equipment regularly for the past year and is now prepared to do all kinds of body work, taking a completely wrecked car and rebuilding it to look like new.

He has just recently added a large lathe to his equipment, with which he is able to do many kinds of jobs on automobiles and can make many body parts needed in rebuilding wrecked cars.

PARKING SPACE LACKING
KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Jackson county has built a modern skyscraper county building, replete with all the latest gadgets and the usual "breakproof" county jail on the top floors, but it hasn't provided parking space for those who will have business at the building. The new $4,000,000 structure, which will be opened next year, is in the heart of the business district, where parking already is a major problem, and traffic directors are wondering how they will meet the increase in cars when the county begins transacting business at the new site.

TRY A WANT AD.

Magnolia Is Now Washing Their Oil

DALLAS.—Fred M. Lege, Jr., vice president and director of sales promotion of the Magnolia Petroleum company, announced today that after long experiment and tests Socony-Vacuum and Magnolia have developed a new method of making motor oils by washing crude petroleum. The new process is very much like the method a woman uses to take stains out of fabrics. Instead of stains, crude petroleum contains sulphurs, gums, shudges, tars that must be refined out to produce lubricating oil.

"Two cleaning fluids, or solvents," Mr. Lege explained, "are used in this new method. One is a substance called chrysolic solution. The other is propane, a liquid many degrees below zero. Propane is a gas under compression turns to an icy liquid.

"Four these two substances into crude petroleum and the result is very like settling the dirt to the bottom of a glass of water. The chrysolic solution dissolves and settles the impurities in the petroleum. The propane absorbs the lubricating particles of the oil.

"The clear mixture is propane-oil which is drawn off. When this warms up to room temperature, the propane bubbles off in the form of gas, leaving a motor oil much superior to any other oil," Mr. Lege said.

Mr. Lege said this new method of refining motor oil would doubtlessly alter the entire method of present day refining as it produced "an oil so superior as to save millions of dollars for motorists."

Those savings include less oil consumption, less carbon deposit, more gasoline mileage. This new type of oil virtually eliminates carbon in the cylinders as shown by 86,000 miles of test running. At the conclusion of these tests, the pistons of the test cars were clean of carbon.

"This new method of refining oil," Mr. Lege added, "is of great conservation value. Many sections of the country have been handicapped as oil producers because the crude petroleum they produced did not refine sufficiently by the old sulphuric acid process. With propane refining, these petroleum can be converted into the finest of oils."

Relief Clients to Get Relief On the Hoof

CENTER, TEXAS, Nov. 20.—Relief clients here will receive some federal aid on the hoof.

Three hundred goats are being shipped out of Austin and will be given to the destitute. The goats are to be slaughtered, the hides dried and returned to relief officials to prove that the animal has been used for food.

CURT CROOK NO TIME-WASTER

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — Martin Chaplick, suspected holdup man, wasted no effort or talk, his victim, Hyman Shultan, told police. According to Shultan, the robber walked into his store while he was waiting on a customer, opened the cash register and without giving previous indication of his purpose, emptied the till. Shultan, momentarily stunned by the brazenness of the act finally regained his speech and demanded, "What are you doing?" The robber shook a short piece of rubber hose under his nose and tersely replied, "Who wants to know?"

EX-SLAVE, 88 YEARS OLD, IS DEAD

ATCHISON, Kan.—"Aunt Sally" Dalton, born in slavery on Christmas Day, 1846, and who, before she was freed, was given as a wedding present and sold to raise funds for a printing press, was buried here recently. "Aunt Sally" was brought to Missouri from Kentucky by Silas Woodson, early day Missouri Governor. Woodson sold her to Isaac Posegate, a gunsmith, for $700, and Posegate gave her to his brother, Frank Posegate, editor of the St. Joseph Gazette, as a wedding present. When Posegate needed a new press he sold Sally to help raise needed funds. In later years Aunt Sally worked for Fay Templeton, the actress.

FASCISM IN UNITED STATES IS NEGLIGIBLE

(Copyright 1934 by United Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The fascist movement in the United States is at present negligible, a United Press survey revealed today.

In various parts of the country were found small groups advocating principles similar to the fascism of Mussolini and Hitler. Also there were several groups organized along fascist lines whose publicized purpose is to safeguard "the government against communism and protect the constitution."

The survey was undertaken following the charges of Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler that he had been approached by Wall Street interests to lead an army of 500,000 men to Washington and replace President Roosevelt with a fascist dictatorship.

Two Teams Close In Bowling Contest

A team of bowlers headed by Floyds Killingsworth defeated a team headed by Bob Burns Wednesday night at the Ranger bowling alleys by a small margin, both teams running up high scores.

It was announced today that weekly tournaments would be held and that it was expected several teams would be organized. Floyd Killingsworth rolled high score for both teams, with H. H. Vaughn being second high.

The score of the matches was as follows:

B. Burns 133-147-138-419
H. H. Vaughn 148-125-178-461
Sam Thompson 153-168-104-425

France to Increase 1935 Armaments

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Charges that German armaments had been increased resulted in the chamber of deputies army commission voting an appropriation of $25,000,000 for defense, it was announced today.

The appropriation is for the 1935 budget.

During her school days, Carole Lombard, Paramount star, won two athletic medals, one for supremacy in sprinting and the other for winning the board jump.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks queer, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly smart and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just stays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, indigestible and your breath is foul. You often break out in pimples. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Remember a substitute. 25¢ at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

While the Brontosaurus browsed in OKLAHOMA

Millions of years ago—even before the ancient Brontosaurus lived—Nature formed the Cambro-Ordovician oil pool in Oklahoma. Today this oldest of Mid-continent crudes is piped to the great Sinclair refineries where it is refined, blended, de-waxed, freed from petroleum jelly and made into Sinclair Opaline—a product resulting from 80 million years of filtering and mellowing. Try a crankcaseful of Sinclair Opaline—note how it stands up in the heat of fast driving. Note especially at draining time how little oil has been used up—positive, visible proof of protection for the last mile as well as the first!

Three Newcomers on Wrestling Card at Elks Arena Monday

Ollie Altman, 154-pound headliner in wrestling, who is a protégé of the once-famous Farmer Burns, will be in the semi-final match at the Elks arena Monday night, it has been announced. Altman hails from Omaha, Neb., and his first match in Texas will be in Ranger.

He meets Rex O'Sullivan, 152-pounder of Kansas City, who has been going strong around his home town and will be able to take care of himself against anyone anywhere near his weight.

On the main event will be seen match for the best two out of three falls for a two-hour time limit, and will bring together Jim Sabe, the Terrible Turk, who last Monday night defeated Frank Simmons in the main event. He meets another newcomer, who is from Roswell, N. M., Ken Gaston, 136-pounder. Gaston has a reputation of being the best leg artist in the wrestling game and has defeated some of the best.

Gaston takes the place of Pogi, who was booked for Monday night, but could not fill his engagement because he is in a hospital in El Paso.

There will be plenty of action in both of these matches, as these men come well recommended. The show will start promptly at 8 o'clock instead of 8:30, which has been the starting time for the past few months.

Famous Train Wreck Staged As a Spectacle

WACO, Nov. 19.—An old newspaper clipping here relates the details of one of the most famous train wrecks in the United States. It was pre-arranged and occurred in September, 1897, half-way between Waco and West on the Missouri-Kansas & Texas line.

W. G. Crash, prominent railway executive, planned the wreck as a promotion scheme, and except for the tragic results it was a tremendous success.

People came from all parts of Texas and from other states to witness the strange catastrophe.

One man was killed, another lost an eye and several were injured seriously.

Two old engines and a dozen freight cars were used and as the two locomotives and cars loaded with crossties thundered down the hill at more than 60 miles an hour, over 30,000 people were on hand to witness the crash.

When they collided clouds of steam rose into the air and bits of steel and wood were thrown in all directions.

Ernest Dorell of Bremond suffered a fractured skull when a fragment hit him. He died that night.

The Katy spent $20,000 in staging the event and ran several special trains to accommodate persons who came to see the collision.

Back Home and Still Boss

Back with the team with which he first won fame as the "boy manager," Stanley (Bucky) Harris signs the papers that again make him skipper of the Washington American League baseball club, as President Clark Griffith beams approvingly. Harris steered the Senators from 1924 to 1928, the outfit winning the world series in his initial year at the helm and capturing a pennant in the second. Harris went to Detroit in 1929, staying there five years, and guided the Boston Red Sox in 1934. It is reported that Joe Cronin, whom Harris succeeded at the capital and who replaced him in the Hub, insisted that he be taken care of before consenting to the $150,000 deal that brought about the switch.

General Foods Will Give Pensions to Its Old Employees

Assurance of old age retirement incomes is given General Foods employees through a new co-operative annuity plan announced today by G. S. Robinson, 1013 Mercantile Bank building, Dallas district manager for General Foods. The plan affects employees in 45 plants and 29 sales divisions and districts in this country and Canada.

Every General Foods employe in his district, according to Mr. Robinson, has approved the new plan. This 100 per cent acceptance makes each one a part of the co-operative annuity agreement.

Joint contributions of corporation and employe will provide fixed monthly incomes to be paid employes when they reach retirement eligibility—age 60 for women, 65 for men. General Foods pays more than half the total cost of the retirement plan. Although income payments start when women and men employes are 60 and 65 years old, respectively, retirement is not obligatory. The plan also provides that employes with the company's consent may elect to retire, and receive income at a reduced rate, at any time within 10 years of customary retirement age.

Amount of monthly income depends on length of service and rate of earnings prior to retirement. Payments by the corporation and the employe obtain for the participant a retirement income more than twice as large, on the average, as he could purchase individually through annuity insurance.

An example: An employe 30 years old, earning $35 a week, will contribute toward the plan $1.84 48 times a year, and his payments will be matched by General Foods. If he remains in the same earnings classification and makes this same weekly contribution until age 65, his retirement income will be $112 monthly. Actuarial studies show that the average man of 65 can look forward to another 12 years of life.

"For years we have been working on the development of a plan to eliminate old age insecurity for our employes," states C. M. Chester, president of General Foods. "The system we are now instituting has several unusual features. All participating workers have the option if they should leave the corporation of, 1, having their contributions returned or, 2, leaving them with the insurance company as a paid-up annuity. But if they have participated for 15 consecutive years, they can, by leaving their own deposits with the insurance companies, receive retirement income based on the corporation's contributions, as well as their own."

"Upon retirement, an employe may expect to enjoy an income equivalent to 2 per cent of his average earnings for every year of his participation in the plan. For instance, an employe age 35 today will, on retirement, receive each month 60 per cent of whatever his average monthly salary may be during the next 30 years. If an employe wishes, he can arrange his policy so that payments, in reduced amounts, will be continued during the lifetime of a designated survivor, should this dependent survive the retired employe's death. If such arrangement is not chosen, the balance of the contributions not disbursed as retirement income is paid to a beneficiary named in the policy."

Sept. 1, 1934, has been designated as the date when the plan goes into effect. All employes of General Foods and subsidiary companies in United States and Canada, now under retirement age, who have been with the organization one year prior to Sept. 1, are eligible to participate, but participation is not obligatory. General will pay not only its share of the plan, but also the September, October, and November employe contributions for all workers joining the plan before Dec. 1. Although the plan itself does not provide for it, the announcement states General Foods may at its discretion add to the retirement income of employes who are now more than 45 years old. General Foods will deduct payments of participating employes directly from salary checks. These funds, together with the corporation's contributions, will be immediately turned over to the two largest insurance companies in the country. These companies will handle the administration of the plan and assure security of all payments.

Barbara Hutton Mdivani threw a costly party in Paris, knowing it was all right as long as our nickels and dimes kept clinking in to pay for it.

Deer Hunters Have Exceptional Luck

A group of hunters from Ranger, including J. E. Fletcher, Wilson Connell, Charlie Towne and Jeff Hamilton, has returned from the Davis mountains, where they had good luck hunting deer and bear.

The party returned to Ranger this week with two fine bucks and one bear, the bear weighing around 150 pounds and both bucks being fine specimens.

Wheeler and Woolsey Cuckoo Comics In 'Kentucky Kernels'

The nuts are loose again! RKO-Radio Pictures releases Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, its cuckoo comic stars, below the Mason and Dixon line, and the boys are said to "go to town" in a mad funny picture punctuated by gay song and dance—"Kentucky Kernels."

Their latest vehicle brings Wheeler and Woolsey and an orphan ward to a Kentucky plantation to which he has fallen heir. They also find themselves amid a feud fought with six-shooters between the Milfords and the Wakefields.

The complications cause greater laughs, building to a rousing climax when Wheeler courts Gloria Wakefield, and Woolsey temporarily places the enemy clan at a sumptuous garden party and dance. Mary Carlisle, alluring young blonde actress is featured as Gloria, and "Spanky" McFarland, remembered for his clever antics in "Our Gang" comedies, is seen as the young ward. Noah Beery is also importantly cast.

Latest Chan Film Packed With Thrills

Judged by preview audiences on the coast as by far the most entertaining of the entire series of "Chan" thrillers, "Charlie Chan in London" will make its appearance on the screen of the Arcadia theatre on Friday. Warner Oland, whose name has become synonymous with the character of Charlie throughout the series, again portrays the role of the bland Chinese detective. Advance reports indicate that Oland's portrayal in this film is his most notable to date.

In his latest adventure, Charlie Chan invades Sherlock Holmes' realm, and journeys to London to solve the most amazing mystery of his remarkable career in criminology.

A man is doomed to hang for murder. His sister believes him innocent. She pleads with Chan to find the real murderer and exonerate her brother. With only 65 hours remaining before the innocent man must meet his death, Chan gets to work. He finds he is working against time and a murderer who has the cunning of a fox. With only eight hours remaining in which to solve the mystery, Chan lays a clever trap, and snares his human fox without the aid of hounds or horse.

Tim McCoy Escapes Death When Loaded Gun Is Discovered

Col. Tim McCoy narrowly missed being drilled through the heart in making "Beyond the Law," train hold-up picture, coming to the Columbia theatre, next Saturday. Incidentally, this narrow escape disclosed why he never fails to examine any gun used in making his action pictures before the "quick-draw" artists go into the scene.

McCoy and Addison Richards, the "villain," were about to do a scene in which Richards fires a blank-loaded pistol at him in close range. To appear correct on the screen, such pistols have shells loaded with soft paper "bullets" protruding from the chamber.

"It's loaded with dummies," declared the prop man as he observed McCoy pulling out each shell for his usual inspection. "I just brought it in here from the prop room."

But one of them looked real to McCoy. He dug into the supposed paper "bullet" with his knife. It was lead. A minute later it might have been fired point blank into the popular actor's chest.

"So that's what you were sure was a dummy," McCoy commented crisply. "Now you see why I never let a gun go in to a scene without an inspection. I learned my lesson on the first silent picture I ever made. That time a supposedly empty shotgun was fired at me, and I've still got powder marks on my shoulder from the blank shell that was in it by mistake."

The Nebraska farmer who ran his truck into the Burlington's streamlined Zephyr will tell you it was no Zephyr at all; it was a cyclone.

Ambitious Film Co-Stars Three Famous Actors

Three Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences award winners head the cast of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," to be shown Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Arcadia theatre.

Norma Shearer, in the role of the poet Elizabeth, is starred opposite Frederic March, as the ardent Robert Browning—the same team which broke all records in "Smilin' Through." Charles Laughton, most recent Academy award winner, appears in the grim and powerful role of the elder Barrett, his first American picture since the international hit, "Henry the Eighth."

Adapted by the talented scenario writing team, Ernest Vajda and Claudine West, dialogue by Donald Ogden Stewart, from the play by Rudolf Besier, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" stands as one of the outstanding theatrical hits of the decade. Katherine Cornell, who created the part in the New York theatre, recently climaxed one of the most successful road tours of her career with the piece.

Dramatization of a vivid page torn from history, it is the story of the love of two poets, Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning—a love nearly frustrated by her demonic father.

Two Champions Will Be Crowned On This Week End

AUSTIN, Tex.—Two district championships will be decided and three other teams have an opportunity to earn at least a tie for the championship this week-end when Texas high school elevens battle for state honors.

The week-end's big game comes Saturday in Fort Worth when Masonic Home meets the Polytechnic Parrots for the district seven title. Both have gone undefeated through five conference games.

The other title bout is El Paso versus Austin of El Paso. By trimming Austin, El Paso high can succeed Bowie high of El Paso as district four champion.

Big Spring can school Friday if it defeats McCreary. Highland Park of Dallas does likewise if it beats Sherman in district six. Athens' Hornets will try to eliminate Henderson from the title picture of district eleven Friday. By doing so Athens will stand tied with Jacksonville if the latter can stop the impotent Lufkin eleven.

As the race now stands, Greenville's 1933 championship team is again winner in district nine. Vernon already has at least a tie for district five's title. Corpus Christi has the same status in district 16. Barring major upsets, both will enter bi-district play.

Cavings Indicate Gigantic Cavern In Panhandle Area

AMARILLO.—Mysterious cavings and cracks in the earth's surface are worrying farmers and highway officials in this section who fear that there may be a gigantic cavern beneath the plains.

The affected area is near highway No. 5 about midway between Claude and Goodnight at the point where the highway drops off the caprock.

Ten years ago in this same locality a four-foot chasm suddenly opened up across the highway and ran through farms for about a mile. It was so deep that fence posts dropped into it could not be heard when they struck bottom. It closed gradually following the heavy rains, but traces of it are still visible.

The new crevasse is much smaller than the first, but highway officials are worried for fear a major chasm may open suddenly across the main highway. The crevasse parallels the road for about 100 feet and is about four feet wide.

Unlike the old crevasse, the new one was not caused by a dividing of the earth's surface, but rather by a sinking of the earth as though a section of the ceiling of some underground cavern had given way.

Officials are keeping a close watch of the highway and geologists have been called in to try to find the cause for the phenomenon.

FARM NEWS

Williamson county farmers have turned to terracing with a will this fall, cooperating with the CCC soil erosion camps. They are putting in a daily average of 91 tractor-grader hours of work in 24 hours of the clock. To keep ahead of the camp engineers with crews of CCC boys are busy surveying terracing lines from sun-up to sun-down.

A fall garden is now offering 11 fresh vegetables to the family table of Mrs. Burt Dudley, member of the Elwood home demonstration club in Fannin county, in spite of the drought.

There will be more pea-vine hay harvested in Comal county as a result of the experience of Gus Krause, Sr., who planted 100 pounds of Braham peas as a soil building crop and when the feed shortage developed cut 250 bales of hay from it. Mr. Krause expects his stock to eat this hay with good appetite.

F. C. Colgin, farm demonstration agent of Baylor county, has worked with one leather demonstrator who has tanned 127 hides since the short course in 1933. Of these, 95 were cow hides, 16 were sheep pelts, 10 were wolf and coyote skins, two were horse hides, and four were bob cat skins.

JUGO-SLAVIA CLAIMS PEACE IS DISTURBED

GENEVA, Nov. 22.—Jugo-Slavia today accused Hungary of complicity in the assassination of King Alexander at Marseille.

Czecho-Slovakia and Roumania joined Jugo-Slavia in a letter to the League of Nations council asserting a grave situation disclosed by the assassination of King Alexander was capable of disturbing the peace of the world.

The letter invoked the league covenant to denounce the alleged responsibility of Hungary in harboring the assassin band and declaring that there "could be no greater danger to peace and good international relations."

LOWE RELEASED AFTER MEETING BOND OF $5,000

Jep Lowe of Eastland, about 40, charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of William Seaman Garrison, 26, on the square at Eastland Saturday night, was released from the custody of officers Sunday after making bond of $5,000. The figure was set by Justice of Peace Milton Newman and was agreed to by all parties. Lowe made bond promptly. Lowe had been brought from Breckenridge earlier that morning. The charge against Lowe was made Sunday morning by Sheriff Vice Foster for the state. The shooting occurred on the northwest corner of the square in Eastland at about 8:30 Saturday night. Bill Mead, Eastland Chief of Police and Loss Woods, county officer, were on a nearby corner when the shots were fired. The two arrived at the corner as Steele Hill, deputy sheriff, who was nearby when the incident occurred, arrived upon the scene. It is reported that Lowe handed the gun, a .32 calibre automatic, to officers, saying, "I'm the chap who did it." He was taken to the city jail and then on the same night transferred to Breckenridge. Although it was said that no violence was feared, the county jail is undergoing repairs.

$32,000 Expenditure Will Result From Project Approvals

Projects that will involve the expenditure of $32,000 have been approved at Austin during the last three weeks. County Administrator H. E. Driscoll states. Word is awaited on approval of projects, which if approved, will mean the expenditure of a sum over $18,000, the administrator states.

John Reuwer Got Credit For Deer Killed By Another

John Reuwer got credit Saturday for killing a deer he did not kill, it was revealed here Sunday. The deer which Reuwer was reported to have killed near Caddo, the first killed in this section in many years, was killed by Frank Kribbs. Reuwer brought the deer to Ranger and explained where it was killed and many thought that he was the sportsman who got credit for the first deer killed in this section in some time. The W. C. T. 108,000 Pounds of Spuds Received

The Eastland county general relief office has received 108,000 pounds of potatoes of which a portion will be sent to five counties for distribution, the office announces. H. E. Driscoll, county administrator, Saturday, stated that the potatoes would be sent out as follows: 9,000 pounds to Comanche county, 12,000 to Erath, 15,000 to Palo Pinto, 9,000 to Stephens, 13,000 to Brown. Eastland county will retain 15,000 pounds of the potatoes, Driscoll said.

Toys Are Needed For Needy Tots

The Child Welfare club of Ranger is to give toys to the needy children of Ranger this Christmas, and are soliciting the co-operation of the people of Ranger in making donations. Those having toys that they can donate to the needy children are asked to get in touch with Mrs. L. H. Flewelling, chairman of the committee in charge of soliciting toys. Any other member of the Child Welfare club can be notified and someone will be sent for the toys. Employees of the Ranger fire department will repair the toys again this year as they have done in the past, and the repaired toys will be distributed on Christmas eve.

DOGGETT GETS 99 YEARS IN THREE CASE

BAIRD, Nov. 17. — Clifford Doggett of Cisco today was sentenced to 99 years imprisonment by a Callahan county district court jury in the robbery and slaying of L. F. Throat, prominent rancher, who lived near Cisco. Doggett was tried on the robbery charge alone. He still faces trial on a murder charge. The jury received the case yesterday, reached its verdict after several hours and reported to the court this morning. Throat was slain Aug. 15 on his ranch and robbed of $180. Elmer Van Cleave, Cisco youth, and Mary Lou Howell, Cisco woman, also are charged in the case.

Clyde Moon, formerly of Desdemona, who pleaded guilty of the theft of Herman Woods' automobile, in the 88th district court Monday was assessed a three year term in the state penitentiary. Moon waived a jury trial. The Gorman resident's car was stolen in Eastland on the square. Moon was returned to Eastland from Henderson, where he faced charges against him in that vicinity.

Fifteen From County In John Tarleton

STEPHENVILLE, Nov. 20.—One hundred and twenty-seven Texas counties and five other states are represented in the John Tarleton College student body this year. The college has a total registration of 899, the largest it has ever had at this time of the year. Louisiana, Missouri, Colorado, and Oklahoma have one student each in Tarleton, and New Mexico has two. Fifteen students from Eastland County are enrolled as follows: W. C. Jordan, Carbon; Melvin Lawson, Cisco; Carl L. Sidball, Cisco; Lavelle McGuire, Desdemona; Penelope Robert, Desdemona; Everett Wright, Desdemona; Everett Davis, Eastland; James Pipkin, Eastland; Russell Anderson, Eastland; Hazel Woods Eastland; Aubrey Bennett, Gorman; Mary Cockrell, Gorman; Louise Perry, Gorman; and Waldene Lashly, Pioneer.

Shouse Explains The Liberty League

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Jouett Shouse, in the first extended statement since its formation, today presented the American Liberty League as a "balance wheel" to maintain the nation on the path of true democracy. Addressing the bond club of New York, Shouse emphasized there was no intent to fight the president "tooth and nail." "Wherever possible," he said, explaining he spoke primarily for himself, but in expression of the general views of the league directors, "the league will endeavor to advance and to uphold measures of the administration which is in approve."

TOY PROJECT FOR RANGER NOW APPROVED

The announcement a few days ago that a toy project could be secured if one was turned in, but that so far no one had attempted to get approval of such a project, has brought a statement from Fire Chief G. A. Murphy of Ranger to the effect that he turned in a project of that character three weeks ago and that approval has been received from Austin.

Fort Worth Plans To Plant 2,000 Trees

FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—A campaign to replant more than 2,000 trees bordering Fort Worth's streets which died last year of drought and root rot, is being launched here by R. C. Morrison, city forester. The trees should be replaced as soon as the first frost falls, Morrison said. Hackberries, cedar, elms and acycomores are the favorite shade trees grown here.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 20.—Jugo-Slavias charges that King Alexander was assassinated through a foreign plot were made openly today in the assembly of the League of Nations. LIGHTS FOR BIKES ORDERED ROCKY RIVER, O.—Though cyclists are allowed by council here to ride their "bikes" freely on sidewalks, they must now have lights on their mounts at night to protect pedestrians.

CONSTITUTION REVISION IS BEING URGED

EL PASO, Nov. 20.—The El Paso Herald-Post today called editorially for a new constitution with which to launch Texas on its second hundred years as a state. "A new century, a new constitution" was urged as a slogan upon forces favoring the "junking of the old constitution and the writing of a new one." The newspaper disclaimed credit for the proposal, which it said "has been advocated many years by many prominent Texans." "It was considered by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce," the paper continued. "Last year at the San Angelo convention it was made a definite part of the W. T. C. C.'s regular working program. "But nothing has ever been done about it." While the federal constitution has been amended only 21 times in 147 years, the Texas constitution, the Herald-Post pointed out, has been changed 60 times in 58 years.

Comfort Seeking a Founder's Memorial

KERRVILLE, Texas.—The town of Comfort, 900 population, near here in the northern edge of Kendall county, is seeking plans for a memorial to honor the founder of the community, E. Altzell. Comfort, a town composed of people mostly of German descent, was founded over 75 years ago. The proposed memorial stone would be placed at a highway intersection.

Using artificial respiration, oxygen and hard work, Hynal on several occasions has revived persons given up for dead, and his "cures" have been used in cases ranging from asthma to electric shock.

Damage Suit Shifted To An Abilene Court

The personal damage suit of J. M. Fulcher of Eastland vs. Illinois Pipe Line company has been removed from 88th district court at Eastland to Abilene federal court. The suit is the aftermath of an asserted collision between Fulcher's truck and another driven by an agent of the defendant company on the Ranger-Breckenridge highway last Aug. 1. Total damages of $25,500, including $500 for medical services, is asked by the plaintiff for asserted injuries received in the collision. He allegedly was thrown from his machine after it was struck on the left side by the agent's truck. Fulcher is being represented by Grisham Bros. of Eastland, and the defendant company by Cantey, Ranger & McMahon of Fort Worth.

Investigation of Relief Expenses Seems Assured

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—An investigation of relief expenditures appeared assured today after a speech by Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, listing specific instances of what he asserted was "haphazard waste" in administration of relief funds. Borah, striking hard and going into more details than in any of his previous demands for an inquiry, asked a strict accounting of every dollar spent. Borah said that in one mid-west city "of perhaps 200,000 population there are 806 administration employees in the central office at a cost of $1,500,000 a year."

Three From Eastland Are Officers In New Oil Belt Association

The Oil Belt club recently formed at Hardin-Simmons university in Abilene has chosen three students from Eastland as officers. Officers of the association are Estes Burgamy, president; Ellen Pearson, secretary; Truett Fulcher, reported, all from Eastland, and Gaines Shults, vice president, Breckenridge.

Famous Train Wreck Staged As a Spectacle

WACO, Nov. 19.—An old newspaper clipping here relates the details of one of the most famous train wrecks in the United States. It was pre-arranged and occurred in September, 1897, halfway between Waco and West on the Missouri-Kansas & Texas line. W. G. Crush, prominent railway executive, planned the wreck as a promotion scheme, and except for the tragic results it was a tremendous success. People came from all parts of Texas and from other states to witness the strange catastrophe. One man was killed, another lost an eye and several were injured seriously. Two old engines and a dozen freight cars were used and as the two locomotives and cars loaded with crossties thundered down the hill at more than 60 miles an hour, over 30,000 people were on hand to witness the crash. When they collided clouds of steam rose into the air and hills of steel and wood were thrown in all directions. Ernest Darnell of Bremond suffered a fractured skull when a fragment hit him. He died that night. The Katy spent $20,000 in staging the event and ran several special trains to accommodate persons who came to see the collision.

Dog and Hog Have A Furious Battle

TYLER, Texas, Nov. 20.—One of the strangest animal combats ever reported here occurred when a dog and a hog got into a fight. The dog and the hog were engaged in furious struggle when Jesse Ashcroft, farmer, rushed out to the hog lot and killed the dog. It was thought the dog had rabies. Another reason Princess Marina might have for selecting only 13 costumes for her troussseau is that she'd like to devote a little of her time to Prince George.

TRAIN VICTIMS FUNERAL HELD AT FLATWOOD

A prospective bride and groom, Frank Clark, 22, and Novel Fisher, 23, who were to be married in the near future, were united in death Sunday when the couple were buried together at Flatwood. The services for the pair and Ray Fisher, 16, the prospective bride's brother, were held jointly at the Flatwood cemetery with Rev. J. Clements of Carbon and Rev. E. R. Stanford, Eastland Methodist pastor, in charge. Burial arrangements were in charge of Ben Hammer Undertaking Company. The trio were killed Saturday when an eastbound Texas & Pacific passenger train hit their automobile at the Gulf crossing west of Eastland. Authorities have expressed the opinion that the train struck the car in the center as it reached the crossing. The trio were coming from the Fisher residence to town when the accident occurred. Survivors of the Fishers are their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fisher, who reside north of Eastland on what is known as the Hatton place; brothers, Clyde of Eastland, Pat of Comanche, and a sister, Mrs. W. C. Kennedy of Cyril, Okla.

Here's the ABC of COLDS-CONTROL

A To Help PREVENT Colds
At the first sneeze or nasal irritation, quick—a few drops of Vicks VapoRub. Its timely use helps to prevent many colds—and to throw off colds in their early stages.

B To Help SHORTEN a Cold
At bedtime, just rub on Vicks VapoRub, the mother's standby in freezing colds. All through the night, by stimulation and inhalation, VapoRub fights the cold direct.

C To Build RESISTANCE to Colds
Follow the simple rules of health that are part of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. The Plan has been clinically tested by practicing physicians—and proved in home use by millions. (You'll find full details of this unique Plan in each Vicks package.)

We Learn the Joy of Living Too Late to Taste of It

That Illinois banker who took $56,000 from the till, fled to the Wisconsin woods, and there learned that the simple life has it all over the ordinary rush for worldly goods seems to have made a great discovery in much the way that most of us make it—too late to do himself much good.

He found out, of course, to begin with, that putting his hand in the till had been a tragic mistake for which he would not hope to escape retribution. But that was really among the last of his discoveries—since it is, after all, something that a custodian of other people's money ought to know from the beginning.

What was more important was his discovery that he had been on the wrong track even before he became an embezzler.

He took the money, that is, to play the market. He was going to make a big killing, restore what he had taken, put himself on easy street, and live happily ever after; the act of embezzlement was simply the product of the pressure which a go-getting society put upon a personality that had lost a proper sense of values.

And his big discovery was his realization that even if he had got away with it, it wouldn't have given him what he wanted.

He learns, that is, that where money is the one yardstick, the effort to build a satisfying life is almost certainly doomed to failure.

And that, after all, is what most of the rest of us are forever finding out; that it is possible to spend so much of our time and energy in making a living that we have none left for living itself.

We take all the force and intelligence God gave us, and apply them to the business of getting ahead—and then, presently, we find ourselves looking wistfully back on our lives and saying, "Why—is this all there is to it?"

So we dream of what we shall do, some day, when things break just right for us and we retire to that little house in the country; or we use books, or sport, or restless movement of one kind or another, to escape from our subconscious dissatisfaction with modern life.

For we have somehow built up a society which cuts us off from those things that are to be prized above all else—free fellowship with one another, contact with the open earth and sky, solitude, leisure to savor such things as the wind in the leaves or dawn on the empty hills.

And the tragedy of it is that, too, often, we find it out as this banker did—too late to do anything about it.

The stores that feature nationally advertised goods are the stores you should patronize. When you buy from stores that advertise their merchandise, you are buying good merchandise.

THE SECOND QUESTION A DOCTOR ASKS . . .

Here is some information that has relieved whole families from Constipation

My husband, who is a druggist, first recommended Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to me. It has always helped me and made me feel better. I have used it as a laxative for the entire family for 22 years.

Mrs. M. McMaster, Peoria, Ill.

When anyone is "out of sorts" the doctor's first question is about the bowels. And the second, what is being taken to help them. Doctors use laxatives, and expect you to use them. But they prefer a liquid laxative. Do you know why?

Doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives because they've seen the damage sometimes done by highly concentrated drugs in the form of pills or tablets. They know that a properly made liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative) does not do this harm. And they use liquid laxatives to relieve the bowels, because the dose can be easily regulated.

What to Use

There is a preparation of fine herbs, pure pepsin, cascara, and senna which does away with all need of harsh cathartics. The active senna in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is laxative enough for any adult, mild enough for any child. And there are other valuable ingredients in this delightful syrup.

Syrup Pepsin usually relieves a case of constipation overnight. If a further dose is necessary, you give a smaller dose, each time less, until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

If you have a youngster who doesn't eat, doesn't gain, gets upset and bilious no matter how careful you are about the diet—don't resort to strong cathartics which may only make matters worse.

Make this Test!

If you are "not yourself" because of a constipated condition, don't blame it on your blood condition, or your age. Try the help of Syrup Pepsin until you are relieved and nature restores your regularity.

When your bowels continue then to move regularly, comfortably, and completely every day—you'll know why most doctors favor a liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Hospitalization Is Not Available For Relief Clients

A letter has been received by H. E. Driscoll, county administrator, from Adam R. Johnson, state relief director, stating that under provisions of Section 25, House Bill No. 1, hospitalization for relief clients is not available in counties or cities that maintain a city or county hospital, under which classification Eastland county would fall, because of the fact that a city-county hospital is maintained in Ranger.

The letter from Johnson says: "To County Administrators and Case Supervisors:

"Section 25, House Bill No. 1 of the legislative act under which the Texas relief division of state board of control is now functioning reads as follows:

"The board of control is hereby directed to use two and one-half per cent (2½%) or so much thereof as may be necessary, of the proceeds of the Texas relief bonds herein authorized for the payment of hospital services, and such services shall be available to persons who are eligible for relief under the terms of this act, in need of hospital services and who are unable to bear such expense. Provided, however, that the amount authorized to be expended for such purposes shall not exceed two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) per patient per day. Such hospitalization shall be authorized only in cases where special care is essential to the preservation of life and health, and the same cannot be otherwise adequately secured. And provided further, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to cities and counties having, owning or operating county or municipally supported hospitals.

"Beginning on date of receipt of this letter you are not to authorize payment of hospital bills for county residents providing your county owns or operates a hospital, or for residents of any city which owns or operates a hospital in which city residents are not admitted, and have no city hospital you may provide hospitalization for persons on your relief rolls where special care is essential to the preservation of life and health.

"You will note that you may not exceed the two dollar and fifty cent ($2.50) per day per patient fee which is the same amount authorized previously, and that you may use two and one-half per cent (2½%) or so much thereof as may be necessary of state funds for hospitalization (no federal funds may be used for hospitalization).

"Yours very truly,
(Signed) "ADAM R. JOHNSON,
"Director."

Famous Book By Martin Luther Is Owned By Texan

SAN ANTONIO—While devout adherents over the world were still celebrating the 451st anniversary of Martin Luther's birth recently, there came to light here a rare book written by the noted reformer and giving a graphic account of his personal adventures with the devil.

The book is a first folio of Aischreden, or "Tabletalk" and is one of the two known copies in the United States. It is one of the few copies in existence in the world as most of them were hunted out and destroyed during the counter reformation.

The book is owned by E. Raba, a local photographer and collector who learned from correspondence with Dr. Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard that that institution also possesses a copy of the book. It contains much that is not in William Hazlitt's translation and describes Luther's encounters with frightful devils of Poltergeisten.

In the famous Warburg castle where Luther wrote the first German translation of the Bible, the book describes Luther's experience as follows:

"As I traveled away from Worms and was taken prisoner at Eisenach, and conveyed to the Warburg castle in Pathmo, I was in a room far removed from everone, and no one came to me except two noble lads who daily brought me meat and drink.

"They had purchased a sack of hazelnuts for me, of which I ate daily, and had them locked in a chest. As I went to bed one night, I went into the room, put out the light, and lay down to sleep. Hazluta began to strike on the balcony and on the bed, but I did not inquire into the cause.

"Just as I went to sleep again, such a noise was heard on the steps as if one were throwing casks, and although I knew full well that the stairs were guarded with chains and iron, still the casks rolled down.

"I sprang up, went to the stair and looked—then I spoke:

"Is it you, so be it," and commended myself to Christ, of whom it is written: Omnia aurescista, pedibus eirea, and Psalm VIII says, and returned to bed.

"That is the best way to drive away the devil; when one calls on Christ and holds the evil one in contempt, he cannot beat it."

Texas Woman May Own Valuable Violin

CLEBURNE, Texas, Nov. 19.—A violin which the father of Mrs. A. E. Self, Cleburne, bought years ago at an auction sale in Dallas, is now believed to be a genuine Strad.

Mrs. Self's father paid $35 for the "fiddle" at the auction and later gave it to his daughter. Not long ago Sam Peacock, owner of a barber shop and one of the best fiddlers in town, saw the violin and offered to swap his shop for it. He was convinced it was a Strad.

Mrs. Self became interested and had a Fort Worth violin dealer look at it. He said it was a fine violin and if not actually a Strad was a very good imitation of one.

Mrs. Self has refused all offers for the instrument and has locked it up in a vault until she can find out its true value.

Pet Mink Was Not Really a Pet

FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—A pet mink named "Bonnie" escaped from her cage in the zoo here recently and now the zoo keeper is after her with a shotgun.

Th trouble is that Bonnie wasn't such a pet after all. She dug a deep hole under the zoo chicken pen and made nightly raids on the chicken roost.

Zookeeper Hamilton Hitterson couldn't drown or smoke her out, so he is laying for her with a shotgun.

DON'T LET COMMON CONSTIPATION DULL THE JOY OF LIVING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief

Constipation takes the sunshine out of your days. It may bring headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness, sallow skins, pimples.

Fortunately, you can avoid this condition by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides two things needed to help overcome common constipation: "bulk" and vitamin B. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much better than dosing yourself with patent medicines. Two tablespoonsful of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. If seriously ill, see your doctor—ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

work and then practice what they preach. "The Katy railroad has derived splendid results from the safety program that it follows," Judge Blaine said in his address. "We have taught our employees the value of cooperation between themselves, which is necessary in any successful safety program. Such a plan results in lessening of accidents. We preach the common sense angle over and over again, and every thirty days safety meetings are held at various points over our system. The employees are constantly reminded of the importance of practicing safety.

"Why do we carry out such a program? Why are we sold on it? I'll tell you why. During a twelve month period eighteen years ago, the Katy railroad killed 150 of its employees and injured 2,500. Last year the Katy was the only class 1-A railroad in the United States that did not kill a single employe as a result of an accident and only 147 employes were injured. That is somewhat of a record and it is due entirely to our safety program that has pounded into the minds of all our workers the necessity of cooperation in their work to avoid accidents.

"If our system with 12,000 employes can accomplish such a record, there is no reason why any organization cannot accomplish a similar one. Education of each employe on safety in his particular line of work is the basis of a successful safety program.

"Automobile manufacturers have made great strides in the past ten years in developing a more perfect and safer automobile through the use of shatterproof glass, better steering devices, greatly improved braking equipment, blowout proof tires and many other new and improved mechanical features.

"On the other hand, our towns, cities and States have done much to lessen the hazards of driving through the construction of new and wider roads, elimination of bad curves and grade crossings. They have installed improved 'go' and 'stop' signals, placed thousands of stop and warning signals, painted lines down the center of roads, and created traffic lanes on busy streets and thoroughfares.

death and personal injury rate still mounts and the only answer we have for it is that the automobile manufacturer and the road and highway engineers cannot guarantee the 'nut that holds the wheel.'

"While I do not suppose we will ever reach that stage of perfection, many things can and should be done to lessen that evil through the passage of strict drivers' license laws, uniform traffic laws, and laws governing the installation of standard warning and 'stop' and 'go' signals, and the periodical examination of the driver, as well as his automobile. And last but not least, of a sufficient large enough police department to not only police our highways and streets, but most important of all, to investigate any and all collisions in order to arrive at a cause and then eliminate it, if be either in the driver or in the road."

Judge Blaine told of the success he had in St. Louis with the traffic school he conducted while he served on the bench as Judge of City Court. Traffic violators were told to attend the school or go to jail in order to serve their sentence. A series of lectures was held, one on city ordinances on automobile driving, one on State laws on auto driving, another on safe highway driving, and another on minor violations resulting in major accidents.

Judge Blaine advocated accident prevention campaigns in cities as a means to educate the public and bring about decreases in traffic fatalities.

The speaker's address was illustrated by means of a board on which were placed miniature automobiles, street cars, street crossings and traffic signals. He used this to give graphic descriptions of the traffic laws violated unconsciously and the tragic wrecks that resulted.

"Most accidents are caused as a result of carelessness and thoughtlessness on the part of drivers," Judge Blaine said. "When you are on the street in your car, don't argue with the other fellow about the right-of-way; give it to him. Don't take a chance, for there may be another fool thinking of the same thing. Don't drive your car into pedestrians' safety zones.

"Use your influence in preventing accidents by continually talking the subject and then practicing what you preach. If you do this you will live a lot longer and be able to enjoy the pleasures and privileges of living on this earth."

Progress Observed In County's Rural School Inspection

Progress was seen by Miss Opal Gilstrap, deputy state superintendent, in her inspection of 23 rural aid schools in the county this week. The superintendent stated that it was encouraging to note the increasing number of rural students who further their education by going to high school. Also complimented was the mounting scholastic training of teachers throughout the county.

Miss Gilstrap is the successor to Miss Sue R. Hann, who last year was transferred to another school district further west by the state board of education. The district of which Miss Gilstrap is head comprises 14 counties. The counties, she enumerated, were Shackelford, Stephens, Callahan, Eastland, Hamilton, Comanche, Coleman, Mills, San Saba, Lampasas, Brown. She maintains headquarters at Brownwood.

The district formerly included McCulloch, Llano and Mason, but these were taken off and Eastland, Shackelford, Callahan and Stephens added.

The superintendent was scheduled to go to Hamilton county following her completion of work in Eastland.

Clean Out Kidney Poisons

Wash Out Your 15 Miles Of Kidney Tubes
If kidneys don't pass 2 pints a day that contain nearly 4 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters become clogged with poisonous waste products and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult . . . which often smart and burn the scalding water and cause discomfort. This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney function is a danger signal and may be the beginning of backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, swelling up, gravel, uric acid, foot and ankle, rheumatic pains and dizziness.
Most people watch their bowels which excrete only 27 feet of intestine but neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. Make sure your kidneys become clogged with poisons. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 2 pints a day.
Wash out your kidneys with DR. CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. This old prescription, which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By BEULAH K. HICKS

THE CHRISTIAN STEWARD

Jesus was in the shadow of the cross dark across his path, death being just three days away, sat upon the Mount of Olives and talk with his disciples of many things.

In o'den times the steward of the family was a well loved and trusted slave who was deeply attached to his master and loyal to all of his interests. He superintended the family financing and investments. Christ took this well known of-five and made of it a parable to teach his disciples a great lesson of the use of their talents.

"And unto one he gave five talents; to another two, to another one; to each according to his several ability."

It makes an interesting story of the investments of their talents while the master was away. The servant with five and the servant with two talents doubled their value by wise investment. But the servant with one talent "dug in the earth, and hid his lord's money."

"After a long time the lord of those servants cometh, and maketh a reckoning with them."

"How happy were the servants who could bring an increase in their money to their lord and receive his praise."

How small was the man who had his talent and had nothing more to show to his master. He was most zealous in vindicating himself, speaking of his fear. It was a cowardly excuse. He was not afraid but only lazy and indifferent.

His master condemned him. "Thou wicked and slothful servant." It was not because he made no money but because of his wicked and sullen disposition. The master took the talent and gave it to the man with the 10 talents.

"For unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance; but from that which he hath not, shall be taken away."

Conversion is the starting point of the Christian life. But if the spiritual life is not nourished, it does not grow and expand into that wisdom that comes from above.

As we make use of the opportunities before us in study, prayer and service, our ability to serve will increase in God's work. Diligent and faithful cultivation of powers makes them more effective and the Christian finds himself growing in capacity to know and understand the way God would have him use his talent.

Every person has some talent. It may be preaching, singing, writing, teaching and many others. But one of the greatest is to be alive that a person can partake of the life of Christ until all who contact that life will see and realize the good influence radiating from every act.

Rev. Hugh Price Hughes has summed up our reckoning with a very strict plan that should put all Christians to thinking. God's grace overshadows us. No one can

New Battery Has Design as Modern As Young Beauty Who Adorns Its Top

There is no danger of any short circuit with this combination. This charming young miss is showing how the new "Electro-Pak" automobile storage battery just announced by The B. F. Goodrich Company Akron, Ohio, can be used as a comfortable seat, should the occasion require one. This is made possible by the hard rubber cover which completely encases the battery. This is the first time any battery has incorporated this feature, which transforms this formerly homely and unimpressive product into a thing of beauty as well as utility, with lines as modern as the young woman here.

San Antonio de Valero was not the only mission founded at the presidio of San Antonio. It was in February, 1720, that Captain Juan Balde reported to Miguel de Aguayo a site had been selected for a new mission, where the water was taken from the San Antonio river for irrigation of the fields. Three leagues away was Mission Valero.

Indian chiefs, friars, and the entire exploration party claimed possession of the site selected. Weeds were pulled, stones thrown, and branches cut from the hillside, water lifted out of the stream, and sand was sifted through the fingers, all to denote the land and water rights of the company. Besides the land for grazing purposes, the fertile fields, and river, there was ample room for a church and pueblo, quarters for the soldiers, a hospital, convent, and cemetery. San Joseph de San Miguel de Aguayo de Buena Vista thus had its beginning. Later it was called simply San Jose.

The Indians who came to inhabit the Mission San Jose were quickly influenced by Spanish culture. Spanish visitors coming to the pueblo were probably surprised to find some of them playing guitars, violins, crude harps, and flutes. They appreciated the beauty and melody of the savages singing in "four voices." Their dances were as skilled and beautiful as the European dances.

Children of Relief Clients to Receive Toys at Christmas

Many relief kiddies who receive Christmas toys this year will owe part thanks to Ranger firemen, who are sponsoring a toy manufacture-repair project. The toys will be distributed to children of families on the relief rolls, says County Administrator H. E. Driscoll. Nine firemen and five relief clients are employed on the project, Driscoll stated.

GOOD WHEAT CROP GROWN BURLINGTON, N. C.

Alabama County grew enough wheat this year, despite crop curtailments, to more than supply its citizens with bread for a year. On the basis of a two-bushel per capita consumption annually, the county's 99,814 bushels would make bread for the 48,000 Alabamians and a few visitors.

Light Bulb Burns Steadily 26 Years

FORT WORTH.—An electric light bulb has burned continuously for 26 years at the Palace theatre here.

It was turned on long ago with two other lights in the hallway leading from the dressing rooms to the stage. Its mates flickered and burned out in time. Other globes were inserted, they to be outlived by "Old Faithful."

On occasions when the city power has been shut off the light has not burned, but it never has been turned off, night or day.

Farm News of Interest to the Farmers of This Section

Wheat Pasture Cuts Need of Dry Feed By 75 Per Cent

WASHINGTON—Good wheat pasture reduces the dry feed required to carry livestock in the late fall, winter and early spring by 75 to 85 per cent, except during weather when the pasture cannot be used. However, the best results from wheat pasture are obtained when livestock have access to dry feeds.

Experiments by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Hays, Kans., in cooperation with the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station, and records from 62 wheat farmers show further that, in the Great Plains States, wheat that is growing vigorously is not injured, but may even be benefited, by seasonal grazing which is not excessive. When growth is slow or the wheat is pastured too heavily, too early in the fall, or especially, too late in the spring, yields may be reduced from 2 to 10 bushels an acre. Even then, in cases when winter feed is scarce, the value of the pasturage may offset the loss in yield.

"We find many farmers are planning to be economical with their short supplies of winter feed by pasturing their own wheat fields or by arranging for pasture on other fields," says A. F. Swanson, department agronomist who has supervised the experiments and collection of information. "Charges for wheat pasture vary, but in western Kansas in 1933-34 the charges per animal per month averaged from 62 cents to $1.05 for cows; 25 to 61 cents for the calves; and 10 to 25 cents for sheep. Local conditions, feed supplies, and whether water is furnished cause these variations in charges."

Wheat pasture also supplies the green feed so necessary for breeding herds. Premature, weak or dead calves are likely to result if cows go for six months or more without some green hay or pasture. The specific deficiency is vitamin A. When a severe drought occurs, as during the past summer, the hot sun stops plant growth, turns the grass brown and destroys this vitamin. Cows from such pastures go into the winter without a reserve supply of this very necessary element which green feed supplies.

Wheat pasturage is high in protein and when used in connection with dry feeds and limited concentrates, completes a well-balanced ration. Stockmen report seasonal gains of from 200 to 300 pounds for grown cattle and of 100 to 200 pounds for calves and yearlings on well established fields of wheat supplemented by dry feeds, which may be straw, dried native grasses, or nearby fields, sorghum hay, fodder or stover. If pasture is scanty and dry feed scarce, maintenance may be all that can be expected.

Gains of approximately five pounds per month may be expected from lambs on good wheat pasture with no supplementary grain or dry feed. A commercial practice in recent years among large wheat growers, especially in western Kansas, is to graze young cattle and lambs from western ranges on winter wheat obtaining gains that compare favorably with those from summer grasses. Winter wheat pasture does not compete with nor replace summer grasses, but rather supplements them while they are dormant. The chief drawback to winter wheat as a pasture is that sufficient growth for grazing is not always assured. Wheat also is highly laxative in the early fall and occasional losses are reported from bloating and wheat poisoning.

Wheat pasturing usually begins in the fall, from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, after the plants are so rooted that they will not be pulled up by livestock, and may continue throughout the winter when weather permits until about April 1, but seldom later than April 15. Grazing is deferred until about March 1 when wheat emerges from winter dormancy. Yields, however, may be reduced materially if heavy grazing is allowed for the full period from October to April. Pastured wheat ripens from 1 to 4 days later than wheat not pastured, but is not so likely to lodge if rainfall has been heavy as grazing prevents excessive growth. Length of the average grazing season, as reported by the 62 farmers, was 84 days with a range of 45 to 150 days. Length of the grazing period and number of animals pastured depends on how much growth the wheat makes and on the need for pasture. Lack of moisture is the greatest hindrance to growth. Judgment and experience are the best guides as to when, how long, and how heavily wheat should be pastured.

Figures on pasturing obtained from the wheat farmers were in line with the experimental results. Moderate grazing of a heavy growth of wheat on fallowed land from Oct. 15 to Dec. 15 resulted in an average increase in grain yield of 3 bushels per acre for a 5-year period. Moderate grazing from Oct. 15 to Dec. 15 and from March 1 to April 15 gave an average increase of 2.3 bushels an acre. Moderate grazing from March 1 to April 15 only, resulted in an average decrease of 1 bushel an acre. Heavy grazing from Oct. 15 to Dec. 15 and from March 1 to May 1 resulted in an average loss of 3.1 bushels. The greatest reduction in yield, 6.2 bushels an acre, followed moderately heavy grazing for the short period from April 15 to May 1. In the latter half of April, when wheat was from 8 to 12 inches high, grazing was very spotted and many newly formed heads were destroyed.

There was an average reduction in yield of from .9 to 4.9 bushels an acre for all methods of grazing the crop when wheat followed wheat, largely due to reduced moisture than in the fallowed land. However, when ample growth was made on the unfallowing land, moderate pasturing gave increased yields.

In the fall months, from 3 to 7 acres of wheat may be required to carry a grown animal, depending on how rapidly the wheat is growing. Horses require more acres than cattle. Calves in the fall require approximately one-half and yearlings in the spring two-thirds as much acreage as grown cattle. Mature cows with calf are said to graze more severely than other cattle and are discriminated against when grazing is under contract. The greatest carrying capacity of wheat, about one-half acre per mature animal, is from April 10 to 30, but the greatest reduction in grain yields also result from grazing in this period.

Grazing wheat during wet weather in the fall and early winter months does not always cause serious reduction in the yield, as the areas roughened by trampling are smoothed down by spring as the result of alternate freezing and thawing. However, grazing in the late winter or spring when the fields are muddy is likely to reduce the yield considerably. It is a good practice to corral cattle at night or whenever they are through grazing, to prevent unnecessary trampling of the wheat. Pasturing wheat increases the danger of soil blowing if the surface is dry and the soil is sandy, particularly when growth is light. Farmers prefer to pasture wheat when the surface soil is a little wet, rather than abnormally dry.

Choosing the best seed, preparing a good seed bed and good cultivation enabled A. A. Moseley, farming in the eastern part of Marion county, to defeat the drought. He harvested 23 bushels of corn to the acre on eight acres and made 17 bales of cotton on 38 acres.

The Burlington county farm demonstration agent, G. C. King, has brought it right home to the farmers in his county that terracing means money in the pocket. A questionnaire sent to 300 farmers for whom he has run lines for terracing asked: "Did the terraced acres of your farm produce more than the unterraced acres?" The reply was 100 per cent yes. Coming down to brass tacks, Mr. King asked: "How much?" Replies for the cotton acreage showed an average increase of 97 pounds of seed cotton per acre. Those for corn showed a six-bushel increase per acre.

Mrs. N. F. Lewis, pantry demonstrator for the Birdville home demonstration club in Tarrant county, has put up 5,419 containers of 80 different varieties of food this year. Much of this canning has been done for friends and neighbors, but more than 1,000 containers are on the Lewis pantry shelves.

Clearing the way for county-wide activity on the improved bedroom demonstration this winter, home demonstration club women of Calhoun county have designated for an imaginary bonfire many useless objects once prized but now deteriorated and classed as "dust catchers." Among these are old paper flowers, certain types of pillows, door steps, old calendars, and disabled plaster of paris animals.

HOUSTON—"I became a pantry demonstrator because I desired intelligent directions in planning and providing an adequate diet for my family," Mrs. Horace Cooper of Harris county told Helen Cowan, home demonstration agent. With this in mind, Mrs. Cooper planned her food budget, planted her garden, and canned food for the winter according to extension service plans furnished her by Miss Cowan. She put up 1,584 containers this year and now has 992 in her pantry in addition to 500 pounds of dried, stored and cured foods valued at $253.38. There are 175 varieties in her pantry.

In addition, Mrs. Cooper has renovated the two rooms used as storage for a canning kitchen and storage space for her foods. She has also made 26 pounds of cheese, set out 100 grape vines, 20 blackberries, 100 fig trees, 26 peach trees, 12 peach trees and eight pear trees.

KERRVILLE—A net profit of more than $500 has been received by Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Holekamp of Kerr county from their garden produce this year, according to Miss Frances Wilroy, home demonstration agent. Most of their sales have come from tomatoes. They have sold more than 250 bushels, and estimate that 50 salable bushels are yet to be gathered. One-half acre of ground of the farm was planted in Irish potatoes and from this small plot 3,000 pounds were harvested. In order to rotate crops, sorghum was planted after the potato harvest was complete. Mr. and Mrs. Holekamp had very little expense in seeding their crops, and barnyard fertilizer was used.

SNYDER—Six hundred feet of subterranean tile for next year's garden have been laid by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brown of Scurry county, according to Miss Nellie Ward, home demonstration agent. The fertility of the soil for the garden is also being enriched by the application of hulls from ginning.

GOLDTHWAITE—Although the drought cut the yield from his three acres of apple trees at least 50 per cent this year, J. J. Cockrell of Mills county told W. P. Weaver, farm demonstration agent that he had sold more than $100 worth on the local market. "My 103 golden delicious apple trees make this the best paying three acres in Mills county," Mr. Cockrell said. The apples won first prize at the state fair this year for the third successive time.

MOUNT VERNON—"There's not a tuft of Bermuda grass on the entire 28 acres of my land that was thoroughly sodded in 1932," M. D. Reynolds of the Glade Springs community in Franklin county told V. O. Teddlie, farm demonstration agent. After an absence of 13 years, Mr. Reynolds moved back to his old home place and found it completely sodded with Bermuda grass and resin woods. As a result of his effort to kill the grass and cultivate the land, he raised a bale of cotton per acre in 1933. This year there has been the worst drought the county has ever known, but Mr. Reynolds has harvested 20 bushels of corn per acre, 15 loads of peanuts on four acres, five loads of peavine hay, five loads of sorghum hay, and has made one-third of a bale of cotton per acre.

WELLINGTON—Alfalfa is a valuable feed crop in Collingsworth county, Edgar Wischkaemper reports to John O. Stovall, farm demonstration agent. After cooperating in the 1933 plow-up campaign, Mr. Wischkaemper decided to plant 50 acres of alfalfa on a narrow strip of land one mile long. The land is sandy loam and lies along a ravine; it is usually flooded during heavy rains. About 18 pounds of alfalfa was planted per acre last September. Mr. Wischkaemper reports that on Oct. 12 he had made four cuttings of 4,100 bales and that it was almost ready for another cutting of 1,200 bales. He says that the net returns from alfalfa exceed that of cotton or other crops on this tract of land by a large per cent.

NEXT STEP IS PLANNED FOR MOVEMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Spending by big corporations for plant modernization is a factor in predictions here today that business will pull upward.

There is also the impetus of cooperation between the white house and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Corporate spending is sought as a shot in the arm measure. It would serve to maintain the moderate business upturn expected now to develop around a good Christmas retail business.

The advantages of the corporate spending plan are explained as including:

1. Quick large scale re-employment.
2. Creation of an outlet for durable goods.
3. The next new deal step planned in development of the cooperative movement launched by the chamber is to find among the first 20 American corporations an executive and board of directors willing to spend $25,000,000. New deal contact men believe two or three such sponsors can be found. Prospects among corporation executives will be canvassed.

Gainesville Citizens Plan a War On Rats

GAINESVILLE, Texas.—Evidently citizens here do not believe in following the story of the Pied Piper of Hamelin as the best means of getting rid of rats.

Like the city fathers of Hamelin when rats infested that community, the business men and public-spirited citizens here called a meeting to adopt a plan to exterminate rats and mice.

The Red river, a few miles away, offered a drowning place for rats, just as in the Hamelin case, in event a Pied Piper were chosen. The idea didn't advance very far.

Instead, the leaders chose to make the federal government their Pied Piper. The government has offered 1,000 rat traps and 100 pounds of poison. Bait of meat scraps, cheese and other edibles, instead of hypnotizing notes of a flute, will be employed to lure the animals to their fate.

German women are bleaching their hair to look Nordic. As in America, however, other women won't let them get away with it.

"Rabbit Fever" Is Carried By Quail

SAN ANTONIO.—Here's a new worry for the quail hunter. It is typhoid, or "rabbit fever," which is carried by wild game including rabbits, quail and muskrats, and also by sheep, rats and mice, according to Dr. Harvey G. Beck, professor of clinical medicine at the University of Maryland who attended the sessions of the Southern Medical association here.

In most cases humans contract the disease by skinning rabbits, picking and dressing quail, or handling the carcasses of other dead animals.

Cases of humans being stricken with the disease have been recorded in nearly every state, Dr. Beck said.

German women are bleaching their hair to look Nordic. As in America, however, other women won't let them get away with it.

Weaver, farm demonstration agent that he had sold more than $100 worth on the local market. "My 103 golden delicious apple trees make this the best paying three acres in Mills county," Mr. Cockrell said. The apples won first prize at the state fair this year for the third successive time.

MOUNT VERNON—"There's not a tuft of Bermuda grass on the entire 28 acres of my land that was thoroughly sodded in 1932," M. D. Reynolds of the Glade Springs community in Franklin county told V. O. Teddlie, farm demonstration agent. After an absence of 13 years, Mr. Reynolds moved back to his old home place and found it completely sodded with Bermuda grass and resin woods. As a result of his effort to kill the grass and cultivate the land, he raised a bale of cotton per acre in 1933. This year there has been the worst drought the county has ever known, but Mr. Reynolds has harvested 20 bushels of corn per acre, 15 loads of peanuts on four acres, five loads of peavine hay, five loads of sorghum hay, and has made one-third of a bale of cotton per acre.

WELLINGTON—Alfalfa is a valuable feed crop in Collingsworth county, Edgar Wischkaemper reports to John O. Stovall, farm demonstration agent. After cooperating in the 1933 plow-up campaign, Mr. Wischkaemper decided to plant 50 acres of alfalfa on a narrow strip of land one mile long. The land is sandy loam and lies along a ravine; it is usually flooded during heavy rains. About 18 pounds of alfalfa was planted per acre last September. Mr. Wischkaemper reports that on Oct. 12 he had made four cuttings of 4,100 bales and that it was almost ready for another cutting of 1,200 bales. He says that the net returns from alfalfa exceed that of cotton or other crops on this tract of land by a large per cent.

Wheat pasture also supplies the green feed so necessary for breeding herds. Premature, weak or dead calves are likely to result if cows go for six months or more without some green hay or pasture. The specific deficiency is vitamin A. When a severe drought occurs, as during the past summer, the hot sun stops plant growth, turns the grass brown and destroys this vitamin. Cows from such pastures go into the winter without a reserve supply of this very necessary element which green feed supplies.

Wheat pasturage is high in protein and when used in connection with dry feeds and limited concentrates, completes a well-balanced ration. Stockmen report seasonal gains of from 200 to 300 pounds for grown cattle and of 100 to 200 pounds for calves and yearlings on well established fields of wheat supplemented by dry feeds, which may be straw, dried native grasses, or nearby fields, sorghum hay, fodder or stover. If pasture is scanty and dry feed scarce, maintenance may be all that can be expected.

Gains of approximately five pounds per month may be expected from lambs on good wheat pasture with no supplementary grain or dry feed. A commercial practice in recent years among large wheat growers, especially in western Kansas, is to graze young cattle and lambs from western ranges on winter wheat obtaining gains that compare favorably with those from summer grasses. Winter wheat pasture does not compete with nor replace summer grasses, but rather supplements them while they are dormant. The chief drawback to winter wheat as a pasture is that sufficient growth for grazing is not always assured. Wheat also is highly laxative in the early fall and occasional losses are reported from bloating and wheat poisoning.

Wheat pasturing usually begins in the fall, from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, after the plants are so rooted that they will not be pulled up by livestock, and may continue throughout the winter when weather permits until about April 1, but seldom later than April 15. Grazing is deferred until about March 1 when wheat emerges from winter dormancy. Yields, however, may be reduced materially if heavy grazing is allowed for the full period from October to April. Pastured wheat ripens from 1 to 4 days later than wheat not pastured, but is not so likely to lodge if rainfall has been heavy as grazing prevents excessive growth. Length of the average grazing season, as reported by the 62 farmers, was 84 days with a range of 45 to 150 days. Length of the grazing period and number of animals pastured depends on how much growth the wheat makes and on the need for pasture. Lack of moisture is the greatest hindrance to growth. Judgment and experience are the best guides as to when, how long, and how heavily wheat should be pastured.

Figures on pasturing obtained from the wheat farmers were in line with the experimental results. Moderate grazing of a heavy growth of wheat on fallowed land from Oct. 15 to Dec. 15 resulted in an average increase in grain yield of 3 bushels per acre for a 5-year period. Moderate grazing from Oct. 15 to Dec. 15 and from March 1 to April 15 gave an average increase of 2.3 bushels an acre. Moderate grazing from March 1 to April 15 only, resulted in an average decrease of 1 bushel an acre. Heavy grazing from Oct. 15 to Dec. 15 and from March 1 to May 1 resulted in an average loss of 3.1 bushels. The greatest reduction in yield, 6.2 bushels an acre, followed moderately heavy grazing for the short period from April 15 to May 1. In the latter half of April, when wheat was from 8 to 12 inches high, grazing was very spotted and many newly formed heads were destroyed.

There was an average reduction in yield of from .9 to 4.9 bushels an acre for all methods of grazing the crop when wheat followed wheat, largely due to reduced moisture than in the fallowed land. However, when ample growth was made on the unfallowing land, moderate pasturing gave increased yields.

In the fall months, from 3 to 7 acres of wheat may be required to carry a grown animal, depending on how rapidly the wheat is growing. Horses require more acres than cattle. Calves in the fall require approximately one-half and yearlings in the spring two-thirds as much acreage as grown cattle. Mature cows with calf are said to graze more severely than other cattle and are discriminated against when grazing is under contract. The greatest carrying capacity of wheat, about one-half acre per mature animal, is from April 10 to 30, but the greatest reduction in grain yields also result from grazing in this period.

Grazing wheat during wet weather in the fall and early winter months does not always cause serious reduction in the yield, as the areas roughened by trampling are smoothed down by spring as the result of alternate freezing and thawing. However, grazing in the late winter or spring when the fields are muddy is likely to reduce the yield considerably. It is a good practice to corral cattle at night or whenever they are through grazing, to prevent unnecessary trampling of the wheat. Pasturing wheat increases the danger of soil blowing if the surface is dry and the soil is sandy, particularly when growth is light. Farmers prefer to pasture wheat when the surface soil is a little wet, rather than abnormally dry.

Choosing the best seed, preparing a good seed bed and good cultivation enabled A. A. Moseley, farming in the eastern part of Marion county, to defeat the drought. He harvested 23 bushels of corn to the acre on eight acres and made 17 bales of cotton on 38 acres.

The Burlington county farm demonstration agent, G. C. King, has brought it right home to the farmers in his county that terracing means money in the pocket. A questionnaire sent to 300 farmers for whom he has run lines for terracing asked: "Did the terraced acres of your farm produce more than the unterraced acres?" The reply was 100 per cent yes. Coming down to brass tacks, Mr. King asked: "How much?" Replies for the cotton acreage showed an average increase of 97 pounds of seed cotton per acre. Those for corn showed a six-bushel increase per acre.

Mrs. N. F. Lewis, pantry demonstrator for the Birdville home demonstration club in Tarrant county, has put up 5,419 containers of 80 different varieties of food this year. Much of this canning has been done for friends and neighbors, but more than 1,000 containers are on the Lewis pantry shelves.

Clearing the way for county-wide activity on the improved bedroom demonstration this winter, home demonstration club women of Calhoun county have designated for an imaginary bonfire many useless objects once prized but now deteriorated and classed as "dust catchers." Among these are old paper flowers, certain types of pillows, door steps, old calendars, and disabled plaster of paris animals.

HOUSTON—"I became a pantry demonstrator because I desired intelligent directions in planning and providing an adequate diet for my family," Mrs. Horace Cooper of Harris county told Helen Cowan, home demonstration agent. With this in mind, Mrs. Cooper planned her food budget, planted her garden, and canned food for the winter according to extension service plans furnished her by Miss Cowan. She put up 1,584 containers this year and now has 992 in her pantry in addition to 500 pounds of dried, stored and cured foods valued at $253.38. There are 175 varieties in her pantry.

In addition, Mrs. Cooper has renovated the two rooms used as

Texas Pecan Men Are Indignant Over Relief Distribution

STEPHENVILLE, Texas, Nov. 20.—Indignant pecan growers of the Brazos valley are determined to find out if the federal government actually meant to say "nuts to you."

The growers' complaint is that the federal government has given financial assistance to pecan growers east of the Mississippi river while little has been done for the Texas growers.

Their complaint is supported by the fact, they say, that the Brazos valley is one of the largest pecan growing sections in the nation. Drought this year greatly damaged the crop and aid is needed, growers said.

The growers, after their protest and organization meeting here, plan to bombard Washington with requests for aid.
