Sea Shells Finding Favor With Resorters

MIAMI, Fla.—Sea shells have found a definite place in the winter resort girl's wardrobe this year.

Florida's gems of the ocean are putting in an appearance in many unexpected places in the beach girl's attire.

At the first of a series of pre-Thanksgiving soirees in the palm gardens at Honey Plaza, one blue-eyed maiden bound her blonde curls with a circle of tiny shells in rainbow tints.

Another girdled a slim evening sheath of sea-blue satin with a belt of shells. A third adorned her wrist with a pair of shell bracelets.

A chic sports outfit at the opening tea dance at Miami-Biltmore Country club used sea shells for buttons. A pair of matching shells held the belt together.

Shells on the Florida beaches sparkle with all the colors of the rainbow and the task of collecting them for evening wear is offering beach girls a new hobby.

Warner's Newest "Greatest"

POP WARNER, who tutored Ernie Nevers was superior to Jim Thorpe.
 Now the veteran asserts that Dave Smuckler, 218-pound sophomore of his undefeated Temple Owls, is a better fallback than Nevers.

In Smuckler's case, Warner is seconded by Harry Stuhldreher, one of the immortal Four Horsemen of Notre Dame and Villanova strategist, who calls the Philadelphia team's chief scoring threat the finest line crasher he's seen in his coaching career.

Yale's amazing victory over Princeton was received with more rejoicing than any other recorded in years.

And there was talk of the Tiger having outgrown the Big Three.

As one renowned coach remarked, "I got a bigger kick out of it than if I had played myself."
 Fritz Crisler's schedule didn't even meet with the approval of Princeton undergraduates.

Rob Zuppke gives the Illini's more involved plays names, such as the Flying Trapeze, NRA, and Chicago, believing that it helps his boys remember assignments.

It looks like Sam Broadson, of the Cardinals, will require someone like the Oklahoma oil man, Lew Wentz, to sign the Deans and some others.

Subtle in Baseball, Too

SCHACHT is immensely pleased with the switch to the Red Sox, if for no other reason than he preferred to remain with Cronin.

Schacht is vastly more than a clown in a baseball uniform, although he continually pulled antics during his pitching days. His favorite story is his ringing a ten-cent bounding rocket into a game he was pitching for Reading against Baltimore in 1922 and retiring the side.

Schacht is blessed with the faculty of being able to impart his pitching knowledge to youngsters. His judgment in the third base coach's box is rare.

When Cronin was incapacitated last fall, he and Clark Griffith showed what they thought of

Excess Overtime Rate Paid Not Justified If Code Disregarded

DALLAS, Nov. 27.—Payment of an overtime rate for hours in excess of the maximum permitted in NRA permanent codes for trades and industries cannot justify disregard of maximum hour provisions, according to H. P. Drought, of San Antonio, State NRA compliance director for Texas.

Texas employers faced with a shortage of labor should apply to the office of Byron Mitchell, state reemployment director, 417-420 Scarborough building, P. O. Box 957, Austin, Texas, Mr. Drought said. If the employer is unable to obtain the type workers needed, and after obtaining a certificate to that effect from the United States Employment Service, application may be made to NRA for an exception to the provisions of the code applicable to the industry.

"Cardinal principles governing a decision should be the purpose to restore purchasing power by spreading employment," Drought stated. "Therefore, in order to be certain that there are no available competent men who can be employed, the petitioner is required to submit a statement from the office of the U. S. Employment Service."

"The petitioner should submit adequate information on hours, number of employees, wages, and the nature of the work in order to substantiate the need for exemption. Petitions should be passed on by the proper code authority in order to avoid a injustice to competitors," Mr. Drought stated.

Inquiries pertaining to NRA compliance in general should be directed to Sherwood H. Avery, executive assistant, National Recovery Administration, 1212 Republic Bank building, Dallas, Texas.

THE CHRISTIAN AS A WITNESS

I Thessalonians 1:1-10 Paul's second missionary journey took him from Asia into Europe. He was accompanied by Silvanus, Timotheus, and Timothy and directed by the Holy Spirit.

Persecution followed them along each way, pushing them on from city to city. He first founded the church in Philippi, a leading city of Macedonia.

Paul's gentle, fatherly tone continues in speaking of his thanks and prayers for them.

It seems incredible that so much wisdom could be crowded into one small sentence.

Love is the great principle that will carry us safely along the highway of life overcoming every obstacle, no matter how hard to surmount it may be.

Patience is the heart or center of hope. Without hope life is indeed forlorn.

Children's coughs need Creomulsion. Always get the best, fastest and surest treatment for your child's cough or cold.

sums up life. A Christian meets both with a heart strengthened and uplifted and not bowed in craven fear. As the Christian turns to God alone his soul responds to all that is beautiful, clean and pure.

Paul was an artist in the art of persuasion for he was not a disciple of Gamaliel, a famous teacher who was called "the flower of the law".

He spoke of the good things that people reported of them thus encouraging them to go further and further in their evangelism.

The keynote of this lesson is the value of an everyday life. The life must not be puffed up reminding others to behold how righteous. But it must be naturally humble and filled with love, going about each small task with hope and patience radiating kindness, tolerance and helpfulness.

The Christian should ever strive to understand more in the manner as Jesus did. It is great compassion and understanding cannot be comprehended.

More hindrance to evangelism is wrought in that word—misunderstanding. To reach a person, a great compassion and understanding that can only be found through prayer must reach out from the heart and hold the attention.

It is then that messengers of Christ's message can claim the promise of our Golden Text:

But he shall receive power, when the Holy Spirit is come upon you; and ye shall be my witnesses both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea and Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth. (Acts 1:8).

Activities of the H. Demonstration Clubs of County

Bedroom Improvement
Improve the bedroom and arrange in order to meet the needs of the family from the standpoint of health, comfort and beauty is a goal Mrs. J. W. Tune, bedroom demonstrator for the Teak Home demonstration club will complete during the year's program. In addition to this Mrs. Tune will make a mattress for herself and show the other club members how this can be done at home. Mrs. Tune will assist the 14 co-operators in the club to complete the goals, make a tufted bedspread, arrange the room, removing all unnecessary furnishings. Her room will have a general change made as given above and this room will be the pattern room of the community and the public will be invited to see this when the year's work has been completed. Mrs. Tune starts with her demonstration Jan. 1.

Fool-Proof Pastry
Pastry can always be flaky, light and tender if made by the following recipe recommended by Mrs. W. I. Dixon, farm food supply co-operator of the Bass Lake Home demonstration club:
One-third cup water (hot or cold), one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup shortening, one and one-half cup flour. Mix shortening with the water, then add other ingredients and roll for crusts. A little flour will have to be sprinkled on the board. This will make one two-crust pie or three nine-inch crusts. Mrs. Dixon says this will keep in the ice box for several days and is still light and tender.

The hearing was adjourned until Dec. 3, presumably to permit action by the grand jury.

Steinmetz was charged with "discharging several shots" into the bodies of his movie-dancer wife and the Rev. Joseph Leonard, 40, chaplain of the Home of the Aged, at Lawrenceville, N. J.

It was learned that Mrs. Steinmetz and the priest were in a state of undress when the student entered the priest's room at a hotel yesterday after a drinking bout and killed them both.

Steinmetz was distraught when brought to police headquarters. Jail attaches said he tossed restlessly all night.

MAN BELIEVES GIRL VICTIMS HIS DAUGHTERS

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 27.—Emmett Hamilton of Cleveland, Ohio, was quoted by Coroner E. A. Maa-gle today as saying he believed the victims of the "babes in the wood" slaying "may be his daughters."

Hamilton viewed the bodies of the three young girls whose identities have been a mystery since they were discovered under a blanket in the South mountains on Saturday.

He had not seen his daughters in three years, but said his eldest daughter had a prominent mole on the back of her head. The oldest of the three girls found on the mountainside had a similar mark.

"He appears sincere and thinks the girls may be his daughters," Haegle said.

Hamilton told police his wife left him three years ago and took their daughters, ages 15, 13 and 11. They went to North Philadelphia, but Hamilton did not hear from them.

PARDON IS GRANTED IN FAMED CASE

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—Gov. Miriam Ferguson today issued a pardon effective Jan. 20, 1935, for Milt Good, serving a 51-year sentence for killing H. L. Roberson and W. D. Allison, inspectors of the Texas Cattle Raisers association.

The inspectors were killed at Seminole in Gaines county in 1925.

Good was convicted in a trial at Lubbock of killing Allison and sentenced to 25 years in prison. He was convicted in a trial at Abilene and given 25 years. Sentences were made cumulative.

With Good at the time of the killing was Tom Ross, later reported to have killed himself in Montana after escaping from the Texas penitentiary and killing two men in the northwest.

Slaying of the cattle inspectors became one of the noted criminal cases in West Texas. It occurred in a hotel lobby the night of April 1, 1925. Good then lived at Brownfield but had gone to Seminole to meet Ross.

The cattle raisers' inspectors were there also, investigating cattle thefts in that section. Good testified he shot while defending himself and Ross. He said he shot Allison as the inspector rose in his chair with his hand on his hip. He said he then turned, shooting from the waist and shot Roberson, whose hand was near his gun.

New Harmony Is Seen In Texas Politics After 30 Long Years

By GORDON K. SHEARER
 United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—Texas democracy, torn by vicious inter-party strife for 30 years, appears to be entering an era of good feeling.

The Bailey feud has been buried in the past; the Ku Klux Klan issue failed to revive in the last campaign; and James E. Ferguson—himself—has sounded the death knell of "Fergusonism."

The last special legislative session, with its Colorado and Brazos river bills and tax penalty remission, he pictured as "the crowning conclusion of Fergusonism in Texas."

"A man can spend all his time hating three persons," former Gov. Jim explained in announcing that he now is at peace with the world and its politicians. Dan Moody as No. 1 object of his hate is not difficult to pick. Who would rank Nos. 2 and 3 is more difficult to say. Gov.-elect James V. Allred apparently is not one of them though he defeated Ferguson-supported candidates successively in the primaries.

"I am for Jim Allred," the former governor announced as they sat on the same dais in the closing hours of the legislative session.

Allred, too, seems disposed to bury past hatchets. "I would everybody's help," he announced.

The toes he tramped upon during his campaign are ceasing to ache.

Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters has carried out his threat to resign from the national guard of Texas if Allred were elected, and Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson brotected him a major general, making it unnecessary for Gov.-elect Allred to carry out his campaign rejoinder that he would speed the brigadier general's "farewell to arms" when he took office.

Acrimony in the senate over Allred's demand for publication for incorporation employment of legislators seems also to have quieted. Note the invitation given to him to sit with the senators at its close.

Many of the senators resented Allred's campaign statements. They had refused to disclose employment when the house by resolution called for such statements. If Allred can put through his campaign pledge, forced publicity will be given to corporation fees and retainers.

Without any direct word but by putting two and two together, the state capitol has figured out that E. B. Anderson is going to be the king-pin in a brain trust that will push Allred policies. As first step it is expected he will become Allred's tax commissioner.

He has been renamed an assistant attorney general to sit next week with a senate committee studying tax problems. He has been tax assistant for Allred and leaves a professorship in the University of Texas to return to an assistant's post in an administration with only a month more to go. It isn't common sense, the capitol figures say, to believe he would quit a permanent post of honor for a month in the attorney general's office unless he knew what is going to happen after Jan. 1.

LIGHTING RULES TO KEEP IN MIND

1. Use lamp bulbs of the correct wattage. The least you should have is 40-watt MAZDA lamps for 3-socket lamps, 60-watt for 2-socket lamps, 100-watt for single-socket lamps.
2. Have all lamp bulbs shaded. For portables, a shade light in color, wide in spread, and open at the top.
3. Never read in glaring light, or in your own shadow.
4. Always use lamp bulbs of reputable make. Inferior ones burn out and blacken quickly.

STUDY LAMPS

When the Illuminating Engineering Society designed these Reading and Study Lamps, they took into consideration all of the things that are needed in lamps of this kind—distribution of light, proper distribution of light of the right intensity and so on. These lamps meet the requirements and are as nearly perfect as science can make them. Order yours today—or come in and look them over. There are other styles and sizes of lamps that you want, too.

SAYS HE WAS TOLD BY AGENTS NOT TO TALK

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—P. W. Sherman, a witness to the machine gun slayings of two federal agents by George (Baby Face) Nelson...

Previously Melvin Purvis, chief of the federal bureau of investigation headquarters here, had sought to have the inquest postponed.

"I don't care about the federal government. I want your testimony," Deputy County Coroner Don Butler told Sherman.

The department of justice automobile, in which Nelson, his wife and the other man fled after the killing, was found in Wrenneta, North Shore suburb, today.

The front seat was caked with blood and the body riddled with bullets, indicating that one of the occupants may have been badly wounded.

Baby Face Nelson Got Education In Chicago Stockyard

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN United Press Staff Correspondent CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Ten years ago Lester M. Gilles was a chubby, round-faced lad playing "robber" and "Indian" in the Chicago "back of the yards" district.

gardless, into a career of crime that includes, bank robbery, automobile theft, murder and a long list of other crimes.

Federal men believe he will die like his predecessors—John Dillinger and Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd—with a gun in his hand and bullets in his body.

Nelson is the last, but one, of the Dillinger gang that conducted a reign of banditry over the mid-west for nearly a year.

For months his gangster associates have been "shadowed" by department of justice agents.

The department of justice automobile, in which Nelson, his wife and the other man fled after the killing, was found in Wrenneta, North Shore suburb, today.

The front seat was caked with blood and the body riddled with bullets, indicating that one of the occupants may have been badly wounded.

deserted their two children to be with him.

In a small southwest side apartment his aged mother cares for his two small children, doctoring their childish hurts and listening to their plaints as she did her own son a few years ago.

"They'll kill George some day, I know," she says calmly. "I've already steeled myself to expect that. Yet, I dread the day they will bring his body home."

She recalls the days when he played about the stock yards. He was a hero then, she said, to every boy in the neighborhood because he always took the blame when a window was broken, or apples stolen from a peddler's wagon.

His boasting won for him a popularity among other boys, but the day came when he had to "make good" his boasts to keep up his reputation. Police already had an eye on this small, wistful boy back of the yards.

His deep blue eyes, his short stature and his cherubic countenance early gained him the name of "Baby Face." He detested the name and that aversion led him into many boyhood fights.

Police at first questioned and then warned him about neighborhood petty thefts. He joined a gang of "toughs" and began by stealing an automobile. At first they drove the automobiles a few hours and abandoned them.

Then he became "girl crazy." To get money to become a "sport" he began selling automobiles he stole. In 1925 he was caught with a stolen automobile, but was let off with a short sentence to the St. Charles School for Boys.

A year later he was paroled, but twice was returned for violating that parole. Inside he was a good prisoner and was made a monitor with authority over 75 boys.

At expiration of his sentence he returned with the resolved to "go straight." The reputation he once had sought and gloried in became a burden that he couldn't throw off. Police kept him under surveillance.

At 21, his mother said, he became bitter and sullen. Police, he complained, hounded him as he drove a delivery truck and would not let him "go straight."

A year later, in 1926, he quit his truck to throw his lot definitely with a gang of gunmen. His first major "job" was the robbery of a bank at Spring Grove, Ill.

For a time after that he was not identified as participating in any major crimes. Then he robbed a bank at Hillside, Ill., and another at Itasca, Ill., in 1930.

He was captured and convicted of the Hillside robbery. A jury sentenced him to serve from one year to life in Joliet penitentiary. While there he participated in an attempted prison break, but was caught.

In 1932 he was brought back to be tried for the Itasca robbery. The jury sentenced him to from one to 20 years. While being returned to prison he escaped from his jail guards.

Again Nelson dropped out of police sight. He was heard from again almost two years later, when he joined the Dillinger gang after the leader had escaped from Lake county jail at Crown Point, Ind.

He became a machine gunner in the Dillinger ranks and won the reputation of having an "itchy" trigger finger. Police say he participated in every bank robbery committed by the Dillinger gang after he joined.

"Baby Face" became a trusted lieutenant of Dillinger—they were made of the same stuff, cold, hard, daring and fearless. Many of Dillinger's Chicago "contacts" with the underworld were made through Nelson.

He followed Dillinger and other members of the gang to a Wisconsin resort hideout near Mercer, last July. Their "women" went with them. Federal department of justice agents were not far behind.

He followed Dillinger and other members of the gang to a Wisconsin resort hideout near Mercer, last July. Their "women" went with them. Federal department of justice agents were not far behind.

Under cover of darkness the agents surrounded the Little Bohemia roadhouse which the gang had taken over. In some mysterious manner the Dillinger gang was warned of the trap.

Nelson with Dillinger and the rest slipped out at back door and fled on foot. They left their women behind. The federal officers were waiting for the arrival of Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the Chicago department of justice office before striking.

On a road near the resort Nelson came upon a group of men sitting in an automobile. Thrusting his revolver into the car he said: "I don't know whether you are federal men or not but in five years, take this." He emptied his revolver. W. Carter Baum, a department of justice agent, died before he could lift a machine gun that lay across his lap.

Nelson escaped with other members of the gang. By this time, however, the "heat was on" and the gangsters sought separate hideouts. Vague reports of the presence of Nelson at various places were received by police, but he managed to elude them.

Those who know him best sometimes called him by the name he liked most—Little Napoleon. His small, round stature—five feet five inches tall—won that sobriquet for him.

Other people have other names for him. Attorney General Homer S. Cummings calls him "rat."

Our Fleet is Large Enough, Except Only As Aggressor

Those endless conversations at London seem to be bringing the naval disarmament conference up to a point at which the American people will have to make some definite, reasoned decision as to their future naval policy.

Japan's spokesmen say that they are going to have naval equality. If America and England do not consent, they will have it anyway.

That being the case, what do we do about it? Set out to outbuild the Japanese, regardless? In an uncertain world we can be sure of this—that would be a sure road to trouble.

Admiral Sir Herbert Richmond, of England, recently wrote a book called "Sea Power in the Modern World." In it he pointed out the reasons for the existence of navies; and in this crisis his remarks are worth listening to.

A nation builds a navy, he says, to protect its shores from invasion, to keep itself from being starved by interruption of its sea-borne commerce, to protect its merchant ships and colonies, or to implement some overseas policy.

A navy capable of doing these things is an adequate navy, regardless of the strength of other navies.

Certain things are immediately obvious. A smaller fleet than we have now would keep us safe from invasion. Furthermore, we cannot be starved into defeat, because we are so nearly self-sufficient.

What remains, then? Colonies? Hawaii, Alaska, the Caribbean Islands, the Canal Zone; World War experience indicates that it would take a fleet ever so much stronger than ours to wrest those from us.

One thing is left; overseas policy. We oppose Japan's course in China and Manchuria. But if we are preparing to fight to checkmate that policy, even our present margin of superiority is not enough.

All naval strategists agree that we could not fight successfully in Japanese waters without a much greater margin than we have under the existing treaty.

These are things to be weighed thoughtfully before we decide on our future course. They might, conceivably, convince us that all is not lost even if Japan does make good her claim to equality.

Gloom spreaders who can't see any good in the home town should buy a lot in the cemetery and phone for the undertaker. They're dead and don't know it.

A lot of motorists seem to depend upon their horns instead of their brakes to keep them out of accidents.

On Crime Probe

W. B. Collie of Eastland, who visited Houston on a crime investigation committee.

Texas Crime Probers Pay Visit to Houston

Senator Willbourne C. Collie breaks into Houston with three colleagues on the newly appointed committee to reclassify criminal laws of Texas and incidentally take time out to go out and bag a deer. The proof of the goodness of the "padding" is in the facts. Here they are clipped from the issue of the Houston Press of Friday, Nov. 23:

The Scotland Yard of the Texas legislature, grim, mysterious and secretive, swooped down on Houston Thursday for a protracted investigation of crime here.

Three members of the senate crime investigation committee settled down in quarters at the Rice Hotel and planned to take the South Texas underworld apart and see what makes it click.

Committee Members

They are: Willbourne Collie of Eastland, the man who, it is reported, has been selected by Governor-elect Allred to reclassify criminal laws of Texas, J. W. E. H. Beck of DeKalb, who was head of the fee investigation committee which revolutionized the fee system and saved the state millions, and Bob Poage of Waco.

Two other crime investigators, Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth, and Will Martin of Hillsboro, may be here later.

Crime Inquiry

The purpose of the committee is to find out all about crime in Texas and to tell the next legislature about it.

Crime is going to be one of the most important problems of the next legislature and the work of the crime investigation committee is going to make a lot of headlines later.

Back From Deer Hunt

Senators Poage and Collie have just returned from a deer hunt in West Texas.

"Collie hit one running at 400 yards and Poage hit his over the head with an ironing board at three paces," said Senator John Redditt of Lufkin, who was visiting with the investigators.

Poage suggested the committee might investigate the "crime" of hotels charging a dime for a cup of coffee.

"We're going to do something about that at the next session of the legislature," said Redditt. "When somebody says let's go down to the coffee shop, we're going to say, no, they are unfair to the members of the legislature."

Officer Stands Guard

When the crime investigation committee meets it does so with the utmost secrecy, posting a grim officer of the law without the door.

Emerging members even refuse to admit they had a meeting.

"Word about our fee investigations got out and two men committed suicide after reading it," Senator Beck explained.

Thursday the committee was to hear "a big bunch" of witnesses from Buffalo and other East Texas cities.

The senators plan to spend considerable time in Houston. Houston and Galveston are famed in the legislature as being the "wide open" towns of Texas where a man can bet all he wants on a roll of the little red dice, or buy all the liquor he wants across the counter of a cafe or drug store.

Will Look Into It

The crime investigators will look into that.

Horse racing today is on trial in Texas. The crime investigation committee is the jury in the case. There will be a very strong movement to repeal the law allowing pari-mutuel wagers. If the crime investigators bring in a verdict against horse racing, it is almost certain that the legislature will outlaw race track gambling.

The committee to a large extent sits as a jury on liquor. If it condemns conditions relating to liquor sales, it is going to be almost impossible to get the legislature to call an election on repeal of the state dry laws.

A great many liberties of the people and many sins of the underworld hang in the balance as three earnest members of the legislature meet in a locked room of a Houston hotel.

German Rearmament Adds to Seriousness of War Situation

(Copyright 1934 by United Press)

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Germany's rapid rearmament in deliberate violation of the treaty of Versailles and the danger of it forcing a regrouping of continental powers or the eventualities of the next major war, were drawn sharply to the forefront of Europe's fears today.

In fact negotiations for an eastern European treaty of security which would include Poland—France's ally and a buffer between Russia and Germany—are still proceeding.

Conversations have been proceeding between France and Russia regarding the situation created by Germany's rearmament and it is well within the bounds of possibility that there eventually will be an entente.

If and when it occurs it will be among the most important diplomatic developments since the World War because it will constitute a reversion to the pre-war balance of power system with Europe grouped into hostile armed camps. It will also mean the virtual end of the phase of attempts by collective security treaties to prevent war. It will also be a shattering blow at the League of Nations' methods.

ROME, Nov. 24.—Italy came to Hungary's defense today and backed a demand for immediate discussion of Jugo-Slavia charges that Hungary sheltered terrorists of the gang which killed King Alexander.

Jugo-Slavia complained to the League of Nations. Hungary asked that the league council consider the charges at once. An official communication today said that responsible Italian quarters acknowledged Hungary's rights to an immediate discussion and added: "Responsible quarters consider the situation delicate, but do not believe it is such as to lead to immediate more serious complications."

ROME, Nov. 24.—A drastic decree forbidding disclosure of information regarding land, sea or air defense and designed to make Italy spy-proof, was made public today.

L. Rust and Prof. R. D. Roe, Eastland; Miss Ruby Pounds, Gorman; D. F. Brashears and J. E. Meroney and Roy Moore, Ranger; H. A. "Gus" Reynolds, master of ceremonies; Miss Locke, Miss Pounds, Miss Zelma Hatton and Prof. Keeton were pianists.

Citizens of State Asked to Give Thought to Health

AUSTIN, Tex.—Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, has asked all citizens of Texas to give some thought to health both personal and public, on this Thanksgiving day. The original Thanksgiving was held by the Colonies for the purpose of giving thanks for their health.

Great advances in the treatment and prevention of disease have been made since that first Thanksgiving. Yellow fever, plague, and cholera have practically ceased to exist. Smallpox, diphtheria, and typhoid can be eliminated as a cause of death if a person will have himself and children immunized. Malaria and many other diseases can be controlled if the public would demand that the government furnish such protection.

Due to the advancement in knowledge of disease, concerning its prevention and cure, fifteen years have been added to the expectation of life. This means that a child born now can be expected to live fifteen years longer than he would have if he had been born fifty years ago.

We have a great deal more to be thankful for now, even with a depression, than did our Pilgrim forefathers; so let each one in his Thanksgiving pledge to assist in furthering the work being done to improve health conditions in Texas.

Molyneaux Warns Of Needs of the Cotton Industry

DALLAS, Nov. 27.—Continued improvement of its people and eventual ruin of its great industry, cotton, was foreseen for the south today unless it mobilizes to regain its world markets and to fight for tariff adjustments.

At a meeting of the cotton trade employes association here yesterday, Peter Molyneux, editor of the Texas Weekly, said that the south faced its "greatest crisis since the Civil war" and attacked the government's program of cotton reduction.

60-FOOT FALL KILLS MINER BELLELAIRE, O.—Charles Kovach, 48, a miner, was killed when he fell 60 feet from a railroad bridge while returning home from a party.

A well is spouting oil in a Texas cemetery, smoothing the way for any residents that might need it.

Family Reunion Is Like a Convention

PINE BLUFF, Ark.—It'll look like a democratic convention when the Hankins family holds its celebration here next July 4.

There are 2,000 votes in the family, which claims to be the largest family in Arkansas, and all of them are democratic.

There isn't a republican member in the family, no member has ever been in the penitentiary, there isn't an old maid in the tribe and only one old bachelor on record.

Frank Hankins, 91, of Pine Bluff, is the patriarch of the family. He has 12 children.

Huge Onion Crop Is Being Planted

LAREDO, Tex.—Favorable weather has given an impetus to transplanting Bermuda onion sets and several thousand Mexican laborers are at work on the project in this district.

The work probably will continue until late in December when it is estimated from 1,850 to 2,000 acres will have been set out.

TRADITION SHATTERED

AUSTIN.—Edna St. Vincent Millay, poetess, is credited with shattering a long-time tradition at the University of Texas Faculty Women's club. Smoking there was unheard of. At a reception Miss Millay, focus of attention, kindled a cigarette. The precedent was shattered. Smoking is now allowed.

PROFESSORS TO GO WADING

PROVO, Utah.—Five members of the Brigham Young University faculty are going wading in the Utah lake—but not for fun. Theirs will be the scientific mission of finding out why the lake is slowly disappearing. The problem of sedimentation needs investigating.

BLACK-DRAUGHT For CONSTIPATION

"I am 71 years old and have used Theodor's Black-Draught about forty years," writes Mr. W. J. Vanover, of Rome, Ky. "We are never without it. I take it as a purgative when I am bilious, dizzy and have swimming in my head. Black-Draught relieves this, and helps me in many ways." Keep a package of this old, reliable, purely vegetable laxative in your home, and take it for prompt relief at the first sign of constipation.

New Constitution Finds Favor In The State Capitol

AUSTIN.—A centennial constitution to launch Texas on its second hundred years of progress is in high favor here.

The state legislature will meet Jan. 8, 1935, and call a constitutional convention in mid-summer. The convention can submit its "new deal" constitution to a referendum in the early fall and have it working by 1936—Texas centennial year.

The proposed new constitution would be the seventh for Texas. Its advocates seek a new view of taxes with heavier levies on privileges and intangibles and lighter burdens on farms, homes, and ranches. They want greater home rule; elimination of duplicating tax bodies, shorter cuts to justice, both civil and criminal—a constitution to meet the "forward-looking thought growing out of the depression."

Former Governor Pat M. Neff sounded the call for an entirely new constitution in 1922. He proposed to give Texas a new outfit "from hat to boots." Amendments were not adequate, said the Biblically-minded governor as he quoted: "No man seweth a piece of new cloth onto an old garment."

The democratic party fell in line. Their platform called for a constitutional convention. Representative Lee J. Rountree of Bryan and J. E. Quaid of El Paso proposed a referendum on it. The house by resolution sought one; the senate killed it by a tie vote.

The constitution of the Texas Republic was discarded in 1845 for a new one thought more suitable for statehood. Praised by Daniel Webster as "the best of American state constitutions," it lasted only until the strife of the Civil war days. The war between the states and its reconstruction period resulted in new constitutions in 1861, 1865 and 1869. The present constitution was adopted in 1876. None of its framers still lives.

Today's constitution, however, is but a battered fragment of the document of 1876. Sixty-one amendments, adopted by popular vote, have changed it piecemeal. The people by vote have rejected 67 other proposed changes. Eight were rejected Nov. 6, 1934.

Agitation for a new constitution has met quick opposition. Defeat of all offered amendments in November is cited as proof that the people are not able at this time to decide on a constitution. Others fear the prohibition issue.

Procedure for a new constitution is simple. The legislature calls the convention, decides how many delegates shall attend, and how they shall be chosen. The convention drafts the constitution and the people vote for or against it in referendum.

STRAWN MERCHANDISE COMPANY HAS LARGE STOCK

Since the early 80's when Captain Dilahunty moved his stock of merchandise from Palo Pinto to the little community of Strawn, the town has been one of the leading trading centers of this section of the state, and with the growth of the town and the Strawn Merchandise Company, the importance of the community and the store have grown side-by-side.

Being one of the first merchandise stores in Strawn, it was also one of the first of the western outposts to thrive, and since it was first established the Strawn Merchandise Company has been a Mecca for the shoppers from the farms, the ranches, the mines and the various other industries throughout a wide trading area.

The company has grown and progressed throughout the years until it has become famous over the entire trade area as one of the best stores of its kind west of Fort Worth, and the business has been handled in such a way that some of the first customers of the store have been trading there year after year, and are still listed as satisfied customers.

Starting out with a small store, only 24 by 40 feet, it has been increased in size to take care of the growing stock of merchandise, until at present it occupies half a block and carries one of the most complete stocks of merchandise to be found in a town of much larger size.

Knowing that if it is to be found anywhere it will likely be carried in stock by the Strawn Merchandise Company, traders from over a large area make it their shopping headquarters and as the years have rolled on this list of traders has increased.

The store has a complete dry goods department, market department, grocery store, and handles all kinds of hardware in addition to being in the undertaking business.

Mixed Tendencies Are Observed In Fed. Reserve Area

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—Mixed tendencies were observed in the financial activities of the Eleventh Federal Reserve District during October, according to the compilations of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Checks cashed by the Dallas Federal Reserve bank which serves the Eleventh district totaled $697,000,000, 28 per cent above September and 8.4 per cent greater than in October last year, the bureau's report said. Total deposits of $28,000,000 were up 4.1 per cent from September and 19.6 per cent above October, 1933, due entirely to the increase in demand deposits. Total loans of $196,000,000 showed an increase of 2 per cent over September but a decline of 9.7 per cent from October a year ago. Commercial loans were responsible for the small increase over September while loans on securities other than those of the government showed a decline from September of the current year and October last year of 2 per cent and 18.3 per cent respectively.

Government securities owned, totaling $176,000,000, were down 1.7 per cent from September but still were 43 per cent above October last year.

Farm News of Interest to the Farmers of This Section

Hog Processors to Make Returns and Pay Taxes Thereon

According to information furnished by County Agent J. C. Patterson, through the Internal Revenue Service of Dallas, every processor of hogs is required to make monthly returns and pay the tax thereon.

Patterson's Information:
Under the Agricultural Adjustment Act every processor of hogs is required to make monthly returns and pay the tax due thereon to the Collector of Internal Revenue (Second District, Dallas, Texas). Such forms are required to be filed and tax due paid before the last day of the month following the month within which the processing took place. The existing processing tax rate on hogs is $2.25 per hundred pounds live weight.

Previous to November 1, 1934 a processor of hogs was defined as any person slaughtering hogs for market. Effective November 1, 1934 by Regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture, in addition to the above definition of a processor of hogs such definition was amended so as to include any person, market, restaurant, hotel, club or hospital or similar establishment purchasing hog carcasses or edible hog products from producer or feeders of hogs for resale, rehandling or further preparation for market, who is required by law to make monthly returns to the collector of Internal Revenue and pay the processing tax upon the live weight of all hog products purchased from farmers and feeders at the rate of $2.25 per hundred pounds live weight. To restore the weight of a hog carcass to a live hog a conversion factor of 132 has been prescribed. For example: a hog carcass weighing 100 pounds restored to live weight by use of the conversion factor is 132 pounds. In other words, the weight of the carcass is to be increased by 32 per cent in order to determine the live weight.

From the foregoing effective November 1, 1934, it will be noted that a person, market, restaurant, hotel, club, hospital or similar establishment can no longer purchase carcasses of hogs or portions from farmers or feeders without incurring legal liability for the payment of the tax on the live weight of such carcass or hog products where purchased for resale, rehandling or further preparation for market. Such person also required to report and pay the tax on all hogs slaughtered by him for market or resale.

A producer or feeder of hogs is not defined as a processor where he slaughters hogs and sells carcasses or portions thereof to any person or concern for resale or further preparation for market. However the producer or feeder of hogs, who slaughters hogs and sells the carcasses or portion thereof direct to the consumer (not for resale), such feeders or producer in any case is the processor and is required by law to make returns and pay such tax as may be shown to be due on account of such processing.

The producer (not including a feeder) of hogs is privileged to slaughter and sell not more than 300 pounds of pork products during any marketing year direct to consumer, tax exempt. The 300 pound exemption referred to means that not more than 300 pounds of hog products can be sold tax free by any one producer to the consumer during the marketing year. The marketing year is from November 5th of one year to November 5th of the following year. The producer who sells more than 300 pounds under the above exemption provision of pork products during the marketing years incurs legal liability for payment of the processing tax on the full amount sold in excess of 300 pounds.

W. A. Thomas, Collector Internal Revenue Service Dallas, Texas.

24-Year-Old Steer May Be Exhibited

KERRVILLE.—"Old Paint," a 24-year-old almost toothless bull in a herd of Texas Longhorns, called the last surviving herd and belonging to L. A. Schreiner, Kerrville banker, may be on exhibition at the Texas Centennial.

The Kerrville man, who has a private game park at his suburban home, has written to a centennial official at Dallas, offering to let the herd of Longhorns be exhibited. "Old Paint" was sent to Chicago last year on exhibition at the Century of Progress.

Another thing against "You and Machines" is that it sounds too much like sneering at a fellow for the way he drives.

23 Foreign Powers Will Take Part In Pacific Exposition

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Twenty-three foreign powers today pledged their participation in the California Pacific International Exposition here next year.

Through their consular representatives in San Francisco, the nations have enthusiastically accepted invitations to cooperate and exhibit under the Exposition's plan of foreign participation.

Thirty-five consulate officials, representing 23 nations, conferred with Frank Dragan, director of foreign relations, in San Francisco and voted unanimous backing to California in staging the spectacle which will be unveiled May 29.

Represented at the conference, which will be followed by a similar meeting with San Diego consulate officials on Dec. 3, were Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, China, Colombia, Costa Rica, Czechoslovakia, Ecuador, El Salvador, Germany, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Japan, Luxembourg, Mexico, Netherlands, Panama, Persia, Peru, Siam, Spain, Uruguay.

Outlining the Exposition's plan of foreign participation, Dragan told of the unprecedented progress being made, emphasized the international aspects of the $10,000,000 undertaking, and declared that "the name—Pacific International—reveals the spirit of this Exposition. Foreign nations are being invited to participate in the promotion of the spirit of harmonious international accord."

Dragan told of the "House of Pacific Relations," an undertaking unique in the world of Expositions. This, he said, is a group of dwellings of California Colonial architecture in which representatives of foreign nations will reside while participating in the Exposition.

An enthusiastic response greeted the description of the Exposition's international effort, which was crystallized into pledges of cooperation from each of the powers represented at the reception.

Rabbit Choked a Snake to Death

TAYLOR, Tex.—The story of a small rabbit choking a 15-year-old rattlesnake to death was told here by Albert Schram—and he had the evidence to prove that his story was true.

In a clump of trees Schram found the skeleton of a six and a half foot snake with 13 rattles. Clinging to the snake's jaw bone was the skeleton of a rabbit.

The rabbit, apparently, while being swallowed by the snake, had hooked his teeth into the side of the snake's jaw. The snake couldn't swallow his prey and the rabbit couldn't escape.

Breck Man Misses Death From Razor By Quarter Inches

BRECKENRIDGE, Nov. 26.—"It is the thickness of a jugular vein that saved my life," Mrs. Edgar Davis said Sunday.

Davis, employee of the Breckenridge post office, was cut across the throat by a razor Saturday. He, after treatment in a Breckenridge hospital, from his bed Sunday, said that the wound was inflicted by one of two men who hopped on his car and ordered him to do as they said. Twelve stitches were taken in his neck.

Davis told the sheriff's department one man hopped on his car as he left the postoffice. He drove toward the new postoffice where another man hopped on the running board. He drove the two to Wheeler street at their orders, where they cut his throat. He jumped out in the street after he jumped out, Davis said.

The automobile was found about an hour later near the postoffice. Davis said he discounted that the injury was inflicted by enemies, as he had none, they said.

Some in Breckenridge connect the incident to thieves who robbed the postoffice at Parks Friday.

School Bell Rings Again for Auto Service Men

Grown men who once thought they were "educated" are willing pupils at Magnolia Institute, Dallas. In the picture Dean J. R. Lanier is explaining the workings of a piston so that the class of Magnolia men will be able to do a better lubrication job.

Auto Service Men Learn Mechanics at Magnolia School

DALLAS, Tex.—The Magnolia Institute, Automotive Engineering and Merchandising School of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, was organized for the purpose of training Magnolia "key men" to give better and more helpful service to the public who buy Magnolia products.

These "key men" are a picked group selected from the states of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, Louisiana and New Mexico. These states comprise the Magnolia territory.

Fred M. Lege, Jr., Vice President in charge of sales promotion in talking about the school said: "The theory of this school is that business these days is the business of keeping up with new methods, of becoming familiar with new products, or learning new uses of old products, of acquiring new information on how to serve the public better and more satisfactorily. In studying these things, men gain a broader perspective of their job and therefore greater happiness in doing their work."

"We believe that as long as a man comes into contact with the public, he influences the sale of the product of the company. In that sense he is a salesman, no matter what his actual work may be. If he is to serve more satisfactorily, he must continually add to his knowledge of the product he sells and the manner in which it serves the public."

Lessons added, gives Magnolia employees this added knowledge of their work, gives them the widened perspective of its importance to the people buying our products."

The school consists of four classes, one class at a time for four weeks. The courses are conducted by Magnolia officials, engineers, advertising and merchandising men. These men are qualified by aptitude, training and experience to make the subjects illuminating and interesting.

The method of instruction is unusual in one respect. Although there are text books prepared especially for the classes, the study methods go farther than that. There are boards on which are arranged in actual parts of an automobile chassis, showing the different parts, their relation to one another and their operation. Then there are moving pictures showing actual operation of the engine, cooling system, carburetor, fuel system, ignition system, transmission and differential.

William Frawley, featured in Bing Crosby's "Here Is My Heart" was actually dragged from the theater by his big brother, when his mother heard of his first stage job.

TIRED OUT?...

get a Lift with a Camel!

BUSINESS GIRL. Eve L. Miller says: "I started to smoke Camels because I appreciate mildness and delicacy of flavor. Camels give me a 'lift' when my energy is low. They never upset my nerves."

MPKEY STAR. "Bill Cook, New York Reporter" says: "I smoke only Camels. They have a taste that sure hits the spot! I smoke all I want and find that Camels never get on my nerves or tire my taste."

GIRL EXPLORER. Mrs. William LaVerre says: "Any time I'm tired I just stop and smoke a Camel. It wakes up my energy in no time. And smoking Camels steadily, I find, does not affect one's nerves."

CARTOONIST. Chon Day says: "I often work 10-11-12 hours at a stretch and am smoking Camels all the time. They help to increase my 'zip' when I feel tired or glum, and Camels never upset my nerves."

Camel smokers notice a positive energy-refreshing effect from smoking Camels when they are tired or "out of sorts." Above is Ray Baker, star newspaper man of the International News Service. He says: "The man on the INS desk has a high-pressure job. A big story breaks and I am on the desk for ten hours...twelve hours...working at top speed! Whenever I feel 'all in' Camels bring back my 'zip.' For over ten years I've preferred Camels—I can smoke them continually without jangled nerves."

Science confirms the experience of smokers regarding Camel's "energizing effect." Camel's matchless blend of costlier tobaccos never upsets the nerves. And you never tire of their finer flavor!

TOBACCO EXPERTS ALL SAY:
"Camels are made from finer, more expensive tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand."

Sharp's Valley

Since the recent rains we never saw grass and small grain grow so fast. If the warm weather continues for two more weeks we will have fine pastures.

Since the government has quit buying cattle there are still many cattle left that cannot survive the winter and their owners are unable to care for them, so there is a move to get the government to take some more cattle to relieve the situation.

We notice there are several people circulating petitions asking congress to give an old age pension of $200 per month to each person 60 years old or over, provided each pensioner spends that amount of money each month and does not engage in remunerative business or labor. Say, boys, that won't bring on the millennium any sooner. Wyatt Witt died last Tuesday and was buried in the old Gordon cemetery Wednesday. He leaves a wife and three small children, besides many other relatives. He had been in poor health for some time. W. Witt and family of Glen Rose were here Wednesday.

John P. Clepper and family of Hico spent the week-end with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rexroth of Coalville. Horn to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rexroth Thursday, Nov. 22, 1934, a daughter. Mother and babe are doing well.

"Ray Hamilton" Only Law Abiding Citizen, Law Finds

Raymond Hamilton in Cisco. That was the report Eastland county officers received Sunday. With guns, deputies, the regular officers and motorcycle patrolmen, they left for Cisco.

Arriving at Cisco the officers found out that the person, according to reports, was a Cisco resident and one who had never run afoul of the law.

It is stated that Desdemona constables had spotted two suspicious looking young men and a woman in their community, and followed them to Cisco. Chief of Police M. L. Perdue of Cisco identified the young man thought to be Hamilton as a peaceful, law-abiding citizen.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

MOST doughnut lovers scout the idea that there could ever be any question about a doughnut being a doughnut! Yet the issue does arise now and then, like the old Bacon-Shakespeare controversy. If a doughnut is a doughnut and not a fried cake or a cruller, then what are they? Sounds a little Gertrude-Steinish, but underneath there's sense to it all. For doughnuts are bits of yeast bread-dough sweetened and fried in deep fat. Fried cakes are of the nature of quick-bread dough sweetened or of a cake dough made thick enough to roll and cut in rings. They're fried in deep fat. Cruller means twist. The dough is the same as that of fried cakes, so the shape is the cruller's distinguishing feature.

Temperature All-Important
It's the temperature of the fat that determines the digestibility of the fried cake. If you haven't a thermometer, then use the bread crumb test. An inch cube of bread from the soft part of the loaf should brown in 60 seconds when dropped in fat of the perfect temperature. The thermometer should register 375 degrees Fahrenheit when the dough is dropped in and should be kept at 360 degrees during frying. Rings and twists should fry in three to four minutes. Balls may need a minute or two longer.

The proper blending of ingredients is another important factor. Each ingredient should be thoroughly incorporated in the mixture as it is added, but prolonged stirring results in hard, tough fried cakes.

Chill the dough for an hour or longer before rolling. This makes it easy to handle with the minimum amount of flour and insures

Monday's Menu

BREAKFAST: Chilled apple sauce, cereal cream, crisp broiled bacon, cornmeal pancakes, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Scalloped onions and macaroni, rye bread, stuffed peach salad, fried cakes, milk, tea.
DINNER: English mutton chops, buttered rice, turnips in mock Hollandaise sauce, endive with French dressing, canned pears, plain cake with chocolate frosting, milk, coffee.

Potato Fried Cakes

For Potato fried cakes, take one cup hot mashed potatoes, 4 tablespoons butter, 3 eggs, 1-1/3 cups granulated sugar, 1 cup milk, 4 cups flour, 6 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 1-4 teaspoon grated nutmeg.

Add butter to hot mashed potatoes and beat well. Beat eggs with sugar and stir into first mixture. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and nutmeg and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Add vanilla. Cover mixing bowl and let stand on ice for one hour. Dust molding board and rolling pin with flour and turn half the dough onto board. Roll lightly to one-half inch thickness and cut with a floured cutter. Fry in deep fat heated to 375 degrees F. and drain on soft crumpled paper. Dust with powdered sugar when cool.

If 1 tablespoon vinegar is added to the fat when it is put over the fire the fried cakes will have less fat flavor. Do not try to add cold vinegar to hot fat.

This recipe will make about three dozen fried cakes.

Junior High Steers Beat Cisco 27 to 0

F. D. Crosland's Junior High Steers on Welch field in Eastland Monday trounced Cisco Grammar to the county of 27-0. The victory upheld the team's record of no defeat this year.

Fast charging line, a broken field running, a speedy quarterback Harry Taylor, the coach says, is the reason for the decisive victory.

The entire squad at one time or another, Crosland said, saw time in the game. They were: Lowell Armour, end; Sid Barham, tackle; Bert Elkins, guard; Jack Bagley, center; James Fields, guard; Forrest Bruce, guard; Carl Van Geem, tackle; Fuzzy Furse, guard; Bobby Furse, fullback; Harry Taylor, quarterback; Jim Taylor, right half; Roy Taylor, left half; J. D. Barker, half; Buck Prine, end; Leon Hale, end; Johnny Bida, end; A. K. White, guard; L. W. Mitchell tackle and M. C. Spards, guard.

The coach is endeavoring to match a game with Coleman next week. Last year the team came to Eastland and were defeated. Monday the coach voiced appreciation to Eastland residents who had transported Steers to their games.

BUSINESS OVER STATE BETTER SURVEY SHOWS

AUSTIN, Tex.—Business sentiment appears to have improved substantially during recent weeks as a result of conferences of bankers and industrial leaders with government officials, according to Dr. F. A. Beecher, assistant director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"The outlook with respect to public utilities and railroads is still clouded, however, and the attitude of organized labor toward these newer developments remains uncertain," Dr. Beecher said. "As a result, business statistics have recently shown a reversal from the downward trend which began in June, and the trend at present appears to be definitely upward, although until now the improvement has been at a very moderate rate. Moreover, no sharp rise is expected until early spring at best since several months must elapse before the new relationship between government and business can be more fully clarified and confidence developed."

"Recent reports of proposed changes in the National Recovery Administration by Donald Riechberg, executive secretary of the National Emergency Council, indicate a genuine effort to separate the chaff from the wheat as a result of the experiments of the past eighteen months and to reconstruct the National Recovery Administration upon a few principles which reason and experience have found to be sound. Regarding changes in the anti-trust laws, Mr. Riechberg is represented to have made the following significant statement in New York on November 21: 'Certain activities could be legalized by statute and others forbidden with provisions that in the twilight zone of interpretation a national code administration would be empowered to authorize or prohibit concerted action. Its decisions should be made reviewable not by an ordinary lawsuit but by a court of competent jurisdiction.'"

"Encouraging reports also continue to come from the National Housing Administration.

"It is becoming apparent to an increasing number of people that our economic plight is not the result of superabundance but rather of scarcity; that the solution lies not in higher hourly or daily wages for labor, but in higher annual incomes expressed in goods. Business management on its part will have to seek its profit not on a wide unit margin of profit on a restricted output but on a narrow margin per unit on a large output. Only in this way can real wealth in terms of goods and services be created and the wants of the people more fully satisfied. One has only usually to look about to see how inadequately even the ordi-

FIRST AIRCRAFT LIABILITY AND PROPERTY DAMAGE INSURANCE WAS ISSUED IN 1919.

WORLD'S FIRST TREE PATENT GRANTED FEB 16, 1932

DR BENJAMIN WATERHOUSE FIRST TAUGHT MINERALOGY SYSTEMATICALLY

FIRST airplane liability and property damage insurance was issued by a Hartford, Conn., insurance firm to a New York state manufacturer. The patent was obtained by James E. Markham, assignor to a Louisiana, Mo., nurseries and orchards company, on a peach tree which ripened later than ordinary trees of that variety. The first systematic mineralogy course was taught in 1786 at the Rhode Island College of Providence, R. I.

nary needs of modern life in a large percentage of homes are satisfied. Too often this situation is vaguely and inaccurately attributed to inequitable distribution of wealth, implying that if existing wealth and income were properly distributed there would be an abundance of goods for everyone. It is true that maladjustments exist in the portions of the national income that go to various economic groups. For example, and speaking broadly, since the close of the War the agricultural population has, perhaps, been at the greatest disadvantage whereas during and before the War salaried workers were in the less favorable position. After recognizing fully the need and urgency of correcting these obvious maladjustments in distributing what is produced, the greatest economic problem remaining is that of increasing productive efficiency and making goods more plentiful and available for all.

"Statistical series along many lines indicate clearly that goods are being used up more rapidly than they are being produced; that is to say, we are in a sense 'living on our marrow.' As a result there has been until recently growing unemployment, decline in demand for goods and 'apparent surpluses' both in consumption and capital goods. A reversal of this downward trend is obviously in progress and it is hoped that it may soon gain such momentum as rapidly to absorb a substantial number of those now on government relief."

Baby Face Nelson Got Education In Chicago Stockyard

By ROBERT T. LOUGHAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Ten years ago Lester M. Gilles was a chubby, round-faced lad playing "robber" and "Indian" in the Chicago "back of the yards" district.

Today his name is inscribed on the police "wanted" list of every city in America as George (Baby Face) Nelson, Public Enemy No. 1. A price of $5,000 is on his head.

In the days of Al Capone's rule of Chicago Gangland, 14-year-old George Gilles bluffed at being bad and tough among his playmates—until his boast was "called," then he became a young hoodlum.

He was pushed, by his own bragadocio, into a career of crime that includes, bank robbery, automobile theft, murder and a long list of other crimes. Today he is the nation's most hunted man.

Federal men believe he will die like his predecessors—John Dillinger and Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd—with a gun in his hand and bullets in his body. That is the price for being the nation's foremost public enemy.

Nelson is the last, but one, of the Dillinger gang that conducted a reign of banditry over the middle-west for nearly a year. The other member at liberty, or perhaps dead, is John Hamilton.

For months his gangster associates have been "shadowed" by department of justice agents. He has carefully avoided his old haunts. His wife has, apparently, deserted their two children to be with him.

In a small southwest side apartment his aged mother cares for his two small children, doctoring their childish hurts, and listening to their plaints as she did her own son a few years ago.

"They'll kill George some day, I know," she says calmly. "I've already steeled myself to expect that. Yet, I dread the day they will bring his body home."

She recalls the days when he played about the stock yards. He was a hero then, she said, to every boy in the neighborhood because he always took the blame when a window was broken, or apples stolen from a peddler's wagon.

His boasting won for him a popularity among other boys, but the day came when he had to "make good" his boasts to keep up his reputation. Police already had an eye on this small, wistful boy back of the yards.

His deep blue eyes, his short stature and his cherub countenance early gained him the name of "Baby Face." He detested the name and that aversion led him into many boyhood fights.

Police at first questioned and then warned him about neighborhood petty thefts. He joined a gang of "toughs" and began by stealing an automobile. At first they drove the automobiles a few hours and abandoned them.

Then he became "girl crazy." To get money to become a "sport" he began selling automobiles he stole. In 1925 he was caught with a stolen automobile, but was let off with a short sentence to the St. Charles School for Boys.

A year later he was paroled, but twice was returned for violating that parole. Inside he was a good prisoner and was made a monitor with authority over 75 boys.

At expiration of his sentence he returned with the resolve to "go straight." The reputation he once had sought and gloried in became a burden that he couldn't throw off. Police kept him under surveillance.

At 21, his mother said, he became bitter and sullen. Police, he complained, hounded him as he drove a delivery truck and would not let him "go straight."

A year later, in 1926, he quit his truck to throw his lot definitely with a gang of gunmen. His first major "job" was the robbery of a bank at Spring Grove, Ill.

For a time after that he was not identified as participating in any major crimes. Then he robbed a bank at Hillside, Ill., and another at Itasca, Ill., in 1930.

He was captured and convicted of the Hillside robbery. A jury sentenced him to serve from one year to life in Joliet penitentiary. While there he participated in an attempted prison break, but was caught.

In 1932 he was brought back to be tried for the Itasca robbery. The jury sentenced him to from one to 20 years. While being returned to prison he escaped from his jail guards.

Again Nelson dropped out of police sight. He was heard from again almost two years later, when he joined the Dillinger gang after the leader had escaped from Lake county jail at Crown Point, Ind.

He became a machine gunner in the Dillinger ranks and won the reputation of having an "itchy" trigger finger. Police say he participated in every bank robbery committed by the Dillinger gang after he joined.

"Baby Face" became a trusted lieutenant of Dillinger—they were made of the same stuff, cold, hard, daring and fearless. Many of Dillinger's Chicago "contacts" with the underworld were made through Nelson.

He followed Dillinger and other members of the gang to a Wisconsin resort hideout near Mercer, last July. Their "women" went with them. Federal department of justice agents were not far behind.

Under cover of darkness the agents surrounded the Little Bohemia roadhouse which the gang had taken over. In some mysterious manner the Dillinger gang was warned of the trap.

Nelson with Dillinger and the rest slipped out at back door and fled on foot. They left their women behind. The federal officers were waiting for the arrival of Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the Chicago department of justice of the resort before striking.

On a road near the resort Nelson came upon a group of men sitting in an automobile. Thrusting his revolver into the car he said:

"I don't know whether you are federal men or not but in case you are, take this." He emptied his revolver. W. Carter Baum, a department of justice agent, died before he could lift a machine gun that lay across his lap.

Nelson escaped with other members of the gang. By this time, however, the "heat was on" and the gangsters sought separate hideouts. Vague reports of the presence of Nelson at various places were received by police, but he managed to elude them.

Those who knew him best sometimes called him by the name he liked most—Little Napoleon. His small, round stature—five feet five inches tall—won that sobriquet for him.

Other people have other names for him. Attorney General Homer S. Cummings calls him "rat."

The big dipper, says a Cleveland scientist, is breaking up and we won't recognize it in 50,000 years. Better hurry and find a new way to tell the North Star.

... One need know only a little history to understand that this country has been singularly blessed in its freedom from the more violent and painful aspects of change that have affected so many nations.

Only a casual perception of current affairs convinces that compared with those of the world at large, our troubles are small indeed.

For this and for an increasing awareness of our fine historical heritage of individual freedom every American can be truly thankful.
