REACH AN AGREEMENT

THERE WILL BE NO CONTEST OVER FAIR WILL

TO AVOID A SUIT

RELATIVES OF THE DEAD WILL RECEIVE A BIG SUM

$3,000,000 GOES TO THEM

The Only Possibility Now of Any Future Trouble Lies in Finding of a Will of Charles Fair

San Francisco, Aug. 28.—The heirs of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Fair have reached an agreement. It will be six months or a year before all legal arrangements are perfected.

There will be no contest however over the estate as the Fair children, Mrs. Anna H. Nelson, Abraham Nelson, Charles Smith and other heirs desire to avoid litigation. All the terms of adjustment will not be made public, but the attorneys state that the relatives of Mrs. Fair will receive the bulk value of her estate which has been estimated at $3,000,000.

Money Goes to Relatives

Chicago, Aug. 28.—A special to the Record Herald from San Francisco says:

There will be no contest over the estate of either Chas. L. Fair or his wife by Mrs. Fair's relatives, Mrs. Harriett E. Nelson, mother of Mrs. Fair, on behalf of herself and her children has relinquished for a sum in cash all the claim to the estates of Fair or his wife.

The attorneys interested would not disclose the amount paid, but it is said to be $3,000,000.

By the terms of the compact the estate of Charles L. Fair goes entirely to his relatives, Mrs. Herman Oelrichs and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., who have accepted all Mrs. Fair's property.

The only possibility of any future trouble lies in the discovery of a will of Charles Fair, leaving property to others than his kinfolk and his wife. That such a will exists, or did exist at one time is stated in positive terms by several of Fair's friends, who find they have received no part of his millions.

Mrs. Nelson has announced her intention of making her home in California. Her sons, Charles J. Smith of Boulder, Colorado, and Abraham G. Nelson of Newmarket, N. J., will remain here for some time.

The document by which all the Fair property was transferred to Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., was signed by Harriett E. Nelson, Abraham G. Nelson and Charles J. Smith.

Remains Prepared for Shipment

Paris, Aug. 28.—The remains of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair who were killed in an automobile accident near Evreux were removed from the church of the Madeleine Wednesday night after a brief service held in the vault of the church in the presence of a dozen persons, including Mr. Gowdy, United States consul general here and Mr. Ellis, manager of the Hotel Ritz who has had charge of the arrangements for the removal of the remains. The bodies were taken to the freight station of the Western railroad where the coffins were enclosed in packing cases. Mr. Ellis refused to name the port from which they are to be shipped or the steamer which is to take them.

THOUSANDS ARE DYING OF CHOLERA IN EAST

EPIDEMIC REACHING ALARMING PROPORTIONS ON OTHER SIDE OF PACIFIC

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 28.—The epidemic of cholera is reaching alarming proportions on the other side of the Pacific, in one week extending from 100 and having taken victims from every before reported.

It extends from the Island of Java to Japan and almost every day on the coast and many from the interior are affected.

The disease, now being contracted by Europeans as well as natives and in China thousands are dying.

"THE SOFT COAL EYE"

Cases of Inflammation Caused by Soot in Air

The duration of the coal strike has a new factor in its discredit in the prevalence of "the soft coal eye." The countless chimneys of a city belching forth the thick smoke of bituminous coal appear to be a menace to the sight of inhabitants who are used to clear air, says the New York Tribune. The presence in the air of soot coal dust and ash in large quantities adds to the risk of inflammation for the worst of each, and the plain results are shown in hospital cases. People are seeking the relief of surgical skill in increasing numbers as the state of the coal parties adds more and more to the belching of the atmosphere. It may be easily seen that the trouble is an epidemic, but its proportions are great enough to cause considerable comment among surgeons and specialists. At hospitals where eye troubles only are treated, or, as more usual, eye and ear troubles, the condition is easily discernible.

A Jury Coincidence

A panel of jurors was summoned in a London court. Sixty-two of them answered to the name of Clark. A jury of twelve was drawn and eleven of them were named Clark. The twelfth man was G. H. Clarkson.

TO BE SLOW STARTING

OUTLOOK SLIM FOR STARTING ANTHRACITE MINES

COLLIERIES AT WORK

SOME ARE BEING OPERATED BUT THE CREWS ARE SMALL

CLAIMS OF THE OPERATORS

Admission Made That They Have Only Few Men at Work But Claim They Are Getting More Every Day

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 28.—The chances for the early resumption of the mines in the anthracite coal fields on the same scale as operated previous to the strike are not very good, according to the outlook here.

Superintendents of coal companies practically admit that at the present rate there is no chance of getting all collieries going for many weeks.

Several of the collieries have been started, but not one is working at anything like its capacity.

At each of these mines it is admitted by the companies that they have only about 100 men at work, but claim is made that they are getting more every day.

STRIKERS AND THE SOLDIERS IN A CLASH

TROOPS ARE ASSAILED BY A MOB—A NUMBER ARE HURT—ARRESTS ARE MADE

Tamaqua, Pa., Aug. 28.—The first clash between the striking miners and troops occurred here this morning and as a result five prisoners are in the guard house at the Twelfth regiment camp and Capt. J. Beaver Gearhart of Company F, Twelfth regiment, is suffering from a wound on the shoulder made by a stone thrown by a striker.

This morning a report gained currency that the striking men were gathering in force to make a march on No. 4 colliery where the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company is mining and cleaning coal.

Troops were sent to keep order. On the way they were assailed with stones by a mob and four men were arrested.

National Guard Under Orders
Parkersburg, W. Va., Aug. 28.—The Second regiment of the West Virginia National guard is under orders to proceed to the New River coal fields, probably to go to Red Ash where the deputies were fired upon yesterday.

The box in which Donohue was found was a large one used for storing sawdust. A watchman discovered the prisoner who was feebly pressing against the lid of his cell in an effort to escape. How he got in the box is not known.

DOINGS ABOUT THE COURT HOUSE TODAY

The District Court Docket Loading Up—Crap Shooters Jailed—Otherwise Very Dull

There are only two days left in which to get in on the September district court docket, but at the rate at which suits have been filed for the past ten days the record will yet show quite a number entered before the flag falls.

Since The Telegram's report yesterday the following appear:

J. C. Tenwick vs. Texas and Pacific railway, damages. Plaintiff, who was a candy butcher on defendant's train, was injured in a wreck at Mineola and asks $2,000 damages.

Of the lot three were arrested and brought in and locked up and the names of the others taken. In the crowd of officers were J. P. E. R. and J. H. McDuff, and C. M. Bishop. The negroes caught were Albert Hodge, Charley Wilson and Charley Monroe.

Resisted Arrest

Special Deputy Sheriff S. D. Shannon had an experience with "Long John" Allen, a notorious negro, on the North Side yesterday. Allen was wanted on an old perjury charge. He was recently released from the county road, having served out a fine and sentence. He is now up against three charges—perjury, resisting an officer and aggravated assault upon an officer.

PARKER-LOWE HAS IT FOR LESS.

CHICAGO GETS CLOSER TO THE FRENCH TRADE

JOBBER OF THE WINDY CITY COMPLETE A HAPPY ARRANGEMENT

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 28.—As a result of the efforts of Vincent De Messimy, Chicago importer, now have the benefit of direct trade relations with the exporters of France. Heretofore they had to operate almost entirely through agents and commission houses in New York. Mr. De Messimy is the official representative in Chicago of the French government department of Commerce.

Mr. De Messimy has just returned from a special trip to France to put the merchants of Chicago on an equal footing with those of New York. In telling of the success of his mission last night he said:

"I found that the exporters of Paris, Bordeaux and other cities were just as anxious to remedy conditions here as I was. The result of my work is that hereafter the jobbers of Chicago will be able to deal directly with France and have their purchases shipped direct to this city.

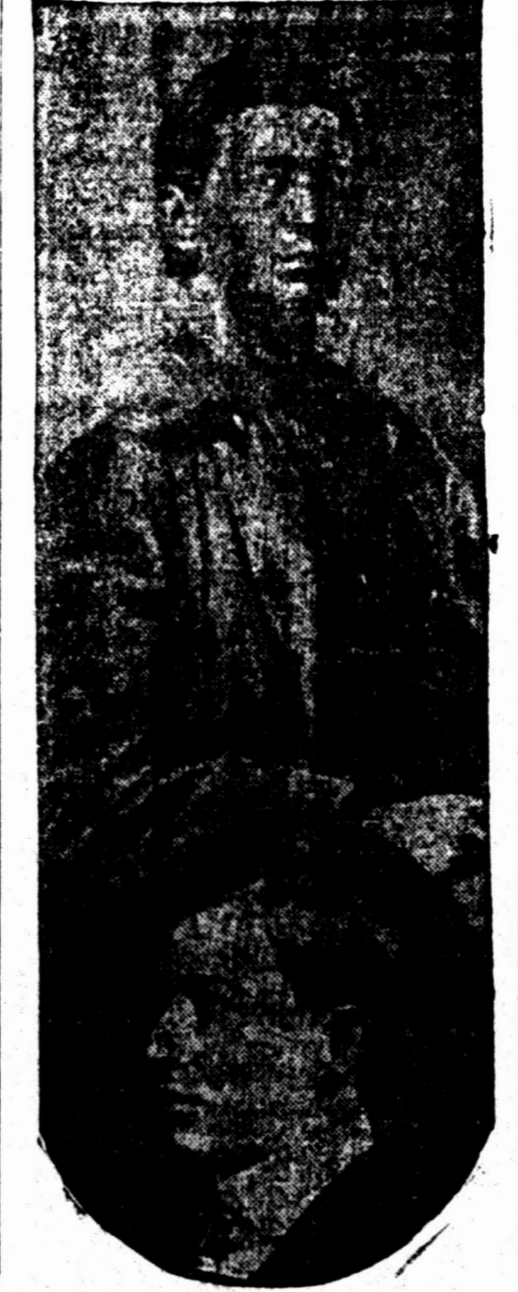

The change means a saving in commissions and freight rates of about eight per cent in the cost of French importations to the Chicago importer. The Chicago dealers will be the agents for these middle west and western states and the exporters of France will have their goods introduced to the people of a vast territory in which they are hardly known.

The same scheme has been adopted for San Francisco and New Orleans, New York will serve the eastern section of the country, Chicago the middle west, San Francisco the Pacific slope, and New Orleans the South."

GET NO MORE WORD FROM CHIEF MADDOX

CHIEF REA HAS RECEIVED NOTHING SINCE FIRST TELEGRAM

No word has been received from Fire Chief Maddox regarding his man, Uphart, who is being held in Shreveport, La., pending the arrival of requisition papers. Chief Rea intends going to Shreveport tonight, or more probably, in the morning, as the requisition papers will not arrive in Shreveport until some time tomorrow. In the event of Chief Rea's arrival, it is likely that Chief Maddox will come home as there would be little need for both men there. Uphart seems to be playing a waiting game which will be all the harder for him, when finally landed.

All of the men injured in the Hunt fire are better today. Assistant Chief Bidker's wounded hand is very painful and he is not able to use it. J. M. Garrett of No. 4, laid off work for a little while yesterday afternoon, but was back on duty today. Captain Howell is practically recovered from his injuries.

THE "CRUCIFIXION" WILL NOT TAKE PLACE

Fort Worth Stock Yards Company Refuses to Allow Man to Be "Nailed Up" On Its Grounds.

There'll be no crucifixion, or whatever the public is mind to call it on the property of the Fort Worth Stock Yards company. This statement was made to the Telegram by O. W. Matthews, secretary and treasurer for the company. Professor Griffin, the man who was to be "nailed" to a board, "just to show there was no fraud in it," is in Fort Worth, and yesterday afternoon was preparing actively for the exhibition which he intended to give Saturday night, and repeat it on Labor Day.

An Old Timer at It. "I have been doing this since I was seven years old," said the professor to the Telegram, "and never before had any one questioned the character of my entertainment. It ain't right to call it a crucifixion, for it isn't. All I do is to stand with my back to a board and with hands extended have ten penny nails driven through them. See here is where the nails go through," and he exposed his hands and a wound in each of them. Professor Griffin says he always uses the same spot in the hand for the nail to penetrate, which prevents mutilation. As a side line he places his tongue on a board and has an eight-penny nail driven through it.

Professor Griffin was in consultation with a physician yesterday getting advice as to the treatment his hands should receive. He has been "nailed" up many times before but always seeks fresh information, and in that way avoids blood poisoning and lockjaw effects.

The Professor Wants Pay. "Anybody who stops my act will have to pay me $150," said the professor when told the people were revolting against the exhibition, and would more than likely apply for an injunction or some other legal process to prevent it. "It is my own doing, and I am the only one hurt by it. I have given this in church and before preachers, certainly they would not stand for it if there is anything sacrilegious involved."

"If not intended to portray the crucifixion, why do you stand with hands extended to either arm of an imaginary cross?" "Now that's where you people make the mistake," went on the professor, "What I want to do is to give an exhibition of having nails driven through my hands and feet. I stuff on a board. Nails are put through, and if it will appease the wrath of the public any I'll face a board so as to give no idea of a cross. I am a legitimate performer and nobody can interfere with my profession."

Would Nail Up His Tongue. "I would nail up his tongue," and having his tongue pinned to a board with a small steel spike, the professor has other side lines which he was kind enough to show a couple of reporters in the doctor's office yesterday afternoon. He claims the ability of removing his lungs, heart, liver, and everything else, from where nature placed them, or in other words drop them into the abdomen. The exhibition consisted of swelling out the chest to its full wind capacity. Then by remarkable physical exertion, apparently, the swelling leaves the chest and appears about the waist band. It is with some difficulty that the professor transfers himself back to normal, and following the ordeal is usually a nervous attack.

"Of course," said the physician who made an examination of Professor Griffin, "he doesn't move his lungs and everything else from where nature put them, and then shove them back. That would be an impossibility. He has wonderful control over the muscles."

No "Nailing Up" This Time. But there'll be no "nailing up" of human hands and human feet on the property of the Fort Worth Stock Yards company, Saturday, Monday or any other day, as Secretary Matthews has given orders to that effect. Professor Griffin hints he will sue for damages.

Mr. Stewart's Statement. W. F. Stewart, proprietor of the Stock Yards Inn, said this afternoon regarding the exhibition: "I have been here 26 years and for my individual, personal and financial reasons I would not give an entertainment that would not be either satisfactory to the masses, to the ministers of the city and all Christian people of the city. This entertainment is simply for the purpose of showing Griffin's will power, how he works and what he can do in a hypnotic state. The entertainment should never be referred to as a "crucifixion" and there was not the slightest intention in the announcement of the exhibition of mocking the crucifixion of the Lord Jesus Christ. Griffin's exhibition has been given in many cities and is no more than any exhibition of what can be done to a man while he is hypnotized, such as sticking pins in his body, or other tests of cataplexy."

Mr. Griffin also stated that he never had any intention of mocking such a sacred thing as the crucifixion.

CATTLE MEN RETURN HOME

Montana Ranges Do Not Possess Shelter Enough. A. B. Roberts, of Colorado City, H. R. Wells, of Bisbee, New Mexico, and Wm. J. Scott of Fort Worth, arrived last night from Montana, where they had been investigating the cattle ranges. The trip will not be productive of a large movement of cattle from Texas as was anticipated. While the ranges were where found in exceptionally good shape as to water and grass, it is not believed Texas cattle can be run in the open between the Northern Pacific railroad and the Canadian line as the raisers desired. No natural shelter is afforded in that the only territory which the Texans regarded as satisfactory.

NEGROES WITH IRISH BROGUE

Curious Linguistic Phenomenon in West Indian Islands. The islands of Martinique, St. Vincent, Barbadoes, Montserrat, St. Lucia and Guadeloupe, besides affording an admirable field for the study of seismology, says the Philadelphia Times, constitute in themselves one of the greatest ethnological curiosity-shops in the world, so that he who visits these islands may stand prepared for a surprise at every turn. One of the strangest ethnological freaks is to be found on the island of Montserrat. This island is one of the oldest British colonies in America, and was first settled by Irish emigrants from Connacht in 1629. Subsequently negro slaves were introduced in the island, whose descendants form the bulk of its present population, for here, as elsewhere in the Antilles, the white man seems to have died out and disappeared, leaving the negro in undisputed possession of the soil.

The negro slaves imported from Africa in 1648 learned the English language from the Irish settlers and planters, and in consequence they to this day speak the Irish brogue with the same breadth of accent as the people of Kerry or Donegal. An amusing and true story is related of an Irish saddler who some years ago engaged in an English firm having large sugar plantations in Montserrat to go to that island in their employ. The ship on which he made the voyage having reached the roadstead of the capital of the colony, a number of negroes swarmed about the ship in their lighters soliciting carrying custom.

One of them addressed the Irish saddler in his native Connacht brogue. The latter in surprise asked: "Thunder and turf, how long have yez been here?" The negro, thinking he meant the length of time he had been living in that particular part of the island, replied: "Three months." "Three months?" exclaimed the Irishman. "Three months, and so black already? Be the powers O'ill not sthaway among yez another dom day." The Irishman, in spite of all explanation and persuasion, returned to Ireland, declaring that $1,000 per day would not suffice to induce him to remain in a country where the sun's rays were powerful enough to burn a white man black in less than three months.

INCREASING THE OLD AND BUILDING NEW

The City Engineer's Department Engaged on City's Storm Culverts—Quite a Number on List

The city engineering department is doing quite a great deal of city and storm sewer work over the city now. At present the force is revamped the culvert on Jennings avenue opposite Col. Tom West's residence. The capacity of the present culvert will be doubled. Thus remodeled, the culvert will carry all the storm water, relieving the flooding of the yard on the east side of the avenue in that especial block.

After the completion of this job the force will be removed to East Weatherford street, near the corner of Elm, there to build quite a large storm culvert.

City Engineer Hawley said today that there were a number of such culverts on the string now, and would be given attention as rapidly as possible.

They are great pullers—the classified columns.

IT WORKED BOTH WAYS

[Original] My brother Bob and I are twins, and, both having fallen in love, not with the same girl, but with the detective service from reading the romances of Gaboriau and Conan Doyle, we entered it at the same time and for awhile worked in the same city. This could not very well continue forever, and we at last drifted apart. For awhile we corresponded, then finally lost track of each other.

Meanwhile for me the romance had gone out of the detective business, and it had become the detective business, unvarnished, at which I struggled to keep the wolf from the door for myself and family. I made very little money and tired of my duties. However, there was no help for me. I knew no other calling and kept on hunting criminals.

One day I was sauntering along Washington street, Chicago, when a man passed me and whispered in my ear, "C. & G.'s in ten minutes," then passed on and was lost in the crowd.

Who he was, what he meant or how he came to know me was a mystery. My training as a detective at once assured me that I might be on the track of a crime. "C. & G.'s in ten minutes." I have it! The letters were the initials of a large restaurant and saloon near by. I kept right on to the place, entered it and looked about for my man. He soon entered, passed me without a glance and went to a private dining room, to which I followed him. The door was scarcely closed when he said to me:

"It's some time since we met. The last I saw of you you were being led off by a cop with a pair of bracelets on your wrists. So was I."

"Memories are not always pleasant. Better come to the point at once."

"Right you are. Simmons and I (you know Simmons; he was with us on the other job) was discharged last week. Well, we're going to crack a bank, and we are badly in need of a man we can trust to watch. If you'll join us, we'll share the plunder in thirds."

I consented, and he unfolded a plan to rob the —th National.

How the man had mistaken me for some one else I could not imagine. However, I did not trouble myself very much about it, being absorbed with the wonderful piece of luck that had fallen me. I was too old a bird to give away my secret for nothing. I went to the president of the —th National and told him that I knew of a serious misfortune about to happen to him and that I would tell the secret for $10,000. He questioned me to get a clew without paying for it, but I sealed my mouth, and he finally contracted to pay me what I asked.

Of course on the night we were to rob the bank I had policemen stationed at convenient places, who at the proper time swooped down upon us

"Oh, Tom, this comes of reading Gaboriau and Conan Doyle!" "Explain, Bob."

"I fell in with some men who proposed to rob a bank and convinced them that I was one of their kind. Before I could explain how I intended to trap them they were arrested and peached on me. Papers were found in my room connecting me with them. I was arrested, tried and convicted. The man who got the reward I had hoped for was a newspaper reporter and a detective at all. I wish I had the name of Gaboriau and Conan Doyle in my noose. I'd hang both of them higher than Haman."

"You should have taken precautions. I have just made $10,000 doing what has sent you to prison."

I went to the governor and pleaded my own and my brother's attorney work in such a way as to secure me a pardon. We are now engaged in paying business—not as detectives, but built up on the $10,000 paid me by the —th National.

If any one mentions detective work or the detective service to Bob, he should keep out of the way of his own shadow.

NEXT SUNDAY'S TELEGRAM

The Sunday Telegram for August 31 will be one of the very best that has yet been issued by the new management. Plans that have been under formation all this month are now beginning to shape themselves and very soon the Sunday Telegram will be the finished product that it has been and always will be the aim to make.

In the way of special features to interest our readers one of the departments worthy of particular mention is the woman's page. It is not generally known by Telegram readers but it is a fact never the less that the two pages printed each Sunday to particularly interest the women are from the New York Herald service and consist in a greater part in selections of fashion pictures and articles that are printed in both the New York and Paris editions of that great newspaper, simultaneously with publication in the Sunday Telegram.

The people of Texarkana, Tex., are not educated up to the point of supporting divine healers and pretended "angels of Christ." The other day they took one of this profession and gave him a smart flogging. After this treatment they cut his hair short for the purpose of identification and then gave him 30 minutes to leave town. This seems like a pretty harsh treatment, but some of these "divine healers" who are pretty much loafers in their characteristics and are without any visible means of support should be given the benefit of the vagrancy law.

Ohio had a lynching of its own and the newspapers of the state have killed the phat line, "Outrageous Treatment in the South." For army and navy purposes, pensions and contracts calling for military appropriations, voted in the late session of congress, $336,624,538.96 will be required. And yet what a hubbub the Republican papers make if some lonely Democrat in the north tries to say something about the evil of the standing army.

The electric (?) fire alarm (?) got off on its usual drunk yesterday. How long, Oh! Lord, how long?

Senator Hanna admits that he is not a success as an arbitrator. Some time ago he said he'd rather give a helping hand to the laborer than be president. Can it be that Mark has found that the presidential bee's buzzing is sweeter music to his ears than the appeal of the workingman.

Well, any way, the cotton can stand the heat. It's a common belief that a stitch in time saves nine. That makes us think that it's more than high time that Houston street was paved. Delays are dangerous.

CUT IT OUT!

The Telegram prints elsewhere to day an interview with the man who claims he will go through the act of "crucifixion" next Saturday in a public manner for the purpose of attracting a crowd and attention to North Fort Worth. This man claims that there will be no faking about the proposition and that he will actually allow himself to be hung up to a cross with nails driven through his hands and feet, the weight of the body, however being sustained by a rest.

It is not known whether this is all a big bluff or not. The man says he will submit to this treatment and the Telegram is inclined to take his word for it. The treatment he is to undergo is barbaric. It is sacrilegious. It is without common sense. It is inhuman. It should not be tolerated for a single second. There should be no undue talk about it but the performance should be shut off. It should be nipped right in the bud.

This form of amusement (?) appeals to the lowest order of intelligence. It makes light and sport of the most sacred of all sacred teachings and beliefs. There is not the slightest iota of a reason in the world why a performance of this kind should be given or tolerated. No good can come of it. A great deal of harm can. Do the parents of Fort Worth children, the latter not old enough to really know better, want their boys to practise, in secret perhaps, an imitation of this man who would go through an imitation crucifixion of the Lord Jesus Christ? Not likely. No intelligent person wants such a performance enacted within the shadows of one of the leading Christian cities in the South.

Let the authorities stop it. They will act on complaint being made.

Since the foregoing was put in type, announcement is made by the Stock Yards company that the alleged "crucifixion" will not be allowed on the company's grounds. This cuts the feature out practically as far as North Fort Worth is concerned. That the exhibition will take place elsewhere in or near the city is not likely.

The Stock Yards company acted promptly and wisely. The general public will commend the step.

This does not seem a far fetched calculation, for $100 per day is $36,500 per year, which is 20 per cent on $182,500. The Enterprise says that the boring of new wells is taking on new life, and activity is expected to begin in Septe.

FORT WORTH As a Packing Center

National Provisioner: Fort Worth as a big packing center does not sound so absurd, but is easily possible, when one stops to recall the fact that Texas has 5,000,000 people and 10,000,000 cattle, besides quite 2,660,000 hogs and nearly 1,000,000 sheep, or nearly 17,000,000 of abattoir stock. In this connection, also, it must be remembered that Texas is a large and cheap grain producing state, and the chief producer of cotton seed meal and cake. Texas as a large producer of cheap range cattle and producer of cheap feedstuffs for finishing hives, holds naturally a strong position for meat production. It is proper, then, that Fort Worth should be the collecting and distributing center for this trade. That is not all. Texans are large consumers of lard and other by-products of the hog, as well as of the beef steer, and the present freight rates from Northern points to points in Texas are high. These will be in favor of a local plant. Besides, Fort Worth is in close shipping proximity to the large consuming centers of Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana. It is also conveniently near the important ports of New Orleans and Galveston. All of these points favor this Texas packing center. The article then goes on to describe the dimensions of the Armour establishment, as previously enumerated in these columns and continues with a statement to the effect that the killing capacity of the plant will be 1,000 cattle, 2,000 hogs and 2,500 sheep, daily, or a packing capacity of 6,000 carcasses. The handling of this number of live stock every week day and the working of the products of their bodies into meat and the by-products into articles of commerce means the employment of thousands of men in the sixteen factories which go to make the complete plant. The Swift plant will comprise a few number of buildings, but will have an equal capacity with the Armour plant.

A FEW STORIES

Senator Blackburn of Kentucky poured out a glass of ice water and drank it with evident satisfaction. "There isn't anything quite so good as water, after all," quoth Blackburn, "which, by the way," he added, "reminds me of a story."

"Down in Kentucky," began Mr. Blackburn, "there was a farmer, who, strange to say, did not know the taste of whisky. One day, at Christmas time, he was at a neighbor's house, and was invited to sample a mixture of cream, lemon, sugar and other ingredients, commonly known as eggnog. He sipped, then drank, then drained several mugs. When he started to go home he felt curious. It's an insidious drink, you know, and when he reached home he went to bed. The next morning he awoke with an awful thirst. Breaking the thin covering of ice on the water bucket out on the porch, he took one long drink.

"Mandy, Mandy, come here and bring the children," he shouted. "I never tasted such water in my life."

Lincoln was once approached with a scheme by some peacemakers who thought they had hit upon a means of ending the trouble with the South. He listened with patience, and said that, while it seemed possible to bridge over the trouble between the two sections, he had doubts about the good faith of the Confederacy in the transaction. To illustrate his point, he told a story of a churchman named Brown who, elected chairman of a committee to plan a bridge over a dangerous stream, said his friend Jones, an architect, could do the work. Jones, when sent for, told the committee he could, if desired, build a bridge from here to the infernal regions. The committee thought this remark sacrilegious, and said so, whereupon Brown, feeling that Jones' reputation rested with him, arose and said:

"Gentlemen, I have known Mr. Jones some years, and have such faith in his judgment, ability and resource, that if he said he could build a bridge to Hades, I'd believe him—but, gentlemen, I confess I might have some doubts about the security of the abutment on the other side."

The late Frank Thomson, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, was called upon in his official capacity on one occasion by the friends of a conductor who had been dismissed from the service because of intoxication while on duty. Mr. Thomson received the delegation of pleaders very courteously, listened to all that could be said on behalf of the luckless employe, and then, while expressing his sorrow, said he could not see his way clear to interfering. It was urged that the conductor had always theretofore borne a reputation for sobriety.

"Necessarily," replied Mr. Thomson. "Else he never could have become a conductor on this road."

"But," one of the pleaders went on, "he never drank a drop until last winter."

"And why then?" asked the president.

"You see," it was explained, "he lost his wife in the fall."

"Well," quietly questioned the disciplinarian, "why didn't he get another wife?"—Philadelphia Times.

CASE 113 By... Emile Gaboriau

Synopsis of Case No. 113 The morning of February 28, a man introducing himself as Count Louis De Clameran, an iron maker of Oloron, enters the bank of M. Fauvel and announces that he has come to draw 300,000 francs ($70,000) deposited in the bank by his late brother. A few minutes later the cashier, Prosper Bertomy, arrives and going in to open the safe returns a few minutes later to announce that the safe has been robbed of 350,000 francs which he put there the afternoon before, expecting that Count De Clameran would call for it early in the morning, before banking hours. The president, M. Fauvel, arrives, and he and Bertomy accuse each other of the robbery. M. Lecq and his assistant, Fanferlot, take up the case.

Under the name of M. Verduret, M. Lecq takes up his abode with Prosper and attempts to find more clues. Prosper receives a letter, the words of which have been cut from a prayer-book and pasted on a sheet of paper. Prosper meets Madeline and has a passionate interview. He returns despondent, but is encouraged by Verduret, who assures him of Madeline's constancy. They find that the letter enclosing 10,000 francs and sent to Prosper, had been made from words cut from a prayer book Prosper had given Madeline.

Verduret finds evidence to assure him that Lagors is an imposter and that Count Louis de Clameran was very poor before the mysterious death of his brother who had been a rich iron maker. Verduret and Prosper go to Vesinet where Verduret sees an interview between Lagors and Madeline, niece of M. Fauvel, at the close of which she puts three pieces of red and yellow paper, evidently pawn-tickets in her pocketbook. Verduret, as a clown, attends the grand Jandier's ball, where by a mysterious harangue he endeavors to attract the attention of Mme. Fauvel and solve a little theory of his own. Mme. Fauvel faints and Count de Clameran and M. Lagors try to learn the clown's identity.

"Ah, yes, yes, I know. His cashier decamped with 350,000 francs. It is a thing that almost daily happens. But as to discovering any connection between this robbery and my play, that is another matter."

M. de Clameran made no reply. A nudge from Lagors had calmed him as if by enchantment. He seemed to regret having uttered the significant words drawn from him by excitement.

"Very well," he finally said in his usual haughty tone. "I must have been mistaken. I accept your explanation."

But the clown, so humble a moment before, said: "I have not made nor do I intend making any explanation."

"Monsieur," began De Clameran. "Allow me to finish, if you please. If unintentionally I have offended the wife of a man whom I highly esteem, he is her protector; not you. Perhaps you will tell me he is too old to demand satisfaction. If so, let him send one of his sons. One of them is here. You asked me who I am. In return I ask you who are you—you who constitute yourself Mme. Fauvel's champion? Are you her relative, friend or ally? What right have you to insult her by pretending to discover an allusion to her in a play invented for amusement?"

There was nothing to be said in reply to this. M. de Clameran sought a means of escape.

"I am a friend of M. Fauvel," he said, "and this title gives me the right to be as jealous of his reputation as if it were my own. If this is not a sufficient reason for my interference, I must inform you that his family will shortly be mine."

"Ah!" "Next week, monsieur, my marriage with Mlle. Madeleine will be publicly announced."

This news was so unexpected, so startling, that for a moment the clown was disconcerted. But it was only for a second, and, bowing with deference, he said, with covert irony:

"Permit me to offer my congratulations, monsieur. Besides being queen of the ball tonight, Mlle. Madeleine will have a dowry of half a million, I hear."

Raoul de Lagors had listened anxiously, watching the people near them, to see if they overheard this conversation.

"We have had enough of this gossip," he said in a disdainful tone. "I will only say one thing more, Master Clown, and that is that your tongue is too long."

"Perhaps, my pretty boy, perhaps, but my arm is still longer."

De Clameran hastened to end the matter.

"It is impossible for one to seek an explanation from a man who conceals his identity under the guise of a fool."

"You are at liberty, my lord doge, to ask the master of the house who I am—if you dare."

THE PRESIDENT

Of the City Council, Wilkes-barre, Pa., Cured of Rheumatism.

Col. Wm. J. Harvey, a president of Wilkesbarre's city council, who will long be remembered for his great work for the city, was once a mere physical wreck, torn in every muscle and nerve from the frightful pains caused by rheumatism. He consulted the best physicians, went abroad, took mud baths, and almost every known treatment for the disease. One of the city officials had had a very similar experience and Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy had cured him, so he recommended this great kidney medicine to his friend, and Col. Harvey is today a well man, hale and hearty. In his own abrupt way he states his case: Dr. David Kennedy,

Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I was permanently cured of rheumatism by the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

WM. J. HARVEY.

Nothing could be more direct or more to the point than this simple statement.

Rheumatism is but another name for uric acid poisoning which is caused primarily by diseased kidneys. Cure your kidneys and the rheumatism disappears.

For all diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation, as well as sickness peculiar to women, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is unquestionably the greatest medicine known to the medical profession.

HOTTER AND DRYER THIS YEAR

Temperature and Moisture Records Show Difference

The "oldest citizen" who has been asserting that this summer has been a "sight warmer than last year in spite of the rain," has not been far wrong for the most part. While there have been no days as high as it reached last season, the general average has been much higher, practically 56 degrees.

Considering that this 56 degrees is the average temperature from midnight to midnight, it is indication enough that this summer has been unusually warm.

July was the only comparatively pleasant month this season. Every day in July last year, the thermometer registered over 90 degrees, while this year there were only 19 days when such was the case. The hottest day in July this year, the thermometer was only 98 degrees, while last year the hottest was 105 with four days on which the mercury went above the 100 mark. The rainfall for July this year was 6.29 inches. Last year it was only 1.39 inches and that explains the coolness of the month this year as compared with last.

June was a warmer month this year than last. In 1901 June had a temperature of over 90 degrees for 23 days, the hottest temperature being 101. This year there were 25 days above the 90 mark, and four above the 100 mark, the hottest being the 25th when the temperature was 103.

This August has also been hotter than last year, and also drier. Last year there were 27 days above the 90 degree mark, 10 days above the 100 and 108 the maximum temperature. The rainfall for the month was 1.29 inches. Up to date the thermometer has been above 90 every day with the past two days above 100. There has been no rainfall to date.

People Phoning Railroad Offices About Cheap Tickets

People are still using the telephone to the several local ticket offices asking about the $10 rate to Chicago, although it was for one day only and that two weeks ago. COTTON MOVING ALONG VERY BRISKLY

BUYING IS ACTIVE FOR ALL OFFERINGS MADE HERE AS IN OTHER MARKETS

In spite of the hot weather, which tends to affect the pickers, the cotton trade is moving briskly at all points where local dealers are interested. The reports of rains yesterday and last night are not seriously regarded as changing the situation as most of them were too slight to be noticed this morning.

The opinion seems to prevail among buyers that a good rain just now would help the growing crop, but unless it comes immediately, it will be of no assistance.

Reports show the cotton to be of about one quality, strictly middling, some shading a little lower and some higher. The price being paid is running between 7 3/4c and 8c.

The highest price paid in the city yesterday was $19 paid to John Winters, a ginmer, living about 14 miles west of the city, for two bales of good quality. Other offerings found difficulty to command 8c and some withdrew from the local market and drove to Arlington, where it is reported as high as 8 1/2c was paid.

Discussing the market, a local dealer said this morning: "The market is now on a basis of from 7 3/4c to 8c and even over 8c has been paid. But these values seem to be for the most part to be based on the fluctuations of the present supply. There has been a very short supply on the part of European spinners. This shortage is probably by now already supplied and may involve now a material reduction in values, unless the crop now growing promises a greater supply than last year's yield and that is the main question just now.

The reports on the growing crop are somewhat conflicting, both as to the prospects of the growth as well as to what conditions may be needed to improve it toward rendering a full yield. But that is the usual case just at this season of the year when the growing plant passes through one of the most critical periods in its life."

Few of the people in St. Pierre were pure black, and most of them showed only a trace of colored blood.

MACHINISTS' STRIKE SETTLED

GULF, COLORADO AND SANTA FE TAKES MEN BACK

Four Hundred Men Were Involved in Cleburne, Ninety of Whom Will not be Needed—Deputies Released

A settlement has been effected between the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe and its machinists, blacksmiths, helpers, etc., who went on a strike several weeks ago, and many of those out at Cleburne have gone back to work. It is said about 400 men were involved at that point. For 90 of them the company will have no employment, and about 200 of those now remaining unemployed will be re-engaged as fast as the work is found.

Since the strike has been on the company has had the road between Cleburne and Gainesville watched by special deputies, a number of whom were secured in Fort Worth. Similar strike conditions prevailing at Temple and Galveston are also removed by the settlement.

BALDWIN HAS CLOSE CALL

THE MAN WITH BROKEN NECK BREAKS NECK BRACE

Well Known Local Man Goes Into Convulsions After Accident and His Life Is Saved After Hard Work

Barney Baldwin, the man with the broken neck, who has been doing a stunt of evenings near the Frisco building, came near quitting this mundane sphere yesterday afternoon, and it was only by the most earnest work on the part of Drs. Chambers and Withers that he was checked up on third base in what for a time looked to be a good start for a home run into eternity.

This is just one of the almost innumerable close calls Barney has had for his life. He is a living evidence that he has doubly discounted the nine lives the cat is said to have, all of which he has wiped off the board and started a new count.

Having lived for many years with a broken neck, and with his wife and faithful dog, came out alive after one of the most thrilling experiences of any of those who survived the terrible Galveston flood, losing a little daughter on that fateful night, Barney has traveled extensively since, making a living and good money by street lectures, relating his experiences and selling useful articles at a living profit.

On Tuesday night Barney's wife presented him with a fine boy, and the happy father was over in the city yesterday celebrating the coming of the heir. While in the Metropolitan bar, in company with some friends, he in some manner fell to the floor, breaking the steel brace that for years has held the mask in which his head is incased. This support broken, his head toppled over, causing successive convulsions. Barney is a powerful man, even in his maimed condition, and it required the combined efforts of three or four stalwart men to hold him during these convulsions. He was taken to police headquarters on a stretcher, where the two physicians named were called. After several hours' work he was brought around, the brace repaired, and Barney turned over to a friend and taken to a hotel, it not being thought advisable to let him go home, owing to his own condition and that of Mrs. Baldwin. During the night, it is reported, he eluded his keeper, and broke from the room, but was finally overhauled and restrained.

FRIEND OF THE THIRSTY

Senator Plumb Had Coolers Put in Capitol

It took the late Senator Plumb of Kansas nearly two years to get these water coolers placed in the corridors of the capitol, said a gentleman as he quenched his thirst with ice water the other day, says the Washington Times. "The senator was a fighter when he went into a fight, and it is said that some of his constituents who were visiting Washington for the first time called his attention to the fact that it was impossible for a stranger to get a drink in the big building. Of course people who know the ropes can dodge into one of the numerous committee rooms and get a drink of water, and frequently something stronger, but before the coolers were placed in the main corridors the stranger stood little show."

"When the complaint was made to Senator Plumb he at once determined that there should be water for all who wished it. The senator went to work, introduced a bill, but this was lost in committee, and after repeated efforts, lasting nearly two years, he managed to get it in as an amendment to an appropriation bill, with himself as one of the conferees. He was appealed to to give up the effort, but announced that he would defeat the whole bill unless the amendment for coolers stuck. That settled it, and during the next recess the coolers were placed in the walls. The water is kept cool by going through a coil of pipes through and around the store-room in the basement of the building, where the ice for use in the building is stored. I never take a drink here but what I think of Senator Plumb, one of the best men who ever came to the senate and who killed himself by overwork."

THIS ONE IS ON ACTOR HART

A Couple of Texarkana Waiters Who Didn't Understand

"Did you ever strike that good old borderline town known as Texarkana?" said Joe Hart, the perennially popular "Foxy Grandpa" of the stage to the Chicago Journal. "Well, if you haven't you've missed some rich experiences. If you have, oh, what's the use of talking about it?"

Mr. Hart paused and seemed to be thinking over some sad recollection of the past. Presently, after a solemn sigh—doubtless caused by his yearning to return to Texarkana—he resumed his narrative.

"When we played Texarkana last season I naturally walked around a bit, just to see the town. Well, I happened to run across a couple of waiters from the hotel, who were discussing the show, and I played the role of an eavesdropper long enough to hear what they had to say.

"Ahe yo' goin' to dat Foxy Grandpa show tonight, Zeke?" asked one of the pair.

"Naw, ah don't think so," replied the other. "Couse, it's a good show. It is better than when it was hehe befo'."

"Hehe befo'?" exclaimed No. 1. "When was dat?"

"Oh, quite awhile ago. 'Nother man played the main part, though."

"'Nother man? Who was he?"

"Why, don't yo' remember him? His name was Quiller."

"And yet people wonder why fame is fleeting, and great glory but the evanescent visions of an hour!"

Mayor's Proclamation

Whereas, by law of congress and the legislature of the state of Texas, the first day of September of each and every year is set apart as a legal holiday, in recognition of the dignity, worth and respect due the laboring classes of our great country, and, whereas, labor is one of the most important factors of the wealth, progress and civilization of this country, it is fitting that our city should duly acknowledge our respect to these more monuments of progress due to their zeal and energy than any other city in Texas. Therefore, I, T. J. Powell, mayor of the city of Fort Worth, Texas, do hereby call upon our citizens to close their places of business on the first day of September, 1902, first out of respect due the laboring people, second in order that all our people may partake of the festivities and pleasures of that day.

Given under my hand and seal of office this 20th day of August, 1902.
T. J. POWELL, Mayor.
Attest: John T. Montgomery, City Secretary.

Notice to Taxpayers.
The City Assessor's books are now ready and the Board of Equalization will convene on Monday, June 23d, in the City Assessor's office in the City Hall and continue in session every day thereafter, excepting Sunday, from 10 to 12 o'clock in the forenoon and from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

All owners of real estate are requested to bring descriptions of their property with them when coming to inquire values.

It is very important that all owners of real estate should appear before the Board of Equalization as a great many changes in values have been made since last year. Many improvements have been made since Jan. 1st, last, that may possibly appear on the tax rolls for this year and all mistakes of this or any other character will be corrected by the Board of Equalization on application of the owners.

Be sure and bring descriptions of your real estate with you.

G. H. DAY,

“Waken, Lords and Ladies Gay, On the Mountain Dawns the Day.”—Scott.

The sleeping-car that leaves Fort Worth on our night train is ready to receive passengers at NINE o'clock, each evening, and this car is set out at Colorado Springs for guests to vacate at their leisure. The place where the car waits is only about six miles from the mountains, and a beautiful sight greets the wakers from that long, refreshing Colorado steep—under blankets.

This night train also has a sleeper that goes into Denver, reaching there at a comfortable rising time.

Both of our daily THRU TRAINS have those sleepers with “Large, Ladies’ Dressing rooms,” also meals served in our own Cafe Dining cars,—a la carte service, 25c and up per individual. These special features of distinguishing excellence are among the characteristics that have, now for some time, made appropriate the “Only-One-Road”—and “You-Don’t-Have-to-Apologize” verdict of persons who are capable of appreciating good service and making distinctions.

WANT TO GO TO CLOUDCROFT?
Well, we have the best and shortest line there, too.

Just call up phone 561, or drop into our office at the Hotel Worth.

HE RIFLED THE MAILS

STEPHEN HIATT ACCUSED AND PLEADS GUILTY

Registered Packages Were His Prey—Inspector Rolfe Captures the Culprit With Marked Bills In His Possession

That one small criminal act leads to greater, and finally to detection was demonstrated last night in the arrest of Stephen C. Hiatt, railway postal clerk in charge of the run from Texarkana to El Paso over the Texas and Pacific railway.

For several months registered mail has been rifled of amounts of more or less value, and Inspectors Rolfe, Jones and Warren have been at work on the proposition, and last night were rewarded by landing Mr. Hiatt and taking from him bills to the amount of $70, marked, and which had been sent out as a decoy.

An accurate resume of just how the decoy was worked was this morning explained to a Telegram reporter by Inspector Rolfe, who made the capture, but it is only necessary for the public to know that the ruse worked to perfection and Hiatt fell into the trap and had been in possession of the money but a brief time when the Inspector placed him under arrest, here in this city.

Hiatt was last night taken before Commissioner Dodge, pleaded guilty and was placed under $1,000 bail. Not then being able to make the necessary bond, he was locked up in the Tarrant county jail, where he now is.

Hiatt is about 35 years old, and has been in the service about ten years. He, with his wife and child, resided on the south side.

To a Telegram reporter Inspector Rolfe said that for some time this character of rifling has been going on, and one of the favorite schemes was to take only $5, $10 or $20 from a package containing a greater amount, thus seeking to cast suspicion on the postmaster from whose office the package started, in that he would be called to account for not having placed enough money in the package, or upon some other clerk through whose hands the package passed.

Inspector Rolfe expressed surprise that Hiatt, who had been in the service so long, should be guilty of such practice, knowing that it would only be a matter of a short while until his crime would find him out. Of the wife and child Mr. Rolfe spoke feelingly, but the man—well, said he, "it is the inevitable result, and no man in the service should have been more fully aware of this than Hiatt."

REPORTS A PITIABLE CASE

Rev. Morris Seeking to Give Assistance to Wronged Child. Rev. I. Z. T. Morris reports a distressing case that has recently come under his observation, and one which he is now investigating with a view of getting the girl to the Rescue home at San Antonio.

In the flats over a saloon on the west side of the court house square lives a woman named Carlee and her two daughters, one 13 years old, the other 9. The woman is a victim of opiates, and claims her husband has deserted her. The 13-year-old girl, Mr. Morris says, will become a mother before she is 14 years old. The man who is said to be responsible for her condition is an employe of one of the railway company's here, and his parents are respectable, law-abiding people, and his mother is a member of one of the leading churches. The boy, it is said, has been indicted for the offense, and, unless something unforeseen occurs, will be tried at the next term of the district court.

Rev. Mr. Morris is arranging to have the girl cared for at a respectable boarding place until he can secure permission from the Rescue home to place her there and transportation to go to San Antonio. He will also make an effort to place the other child in a family where she will be given an opportunity to become a useful woman. Both girls, says Mr. Morris, are bright and rather pretty.

BLACK BUGS BUTHERSOME

Visitation of Insects Troubled City Last Night

Big bugs, little bugs, gray, green and gay bugs, tumbled wildly through open doors and windows last night, wherever a light shone, and afflicted Fort Worth citizens with the worst plague of the summer. There were spiteful little green bugs that attempted to dig cyclone cellars in the arms and on the faces of their hosts. There were bugs that looked like giant fleas; there were grasshoppers, katydids and black crickets, all in the motley throng that reminded one of Mark Twain's "Fables for Good Old Boys and Girls."

Either the threatening clouds, or the west wind, or both brought them to the city. Sidewalks were littered with insects this morning and many places open all night had a general sweeping out today. On North Main street there was a visit from the crickets and the sidewalk suggested the time two years ago, when crickets blocked gutters and had to be shoveled from basements. Today, however, most of the winged visitors left with the cool breeze and no one regretted it.

Why Do You Submit to a Daily Life of Suffering?

Paine's Celery Compound CURES

Summer Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Stomach Troubles.

The tortures and evils of summer dyspepsia and indigestion are experienced by thousands at this time. The dyspeptic's train of evils may be enumerated as follows: feelings of dizziness, languor, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, distension of the stomach, loss of flesh, difficult breathing, and the action of the heart is seriously affected.

All forms of dyspepsia are quickly banished by the use of Paine's Celery Compound. The use of this marvelous medicine allays the inflammation of the nerves centered about the stomach; it opens up the sewers of the body and removes all waste matter; it cleanses the blood; it makes new nerve fibre; it restores digestive power, and promotes bodily strength and activity.

Mr. Fred Ross, Clarendon, Iowa, briefly writes about his happy experience with Paine's Celery Compound as follows: "It gives me great pleasure to testify to the merits of Paine's Celery Compound. I can candidly and honestly say it is the best medicine in the world. Two years ago I was suffering from indigestion and nervousness, and was so rundown that I could hardly walk without help. I used two bottles of Paine's Celery Compound and got better almost from the first dose, and have had no use for medicine since. I was completely cured."

BIG DRY GOODS HOUSE COMING TO FORT WORTH

The Knight Dry Goods Company to Make its Headquarters Here, With Three Other Branch Houses in Texas Towns

Fort Worth is to have another dry goods establishment right soon. The Knight Dry Goods company is coming and already this company has secured quarters on Houston street, between Second and Third streets. The place formerly occupied by the White Mercantile company is being overhauled for the new company. This company at present has its headquarters in Denison, Texas, with branches in Gainesville and McKinney, and the Fort Worth house will be the fourth. This company will make Fort Worth its headquarters, continuing its Denison house. Thus another mercantile house is added to Fort Worth's calendar by reason of the superior business conditions and the coming of the packing houses. This firm, it is said, has ample capital and standing to carry on a far-reaching business.

ROBBED AND THEN FIRED

FURTHER DEVELOPMENTS IN THE HUNT FIRE

House was Ransacked and Then Either Set Afire to Hide the Crime or Else Blaze Started Through Accident

A. A. Hunt, Assistant Fire Chief Bideker and Police Chief Rea express the opinion that Mr. Hunt's home, which was partially burned yesterday morning was fired by a burglar—either purposely or accidentally, and give favor to the former suggestion.

That the house was robbed there is no question, for among the articles of value missing is a watch valued at $150, left in the keeping of Mr. Hunt by an acquaintance, besides numerous articles of lesser value, consisting principally of clothing and trinkets.

Near a window in one of the rooms when Chief Bideker arrived was found Mr. Hunt's wedding suit of clothes, which he had caused to be pressed and placed away. The drawers in the various pieces of furniture in this room were partially and some fully drawn, and the contents strewn about the floor. The evidences go to show that the fire could not have well started in this room, because it was plastered, and there was but little if any inflammable material on which the fire could feed.

The fire started in a closet, and had been burning some time when discovered and an alarm turned in. The theory is that the fire was set in this closet, and the theory of accident is not given much credence.

One of two things the officers are confident of, that the fire was started by a burglar, either accidentally or purposely.

FANS NEEDED IN THE LIBRARY

Air Oppressive to Attendants and Visitors

Visitors at the Carnegie library during the past few days of intense heat have complained about the unpleasant effects of a visit longer than a few minutes, because the air has been oppressive. The library has no fans to keep the air in circulation and discomfort results to both attendants and those who stop for an hour's reading. While many, it is true, do not visit the library except to take out books, during the hot weather the lack of electric fans makes it unpleasant when they do, and the attendants would find their work a great deal more pleasant were the library so equipped.

The call for books this weather shows the effect of heat on mental appetites. There has been quite a call for Augusta Evans' Speckled Bird, which the library does not possess. Light fiction is by far the favorite and there are long waiting lists for some of the late popular books. History, science, the classics—don't mention them in the library. It's too hot.

DO NOT GO FORTH TO GOFORTH

Mails No Longer Reach Odd-Named Office

Mails will soon no longer go to the quaintly named office of Goforth in Hays county. The office will be discontinued Aug. 30 and mail for Goforth must be sent to Buda. While only one office has been discontinued during the past week, the following have been established: Ivory, Freestone county; Leah, Tyler county; McClean, Gray county; Noack, Williamson county; Riceton, Fort Bend county; Salmon, Anderson county; Sevier county, Arkansas, is responsible for a new postoffice named Corn. Giddings, Sevier county; Morton, Woodruff county, and Zincville, Lawrence county, all of Arkansas, have been discontinued, mail being now sent to Antimony, McCrory and Smithville, respectively. Bartia and Dent, both in Lincoln county, Oklahoma, have been discontinued, mail for both now going to Lambdin. Beginning August 30 mail for Catawba, Blaine county, Okla., should be sent to Ferguson.
