MANY LIVES LOST IN CRUSH

STAMPEDE AT BIRMINGHAM REVEALS FATALITY FOR SCORES

STARTED BY FALSE ALARM

City of "Quiet" Is Misunderstood and Men and Women Are Trampled in the Mad Rush Which Followed
Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 20.—The various undertakings shops are crowded with hundreds of persons, mostly delegates to the National Negro Baptist Convention, searching for missing friends and relatives who might have been killed in Friday night's stampede at Shiloh colored Baptist church, which grew out of the cry of fire while Booker T. Washington was addressing the convention.

About fifty bodies have been identified, the greater number of them being local residents, who were visitors to the convention. In the front of each undertaking establishment where the corpses lie, a squad of policemen are keeping back the surging throng. Every effort is being made to identify those bodies which have not yet been claimed. Those who have missing friends and relatives have been requested to make the round of the undertaking shops and also to make known through the press the names of the missing one.

The fact that the delegates to the convention were here from all parts of the country, many of them being complete strangers, renders the work of identification somewhat slow. It is expected that at least a dozen of the injured will die. After midnight Friday several bodies of persons crushed in the panic were found lying in the weeds in a vacant lot adjoining the church. They had scrambled out of the mass of struggling humanity with broken limbs or crushed breasts and had crawled away in this manner to die.

Eighty-seven dead bodies have been identified. The death list now figures up 115.
2000 in Building
The church is the largest house of worship for negroes in Birmingham and the pastor says there were at least 2000 persons in the edifice when the stampede began. Instructions had been issued to allow no one else to enter, but the negroes forced their way inside the building and were standing in every aisle, the entrance was literally packed.

Just as Booker Washington concluded his address Judge Billou, a negro lawyer from Baltimore, engaged in an altercation with the choir leader concerning an unoccupied seat and it is said a blow was struck. Some one in the choir cried "They're fighting." Mistaking the word "fighting" for "fire" the congregation arose en masse and started for the door. One of the ministers quickly mounted the rostrum and admonished the people to keep quiet. He repeated the word "quiet" several times and motioned to his hearers to be seated. Again the excited congregation mistook "quiet" for "fire" and rushed pell mell for the door. Men and women crawled over benches, fought their way into the aisles and those who had fallen were trampled on like cattle. The ministers tried again to stop the stampede, but no power on earth could stay the struggling, fighting mass of humanity. The screams of women and children added to the horror of the scene and through mere fright many persons fainted and as they fell to the floor were crushed to death.

A Death Trap
The level of the floor is about fifteen feet from the sidewalk and long steps lead to the sidewalk from the lobby just outside the main auditorium. Brick walls extend on each side of these steps for six or seven feet, and this proved a veritable death trap. Negroes who had reached the top of the steps were pushed violently forward and many fell. Before they could move others fell upon them and in fifteen minutes persons were piled upon each other to a height of ten feet. This wall of struggling mass of humanity blocked the entrance, and the weight of 1500 persons was pushed against it. More than twenty persons lying on the steps underneath the heap of bodies died from suffocation.

SERIOUS CONDITION IN BROOKLYN SCHOOLS

NOT ENOUGH COAL IS ON HAND TO LAST MORE THAN ONE WEEK

(By Associated Press)
New York, Sept. 20.—With only enough coal left to finish out the month, the Brooklyn schools are threatened with an enforced recess. Only 1000 tons of coal remain on hand for supplying 145 buildings. By the most rigid economy this amount can be made to last one week.

As it has been found impossible to get a supply of coal in this country for the winter months for the 16 public schools of Yonkers the board of education has decided to import coal from Wales rather than close the schools. Bids were asked for about 2000 tons of anthracite, the dealers being allowed all the latitude possible in price. Not a bid was received.

THE QUEEN OF BELGIUM DEAD

MARIE HENRIETTA PASSES AWAY FRIDAY NIGHT

Was Noted for Her Piety and Charity and Was Greatly Beloved by Her People—Received Mark of the Pope's Favor

(Special to the Telegram)
Brussels, Belgium, Sept. 20.—Marie Henrietta, queen of the Belgians, died here suddenly Friday night at ten minutes before 8 o'clock. Neither her husband, members of her family, nor her majesty's doctors were present at the time of her death. She was seated at a table eating a light dinner when she was seized with an attack of syncope. Dr. Guillaume, who, in the course of the day, had remarked upon certain disquieting symptoms in the queen's condition, was summoned immediately but her majesty was dead before he arrived.

Two members of her suite were with the queen during her last moments. As soon as the news of the queen's death became known a large crowd gathered outside the palace.

King Leopold had left Bagneres-De-Luchon, France, for Spa and other members of the royal family have been telegraphed for.

Queen Marie Henrietta was a daughter of the late Archduke Joseph of Austria. She was born August 23, 1836, and was married August 22, 1853, to Prince Leopold of Belgium, son of King Leopold I, and who ascended the throne at the death of his father as Leopold II, Dec. 10, 1865.

The queen was noted for her piety and charity and, in recognition of her devotion to the church, the pope sent her about nine years ago, a notable token of his high esteem in the form of a golden cross of virtue.

She was also a noted and brilliant horsewoman.

The queen had been ill for about three years past of a malady of the heart and in recent months her condition had been so serious that but little hope of her recovery was entertained.

The Farmer's Success Depends Upon Freedom From Disease and Suffering

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND

IS THE MEDICINE THAT HAS MADE THOUSANDS OF COUNTRY TOILERS WELL AND STRONG

There are thousands of farmers in our land who are rich in broad acres and gold, yet lack that true wealth known as good health. It is a melancholy fact that men and women in the country districts, breathing the purest air and drinking from God's bubbling fountains, and amidst the most fertile soil, are liable to the same diseases and ailments that come thick and fast to city people. We find rheumatism, neuralgia, debility, dyspepsia, kidney and liver troubles, and blood diseases almost as common in the farmer's family as they are in city homes. Paine's Celery Compound, Heaven's best blessing to the farming community, has done more for the banishment of dread disease and the building up of health than all other combined medicines. Mr. John Zuppan, a prominent and well known farmer of Middleport, Ohio, writes specially for the benefit of sufferers in the rural districts; he says:— "Last November I was so badly crippled up with rheumatism, which came on in June, that I could hardly walk without the aid of crutches or a heavy stick. About the 10th of November I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound, and after using four bottles I was completely cured, and was able to attend to my usual work as well as when I was forty. I am now sixty-six, and can walk and run as well as a man of thirty."

A TRUE SAYING.

"Most Men Dig Their Graves With Their Teeth."

The wrong kind of food fills more graves than any other cause. It is easy to retain good health by the use of proper food and it is pleasant too. The Rev. G. M. Lodge of Iowa City, Ia., made a successful experiment. "I am 65 years of age and a preacher. Last winter I went to Kansas and had charge of two churches. A little use of Grape-Nuts food made me believe it to be a true brain and nerve builder; I wanted to experiment further with it so I used Grape-Nuts for breakfast and supper for more than three months with the best results. I not only never had better health in my life, but the effect on my brain was wonderful. I had become forgetful of names and persons and things, was often unable to recall even the name of old friends. After using Grape-Nuts for two weeks forgotten names came to me and as the days and weeks passed my memory was wonderfully quickened as to names and dates, and mental ability in general. I could preach without manuscript or notes as never before, and in a month or less I said to myself, 'Grape-Nuts is a brain food,' and as such I now recommend it. It also gives health and blood, nerve and muscle. Cheerfully and earnestly I advise students, clergymen, teachers and all mental workers to use Grape-Nuts steadily and systematically if you wish to excel in mental and literary work, renew your age and feel well. It is the best nerve and brain food I have ever known."

Two sleeping cars of the show train were completely demolished and many of the occupants pinned beneath the wreckage. The uninjured went quickly to their relief and soon extricated the dead and wounded. The freight engine was not damaged. The engineer can not be found, and it is presumed he fled. The cause of the wreck can not be ascertained until the freight engineer is found.

ATONEMENT BY BLOOD ALONE

New York, Sept. 20.—An autopsy performed on the body of Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer, who was mysteriously murdered in a Fifty-Eighth street flat, and whose body was found in the Morris canal, showed that her death was caused primarily by a knife wound in the abdomen, and not by chloral. Several blows were struck on her head before death, but the skull was not fractured, and there were no signs of cerebral hemorrhage. A police dragnet has been thrown out for William Hooper Young, grand son of the great Mormon leader, Brigham Young, who is suspected of the killing. Among the books found in Young's room in the Fifty-Eighth street flat was the cover of a small memorandum, on the front of which was stamped in gilt letters, "Practical reference." On the inside were a number of notes headed, "Blood atonement" and followed by Biblical references, including an excerpt from the book of Corinthians, reading: "To deliver such an one unto Satan for the destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus." It now develops that when Young's father sailed for France on July 1, two of the sons went back to Utah. Hooper did not make his home with his father but he roomed in the vicinity. Recently he called upon the superintendent of the building and demanded the keys, which were given him. The apartment originally consisted of three suites. These were thrown into one for the use of the family, but upon their going abroad one of them was cut off and was turned over, rent free, to four missionaries who were proselyting in New York. They have been living there ever since and were committed. Their names are Clarence Snow, Lawrence Taylor, J. L. Woods and John R. Porter.

WINE of CARDUI

HEARD IN A COURT ROOM

A RETIRED JURIST TALKS OF LIFE AS HE HAS SEEN IT

Knowledge of Realistic Human Nature, the Frailties and Limitations of Men and Women—People All Do Not See Alike

A group of judges, ex-judges, attorneys, sheriff's deputies and other court officials were whiling away the time one afternoon in the post office in the county court room awaiting a jury that was out in an auditory case, one of the several that had been before the court at this term. The case was being discussed, there having been a conviction in a companion case and a judge visiting from another tribunal in the same building spoke of the numerous divorce cases that burdened the dockets of his court, an ex-judge spoke of the great number of youthful men and women whose names appeared upon the dockets for this and the last term of court for this and the last term of court for various offenses, divorces and other litigation, which reference caused an aged and retired attorney who was present, and who spends much of his time about the courthouse to become reminiscent. He said that as a man goes through life he picks up much knowledge of human nature. He learns the faults, the frailties and the limitations of men and women, and discovers how far practice falls short of profession and reality of pretense. He finds out that the real is not the ideal, and that the world does not bend easily to a man's will. Ancient wrong, he learns, is strong in possession, and does not give up the keys when right demands them. He sees how many shams the world keeps up, and he forms a true estimate of the difficulties that beset the truth. He beholds folly triumph over wisdom and madness over reason. He obtains some knowledge of the ways of women in love and out of love, and of the fatuousness of men when women master them. Like Goethe's hero, he draws lessons from his own sins and makes them count as experiences and aids to wiser and better modes of living. He becomes convinced that sin is a mistake of policy which never goes unpunished, even in this life. He concludes as he grows old that vice attracts men with her siren voice, only to turn them into swine, and that the way of wisdom, pure delight and honorable success is the way of virtue, continence, right thinking and right doing. When he grows old he feels moved to give younger generations the benefit of his experience, so that they may profit by his mistakes and avoid the pitfalls into which he fell. Perchance, if his bent is literary, he puts them down in a book, with his comments and conclusions, as Augustine did, as Thomas A. Kempis did, as Martin Luther did, as Michael Eyquem de Montaigne did, as Sir Thomas Browne did, as Francis Bacon did, as many a good man and wise has done since letters were invented. Perhaps he delivers them at his knee to his children, and to his grandchildren, hoping by wise precept to start them in life with all his knowledge of men and affairs so that they may continue from the point where he stopped and meet the world like an old acquaintance. "But the young do not learn wisdom either from books or from the precepts of their sires," continued the narrator. "When the blood is warm one wants to try for things for one's self, and to make one's own experiments. Each young person sets out in life with mind like the tabula rasa of the latin poet—the clean sheet of the English. To his grandfather's exhortations the boy replies, 'Oh, that was fifty years ago.' To her mother's warnings the girl answers, laughing, 'The world may have been that way when you were young, but times have altered since.' Thus they fare forth upon the treacherous sea of life, where there are so many storms, so many whirlpools, so many hidden reefs and rocks, where on the winds are so fierce and so contrary, and wherein so many bold navigators have gone down in the pride of manhood, and before they leave the harbor of the parental home these bold and hardy mariners toss overboard the charts, the compass, the quadrants and the log-book of their predecessors, and declare that they will find a safe port without aid from the past.

"The young have always been thus and always will be. They reject the wisdom of their elders and think that they know more than those who have lived their lives through almost to the end. But as the years pass, and bitter experience grinds its lessons into their souls, the men and women of each generation confess their folly and conceit. They dip into old books and paid dearly to learn. Page after page of Montaigne, Bacon and Browne recalls to them the vents of their own lives, the reflections of their own troubles and tribulations, the observations of their own eyes. Human nature, they find out, is immutable; the same in all generations. Well, it is a pity, but the young are built that way, no doubt, for a purpose."

"At this juncture of the judge's colloquy the jury in the Mobley case filed in, and the clerk read amid a stillness that was oppressive, 'Not guilty.' The judge arose, flung a 'dead' chew into a nearby cuspidor, and said, 'And so it goes—how about the woman? She was convicted on the same evidence, tried by the same judge, by the same attorneys, but by a different jury. Oh, well, that is in line with much that I have said—we all do not see alike.'

IN CASE OF A HARD WINTER

COAL WILL BE COAL BECAUSE OF A LIMITED SUPPLY

A SEVENTY-FIVE CENT RISE

Higher Than for Nine Years Passed—A Hard Coal Proposition, the Securing of Which Article is Much Harder

"Did you know that coal was going to be coal this winter, young man? Asked a prominent local coal dealer of a Telegram representative the past week.

"Glad to hear it," said the reporter, without stopping to weigh the significance of the fuel dealer's words.

"Glad to hear it," said the reporter, without stopping to weigh the significance of the fuel dealer's words.

"In what way," modestly asked the reporter.

"In this, said the dealer, 'the mines are going to be unable to supply the demand, they are now many hundreds of thousands of tons behind with their orders, and no longer than yesterday a prominent Territory mine operator told me the Territory mine operators were up against it, for they could not begin to see their way out of the woods. Now the anthracite proposition is a fierce one. Do you know that there is not outside of perhaps a few tons in the railroad bins, no stock of hard or anthracite coal in Fort Worth? Well, it's a fact that there is not. And I want to tell you those who have hard coal burners will have to use soft coal, or the substitute that they can get in the way of the better quality of Colorado coal, of which, even, there is a very little to be had. I have a few tons I managed to lay in last summer, but that would be as only a drop in the bucket toward supplying the demand. Heretofore I have been able to get a fine substitute hard coal in Kansas, but do you know that St. Louis, Kansas City and other cities up there have taken every surplus ton and placed orders so far ahead and at a premium, that it will be impossible for the fellows to get a pound? Here, I have a letter of recent date insisting that I cancel my order placed there last May. I have just written that the order stands, and that I expect the coal. Now I intend to make my bluff get that coal if it is to be had, but I have little hopes. Why, the people of Galveston are praying for hard coal like a drouth stricken people praying for rain. As to Galveston and South Texas, the coal situation is really a grave one, and there is only one way to remedy it—that is for the men who own the anthracite coal mines of Pennsylvania and those who work therein to say when the strike situation can be adjusted so as to guarantee a supply of hard coal. I do not really believe a ship load of hard coal would be permitted to leave Philadelphia—those people up there would confiscate it. Of course we people here can make out on soft coal and wood for fuel, but speaking of other people's troubles, Galveston and those South Texas towns are really up against a distressing proposition. There are only two coal yards in Galveston. One of these has enough hard coal on hand to run it two hours on a cold day. The other one has enough on hand to last probably three times that long. But neither of them has enough coal on hand to utilize for fuel. The local coal dealers can do nothing until the big coal barons, in whose hands God in his wisdom has placed the property interests of the country, sens them the coal. The big coal barons can not send coal yet unmined and the strike stands as a grim specter silhouetted against the picture of the future.

"This condition makes the coal dealers there stand back and Tweed-like ask the people? What are you going to do, save shake and shiver, or burn soft coal or utilize wood for fuel. The local coal dealers can do nothing until the big coal barons, in whose hands God in his wisdom has placed the property interests of the country, sens them the coal. The big coal barons can not send coal yet unmined and the strike stands as a grim specter silhouetted against the picture of the future.

"There is nothing left save to grin and endure, or endure without grinning, just as one's fancy serves him. The probabilities are it will be 60 days before there will be a single cargo of hard coal shipped from the anthracite mines, and there is a greater probability of it being even longer than that time. And in less than 60 days time Col. Boreas will send his choicest cold weather and glowing fires will be found in every home where comfort is had.

"The situation is really on that should cause more or less alarm. But there is absolutely nothing for the people to do save hope and pray the coal strike will be settled as early a day as possible. For until the coal strike is settled no hard coal will be received, and the getting of soft coal is an uncertain proposition. Why, my dear boy, can't get it now? Besides, there is not a yard in Fort Worth that would accommodate 600 tons, and I tell you the mines are already behind with their orders, and here it is warm pipes, and the cold speck is not in it. Then suppose a strike should occur in our own territory?"

"There is another proposition that might be news to the Telegram readers. On the first of August we were notified that on August 15 there would be a 25 cent advance on the ton. On September 1 we were advised there would be another 25 cent advance on September 15, now this morning my mail advises me that on October 1 there will be still another advance of 25 cents—75 cents advance, which puts coal higher than it has been for nine years. I believe all the Fort Worth dealers have a fair winter weather supply on hand, but a week or so of cold weather would soon eat that supply up. In giving you this inside into the situation I am not attempting to cross the bridge before we get to it—we are there now, virtually. Those fellows East and North saw the situation long ago and simply gobbled up the coal in our reach by paying a premium for it, and now they are comparatively in the clear and—well, you see where we are at. However, my Territory operator assures me—or tried to—that he would take care of me, but I fear that all of us dealers will fall down if anything like a hard winter is before us." Asked if he thought that the advance would stop at 75 cents, the dealer who gave out the above information said that he did not believe that even that would be the end of the rise, and added, "but the price is a secondary consideration—getting the coal is the question."

A BULLDOG THE CAUSE.

Ran Out and Attacked the Animal While He Was Being Exercised.

A vicious bulldog owned by a contractor named Johnson, residing at 808 South Rusk street, caused the death of a valuable horse belonging to the fire department, stationed at No. 5 station, late Friday afternoon, and came near killing one of the firemen of the same company. It was about 1 p. m. and Fireman Hugh Glosson was exercising his team, riding one horse and leading the other. Glosson was three blocks from the station, and had turned to return to quarters. Following a custom, he was speeding the animals. The dog ran out from the yard, fastened its teeth about the nose of the horse Glosson was riding, throwing the animal to the ground. The horse slid a distance of about sixty feet, breaking the right rear leg. Glosson was also seriously injured, but escaped without any broken bones. The horse was carried to the station and killed.

The animal was an exceptionally fine one, and had been in service nearly a year. He was named for the mayor—Tom Powell. Chief Biddox is away, and Acting Chief Biddox at once put into service the chief's private horse to serve until one could be purchased.

This is said to be the second time this same dog has caused trouble, he having once before ran out and attacked the horses.

Came Near Being a Cripple. Josh Westhater, of Loogrove, Ind., is a poor man, but he says he would not be without Chamberlain's Pain Balm if it cost five dollars a bottle, for it saved him from being a cripple. No external application is equal to this liniment for stiff and swollen joints, contracted muscles, stiff neck, sprains and rheumatic and muscular pains. It has also cured numerous cases of partial paralysis. It is for sale by N. E. Grammer.

A BASE WOMAN'S PERFIDIOUS ACT

IS CHARGED WITH HAVING ENTICED YOUNG GIRLS

Takes Them Into Wine Room and Forces Them to Drink Beer—The Girls Apprehended and Sent Home

At the last meeting of the city council Alderman Q. T. Moreland took a decided stand on the wine room evil, and motion prevailed that city attorney draft ordinance abolishing them. Mr. Moreland declared that such dives in the city of Fort Worth were causing more girls to be ruined than any other agency, for it was in these wine rooms that a large per cent of the girls were started on the road to ruin.

Had he waited until the next meeting of the council he could have had a practical illustration by which his argument for their abolishment could have been emphasized.

RESCUE TWO GIRLS
Last night about 11 o'clock, Patrolman Sabe Maddox, who looks after the Jennings avenue beat, rescued two 12-year-old girls from a Jennings avenue wine room. These children had been enticed there by a woman, who found them at the merry-go-round on Houston street. One of the girls is the daughter of a woman who "works" at one of the variety theaters; the other a daughter of a man who is in the employ of the city's street department.

The children had met the woman there, and when one of the girls expressed a wish for a drink of water the woman enticed them to a saloon near the corner of Thirteenth and Jennings on the pretext of getting soda water for them. Once at the saloon, she prevailed upon the children to accompany her up stairs, saying they would get some lunch. In the room, the woman ordered beer and forced the children to drink it. One of the children protested, whereupon the woman told her she was a "piker," and dashed a half-glass full of the stuff on the child.

Officer Maddox saw a girl's bicycle by the rear door, and it aroused his curiosity, and set about to investigate. He learned that the girls were in there, but before he could gain access to the room the woman had disappeared, and the children gained the street. The children made a run, but he overhauled them within the block, took them to the city hall, and there they told the story as related.

The children gave their ages as 12 years, and said they protested against going up stairs, but the woman insisted, saying that they would get some lunch and then return to the merry-go-round. While they were in there several men came in, they said, and one man remonstrated with the woman for having the children there.

WILL PUSH MATTER
Officer Maddox is confident the woman, who is known to him, inveigled the children there for no good, and he proposes having the children go before the grand jury and tell their story as the penalty for giving intoxicating liquors to children is strict. Besides, there may be a more serious charge grow out of the affair.

The children were sent home.

AN IMPORTANT PROPOSITION
Sons of Confederate Veterans Urged by Their Commander to Meet Him Today

Commander O. W. Gillespie of the Sons of Confederate Veterans makes an especial request of the members of the camp to meet him today at the camp headquarters. He has an important proposition to lay before them in the interest of the camp, and he wants a full attendance that all may profit by the same if taken up. This may be the last meeting he will be able to attend for a few weeks, by reason of the fact that he is going out in the interest of his campaign to adjoining counties soon, and he is especially anxious to meet with the boys before he goes.

The Sunday base ball season is about over and Commander Gillespie thinks the boys can have little expense for remaining away from the meetings.

He is in earnest about having something good up his sleeve for the boys, and he wants to tell them about it. The meeting will be called promptly at 2 o'clock at the courthouse.

SWALLOWS "DOPE"
Woman Does a Skirt Dance on the Brink of Eternity

A woman known by the name of Josie Broomfield, sometimes called Josie Edwards, yesterday afternoon informed her associates about a wine room near the public wagon and stock shed at Houston and Belknap streets, that she was tired of life. She evidently meant it, for when she made the announcement she proceeded to gulp down a quantity of "dope" of some kind, and soon thereafter became comatose and "hysterical" by turns.

IS HARMONY TO BE JARRED?

PERSISTENT RUMORS OF DISCORD IN THE REPUBLICAN RANKS

'Tis Said That the Gentle Goddess Will be Turned Out in the Cold and There Will be Some 'thin' Doin' Soon

There will soon be "something doing" in the Republican ranks in Texas.

The truce declared, and wafted up in song, and sealed by Green, Hawley and Lyon standing in front of the state convention in the City Hall Auditorium a few days ago, shaking hands, is said to have been for temporary purposes only, and "harmony" is destined to be further relegated than ever.

It was whispered about the convention during the last day's session that Judge Hanna of Hempstead, who was United States district attorney for the Eastern district of Texas, which included both the Paris and Galveston courts, under President Harrison, will be presented by the Lyon faction for the same attorney-ship now held by Marc McLemore of Galveston.

Hawley, who still has a position in being the National Committeeman from Texas, will urge the reappointment of McLemore, who the Republicans say has made a creditable record.

"If anything Green's influence will land for Hanna, as will that of all who were with Lyon in the recent triangular chairmanship fight."

Friends of Judge Hanna say a fight is in sight.

BOY DIES FROM THE EFFECTS OF A BITE

LITTLE SON OF MR. AND MRS. J. F. PROSSER PASSES AWAY YESTERDAY

Little James Franklin Prosser, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Prosser, died yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The funeral services will be held at the residence, 1309 East Bluff street, this afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. C. L. Altshuler, pastor of the College Avenue Presbyterian church. Mrs. Prosser and the child had been spending a month or so at Waukesha, Wis., and Chicago, and about five days ago the child fell ill. Mrs. Prosser brought him home, arriving here Friday morning.

The physicians ascribe the cause to the bite of a dog, a water spaniel puppy which was given Mr. Prosser some time ago, and which bit the child one day early in August, also several other members of the family, and a neighbor's child. Nothing special was thought of it at the time, and no trouble was apprehended.

James Franklin Prosser, Jr., was three years and three months old, and was an adopted child, having been orphaned in the terrible Galveston disaster of Sept. 8, 1900. The little one found a home in the warm hearts of Mr. and Mrs. Prosser, who loved him as their own, and were devoted to him. The sincere sympathies of many friends are extended them in this their hour of deep sorrow.

KICKED HIS WIFE TO DEATH

That Was the Report, but it Was a False Alarm—Husband in Jail

A report came to police headquarters last night by phone that a man at the North Side stock yards had kicked his wife into insensibility, and an urgent call was made for an officer. Night-Clerk Speight replied that his beat covered a territory east, west, north and south as far as a man could see on a clear day, but that to go to the stock yards was asking a little too much.

However, Speight called up Sheriff Clark and apprised him of the report. The sheriff sent a deputy to the yards to investigate. The deputy returned with a German, the man who had caused the trouble. The man declared he had only slapped his wife, and thought the efforts of the law was a bit too much and far reaching when it stepped in and interfered with what he considered his lordly privileges. Jailor Porter undertook to register his prisoner, but the spelling of his name was too hard a proposition, and he postponed the job until this morning, when he could call a deputy to his aid. The prisoner was locked up, and will explain the matter to County Attorney Lattimore tomorrow.

LIKE A MIRACLE

THE WONDERFUL RECOVERY OF A MINNESOTA MAN.

His Lower Limbs Had Become Useless and He Dragged Himself Around Like a Snake.

While the story of the wonderful recovery of John Hunter in the little town of Chico, Cal., from paralysis and locomotor ataxia is still fresh in the mind of everyone, an account of another equally remarkable and somewhat similar case comes from Minnesota.

Near Northfield, Minn., lives P. A. O'Brien, known to everybody round about the town. In the fall of 1900 he was obliged to give up work, because of a disease which one of the physicians who attended him called locomotor ataxia and another paralysis. He suffered for more than three years, and, for part of that time lay in a harness by the doctor's direction. He grew worse and the physicians pronounced him incurable. But at last, like a miracle, came his cure. Let him tell the story:

"I had been coming on slowly for eight years," he says. "A cold numbness commenced in my feet and worked upwards. It grew worse, and, in November, 1900, I had to quit work. The disease bent me over, and when I attempted to straighten up, it felt as if someone was cutting me in the pit of the stomach with a knife. I always felt tired and could not rest at night, my feet felt as if there were needles sticking in them and my legs got so numb that I could stick pins in them and never feel it. I could not shake so sometimes that I could not hold them still with both hands."

"Then I got so that I could not walk and I had to pull myself around like a snake. When I got excited my heart would palpitate and I would choke up. My kidneys also became affected and caused me much pain."

"Did the doctors help you?" was asked.

"No. One of them had me on my bed in a harness for several months, but that did me no good. They tried various things, and, at last, said I could not be cured."

"Yes, I fooled them. My sister saw in the paper how Mr. Peak of Milwaukee, Wis., had been cured of locomotor ataxia and upon her advice I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The first box stopped my pain so I could sleep good. It was a week, but from that on I gained pretty fast. I will never stop praising Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for they have made a new man of me."

The cure of Mr. O'Brien is only additional proof that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not an ordinary medicine. They are wonderful in their potency in nervous troubles, great or small, and as they are on sale throughout the country, they are within reach of all. Because they cured such a severe nervous disorder as that of Mr. O'Brien, proves the power of the remedy in lesser troubles, such as neuritis, neuralgia, nervous headache, St. Vitus' dance and nervous debility.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have a double action—on the blood and on the nerves. It is not claimed that these pills are a cure all, but the very nature of the remedy makes it efficacious in a wider range of disease than any other. It is a scientific preparation designed to cure disease through direct action on the blood and nerves. Impure blood, and badly fed nerves are the cause of nearly every ailment that effects mankind. If the blood is kept pure, rich and red, and the nerves strong and active, disease cannot obtain a foothold.

TO OBSERVE JEWISH NEW YEAR

Dr. Solomon Philo, formerly of New York and late of Gainesville, has been called by the reform Israelites of Fort Worth to co-operate in the establishment of a reform congregation, and to that end a call has been issued for a meeting in the Pythian Temple, Third and Main streets, this morning at 11 o'clock, to which all reform Jews are invited.

Arrangements will be made for the Jewish New Year celebration which will be held beginning at nightfall on October 1, and continuing until nightfall on October 2. There is no reform congregation among the Israelites in Fort Worth. It differs from the orthodox mainly in that the former use almost exclusively English, while the other Hebrew tongue. In the New Year celebration will be used the Hebrew union prayer, and music which Dr. Philo has in his possession.

FORT WORTH MARKET GOOD

SATISFACTORY IN SPITE OF USUAL SATURDAY DULLNESS

Cattle Prices Held Up Well, but Hogs Fell Off a Bit—Unusually Large Receipts For End of the Week

The run of cattle and hogs at the Fort Worth stock yards was unusually heavy yesterday for Saturday. Another unusual feature also was the fact that the stuff was all consigned to this market, there being no through shipments to other points or to northern markets.

By the closing hour the yards were pretty well cleared, there being but very little left-over stuff. The market, being a Saturday market, was draggy, but prices for cattle held up well, though hogs fell off some. On the whole the condition of the market was very satisfactory.

Besides a lot of driving stuff, both cattle and hogs, the various railroads brought in 244 head of cattle, 302 hogs and twenty-five horses and mules. Those who had cattle on the market were L. H. Holloway, Midland, two cars; Eastland Bank Co., Eastland, one car; J. W. Davis, Abilene, two cars. Consignments of hogs were W. L. Lott, Wortham, two cars; J. H. Bray, Valley View, one car; Grandview Oil Mill, Grandview, one car; W. B. L. Carney of Addington, I. T., had in a car of horses and mules.

ELKS TO GIVE INDOOR FAIR

BENEVOLENT HOME AND FREE KINDERGARTEN

Club Rooms Will be Thrown Open for Ten Days While Attractive Displays and Programs Entertain the Public

It was decided last night by the Elks club that an indoor fair should be held at the club rooms in the Board of Trade building, corner of Seventh and Houston streets, commencing on Oct. 20, and continuing until Nov. 1. The fair is to be open daily during this time, Sundays excepted. The Elks propose to devote 20 per cent of the net proceeds to the orphans of Fort Worth—to the Benevolent Home—and 20 per cent to create a fund for the benefit of the Free Kindergarten, thus adding commendable charitable and benevolent features to the occasion.

The trustees of the two organizations named will receive formal invitations to meet with the general committee on arrangements at the club rooms next Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock to discuss details of the fair and arrange for some of the features to be presented.

The Elks are enthusiastic over the enterprise, and are expecting to have an exceedingly attractive display, which will be enjoyed by the public generally. It is reported of just such a fair as is here contemplated which has just closed at Atchison, Kan., that the net proceeds were $7000, and Atchison is a city of but 17,000 people. The Atchison Elks also devoted a considerable percentage to charitable purposes.

NEW MEXICANS WANT RAILROAD

WOULD LIKE OUTLET FOR THEIR SHIPMENTS TO GULF.

COME THROUGH FT. WORTH

Are Willing to Assist Financially, Capitalists Who Will Undertake Promotion of Road in This Direction

The people of Northeastern New Mexico are clamoring for a direct railroad line via Fort Worth to the Gulf and will substantially assist any company that will build one. They assert that a more direct outlet to tide water is necessary in order to facilitate the advantageous handling of cattle and other products of that section. As it now is shipments are forced either over the Pecos Valley to Pecos, thence to tide water over the Texas and Pacific, or via Amarillo and the Fort Worth and Denver through Fort Worth to the Gulf. The distance traveled by the latter route is 600 miles alone to Fort Worth, whereas a direct line would reduce the distance to 350 miles, and accord ten hours less time.

Fruit Growers Behind It
The movement for better railroad facilities is being agitated by the fruit growers in the Roswell country, who want quick time and a direct route to Liverpool. Test shipments of apples have been made and found all that was desired. The world's markets can be well supplied from that section. One of the largest orchards is owned by Major Hargreaves, who was prominent in the construction of the Pecos Valley line to Pecos City. The orchard possesses 60,000 bearing trees, ships two and a half car loads of apples daily, and 3000 gallons of cider is made every twelve hours.

Under the present conditions the shipments from this, as well as other orchards, are going to Kansas City, but if there was a more direct route to tidewater, the shippers say, they would be billed through Fort Worth for export.

A RED HOT SESSION

CITY COUNCIL TALKS OF THE BAWDY HOUSES

HELD IN ABEYANCE

PROPOSITION TO DISTRICT HOUSES AND EXTEND FIRE LIMITS

HENDERSON CONGRATULATED

The Fire Alarm System Goes Over Again—Mr. Lehane Welcomed Home—Messrs. Newby and Moreland Register a Protest

Friday night's meeting of the city council was one of unusual interest, though there were but three or four matters to come up aside from the usual routine. All the aldermen were present, as was the mayor and other members of the city government.

The most interesting matter under discussion was brought about by a resolution offered by Alderman Murray concerning the proposition acted upon at a previous meeting ordering all the houses of prostitution in the city closed, and which action was held over upon a request to the chief of police signed by a majority of the members of the body. The resolution offered by Mr. Murray was in effect that the recent action of the council ordering prostitution houses to be closed should be rescinded and referred to a committee for further consideration.

Made a Fine Speech
It was on this resolution that one of the best speeches ever heard in the council was given, utterance to by Alderman Henderson of the Seventh ward. Mr. Henderson favored restricting these people. He did not want to see these public houses closed, and as a result of such action they were scattered all over the city, "next door to me and my neighbor." He had rather have an enemy in the open than to have one lurking in the dark; he preferred an open chasm that he could see to a covered and dangerous ditch. Take them away from there and they will settle yonder, a blot and a sore on the fair name of the community. It is a social evil that cannot be blotted out, hundreds and thousands of cities in this country and in other nations have tried it and all have failed, save singly and alone the Comanche Indian. When a Comanche squaw departs from the paths of virtue she is murdered. This evil has existed since Adam was Adam and since Eve was Eve.

At the close of Mr. Henderson's speech Mr. Orrick addressed the mayor and aldermen, saying that during his connection with the council he had heard some able speeches, but he wanted to say in all seriousness that the speech Mr. Henderson had just made was by far, the best he had ever listened to. He thoroughly endorsed every word Mr. Henderson had uttered and wanted them and there to publicly congratulate Mr. Henderson upon his argument.

Mr. Lehane Wanted to Go On Record
Mr. Lehane said that he wanted to go on record on the proposition. He was not present when the action to close the houses was taken. He declared he would fight any resolution to close them up. He favored restricting. He did not want them as his neighbor, nor to force them as a neighbor to any respectable citizen. He was bitterly opposed to bringing them before the corporation court or any other court ever, and he wanted to say in all simply a license.

Mr. Moreland was the man who offered the resolution to close them. His motives, he said, had been questioned, but declared that he was never more sincere about anything in all his life. His purpose was to have the council do something. If restricting was the best thing, then restrict them—do something. There was no one more honest or more opposed to these houses than he; yet there was no man who had more sympathy for these unfortunate women than he had. He thought it was a disgrace to a civilized community to license them by fines.

Waggoman Favors Districting
Mr. B. L. Waggoman said that he thought that the matter could be satisfactorily settled by districting, and he wanted to amend Mr. Murray's resolution by including in the fire limits all of the territory from Eighth street to Front, north and south, and all the territory from Throckmorton to Calhoun east and west from Eighth to Front,—to include all of the acre—so that no more cheap frame houses could be erected for their accommodation, and in order that property owners in this defined territory could feel assured that a house for immoral purposes would not be constructed adjoining or near them. Mr. Ward, chairman of the streets and alleys committee, said that he intended to offer such an ordinance and Mr. Waggoman withdrew his motion.

The Fire Alarm System

The next most important matter given consideration was the fire alarm system. Mr. Henderson opposed immediate action with reference to purchasing a new storage battery for the alarm. He thought that a new system would be in as bad shape as the present one unless the outside wiring was overhauled, and fifteen or eighteen old boxes exchanged for new ones. The city electrician was now putting these wires in condition. To buy new boxes now was out of the question. The city did not have the money.

The mayor asked Mr. Henderson if the present system could be fixed up and put in shape to register correctly. Mr. Henderson was emphatic in his declaration that it could. After some further talk the matter went over.

Mr. Lehane Welcomed
A pleasing deviation from the routine was caused by Mr. Moreland, who offered a resolution congratulating Ald. Lehane upon his safe arrival had seen, if not kissed, the "blarney he had had a pleasant trip and visit, had seen, if not kissed, the "blarney stone," and now that he was back would work as he had never worked before for the upbuilding of Fort Worth. For one time in his life, and perhaps the first time, Mr. Lehane was knocked completely off his perch and declared, feelingly, that he could not command language to express the appreciation he felt for this expression and the motives that influenced it. However, he finally made a happy little speech.

Routine Proceedings
The street fair committee was granted the use of Eleventh street from Main to Monroe, Houston from Tenth to Twelfth, and Throckmorton from Tenth to Twelfth, from Oct. 13 to 18 inclusive.

A fire alarm box for the Union depot addition was ordered.

The hard tax matter was referred to the city attorney for investigation.

Contractors for brick pavement asked that they be allowed to proceed on Houston street, between Fourth and Fifth, west side. Referred to the streets and alleys committee.

Work.
Communications were read from the secretary of the Board of Trade asking for the enforcement of the "driving-to-the-right" ordinance and that parts of certain streets be repaired.

The following claims were allowed: Smallpox expense, $84.10; pauper expense, $20; tax department, advertising, $127; city secretary's expense, $150; city hall expense, $350; public school repairs, $17.84; city engineer's expense, $22.80; street department pay roll and bills, $1,106.50; insurance, $513.75; water works department bills, $2,250.96 making a total of $4,247.95.

A number of communications and petitions were received and placed on file.

A large number of petitions from citizens with reference to tax assessments, to be lowered, or the assessments for certain previous years be regulated, were referred to the tax collector, to the city attorney or to the finance committee, as the nature of them demanded.

KIRBY DENIES OWNERSHIP.

Says He Is Not Interested in Either of Two Papers.

Houston, Tex., Sept. 19.—(To The Telegram).—There appeared in the newspapers from Austin a few days ago a statement to the effect that I owned the Houston Chronicle, and had also acquired the Austin Statesman. This is not a word of truth in either statement, and I would be greatly obliged if you would contradict the error.

The Houston Chronicle is owned by a corporation, of the stock of which I do not and never did own a share.

The Austin Statesman is owned by a corporation, in which I never at any time held any stock, and the only interest I have is through an interest in an institution, which is a creditor of said Statesman Publishing company.

"FOR ALL GATARRHAL COMPLAINTS"

Pe-ru-na is Most Excellent," Writes Congressman John L. Sheppard.

CONGRESSMAN JOHN L. SHEPPARD. Congressman John L. Sheppard, Member of Congress from Texas, writes: "Gentlemen:—I have used Peruna in my family and find it a most excellent remedy for all catarrhal complaints."—Congressman John L. Sheppard.

afterwards manufactured expressly for him in large quantities. This remedy, Peruna, is now to be found in every drug store and nearly every home in the land. It is the only reliable internal remedy ever devised to cure any case of catarrh, however long the case may have been standing.

A Case of Nasal Catarrh of Five Years' Standing Cured by Pe-ru-na.—Hon. Rudolph M. Patterson, a well-known lawyer, of Chicago, Ill., writes: "I have been a sufferer from nasal catarrh for the past five years and at the earnest solicitation of a friend I tried Peruna and am glad to say it has afforded a complete cure. It is with pleasure I recommend it to others."—Rudolph M. Patterson.

A course of Peruna never fails to bring relief. There is no other remedy like Peruna. Its cures are prompt and permanent.

Mr. Camillus Senne, 257 West 129th street, New York, writes: "I have fully recovered from my catarrhal troubles. I suffered for three years with catarrh of the head, nose and throat. I tried all kinds of medicine without relief, but at last I have been cured by the wonderful remedy called Peruna."

"I read of Peruna in your almanac, and wrote you for advice, which I followed. After taking one and one-half bottles of Peruna I am entirely cured, and can recommend Peruna to anyone as the best and surest remedy for any catarrhal troubles."—Camillus Senne.

Hearing Lost by Catarrh—Restored by Peruna. Mr. William Bauer, Burton, Texas, a Gunner and Miller, writes: "Some years ago I lost the hearing in my left ear, and upon examination by a specialist, catarrh was decided to be the cause. I took a course of treatment and regained my hearing for a time but I soon lost it completely. I commenced to take Peruna according to directions and have taken eight bottles in all, and my hearing is completely restored, and I shall sing the praises of Peruna whenever an opportunity occurs."—Wm. Bauer.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

LETTERS OF CONDOLENCE

THEY ARE NOT SO EASY TO WRITE IF SENTIMENT IS PROPERLY EXPRESSED

A Veteran Who Was Assigned to a Committee on Resolutions Upon the Death of a Comrade Faces a Problem

"Here, you Telegram reporter, help me out of a difficulty, won't you? I'm on a committee appointed from our camp to draft a suitable set of resolutions upon the death of a comrade, and I am, to use a common expression, 'on a limb' help me down, won't you?"

"Command me if I can in any way assist you?" replied the reporter. "Well, it's this way," said the veteran, "about resolution of this character or letters of condolence, a man seldom feels less confident of his ability to say the right thing neatly, than when he sits down to compose a letter of condolence. One can scribble off the usual friendly letter with much ease or premeditation. A business letter may be modeled on set forms and requires little brain energy. A letter of congratulation may trip along gaily, saying nothing in particular. A letter accepting or declining an invitation sometimes exercises the invention, but never taxes the mind very heavily. A love letter is usually written with an anxious spontaneity and, like other kinds of folly, is easy to the true lover. When it is labored it rings false. A letter proposing marriage, needs more thought and courage in the sending than in the writing. But a letter of condolence must appeal, at once, to the mind and to the emotions. It must not be too familiar nor yet too formal. It must sound sincere and yet it cannot be sincere, for the arguments one makes in a letter of condolence are trite reasoning which is always brought out in the time of bereavement and which neither consoles nor comforts those who are genuinely mourning. Putting these consolatory arguments on paper, one is aware that they are dictated rather by custom than by his own opinion and that they will have as little effect on the bereaved family as they would have on him if he were sorrowing over the dead body of one he loved."

The hackneyed argument of consolation are leveled at the wrong point. They deal with the state of the dead one and bid the mourners mitigate grief with the thought that the lamented one has gone to a world that is fairer than this and is in a condition of beatitude. But the root of grief is not anxiety for the state of the dead. It is rather self-pity. Tears are shed because one whose company gave the mourner pleasure has departed and will not come back. Religion and philosophy both hold that the state of the dead, in most cases is better than that of the living. The dead do not need pity. They have no regrets at leaving this world. If death entails all, then the dead rest sweetly in oblivion and are as little affected by care or sorrow as they were ten thousand years before they were born. If there is a heaven hereafter, as all creeds hold there is, then the dead man, if he lived honestly and well, is better off than he was here below. The only logical ground for the grief of the bereaved is that the soul may have gone to hell, and what sorrowing survivor will admit that his grief is based on that fear? Do not the friends of saints mourn as loudly as those of sinners?"

There is no shame in acknowledging that the so-called sorrow for the dead is only pity for the living. Love bereft of its object will mourn its loss and its grief will be commensurate with the strength of the attachment. When the mourner becomes used to the loss his grief abates according to the rules of kindly nature. But who is bold enough to make this argument in a letter of condolence or in resolutions such as I hope to submit upon the life of our deceased comrade?"

CLEANING MAIN STREET The Street Cleaning Force Did Some Good Work Last Night Last night the street cleaning force was out equipped for battle, and it had a foe worthy of its steel — or water. The gang turned loose several hundred barrels of water on Main street, with a force behind it sufficient to cleanse. This morning the vitrified bricks looked clean, spick and span—a real Sunday appearance. A stranger in the city, loitering in front of the Delaware hotel, asked a Fort Worth friend, a business man on Houston street, as he watched the process: "Why do they not pave Houston street?" The Fort Worth man spied his car a block away, before it reached him, and ran to meet it. The stranger turned to a Telegram reporter and repeated the interrogation—the reporter vanished. A street gamin heard the query and answered, "Jes, 'cause, mister," and scampered away.

HE WOULD BE A PRESIDENT

TOM L. JOHNSON ASPIRES TO HIGH POSITION

Through Possessing Millions, He Teaches Single Tax—Hopes to Right Social Evils He Sees Around Him

Cleveland, O., Sept. 20.—Who but Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland of all public men in the United States, while aspiring to the Democratic presidential nomination, would dare to approach the voters at campaign meetings in a $3,000 red automobile? And who but he would dare offend the wage earners by taking a valet to a Democratic state convention?

Mr. Johnson is one of the most unique characters in American politics. He is a shrewd, magnetic man of force and affability and mental agility, who uses his talents in "getting there"—a slang expression which fits the situation exactly, for Tom L. Johnson nearly always succeeds in what he undertakes.

Compound of Contradictions He is a curious compound of contradictions. In fact, were one to believe in equal proportions the statements made about Mr. Johnson by his friends and enemies he could form no other impression of the man than that he was a sort of "Jekyll and Hyde."

Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland is just now very conspicuous in the Democratic politics of Ohio and is even being seriously considered by the leaders of the party in connection with the presidential nomination in 1904. Mr. Johnson is almost as well known, through what he has done and written, on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts as in his own state.

Where he is best known in public affairs he has roused both ardent admiration and hostile criticism. Some believe him sincere, frank, brave and high minded beyond all other party leaders. Others look upon him as a bold, scheming hypocrite. Apparently he is a man of high and broad ideals, but many times he has proven himself intensely practical when the occasion required. He allows nothing to stand in his way when he wants to "get there."

Is Plutocratic Democrat

Intensely Democratic, he is at the same time plutocratic. He is approachable at all times and is always a perfect gentleman. His home on fashionable Euclid avenue, famed as the most aristocratic and elegant thoroughfare in the city, is a big, costly three-story stone mansion. Probably nowhere in the country is there a more splendidly appointed house—big, roomy, comfortable and luxurious. Several rooms on the second floor are used as library and offices by the mayor, for he does much of his public work at home and employs several clerks or secretaries there, who are always kept busy.

It is a hospitable home, as both the mayor and Mrs. Johnson are southern bred and are fond of society. They are members of Cleveland's "Four Hundred." Mrs. Johnson is a woman of accomplishments and is as popular in her circle as is her famous husband in his. There are two other members of the family, their daughter, Bessie, aged 20, who inherits the talents of her gifted parents and is popular in society, and their son, Loftin, 23 years old.

Sells Out Business

When Mr. Johnson returned to Cleveland from Brooklyn, N. Y., several years ago to live, although he had never given up his residence here, he had announced that he would devote the rest of his life to uplifting humanity, to righting the wrongs of the people, the announcement was not taken seriously until it became known that he had disposed of all his vast business interests, so as to leave him free to carry out his ambition. He will many people were skeptical, as it seemed absurd and inconsistent for this apparent plutocrat, who had made millions of dollars as a monopolist, to turn around and denounce the very thing he had grown rich, while still retaining the money which he admitted he gained wrongfully, as he says, in a moral sense, but not dishonestly. "Why does he not give away his money," they asked, "if he believes that way and has had a change of heart?" His close friends, his mouthpieces, answered thus: "By reading Henry George's 'Progress and Poverty' and 'Social Problems' the principles advocated in these publications took possession of him and awakened his conscience and changed his whole career. He came to feel that the single tax was a simple, rational method of applying to present society the principles of right and justice which Moses taught and which many prophets, poets and economists have seen. To him to proclaim this gospel of the single tax became duty and religion and it made him a unique character among men of wealth. So Mr. Johnson decided to use his fortune and devote it and all his efforts to the destruction of the institution of land monopoly by the method of land single tax, and to do this without regard to its ultimate effect upon his personal fortune and without any affectations meanwhile of an impossible consistency between his private business, in which monopoly was a factor, and his public work of abolishing monopoly.

Preaches Free Trade Mr. Johnson several years before had served two terms in congress for one of the Cleveland districts. As a congressman he was an ardent free trader. As soon as he returned to Cleveland and announced his intentions Mr. Johnson set to work to "get there."

and you feel as if he is one of your friends for life. This millionaire mayor of a Republican city of 440,000 people, which he driven to a plurality of 6,000 votes, is in his own carriage, with a coachman handling the reins. Several times he has appeared at city council meetings in a dress suit, as after the meeting he was going to some big social function. Mr. Johnson is charitable and liberal with his money. His enemies claim, however, that he never gives a cent away without a brass band accompaniment. As mayor he has power to pardon workhouse prisoners—that is, he is the head of the institution—general pardon board. At the first few general pardonings he created a general astonishment by his liberality in granting pardons and paroles to prisoners who had committed all sorts of crimes. But this was not all. Into each prisoner's hand he let fall a $5 or $10 bill, and the unfortunate was told to go out into the world, brace up and become a worthy citizen. He is accomplished in many ways. He speaks French fluently and has a French secretary at his house. The two never converse in any but the French tongue. The mayor is also a clever magician and can entertain his friends for hours with mystifying tricks. He is an expert with the billiard cue and is a great student and reader, especially of municipal and economical problems. He is a member and trustee of the Cedar Avenue Disciple church, but does not exhaust himself in church duties and attendance.

Much of the work on Armour & Co.'s new plant is going on inside the walls of the huge buildings already up so that it cannot be seen from without, such as the installation of machinery and appliances for use in the work. Mr. Case, the chief electrician for the company, is here from Chicago and is engaged in putting in the electrical machinery and wiring the buildings. Boilers and other machinery are being put in place also. The great chute leading from the stockyards elevated driveway to the top floor of the slaughter house is well under way. The walls of the second row of buildings are rising above the second and third stories, and these five buildings are rapidly filling up the void to the eastward of the structures that already have their roofs against the sky.

The greatest change observable in the premises during the past week, however, is in the new stockyards. The great viaduct over the railroad tracks leading to the Swift & Co. plant is nearly completed. Another one like it is also to be built leading to the Armour plant, while all along the front of the pens will be an elevated chute or driveway. Quite a stretch of this chute is now in course of construction, with a piledriver at work driving the piles on which it rests. The red brick walls of the new live stock exchange building are rising fast and many of the door and window casings have been placed in position on the lower floor. Other brick buildings, to be used for various purposes, are appearing in different parts of the territory.

The tracks along the pens have been laid and the belt line is stretching its rails almost to Marine creek where a new trestle is already awaiting them. The last of the old quarantine pens, which were located on the Swift property and the main avenue between the two packing plants, are being removed and more building space will be in shape in a few days.

The installation of massive machinery at Swift & Co.'s plant is being pushed on all sides. Big boilers and engines are being put in place and a small army of machinists is engaged in putting together the numerous parts in which they are shipped. The boiler house and engine rooms are especially busy places, while throughout the main buildings now erected electric apparatus and pipes and machinery are being arranged. An extra effort is being made to unload the machinery and materials that are rapidly arriving in order to clear the congested condition of the freight tracks. Yesterday they received three cars of machinery, six of lumber and seven of brick and a number of cars were already on the tracks awaiting a chance to be unloaded.

FOR HUMANITY'S SAKE

MR. EDITOR—Kindly allow me to inform your readers that one who suffered from both Seminal Weakness and Syphilis will inform any one who may desire to know of the means by which he was cured of these two loathsome diseases and fully restored to vigorous manhood. He has nothing whatever to sell, and would not make a cent of his hard earnings to doctors and for patent nostrums, only to experience failure and disappointment in return. He will only be too happy to inform sufferers of a plan by which they can be certainly and permanently cured. Write describing case and enclosing stamp, to Lock Box No. 15, Alcott, Colo.

FINE CRIMINAL RECORD MADE

SIXTEEN CONVICTIONS OUT OF EIGHTEEN CASES TRIED IN SEVENTEENTH

TWELVE OUT OF FOURTEEN

Persons Tried Will Serve the State a Total of Fifty-four Years—Convictions in County Court.

The Seventeenth district court has made quite a record in a criminal way during the present term. Court has been in session for only two weeks. The first week was devoted to non-jury civil business, and quite a number of cases were cleared from the docket. The second week was devoted to criminal business, and out of eighteen cases tried there were sixteen convictions. There were two acquittals and several dismissals. The penitentiary sentences for the sixteen cases foot up 54 years. Averaged between the twelve prisoners who received the sixteen convictions, each would have to serve four and a half years.

The convictions run as follows: C. W. Kimberk, forgery, three cases, two years in each—six years.
 Ira Phaler, colored, horse theft, ten years.
 Dr. J. P. Phillips, burglary, two cases, two years in each—four years.
 C. M. Archer, forgery, two years.
 Cal Cummings, colored, perjury, five years.
 Hattie Ferrell, colored, assault on murder, two years.

Andy Cooper, colored, burglary, two cases, two years in each—four years.
 W. E. Conners, alias Evans, alias Smiley, theft of property value over $50, five years.
 John Brown, colored, burglary, two years.
 Will Moore, colored, burglary, seven years.

Steve Murrin, alias Steve Weinman, burglary, two years.
 The county attorney and his force are much pleased with this record.

These 12 prisoners are all ready for the penitentiary agent, who will remove them next week.

In addition to the convictions in the district court, there have been a number in the county and justices' courts, and a number bound over in the latter to await the action of the grand jury.

County Attorney Lattimore and Assistant Buck worked in the district court, and Assistants Bouldin and Cummings in the county court.

The only case tried in the county court yesterday resulted in a conviction, and a good strong one. Sam Williams, colored, was convicted of aggravated assault on a white man, Dr. Galloway, on the North Side, and was fined $500 and sentenced to six months in jail.

There were other criminal cases on both dockets to come up next week, as a result of the recent setting of the grand jury, besides some hanging over from the last term.

In Justice's Court
 In Justice Mullin's court yesterday afternoon, John Borders, a young white man, was bound over in the sum of $500 on a charge of theft. He failed to provide the bond, and went to jail.

The County Artesian Well
 A good flow of water has been tapped in the well being drilled by the county in the rear of the jail. The well is down 285 feet and water has risen to a height of over 100 feet. The drill is now in a specimen of white sand, the thickness of which is supposed to be about 30 feet. The contractor is much pleased with the outlook for a good well.

EX-GOVERNOR HOGG ON TRUST

DECLARES THAT BEAUMONT OIL FIELDS ARE IN ITS GRASP

Says He Intends Running for the Attorney-generalship and Will Fight the Trusts to a Finish if Elected

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 20.—C. L. Wakefield, a well known business man of Dallas returned today from Beaumont, Mr. Wakefield stated to a newspaper man friend tonight, the important political part of a conversation he had with Former Attorney-General and former Governor James S. Hogg, in which Mr. Hogg made the positive statement that it is his intention to be a candidate for attorney-general of Texas, two years from now, that he expected to receive the Democratic nomination and the election.

"Governor Hogg," said Mr. Wakefield, "declared that the conditions existing at Beaumont alone, to say nothing of any situation elsewhere in the state, call for drastic measures, and that he intended to do what he can to change the situation. He declares it to be his belief that the oil trust has the Beaumont field completely in its grasp, and that every company that does not surrender to the trust will be quashed out and ruined by it. He declares his purpose in again running for attorney-general will be to free the Texas oil fields from the grasp of the trusts. Governor Hogg did not seem to make any secret of his intentions.

NORTH FORT WORTH GROWING

Buildings Going Up on Every Hand—New Business Houses Opening

The excavation for the new hotel in North Fort Worth is nearly completed. At one side teams and scrapers are at work scooping out gravel from the fine bed there for use in the construction.

On every side evidences of a rapid growth are at hand. Several new residences have been completed recently and others are in course of erection. Several new stores are open for business and a physician's shingle has a conspicuous place.

The new joint depot for the Cotton Belt and the Frisco is now making quite a show and will soon add its creditable share to the facilities of that growing suburb. North Fort Worth is growing and will soon make an attractive appearance on this side of the great packing houses.

A FORT WORTH CARRIAGE PAINTER AND SIGN WRITER SOON TO COME INTO POSSESSION OF A FORTUNE

John A. Van Doren, a carriage painter, is the happy holder of a cluster of figures that mean to him and his two boys a fortune, and he is a Fort Worth citizen. These figures are "71922," and no doubt they magnify to box car letter size when he gazes upon them. A telegram received in the city several days ago apprised him of the significance of these magical figures, and a printed list of an official nature received by the same parties yesterday corroborated, or verified, the first intelligence. Van Doren is just $14,999 to the good on the proposition, or will be as soon as the technique of the rules and regulations governing is completed which will only require a very few days.
