MEAT PACKING TRUST ASSURED

LONG EXPECTED MERGER IS ACCOMPLISHED AT MEETING IN CHICAGO

EFFECTIVE THIS MONTH

Details of Industrial Combination, Second in Importance Only to Steel Trust, Agreed On

Chicago, Sept. 17.—The long-expected merger of the great meat-packing interests of the United States will go into active and open operation Saturday, Sept. 27, unless there should be an entirely unlooked for change in the plans agreed upon by all those concerned in the deal at a meeting held in the First National bank building here. An industrial combination second only to the steel trust in point of magnitude and importance is therefore practically an accomplished fact. The Armour and Swift interests are said to be finally in perfect accord and the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger people have been induced definitely to agree to more reasonable terms than they would listen to in earlier negotiations. Reports concerning the actual terms of the consolidation differ. The most reliable light shed upon the subject was the plan outlined by a Boston au-of Texas. Cotton seed is the best fattening food for cattle and its oil is largely used in the manufacture of lard and kindred products. It was also rumored today that the new combine might even construct its own railroad line from Chicago to the Pacific coast.

ARE PUSHING INVESTIGATION

Authorities Are Collecting Evidence in Nicholas Fish Murder Case Very Rapidly

New York, Sept. 17.—The investigation into the death of Nicholas Fish, banker, which followed an altercation in a saloon Monday evening, is being pushed with great vigor today with the view to having all possible light thrown upon the case at the inquest Friday. The authorities claim to have secured witnesses who will clear up the mystery.

COLLECTING MORE EVIDENCE

New York Police Are Wrought Up Over Banker Fish's Murder

New York, Sept. 16.—The police are still seeking the exact facts which led up to the death of Nicholas Fish, the banker, who was found with his skull fractured in front of a saloon yesterday afternoon and who died early this morning. Mrs. Libbie Phillips, Mrs. Nellie Casey and Thomas J. Sharkey, a private detective, were arrested early today in connection with the case.

IS PARTLY FINISHED

NEW YORK SUBWAY WILL NOT BE READY FOR A YEAR

NOTABLE DISASTERS

Twenty-four Lives Have Been Lost and Much Property Damaged—Over $21,000,000 Has Been Spent

(By Associated Press) New York, Sept. 17.—After an expenditure of $21,000,000 and the sacrifice of 24 human lives, the rapid transit subway under construction in this city is, according to the World, exactly three-fifths completed. This statement of the stage of progress is based on data compiled in the office of Chief Engineer Parsons.

The principal means of reckoning how much has been accomplished and how much remains to be done is the amount of money which has been expended. When the workmen were last paid off $21,000,000 in round numbers had been disbursed, or three-fifths of the $35,000,000 for which John B. McDonald contracted to build these figures is borne out by study of the details and reports of progress on the various sections.

There have been only two notable disasters to call attention to the danger of life involved in the great undertaking. These cover the number of lives mentioned.

It is estimated that the task will occupy another year at least. The men in charge of the work are of the opinion that they have been fortunate thus far in reducing the peril of life and limb to the minimum. They say that after millions of people have been walking, driving and riding in street cars for two years on the brink of an excavation extending for miles through the city, and thousands of men have been employed in hazardous underground work the wonder is that the list of victims is not much longer.

It has been necessary to excavate 2,000,000 cubic yards of solid rock, and for months the contractors have been using one and one half tons of dynamite a day for blasting. It is promised that New York will begin to recover from its torn up condition within a short time. Only a few blocks here and there remain to be excavated, and several sections of the tunnel are nearly completed.

PRESIDENT GOMPERS TAKES HOPEFUL VIEW

LABOR STRIKE WILL TERMINATE BY AGREEMENT BUT NEGLECTS TO SAY WHEN

(By Associated Press) Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 17.—President Gompers of the Federation of Labor, in a statement issued today, takes a hopeful view of the strike situation.

He says: "At this time it is impossible to say exactly when the strike will terminate but after a careful inquiry into the situation at the mines, I am convinced the struggle will end by an agreement."

George A. Chapman, aged 31 years, died this morning at the family residence, 508 South Calhoun street. The funeral will be conducted tomorrow morning from the residence at 9 a. m. Rev. B. B. Ramage officiating. Deceased was a member of the order of Red Men, the Railway Carmen and the Woodmen.

BERESFORD'S COMMENDATION

ENGLISH ADMIRAL SAYS POWER IN MIMIC WAR NOT WASTED.

England Is Frightened About the Shipping Combination but Can Do Nothing to Compete With It Here.

New York, Sept. 17.—Admiral Lord Charles Beresford of the English navy has arrived here for a stay of three weeks.

"I have followed the American naval and army maneuvers with much interest," said he.

"I do not consider that America has wasted any money in the powder that was burned in the sham war game. We are beginning to do that, too, and I think it is one of the best things for the training of the navy and army and to see just where the weak points in a country's war force lie."

About the shipping combination, Lord Beresford said:

"I must confess that we are a little frightened, not at the probabilities, but at the possibilities. It is ridiculous to talk of England's forming a rival combination. We can't compete with your railways and meet the through rate, which is the rate that pays."

CHANGED HIS NAME, IS NOW IN PRISON

QUEER NEW YORK LAW THAT MAKES IT A CRIME FOR A MAN TO USE FALSE NAME

(By Associated Press) New York, Sept. 17.—John Hendricks, who assumed the name of Cox in seeking work, after having been imprisoned, and thereby violated a state law has been sentenced to sixty days in the county jail.

His arrest came about through speaking to the judge who had sentenced him in the first case. The judge related the occurrence to a friend and the story reached the ears of the police.

Hendricks pleaded that his wife and children would have starved had he not changed his name and secured a position; but the court was obdurate and declared that he had "said that before in other courts and would say it again."

The sentence was, however, reduced to the minimum.

CONSIDER COLUMBIAN REVOLUTION SETTLED

STATE DEPARTMENT RECEIVES MESSAGE ASSURING THEM THAT SUCH IS THE SITUATION AT PRESENT

(By Associated Press) Washington, Sept. 16.—The state department has received a cablegram from Minister Hart at Bogota, which says Revolutionary General Carrazo, who has been operating with a strong force at Great Plains, east of Bogota, has surrendered. This is regarded as most important to the government authorities, who consider that it assures the pacification of the whole eastern region. The Colombian government has also announced the repulse by the government war vessel of the revolutionary attack some days ago on the Magdalena river.

LIEUT. PEARY FOUND

MRS. PEARY AND HER RESCUE SHIP, THE WINDWARD.

The intrepid daring of Mrs. Robert E. Peary, who sailed last July to find her husband in the frozen North, has at last been rewarded. Herbert H. Bridgeman of New York, secretary of the Peary Arctic Club has received a dispatch dated Chateau Bay, Labrador, saying that Lieutenant Peary is now on his way home on the relief ship Windward. Until this dispatch was received, no word had been heard from Peary since he left Mr. Bridgeman at Cape Sabine, August 29, 1901. What has been accomplished or what has failed of completion in that time, no one but Peary and the brave little crew with him, know. The world is waiting with interest the report of his last attempt to reach the pole, for as Peary declared before starting out, this is his final effort to solve the problem of the centuries.

The Venezuelan government's situation is critical. A BRAKEMAN BADLY USED MONDAY NIGHT

SAID TO HAVE BEEN KNOCKED DOWN AND STAMPED BY THREE RUFIANS

Officer Temes yesterday afternoon arrested two men, Frank Trimble and John Eddy, who are suspected of having used a railway brakeman pretty badly near the corner of Fifteenth and Jones shortly before dark Monday night.

The officer says that the brakeman was knocked down and stamped upon, sustaining painful and serious bruises. It was not until yesterday that he arrested two men suspected of the work, but one man was arrested last night and held. An investigation is being had concerning Trimble and Eddy this afternoon.

Four Fined for Fun.

In the corporation court this morning one of four men arrested for the above offense pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs. The other three stood trial and were found guilty. They, too, were stuck for $5 and costs each. The testimony showed that all four men were bricklayers, and were in a saloon. The brakeman came in, produced his card and solicited a drink. Nothing doing. He then opened up with a tirade of abuse against bricklayers, among other things saying they were a set of —!!—!!—!! and if he ever caught one on his train he would kick him off between the cars. There was "somebody" doing then, and the brakeman was taken away for repairs. Three of the men claimed to have had nothing to do with the scrap.

A SECRET! He Tells It Now.

Many persons have been much puzzled over the fact that they can get $2.50 to $5.00 shoes for 75 cents. The reason is simple. I purchased the C. L. Lewis Shoe Stock in bulk, already I have made my money back and have hundreds of pairs of shoes that will net me a profit at any price sold for. You see the reason I sell these fine shoes at these prices, is simply to turn them into money, and while you are getting a bargain we are getting a small profit as well as making room that we need badly at our store for the fall stock that is arriving daily.

This sale continues until the room is made for our fall stock. Come with the crowd and get your share of the good things offered.

THE BUILDERS TO GATHER

MEETING OF STATE EXCHANGE WILL BE HELD IN DALLAS

SIX CITIES INCLUDED

The Association Has About 300 Members and is Organized for the Mutual Benefit of Contractors and Builders.

There will be a meeting of the Texas Builders' exchange at Dallas on Oct. 6-8. This organization was formed at Galveston about two years ago and this will be its second annual meeting. The last meeting was held at San Antonio and was largely attended.

There are six cities represented in the state exchange, namely, Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio, Cleburne, Austin and Galveston, and the membership now is about 300. The purpose of the state exchange is the same as that of the local exchanges, the only difference being that it has a broader field. The contractors find that they can be of mutual benefit to each other in many ways, particularly in cases where there is trouble with labor. The latter is organized, and so are the contractors. If a disturbance between the contractors of Galveston and the labor unions should occur the unions of other cities would be advised of the fact, and the contractors have also arranged to advise each other in case of trouble of any kind. There is no trouble brewing now, however, and the meeting at Dallas will be largely devoted to enjoyment after the routine business before the body is disposed of. The state fair will be in progress at the time of the meeting and this will of course add to the pleasure of those who attend.

The Dallas Builders' exchange has notified the other exchanges of the state that they will be met at the station on their arrival and escorted to their places of entertainment. Owing to the fact that the city will be full of visitors, a list of all who contemplate attending is requested. There will be between twenty-five and thirty of the Galveston contractors in attendance, and they will make an effort to secure the selection of Galveston as the place for holding the next annual meeting.

A Valuable Little Book Sent Free for the Asking.
Medical books are not always interesting reading, especially to people enjoying good health, but as a matter of fact scarcely one person in ten is perfectly healthy, and even with such, sooner or later sickness must come. It is also a well established truth that nine-tenths of all diseases originate with a breaking down of the digestion, a weak stomach weakens and impoverishes the system, making it easy for disease to gain a foothold.

Nobody need fear consumption, kidney disease, liver trouble or a weak heart and nervous system as long as the digestion is good and the stomach able to assimilate plenty of wholesome food.
Stomach weakness shows itself in a score of ways and this little book describes the symptoms and causes and points the way to a cure so simple that anyone can understand and apply.

Thousands have some form of stomach trouble and do not know it. They describe the headache, the languor, nervousness, the palpitation, constipation and similar symptoms to some other ailment than the true one. Get your clinician on the right track and the heart trouble, lung trouble, liver disease or nervous debility will rapidly disappear.

This little book treats entirely on the cause and removal of indigestion and its accompanying annoyances. It describes the symptoms of Acid Dyspepsia, Nervous Dyspepsia, Slow Dyspepsia, Amylic acid Dyspepsia, Catarrh of stomach and all affections of the digestive organs in plain language easily understood, and the cause removed.

It gives valuable suggestions as to diet, and contains a table giving length of time required to digest various articles of food, something every person with weak digestion should know.

No price is asked, but simply send your name and address plainly written on postal card to the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., requesting a little book on Stomach Diseases and it will be sent promptly by return mail.

FESTIVAL COMMITTEE JOINS SCHLEY TALK

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER THE TELEGRAM'S SUGGESTION, THEY WILL WORK TO BRING HIM HERE

The Fort Worth Free Fall Festival committee is enthusiastic over the suggestion in last night's Telegram to the effect that Admiral Schley should be brought here to see the school children instead of having the children go to Dallas. The idea of having the admiral here on "Flower Parade Day" appeals strongly to Promoter White, who said regarding it this morning.

"Interest in the coming Flower Parade is increasing daily. It is going to be the society event of the year. With the opportunity to pass in review before Admiral Schley as an incentive, there should easily be one hundred and fifty carriages in line and if such should be the case the 'Hero of Santiago' would not have anything like such a reception in the entire country."

"This is Fort Worth's opportunity to do herself proud. A sample carriage is being decorated at the headquarters of the Free Fall Festival committee, Ninth and Houston street, and also who can make flowers are invited to send in samples and prices on same. They will be placed on display and those who do not know how, I will gladly show, free of any charge and all who can make flowers are invited to make a 'prize winner.' The Fort Worth Flower Parade should be made the pleasantest incident in Admiral Schley's visit to Texas."

The Braunig stock company, which is filling a week's engagement at Greenwall's opera house, is proving to be a winner in both drawing power and giving satisfaction. At tomorrow's matinee the bill will be "The Pink Domino."

YOU'LL HAVE TO HASTEN

ONLY LIMITED NUMBER OF SCHLEY BANQUET TICKETS

DIETL FOR CHILDREN

His Was Only Suggestion, but City Doesn't Flinch at Idea of Taking the Little Folks on a Sixty-five Mile Trip.

Frank P. Holland, chairman of the Schley committee on invitation, has written George Dietl from the Dallas headquarters requesting those who desire seats at the Schley banquet make application at once. To Fort Worth the committee allotted 25 tickets, the honorary members being first provided for. The Fort Worth list contains the names of Dr. W. A. Adams, Mayor T. J. Powell, Paul Waples, Thomas F. West, Martin Casey, George Dietl, A. G. Dawson, W. P. Hardwick, W. J. Bailey, D. T. Bomar, Dr. W. A. Daringer, F. M. Weaver, Capt. M. B. Lloyd, B. C. Rhone, F. P. Baird, A. C. Conroy, J. F. Zurn, John C. Harrison, Robert McCart and M. A. Spoons.

After the foregoing list is exhausted the general public can procure tickets, and if no applications come from Fort Worth, they will be used elsewhere. The banquet hall has a seating capacity of 450.

Speaks for the Children.

George Dietl, to whom the committee has delegated the work of entertainment on the part of Fort Worth, said this morning his idea of taking the school children of Fort Worth to Dallas to see the admiral was in the nature of a suggestion rather than a desire to take people away from here. "I thought it would not be a bad idea to allow the rising generation of Fort Worth an opportunity to see the man who has helped to make history," said Mr. Dietl to The Telegram, "and suggested a trip with the hope the school management or the parents would consider its advisability. The children will be compelled to read in later years of the battle of Santiago, with which this man's name is associated, and as a leading character in American history today, a peep at him would tend to more thoroughly fix the man in their memory."

"I am not in the attitude of encouraging less interest in Fort Worth, and if the parents and the school board do not feel like undertaking the trip, I am satisfied, and will say no more about it. The Knights of Pythias should be encouraged in their efforts to give the people at home some character of entertainment while a large majority of North Texas population is journeying to Dallas to attend the State fair. If, however, it would be impossible to have Admiral Schley come over here from Dallas, as the situation now seems to indicate, the people will have to go to Dallas in line and if such should be the case the 'Hero of Santiago' would not have anything like such a reception in the entire country."

"This is Fort Worth's opportunity to do herself proud. A sample carriage is being decorated at the headquarters of the Free Fall Festival committee, Ninth and Houston street, and also who can make flowers are invited to send in samples and prices on same. They will be placed on display and those who do not know how, I will gladly show, free of any charge and all who can make flowers are invited to make a 'prize winner.' The Fort Worth Flower Parade should be made the pleasantest incident in Admiral Schley's visit to Texas."

City Doesn't Favor It
As far as the city is concerned, the idea of taking between 2000 and 5000 school children to Dallas even on such an occasion is not relished. The hazard is much too great to justify a 65-mile trip with the little people, and probable injury to one of them would not offset the contemplated benefit to be derived.

It is true that the builders of the admiral's itinerary through Texas are contemplating no other stop in North Texas other than Dallas, which means he will travel direct to Waco, spend the day, then go to San Antonio where he has relatives. As near as known these will be the only three places to be visited in Texas, although both Galveston and Houston are making requests for side trips, or to be included in the return route.
Some time ago the mayor's office addressed a letter to Admiral Schley requesting him to visit Fort Worth when he came to Texas, and received an an-

POLICEMAN THOMASON A HOODOO TO THE LINE

TWO EXPERIENCES IN A TROLLEY RIDE TO DALLAS—SCAPED UNINJURED EACH TIME

Officer Bert Thomason declares that the next time he starts to Dallas he will either walk or hire a mule. He was on the wrecked trolley car Monday afternoon and narrowly escaped serious injury. Yesterday he was again on the trolley car and went on the Interurban. A short way this side of Handley the trolley pole jumped the wire and tore up things generally, tearing itself from the car, bringing its fastenings with it. The noise alarmed the passengers and for a time they thought they were done for. Nobody was hurt, however. A new car was sent out from Handley for the rest of the trip.

WANTED ON SERIOUS CHARGE OF MURDER

DENISON OFFICERS DESCRIBE THREE MEN WANTED THERE AS SUSPECTS—ONE ARRESTED

The police here have been instructed by Denison officials to look out for Will Miller, about 25 or 28 years old, five feet ten inches tall, weight about one hundred and sixty pounds, dark blue or black suit of clothes, black derby hat, smooth shaven, is a general "rounder" and lives in Dallas, is well known there.

Also a tall man, about six feet, wore light gray suit of clothes, white hat, Stetson shaped. His name is supposed to be Frank Wilson, and about 25 or 25 years old.

Another small man, wore light suit of clothes, black felt hat, 19 or 20 years old, well known around race track, name not known.

These men are wanted in Denison for murder, committed there on last Sunday morning.

Charles Rone, a fireman on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, was found dead in an alleyway about daylight Sunday morning. There was a bruise on the right temple and one under the right eye.

An examination of the body revealed no marks of violence that would be sufficient to produce death, and it is believed the man was dragged and dragged to the alley.

A man was arrested there Sunday morning and put in jail, being held at a suspect in connection with the murder.

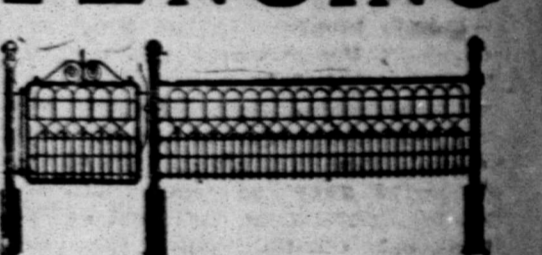

The officers here have been advised that the three men described above left there together, and are believed to have had something to do with the murder of Rone.

CROPS LOOK UNPROMISING

WEEKLY REPORT NOT ENCOURAGING TO THE FARMER

WEATHER TO BLAME

The Opening of Cotton is Checked—Tobacco is Nipped and all Crops Suffer More or Less—Drouth Hurts the Corn

(By Associated Press) Washington, Sept. 17.—The agricultural department has issued the following crop summary:

The week ending Sept. 15 was unusually cool throughout all districts east of the Rocky mountains, more particularly in the lake regions, central valleys and gulf states, with an absence of rain, or only light precipitation in the greater part of the area of the Mississippi river, although heavy rain occurred in portions of Arkansas and Louisiana. Needed rains fell in the Ohio valley lake region and middle and south Atlantic states, effectually relieving the drouth conditions in those districts.

More or less damage from the frosts occurred throughout the northwest, central valleys and lake region, and as far south as Arkansas and the northern portions of Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia.

Late corn has been seriously damaged by heavy frosts, but the northern corn belt, more especially to the westward of the Mississippi river, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and Kansas escaped injury except in the northern portions, where late corn was damaged. In Iowa, northern Nebraska, the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin early corn has been seriously injured. It is estimated that more than one-half of the crop in Iowa and south Dakota was too far advanced to be seriously hurt, but the bulk of the remainder has been badly damaged.

Much corn has been cut over the southern portion of the corn belt where a fine crop is assured. The weather conditions have been favorable for threshing spring wheat throughout the principal states. The very cool weather has checked the opening of cotton in the central and western portion of the cotton region. Picking has, however, advanced rapidly generally throughout the belt and as a rule under favorable conditions although pickers have been inadequate in some states. Over the southern portion of the cotton belt the bulk of the crop has been gathered and in some sections many fields are abandoned. Rains have caused damage to open cotton in portions of Arkansas, Louisiana, Georgia, Florida and South Carolina. Tobacco has been injured to some extent by frosts in Kentucky and Tennessee.

The progress made with plowing for fall seeding has been very satisfactory through the central valleys and considerable winter wheat has been sown in Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska. This work has been delayed in the middle portions of the Atlanta states and in part of Indian Territory and Oklahoma.

Quick Work by Court.
Muskegon, I. T., Sept. 17.—Judge Raymond finished the criminal court docket of the western district here, breaking the record for fast jury work and sentencing prisoners. Sixty convicted men were marched from the Federal prison to the courtroom under heavy guard to receive the sentence. There were white men, negroes and Indians. They were lined up before the court, and in just sixty minutes sentence had been passed upon every man, representing justice done for sixty crimes. The sentences ranged from ten years to thirty days. Court has been in session thirteen days, and in this time there have been thirty jury trials, several of them for murder.

WILL FIGHT TO THE VERY LAST DITCH

SO SAY THE OPERATORS WHEN ASKED ABOUT THE PROSPECT OF SETTLING THE ANTHRACITE STRIKE

(By Associated Press)

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 17.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor and President Mitchell and the national treasurer of the United Mine Workers, together with the district presidents of the same organization in the anthracite region, spent the best part of the day in secret conference here. After the meeting none who participated was in a communicative mood. President Mitchell said it was a regular monthly meeting of the executive board of the United Mine Workers, and Mr. Gompers and Mr. Wilson, happening to be coming this way, slipped over. Mr. Gompers, when asked what was the object of his visit to strike headquarters, replied: "I simply came here to look over the strike situation. I find everything in excellent shape. The strike is being ably conducted, and I learn there is ample relief for all the strikers."

Mr. Gompers said the annual convention of the federation would not be called at an earlier date than November to take action on the strike. The breaker at the Conningham mine of the Delaware and Hudson company was started up and was in operation for several hours. It is not known how much coal was run through the breaker. The breaker of No. 2 mine, operated by the same company, at Plymouth, was also put in operation.

HENDERSON WITHDRAWS

THE SPEAKER'S SCOTCH-IRISH BLOOD ASSERTS ITSELF

BALKS ON FREE TRADE

This is the Iowa Platform is Both and Therefore Tenders His Resignation as a Candidate for Re-Election

(By Associated Press)

Dubuque, Ia., Sept. 17.—Speaker Henderson of the house of representatives, finding that his views in respect to the treatment of trusts by reducing the tariff in whole or in part are not in accord with the views of his party in command in Iowa, declined to accept the nomination for congress and has withdrawn from the race.

The following letter was addressed to C. E. Albrook, chairman of the notification committee, Eldorado, Ia., by Mr. Henderson:

"My Dear Sir: I have never answered the kind notice communicated by you and your associates advising me of my nomination for the eleventh time by acclamation, as the Republican candidate for congress for the Third congressional district of Iowa. Reported conditions in the public mind induced me to make this delay. Since my return to the district I have made a careful study as to the sentiment in the district and state, and I believe there is no little sentiment, and a growing sentiment among Republicans that I do not truly represent their views on the tariff question. Believing this condition to exist and knowing that I do not agree with many of my people that trusts to which I am and have been opposed, can be cured, or the people benefited by free trade, in whole or in part, I must decline to accept the nomination so generously and enthusiastically made. I have devoted twenty of the best years of my life to the service of my people and country and I have fought for what I have believed to be best for the farmer, the laborer and the business interests of this district and state. I am grateful for the devotion that has been accorded me and to the hour of my death I will hold in a grateful heart the memory of that devotion. I will give later on in some detail my views and convictions on our conditions and on public questions, and will state my reasons why the Republican party and its policies should continue in the confidence of the voters of the country and why the doctrines of the Democrats should find no lodgment in the faith and teachings of the Republican party. Very truly yours,"

"D. B. HENDERSON."

Utah Democrats

Provo, Utah, Sept. 17.—The Democratic state convention has nominated Judge W. H. King of Salt Lake for congress, and Richard W. Young, formerly of the supreme bench, in the Philippines, for justice of the supreme court and adopted a platform in which trusts and beet sugar were prominent features. The platform also extends the sympathy of the Democratic party of Utah to Mrs. McKinley. No mention was made in the platform of either Mr. Bryan or 16 to 1, but the Kansas City platform was endorsed and the cheering which greeted Bryan's name when mentioned by Chairman Powers showed the feeling of the party toward him.

Delaware Democrats

Denver, Del., Sept. 17.—The Democratic state convention nominated the following ticket: Representative in congress—Henry A. Houston. State treasurer—Jos. S. Hossinger. Auditor of accounts—J. Thos. Lowe. The contest hinged on the nomination for congress, Houston defeating Former Congressman L. Irving Handy by a majority of two votes. Because of the split in the Republican ranks the Democratic leaders claim to be able to elect their congressional candidate in November and consequently there was a scramble for the nomination. Each of the three counties in the state had several candidates.

- Talk in print as you would talk to a customer in your store. • It pays to advertise goods that are worthy of being advertised.

As to the line to Dallas, the Rock Island means business.

Are you watching O. W. Gillespie? He isn't saying much, but he's sawing wood.

The city schools are being fumigated. As if it weren't enough torture to the scholars merely to attend.

"Now Johnny, don't wait for the whistle, but run along to school. The whistle will blow in a day or two."

Fort Worth is the finest city in Texas for either a home or a business location. Write and tell your friends about it.

Mr. Terrell's reference to Jonah in the lot decision of the Democratic convention, is apt. There is not much guessing as to "who was Jonah."

An injunction has been filed in Louisville to stop the McGovern-Corbett fight. That's very old. All good prize-fight press agents do that way.

Chile is trying to secure the peace of the South American republics. Has the love of peace finally lit in South America or is it just a common buzzard?

Who was the milliner that induced Rev. Father Carley of New York to preach a sermon declaring that women ought to wear their hats to church?

Postmaster Burroughs is to have a new stamp cancelling machine. By the way, have you noticed how the local service has been steadily improving under his administration?

Those soldiers at Fort Presidio, Cal., need some healthy fighting to take the fun out of them. Why don't Uncle Sam use them to fight the destructive forest fires in the northwest?

Make fun of the Cubans, but they have gratitude. The memorial services Sunday for the late President McKinley were the best attended of any religious services ever held on the island.

The spectacle of a Fort Worth man wearing the uniform of the local police force reeling through the streets in a drunken condition is one that calls for the rebuke of the mayor and all respectable people.

A good many Fort Worth people who have read the old Testament, are forcibly reminded of a certain occasion when Moses turned the waters of a certain river into blood. The question that is bothering them now, however, is who's the Moses?

HENDERSON'S RESIGNATION Dave Henderson, congressman from Iowa and speaker of the house of representatives has issued a letter to his constituents declining a renomination. He gives as his reasons that there are people in his district who have different ideas from himself on the tariff question and that of the trusts and that he cannot represent his constituents and be himself at the same time. The speaker refuses to hold to the theory that the protective tariff is a shelter to the trusts and that the removal of the tariff on trust manufactured articles will have any effect on the monolith. It is further stated that President Roosevelt

The Psalmist Sings of God's Compassion

The Lord executeth righteousness and judgment for all that are oppressed. He made known his ways unto Moses, his acts unto the children of Israel. The Lord is merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and plenteous in mercy.

and the speaker are at outs on this very question and it looks as though this rupture had reached a serious stage, when the speaker refuses to stand for a re-nomination. Perhaps the fact that that old time war horse of Iowa Democracy, that grand old man of Iowa who is the only Democrat elected to the governorship in many and many a year, Horace Boies, is Mr. Henderson's opponent for a reelection this time, has something to do with the Honorable David's refusal to run again, at all events it all looks like a childish fit of pique.

There are joys and pleasures, sources of gratification and causes of keener delight, happiness and soul-satisfying bliss, dreams of rapture and visions of celestial ecstasy, but about the most care-destroying, pain-rewarding, heart-satisfying moment in the life of the average newspaper man, is when he sits down in his split-bottomed chair and with a pen that is singing to the music of the celestial spheres, tries to tell in modest words just how he made his latest "scoop."

A NORTHERN COLOR LINE. Negro girls have been barred from the young ladies' dormitories at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. A colored girl from Texas, who had engaged a room in advance, before her race was known, started a bitter controversy among the students.

This bitterness was perhaps more effective in settling the discussion than the good sense of all engaged, yet the move was a wise one. The question of race distinction cannot always be satisfactorily adjusted, and it is better in such cases to draw a distinct line that no confusion may result.

Will He Come? It was suggested in last evening's Telegram to invite Admiral Schley to Fort Worth to see the school children instead of having all of Fort Worth's school children go to Dallas to see the Admiral.

The suggestion has taken a quick hold and there is little doubt an urgent invitation will be given the gallant representative of the American navy to come to this city.

When he gets it, will he come? You can be sure he will. He has heard of Fort Worth long ago. He has heard of her schools, her fine buildings, her business houses, her thriving, hustling spirit and he wants to see the evidence. There are some packing houses out in the north end that he will likely want to see, there are scores of beautiful residences that will surprise him when he thinks of the Texas he heard of when a boy, as compared with the Texas of today. There are hundreds of the best people in the state, whom he wants to meet and besides there are the happy faced, Fort Worth school children whom he would like to please by visiting.

Send Admiral Schley the strongest, warmest, most hearty invitation that can be written and bring him to Fort Worth with flying colors. Give him a reception that will make Fort Worth's name stand in his memory, higher than all the rest. Take the movement up and push it along.

Fortune Favors a Texan "Having distressing pains in head, back and stomach and being without appetite, I began to use Dr. King's New Life Pills," writes W. P. Whitehead of Kennedale, Tex., "and soon felt like a new man." Infallible in stomach and other troubles. Only 25c at Galt's and Galt's drug store, 302 Main street.

A FEW STORIES

George Broadhurst, a dramatic author, whose comedies have gained him some attention, is in San Francisco superintending the production of a new play. He finds time, however, to occasionally tell a story, and when he was asked the other day which of his budget he liked the best, replied that the Frenchman's description of the American cocktail has long been the favorite in his repertoire.

The Frenchman, according to Mr. Broadhurst, described the drink to his countrymen in this way: "Ze American cocktail—yes? It is ze funny thing. You put whisky in him to make him strong, you put water in him to make him weak. You put lemon in him to make him sour, and you put sugar in him to make him sweet. Zen you say 'Here's to you' an' drink him yourself. I see eet not a foolishness?"

Peter F. Dalley, or as he is better known to smokers, "Pete" Dalley, is coming back into the limelight and preparing for his re-entrance on the Weber-Field stage in New York. Like the minister who confined himself to doctrinal sermons, wrote them until he got a barrelful, and then each fall turned the barrel upside down and preached them over again. Mr. Dalley has turned his stories over and is beginning near the bottom.

"When I had been in the business only a year or two," he said the other day, "I had to make a quick trip from Cleveland to Buffalo. I had one fine suit of clothes, a bang-up hat, a new pair of shoes, a cane, a pair of gloves, and some incidentals, and so made a pretty good front. I boarded the Buffalo train and found two ragged, dirty-faced kids hiding in the car. I listened to their story and was touched by it—so much so that when the conductor came in I pleaded with him to let the boys go through. I gave him over $400 worth of the best language he ever listened to, and finally got him to the verge of tears. 'All right,' he said, 'I'll take the kids through, Mr. Dalley. And now, if you please, I'll look at your ticket.' That reminded me, 'Ah, I said, 'I forgot to explain that to you. I'm traveling with the kids.'"

It was during the heavy storms of snow and sleet February last that a young woman on the way from the railroad station to a friend's house tripped and plunged head first into a formidable snow bank. A fellow traveler, witnessing her mishap, hastened up and, manlike, felt foolish and awkward as he stood over the temporary grave of the fair damsel. "Pardon me, madam, but did you fall?" he asked lamely. "Oh, no," she answered, smiling sweetly, "I just went under that drift to look for four-leaved clovers."

Funny things are always happening in court. There was at one time in the court of special sessions an interpreter—a barber by profession and who practiced with lather and razor when not interpreting—who talked so brokenly that when he spoke English you wished he would stick to German, and when he tried German you longed for him to tackle English again. I had occasion to ask a German witness if the defendant had not struck him with a stove pipe, and the interpreter promptly translated my remarks into the Teutonic equivalent for: "Did the defendant hit you with a sick pig?"

Pugilist Corbett tells a story of his father that agreeably illustrates the readiness of the Celt to "hedge," to employ a bit of sporting vernacular, says the Philadelphia Times. The elder Corbett was proud of the fact that his son had a position in a bank, and received with disgust the announcement that a career as a wandering pugilist was under consideration.

"You should stay where you are, Jim," he said. "Remember, a rolling stone gathers no moss." The younger Corbett was proud of the fact that his son had a position in a bank, and received with disgust the announcement that a career as a wandering pugilist was under consideration.

Victory after victory added to young Corbett's bank account, until he won both fame and fortune in his calling by defeating the doughty Sullivan. When next he returned home, and made his father a gift of a liberal check, meanwhile telling of the vast amount of money he had earned, the old man joyfully exclaimed: "Ah! Jim, me boy; it's the roaming bee gathers in the honey!"

THE LAST WORD

She is one of those modest and unobtrusive characters that does not flash and blaze like the brilliant comet in the skies for a moment and then disappears forever, but rather a substantial woman, whose loyalty to her husband and their interests and devotion to the material and real affairs of life make her footprints indelible in her long journey through the world.—Dallas News.

On its what? The Tribune says the taxpayers of Austin should have better streets than is being furnished them. This remark exactly fits Tyler.—Tyler Courier.

Isn't that singular? The verb, we mean. We observe that none of the really bright papers of the country ever reproduce anything from the columns of "The Commoner." Can it be that all the brainy editors in the south-west are prejudiced against the "Commoner" periodical? Or is it a fact that the "peerless" never manages to write anything worth while? One may "make up" a beautiful speech, by pulling from half a dozen old orators, but when a man tries that game in preparing an essay or editorial, to put himself ridiculous and is lucky to escape with nothing worse to answer.—Texas Arkansas Courier.

Bryan's paper is confessedly about the poorest printed in America. There are dozens and dozens of weekly papers in Texas infinitely superior in every way to the Commoner.—Austin Tribune.

Nothing, in fact could be commoner. Last Sunday Mayor Low of New York preached a sermon to the members of a colored church in New York, and the pastor at the close stated that Mr. Low would some day fill the office of president of the United States.—Austin Statesman.

FASHION HINTS

Grass lawn has been revived this season, and the robes, which come chiefly from Paris, are wonderfully tucked and incrustated with lace. The new robes in soft silk and wool materials are much applauded with Arabian and gypure lace, and the designs form not only the borders and flounces, but have tunic arrangements and are applied in yoke fashion around the hips.

A great deal of gray is worn, but chiefly in very pale tints, and the silvery shade with pinkish tones is the most popular of all. Bright colorings are completely out of style. All the

BLACK CHANTILLY DRESS.

Blues, pinks and heliotropes are soft and delicate, and the misty pastel tones are much affected. Black lace is a good deal worn even on light colored gowns, and dresses of black or white taffeta are tucked and adorned with black lace set on in transparent fashion. A handsome gown of this description invariably has an air of distinction and can be worn either day or evening.

The plain but effective gown shows is of black chantilly over white silk. The collar is of white mousseline de soie. Dainty touches are afforded by the bows of liberty satin and the little square brilliant buckles.

Devoured by Worms Children often cry, not from pain, but from hunger, although fed abundantly. The entire trouble arises from inanition, their food is not assimilated, but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once, very much to the surprise and joy of the mother. 25 cents at H. T. Pangburn & Co's.

THE MYSTERY OF GRASLOV

By Ashley Towne

Copyright, 1921, by Charles B. Etherington

Prince Neslerov wants to marry Frances Gordon, the charming daughter of an American who is building the Trans-Siberian railroad. Frances is interested in the fortunes of Vladimir Paulpoff, a stalwart Russian blacksmith. She asks Neslerov to use his influence for Vladimir. Neslerov goes to Vladimir's hut. The blacksmith has talent and shows Neslerov a picture he has painted. It is the portrait of a woman of rank copied from a miniature. The prince is excited and asks for the original. Vladimir's father says it has been lost. To Vladimir old Paulpoff confesses that he lied to Neslerov and still has the miniature.

Neslerov has the Paulpoffs sent to Siberia as nihilists. Frances Gordon goes to the forge with books for Vladimir. At the door of the lonely hut she encounters Neslerov. The prince presses his suit violently and Frances stuns him with a pistol shot in the head. Gordon wishes his daughter to marry Jack Denton, an American bridge engineer. Frances demands that her father intercede with the governor for Vladimir. They start for Ohi. Neslerov boards the same train which breaks in two, and Neslerov has Frances alone in his power.

Neslerov drags Frances before a priest and bids him to perform a marriage ceremony. Jack Denton comes to the rescue. Neslerov is beaten off. Denton nearly kills Neslerov in a duel.

CHAPTER VIII THE INTERVIEW IN THE HUT.

FRANCES lay on a rude bed, scarcely conscious, and Denton stood a moment looking down solemnly upon the lovely upturned face. He bent over her, touched her brow and felt her pulse. All sense of his own injuries seemed to leave him as he saw her need of immediate care.

Frances felt his touch and looked up at him with about the same expression she might have worn had he been a stern and high priced specialist called in to make an examination. "You are merely knocked out by the shock," he said, with assumed indifference. "You will probably be all right as soon as we get to Tomsk."

"Yes, if I could get there," she whispered. "My father will be anxious." "We must relieve his anxiety as soon as possible. You must not worry." "What will you do? And Neslerov?" "Never mind Neslerov now. Keep cool. You've got to be braced up a little. I wish I had some wine."

"There was some in the car," she answered. "Neslerov had it. He tried to make me drink, but I would not." Denton went to the car, still on the main track, and brought from it the remains of the bottle of wine Neslerov had opened. This he took with him to the hut and offered some to Frances. "I don't want it. I refused it before," she said.

"Oh, don't you want it?" he asked ironically. "I suppose in your keen and subtle mind there is no distinction between a glass of wine offered by Neslerov when you were his prisoner and by me when you are ill."

"I did not mean that," she said meekly. She reached out her hand, took the cup and drained it. "Now, then," said Denton, coolly seating himself on a stool near her bed, "tell me this whole miserable business from the beginning."

"I haven't thanked you yet, Jack," she said, with a return of color. "Never mind thanking me. I did merely what any other American would have done, and, seeing you in danger, it would not have been manly, indeed, to stand off. I accept your thanks, but let's get to the business. How did you happen to be here—with Neslerov?"

"We were in Moscow," she said. "There was a meeting about the new railway." "Yes, I know. That was what took Neslerov there." "He had an interview with papa while in Moscow—"

"Why do you hesitate? It is not a new experience to have a man want to marry you, is it? You gave him the usual answer, I suppose." "Oh, Jack! There was but one answer papa could give him. I do not like the prince, and papa knows I will never marry a man I do not love."

"Everybody knows that—who knows you," said Denton soberly. "He told him about you—and about Vladimir—and the prince got angry." "About Vladimir? Who is he?" "Vladimir Paulpoff, an ironworker, now sent—"

"Never mind, we will get to that afterward. You started for the Ohi, where Gordon is to take a house in Washlor."

"No, not yet. I must tell you about Vladimir—poor fellow! I met him in the forge—in his shop—one day while

ELECTION IS SETTLED

UNITED STATES MARSHAL COLBERT OF TERRITORY, TALKS

Says Opposition Has Accepted the Choice of Moseley and That the Trouble Has Been Amicably Adjusted

Ben H. Colbert, United States marshal for the Southern Indian Territory district, was at the North today, en route to Ardmore from Colbert, I. T. Mr. Colbert says the election of Moseley governor for the Chickasaw nation has been accepted as final by the opposition, and the chief's inauguration carried out. In the election Mr. Colbert was a Moseley man.

"I was informed," said he to The Telegram, "that if I did not let the election alone charges would be preferred against me in Washington. I told the people if holding a federal office meant that one was to practice wholesale desertion of his friends, then I had misunderstood the spirit of American manhood."

To Vote on Allotment.
"Both the Choctaw and the Chickasaw nations are in a highly prosperous condition. The residents are to vote Sept. 25 on what is known as the supplementary treaty to the Atoka agreement. The agreement did not contemplate the allotment of lands to the natives, and might have been very well under the condition which existed at that time. The supplementary treaty agrees that an allotment shall be made and opposing this will be lined up the largest holders. Under apportionment each native will secure a tract equal in value of 320 acres of average soil."

Mr. Colbert is a descendant of the Colberts which are prominent in the history of the Chickasaw nation. He was President Roosevelt's orderly in Cuba, being a member of the Rough Rider regiment. At present he controls about 50,000 acres of choice Chickasaw land, but is uncompromisingly in favor of the supplementary treaty which will bring about an allotment.

C. W. Landis, "Porter" for the Oriental Hotel, Chanute, Kas., says: "I know what it is to suffer with neuralgia; I did, and I got a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment and I was 'bald' from the head." I tried to get some more, but before I had 'deposited' my bottle, I was cured entirely. I am telling the truth too." 25c. 50c. and $1.00 at H. T. Pangburn & Co.'s.

ABOUT EYES

Glasses Are Not Always Necessary

Parents are often advised to get glasses for their children by the school authorities who attribute the weak, watery condition of the eyes of the child to some defect in the vision, and do not realize that the trouble may arise from the common practice of coffee drinking.

A case in point, Mrs. C. E. Knapp of Elyria, O., says, "Six months ago we were a family of invalids: my husband, myself and two children were all afflicted with stomach trouble. I would get so faint before it was time for regular meals, and after eating had pain and distress in the stomach, which felt as though there was a hard lump in there. I felt drowsy and stupid most of the time. If I was out in the wind my eyes would water so it hindered me from seeing. My son was the worst afflicted. His eyes blurred so they hindered his progress in school and we thought it would be necessary to have them treated. His teacher finally had him bring his reader home with word that I have him read an hour each day out of school. He could not read a paragraph without stopping to wipe his eyes or close them. We were great coffee drinkers, especially my boy, but never thought that was the cause of our trouble until I read an article on the subject in the Cleveland paper."

We were discussing it at table one day and my daughter said, 'I know it is coffee that hurts me for when I do not drink it I do not have that lump in my stomach.' My boy said, 'A lump is nothing, every time I drink coffee my fingers prickle just as though they were asleep.' I was both scared and astonished at such information, and told them I had made the last cup of coffee I ever would for home use. I got a package of Postum Food Coffee and tried it for our next meal and we soon learned to like it and think it better than coffee."

We have none of us been troubled with our stomachs since we commenced to use it. Our eyes do not water any more when in the wind, our cheeks and lips are red instead of blue or purple when we are out in the cold, the drowsy feeling has left and the prickly feeling has entirely left my son. We use it twice a day and give it freely to my twenty months' old babe. We find it better and cheaper than coffee. We cannot speak too highly of its merits for we know we owe the change in our health to Postum Cereal Food Coffee."

MORE WATER IN MEADE SHAFT

NUMBER TWO CAME IN YESTERDAY, AND NOW 1,800,000 GALLONS ARE FLOWING

All Water Works Pumps in Service to Protect the Workmen—Citizens Must Use Mud for a Few Days Yet—Encouraging Outlook

Beaumont has by no means a monopoly on gasless business. Fort Worth is in the game with a winning hand. Beaumont plays an oil lead—Fort Worth takes the trick with an artesian trump. Yesterday another well came in—No. 2—with something over a million gallon flow. This, added to well No. 1, which came in recently, makes nearly 2,000,000 gallons of the purest of artesian water flowing into, or being forced into, the suction basin of the new system.

To take care of this enormous flow it is necessary to command the services of all the water works pumps, in order to keep the water out of the tunnels so that the workmen can continue their work, hence the old Wael Fork plant is pressed into service to supply the city for fire and sprinkling purposes—to use the liquid mud for other purposes is out of the question.

It will be necessary to thus utilize the pumps for several days, meanwhile the city must of necessity be supplied with water from the muddy fork. The power that forces this water over the hill is the same that furnishes lights for the streets—the latter must be cut out, for it is a question as between water or lights. The moon is now working, and water is given the preference.

Contractor Meade is expected here today, and it is announced that he will arrange to make the test within a few days after his arrival. The outlook for him to furnish the city the 5,000,000 gallons of artesian water daily—and more—is indeed encouraging.

Four pumps at the new plant worked at full pressure all day yesterday and last night to keep the water in the Meade shaft from forcing its way above the pumps and up to the surface. They pumped the water out at the rate of 1,800,000 gallons a day and then only kept even with the flow.

Superintendent Lakin, in charge of the work of constructing the tunnel in the absence of Mr. Meade, was engaged yesterday and last night in an effort to lower a heavy iron casting into the big shaft to cover the trap door in the flood through which it is feared the water will spurt if the pumps from any reason should fail.

With this casting in place it is believed that the pumps could be stopped without material damage to the work already done, in case a stoppage should become necessary.

The well that came in yesterday was a deep one. The one that burst through its casing several weeks ago was a shallow well.

The pumping capacity in the main shaft is believed to be ample to handle any quantity of water likely to come into the shaft.

The boilers are located about sixty feet from the opening of the shaft above the ground and the shaft is 171 feet deep. The pumps are 165 feet below the surface.

MORE SCHOOL ROOM WAS PROVIDED FOR

THE SCHOOL BOARD HELD SPECIAL SESSION—THE CROWDED CONDITION OF BUILDINGS DISCUSSED—ACTION TAKEN

Because of the unprecedented crowded condition of the schools, there was a special meeting of the board of school trustees held yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The question of the necessity of more room was uppermost, and each member, the superintendent, the mayor and Alderman Mottler, had a say. Something must be done, and immediately, to relieve the situation. As a starter, it was decided to at once commence the erection of two additional rooms in the Fifth ward. City Engineer Hawley was present, and said they could and would be ready for occupancy in 30 days. The rooms are to be built in either the northeast or northwest corner of the school yard, and about 50 feet away from the main building, thus affording light and ventilation.

Additional rooms are to be secured in the Eighth ward to accommodate the overflow that comes from there.

It was suggested that some pupils properly assigned to the Second ward, and some in the First should be assigned to the Ninth ward.

Superintendent Hogg said he would make such arrangement in this direction as was possible.

Alderman Moreland made a brief address to the board, in which he pointed out that it would be a good idea for the board to appoint a committee to draw up plans looking to the future.

CATARRH

The treatment of Catarrh with antiseptic and astringent washes, lotions, salves, medicated tobacco and cigarettes or any external or local application, is just as senseless as would be kindling a fire on top of the pot to make it boil. True, these give temporary relief, but the cavities and passages of the head and the bronchial tubes soon fill up again with mucus.

Taking cold is the first step towards Catarrh, for it checks perspiration, and the poisonous acids and vapors which should pass off through the skin, are thrown back upon the mucous membrane or inner skin, producing inflammation and excessive flow of mucus, much of which is absorbed into the blood, and through the circulation reaches every part of the system, involving the Stomach, Kidneys and other parts of the body. When the disease assumes the dry form, the breath becomes exceedingly foul, blinding headaches are frequent, the eyes red, hearing affected and a constant ringing in the ears. No remedy that does not reach the polluted blood can cure Catarrh. S. S. S. expels from the circulation all offensive matter, and when rich, pure blood is again coursing through the body the mucous membranes become healthy and the skin active, all the disagreeable, painful symptoms disappear, and a permanent, thorough cure is effected.

S. S. S. being a strictly vegetable blood purifier does not derange the Stomach and digestion, but the appetite and general health rapidly improve under its tonic effects. Write us about your case and get the best medical advice free. Book on blood and skin diseases sent on application.

ADVICE TO TEACHERS

By W. D. HARRIS.

The following address was delivered before the city normal by Ex-District Judge W. D. Harris on last Tuesday morning:

The normal work is a work of importance. It enables those who have some especially good ideas on any subject taught or branch of the work to give others the benefit of the same. It furnishes those who feel that they are wanting on any particular subject or have difficulty in giving the explanation that will convey to the student's mind the right understanding, to seek the aid of new ideas from others. It is not amiss nor to the credit of the teacher that they come on some points or that they have more difficulty with some points of the work than with other points. For whether we take the teacher, or lawyer, or doctor or preacher, if honest with themselves, they will all confess their shortcomings, their sense of insufficiency in some respects at least, unless the teacher, or lawyer, or doctor, or preacher be akin to that person spoken of in scripture as a man who in his own eyes is as a man.

And where you find a teacher or person of any other calling who is afflicted like the character mentioned there is about as little hope for life and attaining the ends he should as there is of the party to whom the scripture compares the conceited person.

The teacher's task is a harder one than that of persons of most other professions; that is, there is more monotony, more sameness, more of the eternal grind over the same thing, than can be found most anywhere else. And the load of a teacher never gets lighter. If he began teaching fifteen years ago he then had the same difficulty in imparting to the minds of the youths, he then had the information he wanted to convey that he now has. He now has the same.

The mind of the class now who comes to undertake for the first time any given work is as unequal to the undertaking as was that other class fifteen years ago when it undertook the same thing. So, year after year the labor of the teacher is the same, as each year he has a new class. True, in the run of fifteen years he has improved some in the skill of doing his part of the work, but the class being new, he finds it practically as hard as one year and with one class as it was the former year with the class of that year. This fact makes the teacher's lot a hard one. And, going over it year after year, with class after class, makes the work irksome and grinding—makes the teacher long for something new. And I am fearful that the teacher—getting tired of going over and over the same road—makes them, to vary the monotony, seek out new ways and methods that are not the best to be used to accomplish the work set before them to be done. There is but one way to avoid this and avoid the mistakes of trying new plans—plans not the best, and that is to throw the soul into the work. The teacher who teaches to fill up time, or as a make-shift to avoid doing something else and who is indifferent as to results is unfit for the business. He or she must be able to put the soul in the work. He must be content with it, must take pride in it, must realize its importance to the future of those taught.

A teacher at the beginning of each year ought to measure the work he or she has to do. Their task, their duty, their mission for that year is to advance the students of the room as soon enter upon to the beginning of the next grade. The teacher ought to look upon that as his or her task, ought to determine to do that well, ought to take each book that is taught to his or her grade, ought to see in advance the whole work ought to look into and size up the work of that grade which is to be done in that book—ought to fit in their minds, comprehend and grasp it as a whole—as a parcelled out year's work.

Then ought to say when entering the room at the beginning: "My task is to see that those of this room are successfully converted or carried from the beginning of the grade they now enter upon to the beginning of the next higher grade. I don't mean carry them, but see to it that those of the room go over the work assigned and understand it."

The teacher ought to keep his eye on the amount to be done—the amount being done—the proportion of the time passed away, the proportion yet to come and from the beginning in an earnest, business-like and interested way enter upon the work with soul in the work, and as they move along and near the end of the year and see the class thoroughly accomplishing their work, rejoice in it and feel that it is not a small work but a work that is important, feel that he or she as teacher has for that year fulfilled an important mission. Do not feel like that year's work is of small importance, "for it may be a great factor in the make-up of a full scholarship of the student when the full school career shall have been ended."

Parents' Aid Needed
To do that year's work successfully you ought to have the aid of the parents, the sympathy, support and good wishes of the parents. The fact is, the teacher and parent ought to be partners in the work. The parent, no less than the teacher, ought to realize what his child is to do that year. He ought to have every solicitude for the child accomplishing the work of that year that could possibly be in the breast of the most earnest teacher. I am fearful parents too often do not realize this fact. I am fearful there is too often a standing aloof by the parent. The teacher and the parent in their aims and purposes and solicitude do not get close together.

The teacher too often looks everywhere else for aid in the time of difficulty with the progress or in the conduct of a child rather than to the parent of that child. I do not say that the teacher is wholly to blame for this, nor even the most to blame, and may be not at all to blame. Too many parents get, as it were, in spirit and disposition, and manner, at arm's length. They see themselves up on critics. They seek to find, or at least are ready to seize upon faults of the teacher. They stand with ear inclined and disposition of heart attuned to find fault, and even eagerly gather the report of the "chap" who has misunderstood or misconstrued, or even fibbed a thousand times to the parent about things as all-sufficient evidence to find fault with and complain at a teacher. And if such parents would in a cool and sensible way complain first to the teacher it would not be too bad—but they usually complain first and most to their neighbors, and some of them have little enough thought of the consequences to do their talking in the presence of their children. This is wrong on the part of parents. I do not excuse any of this in the parent, but, on the other hand, I do not excuse the teacher in not seeking the aid of the parent and in some way getting close to the parent and working, and talking if need be, to enlist his support and aid. I do not believe that the teachers make too little effort to enlist the parent. Probably they do too little aggressive work designed to accomplish that end. While there are some who stand aloof, who maintain an uninviting attitude towards the teacher, yet I am persuaded that a little more effort on the part of the teacher, a little more holding out that you expect it, and you are entitled to it, will soon show you that most of the parents are in hearty sympathy and are ready to give a helping hand.

Of course, I do not mean that every little difficulty should be carried to the parent—I do not mean that the one hundred and one small matters that may come up, things that you can easily correct and manage should be carried to the parent. These things you can manage—a little authority and the right to exercise it—as you now have. I am glad to say, will settle most difficulties. But aside from this and notwithstanding the many things you can manage without aid of parents, yet you need an ought to have, and should strive to have, the aid and co-operation of the parents; they, like the teacher, should keep posted so far as possible, as to the progress or want of progress of the child in the year's work.

Again, to accomplish properly and make the year's work amount to what it should as a factor or element in the education of the child you must have the child to do the work. Don't try to do all the learning and studying for the child. Be careful not to do that for the child which it should do itself. To be sure, you must help it over the difficult places which it cannot get over without your help. But the average child by the proper application and effort can go over most of the ground without being carried. To do for a child what it is capable of doing for itself by reasonable effort, is a positive injury. The child must work—it must think, must do brain-work. It does not and you undertake to show it everything, and undertake to make it so simple and easy that it requires no effort on the child's part, then the child may get the information but gets no mental strength. It passes on to the next difficulty, to the next lesson, without having acquired that increased strength that will be needed to overcome the next obstacle. You might undertake to carry the child by your labor and explanations over the lessons of the whole year. You might make it so easy and put it to the child in such a way as to get the ideas into his mind, but having gotten them there by dosing and stuffing the child and not requiring effort on its part, you have not allowed it or required it, to make that effort which is indispensable to growth in mental strength. I am not certain if our teachers do not depend too much on carrying the pupils over the road by their own efforts.

And here we find another fault of some parents—they want you to boldly, so to speak, carry their children, want you to do the work for them, and seem to think that it is just as good for the child if you do the work, or make it so plain by your efforts that none is required on its part, as it would be if the child by its own efforts had accomplished the work. The truth is, there can be no increase of strength, such as should be, either physical or mental, without exertion—without effort. I would admonish you to see to it that neither from desire to yield to the wishes of a thoughtless or overly tender-hearted parent, or from the noble impulse in your own breast, to help a child because it is a child, you permit yourself to do for it what it could do and should do for itself. For, so far as the development of mental strength is concerned, it is better that a child should go through one grade and learn what is to be learned and do the work itself which it ought to do than to go over these grades by continually having the teacher to bear the burden and carry the load and surmount the obstacles for the child and freeing it from every mental struggle to make its way. The child that is virtually lifted and carried through the lower grades comes to the higher grades wholly unprepared for the work: the strength which work and struggle and effort ought to have brought, and would have brought if it had been required to do the work it has not done. And I am not sure that the average children, because of discouragement, and they and their friends conclude they are dull, and they drop out of school and fall to go through the higher grades because they have been carried over the lower grades by the work of an indulgent teacher when they should have been required to travel the road by their own strength.

Too Much Recitation
One more thought and I shall have said what I wanted to say: That is, do not have recitation by a child all day long. Have in school and within school hours more study period. I do not believe that the average child learns any such amount during the evening after school hours, and at night, supplemented with a little morning study in order that the whole school hour can be devoted to reciting. One half the school hours would be amply sufficient, and more than sufficient for my children, to recite what they usually learn of an evening, and what little I may exact of them at night, and what they may learn from a few glimpses of their books of a morning before school hours. So, I think it is with other children. The father cannot suspend all day when they have learned so little to recite. I repeat, have more study periods within school hours and under the supervision of the teacher. Let the teacher keep an eye on the pupils and see how they are doing, and how they get down to work. I do not see why teachers do not earn the salary they receive as well in keeping oversight of a room and seeing to it that there is study as well as continually hearing recitation after recitation, and all day long, of lessons that have never been learned, and that no reasonable effort has been made by the pupil to learn.

It may be said that the parent ought to see to it that the lessons are learned at home. It is true that the parent ought to do what she or he can in this respect; but the fact is, the average parent has not the time, the mother cannot neglect her domestic duties and lulling to quietude the smaller "responsibilities" and call in the school children of the family and each day organize a session of school and see to it that the lessons are learned. The father cannot suspend business and go home for that purpose. Besides, there are many parents who from a want of education are not prepared to instruct. So, a large part of the studying that ought to be done is left to the child in the school room within school hours. Do not depend on the pupil learning during recitation—all day recitation—what is easy enough for to learn, and what it ought to learn by its own individual, personal, unaided application. To try to recite the lessons into them is only one way to carry them. The father who made the books have so simplified items as to enable the average child to comprehend and understand them in the main by their own efforts if they be earnest and continue for a reasonable length of time.

Don't Help Too Much
So understand what those of your room must do to complete a year's work. Keep your eye upon their progress, and require them to do the work. Help them, to be sure, when necessary, but don't wear out your life and make a weakening of the child by continually helping when no help is needed.

Of course, it is your duty as an incidental matter to see to the deportment and bearing of the children—to inculcate a right idea of morality, and teach them to hold in respect the laws of the state and city. It is your duty to do the routine work required by the regulations of the school board and superintendent, and make your reports, etc., but these are incidental matters. Do them faithfully, but bear in mind that your own individual pupils of that year is to do direct the learning and that they will obtain a thorough understanding of what is required to be taught to them this year and will fully equip them to enter with a due measure of strength on the work of the next year, and such as will be helpful throughout the whole course of school. If you shall have done that you will have earned your salary, will have the approval of your own conscience, will be entitled to the gratitude of the parents, and will have been a blessing to your pupils.

BEAT THEIR GUESTS REMAINING AWAKE

A YOUNG MAN RECENTLY FROM STEPHENVILLE IN TROUBLE OVER A SERIOUS CHARGE

Officers Speight and Rolston Monday night locked up a young man named John Borders on a serious charge. Borders claims to be a carpenter, though has not worked at his trade during his stay of three or four weeks in Fort Worth. He hails from Stephenville, where his family connections are among the best people in Erath county.

Borders and a companion had a room on West Thirteenth street, and the officers say they have been under surveillance for some time. The claim is made that Borders and his companion would get acquainted with some one in their meanderings, and finding they had money, would insist on sharing their room for the night, telling their new-made friend that it was unnecessary to go to a hotel or rooming place. It usually turned out that the guest of the night would wake up minus any money he may have had, and there would be all kinds of evidences that the room had been entered by a thief during the night. Borders and his room-mate would pretend to assist in ferreting out the "touch-down," but were never successful.

The officers also claim that Borders is known to have spent money freely at bawdy houses and never worked. Sunday night a guest was robbed of $23 and the loser reported the matter, suspecting his hosts. The officers set about to watch Borders, and Monday night found him in his room with another victim.

The man who was "touched" Sunday night claimed one of the men whose hospitality he had accepted got up during the night, and upon rousing himself made inquiry as to their maneuvers. They told him one of them was suffering with a severe toothache, and they were going to a drug store for some medicine. They failed to return, and upon investigating he lost himself broke.

Borders' room mate has not been apprehended, but the officers know him and are keeping a lookout for him. After a thorough sweating Borders was transferred to the county authorities. He was taken before Justice Mullins and bound over for an examination Saturday. He was locked up.

SAPOLIO

A WOMAN WORN AND WEARIED

By pelvic weakness and pain and some of the many reflex disorders of other parts in sympathy with the pelvic system, cannot be expected to find cure by any other or simpler method than the one given by a natural physician. A natural feeling of relief makes these and other symptoms disappear and the patient is able to resume her normal life and enjoy the benefits of a well-adjusted nervous system.

In many cases where the pelvic region is weakened and the patient is unable to perform her duties properly, it is often found that the patient has been overworked or has had too much physical exertion. In such cases, a natural physician can give the patient the necessary rest and support to enable her to recover her strength and health.

It is almost given up hope of ever being cured, but a natural physician can show the patient the way to health. I wish that I could tell of all the cases where this natural medicine has cured women who were worn and wearied.

Miss Cora Peterson, 1011 G St., St. Paul, Minn., writes: "I had almost given up hope of ever being cured, but a natural physician can show the patient the way to health. I wish that I could tell of all the cases where this natural medicine has cured women who were worn and wearied."

THE SILENT OPERATORS

WILL NOT TELL THE DEAR PUBLIC ABOUT THEIR PLANS

Have a Weighty Conference But Will Give Out No Information—Strike Settlement is Still Far, Far Away

(By Associated Press)
New York, Sept. 17.—A conference of the leading anthracite coal interests was held Tuesday afternoon at the Philadelphia and Reading company, offices. Those present included President Baer of the Reading road, President Truesdale of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, President Fowler of the New York, Ontario and Western, President Walters of the Lehigh Valley, President Oliphant of the Delaware and Hudson, Irving Stearns of G. B. Markle & Co., and John Markle of G. B. Markle & Co. The two last named represented the independent operating interests in the hard coal industry.

The precise subjects of the conference could not be learned but it was stated in advance of the meeting that no concessions will be granted and that recent events of a semi-political character would not be seriously considered. Following a meeting with J. P. Morgan, John Markle made this statement:

"I do not think it necessary to repeat that all talk of concessions on the part of the operators is foolish and certainly without foundation. Our position now is the same as when Mr. Mitchell made his original propositions and no different that when the strike began.

"We said then that we would make no concessions and we repeat it now. There is no reason why this should not be understood. The operators have shown by their mean it and I repeat only by way of emphasis. There is just one way to end the strike—that by the men returning to work and every day they remain away by giving willing ears to Mitchell's specious promises only will entail further losses and suffering to them. Conditions are improving daily, more men are returning to work and more coal is being mined.

"So far as recent attempts at settlement are concerned, it is only necessary to add that every effort from Senator Hanna down has been futile. We have defined our position and will maintain it."

Several Collieries Started.
Scranton, Pa., Sept. 17.—The Delaware and Hudson company started up three collieries, making six collieries in operation.

The Ontario and Western company now has three mines and three washers going.

Altogether the companies having headquarters here claim to be operating 19 collieries and 21 washeries, with an estimated daily output of 20,000 tons.

A deputy at the Pangoast colliery was chased by a crowd and to hold them off he discharged a revolver. He was later arrested by the borough authorities and sent to jail for discharging firearms.

Croup Usually begins with the symptoms of a common cold; there is chilliness, sneezing, sore throat, hot skin, quick pulse, hoarseness and impeded respiration. Give frequent small doses of Ballard's Horehound syrup (the child will cry for it), and at the first sign of a croupy cough apply frequently to the throat. Snow Liniment externally to the throat. 50c bottles at H. T. Pangburn & Co's.

Waken, Lords and Ladies Gay, On the Mountain Dawns the Day.

The sleeping-car that leaves Fort Worth on our night train is ready to receive passengers at NINE o'clock, each evening, and this car is set out at Colorado Springs for guests to vacate at their leisure. The place where the car waits is only about six miles from the mountains, and a beautiful sight greets the wakers from that long, refreshing Colorado sleep—under blankets.

This night train also has a sleeper that goes into Denver, reaching there at a comfortable rising time.

Both of our daily THRU TRAINS have those sleepers with "Large, Ladies' Dressing rooms," also meals served in our own Cafe Dining cars—a la carte service, 25c and up per individual. These special features of distinguishing excellence are among the characteristics that have, now for some time, made appropriate the "Only One Road" — and "You-Don't-Have-to-Apologize" verdict of persons who are capable of appreciating good service and making distinctions.

WANT TO GO TO CLOUDCROFT? Well, we have the best and shortest line there, too. Just call up phone 561, or drop into our office at the Hotel Worth.

H. P. HILLIARD TAKES CHARGE

RECEIVER IN POSSESSION OF CONTINENTAL FIRE ASSOCIATION.

Secretary Diboll and Bookkeeper Nichols Will Go With the Receiver—Organized by Fort Worth People Three Years Ago—Attorney's Estimate.

Henry P. Hilliard, cashier of the Austin, Tex., National bank, yesterday appointed receiver for the Continental Fire Association of Fort Worth, and the Texas Home Fire Insurance company of Austin, and G. W. Allen, attorney for the latter concern, were here today guests at the Delaware.

Mr. Hilliard took charge of the Fort Worth company's affairs, and ordered the records, books, etc., now in the office in the old Traders National bank building to be shipped to Austin, where the business of both companies will be transacted. Secretary Diboll and Chief Bookkeeper Nichols will accompany the records and become a part of the receiver's office force.

Receiver Hilliard said he was not in position to discuss the affairs of either company at this time, as all that had been done was to take physical possession of the property. As soon as a thorough investigation of the assets could be made some information would be given to the people. Attorney Allen said the books would show aggregated assets of the two companies to be between $125,000 and $150,000 and it was estimated money in the hands of agents would amount to between $50, and $60,000.

It is believed the companies have written in the neighborhood of $400,000 insurance.

Alleged Refusal to Pay Loss.

The application for receiver was made in the Twenty-sixth district court at Austin yesterday morning before Judge R. L. Penn by E. B. H. Schneider. He alleged he carries a $1,500 policy on his household goods in the Texas Home Insurance company, and that the company connected itself with the Continental Association of Fort Worth. The petition alleged that the household goods were destroyed by fire on April 8, the loss amounting to about $900, and that the company and the association refused to pay him more than $500 of the insurance money.

Organized in Fort Worth.

The report of a receivership for the affairs of the Continental association was somewhat of a surprise in Fort Worth.

The association was organized under the laws of Texas permitting mutual fire associations, about three years ago, C. C. Wilson being the chief promoter. The directors proposed for the first year were: William Bryce, E. H. Keller, George W. Armstrong, W. A. Hanger, C. C. Wilson, J. W. Spencer, Ben O. Smith, R. H. McNatt and J. D. Collett. Spencer, Smith, McNatt and Collett declined to serve and others, together with Archer Diboll, were appointed.

From the beginning the association transacted a large business. It has paid out during its three years of life more than $100,000 in losses. The great fire losses which have occurred throughout the country, and which caused other companies to increase the insurance rate is assigned by local people as the real reason for the receivership.

Several months ago Messrs.

Bryce, Keller, Armstrong and Hanger withdrew from the directory and the present board was elected in their place.

Pleased With the Court's Selection.

The majority of the policy holders of the Continental company are pleased with the selection of Mr. Hilliard as the receiver. He has been cashier of the Austin National bank for a number of years, and regarded in banking circles of Fort Worth as one of the most competent young financiers in Texas. When John Henry Kirby of Houston took charge of the First National Bank of Austin, he tendered Mr. Hilliard the cashier's office at a flattering figure, which he declined owing to his interest with the other institution.

In the receivership his bond is $10,000.

FORT WORTH UNIVERSITY

In choosing a school for next session, we invite careful consideration of the excellent facilities, good equipment and general merits of Fort Worth University, a school that is here to stay, a permanent possession, of which the city and state are justly proud. The university, without a change of management goes right on from year to year increasing in facilities, attendance and popularity. Results show its good work. Its students stand in the front rank wherever tested. Parents, you can find no better place for your children. If you want to separate them from social demands, which hinder progress, you can do so without sacrificing the home life by placing them with us from Monday morning until Friday night. We are sure that many of our people would be pleasantly surprised on examination to find how excellent provision you have in this home school. It is Christian but not sectarian, strict in discipline, but kindly in spirit, up to date, full of healthy enthusiasm, a happy, helpful and safe place for your children and young people.

THE COUNTRY CLUB AN ASSURED FACT

TITLE TO GROUNDS IS GOOD — ARCHITECT ORDERED TO PROCEED WITH PLANS — MATTERS SHAPING UP

Everything looks good for the Country club now. Not more so to the promoters, perhaps, but the outlook has a brighter hue to the general public. There is no question but that it is a certainty, if ever any question existed, that at a meeting of the directors of the club recently held the committee on title to the property reported, and the title was found to be all right, and the property will now be transferred in a very few days from the old club to the new.

The building committee reported favorably on plan No. 3 submitted by Architect Sanguinet, and the architect was instructed to perfect the plans and specifications at once. Architect Sanguinet reported that the ready and specifications would be ready in about one week. The members of the club hope to be able to inaugurate the work of construction early in October—maybe earlier.

A committee was appointed to prepare constitution, by-laws, rules and regulations at the next meeting.

Thus it will be seen that the Country club is practically assured. There are a few subscribers to the club who have not paid their subscriptions, but the directors hope to have all these in by the next meeting, and urge such delinquents to send their money to the club treasurer, Ben O. Smith, at once, that no further delay may be occasioned from this source.

The advantages to be derived from such a club are many, and its completion and equipment will redound to Fort Worth's good. It is proposed to have an associate members every prominent man who has interests in Fort Worth, whether he be citizen or not—for instance, railway officials, packing house officials and officials whose interests are here, that they may have a place to go when they visit the city such as only a club of this character can afford.

A YOUTHFUL PREVARI-CATOR FROM MANSFIELD

ONLY 12 YEARS OLD, BUT HIS WORK WAS NOT "COARSE"—TOLD A PLAUSIBLE STORY

Monday night a boy 12 years appeared at the home of Lee C. Simpson, on the South Side, and asked for a place to sleep. He declared he was an orphan, his parents having recently died near Austin. He said he came here from Austin in search of relatives. His manner was modest, and his speech pathetic. Mr. Simpson's sympathy was enlisted and he took him in.

The boy asked to be allowed to sleep on a couch in the parlor, saying he was tired. Later Mr. Simpson concluded to call up police headquarters, hoping that Chief Rea could interest some one in giving the boy a home.

Officer Howard went out to look after him. Mr. Simpson gave Mr. Howard 50 cents and told him to take the boy to a hotel and pay for a bed and breakfast. At the union passenger station Howard turned the boy over to Policeman Logan to take to the Richeleu hotel. En route to the hotel the officer met a constable from the Mansfield district, and the constable recognized the boy as a son of a farmer living near Mansfield named Doyle. The boy told Mr. Simpson and Mr. Simpson contacted the Austin story and that about being an orphan.

The little fellow then owned up and said he left home because his father whipped him. He was taken to the boys' department of the city prison and his father has been notified.

BOARD OF TRADE NOTES

A MEETING IS CALLED FOR TOMORROW AFTERNOON.

Representatives of Manufacturing Concerns Are Coming to Look at Fort Worth—The Town Well Advertised.

President Waples has directed the secretary to call a special meeting of the directors of the Board of Trade for tomorrow afternoon to take necessary action to secure a visit from Admiral Schley during his trip to Texas. A full attendance is desired.

The Board of Trade has advised that the representatives of two small manufacturing concerns will be in the city during the week to look over the situation with the view of locating here. Every facility and encouragement will be extended them.

The secretary of the Board of Trade who has been absent on a trip to Norway and East during the summer, reports that Fort Worth is attracting no little attention from business men and investors throughout the country. There are still many wrong impressions existing regarding conditions in Texas, and there is much room for educational work to an advantage to the state.

Fort Worth is as well known abroad as any city in the state, and efforts should be made to keep the ball rolling.

The Board of Trade will be asked at its next meeting to give its influence and encouragement to the street fair which is being provided by some of the public spirited citizens.

$1,000,000 for Charity

A fortune of $1,000,000 was recently left to a charitable institution in one of our eastern cities, and while much good can be accomplished by the careful expenditure of this sum of money, there is another agency which also deserves mention, because of the good it has done and the suffering it has relieved during the past fifty years, and that is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. No other medicine can take its place as a cure for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, such as headache, belching, heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation or biliousness. We would therefore urge you to give it a trial. The genuine must have our Private Stamp over the neck of the bottle. Do not accept a substitute.
