CASTRO SAYS VENEZUELAN CONFLICT MAY BE PRETEXT FOR WORLD WAR

TREATMENT IS TO BE EQUAL TO ALL

VENEZUELA'S PRESIDENT GIVES SPEECH TO SOME OF HIS FEELINGS

CASTRO'S TROOPS HAVE MET DEFEAT

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—President Castro's troops have, says the correspondent of the Herald at Willemstad, island of Curacao, met with defeat at the hands of the Venezuelan revolutionists at a point forty miles south of Caracas.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The Herald's Caracas correspondent quotes President Castro as saying, in the course of an interview:

"I can not grasp the news from Washington. I fear that the Venezuelan conflict will be made a pretext for a world war. I have answered, however, the demand for preferential treatments, as follows: 'The Venezuelan government desires equal treatment for every creditor nation, at the same time keeping in mind and respecting its previous diplomatic agreements and obligations.'

"As far as I can see the French claim is absolutely perfect, yet the blockading powers seem to desire to invalidate it. This is a strange procedure, indeed, when you recall that the French, Belgian and Spanish claims already have the solemn sanction which the blockading powers pretend to be desirous their own should receive.

"Yet I am hopeful, yes, always hopeful. Mr. Bowen has cabled me to be prudent and patient. I shall be both, and we will exhaust all peaceful means with the understanding that when that has been done we will not give in, but will fight.

"We have concluded that if there is no honor among nations, nor virtue in international agreements we must defend ourselves and, to insure tranquility, we must take possession of Trinidad and other adjacent places from which, with the consent of unfriendly powers, filibustering expeditions have started and have made Venezuela wester in blood.

"The Ban Righ, which sailed from England, and the expedition under the command of General Carib-Vidal, which sailed from Trinidad, landing arms two weeks ago at Higuerote, would cost England as much as the Alabama claims if we had equal rights with the strong."

POWERS HAVE NOT HEARD YET

Answer From Venezuela to Rejection Not in London

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The answer of Venezuela to a rejection by the allied powers of her proposal to treat on an equality the claims of all nations without giving the allies any preference, has not yet been received, nor has any definite counter proposal been made. It is not anticipated here that negotiations looking to a compromise, which is now going on in Washington, will reach a head for at least two days.

ENGLAND AS GERMANY'S TOOL

British Press in a Frenzy Over Venezuelan Imbroglio

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The Daily Mail says, according to the London correspondent of the Tribune, that the more the British nation struggles to escape from the German alliance and the Venezuelan imbroglio the more irretrievably and inextricably it is involved; that there are obvious reasons why Germany should seek to protract the quarrel to the utmost possible limit, and that she now so controls British policy that all the reminiscences of the English press appear to be futile.

In some quarters serious complications are feared as a result of the rejection of Mr. Bowen's scheme. It is curious that while Lord Cranborne's speech has been roundly condemned in this country it has given immense satisfaction at Berlin, as showing the friendliness of the British government. The British press, it is said, may write against Germany and its irresponsible politicians may make speeches, but so long as the government is friendly it does not much matter. The German press ignores altogether public opinion in England.

American, French and Spanish Colonists Enter a Protest

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The members of the American, French and Spanish colonies have held a meeting, says a Herald dispatch from Caracas, and ad-

CARS START WITH SOLDIERS ON GUARD

NON-UNION MOTORMAN WHO WAS STONED AT WATERBURY WILL DIE

(By Associated Press.)

WATERBURY, Conn., Feb. 2.—With companies of the First and Second regiments of the Connecticut guard quartered in various parts of the city ready for an emergency call on account of the trolley strike situation, the Connecticut Railroad and Lighting Company officials reopened their lines for business this morning.

The first car was sent from the barns at 5:30 o'clock and traffic was soon under way on all lines. There were few passengers on the early cars. No disturbances are reported.

One Will Die

Alex Winthrop, a non-union motorman, who was pulled from his car and beaten and trampled on by the mobs of Saturday night, is reported in a serious condition. Physicians fear internal injuries.

Eight other non-union motormen and conductors are at the car barns suffering from injuries received Saturday night.

One of the companies of the national guard was sent to Naugatuck this morning and will be quartered there doing duty at one end of the car line. The other companies which reported here last night are still quartered in the buildings where they spent the night.

Addressed protests to their legations against the outrageous proposal of the blockading powers that "the United States should be the tool of Germany."

The French colony declared that "France can not agree that, in the bankruptcy of Venezuela, Germany should receive special treatment on a loan which is comparative only to the Mme. Humbert loan."

The correspondent asserts that he has undoubted authority for stating that the French Atlantic squadron has been ordered to be in readiness to return to Martinique.

HE WAS GOING TO CUT CANAL TO THE OCEAN

(By Associated Press.)

SANFORD, Fla., Feb. 2.—United States District Attorney Stripling has received instructions by letter from Attorney General Knox to institute at once injunction proceedings against G. W. Hopkins to restrain him from draining Lake Washington, at the head of St. John's river, into the Indian river by a canal through Elbow creek.

The canal was to have been cut to the Atlantic coast, which is only a few miles distant.

The case will be brought before Judge Lock at an early date.

LEE STATUE FOR CAPITAL

Northern Senators Think Offer Would Arouse Opposition

(Special to The Telegram.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—There is much discussion among southern senators and representatives of a bill passed by the Virginia legislature to place in the Virginia hall here a statue of General Robert E. Lee. A majority of the prominent republicans of the north decline to state their views as to the propriety of Virginia's proffering the Lee statue. A few express the opinion privately that they think it would arouse opposition. Senator Depew, however, is not one of these. He says: "I think the placing of a statue of Robert E. Lee in statuary hall would be an emphatic recognition of the fact that we are now all advocates of nationality and its perpetuity. I am heartily in favor of receiving the Lee statue."

SULLIVAN AND MALONEY

American Faces a Formidable Opponent in England Tonight

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Considerable interest is manifested in pugilistic circles in the bout between "Spike" Sullivan of Boston and Jem Maloney, which is slated for the arena of the National Sporting Club tonight. Maloney is regarded as the most formidable opponent Sullivan has faced since coming to England. The bout is announced by Sullivan to be his last before returning to America.

CANADIAN BREAD IS HIGHER

Price Advanced One Cent on the Loaf Today

(By Associated Press.)

MONTREAL, Quebec, Feb. 2.—The price of bread in Montreal was increased one cent a loaf today. The bakers assign the advance to the prevailing high prices of flour, wood, coal and other materials used

MINISTER'S WIFE WILL TRIP THE FANDANGO

HUSBAND'S SALARY IS SMALL AND WIFE THINKS SHE WILL HELP EARN THEIR LIVING

(Special to The Telegram.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—A minister's wife tripping the fandango to the tinkling of the castanets is one of the features billed for tonight at a Brooklyn theater. The fair debutante is Mrs. Florence Brown, wife of Rev. C. S. Brown, formerly of Columbus, Ohio, and at present chaplain for the City Mission Society, the favored charity of Bishop Potter. Mrs. Brown is highly educated and has frequently appeared as soloist in the most fashionable Episcopal churches of New York. Mrs. Brown's reason for going on the stage is that her husband's salary as a minister is so small that it would not enable her to properly care for and educate their little boy and that by her efforts on the stage she can greatly assist in maintaining their home.

GO TO DEATH IN A CAVE-IN

(By Associated Press.)

ELY, Minn., Feb. 2.—A cave-in at the Pioneer mine caused the death of Jacob Maki and injured three others.

BIG VICTORY FOR TROOPS OF SULTAN

PRETENDER IS OVERWHELMINGLY DEFEATED ON THE BATTLEFIELD

(By Associated Press.)

TANGIER, Feb. 2.—Details of the sultan's victory over the force of the pretender, Bu Hammara, show that the battle was stubbornly contested and the former's success was largely due to the co-operation at a critical moment of Beni Ourein, a tribe whose defection from the rebels of the sultan were previously purchased.

The sultan's troops opened the attack early in the morning and shortly afterwards the pretender's camp was assailed in the rear by Beni Ourein. In spite of the surprise and disadvantage of the position, the rebels stubbornly maintained their ground and desperate fighting continued for three hours. The slaughter was very great.

The rebel army broke and abandoned their camp and fled in the direction of Tazab with the imperial troops in pursuit.

OLD TIME CONDUCTOR FALLS BENEATH WHEELS

(Special to The Telegram.)

DALHART, Tex., Feb. 2.—Joseph Z. Reed, an old passenger conductor on the Rock Island, fell beneath the Golden State limited at Tucumcari Sunday afternoon and was dangerously injured. He was taken to a Kansas City hospital.

AMERICAN GETS SCHOLARSHIP

First Cecil Rhodes Award Comes Across the Waters

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The first Cecil Rhodes scholarship in Oxford awarded to an American has been given to Eugene Heitler Lehman, a Yale graduate of the class of 1902. He is the son of the late Moritz Lehman, a wholesale tobacco dealer of Pueblo, Col.

ALABAMA ROADS CONVENTION

Delegates Present From Every County in the State

(Special to The Telegram.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 2.—The Alabama good roads convention began a session here today with delegates present from nearly every county of the state. The meeting purposes to draw up a bill for road improvement, to be introduced at the present session of the legislature.

MRS. R. B. SEAY IS DEAD

Passing Away of Wife of Prominent Dallas Attorney

(Special to The Telegram.)

TERRELL, Tex., Feb. 2.—Mrs. R. B. Seay, wife of a prominent Dallas attorney died here last night. The remains were shipped to Dallas for interment.

COAL DROPS BACK TO NORMAL PRICE

NEW YORK IS SELLING THE BLACK DIAMONDS AT LOW RATE OF $7.50 A TON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—All over town coal will be sold today for $7.50 a ton. This is not a theoretical price, but anthracite can actually be obtained at that figure. It is expected that this rate will hold without much change until summer, as it is generally conceded to be the legitimate market price.

The high price for soft coal has had its back hopelessly broken, and the bituminous product is selling at anywhere from $2 to $2.50 a ton. This slump effectually disposes of a certain bituminous combination which was forming to maintain the ton price for the coming year in the neighborhood of $4.

SECRETARY LONG IS SHOWING IMPROVEMENT

(By Associated Press.)

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—The condition of Former Secretary of the Navy Long showed continued improvement today, and was in every way satisfactory to the physicians.

STANDARD OIL CO. IS GIVEN A BAD SETBACK

BEAUMONT, Tex., Feb. 2.—The Standard Oil Company received its first black eye in the Beaumont oil field this morning. The Gulf Refining Company had asked for a receiver for the Palestine Oil and Development company and an injunction restraining the said company from delivering oil to other than the applicant. A temporary injunction had been granted. The cause came up on its merits this morning and was thrown out of court by District Judge Pope. The litigation is regarded as an effort to cripple the Palestine company and prevent it from building a pipe line from Sour Lake to Beaumont.

The Guffy company now has a pipe line to Sour Lake and controls the price and output of that field. The case this morning demonstrates that the Standard or its allies cannot improperly use the district court of Jefferson county.

NEW YORK'S CHARTER GIVEN 250 YEARS AGO

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—There were flags flying from the public buildings today in token of the fact that the city of New York is just two hundred and fifty years old. It was on Feb. 2, 1653, that New Amsterdam became a city by virtue of a decision reached by the Amsterdam chamber of the West Indian Company. In 1664 the name was changed to New York and the first mayor was Thomas D. Lavall.

It is very doubtful if the first mayor ever dreamed of the great changes that would be wrought under the administration of his successors during the next two and a half centuries. In the western metropolis at that time anyone who would promise to build on the south side of Wall street received the land for nothing. Today it is difficult to obtain it at any price. In those early days partridges were shot close to Bowling Green, and "the English pirates were annoying." Negro slaves were purchased from the slave ships.

ENGLAND DOESN'T LIKE MAHAN'S DEFINITION

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—England does not like Captain Mahan's definition of the Monroe doctrine, says the Tribune's correspondent in London. Captain Mahan distinctly says that the United States will not and does not accept the burden of American responsibility, and it is taken for granted that Captain Mahan speaks for both political parties in the United States; that his utterance is more or less official, and that it is not given to the world except after a full verification. The article consequently caused a little uneasiness, especially in view of its bearing on what Lord Cranborne calls the "Venezuelan mess."

England, however, has cordially accepted the broad principle of the Monroe doctrine, and there is little danger of a quarrel between the two great Anglo-Saxon peoples over its exact interpretation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Minister Bowen is willing that the allied powers shall receive preferential payments of their claims against Venezuela for a period of one month, provided they accept the remainder of his proposition and agree to raise the blockade immediately.

Because of the activity of other claimant nations, particularly France, there will be no surprise to the officials here if the allies agree.

IS GUNNING FOR THE UNION BANNER

IN THE HOUSE TODAY GRIGGS DENIES STATEMENTS IN FORT WORTH PAPER

(Special to The Telegram.)

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 2.—The house this morning adopted a resolution by a rising vote granting the privilege of the house to the boer leaders who are expected here this afternoon. Judge Schluter, who offered the resolution, made an effective speech on behalf of the boer cause, in which he detailed their trials and for liberty. He closed by saying that Texas should give them a hearty welcome. He was greeted by loud applause.

The house consumed much time this morning considering Love's bill providing for the appointment of an official stenographer for district courts. A number of resolutions were offered cutting down the price to be paid such stenographers, but all were defeated and the house adjourned with the bill pending.

A bill amending the law relating to the validity of teachers' certificates was engrossed.

Denounces Union Banner
Representative Griggs spoke on a question of personal privileges, denouncing as false certain statements published in the Union Banner, a labor paper of Fort Worth, on his attitude toward the child labor bill.

Senate May Rescind Action
The senate is not in session today, having adjourned to Tuesday. It is understood that it may rescind its action on the drawing of long and short terms and may meet in executive session for that purpose. Some senators are dissatisfied with the result of the drawing.

There seems to be somewhat of a sensation brewing in legislative circles at the present time regarding the drawing of terms in the senate. The rumor is that quite a number of the members are very much dissatisfied with the way in which the drawing panned out, and judging from the fact that there were several star chamber meetings on yesterday regarding the matter it is more than likely that the matter will be heard from again during the coming week.

Railroad Legislation
There is considerable railroad legislation pending in the present legislature, both friendly and unfriendly to railroad interests. Up to the present time there has been in the neighborhood of thirty bills touching on railroad interests introduced in the two bodies and while many of the measures are still in the committees they occasion much discussion among the members.

The Hogg Amendments
The Hogg amendments are still the bone of contention in the legislature, notwithstanding the efforts of many to decry them. That they will be pushed into the house for final consideration is earnestly believed by their author, Mr. Isaacks. These measures are among the most drastic ever introduced in a Texas legislature, and it

GOOSENECK IS AGIN HAWLEY

Opposed to Anything Which is Favored by the Committeeman

(Special to The Telegram.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—More or less amusement has been caused here by a statement sent from Terrell, Tex., to the effect that "Gooseneck Bill" McDonald, E. H. R. Green's lieutenant, is in harmony with Hawley. As a matter of fact, McDonald is opposed to Hawley on every point and has said so freely since his arrival here. Further, he has said that if Hawley and Lyon have reached an agreement he is against Lyon, too. McDonald is still in town, and as telegrams addressed to Green have been arriving here for two or three days past, it is supposed that he will come on to aid his assistant in finding out just what the trouble is with the Texas situation. The president's continued failure to make any appointments is taken to indicate that Hawley and Lyon are still as far apart as ever and that Roosevelt is adhering to his alleged determination to take no action until some agreement is reached.

WILLIAM BYRNE TURNED DOWN

Senate Committee Rejects One of the President's Recommendations

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The senate committee on judiciary today recommended that the nomination of William Byrne to be United States attorney in Delaware be rejected.

This action was taken after an extended discussion. Ground for the action was the connection of Byrne with Delaware politics. It was agreed to delay the report to give the president opportunity to withdraw the nomination.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 2.—The schooner yacht Amrita has been sold by Thomas H. McKee of Pittsburg to Richard Mansfield, the actor.

ST. CECELIA CLUB REHEARSAL

First One Will Be Held at Home of Mrs. Ducker Next Monday Evening

The first rehearsal of the newly organized St. Cecilia singing society will be held next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The society has already forty-six members, and but four more memberships can be taken before the roll of charter members is complete. Hans Kriessig of Dallas, who will be the conductor for the new society, was in the city yesterday, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ducker.

Mrs. Ducker will at once begin the work of soliciting associate memberships, though the regular members will not be solicited. The first rehearsal next Monday evening will be held at the home of Mrs. Maud Peters Ducker, 912 Burnett street.

AT THE LOCAL STOCKYARDS

HOGS REACH $6.50 ON THE NORTH FORT WORTH MARKET TODAY

CATTLE RECEIPTS ARE FAIR FOR MONDAY BUT THE OFFERING DOES NOT TEMPT HIGHER PRICE THAN $3.00

FINE CATTLE ARE NOT BEING SENT IN LARGE ENOUGH QUANTITIES TO DRAW THE BEST PRICES—GENERAL RUN OF STUFF IS OF THE POORER RANGE VARIETY

Today's Receipts
Cattle ..... 489
Hogs ..... 221
Calves ..... 14

NORTH FORT WORTH, Feb. 2.—There was a fair run of cattle this morning, and the hog receipts for Monday morning were somewhat better than usual. The majority of the cattle offered were steers, and none of the early shipments were of extra good quality. There were a good many young cattle in the shipments and scarcely any well-finished steers were seen. There was a good bunch of six-ty-five young steers driven in. The offering of cows was fair, ranging from some good driven-in stock down to the usual run of the range. The hogs received were of uniformly good quality, medium weights prevailing.

Individual shipments were as follows: J. W. Bates, for S. M. Davis and J. W. Roberts, Winsboro, 123 steers and cows; Liebold & Hatch, Kerrville, 64 cows and heifers; C. Eckhard, Yorktown, 30 cows; A. A. Cox, Van Horn, 30 steers; A. A. Hawes, Dallas, 30 steers; S. W. Jackson, Bartlett, 7 calves; S. W. Jackson, Bartlett, 63 steers and cows; J. W. Jackson, Bartlett, 38 steers and 4 calves; W. J. Carter, Paris, 28 steers; J. W. Roberts, Paris, 27 steers, 28 cows and calves, S. & S., Naples, 87 hogs; J. T. Bartlett, Bartlett, 46 hogs; A. G. Parnell, Hico, 88 hogs.

The Markets
The morning market was a little slow, as is usual on Mondays. Buying was only in small quantities in the cattle pens. The hogs went in larger lots.

Steers
The best offering of steers in the pens was a shipment of twenty-three by J. T. Bartlett of Bartlett, Tex., but up to noon they had not found a buyer. J. W. Jackson of Bartlett also had thirty-eight good steers offered. Some of the representative sales of the morning were:
22 steers, average 700 pounds, at $2.49
22 steers, average 800 pounds, at $2.15
3 steers, average 600 pounds, at $2.10
8 steers, average 843 pounds, at $2.85
30 steers, average 720 pounds, at $2.05
2 steers, average 960 pounds, at $2.60
15 steers, average 846 pounds, at $2.10
30 steers, average 876 pounds, at $3.00
14 feeders, average 532 pounds, at $2.90
27 steers, average 668 pounds, at $2.25
22 cows, average 779 pounds, at $2.60
29 steers, average 802 pounds, at $2.75
1 steer, weighing 102 pounds, at $3.00

Cows
The best cows offered this morning were driven-in stock that had been fed nearby. The shipped-in cows were all range stock. Some representative sales were:
6 cows, average 750 pounds, at $2.25
1 cow, weighing 830 pounds, at $2.10

Calves
The calves were all brought in "at side" and sold uniformly at $3, all averaging about 100 pounds each, and all being taken by Swift.

Hogs
While the general hog market today was somewhat weaker, the top price paid, $6.50, was the best at the new yards this season. It was paid for a bunch of thirty-eight hogs, averaging 220 pounds, and shipped in by J. T. Bartlett of Bartlett, Tex. On the whole, the tone of the hog market was a little weaker, as the following representative sales will show:
2 hogs, average 225 pounds, at $6.25
1 hog, weighing 360 pounds, at $4.00
87 hogs, average 157 pounds, at $6.20
1 hog, weighing 150 pounds, at $5.00

Notes of the Pens
J. W. Bates, a shipper of Winsboro, was at the yards looking after his shipment this morning.
Receipts of hogs are all sent into the southern part of the pens, the northern pens not yet being completed.
A number of feeders are making considerable purchases at the yards, picking up the younger stock for their ranges or for speculative purposes.
Beginning yesterday morning, receipts of cattle were recorded in the yardmaster's office at the southeast corner of the cattle pens, instead of at the scale house as formerly. The receipts of hogs will also be recorded at the yardmaster's office within a few days.

NEWMAN ARRAIGNED ON MURDER CHARGE

A special venire was impaneled in Judge M. E. Smith's court this morning to try the case of A. M. Newman, charged with the murder of O. N. Wartenbee. The crime was committed on the 28th of August last. Newman was formerly a brakeman on the Cotton Belt railway, while Wartenbee had arrived in the city from Kansas only a few days before his death. He was drugged to death and robbed of $85, his body being found in the bottom lands west of town. Suspicion was attracted to Newman by the fact that he was seen driving about town with Wartenbee the day before his remains were discovered.
Hearing of the evidence was begun late this afternoon.

TOWN OF GLENWOOD TO INCORPORATE

Residents of the town of Glenwood have begun a movement to incorporate. The advisability of forming a municipal government will be discussed at a meeting to be held in the school house there Friday evening at 8 o'clock.
R. Vickery, founder of the suburb, is prime mover in the enterprise, and Attorney Mothershead, who has large property interests there, is also deeply interested. The district which it is intended to include in the corporate limits has a population of about 2,000.
"We realize that there are both advantages and disadvantages in having a charter," said a citizen residing in that locality this afternoon. "The benefits, however, considerably outweigh the drawbacks, therefore I believe we shall decide to follow the example of North Fort Worth."

long he will remain in North Fort Worth is indefinite.

WEDDED IN SPITE OF OBJECTION

ARLINGTON YOUNG COUPLE DISREGARD OBJECTIONS

They Procure a License in Fort Worth and Are Wedded Unbenumbed to Friends, Who Desired Girl to Attend School a Few Years Longer. Return and Are Forgiven in Old Fashioned Way.

The old adage that love laughs at locksmiths was again exemplified in this city yesterday when George W. Berry, son of Uncle Wiley Berry, an old resident of Arlington, led Fannie May Cameron, daughter of William Cameron, an old settler of that section to the altar. Cameron died a few years ago and after his demise Postmaster J. I. Carter and Louis Turk, a well-known farmer south of Arlington, were appointed guardians for the girl. They were opposed to the marriage, and desired to have her attend school for a few years longer, but she decided that life without young Berry would be incomplete, and a minister did the rite.

Berry applied to County Clerk Rogers and License Clerk Walter King for a license yesterday morning, but would not swear that his bride-to-be was eighteen years of age and the clerk's office accompanied by the young lady herself and she dissipated all objections by testifying under oath that she was of legal age.

After their secret marriage the young people returned to their home in Arlington and were duly forgiven, one groom is in the meat market business with his father there.

BILL IS DRAFTED FOR CRIMINAL COURT

IT MEETS WITH APPROVAL OF THE FORT WORTH BAR

Meeting Held This Morning at Which the Measure is Adopted as the Expression of the Lawyers of This City—It Will Be Taken in Charge by Senator Hanger

At a meeting of the full committee of the Fort Worth bar, appointed recently to take action toward the drafting of a criminal court bill for Tarrant county, the necessary steps to bring the matter before the legislature were taken. About thirty lawyers attended the session, which was held in Judge Milam's courtroom.

Congressman Elect O. W. Gillespie presided and George W. Steere acted as secretary. A rough draft of the bill which it is proposed to introduce in the legislature at the present session was submitted by the subcommittee, of which C. Ross Bowlin is chairman, and read by the secretary. It provides for a criminal court with jurisdiction over felony cases exclusively and was adopted as the expression of the full committee. Senator Hanger has promised to use his influence to advance the measure to an early vote.

WORKMAN IS INJURED AT SWIFT'S PLANT

Explosion Just Before Noon Causes Charles Grant to Be Badly Bruised

The explosion of a steam tank in the coopeage department on the fifth floor of Swift's plant in North Fort Worth, shortly before noon today, resulted in painful injuries to Charles Grant, aged about 25, and foreman of the casing department.
The force of the explosion dislocated one of Grant's legs at the knee and the other limb was also somewhat sprained. He was not scalded by the steam, though clouds of a enveloped him. No other workmen were near at the time and the damage done by the explosion was slight.

RAIN AND COLDER WEATHER IS PROMISED

Forecaster Reeder Says These Summer Days Must End

Fort Worth is promised rain this afternoon, tonight and probably tomorrow with colder weather tomorrow. The maximum temperature during the past twenty-four hours was 73 degrees and the minimum 58.
The weather throughout the state is unsettled, although little rain has fallen anywhere. It has been cloudy and threatening.
There is a storm center in Utah which will have something to do with the drop in temperature to come at Fort Worth. Snow and rain prevail up there. Forecaster Reeder of the Fort Worth station says the next 36 hours at any rate is sure to see the mercury go down.

IT IS STILL RAINING IN KAUFMAN COUNTY

(Special to The Telegram.) TERRELL, Tex., Feb. 2.—The rain continues and the roads are in the worst condition known here in years.

The falling of the horse he was riding at Belknap and Florence streets about 11 o'clock yesterday morning caused the breaking of the right leg of Philip Oliver Lopp, 12-year-old son of A. P. Lopp, 712 West Weatherford street. The boy was trying to bring home the family cow when the accident occurred.

THE MEMORY OF JEFFERSON

IS KEPT GREEN AT THE NATIONS CAPITAL

AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE

The Association, Through its President, Admiral Dewey, Requests Contributions to the Cause of Preserving the History of the Man, Who Wrote the Declaration of Independence

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Feb. 2.—The Thomas Jefferson Memorial association, organized for the purpose of erecting at the national capital an appropriate and truly national memorial to the "author of the Declaration of Independence," through its president, Admiral George Dewey, has issued an appeal to the American people for funds to carry out the object of the association. The text of the appeal is as follows:

"Headquarters the Thomas Jefferson Memorial association has been organized to take the long neglected duty of erecting a fitting memorial to the memory of the man who wrote the Declaration of Independence.

"We have here beautiful and costly tributes to the memory of American soldiers, sailors, statesmen, physicians, inventors and philanthropists; and the soldiers and sailors of France are honored, but there is not one tablet to the memory of that great American, Thomas Jefferson.

"We ask the people to contribute according to their ability to this memorial.

"The character and cost of the proposed memorial cannot now be stated. Rigid economy will be observed in the expenses of carrying on the work.

"Every contributor will receive a certificate acknowledging his subscription and carrying with it membership in the association. In time to come these will be 'badges of honor.'

"Contributions, checks, money orders or drafts should be made payable to the order of the treasurer of the association, Mr. Jesse B. Wilson, president of the Lincoln National bank. Communications addressed to the secretary, W. S. McKean, will receive prompt and respectful attention.

"GEORGE DEWEY,

"Admiral of the Navy, President." The association is now complete in its list of officers, every state being represented by a vice president and in some cases by a representative on the board of governors, these controlling the body. No great movement of a similar character in this country, it is claimed, has as its officers more men of national character and influence than this organization. The association, it is stated, is thoroughly non-partisan, the design being merely to raise a memorial to Mr. Jefferson as writer of the Declaration of Independence.

HILL OF TARA TO BE SOLD SHORTLY AT AUCTION

London, Feb. 2.—The hill of Tara, so rich in historic memories, will shortly be sold at auction in Dublin. Until the sixth century Tara was the chief seat of the Irish kings. The last important gathering on the hill of Tara was held under the auspices of Daniel O'Connell, who urged the repeal of the Union.

In Memory of McMillan.

Washington, Feb. 2.—The house met at noon Sunday for the purpose of pronouncing eulogies in memory of the late Senator McMillan of Michigan. The speakers were Messrs. Corliss, W. A. Smith, Babcock of Wisconsin and Burton of Ohio. At 1:35 o'clock, as a further mark of respect, the house adjourned.

AN ATTEMPT MADE TO BURN SCHOOL IN UTAH

Ogden, Utah, Feb. 2.—An attempt was made Sunday to burn a state reform school which contains about 150 inmates. Shortly after 3 o'clock fire was discovered in both boys' and girls' dormitories, and for some time the flames threatened to envelop the entire building. The fire was gotten under control, however, before serious damage was done. It is claimed that there was collusion between the boys and girls to destroy the institution.

Odd Fellows Encampment.

Dallas, Feb. 2.—Over 200 delegates to the Odd Fellows' grand encampment have arrived in the city. Grand Patriarch Elder of Greenville and wife arrived Sunday night.

Minor Business Transacted.

Austin, Feb. 2.—The house on Saturday did not transact much business. Bills for the benefit of certain counties were passed and adjournment taken owing to lack of a quorum.

The many friends of G. H. Hausan, Engineer L. E. & W. R. R., at present living in Lima, Ohio, will be pleased to know of his recovery from threatened kidney disease. ## TWO NEW RAILROAD LINES

The Frisco Opens Up Territory to Traffic

Kansas City, Feb. 2.—The St. Louis and San Francisco road has opened two new lines to traffic, one between O'Keene, Oklahoma and Vernon, Tex., and the other between Lawton and Snyder, Okla., the latter terminus having been named after Bryan Snyder, passenger traffic manager of the road. This latter line is to be further extended to Quanah, Tex., on the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad, although passenger service from Kansas City will be started at once over both lines. The road which has been extended to Vernon connects with the Kansas line of the Frisco system 150 miles west of the Missouri state line and was known before its acquisition as the Blackwell, Enid and Southwestern railroad.

FOUR EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS

Rumblings Are Followed By Loud Explosions

Chihuahua, Mex., Feb. 2.—Private reports from authentic sources at Urique regarding the earthquakes in that district state that there were four severe shocks throughout that section, one occurring on the 22d, one on the 25th, one on the 26th, and one on the 27th ult. All were followed by loud explosions, but only slight damage resulted although the population was panic stricken for a time.

It is reported that eighteen houses were destroyed at Chuzapares, state of Chihuahua. The people are reported to be panic stricken.

WANTS EQUAL TREATMENT

Castro Says That Is His Government's Only Desire

Caracas, Feb. 2.—In reply to Minister Bowen's inquiry as to what Venezuela intends to do regarding the demand for preferential treatment made by the allies, President Castro has telegraphed:

"The Venezuelan government desires equal treatment for all creditor nations in Europe and America, keeping in mind, in addition, its diplomatic conventions and anterior stipulations."

PRETENDERS FORCES ARE UTTERLY ROUTED

Tangier, Feb. 2.—The sultan's troops have utterly routed the forces of the Moorish pretender and captured Hamara himself. A special courier made a record journey from Fez, brought this news. He reports that at daybreak last Thursday the army of the sultan commanded by the war minister El Menebhi, attacked the pretender's position and inflicted a complete defeat of his following, at the same time capturing Bu Hamar.

TROOPS AND GATLING GUNS ARE CALLED OUT

Waterbury, Conn., Feb. 2.—Eight camps of the First regiment, Connecticut National Guard, and five companies of the Second regiment, with two Gatling guns, were called to Waterbury at the command of Governor Chamberlain because of "the imperative need" occasioned by the trolley strike situation.

CURES WEAK MEN FREE

Insures Love and a Happy Home for All

How any man may quickly cure himself after years of suffering from sexual weakness, lost vitality, night losses, varicocele, etc., and enlarge small weak organs to full size and vigor. Simply send your name and address to Hull Building, Detroit, Mich., and they will gladly send free receipt with full directions so that any man may easily cure himself at home. This is certainly a most generous offer, and the following extracts taken from their daily mail show what men think of their generosity.

"Dear Sirs—Please accept my sincere thanks for yours of recent date. I have given your treatment a thorough test and the benefit has been extraordinary. It has completely braced me up. I am just as vigorous as when a boy and you cannot realize how happy I am."

"Dear Sirs—Your method worked beautifully. Results were exactly what I needed. Strength and vigor have completely returned and enlargement is entirely satisfactory."

"Dear Sirs—Yours was received and I had no trouble in making use of the receipt as directed, and can truthfully say it is a boon to weak men. I am greatly improved in size, strength and vigor."

All correspondence is strictly confidential, mailed in plain, sealed envelope. The receipt is free for the asking and they want every man to have it.

TEXAS BUILDING AT WORLD'S FAIR

UNIQUE STRUCTURE HAS BEEN PLANNED

WILL ATTRACT ATTENTION

The Stellar Effect is Dexterously Worked Out and the Whole Idea is Symbolic—The Idea Suggested by Louis J. Wortham, General Manager of the Commission

(Special to The Telegram.)

Austin, Tex., Feb. 2.—The building that the Texas World's Fair commission intends erecting at St. Louis will be in the shape of a five-pointed star, and the stellar effect has been so dexterously worked out in every detail that the whole might be called a constellation of smaller stars clustering around the Lone Star of Texas. The idea was suggested by Louis J. Wortham, general manager of the commission.

The model itself is a wonderful example of constructive ingenuity. It is from the ground to the tip of the star held above the dome three feet nine inches, and from opposite points between the extreme points of star it plebe, even to the most minute detail of construction, so that the idea to be got of the finished building is not only a comprehensive one, but a perfect one.

What one might call the stellar motif has not been departed from in a single instance. Approaching the building one is confronted by an immense five-pointed star, surmounted by a dome whose highest point will be 120 feet above the ground line. Between the extreme points of star it will be of staff, and the building will be two stories in height. Running up in a graceful curve from the second story will be a hipped or convex roof, gathered at the base of the dome, which will rise thirty-five feet from the topmost point of the roof. The whole structure will be a massive one, indicative of the immensity of Texas.

BOOKER T. ASKS FOR THE REAL SENTIMENT IN FLORIDA

Gainesville, Fla., Feb. 2.—Mayor Thomas got a telegram Sunday morning from Booker T. Washington which stated that if the announcement that he would deliver an address during the session of the joint convention of county superintendents of public instruction for the state and the general educational board, had created dissatisfaction among the white people of Gainesville, he would cancel his engagement. He asked the mayor to inform him as to the real sentiment of the white people. In reply Mayor Thomas wired that he had not sufficiently familiarized himself to the sentiment to express an opinion.

COLORED MAN CHARGED WITH STABBING MAN TO DEATH

Maysville, Ky., Feb. 2.—Chas. Duncan was stabbed to death here. Henry Lightfoot is charged with the crime. A crowd of colored men entered Burk's saloon late in the night, among them Duncan and Lightfoot. Later Duncan fell to the floor. He had been stabbed three times. No one saw the deed done. As Lightfoot's cap was found in the place and as he cannot be located the officers think he did it.

MAKES THREE ADDRESSES

General Booth Speaks to Immense Audiences at Dallas

Dallas, Feb. 2.—General Booth, head of the Salvation Army, spoke three times Sunday at the opera house, each time to an immense audience. In the morning he spoke on "Serve the Lord with gladness. His afternoon address was "The Lessons of My Life."

General Booth took his text Sunday night from the seventeenth chapter of Luke, the thirty-second verse, telling of the warning of Lot and his family to leave the city of Sodom that was to be destroyed on the morrow. The general said in the course of his sermon that his coming to Dallas was like the mission of Lot to warn and try to persuade his sons-in-law to flee from the city in that he came to warn the people to flee from sin.

When the old leader first made his appearance on the stage he was greeted with vigorous cheering. He said that he always felt when about to preach a sermon that maybe it would be his last chance to speak a word for his Master.

After the sermon Mr. Booth called upon penitents to come up and kneel down, ending his plea in this manner: "I came to Dallas expecting to reap a rich harvest. I hope I won't go away disappointed, broken-hearted. Come up, come up now. As was the message to Lot to leave Sodom and leave it now, so is the message to you to leave your sins and leave them now, leave behind your vanities, your selfishness and come to Christ."

While hymns were sung, six came up and knelt down at the penitents' bench, the way being led by a woman.

Cancerous Ulcers

At first have nothing about them to indicate their true nature. They look like ordinary sores and are usually treated as such, some simple salve, wash or powder being used in the hope of drying them up and stopping the discharge; but while the place may temporarily scab over, it again inflames and festers, becoming as bad or worse than ever. After the deadly poison begins to eat into the surrounding flesh and the sore spreads with frightful rapidity. Then the sharp shooting pains, which distinguish the cancerous from the common ulcer, are felt, and the unfortunate patient is brought face to face with the most dreaded of all maladies, a cancerous ulcer.

Whenever an ulcer of any kind is slow in healing it should be closely watched, particularly if there is an inherited predisposition to cancer.

Often times a malignant, stubborn ulcer starts from a boil, wart, mole, bruise, blister or pimple, for when the blood is tainted and the germs and seeds of cancer are implanted in the system, you cannot tell when nor where the deadly poison is going to break out.

S. S. S. cures these cancerous ulcers and chronic sores, by driving out of the system all the morbid and unhealthy matter that keeps the ulcer irritated and discharging. It purifies and strengthens the blood, enabling it to throw off the germs and poisons, thus checking the further formation of cancer cells, and when all impurities have been removed from the blood and system the ulcer heals naturally and permanently.

All ulcers, even the smallest, should be looked upon with suspicion and treated promptly before they become cancerous. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy, a perfect blood purifier, and an invigorating tonic. Write for our free book on Cancer.

FORT WORTH, TEX., FEB. 2, 1903.

Austin Tribune: The Fort Worth Sunday Telegram is a rattling good newspaper and no mistake.

The bank clearings of Memphis, "the Gateway to the South," last week were $2,732,825. Those of Fort Worth were $3,255,370. Anyone can figure out what it means.

A statement has been going the rounds that Senator Beveridge "lives modestly on a small salary." Modestly is hardly the word to apply any thing Senator Beveridge does.

The foreign countries that are trying to find a substitute for American grown cotton ought to find an easier game. Try draining the Mediterranean or damming the Danube, for instance.

Some one will put the reading public under eternal obligation by picking up the Waco-Riggins affair with the tongs and taking it out and burying it so deep the fumes will never creep out beneath the sod.

Brenham has been much in print during the last week an account of a bird shoot held there attended by the best marksmen in the country. Better that a town fade away in nameless obscurity than give countenance to this inhuman sport.

Mourning for James Barker, general passenger agent of the Katy, who died at San Antonio last Friday, extends far without the circles of the railroad world. He was a square man in business and loved by his associates and those who worked under him.

A Yale college graduate who was afterwards an instructor at his alma mater recently took a position as bartender in a Madison, Wis., saloon at $3 a week. And yet there are those who deny that a college education fits one for the stern realities of life.

El Paso is very anxious to have the Texas school of mines located in that city, and if there is any reason in the argument that the Pass city is more nearly in the very midst of the mining region of the state than any other city, then the school should be located there.

A man from Georgia has been criticizing Texas—Georgia, just think of it! Moreover, his name is Jones—Sam Jones. Must be some relation to that Jones of Chicago who took occasion to call down the girls because they don't spend more time in ironing shirt waists and darning things.

Sour Lake urges its pre-eminence as an oil producing center and as a health resort at the same time. The first will be granted, but before the people will even go to test the latter, some more euphonious and enticing name will have to be substituted for "Sour" Lake. It suggests all sorts of unpleasant things.

The Thurber Journal is a refreshing example of a paper that is not "yellow." It gets the news that is most interesting to the community in which it is published and presents it more attractively than any other weekly paper in Texas. There are few papers that could not with profit study its matter and "make up."

An observant citizen has noted that the advertisements of the concern that guarantees to make you rich playing your money on the New Orleans races, do not appear every day. The Inference is that on the days the advertisements do not appear, the money entrusted to the concern goes into the bookmakers' pockets. Naturally, the less said about it the better.

The strike that is slated in the soft coal regions of West Virginia for April 1 promises to be more serious than an April fool joke. There is some slight satisfaction to the public that the affair will be pulled off almost at the beginning of warm weather. It is doubtful if it were tolerated otherwise. The people would simply rise up and smite everybody concerned in it.

The United States took another step toward the success of the Panama canal project when the recent canal treaty was signed. That is the trouble: Your Uncle Samuel is always taking steps toward this much-to-be-desired end, but somehow he never seems to get any closer in. Somebody must be shoving the old man back when his attention is attracted in other directions.

Naturally, a great deal of sympathy goes out to Clara Morris, who seems likely to lose her home because of inability to satisfy certain claims against it. But one can't help thinking that this brilliant actress and woman should have saved for her hour of need a small percentage of the large earnings of her previous years. It is the old story of the improvidence that seems an inseparable accompaniment of genius.

A bill introduced into the house by the representative from Bexar county providing that any one who pays another's poll tax for the purpose of securing his vote, or the man who permits his tax to be paid for this purpose, shall be deemed amenable to punishment by law, with the penalty fixed at from two to five years in the penitentiary. There are already indications that this measure will be needed. The evil it seeks to correct is here.

The cartoon of Philander C. Knox, attorney general of the United States, published in yesterday's Telegram, representing him in a duet with "Deacon" Baer singing, "I take things easy," contains more truth than humor. Philander certainly lets little worry him these days. He started the country some months ago in a speech dealing with the trust problem, that gave the more hopeful the idea that maybe he was going to proceed to do something to relieve the intolerable conditions that exist. But shortly after the post-prandial effect referred to, he relapsed into his pristine state of somnolence, and everything has run along the same old way. The sum total of the attorney general's efforts to earn his salary is talk and not a great deal of that.

NOTES ABOUT PEOPLE

Miss Estelle Reed, federal superintendent of Indian schools, has probably the most important and highest salaried office of any woman in the employ of the government.

Sidney Whitman's book on Bismarck contains a chapter on the great man's wife, who was one of those women who lived entirely for their husbands. She never tried to wield political influence.

Five American ambassadors to foreign courts are graduates of Harvard. They are Joseph H. Choate, Horace Porter, Charlemagne Tower, George Von Meyer and Bellamy Storer, who represent the United States respectively at London, Paris, St. Petersburg, Rome and Vienna.

An old woman's home association has just been organized in Jackson, Mich., with Mrs. Marian B. Lozino, wife of the governor, as president. One of the ladies interested in it somewhat quaintly said that they were going to push the movement until Mississippi has a nice, comfortable home for her old and indigent women, who can not afford to go to a poor house.

James R. Keene, the noted Wall street speculator, is exceedingly chary about giving market tips to friends, though he is understood not to be so reticent with persons not on his list of intimates. Here is his own way of looking at the matter: "Most people will admit that I am about as good as a blankety-blank speculator as there is on the street, but the very best I can do is to beat the game four times out of seven. Now, if I gave my friends tips three out of seven would go wrong, and how long do you suppose I could hold my friends under those circumstances? I never had a sure thing in my life. If ever I have I'll let every dash blank one of my friends in."

A Practical Benefit

"I have a new idea to use in advertising our physical culture," remarked the nervous, pale-faced individual who taught physical culture by correspondence only.

"What is that?" inquired the book-keeper.

"Well, I shall place an ad in each of the leading monthlies, guaranteeing that ten minutes devoted to my system before retiring will enable any man to digest any breakfast food advertised in the magazine."

Getting His Money's Worth

Clerk—Yes, sir; we'll send the coal up today. Mr. Milledollar—An' say! Have it put in with them iron chutes. If I've got to pay your price for coal I want the neighborhood to know when I get the stuff in. Savvy?

AMUSEMENTS

The Deductions of "Sherlock Holmes" "Miss Faulkner," remarks Sherlock Holmes, "I see that you are a pianist; fond of Chopin, Beethoven and Mendelssohn, but that you have not played the piano for at least three days."

"What a remarkable man you are, Mr. Holmes," replies Miss Faulkner. "What you say is quite true, but how did you know?"

"By observation," responds the great detective; "you have the hands of a musician; I see the compositions of the men I have named on your rack, and the keys of the piano have dust upon them. So you see it is very simple after all."

Herbert Keelcey, the distinguished actor in this season playing the role of Holmes, has having been personally chosen by Sir Conan Doyle, while Miss Effie Shannon, famed as one of the most beautiful women on the English speaking stage, is Alice Faulkner. The engagement of Mr. Keelcey and Miss Shannon in this remarkable drama will be an event of rare social and artistic interest in this city. "Sherlock Holmes" comes to Greenwall's opera house tonight.

"The Show Girl" Coming

One of the most notable events of the present theatrical season at Greenwall's opera house Thursday, matinee and night, Feb. 5, will occur when Edward E. Rice's latest and greatest performance, coming direct from Wallack's theater, New York city. It had a most successful engagement of ten weeks during the hot spell of last summer, something unheard of before in New York theatricals. The musical comedy, which abounds with tuneful music, catchy songs, bright sayings and everything essential for the successful comedy opera was written by R. W. Barnett, who wrote such successes as "1492," "Little Christopher," etc., while the music is by Boston's foremost musical composer, H. L. Hertz, of Rhode Island, composer; E. W. Carliss, assisted him in his work. Fifty players take part in the entertainment and all have something to do. Two carloads of scenery are necessary for the presentation of the comedy opera. The entire performance, the theatergoers of every may rest assured, is exact in every detail to that given in New York city. So a great treat is in store for the eye and ear of all.

Our Porto Rico Trade Growing

Trade between the United States and Porto Rico is growing remarkably. We now take over one-half of their exports and supply four-fifths of their imports. This is a remarkable showing in so short a time since that island was under Spanish rule. The record of cures back of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the best evidence of the value and merit it contains. It therefore appeals to you personally, especially if you are a sufferer from loss of appetite, nausea, heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, sleeplessness or malaria, fever and ague, and want to be made well again. It will strengthen and tone up the entire system and purify the blood. Don't fail to try a bottle today. It has never been known to fail and can therefore be relied on in your case. For sale by all druggists.

CANNOT AGREE ON WHAT IS BEST FOR ISLANDS

PHILIPPINE CONDITIONS ARE WORRYING CONGRESS AND OPINIONS ARE VARIED

Washington, Feb. 2.—(Special.)—A measure which was considered of far-reaching importance to the Philippines may fall utterly because there is a difference of opinion between the houses as to what is best for the islands. The house has said that the currency and coinage laws of the United States must be extended to the islands, while many senators, including those who control the affairs of the senate, think that such action would be very injudicious. "It would fasten the Philippines upon us for all time," said a Republican senator who has never failed to defend the policy of the Republican party in the retention of the islands, but who has some misgiving as to whether we should keep them after a stable government is established. Like a great many other senators, he thinks that the coinage system of the Philippines should be kept separate and distinct from that of the United States and favors the bill which the senate committee has reported and which a majority of the house committee favored establishing the gold standard, but on a different basis from that of the United States. The bill at this stage of the session stands a very little show of getting through without some unanimous agreement.

Considered Very Important.

Perhaps those who differ with each other in regard to this measure may decide to accept any measure rather than let the bill be defeated. Governor Taft and Vice Governor Wright laid great stress upon the importance of having currency legislation, and the fact that the present system of the Philippines is working great hardship not only to the natives, but to the American residents, may induce those who have been so contentious for their ideas to relinquish them in favor of a temporary measure.

Statehood Scraps.

The constant bickering over the statehood bill continues to be a feature of the session. It grows rather amusing when President Pro Tem. Frye sometimes calls the venerable Senator Pettus to preside over the senate. The Alabama senator is insistent that the rules shall be observed, and he calls down every man who does not properly address the chair and get permission of another senator before interrupting him. In every give and take colloquy these little niceties of debate provided for by rules are overlooked, and senators sometimes sit in their seats and have conversation back and forth as a part of the debate. Senator Frye has several times called senators to order for this lack of decorum.

"The senators will proceed in order," said Mr. Pettus on one occasion. "They must address the chair and secure permission before interrupting. Otherwise the debate would degenerate into a conversation."

"I would not rise to interrupt the senator," said Senator Beveridge one day, "but the senator from Ohio has injected a novelty into the discussion."

"I will say to the senator from Indiana," remarked Senator Foraker, with some sarcasm, "that that is not a novelty, but a historical fact, that I have stated."

"I do not deny it," replied Beveridge; "but, as I was not aware of it, it was a novelty to me."

"There are a great many historical facts relating to the territories," remarked Foraker dryly, "which are not only novelties to the senator from Indiana, but to a great many other senators who are opposing this bill."

Rules of the Senate.

Senator Spooner took occasion the other day to criticize the attitude of the majority, who have been holding up all other legislation in the interest of the omnibus statehood bill.

"I would like to inquire," remarked Senator Mason, "if the senator from Wisconsin is not a member and the chairman of the committee on rules?"

"That is a fact," said Spooner.

"Is there not pending and has there not been for six years at least," asked Mason, "a resolution to amend the rules so that the majority can do business and so that a condition such as now exists could not occur?"

"I think," said Senator Spooner, "that a similar resolution has been pending for probably sixty years."

"It is the fault of the senate," remarked Mason, "that it has not taken action to amend its rules so that it can do business. No senator who is responsible for that condition of affairs has any right to complain."

Burnham's First Speech.

Senator Burnham of New Hampshire made his first speech in the senate on the omnibus statehood bill. It was a very able argument against the admission of the three territories at present, but unfortunately the debate at this time had degenerated into a long drawn out struggle in which the minority had determined to defeat the statehood bill by every means at command, and consequently not so much attention was paid to his speech as if it had not been upon a measure doomed to defeat by its opponents if they had the power. Still the New Hampshire senator showed that he had made a deep study of every phase of the situation and that he had informed himself on every point relating to the admission of the states.

IN TWO PARTS

(Copyright, 1902, by W. R. Hearst. Great Britain rights reserved.) "I want a big bunch of flowers—roses, carnations, lilies and that sort, with plenty of green stuff." "Yes, sir; take them, sir?" "In five minutes, Raymond Morris, laden with a fragrant burden, was rattling away in a hansom toward No. 80 Mandeville street, where his little chum, Kitty Marsden, lived. "How she will love them," he thought, and then his face beamed as he pictured her happiness at the good news he was bringing. To be retained as counsel in "Buller vs. Coke," was indeed a piece of luck; he might now safely consider that his feet were firmly set on ambition's steep ladder, and if it lay in his power they should never slip off. "Dear little Kitty! Times should brighten for her also. What a hard life they had experienced the previous two years, she perhaps more than he, for of how poor she had really been Raymond Morris had no conception. "Hard up" meant to him a chop instead of a decent half-crown dinner, but to Kitty it meant a roll and a cup of cocoa, instead of the chop. They had first met at a second-rate boarding-house in Piccadilly; she was a clerk and he at that time had been qualifying for the bar, living in the meantime on journalistic work. What made them enm so he never quite knew; her intensely sympathetic face, ed him a note. "Miss Marsden asked me to give this to you, sir, when you called. You see, sir, it were this way. A month ago she lost her place, and, poor thing, she tried hard, but she couldn't get another, and so she comes to me and says as how she were a-going to try her luck elsewhere, and would I buy her things, which I did, though sorry enough I were to do it, for I liked her, sir. She was the quietest, nicest lodger I'll ever have. You see, sir, it had been a bad time of year—August—and though I told her she were welcome to stay and the rent could go on until it were convenient, she wouldn't, she wor that independent; but come in, sir, a minute, and rest and read your letter, for you look mortal bad." Morris stepped into the dark hall, and depositing the flowers sat down and read the note. "Dear Big Chum: Your little pal has had the moidliest luck possible this month. Hurst sold the business and the new man brought a daughter to do the books, so I was not wanted, and I haven't been able to get anything else. I've tried till I'm pretty nearly desperate, but you know I can't type nor write shorthand, and so I've just come to the end of my resources, and for the present, dear, big man, our trails are going to divide; maybe they'll meet again. If not, your little pal will always thank you for the two happiest years she has ever voice and manner had appealed to him, and when later their homes diverged, he taking some unpretentious chambers west and she a big studio, where she might feel one little corner of the world was her own, they still remained firm chums, and rarely did a Saturday pass without their meeting or a Sunday, when he did not go to tea and afterward smoke his pipe and talk over his big plans with his enthusiastic little hostess.

He often wondered what she got paid, but a sort of delicacy prevented his asking, as, though they were the closest of friends, she had never given him the slightest encouragement to help her in any way and never would, except on the rarest of festivals, allow him to take her out, either to dine or to a play, so in man-like fashion he concluded she had enough on which to manage comfortably. That thought was to cost him many a pang later on, but he knew nothing of it as he drove to her, his heart longing for her warm appreciation of his well-deserved success.

"She must come somewhere with me tonight," he muttered. "She has been looking very pale and tired lately, not a bit like her old merry self; she never laughs now, and Kitty's merry laughter is the best tonic in the world; why, it must be ten days since I've seen her. Ah! Here we are."

"Miss Marsden in?" "Miss Marsden, sir; she's gone!" said the slavey, with a sad smile, for she saw Miss Marsden's sweetheart, as they had all christened him, was going to, as she put it later, "take on awful."

"Gone? Gone out, my good girl, I suppose. Well, I will wait for her."

"No, sir; she's gone away. She sold all her things, 'cos missus said she lost her place and couldn't live here any longer."

"Sold her things! What in the dickens did the stupid girl mean? Just then the landlady appeared and hand-had. If I get on I'll write you. But I can't be under the steam and you afloat in a gay steamer, so it's best to say 'good-by,' just for the present.

"Don't worry about me, dear chum. I won't forget our motto. Here's to a brave tomorrow, that's born of a brave today."

"Dear, big comrade, your little pal wishes you all the good luck obtainable."

Raymond at first felt very savage with Kitty. Why, in the name of all the gods couldn't she have told him her troubles?

He had poured out enough of his to her, but it was just like a woman. They never had any sense. And now, how could he find her? Where and what was she doing in this vast Babylon? And then he grew remorseful as he remembered his last visit. It had been wet and cold, and he had made up a big fire, and they had had a jolly tea, poor little girl. He had helped to consume the very little she had—no wonder she had looked ill and worn and seemed quiet. He could have struck himself in anger.

He left the flowers with the landlady and slowly retraced his steps, all the pleasure and excitement gone, but he would find her and scold her well for being such a stupid little girl with no real conception of the word "comrade."

Two years later in his comfortable bachelor quarters Raymond Morris sat smoking his after-dinner pipe with his firm friend Dr. Bruton. Already he was becoming known as the "rising barrister," but somehow all his successes failed to give him the joy he had fancied they would.

"Morris, why don't you marry?" "Suppose I've not met my other half—my—what do you call it—affinity, old man?"

"Have you ever cared for anyone?" (Concluded Tomorrow.)

SUICIDE AT THE HOTEL HARROLD

CHARLES BARNETT ENDS HIS LIFE WITH A RAZOR Despondent Over Ill Health, He Severs the Jugular Vein and Dies a Few Minutes Later—Deceased Known by the Sobriquet of Tennessee Charlie—Addicted to Morphine Habit

Charles Barnett, better known by the sobriquet of "Tennessee Charlie" ended his career with a razor at the Hotel Harrold, Houston and Tenth streets, early this morning. His dead body, with blood streaming from a gash in the neck which had severed the jugular vein, was found lying across the bed in his room shortly before 7 o'clock. Alpha Majors, a chamber maid, made the ghastly discovery. After knocking on the door and receiving no answer she entered, but fled in terror a moment later and notified the night clerk, who, in turn, summoned the proprietor, R. F. Moore. There were no signs of life about the body when found, though a short time before "Tennessee" as he was called, had visited Mr. Moore in his room. He acted queerly at that time, and upon leaving said that he was going to the kitchen after a cup of coffee. "Can't I bring you a cup too," he asked. Mr. Moore replied that he did not care for it and "Tennessee" passed out the door. This was the last seen of him alive. Addicted to Morphine Barnett had been engaged as a "runner" for a rooming house near the Texas and Pacific Union Station, but was laying off and taking treatment for the morphine habit to which he had been addicted for several years. At times, while under the influence of the drug, he was irrational. Upon Mr. Moore devolved the task of administering periodical doses of medicine to the patient and the last was taken about 4:30 this morning. After that Barnett slept for a while, but awoke in a delirium and upon entering Mr. Moore's room declared that demons were pursuing him. Barnett was fifty-three years of age, a widower, and had been in the city about ten years, but had no relatives in Fort Worth except a nephew. He was a native of Tennessee. The remains were removed to Gause's undertaking rooms. Burial took place this afternoon at Oakwood cemetery.

WHAT COTTON GROWERS SHOULD NOT FORGET

- Prof. J. H. Connell, secretary of the executive committee, Texas boll weevil convention, in his bulletin of Jan. 9, makes the following recommendations: 1. Clean off all fields thoroughly by burning trash and stalks at once. Plow the cotton and corn land deep as soon as possible during the winter. 2. Plant only early varieties of cotton. Buy cotton seed grown as far north as seed can be found. 3. Plant cotton during very early spring and at no other time. 4. Use wide rows in planting cotton. We recommend rows about five feet wide for bottom lands and four feet wide for uplands. Thin cotton to about three feet apart in row in bottoms and about two feet apart in uplands. 5. Run the rows as nearly east and west as the land will allow.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTHWEST AS SHOWN IN MAIL SERVICE

As was mentioned some time ago in The Telegram, by far the greater part of the railroad building done in the entire country during the past year was done under the jurisdiction of the eleventh division of the railway mail service, the offices of which, in charge of Superintendent S. M. Gaines, are located in Fort Worth. A more detailed and more accurate statement showing to what extent this is true and its value as an indicator of the enormous business increase in the southwest has been prepared by Assistant Superintendent William L. Cate and is here-with given. That the course of empire is to the south and west is forcibly shown in the progress and improvement of the past year in the railway mail service. There have been built 5,545.71 miles of railroad. This is apportioned to the different divisions of the railway mail service as follows: First division—Composed of the New England states, 90.95 miles. Second division—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Porto Rico, 215 miles. Third division—Maryland, West Virginia, North Carolina and District of Columbia, 152.43 miles. Fourth division—South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi, 572.10 miles. Fifth division—Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee, 249.16 miles. Sixth division—Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska and part of South Dakota, 390.30 miles. Seventh division—Missouri, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico, 707.90 miles. Eighth division—California, Nevada, Oregon, Alaska, Arizona, Idaho, Wyoming, Washington and Hawaii, 426.44 miles. The ninth division governs through mails to Canada by way of Buffalo,

GRADUATION DAY AT ANNAPOLIS ACADEMY

FORTY-NINE EMBRYO ADMIRALS GO FORTH TO SERVE THEIR COUNTRY ON THE SEAS

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 2—This was graduation day at the Naval Academy, and forty-nine embryo admirals went forth into the world to serve their country on the seas. The academy grounds were crowded, and all available space in the chapel for visitors was filled, and most of the seats were occupied on the aisles where the honored guests and essential functionaries of the grand occasion were to be gathered. At 10:30 o'clock the cadets, headed by the Naval Academy band, marched from their quarters to the chapel, where the board of visitors had preceded them. Many notable guests from Washington and elsewhere were present. After the customary addresses had been delivered there was a rush for the bandstand, where the diplomas were to be delivered by Secretary of the Navy Moody. The cadets received their diplomas amid the applause of their friends. The graduates went in to don their new uniforms, and as each came out the class gave three cheers. Secretary Moody made a brief speech in which he congratulated the cadets upon their graduation and dwelt upon the honor and importance of their future duties. Following is a list of the graduating class arranged by states—Alabama—Charles C. Moses and Frank H. Sadler. California—Milton S. Davis, Maryin K. Metcalf and William E. T. Neumann. Georgia—Hugh McL. These germs cause weakness, chills and fever, aches in the bones and muscles, and may induce dangerous maladies. But Electric Bitters never fail to destroy them and cure malarial troubles. They will surely prevent typhoid. "We tried many remedies for Malaria and Stomach and Liver troubles," writes John Charleston, of Byesville, Ohio, "but never found anything as good as Electric Bitters." Try them. Only 50c. W. J. As a result of an investigation, the governor of Indiana finds that the coal shortage in that state is due to the shortage of coal. There is something decidedly incongruous about the attempt of a man who has nothing to recommend him but his money to break into the United States senate from a state named Washington. Unqualified First South American—Faugh! Think of that man pretending to be a statesman! Why, he knows absolutely nothing of political economy. Second South American—I should say he didn't. Rev. Mr. Myers Back From St. Louis, Where He Supervised the Publication of Reed's Library After an absence of ten months in St. Louis, during which he was engaged in the publication of Thomas B. Reed's "Library of Modern Eloquence," Rev. James S. Myers was returned to Fort Worth and resumed his pastorate at the Christian Tabernacle. Large audiences were present at both services yesterday and five acquisitions to the membership of the church were the result of the minister's first day's work. Rev. Mr. Myers preached both morning and evening. Special one hour services are announced for every evening this week, beginning tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

HORSE SHOW BOXES ARE ALREADY ENGAGED

Inquiries Coming in From All Over the State Regarding the Coming Event "There will be at least 400 of the finest horses of the country at the horse show," said V. S. Wardlaw, a member of the general committee in charge of that event, this morning. "Already about 400 of the best animals that can be had, have been arranged for and will be brought here. In the number will be prize winners at New York, Chicago and Kansas City, so there will be no scarcity of the finest horses that can be exhibited." Mr. Wardlaw says that inquiries regarding the horse show are being received by the committee every day. Already several of the twenty-four boxes have been spoken for. The big tent which has been engaged will seat 3,000 people and this, it is expected, will be filled nightly. The company which will furnish the tent, will also do the decorating of the tent, seats and boxes. TEXAS AND PACIFIC SURGEON IS DEAD

END COMES TO DR. B. F. EADS AT HIS HOME IN MARSHALL

He Dies Suddenly at Noon While Seated in Chair—Had Been Chief Surgeon Since 1886 and Was Well Known Throughout Texas—Dr. Saunders Attends Funeral Today

Dr. B. F. Eads, chief surgeon of the Texas and Pacific railroad, died suddenly yesterday at his home in Marshall, Tex. He had been sitting up all day, although not feeling well and died in his chair at noon. The funeral was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon, with interment in Marshall. The deceased had been ill for several weeks, but his condition was not considered serious, and the end was quite unexpected. Dr. Eads was a little past 60 years of age, and had been chief surgeon of the Texas and Pacific since 1886. He was well known throughout the state and was a close friend of former Governor John C. Brown, who was for years general counsel for the road, and later became receiver for it. He was well known in Fort Worth, having frequently visited here. Dr. Bacon Saunders, one of the local surgeons for the Texas and Pacific, is in Marshall today attending the funeral. Railroad News and Personals All passenger trains, both at the Texas and Pacific and Union stations were on time this morning. This is the first time in many weeks that there has not been at least one train behind its schedule. E. W. Campbell, superintendent of the Texas and Pacific at Marshall, Tex., was in the city yesterday. The Frisco opened two new lines yesterday, and track layers are busy near Brady on another branch that will soon be ready for operation. One was opened yesterday between O'Keefe, Okla., and Vernon, Tex.; the other between Lawton and Snyder, Okla. On the branch to Brady workmen are about twelve miles from the place, approaching it with the track at the rate of two miles a day. The Southern Pacific's new depot at San Antonio, erected at a cost of $125,000, was formally opened yesterday with ceremonies. Vice President Markham of the Southern Pacific, General Frederick D. Grant, commanding the department of Texas, and President Hart of the San Antonio Business Men's club, were among those who spoke. Besides the Southern Pacific, the Missouri, Kansas and Texas and the San Antonio and Aransas Pass roads will use the station. J. M. Chesbrough of St. Louis, assistant general passenger agent for the Vandalla-Pennsylvania lines, and H. D. Kilgore, traveling passenger agent for the Vandalla in San Antonio, spent yesterday in Fort Worth and left last night for El Paso. They are on a tour of the western territory. V. N. Turpin, city passenger agent for the Rock Island, went to Kansas City this morning. W. N. Neff, superintendent of the Cotton Belt in Mount Pleasant, was in the city this morning. The Rock Island commercial agents were in Fort Worth this morning on their regular monthly visits to headquarters. Those here were C. D. Golding of Houston, T. H. Wilhelm of San Antonio and E. M. Gleason of Dallas. S. J. Tucker, the new city passenger agent for the Rock Island in Dallas, was in Fort Worth this morning. His appointment to the agency in Dallas became effective today. R. E. Eagan, traveling passenger agent out of Dallas, was also here. Another coachload of Chickasha and Choctaw Indians from Mississippi, passed through the Texas and Pacific station last night on their way to the territory to claim their tribal rights under the allotments. MR. BRET HARTE'S GRAVE IN FINLEY CHURCHYARD.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(Special Cable to The Fort Worth Telegram.)—Although Bret Harte left an estate valued at only $1,800, his grave does not lack a monument, and a massive and costly one. It has just been erected by one of the deceased novelist's closest friends. Covering the grave in Finley church yard, Surrey, is a solid slab of white granite, weighing two and a half tons, and on this is placed a block of red Aberdeen granite, sloping upward from the base, and fashioned at the top into the form of a cross. The inscription reads: "Bret Harte, August 25, 1837—May 5, 1902. Death shall reap the braver harvest. And: "In faithful remembrance, M. S. Van de Veld." There is quite a general impression here that Bret Harte invested his savings in America—a way of accounting for the small estate he left here. As he never received less than $250 for the English serial rights of a short story, and was fairly industrious, it is difficult to believe that he died practically a pauper.

THINK BISMARCK PERHAPS WAS HASTY

GERMANY IS BEGINNING TO DOUBT HIS OPINION OF THE MONROE DOCTRINE

BY MALCOLM CLARKE Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst. BERLIN, Feb. 2.—(Special Cable to The Fort Worth Telegram.)—The Germans are pretty nearly convinced now that Bismarck was hasty when he said that the Monroe doctrine was "a piece of impudence." For a long time England has been trying to bring this home to them, and at last she has succeeded. They know now that the result of the Sandringham conference between King Edward and the kaiser did not mean that England would endorse any and every sort of riotous conduct on the part of German's fleet off the Venezuelan coast. The note sounded by the British press throughout the week on this subject has sounded more ominously in German ears than anything they have been forced to listen to in a long time. They are accepting it to mean that whatever King Edward may have promised his imperial nephew at Sandringham, he will never go to the length of costing England any sacrifice of friendship on the part of the United States.

Within the last few days the kaiser himself, by an unexpected eagerness for arbitration, has shown himself hard hit by this great truth. He seems now as anxious as the English are to preserve the friendship of the United States. The tide, as a matter of fact, has turned strongly, and the whole Venezuelan campaign is recognized throughout Germany to have been a colossal blunder.

Dispatches from Mentone and Rome give significant details concerning the fugitive Crown Princess Louise and Prof. Giron. While the couple were promenading the other day in the vicinity of Cap Martin they encountered Countess Lonvay. The countess recognized the princess, halted when close to her, hesitated and then turned on her heel and walked rapidly in the opposite direction.

The princess laughed, Giron joining in her mirth. On the arrival of the pair at Rome Giron went to Sepzia and rented a small suite of furnished rooms at a cost of $3 a week. Giron said the princess intended using the apartments.

The princess' departure to Mentone being without consultation with the court, will entail serious consequences, as Giron pledged his word to live apart from her pending the divorce trial. The princess' action has rendered compromises with the three courts she is connected with impossible. Her application for postponement of the trial in Dyssden is refused.

The proceedings will be in camera. Only the final judgment will be published, with the announcement of the decision of the royal court. Afterward Dresden will issue an authoritative history, making public all the facts.

In the midst of more serious matters, Berlin is laughing over a mixture of comedy and tragedy, in which an estimable spinster and her cat figure as principals. The spinster is Miss Amalie Schmitt. She has a comfortable home and an equally comfortable income. All her affections were centered on pussy, but with base ingratitude the cat went out gallivanting, presumably with the common or garden cats of the neighborhood, the other day, leaving its loving mistress forlorn.

At the end of three days Miss Schmitt, being convinced that pussy would not return, attempted suicide by hanging. Her act was discovered and she was cut down just in time to save her life and to welcome home the feline prodigal, who chose this dramatic moment for his return. Miss Schmitt has tearfully promised the authorities not to worry if her pet takes an occasional day and night off in the future, being informed that even the most loving husbands assert similar rights now and then.

FRIENDLY AGAIN WITH KING EDWARD

DUKE AND DUCHESS OF ORLEANS ENJOY THE FAVOR OF ENGLISH MONARCH

BY PAUL LAMBETH. Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst. LONDON, Feb. 2.—(Special cable to The Fort Worth Telegram.)—The duke and duchess of Orleans are once more in the graces of the English royal family.

After an absence of five years they have returned to England and are occupying their huge country house in Worcestershire.

It is said the duke, who is a tall, gangling, unhealthful looking man, of sallow complexion, had been rather outspoken in criticizing the royal family of England and its ways, hence the social boycott against him during the past few years.

Now that he has been restored to the graces of the king he expects to entertain lavishly.

Lord Anglesey, whose private chapel in Anglesey castle has been transformed into a theater in order that the noble lord may disport himself on the boards as a skirt dancer, has been so pleased with his success that he is "going on the road" with his theatrical troupe.

Lord Anglesey is enormously rich and has family jewels of fabulous value.

Lady Anglesey long ago got tired of her noble spouse's antics and her ladyship always contrives to remain at a good distance from her skirt-dancing hubby.

The tenants of the Anglesey estates like Lord Anglesey, for his lordship doesn't charge an admission fee to his theatrical performances in the castle, the audience always being composed of "deadheads."

At present Anglesey is the only member of the house of lords who could earn his living as a ballet dancer, but there have been others.

Lord Dalmeny, who is the earl of Rosebery's eldest son, has just come of age, and the tenants of Lord Rosebery's Scottish estates and the people of Edinburgh gave the youth a coming-of-age reception that lasted a week.

Lord Dalmeny is a good-looking youth who promises to resemble his father physically.

Lord Rosebery, who married a Rothschild, is one of the richest peers of England, and so Lord Dalmeny will have a huge inheritance some day.

It is, therefore, a very valuable "catch" matrimonially.

It is already reported that he is in love with Lady Marjorie Greville, the beautiful daughter of the beautiful Countess of Warwick.

When Lord Rosebery's eldest daughter, Lady Sibyl Primrose, married gossips in London society said that he had settled an income of $200,000 a year upon her.

It is now intimated that Lord Rosebery makes her an allowance of $10,000 a year, for Lord Rosebery, despite his wealth, thinks that quite sufficient to start a young couple off in life.

Lord Rosebery is a liberal in politics and the "man behind the gun" in the liberal party. He is the most cultured member of the house of lords and a charming writer upon many topics.

Scandal has never sullied his name and he is the most popular member of his party. Lord Rosebery is accused of being too lazy to accept the leadership of his party, but whatever the reason it is quite apparent that he shuns the work of leadership.

Wherefore, the party, despite the incapacity and blundering of the present government, seems years removed from being returned to political power.

Lady Henry Gordon-Lennox, who is well-known to fashionable people in many American cities, is recovering from a serious illness.

In her youth she was considered to be the most beautiful woman in England. She is the widow of the brother of the duke of Richmond.

She is enormously wealthy and entertains lavishly. She is fond of Americans and in the season one always finds a group of noted New Yorkers, Bostonians, Chicagoans, Philadelphians or Washingtonians at her dinners and dances.

She has entertained nearly all the royalties of Europe, and her jewels are worth a king's ransom.

Her maiden name was Smith, which isn't quite as aristocratic in tone as her present hyphenated name.

ACT OF HEROISM BY A FRENCH GIRL

SELF SACRIFICE WORTHY OF ANTIQUITY OR THE REIGN OF TERROR IN 1793

BY MAX O'RELL. Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst. PARIS, Feb. 2.—(Special Cable to The Fort Worth Telegram.)—A French girl has just performed an act of heroism which, I think, ought to be trumpeted to the four corners of the world, an act of heroism worthy of antiquity and only equaled by those of some women during the Reign of Terror, in the revolution of 1793.

This young girl is called Marie Mailard.

She has a young and very pretty sister who, through a fall, had one ear so fearfully lacerated that its amputation was declared immediately necessary, and the pretty girl was inconsolable at the idea of being thus fearfully disfigured for life.

Then it was that Marie, our heroine, intervened.

Her ears were absolutely of the small size and shape as those of her sister.

She was lame and infirm, with a face not prepossessing, and she immediately took the resolution to make a present of one of her own ears to her sister.

And as she knew her sister would not accept from her such an act of self-abnegation, she bade the surgeons to put them both to sleep under ether and to perform the two operations at the same time.

Both were absolutely successful. The heads of the two sisters are still bandaged, and it is only a few days that one will realize the sacrifice that has been made by the other.

Now, I believe that a man would sacrifice his life to save a wife or a child, maybe, a father, a mother, a brother, or a sister; but I do not believe that man exists who would perform such an act of heroism to prevent the disfigurement of a fellow creature.

This is a woman's idea, a thorough woman's sacrifice; although I ought to add, in order to do justice to my sex, that I know a young doctor, who cut a piece of flesh off his arm with which to mend the face of a pretty girl, but then he loved her and she became his wife, which gave almost a little touch of selfishness to his act of heroism.

It is now ascertained that M. Giron has absolutely refused to undertake a lecture tour in America.

I regret it for the sake of my old friend and manager, Major James B. Pond.

If the Princess Royal had accompanied him on the platform it would have proved one of those special attractions that require managers to take with them everywhere a board with the inscription, "No standing room left."

NO SMOKING ALLOWED SAID THE COURT

And Chief of Police Rea Had Just Lighted a Havana

Jokes do not often invade court rooms, but one crept into the corporation court this morning. It was on Judge Stewart and Chief of Police Rea, and after adjournment they had a good laugh.

Judge Stewart recently issued an order against smoking in his court room, but Chief Rea had not heard of it when he walked into court this morning and took a seat.

He held a fresh unlighted Havana between his teeth when he came in, but that was not against the rule.

Just before adjournment, however, he lighted it and blew a fragrant ring or two into the air.

Judge Stewart did not see it, but Assistant Secretary Estes did and whispered, "There's smoking in the court room."

"Gentlemen, we allow no smoking in this court," said Judge Stewart without raising his eyes. A low titter of laughter greeted the announcement and as the judge looked up Chief Rea was just taking the cigar from his mouth.

"I beg your pardon," said the judge. "I beg yours," said the chief.

"I did not know it was you," said the judge. "I did not know about the order," said the chief.

Just then court was adjourned and court and officers had a good laugh at the joke.

Aged Citizen Fined

Jerry Crowley, for twenty years a resident of Fort Worth, was fined $3 and costs in corporation court this morning for vagrancy. He was arrested by Officers Temes and Holley in a saloon on Rusk street. Evidence was introduced that he acted as porter there, but Officer Holley swore that he had been a loafer, often drunk for months and was complained of yesterday. Crowley himself addressed the court.

"I am a hard working man," said he. "And Chief Rea has known me for many years."

The chief who was present, said he had known Crowley for twenty years. The aged defendant said he had always worked and was now serving as porter for his lodging and board and a little money from time to time.

Officers Turner and Logan substantiated Officer Holley's testimony that he had been a loafer for months, and the court assessed the fine at $5.

"I would have made it $10," said Judge Stewart, "if it were not for your age."

An appeal was taken on behalf of Crowley. Lee's Name Is Payne George Lee Payne, who gave his name in court Saturday as George Lee, was discharged by the court this morning, the charge against him having been vagrancy.

Rev. Nathaniel Reed, pastor of the Peach Street Methodist church, testified this morning that Payne was a member of his church and had told him he was an engineer.

Saturday in court Payne said his name was Lee and that he was a cook. He explained this morning that his name was George Lee Payne, but he had left off the name Payne because he did not want his fellow church members to know that he was in trouble.

Payne was arrested about 3 o'clock Friday morning near the Texas and Pacific station.

Samuel Shrewder, another witness, said that Payne had worked in his restaurant and that he had never known him to drink or gamble. His chief fault seemed to be telling flowery stories, Mr. Shrewder said.

Rev. Reed said he had brought a church letter from Temple, Tex., and often attended church services and prayer meeting.

Judge Stewart dismissed the case, warning Payne not to be on the streets again in the small hours of the morning.

ELOQUENT LECTURE TO CONFEDERATES

REV. MR. ARMSTRONG ADDRESSES THE WAR VETERANS

He Refers to Heroes and Heroines of the Great Conflict and Draws Graphic Pictures of the Great Battles. Tributes to Jackson and Lee—Proceedings at Meeting of Camp

One of the largest meetings which Robert E. Lee camp, United Confederate Veterans, has held this year took place yesterday at the courthouse. After a short business session the meeting adjourned and the old soldiers went to the Christian Tabernacle, where Rev. R. C. Armstrong lectured to them on "Heroes and Heroines of the Confederacy."

Among the visitors present were Colonel and Mrs. Cummings of Bowie camp, Mrs. Folk and Miss Madoro Cheatham of Nashville, Tenn., the latter a daughter of General Frank Cheatham of Mexican war fame, who later distinguished himself in the Confederate army.

A favorable report was made and adopted on the application of Mrs. Frank Brady as an honorary member of the camp. The committee composed of C. C. Cummings, M. J. Pankey and E. P. Lingenfelter, recently appointed to draft suitable resolutions on the death of Comrade William M. West, which occurred Dec. 19 near Handley, reported that he was a member of the Nineteenth Texas cavalry during the war. Memorials were also adopted on the demise of Comrade Eugene Farmer and Comrade James Carlin, who had lived in Tarrant county since 1862. These were drawn by a committee composed of J. C. Terrell, Dan Parker and J. C. Richardson.

Several historic incidents were read and commented upon by Historian C. C. Cummings and Adjutant W. M. McConnell read a communication from W. G. Wood, Harold Garnett and F. P. J. Myers regarding a bill which has been presented to the state legislature, calling upon that body to pass a law providing for the payment of $120 annually in quarterly sums to every Confederate Veteran of the state not an inmate of the Confederate home at Austin. This was ordered filed.

A communication from General Gordon was read, conveying information that it is desired to provide additional funds with which to defray the expense of maintaining the national organization. It was suggested that all major generals should pay $5, brigadier generals $3 and members of staffs $2.50. This was referred to the finance committee.

Opinions were varied on the request from the Daughters of the Confederacy that the camp assist in raising a fund of $1,000 to be used in the erection of a monument to Captain William Donovan. Comrade Duke Goodman expressed himself as favorable to the proposition, but several others voiced their disapproval, on the ground that the camp should devote its energies to caring for the living Confederate Veterans instead of erecting monuments to the dead. Action on the matter was deferred and the camp attended Rev. Mr. Armstrong's lecture in a body.

During his discourse Rev. Mr. Armstrong referred to the tender memories which clustered about the old southern plantation home and told of the gradual formation of the war cloud which led up to four years of strife. He compared the Confederate soldiers to the Spartans of old and the fortitude shown by their wives, sisters and sweethearts to the heroism of Spartan women. The speaker described graphically the incidents leading up to the war and paid eloquent tributes to Dudley W. Jones, colonel of the Ninth Texas; to General Hood and to General T. J. (Stonewall) Jackson, referring to the latter as the greatest military genius the world had ever known.

Incidentally the speaker drew graphic portrayals of several great battles of the war and he referred to the moral worth and grandeur of General Robert E. Lee, who he characterized as a man that must stand almost peerless on the pages of history. In closing he declared that all sectional bitterness had long ago been cast aside and that in God's army there was no north or no south.

GENERAL ORDER FOR CONFEDERATE REUNION

From the headquarters of the United Confederate Veterans at New Orleans a general order has been sent out, formally announcing the date of the thirteenth annual reunion, to be held in that city May 19 to 22, inclusive. General Gordon and Adjutant William E. Mickle announce that 1,490 camps have joined the association and express the hope that many more will file applications before the reunion. References are made to the enduring historic associations of the Crescent city and it is announced that the Confederate Southern Memorial Association will hold its fourth annual convention in New Orleans on the same dates.

Importance of Discipline General Gordon and Adjutant Mickle have sent out a letter urging the importance of discipline among the camps and emphasizing the necessity for adhering to all provisions of the constitution and by-laws relative to the election of officers. Division reunions are also highly commended as a means of keeping alive patriotism for the cause and the camps are urged to direct their influence toward obtaining only such school books and histories as will tell the truth and do justice to the southern side during the war.

Will Travel in South America

MRS. B. B. MCGREGOR. Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst. Millionaire Albert C. Bostwick, the automobile enthusiast, started last Thursday with his family and a party of friends on a pleasure trip to South America, partly by rail and partly by water. In his party are Mrs. Bostwick and their two boys, Mrs. B. B. McGregor, Mr. J. Dunbar Wright and a physician. They went to Florida by rail and there will take the yacht Sultana for a cruise through the West Indies and a voyage up the Amazon. The return cruise will be along the coast and will include tarpon fishing at Boco Grande Pass. The cruise will last for nearly three months. Mr. Wright will then join a new party for a voyage to Alaska.

DEATHS

THE Daughter's Health.

"All honor to woman! to her it is given To garden the earth with the roses of Heaven."

Your daughter is the brightest ornament of your home; see to it that she is kept in the best possible health, that she may attain the highest development and perfection of womanhood. Bear in mind that a weak and frail girl, if continued, leads to an incomplete and unsatisfactory woman-life. So much of woman's happiness and usefulness depends upon womanly health—structural and functional perfection of the parts especially concerned in maternity, that it is imperative that you should secure generations yet unborn, to neglect any departure from womanly perfection. Small ailments should be treated before they become big ones; do not allow little ills to develop into real diseases.

"My daughter suffered with nervous spells, beating down pains and backache during her monthly periods. G. F. P. cured her. It is the best remedy I ever saw for young girls."—Mrs. Mary E. House, Health, Ala.

G. F. P.—Gerstle's Female Panacea, cures irregular, scanty, too profuse and painful monthly periods; vertigo and giddiness; faintness; ulcers, displacements and falling of the womb; whites and all unusual discharges; frigidity, barrenness and all impediments to private organs of women. At all stages of men- struation, from budding womanhood until after the changes that end general womanly functions, it is the best friend of and remedy for womanhood. Its use strengthens all womanly organs, regulates and renders natural all sexual functions. It is sold at drug stores for $1.00 a bottle. Buy it, try it, and you will find these statements are true, for it is reliable and will not disappoint.

All letters who are not perfectly right and well in a womanly way should write to the Ladies' Health Co., 114 E. 5th St., Dallas, Texas, for free medical advice and instruction.
