MEXICO CLAIMS THERE IS LITTLE FEVER THERE

EL PASO, Texas, March 3.—The minister of interior of Mexico writes that there is no plague anywhere in the republic except at Mazatlan, Mo., this is diminishing there. The Torreon board of health writes that there is not even a suspicion of a case in the entire state of Durango.

REV. JAS. S. MYERS CALLED TO SEDALIA

Rev. James S. Myers, pastor of the Tabernacle Christian church, received a telegram from Sedalia, Mo., this afternoon, telling him of the death there and member of his congregation. He left for Sedalia Friday. Rev. Myers will leave the city early Thursday morning, but will return to Fort Worth in time to occupy his pulpit at the Tabernacle Sunday morning and evening.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION IN 1905

DELEGATES TO IT WILL BE ELECTED IN MARCH—LAW TO PREVENT LAND RUSH

AUSTIN, Texas, March 4.—The house spent the entire morning session considering the resolution providing for a constitutional convention. An amendment was adopted providing that the delegates to the convention be elected in March and the convention be held in May, 1905.

Mr. Harris of Galveston spoke in favor of the proposition. Mr. Robertson of Bell opposed it, as did Mr. Smith of Denton. Mr. Cobb of San Antonio favored it.

In the senate Mr. Hicks secured the adoption of a resolution authorizing the land commissioner to withhold from sale all school lands until a law can be passed to prevent the rush for such lands in the counties where they are located.

The senate spent much time considering the Hills bill to validate titles to certain lands in West Texas. No action was taken.

HOME FOR COLORED ORPHANS

A bill has been introduced in the house by Representatives Wood and fourteen other members providing an appropriation of $25,000 to build and maintain a state orphan's home strictly for colored children in Texas. This is the first measure aimed directly for the good of the colored race this session.

RUSH FOR SCHOOL LANDS

The adjutant general's department knows nothing of the report that soldiers had been sent or would be sent to West Texas to keep order from the rush now going on by people anxious to file claims on school lands which are soon to be thrown on the market.

Senator Decker of Hardeman county, which is in the Panhandle, and in the section where the land in question is located, said yesterday that he had received letters from that part of the country to the effect that the situation was acute, but thus far there has been no bloodshed. The scene of the trouble is, he says, situated in Martin and Lubbock counties. He declared that he has been advised that there had been several pistol plays by contestants for places of vantage to file their claims with the county clerk. The method now in vogue is to have a long "cuttle" leading up to the county clerk's office, and the applicants are lined up and the trouble arises in one dispossessing the other of his place.

To stop this confusion a resolution has been adopted in the house which instructs the land commissioner to withdraw these lands from the market until a law can be passed to change the methods of filing applications. The resolution will come up for action tomorrow in the senate, and if adopted it will have the desired effect.

DICK KELLY FALLS HEIR TO A BIG ENGLISH ESTATE

KANSAS CITY, March 4.—A former member of the scrubbing force of the Midland hotel is reported to be heir to an English estate valued at more than $150,000. His name is Dick Kelly, and seven years ago he was on the hotel's payroll as a porter. His home in this country was in Fort Worth and, with that town as a supply base, it was his custom every year to seek work in a hotel during the busy western and southern cities and when last heard from was employed at the Piedmont hotel, Atlanta, Ga.

"Kelly is a quiet, unassuming fellow and is well known in this city," said A. J. Swanson, head porter of the Midland hotel today. "He was a 'remittance' man and he often received money from his folks in the old country. A lawyer has been trying to locate him for some time and I gave him the desired information. The legacy will not surprise Kelly, for he often said that if he lived long enough he would be able 'to live like a lord.'"

Dick Kelly is not known at any of the hotels in Fort Worth, though there might have been a man here by that name some years ago.

OBJECT OF ANTHONY HOPE'S VISIT IS A MYSTERY

NEW YORK, March 4.—Anthony Hope Hawkins, "Anthony Hope" as he is known in the Campana and was taken in charge by R. H. Russell, whose guest he now is at the latter's apartments, No. 532 Fifth avenue. From the safe seclusion of a private room Mr. Hawkins sent word to all inquisitive inquirers that he could then receive no one, but would be "at home" even to the interviewers, in Mr. Russell's apartments this morning. For what purpose Mr. Hawkins has remained America must for the present remain unexplained.

CURED WHEN OTHERS FAILED

MRS. FRANCES MITCHELL.

Secretary, North Chicago Frauen Verein, 1056 Winnemac Ave., Chicago, Ill. says

CHICAGO, ILL., 1056 Winnemac Avenue, Oct. 25, 1902.

Wine of Cardui can always be relied upon to cure when everything else fails. It is a certain cure for female diseases in their worst forms. I suffered for years with dysmenstruation. Intense pains in the womb and ovaries and dreadful headaches afflicted me for my work. Finally I grew so ill that I had to keep to my bed. The pains were so intense at times as to cause spasms and a disagreeable discharge drained my life force. In my extremity after all else had failed, I tried Wine of Cardui. After using it for two weeks I began to improve so rapidly that I felt encouraged to keep up the treatment, which I did for eighteen weeks, but at the end of that time I was entirely cured. What a relief was mine and how new and beautiful life looked to me when my health was restored. Only those who have passed through such a siege of sickness as I have will understand how much I value Wine of Cardui. It is indeed a boon to sick women.

Fully 1,500,000 afflicted American women have been cured of female diseases in the privacy of their homes by Wine of Cardui and everyone of them would give it the same praise Mrs. Mitchell gives.

Every weak woman needs Wine of Cardui. What better present could be taken to a suffering relative or friend than a bottle of this great medicine? That is the quickest and most satisfactory way to bring joy to the despondent sufferer in your home—to really make your loved ones happy. Can you read Mrs. Mitchell's letter without feeling your responsibility to the sufferers in your home? Wine of Cardui cures disordered and painful menstruation, periodical headaches, falling of the womb and leucorrhoea. It cures extreme cases of these troubles. It strengthens girls approaching womanhood, helps bring children to barren homes, makes pregnancy and childbirth easier, prevents miscarriages and is the best medicine ever made for use during the change of life. Why permit the good women in your home to suffer another day? Every druggist has $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

An Established Fact

Mohairs are classed this season as a style leading dress fabric. This is indeed a wise decision of the fashion dictators. Of all the serviceable dress materials made none outwear this popular fabric. The texture being soft, readily conforms to the prevailing clinging style of garments. For the unlined skirt mohairs take rank with the loosely woven materials.

The assortment shown here comprises a large variety of blacks in the various widths, plain, embossed and striped, white with colored figures, navy with white hair line stripes and floral designs, plain white and cream. Prices range from 50 cents to $1.50 per yard.

CASES IMPORTANT TO SHIPPERS ARE UP

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION TAKES ACTION ON CHARGES FROM WICHITA

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The interstate commerce commission today took up the cases brought by the mayor and city council of Wichita, Kas., against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, the Missouri Pacific and the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroads.

The cases involve the long and short haul on grain and grain products from Wichita to Galveston and New Orleans; coal transportation in carload from McAlester, I. T.; Minden, Mo., and Russellville, Ark., to Wichita; rates on sugar from Rocky Fort, and Sugar City, Colo., to Wichita; on lumber in carload lots from Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana to Wichita, and the relative rates on flour from Wichita and other Kansas and Missouri points to Texas points. The questions involved are of great importance to shippers throughout the west and southwest and the decisions of the commission are awaited with keen interest.

FRISCO WILL BE IN GALVESTON JAN 1

The Frisco's line to Galveston will be completed by Jan. 1, according to New York dispatches. The report recently that on account of the action of the city authorities President Yoakum had ordered work on the line stopped and a survey made toward Galveston does not mean that New Orleans will be abandoned.

The New York dispatch says: "The Frisco will finish a route to Galveston by Jan. 1 next. The work will be in charge of A. L. Phillips, chief assistant engineer. The abandonment of the New Orleans work does not mean that the Frisco has given up its design to enter that city. It has already spent a great deal of money in the preparatory work including the acquisition of ground for terminal yards and a $250,000 passenger station."

FORT WORTH, TEXAS, MARCH 4, 1935.

The ship subsidy bill has lost another of its nine lives. It only has to be killed five more times to be dead for good.

America will have to run along with no added stars in her flag for sometime. It doesn't look bad as it is.

Secretary Cortelyou thinks a $7,000,000 building would be about right for the new department of Commerce. He evidently isn't going to be cramped any for room if he can help it. His estimate won't have to be cut in two more than twice.

The assertion that the South is strongly in favor of Judge Parker's candidacy comes from New York. Judge Parker lives in New York. He evidently has some active and loyal friends there, too. As a matter of fact the South is not strongly in favor of anybody at present.

The new United States senate will not be much different from the old one. Of the thirty senators whose terms expire this week, seventeen have been or will be reelected. In eight states power has shifted from one party to another, and in five there has been a change in the individual representation but none in the party in power.

The reign of the "relative" in Texas official life is about at an end. And no one will be any happier because of it, no doubt, than the man who has had to make the appointments. Relations rarely make good subordinates. Neither is it wise to lend money to them, though that is advice entirely foreign to the subject. It is merely thrown in gratuitously.

There are evidences already that the candidacy of Judge Parker for the Democratic nomination for the presidency was sprung prematurely. The Judge is all right and might suit as well as anyone, but right now the people are in that state that they don't want to fix their minds securely on anybody. There's no hurry. Fifteen months must elapse before a choice is necessary. The horse that goes out in front early in the race is apt to tire before the end, and political aspirants are notably like horses in this respect.

The great national industrial exposition of Japan opened last week. That country has been preparing for this event for a year, and it is said to be a startling exemplification of the modern progressive spirit of the Japanese. In addition to the native products, there are exhibits from China, Europe and America. Japan is almost the wonder of the age. And her progress stands out all the more prominently because of its background of Chinese ignorance and criminality.

Pope Leo is one of the great men of his time. He would have been great at any time. Had he lived five hundred years ago he would have been a builder of great cathedrals and a patron of artists, as were his predecessors of that time. But living now his memory will be perpetuated in works less tangible though no less enduring. He will be remembered for the dignity and gentleness of his rule. Under him the lines of prejudice between the Catholic and Protestant sects have largely disappeared. Of course this is in part due to the growing tolerance and broadness of the minds of the people of the present, but under a less wise and charitable pope than Leo the lines separating the two great religious denominations of Christendom might now be where they were a quarter of a century ago. The whole world wishes the venerable Leo XIII a score more of years.

A Chicago paper urges that a law be passed requiring automobiles to be numbered plainly in order that they may be identified for their depredations. Not necessary in Fort Worth. It is known to everybody here as "the" automobile.

Senator Allison is now the oldest member of the upper house of congress in point of service. His career has been a distinguished one and is not yet over, though it is not likely that he will ever again be a great force in public life. He reached the apex of his career some years ago when his nomination for the presidency by the Republicans was a strong possibility. He was unfortunate at that time in being opposed by McKinley, whose popularity, because of the belief that his high tariff bill was the source of all prosperity, swept all the other candidates from the board. Since then Allison has been considered by the party merely for his wise counsel; and in this regard it is doubtful if he has now or ever did have any superiors among American politicians. Allison makes no breaks.

THE OYSTER INDUSTRY

W. Jack Bryan, writing in the Houston Post, states that there are 100,000 acres of natural oyster reefs along the coast of Texas and that besides these there are 1,000,000 acres of suitable bottom and water lands that by planting can be made as productive of this wholesome bivalve as the natural oyster beds. By the laws of the state the natural reefs can be fished on and used by any and every one. There are no restrictions, and the result is that some of the best beds have been almost destroyed.

The 1,000,000 "susceptible" acres, however, can be staked off and cultivated by paying to the fish and oyster commissioner a fee for surveying of $10 and to the state a yearly rental of 25 per cent per acre for the first five years and $1 per acre a year thereafter. Each individual is allowed to stake fifty acres or less, gather seed oysters for planting without culling them and his oyster farm is protected from trespass and depredation by the laws of the state.

Favorable localities vary in their productiveness, but the closest observation and experience have proved the following to be the very lowest estimates: Properly planted a fifty-acre farm will become permanent the third year after and produce yearly 300 barrels per acre, or 15,000 barrels of perfect oysters every year that will bring 50 cents a barrel net at the farm, giving a clear income of $7,500, with very rare exceptions for practically the rest of time.

This would seem to be about as good an occupation as one could get into in Texas at this time, even making no exception of the rice industry or any of the kinds of small farming that can be practiced most anywhere in the central and eastern parts of the state. And it has this in its favor, that not much capital is required.

It is merely another instance of the fact that Texas is preeminently the land for the poor man, who is ambitious and industrious.

WANTED

We would like to ask, through the columns of your paper, if there is any person who has used Green's August Flower for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Liver Troubles that has not been cured—and we also mean their results, such as sour stomach, fermentation of food, habitual costiveness, nervous dyspepsia, headaches, despondent feelings, sleeplessness—in fact, any trouble connected with the stomach or liver? This medicine has been sold for many years in all civilized countries, and we wish to correspond with you and send you one of our books free of cost. If you never tried August Flower, try a 25-cent bottle first. We have never known of its failing. If so, something more serious is the matter with you. The 25-cent size has just been introduced this year. Regular size 75 cents. G. G. GREEN, Woodbury, N. J.

British Cruiser a Record Breaker

The new armored cruiser recently built for the British government is a record breaker, having developed the fastest speed of any vessel in their navy. In medicine, however, we have the record breaker in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Introduced over fifty years ago it has forged ahead until today finds it occupying the foremost position as a family remedy, and is used largely to the exclusion of all others. Don't fail to try a bottle, especially if you are weak and run down or suffer from poor appetite, heartburn, belching, nausea, headache, indigestion, dyspepsia or constipation. It cannot help but do you good, and if taken regularly will surely restore you to perfect health. The genuine must have our Private Stamp over the neck of the bottle. Refuse all imitations.

AMONG EXCHANGES

If Hon. L. S. Schluter expects to run for attorney general to succeed Bell he had best get a move on himself better than he did for speaker two months ago or he will again land outside the breast-works. In fact, he doesn't seem to be a great runner.—Hill County Herald.

The mammoth packing-houses at Fort Worth will be opened March 6 for the transaction of business. The governor and all the high-muck-a-mucks of the state, including the advocate and staff, are cordially invited to be present and add eclat to the occasion. A thunderin' big time is laid off, and we much regret that we can't be there with a dollar and bucket of carmine to assist in adding the finishing touches to Pantherville.—Western Advocate.

Some enterprising and intelligent negroes in Dallas have raised funds and built a cotton mill. Engaging in such enterprises is far better for the negro than fooling with politics. By trying to do something for themselves they will win the respect and confidence of the whites. The example the Dallas negroes have set by building a cotton mill might be emulated by white people in other cities. There is no cotton mill in Paris.—Paris News.

Two important measures that are before the present Texas legislature are likely to be, downed by the men from the forks of the creek. These are the constitutional amendment matter and the appropriation for the exhibit at St. Louis.—San Antonio Light.

We are in the center of the great fruit belt. The fact was not known six years ago, when within a radius of twenty-five miles of Mineola there were only five car loads of fruit shipped. The same section last year shipped over 700 cars. People in East Texas have just come to realize that this is the land Moses referred to.—Mineola Argus.

The egg and chicken business has passed the day of small things and side issues. Milk and butter, eggs and chickens were not many years ago considered the work of the farmers' wives and daughters to provide pin money. But it has passed to the stage of meeting the grocery bills, then the store bills generally, and now men have taken hold of it as the most profitable part of the farm in many localities. It does not require the greatest number of acres now to make a profitable farm.—McKinney Gazette.

Representative Nowlin has introduced a bill to pay members of the legislature a thousand dollars a year. There is no doubt that the representatives need it. But the people are slow to respond to such appeals. The duties of a representative are trying and his labors are very severe. He ought to be better paid. But he proposes to hold biennial sessions or is credited with so desiring. That is just what we have now. It is more likely that he is after two sessions

SENATOR HOAR'S CHICAGO SPEECH ON THE SOUTH

Washington Post: A portion of Senator Hoar's speech the other day before the Union League Club of Chicago that was overlooked in the telegraphic report East touches in an interesting fashion on race conditions in the South. Coming from a Massachusetts man highly honored by the country, the following words have unusual significance: I know how sensitive our Southern friends are on this matter of social equality and companionship, and I think I might say fairly and properly—and that perhaps I have a right to say it—that it is not wise for the people of the North to undertake to deal rashly or even to judge hastily of a feeling so deeply implanted in their bosoms. Time, the great reconciler, will reconcile them to that if in the nature of man they ought to be reconciled to it. And if in the nature of things and in the nature of man time does not reconcile them, it will be a sign that they ought not to be reconciled to it; and that some other mode of life for them must be devised. Now, my friends, having said what I thought to say on this question, perhaps I may be indulged in adding that, although my life politically and personally has been a life of almost constant strife with the leaders of the Southern people, yet as I grow older I have learned not only to respect and esteem, but to love the great qualities which belong to my fellow citizens of the Southern states. They are a noble race. We may well take pattern from them in some of the great virtues which make up the strength as they make up the glories of the free states. Their love of home, their chivalrous respect for women; their courage; their delicate sense of honor; their constancy, which can abide by an opinion or a purpose or an interest for their states through adversity and through prosperity, through the years and through the generations, are things by which the people of the more merciful North may take a lesson. And there is another thing—covetousness, corruption, the low temptation of money has not found any place in our Southern politics. Now, my friends, we cannot afford to live, we don't wish to live, and we do not live, in a state of estrangement from a people who possess these qualities. They are friends of ours; born of a burning; flesh of our flesh; blood of our blood, and whatever may be the temporary error of any Southern state, I, for one, if I have a right to speak for Massachusetts, say to her: "Entreat me not to leave thee. For where thou goest I will go, and where thou starest I will stay also. And thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God."

Read and Learn How You May Procure It

The question of why one man succeeds and another fails, is a problem that has puzzled philosophers for centuries. One man attains riches and position, while his neighbor who started with seemingly the same, and better opportunities, exists in poverty and obscurity. No man can win success who is suffering from an irritating and nerve racking disease and the man who has the qualities of success within him, would be quick to recognize this fact and seize the best remedy to eradicate the trouble.

A person afflicted with a serious case of hemorrhoids or piles is handicapped in the race for power and advancement. It is impossible to concentrate the mental energies when this dreadful trouble is sapping the vital forces. To show how easily this success destroying trouble can be overcome, we publish the following letter from a prominent Indiana man.

"When I received the former letter and booklet on 'Piles, Their Nature, Cause and Cure' I was in a critical condition. Ulcers to the number of seven had formed on the inside of the rectum, culminating in a large tumor on the outside resembling fistula. I suffered the most excruciating pain, could get no rest day or night. After reading the booklet I sent to my druggist, but he happened to be out of Pyramid Pile Cure just at that time. However, I obtained a part of a box from my brother-in-law and began their use. Five pyramids completely cured me. I procured a box later, but have had no occasion to use them. I have been permanent before writing you of its success. I believe Pyramid Pile Cure to be the greatest and best pile cure on the market, and ask you to please accept of my grateful thanks for this invaluable remedy. I take great pleasure in recommending its use to any sufferer along this line. You may use my name if you wish for reference to any one afflicted with this disease." J. O. Littell, Arthur, Ind.

You can obtain a free sample of this wonderful remedy, also the booklet described above by writing your name and address plainly on a postal card and mailing it to the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich.

CONCERNING THE STATE OF MAUD ADAMS' FINANCES

Hilliary Bell, in New York Press: In sailing for Europe next month Maude Adams carries off $300,000 of her manager's money. Not that the goods can be found on her, as our official Dogsberrys say, for of all the prominent actresses in America Miss Adams is the least wealthy. However, the fact that she has not been able to perform in the theater this season makes her employer poorer by so much money. Our little airmen was a golden star. She shone brightly among the theatrical planets and her orbit included every part of the country. The effete East, staid New England, the emotional South and the bustling West united in approving this daughter of Utah. Men and women liked her equally, and no character that she ever essayed failed wholly in pleasing audiences. The year that now is closing without her art has robbed playgoers of their enjoyment, actors of their employment, the various box offices of receipts amounting probably to $500,000. Half of that sum would have been profit to the management. Miss Adams herself has lost money, for a theater cannot afford to pay full salary to an actress continuously on the sick list. During the last three or four years Lady Babbie's income has been $500 a week, but before she made a hit in John Drew's company Miss Adams experienced many vicissitudes, and for five and twenty years she had hard work to make both ends meet. She possesses an estate that is probably worth not more than $20,000.

DAILY SHORT STORY

THE LADYBIRD BY GRETE HAHN.

(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst, Great Britain Rights Reserved.)

It was all so absurdly trivial. In fact, she had almost forgotten that it was about. They had quarreled before, lots of times and over more serious matters, but they had always made it up again directly afterward until now. Now she came to think of it, it was always she who had begun the quarrel and he who had begun the making up. And quite right, too, she said to herself. When he proposed to her he had told her that he worshipped her, that he was her slave till death, that for her sake he was ready to go through fire and water. She had only to command, and he would obey. Very well, then; she had taken him at his word. She had commanded and he had obeyed—until now.

She had never asked him to go through fire and water for her. No, she was much too reasonable for that. She had never demanded the impossible. The things she had expected him to do were all quite simple and easy. "I wouldn't order George, about quite so much, if I were you, Kate," her sister had said to her the other day. "What do you mean?" she asked in amazement. "Well, I don't exactly know how to explain it," said Em. "You know you're quite a pleasant, easy-going sort of person, generally speaking, but with George you're a perfect tyrant. I sometimes wonder why he puts up with you."

"You don't understand," returned Kate, loftily. "When a man is in love with his wife it is the greatest pleasure and privilege in the world for him to do her bidding." "Even if it makes him look like a fool?" asked Em, whereupon Kate preserved a dignified silence. Of course, Em had never been married, never been engaged even, and consequently knew nothing about the feelings of people in love. Yet somehow, those words of Em's rankled.

She thought of them now, as she stole into the garden, where George had taken refuge after dinner. She knew where she would find him. He was sitting in his favorite place, under the old apple tree at the back of the lawn, unconscious of her presence. Noiselessly she stole up behind him, and stood watching him, as he moodily puffed at his pipe.

A ladybird had dropped from some overhanging bough, and was crawling slowly up his back, in the direction of his collar. Had she really made George look a fool? And did he mind looking a fool—for her sake? Surely the ideal, the perfect husband should shrink from nothing, not even ridicule, incurred in his wife's service. And yet—and yet—no man likes to be made to look a fool. It isn't in human nature.

Thoughtfully she stared at the ladybird, as it made its slow, laborious journey across George's light coat. After all, perhaps she had expected him to do a little too much fetching and carrying, and all that sort of thing.

Of course, man should wait on woman. That was perfectly right and proper, but—there are limits to everything. Was George beginning to recognize this? Was that the reason why he had not been as ready as usual to patch up their last little quarrel?

Now she came to think of it, she remembered how the squabble had originated. She had commissioned him to get a certain back number of an illustrated paper that contained a portrait which she admired. The offices of the paper were in Fleet street, and George had an office in the neighborhood, so that it would have been the easiest thing in the world for him to get that paper. But no, he had simply forgotten all about it. He had had a busy, busy day, he said. He was awfully sorry, and he would be sure to remember tomorrow.

Now, she had particularly wanted the paper that very day, but what upset her most was not so much the want of the paper, as the fact that he should have forgotten to fulfill a wish of hers. His business worries had for the time obliterated the remembrance of her! That thought was unendurable. She had told him so, and that is how the squabble had begun.

The ladybird had by this time reached the rim of George's coat collar. Well, certainly he had been looking rather worried lately. Perhaps it was a little unfair to expect him to devote his entire thoughts to her and her wishes. She began to remember a hundred petty tyrannies which she had exercised and to which he had submitted patiently. Harmless little tyrannies, most of them, but quite unnecessary, too—tyrannies she had practiced simply because she loved to see him at her feet.

She remembered reading somewhere once that the true secret of married happiness was the principle of "give and take." The woman as well as the man must be prepared to give and take. Up to the present he had done all the giving, she all the taking.

How blind, how selfish, she had been! She saw it all now. Why, why should the man be always on his knees to the woman? Why should she be the queen and he the slave? She had never questioned her right until now and she could find no reasonable title to the claim. Surely the woman who loves her husband should be as ready to serve as to be served. There could be no question of commanding or obeying on either side.

The ladybird was balancing itself in a reckless manner on the edge of George's white collar. If he moved his head ever so slightly the tiny thing would inevitably be crushed. In the midst of her remorse she was seized with a sudden solicitude for the ladybird.

Stepping up behind George, she flicked it lightly and dextrously from his collar. He felt the gentle touch and turned his head in surprise. The next moment a pair of soft arms were flung about his neck, a hot cheek laid caressingly against his own.

"George, I want to make it up," she whispered, "and—and there's such a lot I want to say to you."

When she had said it, with her pretty head very close to his, he turned to her with a glad smile.

"I'm the proudest, happiest man in the world today," he said. "I didn't realize until this moment what a sensible little woman I had married. Don't think deserted," he added, hastily, "that I ever regretted the vows I made to you when I asked you to be my wife. There is nothing I wouldn't willingly do for you. It was only when I found that my love was in danger of spoiling you that I began to resent the—the—"

"The horrible tyrannies I practiced upon you," she interrupted quickly. "George, what a selfish little wretch I've been!"

Mr. Armour may have to ship us home in one of his cold storage cars, but we will have left our impress on that town.—Dawson Delinestor.

The Telegram's money jar is the talk of the town. Everybody is making estimates as to the amount of money in the jar. The person making the closest estimate to the contents will receive the entire amount. It costs nothing to make an estimate. Every subscriber to The Telegram has a chance to win this prize. The only condition is that every person making an estimate must pay up his subscription. And for every 12 cents paid on subscription an estimate blank is given. Pay $1 in advance and make twelve estimates. Pay $2 in advance and make twenty-six estimates. Pay $4 in advance and you will be allowed to make sixty estimates. Pay for a year in advance and receive 100 estimate blanks. Surely you could get close to the right amount on 100 estimates. The subscriber who pays a year in advance and gets 100 estimates loses nothing. He only gives The Telegram Company the use of the $4 without paying the interest on it. If you are a subscriber you would expect to pay for your paper anyway. Why not pay up in advance and take a 100-to-1 shot on the money jar?

BOARD OF TRADE SAYS PAY INTEREST

WANTS OPPOSITION TO THE CITY'S BONDHOLDERS STOPPED

Bonded Debt Thoroughly Discussed at Long Meeting Last Night and Prosperity of Fort Worth Urged as Reason Why Interest Should Be Paid Stop resistance to bondholders.

Use the money now in the city treasury to pay as much as possible of the interest now due on the bonds.

Make an arrangement with the bondholders for an extension of time on the unpaid balance, and the refunding of the 6 and 7 per cent bonds now due and soon to mature and contain an option of redemption into 4 per cent bonds.

This is the program advised by the Fort Worth Board of Trade for disposing of the city's bonded indebtedness. The matter was thoroughly discussed at a meeting last night, which lasted until 11 o'clock and resolutions were adopted.

SHOULD CONCILIATE

The opinion of the majority of those who spoke was that the bondholders had not been properly approached, and for that reason were in a fighting frame of mind. According to Captain B. E. Paddock negotiations with them had been started by "throwing a brick." The "brick" in the case was a resolution of the city council declaring that the city would pay no more interest at a higher rate than 4 per cent.

CITY OFFICERS THERE

Mayor Powell, City Attorney Orrick and Councilman Henderson of the finance committee of the council were present and made talks on the bond question. They defended the city's course, but did not agree altogether on the way out of the present difficulty.

Mayor Powell urged that the city be let alone as it is, and that in another year it would be able to pay its interest and get out of its trouble. Fighting off the bondholders in the federal court was the main business now, he said, and preventing a tax levy to pay the interest on the bonds. The mayor urged that the city government owed something to the citizens as well as to the bondholders, and that this debt he considered more important than the interest on the bonds.

By paying the citizens what was due them, he said, the city improved itself and increased its valuations, thus making it possible to pay the bondholders in full. He denied absolutely that he had any thought of repudiation, but only wanted time.

HENDERSON'S VIEWS

Councilman Henderson, who is a member of the finance committee of the council, proposed to pay the interest that is now due on the bonds, amounting to $165,000, by raising the tax levy from $1.75 to $2. Then he was sure the bondholders could be induced to take 4 per cent bonds for the 5 per cent, 6 per cent and 7 per cent bonds outstanding, and thus the city would be out of its difficulty.

COMMITTEE AGREED

Mr. Henderson said the committee had virtually agreed on its program and assured the meeting that, although he could not explain the arrangement, the committee had virtually reached a solution of the problem which would be satisfactory to the bondholders as well as to the city.

TAX-LEVYING POWER

City Attorney Orrick said he had acted merely as the attorney of the city in drawing up a charter according to instructions. The main feature of the document, he said, had been a clause which gave the legislature sole power to levy taxes for Fort Worth, the object of this being to prevent the federal court, on behalf of the bondholders, from compelling the council to levy a tax to pay interest and sinking fund.

The city officials who talked did so upon the invitation and request of members of the Board of Trade and of President Spencer. The other principal addresses were by President Spencer, Secretary Paddock of the board, Sam Davidson, Glen Walker, Paul Waples, Marion Sansom and A. J. Anderson. Every one present asked many questions.

President Spencer and Secretary Paddock both urged that the city had become prosperous and that conditions were different from what they were when an attempt was made to postpone payment of the debt, and that, therefore, the interest should be paid on the bonds and an arrangement made for paying up the debt as fast as possible.

Mayor Powell had read from the charter a clause which prevented the interest-paying fund now on hand, which amounts to more than $100,000, from being used except to pay interest on 4 per cent bonds.

Mr. Spencer and other members of the Board of Trade as well as Councilman Henderson urged that the legislature be asked to change this, so that the money could be devoted to paying interest now due on bonds which bear a higher rate of interest. A proposition to this effect was incorporated in the resolutions adopted.

Mayor Powell took a stand against changing the charter, declaring that at present in force an excellent document.

OPPOSE RESOLUTIONS

Marion Sansom opposed taking any stand on the bonded debt question at last night's meeting. He did not think the matter had been thoroughly studied by many persons present, and declared that for one he would not vote on any proposition until he was sure. He favored the appointment of a committee to investigate the question and report back.

The following resolutions were, however, adopted:

"Whereas, At a time when the assessed value of the city of Fort Worth, from causes beyond the control of the city, and owing to the financial panic which had fallen upon the entire country, had fallen to such an amount as made it impossible to meet the interest on its bonded

ASSAULT EXPENSIVE IN CORPORATION COURT

"Your honor, has there been evidence introduced to show that I struck this man?" said the defendant, with a melodramatic gesture.

"Nothing but his eye and the top of his head," said Judge Stewart, dryly. "I'm not disposed to show you much leniency."

The defendant was big and strong, while the complaining witness was at least 60 years old and apparently in feeble health. "I can't talk much, your honor," he said, "because my teeth hurt me so I can't eat. I've been spitting blood since 4 o'clock Sunday morning."

The prosecuting witness eye bore out the story that he had been hit. The difficulty occurred in a saloon which the defendant is charged with having cleaned out.

"I can swear you used brass knucks," said the prosecuting witness, when the question was put to him by the defendant, and then things began to look dark for the latter as the color of the prosecuting witness' eye.

"Twenty-five dollars and costs," said his honor when the testimony was all in.

indebtedness of the city; and

"Whereas, By reason of a default by the city in the payment of its interest, suits have been brought by the bondholders to collect said interest, and have obtained judgment against the city for a large sum of money; and

"Whereas, The city of Fort Worth is now enjoying an era of unexampled prosperity, and valuations are continually enhancing; therefore,

"Resolved, That in the judgment of the Fort Worth Board of Trade the city of Fort Worth should no longer contest the payment of its interest, but shall pay the same, as far as possible, with the funds in its possession, and arrange with its creditors for an extension of time on the unpaid balance of its interest, and the refunding of the 6 per cent and 7 per cent bonds now due, and soon to mature and contain an option of redemption into 4 per cent bonds.

"Resolved, That the charter of the city be so amended as to enable the city to carry out the spirit and intent of these resolutions."

A LAYMAN

Gave Doctor a Hint About Coffee
Speaking of coffee a doctor of Decaturville, Ohio, says: "We used to analyze coffee at the medical college and in spite of our laboratory tests which showed it to contain caffeine, an active poison, I continued to use the drink, and later on found myself affected with serious stomach trouble, indigestion, headaches, etc. The headaches came on so regularly and so often that I found it difficult to attend to my regular duties. One day last November I met a friend whom I had known to be similarly afflicted. His marked improvement in appearance caused me to enquire what he had been doing. He announced that he had, some time ago, quit coffee and was using Postum Food Coffee, and to this change he attributed the change in his health.

"I took the hint, even from a layman, and made the same change myself. The first week I noticed a little difference but not much. The third week the change oppressed me so that I have continued with the Postum and now my digestion is perfect, the nervous headaches have entirely disappeared, and I am well. My own analysis of the Postum Food Coffee shows it to be a pure food drink of strong character, which is a marked contrast to the old fashioned coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

SENATORS WILL BE GUESTS OF CITY

BOARD OF TRADE MAKES ARRANGEMENTS TO CARE FOR THEM

Will Attend Opening of Packing Houses. Good Roads Convention—Cattle Raisers' Committee—Cotton Mill Would Locate in Fort Worth

About forty members of the upper house of the legislature and a few members of the lower will come from Austin Friday to attend the opening of the packing houses in Fort Worth.

The Board of Trade took steps at its meeting last night to provide entertainment for the visitors and while here they will be the guests of the city.

The house of representatives accepted the invitation to attend the opening of the packing houses last week. The senate announced its acceptance yesterday.

M. J. Saunders, president of the New Orleans Progressive Union, will be the chief speaker at the opening of the houses, said Captain Paddock of the Board of Trade last night.

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION

A letter from the Dallas Commercial Club was read last night asking the Fort Worth Board of Trade to join in a call for a state good roads convention to be held in Dallas March 19 and 20, at which government experts will be present and discuss the best and most economical methods of road building.

On motion of Marion Sansom the invitation was accepted and the call for the convention will be issued in the name of the Dallas Commercial Club and the Fort Worth Board of Trade.

CATTLE RAISERS' COMMITTEE

Paul Waples made a report regarding the plans for inviting the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association to Fort Worth next year and as a result of the discussion which followed it was decided to name a large number of prominent stockmen who will attend the El Paso convention from Fort Worth next week to act as a committee to invite the association here. Mr. Waples will go as chairman of the committee.

COTTON MILL

Captain Paddock reported last night that he had received a proposition for the establishment of a $300,000 cotton mill here if Fort Worth would subscribe $100,000. No action on the proposition will be taken until the plan has been further investigated.

AMUSEMENTS

"OTHELLO"
The Moor, seizing a pillow full of rage and jealousy, smothered her, is the exciting version of the last act of "Othello," given in old school readers. It may be given in school readers yet.

If so, it is a pity half the school children did not see just what the sentence meant in Charles F. Herman's presentation of "Othello" at Greenwall's last night.

The lines of the original are closely followed so far as they are used in the dramatized version, and a reading of one of the many condensed stories of Shakespearean tragedies will supply the rest. Shakespearean productions, nowadays, are more nearly educating than entertaining, and as such ought to be seen by students of English at least, if not by those who prefer musical extravaganzas.

Mr. Herman possesses a voice Frederick Warde could well envy. His "Othello" is a faithful play and a man trained in war, with a soldier's honesty, his passion and his jealousy.

Francis McGinnis played Iago villainously well. Just so much could not be said for Harry O'Connor, who played the part of Cassio. John E. Hynes, as Rodrigo, has a pair of legs that may make a fortune for him in comedy some day. Garbed in white tights, the legs were a source of fascination to the audience. Hynes played his part largely by the aid of them, and impersonated his character well.

As a whole, the company is well balanced, carried harmoniously scenery and is faithful in its efforts. Fort Worth will probably not for many years get beyond the stage where its Shakespeare must be supplied by traveling companies. Of such, the one giving "Othello" last night and "Macbeth" tonight is one of the best extant. It is worth going to see.

AL H. WILSON

Al H. Wilson, the popular German comedian and golden-voiced singer, who is always a welcome visitor and who never fails to stir up special interest, comes to Greenwall's opera house Thursday, matinee and night, March 5, in his new romantic play, "A Prince of Tatters," by Sidney R. Ellis.

Mr. Wilson's magnetic personality and pleasing singing voice are the prime factors in his success. Having earned the confidence of the public by uniformly fine and consistent work he has an assured following in this city.

KATHRYN KIDDER

Kathryn Kidder is now being hailed by careful dramatic commentators as the Duse of America. This new distinction of this already famous player is an issue of her interpretation of the heroine in "An Eye for an Eye," the society play of the younger Dumas, in which Miss Kidder is now starring under the direction of Jules Murry. The role is that of a wronged wife driven to desperation by the sudden conviction that her husband does not love her. Reviewers pronounce Miss Kidder's impersonation an exquisitely subtle and powerfully impressive study of fine emotions. The play has not had presentation in this country prior to this season. In its original French form the heroine's character is regarded as a classic of feminine psychology analysis under given conditions. Miss Kidder is to offer the work here on Friday night, March 6, at Greenwall's opera house.

TOWN TALK IN DALLAS

Dallas Times-Herald: Colonel T. W. McCreery of Toledo, Ohio, is in the city. He enjoys the distinction of being the manager of the largest summer hotel in the world—the Hotel Victory at Put-In-Bay Island, Lake Erie. The island is a favorite summer resort for Texans and the colonel is widely known throughout the state on this account. He is on his way to Palm Beach, Fla., where Mrs. McCreery and daughter are spending the winter, but will visit Fort Worth, Waco, Austin, San Antonio, Houston and Galveston before going to Florida via New Orleans. Speaking of Dallas, he said: "The town is growing out of sight. This is my sixth annual visit and there are always surprises for me. The Wilson building would be a credit to New York or Chicago and the Lulz building is a model of its kind. Dallas is cosmopolitan in everything but its streets, and I am free to confess that they are decidedly the worst that I have ever seen. Before it is a model twentieth century city the people of Dallas will be compelled to spend thousands of dollars for street improvements. Toledo is growing faster than any town on the lakes. The Wabash railroad is making improvements that will cost in the neighborhood of $800,000. Its tracks are to be elevated; it will run through the heart of the city and has sent values out of sight. George Gould and his associates are making things hum in their fight for an outlet to the Atlantic ocean and they have wasted their opportunity. Texas is a wonderful state and Oriental, managed by Frank McHenry, is a splendid piece of property. The rapid growth of Dallas is certain to open the way for another hotel. The fact is, the time has already arrived. I am interested in Texas on account of my large acquaintance in the state and keep in close touch with what is going on. Texas friends will regret to learn that Howard Saxby, the veteran publisher of Saxby's Magazine, lost heavily in the Cincinnati fire last week. It will take $20,000 to replace the property owned by Saxby, which went up in smoke."

A Most Remarkable Remedy That Quickly Restores Lost Vigor to Men

A FREE TRIAL PACKAGE SENT BY MAIL TO ALL WHO WRITE

Free trial packages of a most remarkable remedy are being mailed to all who will write the State Medical Institute. They cured so many men who had battled for years against the mental and physical suffering of lost manhood that the Institute has decided to distribute free trial packages to all who write. It is a home treatment and all men who suffer with any form of sexual weakness, resulting from youthful folly, premature loss of strength and memory, weak back, varicocele, or emaciation of parts can now cure themselves at home.

"No Man is Lost—There is a Sure Cure for Every Weak Man."—Dr. Robinson.

The remedy has a peculiarly grateful effect of warmth and seems to act direct to the desired location, giving strength and development just where it is needed. It cures all the ills and troubles that come from years of misuse of the natural functions and has been an absolute success in all cases. A request to the State Medical Institute, 2742 Elektron Building, Ft. Wayne, Ind., stating that you desire one of their free trial packages will be complied with promptly. The Institute is desirous of reaching that great class of men who are unable to leave home to be treated and the free sample will enable them to see how easy it is to be cured of sexual weakness when the proper remedies are employed. The Institute makes no restrictions. Any man who writes will be sent a free sample, carefully sealed in a plain package so that its recipient need have no fear of embarrassment or publicity. Readers are requested to write without delay.

CONGRESSMEN PACK THEIR GRIPS AND GO HOMEWARD

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Following the final adjournment of the Fifty-seventh congress there was a general exodus today of the nation's lawmakers. While some few are to remain in the capital for the rest of the session the vast majority are departing for their homes, some leaving behind them forever the scene of their public career. When the next congress assembles new faces will be seen at both ends of the capitol and at the same time some of those who have been most familiar for two decades or longer will be missed.

Explorers at Abandoned Polar Station

DR. CHARCOT AND COMPANIONS

WABASH FIREMEN MUST NOT GO ON STRIKE

ELEVEN HUNDRED ARE ENJOINED FROM SO DOING BY JUDGE ADAMS OF ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, March 4.—An injunction granted by Judge Adams of the United States district court prevented the culmination yesterday of the threatened strike of the 1,100 firemen and trimmen of the Wabash railroad for higher wages. As the result of the poll during the last week among the employees over the question of striking in case President Ramsey ultimately refused to grant demanded wage concessions on the Wabash east of the Mississippi river, the engineers and conductors refused to participate in a strike, but the firemen and trimmen favored it emphatically. Their committees Monday notified President Ramsey that he would be given until noon yesterday to grant their demands. If by that time he still refused a strike would be immediately called.

Yesterday afternoon President Ramsey requested a little longer time and the two committees granted him until 5 o'clock to make a final reply. Before the allotted time had expired President Ramsey had secured a restraining order from the court and it had been served on all the officials of all the orders and members of the grievance committees. The injunction was a most sweeping instrument and effectually blocked any strike proceedings. In part it reads:

"We, therefore, do strictly command you, until the further order of the court, absolutely to desist and refrain from in any way or manner ordering, coercing, persuading, inducing or otherwise causing, directly or indirectly, the employees of the said Wabash Railway Company to strike or quit the service of said company." The injunction is temporary and the writs are not made returnable. The persons against whom the injunction is issued may appear in court at any time and present a plea to have the injunction dissolved, or if no one asks that it be dissolved, it may be made permanent. Meanwhile the grievance committees had prepared and submitted to President Ramsey a letter setting forth the increase concessions they desired. It was soon after the delivery of this letter to President Ramsey that the injunction was served. Shortly after 5 o'clock, two hours after the injunction proceedings, President Ramsey sent to the grievance committees his reply to their letter, practically rejecting all their demands. Before leaving his office to go home he said he did not believe a strike would be brought about.

The committees of firemen and trimmen met and talked over the situation last evening and then dispersed for the night. Grand Master Morrissey of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen said after the meeting:

AMERICAN DRESSMAKERS DECLARE WAR ON PARISIAN

NEW YORK, March 4.—American

dressmakers have declared war against their Parisian sisters of the same craft. The fighting plans are to be arranged in detail at a convention of 8,000 American dressmakers begun in this city today. The movement is under the auspices of the Dressmakers' Protective Association of America, of which Miss Elizabeth White of this city is president, and Miss Carrie Webber of Dallas, Texas, vice president. The membership comprises leading dressmakers in cities and towns throughout the country.

In order to prove that the American dressmaker is ready to take a stand with the Parisian there is being held in conjunction with the convention a competitive exhibition of American gowns shown side by side with some of the most exquisite creations of the Parisian modiste, one thousand dollars will be distributed among the prize winners. Among the most interesting of the many exhibits is the original Lily skirt, patented by the association. This garment marks a revolution in skirts, having a flounce shaped like a lily. It is claimed that this is the first skirt which relieves the limbs of the wearer of the weight of the garment without in any way interfering with its style or shape.

TROOPS IN THE FIELD AGAINST STRIKERS

DENVER, Col., March 4.—At the request of Sheriff Gilbert of El Paso county and the United States Reduction Company, operating at Colorado City, Governor Peabody at noon yesterday called out the state troops to proceed to Colorado City and protect the Reduction company's plant from strikers.

Bright's Disease

Is Positively Curable.

Interview with the pioneer manufacturer, N. W. Spaulding, president of the Spaulding Saw Company, San Francisco.

Q.—We are told a member of your family was cured of a case that the doctors pronounced Bright's Disease, although it is believed to be incurable? A.—That is correct. Q.—Don't you think the facts ought to be known? A.—Yes. If it will help anyone else you may say that a cure was effected. Q.—You say physicians had diagnosed the case as Bright's Disease? A.—Several had. They told us the condition was critical, when my brother, who had been helped by the Friton Compound, told us of it, and I got for it. Q.—Was it long before a change was noted? A.—A few weeks the improvement was marked. The sleep was better, and there was a gradual return to health, although it was a year before we considered the cure full & permanent. Q.—Know of any other cases? A.—Numbers of them. I'm sure I hold scores about it. Q.—Were there any failures? A.—I know of none where it was taken in season. Q.—Can you recall any individual cures? A.—Several. I told an English acquaintance about it. He began to mend and ultimately recovered, and took a supply of the Compound with him on his return to England. I consider it a cure for Bright's Disease when taken in time. It ought not to be permitted to die with its great discoverer, and I am glad to see business men are going to perpetuate it.

Medical works agree that Bright's Disease and Diabetes are incurable, but 87 per cent. are positively recovering under the Friton Compound. (Common forms of kidney complaint and rheumatism offer but short resistance.) Price, $1 for the Bright's Disease and $1.50 for the Diabetic Compound. John J. Friton, Co., 630 Montgomery St., San Francisco, sole compounders. Free tests made for patients. Descriptive pamphlet mailed free.

BAILEY'S SPEECH WAS CLEAR AND POINTED

LEAVES NO DOUBT AS TO WHERE HE STANDS ON THE ALDRICH BILL—DISPLEASES SOME

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Mr. Bailey. In his speech supporting the Aldrich bill did not please some of his fellow senators, but he made his position clear. He emphasized the fact that he was opposed to collecting taxes in excess of the requirements of the government, but he regarded the Aldrich bill a fiscal measure designed to avoid any peril to the commerce of the country because of the hoarding in the treasury of nearly $225,000,000. There has been much misunderstanding of the provisions of the Aldrich bill. It does not establish anything new or any principle which will give to national banks any power which they do not already possess. It provides merely that any treasury surplus, beyond what the working requirements of the government may be, may be deposited in national banks to draw interest at a rate of interest not less than 1 1/2 per cent. Such deposits must be secured by the borrowing banks and the bill specifies the class of securities which will be required for such deposits.

Already the United States has deposits in the banks throughout the United States aggregating some $150,000,000, which now draws no interest. Under the terms of the Aldrich bill the treasury would receive for the use of this money not less than $15,000,000 per annum, and the actual currency itself would be performing its functions as money in the channels of commerce.

There can be no doubt that the democratic theory is that money not needed for the ordinary expenses of the government should not be collected from the people, but it is a fact that it has been the practice of the treasury department from the beginning to the present to place federal funds in the hands of the banks when such a course was deemed necessary.

Dr. Furman, over Smallwood's drug store, opposite Hotel Worth.

Latest returns show that the securities held by the French government savings bank amount to 29,000,000 pounds. The famine bread upon which 70,000 persons in Northern Sweden are now subsisting is made from ground pine bark and Iceland moss.

LADY COOK CRIES OUT, "MY REPUTATION IS RUINED"

LONDON, March 4.—J. H. Wallace, formerly secretary of the late Sir Francis Cook, has obtained a verdict for $3,250 damages for libel against Lady Cook, better known as Tennessee Claffin of New York. The latter was charged with accusing Wallace of conspiracy to circulate rumors that Sir Francis died an unnatural death with the object of blackmailing her.

On hearing the verdict Lady Cook sprang from her seat and, waving a bundle of newspapers, shouted: "Lord Alverstone, I am an American and I want you to listen to me. This has cost me thousands of pounds, and I have trusted myself in the hands of an English judge and an English jury. I have witnesses from America. I can bring hundreds of witnesses. I want to go into the witness box myself."

Chief Judge Alverstone tried to stem the torrent of protest and asked Lady Cook to leave the court, but she continued to protest in loud tones until the lord chief justice directed the ushers to remove her.

When an usher laid his hand on her arm Lady Cook shouted: "Oh, don't put me out. I will walk out. I ought not to have trusted; but I am a weak woman. I have done more for England and America than anyone else."

The last words, heard as Lady Cook disappeared from the court, were: "My reputation is ruined."

A REMARKABLE CASE

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength."

CROWNINSHIELD IS GOING TO RETIRE FROM NAVY

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Two interesting and significant communications were received at the navy department from the European station. One was from Rear Admiral Crowninshield, commanding the European station, asking to be placed on the retired list of the navy under the provisions of the personnel law. The other was from Lieutenant Henry H. Ward, naval secretary to Admiral Crowninshield, resigning his commission in the navy.

Prompt action was taken by the secretary in regard to the case of Rear Admiral Crowninshield, and it was decided to relieve him from active duty at once. His application for retirement undoubtedly will be granted.

THE BOERS WILL LOOK AT LAND NEAR MONTEREY

MONTEREY, Mexico, March 4.—Word has been received here that General Snyman, who is at the head of a party of Boers who expect to establish colonies in Mexico, will arrive in Monterey about March 15. He will be accompanied by General Joubert, General Fouche and others who have accompanied him on a trip over the republic in search of suitable lands for the Boers they represent. The Boer leaders are now in Tamaulipas. No location has yet been decided on, and their visit to Monterey will be to confer with men who control property which has attracted their attention. A letter from the Boer general, Samuel Pearson, has removed all doubt regarding the establishment of homes in Mexico. In the letter, General Pearson stated that his party has invested $2,800,000 in Texas lands.

LEGAL NOTICE
ORDINANCE NO. 861
An ordinance regulating the speed and direction of horses, teams and street cars over bridges or approaches thereto in the city of Fort Worth.
Be it ordained by the City Council of the city of Fort Worth:
Section 1. That Section 436 of the revised ordinances of the city of Fort Worth be amended so that the same shall hereafter read as follows, to-wit:
It shall hereafter be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to drive or propel, or cause to be driven or propelled by any means whatever, any horse, team, vehicle or street car over any bridge or approach thereto in the city limits of the city of Fort Worth at a greater rate of speed than six miles per hour for such horse, vehicle or team, and seven miles an hour for such street car, and the word "bridge" is intended to and is hereby made to include the viaduct on Jennings avenue crossing the tracks of the Texas and Pacific Railway company. And it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to stop or cause to be stopped any horse, team, vehicle or street car upon any bridge as heretofore defined or the approach or approaches thereto within the city limits of the city of Fort Worth for a length of time exceeding one minute.
And it shall also be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to drive or cause to be driven any horse, team or vehicle over any bridge as heretofore defined or approach thereto in the city limits of the city of Fort Worth, except as follows to-wit: That such person, firm or corporation shall drive or cause to be driven said horse, team or vehicle on and along the right hand side of the bridge, that is, travelers going toward the south shall drive along the east side of the bridge.
Section 2. Any person violating the provisions in Section 1 of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not less than one dollar or more than ten dollars.
Section 3. All ordinances in conflict with this ordinance are hereby repealed.
Section 4. This ordinance shall take effect from and after the publication of same as provided by law.
Filed February 20, 1903.
JNO. T. MONTGOMERY, City Secretary.
Passed under suspension of the rules, February 20, 1903.
JNO. T. MONTGOMERY, City Secretary.
Recorded in Ordinance Book D, page 636, February 25, 1903.
JNO. T. MONTGOMERY, City Secretary.
This ordinance not having been approved nor disapproved by the mayor within three days after its passage as required by the charter, takes effect the same as if approved.
JNO. T. MONTGOMERY, City Secretary.
