ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 30.—Sixty thousand people crowded into the auditorium at the world's fair grounds this morning to witness the dedicatory ceremonies. The dedicatory address delivered by President Roosevelt was in part as follows:

"We have met here today to commemorate the hundredth anniversary of the event which more than any other, after the foundation of the government and always excepting its preservation, determined the character of our national life—determined that we should be a great expanding nation instead of relatively a small and stationary one.

"We meet here today to commemorate a great event, an event which marks in our statesmanship no less than in pioneering. It is fitting that we should pay our homage in words; but we must in honor make our words good by deeds. We have every right to take a just pride in the great deeds of our forefathers; but we show ourselves unworthy to be their descendants if we make what they did an excuse for our lying supine instead of an incentive to the effort to show ourselves by our acts worthy of them. In the administration of city, state and nation, in the management of our home life and the conduct of our business and social relations, we are bound to show certain high and fine qualities of character under penalty of seeing the whole heart of our civilization eaten out while the body still lives.

"We justly pride ourselves on our marvelous material prosperity, and such prosperity must exist in order to establish a foundation upon which a higher life can be built; but unless we do in very fact build this higher life, the material prosperity itself will go for but very little. Now, in 1903, in the altered conditions, we must meet the changed and changing problems with the spirit shown by the men who in 1803 and in the subsequent years gained, explored, conquered and settled this vast territory, then a desert, now filled with thriving and populous states.

"The old days were great because the men who lived in them had mighty qualities, and we must make the new days great by showing these same qualities. We must insist upon courage and resolution, upon hardihood, tenacity, and fertility in resource; we must insist upon the strong virile virtues; and we must insist no less upon the virtues of self-restraint, self-mastery, regard for the rights of others; we must show our abhorrence of cruelty, brutality and corruption, in public and in private life alike. If we come short in any of these qualities we shall measurably fail; and if, as I believe, we surely shall, we develop these qualities in the future to an even greater degree than in the past, then in the century now beginning we shall make of this republic the freest and most orderly, the most just and most mighty, nation which has ever come forth from the womb of time."

MAGNIFICENT PARADE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 30.—With the country's foremost statesmen, soldiers and men of affairs as the chief actors and five hundred thousand citizens of the great Mississippi valley region as the spectators, the first day's program of ceremonies attending the dedication of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition was carried out today under happy auspices. The day's doings, beginning with the brilliant military pageant in the forenoon and ending with this evening with a pyrotechnic display of unprecedented grandeur, were on a scale of dignified splendor worthy of the exposition and the great event it is intended to commemorate. President Roosevelt, former President Cleveland, the foreign diplomats and other distinguished visitors were profoundly impressed with the magnitude of the demonstration. They said as much in words and more in actions, for they made no effort to conceal their pleasure.

For the masses, the military parade was the feature of the day, as it was also a certain raison for the dedicatory ceremonies. And such a parade. Never in the history of St. Louis, and only rarely in the history of the entire country can an account be found of a more splendid military spectacle. Led by the famous marine band of Washington, followed by the exposition officials, the president and former president of the United States, members of the president's cabinet, foreign ambassadors and ministers, the government of a score of states and innumerable other guests of distinction, the pageant certainly was a stirring sight, one calculated to move even the most sluggish blood to witness, and to quicken the flame of patriotism in every breast.

The ceremonies attending the presentation of the freedom to the city to the president occupied a little more time than had been calculated on, and as a consequence it was nearly 11 o'clock when the booming of cannon announced that the parade had started. The starting point was the junction of Grand avenue and Lindell boulevard and the route laid through Forest park to the exposition grounds. All along the line of march buildings and residences were ablaze with flags and bunting, gathered in festoons and stretched in long folds from roof to ground while from numerous flag poles and windows the national colors fluttered in the fresh breeze, with here and there the flag of a foreign nation.

THE INFANTRY The military made a brave and inspiring show. Every branch of the nation's military service was shown, even a battery of mighty siege guns, and military and cadet organizations were present from all parts of the country to add to the magnitude of the parade and the richness of the spectacle. Then, to contribute a fitting crown to the glitter and pomp of the spectacle, the adjutant general of the army, with one of the largest and most imposing staffs that could be gathered, was in command of the entire line. First, of course, came the usual large detachment of mounted police, and immediately behind them rode General Corbin and his staff. After these came the engineers of the regular army, who always enjoy the privilege of marching at the head of a parade. Back of the engineers marched the regiments of regular infantry, and in size this was by far the largest section of the parade. The regulars did not comprise the whole infantry section, however, for back of them came the militia regiments of Missouri, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and numerous other states. Following the infantry came the light artillery batteries of the regular and militia forces to fill the spectators with awe at the grim-looking rifles, businesslike Gatling guns and deadly machine guns.

THE CAVALRY Then came the most spirited and fascinating portion of the parade to the layman, the cavalry division with its prancing horses, forest of fluttering yellow and red plumes and rows of gleaming, unsheathed sabres. Not only was the regular cavalry in line, but militia troops from various large cities of the country were included in the division, their elaborate and gorgeous full dress uniforms adding much to the glitter of the spectacle. The end of the line was brought up by the sailors and naval reserves, followed by a battery of tremendous siege and coast defense guns, the first ever exhibited in an inland city.

ENTHUSIASM UNBOUNDED Thus the procession passed through the great crowds of spectators. Every turn of the wheels gave the distinguished visitors new surprises as to the magnitude and enthusiasm of the demonstration. When the vehicles passed containing former President Cleveland, the diplomatic representatives of Turkey, Germany, France, Spain and other foreign powers, the cabinet officers, the army chiefs and other distinguished persons, the shouts and wild acclaim of the crowd was scarcely less than that which with the president was greeted. The sidewalks, windows, roofs and other points of vantage were filled with spectators and their enthusiasm as they recognized the notables in the procession knew no bounds. At some points of the route the police experienced considerable difficulty in keeping back the enthusiastic crowds that overflowed into the street.

THROUGHS ENTER IN The arrangements for handling the crowds at the exposition grounds were excellent. The gates were at no time choked and the throng passed into the grounds with less trouble than is often experienced at a theater or other place of entertainment. The transportation facilities, while not yet completed to their highest capacity, were fairly adequate. The people, too, made the task of the transportation companies easy by starting early. Even in the early morning the downtown streets were filled with people headed for the grounds. As the forenoon wore on the crowd swelled, and by 11 o'clock the human current was at the flood. The broad avenues between the mammoth structures that are now being converted from a wilderness into a fairland, were literally packed with people when, at 1 o'clock, the booming of cannon in salute of 101 guns announced that the president had arrived at the liberal arts building, where the ceremonies of the afternoon were to be held. The distinguished visitors were received by President Francis and other officials of the exposition and escorted to the places reserved for them on the speakers' platform. When the band struck up the opening musical selection there was scarcely a foot of space to spare in the vast hall. One large stand was occupied by the speakers, while a second was reserved for the grand chorus which contributed in a large measure to the successful musical program. The main floor and the balconies were filled with men and women, many of them from great distances, who were fortunate enough to obtain tickets of admission. President Francis opened the proceedings with an introductory address and the following program of exercises was carried out:

ADIRONDACK WOODS REPORTED BURNING

ALBANY, N. Y., April 30.—It is said at the office of the forest, fish and game commission that for sixty-five miles between White Lake and Saranac Inn, on the line of the Adirondack railroad, the leaves and underbrush in the Adirondack woods are burning. The fire has thus far been kept in check. Chief Fire Warden Emmons has telegraphed the commission from Fulton Chain that the fires there are under control.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 30.—Later details from the scene of the explosion at Frank in the province of Alberta, brief mention of which was made in these dispatches last evening, show that the explosion was probably caused by a rockslide from the top of the mountain that overlooks the village. Ninety-five men, women and children were killed, two being imprisoned in a mine and suffocated, while the remainder had their lives snuffed out while in their homes. Particles of rock fell all day, but the theory of a volcanic eruption or an earthquake is discredited.

IN REPLY TO MILES

MAJOR WALLER TALKS ABOUT CHARGES OF CRUELTY

CANNOT DENY THEM

SAYS HE IS NOT IN A POSITION TO MAKE SPECIFIC ANSWER FOR OFFICERS IN PHILIPPINES

SHOOTING OF ELEVEN MEN

Confesses That He Ordered Drumhead Court-Martial for Filipinos Said to Have Killed American Soldiers—Denies He Ordered Women and Children Shot

NEW YORK, April 30.—Major Littleton Waller of the United States marine corps, who was brought before a court-martial on the charge of cruelty to Filipinos, has made a comprehensive statement of his side of the case.

NOT IN POSITION TO DENY. "I am not in a position to deny the atrocities mentioned in General Miles' statement," says the major, "for the reason that it would be impossible for me to speak for all the officers in the Philippine service. I can only say that none of these things occurred in the district under my command, to my knowledge.

"Inasmuch as Major Glenn was representing me when I was being tried for cruelty, it is certainly reasonable to believe that he would have mentioned to me in a conversational way some of his own exploits in that line. But never from his own mouth, or from the lips of anybody else, have I had the slightest inkling that Major Glenn was doing or ever did any of the things accredited to him.

WOULD BE SURPRISED "Concerning the bayoneting of seven prisoners by Lieutenant Caulfield's scouts and the burning of the old man, Luna, anything I might say would be merely my own opinion. For I did not know either of the officers concerned. I may say, however, that if those charges are substantiated it will be a complete surprise to me.

"There is another thought I would like to suggest while we are on the subject of torture. It is a well known fact that a Filipino native has no conscientious scruples about lying out of a predicament.

WARY OF SCOUTS "I never used a Filipino scout but once, and then I think the other officers were equally wary of them."

Major Waller then went on to speak of his own experience.

"In the district of Samar, where I held sway, the natives call me 'father.' The same 'atrocities' which I committed in Samar was the execution of eleven Filipinos who tried to kill my men, and who did kill some of them by stealth.

THAT KILLING "It may be interesting to know that the natives under my charge were the ones who informed me of the plot. I caught the culprits, tried them at a drumhead court-martial and ordered them shot. The sentence met with the approval of the natives, for they suffered more from the larders than did my own men.

"As to the charges that I shot women and children, they are false—yes, they are lies!"

MURDER TRIAL IS STARTED AT BRENHAM

BRENHAM, Texas, April 30.—Hundreds of spectators crowded the district court room this morning to hear the examining trial of Mitchell and Perry, the two negroes charged with the murder of Emanuel Taylor, a saloon man, last Sunday. The case is attracting widespread interest, as Taylor was very prominent in colored circles.

Only one witness has been introduced yet and his testimony is very damaging to the defendant.

The trial will probably consume a couple of days.

NINETY-FIVE DEAD FROM EXPLOSION

SEATTLE, Wash., April 30.—Later details from the scene of the explosion at Frank in the province of Alberta, brief mention of which was made in these dispatches last evening, show that the explosion was probably caused by a rockslide from the top of the mountain that overlooks the village. Ninety-five men, women and children were killed, two being imprisoned in a mine and suffocated, while the remainder had their lives snuffed out while in their homes. Particles of rock fell all day, but the theory of a volcanic eruption or an earthquake is discredited.

JURY FINDS HOWARD GUILTY OF MURDER

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 30.—Just a little more than two years after the day Henry E. Youtsey was convicted of the murder of Governor William Goebel of Kentucky, James Howard, his accomplice in the crime, was today found guilty on the same charge and his punishment assessed at life imprisonment.

Just as Youtsey's had been. When the arguments of counsel for the state and for the defense had concluded it would have been hard to have found an auditor in the courtroom who had heard all the testimony whose mind was not somewhat confused as to the guilt or innocence of the prisoner. The jury gave up the tangle this morning at 10 o'clock, coming inside the courtroom to tell the judge it had disagreed.

Not content with this way of disposing of the case, the court ordered them back to the juryroom for further deliberations. At 11 o'clock they returned with a verdict of guilty and fixed the punishment of Howard at life imprisonment.

"I don't want to hang a man who may be innocent."

THE JUDGE'S INSTRUCTIONS

Charged on Circumstantial Evidence as Well as on Other Points Asked by Defense—Absolute Acquittal Unless Guilt is Believed Beyond Reasonable Doubt

"I don't want to hang a man who may be innocent."

That is the only news that has emanated from the room in which the jury in the Joe Lawrence murder case is weighing the testimony for and against the defendant.

The jury has been out ever since yesterday afternoon.

In that time it has not asked any further information of the lawyers, court or witnesses.

It has not asked the judge to further elucidate his instructions.

It has not called upon a witness to repeat his or her testimony on any particular point.

It evidently thoroughly understands the testimony as it went in and it evidently understands the judge's instructions.

And it is "hung up," as the lawyers say.

A gentleman, while passing the jury room this morning, heard one voice that was raised above the others under the statement given at the opening of this article. He could not tell, from the tone of the man's voice, whether the statement was made in answer to the arguments of many, or few of the jury-men.

It shows that in the mind of at least one man in the jury room a "reasonable doubt" exists as to whether Joe Lawrence was one of the two men who met and mortally wounded Jim Wilson on the evening of January 9.

The failure of the twelve men to agree after being out 22 hours leads many to look for a hung jury, although Judge Shropshire has not abandoned hope of an acquittal.

The Fort Worth clearing house reports the bank clearings of Fort Worth for April, 1903, as follows: $13,354,994.70; for April last year, $11,402,254.89; gain in year just closed, $1,943,755.81; gain over 17 per cent.

ONCE LIVED HERE HIS WOUNDS SERIOUS

BROWNWOOD, Texas, April 30.—Thomas A. Austin, a prominent Coleman lawyer, shot Judge John C. Randolph at that place this morning. Judge Randolph was formerly a district judge and lived at Fort Worth for several years.

Randolph fired once and Austin fired five times. One shot entered Randolph's groin and was removed. One entered his bowels. It is thought that Randolph will die.

Most Fort Worth lawyers who were practicing here in the middle nineties will recall Judge Randolph. He resided in Fort Worth for four or five years and left about 1898 to return to Coleman, where he lived when he was district judge. He had an invalid wife and four or five children when he lived here. He was a man of about 45 at that time, and was greatly liked by all who knew him. Judge W. P. McLean paid a high tribute to him today when informed of the shooting by a Telegram reporter. Judge Randolph held no office while here.

BABY SHOW IS ON THIS AFTERNOON

The sudden drop in the temperature caused some fond mothers to decide today not to exhibit their prize-winners at the baby show this afternoon, but most of the ladies were not deterred by the cool air and high wind and, wrapping their precious morsels of humanity in warm togs they set off for the big tent early this afternoon.

The fact that the baby show idea was an inspiration was shown this afternoon by the unusually large attendance, in which women and children, of course, predominated. The entry list is a long one and has been printed complete in The Telegram heretofore, with the possible exception of those whose entries were received late.

There are 160 babies entered in the show. The judges are M. T. Hill of Nevada, Mr. George L. Goulding, Denver, Colo., and Capt. C. A. Pratt of Little Rock, Ark.

RATHBONE SISTERS ELECT OFFICERS

The closing session of the grand temple, Rathbone Sisters of Texas, which has been in progress in Fort Worth this week, was begun this morning, at which time it was expected that the remaining business to be taken up at that time could be dispensed with by noon. At 2 o'clock the grand temple was in session, the noon adjournment having been dispensed with, the representatives having decided to remain until the work was completed. A reception will be tendered the visiting and local knights and sisters at Knights of Pythias hall this evening.

A CHANGE IN THE LAW

Among the many important changes which were made in the laws of the order was one which provides that in the event a class of candidates is being balloted upon for adoption the temple may ballot upon the entire list at the same time. If there be no dissenting vote the entire number is elected. In case there be one or more dissenting votes, then each candidate must be balloted upon separately. Heretofore the latter method has been required by the law of the order, regardless of any provisos.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The election of officers was among the last measures before the temple. At 2:30 all elections had been made with the exception of the two supreme representatives and the grand trustees. The officers as chosen follow:

Grand chief—Mrs. H. C. Shropshire of Weatherford.

Grand senior—Mrs. Anna Roach of Atlanta.

Grand junior—Mrs. Frankie McBride of Fort Worth.

Grand manager—Mrs. Minnie Converse of San Antonio.

Grand mistress of records and seal—Mrs. Sterling Buxter of Chidress.

Grand mistress of finance—Mrs. L. M. Jowers of Buffalo.

Grand protector—Mrs. J. A. White of Stamford.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 30.—Three persons were killed, two probably fatally injured and a dozen hurt in a wreck between the westbound Vandalia passenger train and a switch engine.

The dead are: Clarence Reinhart, Columbus, Ohio. Nicholas Lutz, baggage master. Alexander McMullen, Columbus, Ohio.

Attached to the train was a special car, carrying a party of twenty-seven from Philadelphia to the national Y. M. C. A. convention at Topeka, Kan. Another car carried the New Jersey delegation to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition dedication. None of the gentlemen of either party were injured.

NEGRO WOMAN IS GIVEN LIFE TERM

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, April 30.—The first woman ever convicted of a capital offense in Ellis county was this morning found guilty of murder in the first degree and given a life term in the penitentiary by a jury in the district court. The defendant was Hannah Steele, a negro woman about 45 years old. The crime for which she was convicted was the killing of Amanda Flowers one night last October. She literally cut the woman to pieces with a knife, one cut almost severing the head from the body. Hannah Steele lived in Dallas, and the evidence showed she went to Ferris with the avowed purpose of killing the deceased.

VETERAN HOTEL MAN DIES IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 30.—John A. Baker, formerly a hotel-keeper, is dead in a hospital here. Mr. Baker was 43 years old. He came of an old Philadelphia family. At various times he had conducted hotels at Chicago, Savannah, the Thousand Islands and Block Island. Mr. Baker leaves a widow, whom he married less than a year ago.

BADEN-POWELL IS INCLINED TO CRITICIZE

NEW YORK, April 30.—General Baden-Powell, before sailing for England on the completion of his tour in this country, speaking of the United States cavalry, said:

"I rather expected to find men of fine physique in your cavalry, and was surprised to find the reverse. They enjoy too many luxuries in their food, and their system of exercises is not thorough. Their food is far too highly seasoned. They should be deprived of coffee altogether and should have only an occasional portion of tea. The British cavalrymen, when in barracks, have a salt water bath every day, which keeps them in perfect physical condition.

"Plain diet and vigorous exercise, combined with the regular drill, are what have made the British cavalrymen superior to all other cavalrymen in the world. Your cavalry have not yet had a hard campaign, like the Boer war, to show their staying powers. I am inclined to think that if the chance ever comes their mode of life will tell the tale in a long sick list.

"Your cavalry horses cannot be equalled. Probably 50 per cent of the horses in the British cavalry are American bred, and they are able to wear out five of their riders in a two weeks' journey. They are especially good over a rough and dry country.

"Your cavalry men are more active than the average British horseman, but I think they lack the staying power.

"I consider your second cavalry the most efficient in rank and file as well as the best officered."

ELEVATOR HAS A NOVEL PASSENGER

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Archie Roosevelt, who is recovering from an attack of measles, had a visitor the other day whose call will do more to restore him to health than all the medicine the doctor can give him. Soon after Archie began to convalesce he begged to be allowed to see his spotted pony, Algonquin, who is his constant companion when he is well. It was too soon for Archie to leave his room and Mrs. Roosevelt was compelled to decline the request. Charles, the groom who looks after Algonquin, and who also is a great chum of Archie's, thought the matter over and concluded that if Archie wanted to see his pony he should do so. Without confiding his plan to anyone, he led the pony the other day in the White House and along the corridor into the elevator. The attendants were too much surprised to say a word until after the elevator had disappeared. When the second floor was reached Charles led the pony to Archie's room and ushered it in. To say that Archie was delighted, expresses it mildly, and the pony also seemed to enjoy the visit. This is the first time that a horse has ridden in a White House elevator.

STRIKING PICTURES AT PARIS SALON

PARIS, April 30.—A preliminary view of the pictures in the National Salon was held yesterday. Today is vamping day. New York pictures of high order are exhibited, and Chartrains' portrait of President Roosevelt occupies a prominent place. Opposite the portrait of the American president is hung one of the sensational pictures of the exhibition. This is Ferrier's representation of Christ after the crucifixion. It shows his emaciated body and gaping wounds. Mary, horror-stricken, is standing by his side.

Another sensational picture is Beroud's "Anathema," symbolizing the catastrophe at Martiniac. It shows masses of vivid flames enveloping the town of St. Pierre, and the ships in the harbor, with a mythical figure hovering above and hurling down anathema. Bougereau has two new pictures. A portrait of Mr. Kruger, in which the old Boer is shown bending over his Bible, divides attention with the Roosevelt portrait. American artists are well represented at this year's salon.

Miss Susie Shepard was unanimously elected queen of the fest, and little Miss Lampkin was selected as queen of the hill at the court. The Maifest will be held May 14 and 15, and special rates have been secured on all railroads. The Santa Fe will run a special train from Temple. MARKET HIGHER NORTH FORT WORTH, April 30.—With only eleven cars of cattle in the yards, the market opened this morning strong to the higher. Four cars more arrived about noon, increasing the receipts to about 600 head. The quality was fair to common, and nothing of a topsy nature came to hand. Four cars of south Texas mixed cattle from Harrisburg were on the market, but were common quality and did not bring fancy prices. The hog receipts today were 1,118, with market strong to 5c higher. The quality was ordinary, most of the shipments being from Texas points. Best hogs today brought $8.50, and considering the quality was 5c higher than paid yesterday. Eight cars of sheep are in the yards today, with no sales reported. Buyers quote the market steady.

DUE NOTICE IS SERVED
Due notice is hereby served on the public generally that De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve is the only salve on the market that is made from the pure, unadulterated witch hazel. De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve has cured thousands of cases of piles that would not yield to any other treatment, and this fact has brought out many worthless counterfeits. Those persons who get the genuine De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve are never disappointed, because it cures.

PAVING OF HOUSTON STREET NOW NEAR

Only fifteen lots on Houston street, between Weatherford and Tenth, remain unassigned for their owners, according to the figures of the Houston street merchants' paving committee. And with only a few exceptions these lots are owned by non-residents. This morning's mail brought replies from two non-resident owners, one owning fifty feet and the other seventy-five feet, in which both agreed to pave with asphalt. H. K. McCullom, as reported in yesterday's Telegram, has gone to Beaumont to bid on a paving contract. He will return within a week, accompanied by the vice president of the company which has the Houston street paving contract, and it is expected that the work here will be ordered begun shortly afterward.

Many citizens of Enterprise who know the gentleman will testify to the truthfulness of this statement." For sale by all druggists.

COAT OF FROST FOR FORT WORTH TONIGHT

The thermometer was at 35 this morning when Fort Worth rolled over and began to shiver over the prospect of having to get out of bed. It was cold enough to produce a frost but thanks to a stiff wind little frost was recorded. Early risers saw a little coating of white on roofs and sheds in sheltered places but the weather bureau is authority for the statement that the frost inflicted practically no damage to crops in Texas. Frost is predicted for tonight when the mercury may go as low as 34.

DEPARTURE OF FIRST INTERNATIONAL TRAIN

The first regular passenger train out of Fort Worth on the International and Great Northern left the Texas and Pacific passenger station this morning at 7 o'clock, promptly on schedule time. There were a number of passengers aboard, including J. W. Watson, the purchaser of ticket form 1, No. 0, the first issued for the new service. The ticket was sold by P. H. Feeny and was issued to Everman, a station on the International and Great Northern, named in honor of the assistant general manager of the Texas and Pacific. Mr. Watson, who is general yardmaster of the Texas and Pacific in this city, paid 30 cents for the ride and the honor of being the purchaser of the first ticket over the new line.

The train consisted of engine No. 45, in charge of Engineer A. E. Allen, and Fireman William Frazer, and baggage car No. 31, passenger coach No. 35 and chair car No. 203, the same train, with the exception of the dining car No. 300 and the company's construction office car No. 1, which comprised the official train which arrived in the city last evening at 4:30. Conductor Sam Coker was in charge of the train. A large crowd was at the depot to witness both the arrival of the official train last evening and the departure of the regular train this morning.

The official party, upon its arrival last evening was met at the station by a number of representative citizens of Fort Worth, who extended every greeting to the visitors. Captain Paddock, in whom was invested the authority of selecting the judges for the baby show this afternoon, even conferred the honor of selection upon members of the official family of the International and Great Northern.

D. H. Turner, general freight agent, and G. L. Noble, assistant general manager, Mr. Turner, after thinking the matter over during the night concluded that the undertaking which had been asked of him was too great, and early this morning he telephoned twelve genuine excuses why Captain Paddock should excuse him from the list. Business engagements were given as the principal reason why he should not serve, but Mr. Turner's friends say he was fearful of the outcome of the show. He had been informed that there would be babies on exhibition from Dallas and other cities besides Fort Worth and that the committees in charge of the show had been unable to provide prizes sufficient to award one to every baby entered and there was, in Mr. Turner's judgment, too grave a responsibility for him to face.

The honor, however, was laid at their door, and if not accepted the officials of the International and Great Northern may at least appreciate the good intentions of Fort Worth.

The visitors were guests last evening of a number of Fort Worth gentlemen at the horse show. This morning they visited the packing-houses and the stock

For liver troubles and constipation there's nothing better in creation than Little Early Risers, the famous little pills.

They always effect a cure and save doctor bills. Little Early Risers are different from all other pills. They do not weaken the system, but act as a tonic to the tissues by arousing the secretions and restoring the liver to the full performance of its functions naturally.

HORSE SHOW DRAWS INCREASING CROWDS

The second performance of the Horse Show opened to the accompaniment of a wintry norther, but the horses met the fall in temperature with increased spirit and the audience watched with an enthusiasm that refused to be affected by a frost—either weather or any other kind.

The first exhibit was of tandems, Sen San and Sensation, an Ashbrook entry, with Ashbrook driving, Flirt and Filtration, with Bob English holding the reins, also an Ashbrook entry, and More Than King and All But King, a Cudahy entry, with Fred Bork in the driver's seat. The awards of the blue ribbon went to the Cudahy horses, while Sen San and Sensation got the second and Flirt and Filtration the third.

Excitement began to grow as soon as the roadster class came on, the favor of the audience being plainly for a Dallas entry of a pair of brown geldings, Mex and Sid, entered by F. R. Cochran, and driven by George King. They traveled around the tan bark with clean-cut movement, easy and graceful as the rhythmic swing of a pendulum, and when the judges announced that this entry and the Ashbrook pair, Lou and Zulu, tied for the money, there was none to cavil.

As the blue ribbon was fastened to the Cochran pair there were hearty cheers, and the hatchet between Dallas and Fort Worth was buried for the time being. The second prize went to Richard Tea and Artist Rex, exhibited by Mrs. Ashbrook and driven by Fred Bork. In this decision the appointments counted only 40 per cent. In the single harness class the entries were Sensation, driven by Ashbrook; Sen San, by Bob English, both Ashbrook entries, and All But King, by Fred Bork, a Cudahy entry, and Boston, a local horse, exhibited and driven by Dell Bates. The local horse got the cheers as the untrained eye looked in vain for points of superior excellence in the foreign entries. The judges saw with finer eyes, however, and the blue ribbon went to All But King, ridden by Sen San and white to All But King, ridden by Fred Bork.

Everybody had an eye out for the gaited saddle horses, and each entry got a round of applause. As Al Bow, entered and ridden by A. D. Butcher, and unnamed, ridden and exhibited by George Thompson, came on, there was enough local pride to give them a rousing send-off; enthusiasm, however, was not overly lasting, for when the beauty of the local show, Hon. Bon, came into view, local pride was forgotten in the presence of the most beautiful piece of horse flesh, whose feet ever touched the stretches of Texas prairies, and the Lone Star has had some handsome saddle horses at one time and another. When the blue ribbon was given to this animal, the rider, Fred Bork, had a few Texas roses for his part of the performance. Artist Rex, ridden by Bork, got second and Missouri Belle, with Joe Chamberlain up, won the third.

There were no local entries in the runabout class, the Ashbrook and Cudahy horses having it all their own way. The first prize went to All But King, the second to Flirt and the Third to More Than King.

Local entries in the single horses to traps, once more had the audience on their feet. They were: Boston, by Dell Bates, ridden by the owner; unnamed, by J. L. Polk, driven by Fox; Antractus, by Ed R. Burns, driven by the owner; Tom Powell, by Jim Maddox, driven by the owner; Black Prince, by R. H. Wynne, Harry Wynne driver; Doctor Guy, by O. R. Menefee, Ted Edrington driver; unnamed, by Sam Davidson, Mathews driver. The judges thought they had in the Burns' horse fine material for the blue ribbon, but the animal got quite too gay and, after making trouble for the driver all around the ring, he was ruled out and the blue ribbon was pinned on the Menefee horse, amid the genuine cheers that go with a Texas way of being glad. The Davidson entry got second money and the Maddox third.

COACHING PARTY
The four-in-hands were of interest, principally on account of the party that occupied the top of the field, consisting of Messadmes Winfield Scott, James Davis O. W. Mathews, W. R. Thompson, W. V. Galbreath, Keating of Dallas, Miss Edrington, Miss Newlin and Miss Andrews of Dallas. This entry got first prize and the drag getting the second. There were only two entries.

The potato race, as always, was noisy but popular. This lowly product of the soil was hammered and kicked, as was also the riders, who were Fred Bork, Frank Sanson, Jack McGuire, Otis Jackson and Curtis Jackson. Fred Bork won the blue ribbon. Frank Sanson, a local rider, second, who cow pony, Gee Whiz, made things lively for the contestants. Third went to McGuire.

FAMILY HORSES
The family horses owned in Texas brought out a number of local entries, including the following: Prince, by Mrs. R. M. Wynne, Harry Wynne driver; Chum, by Sam Davidson, Mathews driver; unnamed, by J. L. Polk, Fox driver; unnamed, by L. L. Hayes, Young driver; Doctor Guy, by O. R. Menefee, Miss Ted Edrington driver.

High tower, passenger and ticket agent, Galveston; G. D. Hunter, passenger and ticket agent, Houston; W. C. Rigby, passenger and ticket agent, San Antonio; P. Lawless, passenger and ticket agent, Austin; J. C. Jones, passenger and ticket agent, Waco; M. L. Morris, traveling passenger agent, Palestine; George Kramer, agent Smith Land and Improvement Company; J. B. Denison, traffic manager Mallory Line, Galveston; J. C. Lewis, traveling passenger agent Missouri Pacific railway, Austin; T. Hume, division superintendent, San Antonio; H. K. Irvine, division superintendent, Fort Worth; W. T. Spencer, chief dispatcher, Mart; S. M. Gaines, division superintendent railway mail service, Fort Worth; R. R. Claridge.

MEMBERS OF THE PARTY
The following comprised the personnel of the party which arrived on the special yesterday afternoon, and which are in the city today: W. L. Maury, auditor; J. S. O'Flynn, assistant auditor; A. L. Bowers, superintendent construction; J. D. Trammel, chief engineer; J. W. Cunningham, land commissioner; G. H. Turner, general freight agent; D. J. Price, general passenger agent; C. R. Evans, superintendent dining car service; W. J. Taylor, general passenger agent; B. B. Anderson, assistant general passenger agent, Palestine; Horace Booth, assistant general freight agent, Houston; Homer Eads, assistant general freight agent, San Antonio; J. R. Heffer, private secretary to vice president; Marvin Trice, fuel clerk; U. S. Pawkett, commercial agent, Fort Worth; J. W. Byars, commercial agent, Waco; J. H.

Edrington driver, Miss Edrington, holding the ribbons again for the Menefee horse, won the favor of the judges once more, and put her animal through to such good purpose that the blue ribbon went to Doctor Guy with little hesitation on the part of the judges. The red ribbon went to the Polk entry, and the white to the Davidson horse, whereas there was again much cheering, the three winners being evidently favorite with the audience as well as the judges.

THE JUMPERS
When the jumpers came on, the last event of the evening, there was excitement a plenty. The south hurdle was placed at four feet and the north at four feet.

The Horse Show management is desirous of bringing to the attention of every person in Fort Worth. For this reason the price of all door seats has been reduced to 50 cents.

Everybody knew that Bork could ride, and when they saw St. Lawrence, his mount, they had an idea he could turn the trick, an idea that was soon sent to join the vast majority of unverified uncertainties, as his heels dragged the bars at every effort. Dragon tried it next, but made faces, and heels too, at the prospect, until his rider, English, got out of patience. Then he made the effort which, though not tidily done, showed what was in him. But he upset things around the judges' quarters, and all other quarters, and lost his chance for another try.

The Lamb set things going in better fashion, and there was a general prediction that his heels would clear the bars and to spare. But he did not. He knocked the bars every time, save one.

Dawn, ridden by William Roberts, did not like the idea of the hurdle at all. He was led up to it with fetching persuasiveness by his rider, but it was no go for several attempts. Then he went at it pluckily and, though the bar went down, it was a good bit of work for an animal considerably undersized for such an attempt.

Thisledown went at the bars with the willingness of a fence-jumping Texas cow, and made the first hurdle clear, but found the second a better showing than on Dawn, but at every attempt the top bar fell. After this try the judges gave Thisledown first money and the Lamb second. The two horses then gave an exhibition of their ability that was finer than in the contest, each clearing the bars with daylight showing between the top bar and their heels.

WALKS WITHOUT CRUTCHES
I was much afflicted with sciatica, writes Ed. C. Nud, Iowa, Sedgewick Co., Kan., "going about on crutches and suffering a deal of pain. I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment, which relieved me. I used three 50c bottles. It is the greatest liniment I ever used; have recommended it to a number of persons. All express themselves as being benefited by it. I now walk without crutches, able to perform a great deal of light labor on the farm." 25c, 50c and $1.00 at H. G. Pangburn & Co's.

THE TELEGRAM AND PROGRESS

The Telegram continues to keep up the pace of progress that it set for itself something over six months ago. There is room for a first-class evening newspaper in Fort Worth and The Telegram proposes to fill the niche. This is not the first time that The Telegram has said that much in so many words, and it will not likely be the last time.

When a big circus tent stake is to be driven into the ground a gang of men is many as half a dozen, perhaps, will partner about the stake and will take their turns at swinging their heavy mauls upon the stake until it has been driven deep into the ground. One blow would not cause that stake to get a firm hold. The same proposition holds good in the matter of the self-advertising of a newspaper.

A dry goods merchant gets in a new line of goods and fills columns of newspaper space in their exploitation. A newspaper cannot afford to do otherwise.

The Telegram proposes to do things and with the doing will not be backward about the telling of it. It will not say and not do, however.

A month ago The Telegram announced the purchase of a new, fast, $14,500, two-deck color Goss press.

Within the past three days another order has been placed for some more machinery. This time it is the stereotyping room which is to benefit through the management's belief in possessing an up-to-date plant. The old, worn-out and antiquated machinery that has long been used for the turning out of flat plates will be replaced by absolutely new stuff made by Caps Brothers at Kansas City, the leaders in the making of that class of machinery. Its possession will enable The Telegram to greatly facilitate the prompt turning out of a modern newspaper every day in the year.

The Telegram has said nothing about the addition of a great deal of new equipment in its composing room that has been coming in during the past two weeks. The old-fashioned and cumbersome iron racks for the holding of type cases have given way to hardwood cabinets of the latest approved fashion. Old and out-of-date faces of advertising letter have been "dumped" and new and late styles—for we have styles in type circles, as well as in those of millinery and dress—have taken up their abode in The Telegram's composing room. An entire new dress of head letter will very shortly add to the generally new and metropolitan appearance of The Telegram's free-from-advertising front page.

Attention to these new things for The Telegram is not called in a sense of vainglory. It is merely a matter of business just as much as it is for any Telegram advertiser to say that he believes honestly that his line of goods is the best in the town and at the lowest prices.

The present management of The Telegram came to Fort Worth because it believed that there was abundant opportunity here for investment and the exercise of ability and unflagging zeal. There has been no occasion for a change of opinion. In fact every day has strengthened the first beliefs.

This management invested in what the newspaper fraternity of Texas were wont to call a newspaper graveyard. There are more graves, marked and unmarked, in the old Mail-Telegram's cemetery than in these of a dozen other Texas newspaper towns. But that turned no hairs of the present management's head. A firm grip was taken last July. That grip has grown firmer and firmer.

Every cent that was invested in the property came from out of town. Not a penny was subscribed in Fort Worth—not a penny was asked—to help dig the Mail-Telegram out of its grave. The money was brought to Fort Worth because it was believed that there was a future ahead for the city and the paper. If properly managed, and that money now invested would bring its return in the future.

No bonus in the way of pre-signed advertising contracts was asked. No one knew there was any expected changes in The Telegram, and not many even knew there was a change in proprietorship until there came some time later a change of name in the newspaper and what was on nearly all sides acknowledged as a mere "patent medicine and railroad advertising sheet," commenced to blossom and bloom under a new order of things. Business sense and system were inaugurated and a veritable chaos turned into order. But it paid and will continue to pay. Today The Telegram stands ready to prove that it has a circulation that is THREE TIMES GREATER THAN IT WAS ON AUGUST 1, 1902.

The Telegram today has an absolute paid circulation that is as large as that of any other Fort Worth newspaper. It is ready to prove that assertion. The Telegram's advertising rates are lower than those of any other Fort Worth newspaper, circulation considered. It stands ready to prove this assertion.

The Telegram is not asking business on the strength of what it is going to do in the future. It solicits business on the basis of what it is doing today. The Telegram has said that it proposed to be one of the best newspapers all around in Texas. That prediction is rapidly being carried out. KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE TELEGRAM. Watch it grow.

THE CASE OF TYNER

Just now the postoffice department is having a scandal. The public has become aware of the fact through the press, which managed to get wind of the fact that trouble was brewing and at once gave the matter life.

For some time the public was informed through the dispatches that "serious discrepancies are believed to exist;" that "gross irregularities may be discovered;" that "departmental scandals of no small magnitude may be the outcome," and various other mysterious hints of the condition of affairs existing at Washington were given.

This was most annoying. With President Roosevelt about to start off on a speech-making trip for the purpose of grandiloquizing the virtues of the republican administration, such an alarming discovery was distressing.

The remarkable vigor with which the president declared "he wanted it probed to the bottom," and the supremely egotistical declaration of intentions by Assistant Postmaster General Wynne indicate how thoroughly the stories of the scandal had stirred the department and the councils of republicanism.

For a few days the public was allowed to read mysterious hints and stories to the effect that "officials had begun to investigate," but absolutely no facts were given to the anxiously waiting public.

Then, as a sudden bolt from a gathering thundercloud came the case of Tyner. Tyner was attorney general for the postoffice department. He isn't any more, for various reasons that are doubtless good and sufficient. The circumstances connected with his summary discharge are familiar to newspaper readers—in fact, they are remarkably familiar.

But some of the facts connected with the dismissal of Tyner are not so well known.

An old man, more than 60 years old, broken and enfeebled by partial paralysis, with a record of service in the postoffice department of more than half his lifetime—such was the man the republican officials, with rare discrimination, chose for the sacrifice.

The public wanted to know some cause for the unpleasant stories that had been circulated. It was demanded that some official recognition must be taken and that something must be done. And it seemed good to the postmaster general and his brilliant young assistants to select a sick old man on whom to turn the official searchlight.

Admirable, wasn't it? The Telegram does not propose to condone any act of Judge Tyner, either before or after his dismissal. Neither does The Telegram accept the source from which the news regarding Tyner's case comes as sufficiently disinterested to warrant its entire acceptance; but here is another remarkable fact.

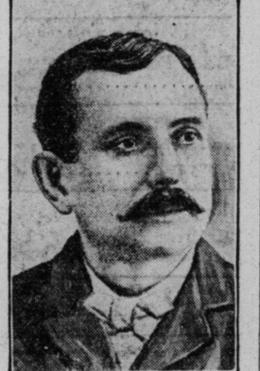

The public had received no news, real news, of the scandal until Tyner was discovered. With their usual frigidity, department officials had refused even the slightest bit of information to newspaper correspondents. So well were the outlets of news guarded that not a single reporter had a fact on which to base a "story," save that an investigation was in progress.

Note, then, the change. Suddenly the case of Tyner is sprung. The correspondents are received with a strangely different attitude. They are told even the most minute circumstances of the case; they are furnished copies of the letter the postmaster general wrote to the old man, brutally telling him that he was summarily dismissed. The correspondents are even furnished the letter the old man wrote in reply—in fact, every detail of the case is thrown at the disposal of the press.

It made a good "story." The wires bore it all over the country, and where it is a never-fading sign of a healthy stomach. When the bigness is had the stomach is out of order. There is no remedy in the world equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for curing indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. Mrs. Mary S. Crick of White Plains, Ky., writes: "I have been a dyspeptic for years—tried all kinds of remedies, but continued to grow worse. By the use of Kodol I began to improve at once, and after taking a few bottles am fully restored in weight, health and strength and can eat what ever I like. Kodol digests what you eat

REV. JAMES DOHERTY Writing About Paine's Celery Compound Says: "I was Benefited Beyond My Expectation."

The claim that Paine's Celery Compound is the only honest medicine in the world for the cure of terrible neuralgia, nervous and blood diseases, is fully borne out by the strong and convincing letters of testimony received every day of the year by the proprietors of the popular medicine. Nothing else has ever possessed anything like the power of Paine's Celery Compound to restore a healthy nervous tone to the entire body and to thoroughly cleanse the blood, making it impossible for neuralgia or rheumatism to find a lodgment in the system. Ministers, professional men generally, newspaper men, public officials and brain workers, men whose daily outlay of vitality, because of hard, trying, anxious work, is excessive, find renewed nerve strength and vitality in Paine's Celery Compound. Its use dispels headache, dizziness, heart trouble, general debility and languor that are so common in springtime. Rev. James Doherty, Everett, Pa., writes thus: "I have used Paine's Celery Compound for neuralgia and the blood. I was benefited beyond my expectation. It is indeed the medicine for my system. It keeps everything in good turn. There is no drowsy, worn-out feeling to the user of the medicine. Those who use it and derive no benefit from it, simply abuse it."

ever a daily newspaper was read the people learned that at last someone was being made to suffer for the wrongs that had been committed.

Some days afterward it filtered out that the act of the aged attorney's wife, while a violation of the rules of the department, was not illegal and that the papers taken from the wonderful safe were not really incriminating. But as to the truth of this also, as well as that of the contrary statements, The Telegram is not prepared to vouch.

It seems strange that out of the hundreds of officials connected with the department Tyner was the first on whom the official ax fell. And yet it is not strange, when it is remembered that Tyner served under a democratic administration; that he was respected and honored with promotion by ex-President Cleveland, so that even after McKinley's election he was retained as a being a person of some value.

The republican postoffice officials have not neglected to inform the newspapers of Judge Tyner's connections with the democratic party. But to allay suspicion they have let it leak out gradually.

Meanwhile, an old man, weakened by age and disease, crushed by the attacks that had been suddenly heaped upon him, lies at his home in Washington. After forty-two years of service he is disgraced and dishonored. But the glory of a republican administration in postal affairs continues its attempts to shine.

PASSING PLEASANTRIES

THE TABLES TURNED

It was Heine, wasn't it, who declared that the ass was chiefly created for comparison. From Wales, then, comes the report that a new weekly paper has just made its appearance, and that among other advertisements was this one: "Bassinet for Sale. Apply this office." A bassinet is a species of cradle. In a rival newspaper this advertisement was reproduced in a bantering article, which pointed out that the new paper had come to stay. "When the parents of a journalistic infant," said the article, "sell their bassinet to the newspaper, who, deciding that for them there was no turning back, burned their boats to prevent the possibility of retreat."

DAILY SHORT STORY

AN OLD FASHIONED GOWN

BY H. WARD (Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst. Great Britain rights reserved.) (Continued From Wednesday's Edition.)

Harold was on the point of limping after her, when Mrs. Carylon's gay voice called him from the open window. "Are you wondering if Netta has suddenly taken leave of her senses?" she asked as Harold approached. "It is only the result of a little argument concerning tucks. The funny child simply will not grow up, but I don't suppose a more man can connect tucks with growing up, can he?" and Mrs. Carylon smiled bewitchingly upon Harold, who for once, responded but feebly to her chatter. He was intent upon following Netta and getting to the bottom of this tuck mystery, but Mrs. Carylon has not done with him yet.

"I am thinking of ceasing to be your grateful tenant shortly, and going abroad," she said, watching Harold covertly.

"Indeed! We shall be sorry to lose you," he said quietly, making up his mind that Netta should not accompany her mother, if he could help it.

Mrs. Carylon's face hardened, and the hopes which she had never quite ceased to entertain of remaining as mistress of Winston Manor, finally vanished. Harold left his parol for Netta, and took a speedy departure. Two hours later he reached home tired and aching after a long, vain hunt.

None of Netta's usual haunts contained her, and it had begun to rain heavily. Harold felt anxious, and waited impatiently for the evening, after describing to his mother his encounter with Netta in the cottage garden.

Mrs. Carylon had an appointment with her dressmaker, and drove into the neighboring large town during the afternoon. As the carriage splashed along a muddy country road on its return, the two fat, gray horses came up with a little dripping figure plodding wearily along by the hedge. Mrs. Longden pulled the checkstraps sharply, and put her head out of the window.

"Netta, what are you doing here? Get in at once," she said.

Netta obeyed meekly. She was worn out by this time by sheer physical fatigue. Slow, heavy tears rolled down her cheeks, but she said nothing, nor did Mrs. Longden question her. The carriage entered the park on the side farthest from Mrs. Carylon's cottage.

"You had better stay on for the evening," Mrs. Longden said, when they stopped. "I will send a note to your mother." Netta got out obediently, too limp and miserable to care what happened. But an hour later, after a hot bath and tea, when she lay on the sofa before the small, bright fire in Mrs. Longden's bedroom, a sudden burst of laughter escaped her.

"Oh, Mrs. Longden, do you think me quite demented?" she cried.

"No, my dear, I have tried to literally tramp out of worries myself," Mrs. Longden replied tranquilly from the depths of her deep, soft chair.

"Oh, then you know how it burst," Netta said tremulously.

Mrs. Longden suddenly slipped to the floor and took the girl in her arms.

"I don't believe you are half as stern as you look," Netta whispered, clinging to her fondly.

"Harold didn't see me looking like a drowned rat, did he?" she asked presently.

"No, I don't suppose that he knows you are here. I merely sent word that I was having tea in my room," Mrs. Longden replied, smiling.

"I expect mother will send me some clothes," Netta said, with a heavy sigh.

"Suppose I lend you some old finery of my young days. Girls usually like to dress up," Mrs. Longden said, going to a dress oak press. A brilliant flash of hope filled Netta's eyes.

"Oh, Mrs. Longden, how lovely! Please let me get dressed at once! What fun it will be!" Netta cried excitedly, springing from the sofa.

nal contained the following advertisement: "For Sale—An ass; very strong and quiet. Apply at this office."

It was now the younger journal's turn to reproduce, and it unkindly added: "Comment is needless."

WILL TRY CHANGE OF THE LEADERS

ADEN, Arabia, April 30.—In consequence of the recent British reverses in Somalia, it is reported here that the advance of the British expedition has been suspended indefinitely. Major General Egerton is mentioned as the successor of Brigadier General Manning. Information here indicates that the complete organization of the executive heads of the expedition would be considered advantageous. It is feared that the recent victory will embolden the forces of the Mad Mullah to attack isolated posts.

The force at the disposal of General Manning is insufficient for offensive purposes, and it is expected that he will strengthen his posts and remain in activity until after the hot weather.

BUILDING FALLS TWO ARE KILLED

BOSTON, Mass., April 30.—Two workmen, Robert Reddy and William Donnelly, were killed in South Boston by the collapse of part of an old building which was being torn down. Reddy was killed outright and his body was removed from the debris shortly after the accident. Donnelly's body was found after a longer search in the debris of the building.

SEARCH ON FOR A GREAT MARE

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 30.—Breeder are scouring the country in search of the now famous brood mare My Chick, by Imp. Glenelg, dam Haytl, by Imp. Australian, which was bought by the Breeders' Protective Association at a sale here in 1900 for $35 and sold to work in the cotton fields of Georgia without a pedigree.

The reason for the efforts to locate the mare and attempt to restore her to the thoroughbred world is the fact that Frank Van Meter, who won the Kentucky Derby of 1901 with His Eminence, has announced that he purposes to win the American Derby with My Chick's son, the crack 3-year-old Incubator. Van Meter's friends here closed all the ante-post books on Incubator at long odds and are playing with the son of Imp. Ingoldsby one of the biggest coups of recent years.

Incubator won three good races in the East last year, showing up after his now noted dam had been sold into exile. At the time of her consignment to the sale which retired her from the breeding world she was owned by Charles W. Moore, Mare Hill stud, the breeder of the now much talked of American Derby candidate. She is comparatively a young mare, being now only 14 years old. O. H. Chenault, secretary of the Breeders' Association, when asked if the mare could possibly be located, said: "She was sold with a band of similar condemned stud matrons, and all efforts to trace her at this late date would be simply a waste of time. Even if located, the Jockey Club would not reinstate her to good standing in the American Stud Book."

The upshot of it is another great brood mare has gone the way of the dam of $25,000 Garry Hermann, and, although more valuable at the present time than hundreds of brood mares in the paddocks of the great stock farms of the country, like Silk Gown, My Chick is lost to the breeding world forever.

DAMON AND PYTHIAS AT OPERA HOUSE

An excellent performance of "Damon and Pythias" was given at Greenwall's opera-house last night by Professor Heathcote, assisted by his pupils in dramatic art. The children played their parts before a large and enthusiastic audience as self-possessed as if they were merely performing before their teacher.

John Lehane Jr., as Brutus, was calm and dignified and read his lines clearly and with intelligence. Little Adrian Ford as Marc Antony won warm praise. Miss Winnie Conner as Cassius was fine and Harry McGowan as Julius Caesar not only played the part, but looked it. Ernest Peabody was well taken as Caska. The little tot, Miss Gladys Moody, made a very affectionate Calpurnia and Selma Lennon as Portia acted her part as naturally as if she were a woman of thirty instead of a child of twelve.

In the cast of "Damon and Pythias" Miss Ethel Maynor was the star, with the exception of Mr. Heathcote. Her acting was powerful and the rendition of her lines very good. In the scene where Damon takes a last farewell of his wife, Miss Lella Walton did a beautiful piece of acting, especially considering this was her first appearance before an audience. Mr. Walton's Pythias dispossessed one of the ideas that he was an amateur and the same may be said of Mr. Johnson as Dionysius. Mr. Gillham as Lucullus was excellent and little Katie Lehane as Damon's son brought down the house. In fact, every part was well taken and from beginning to end it was more like a professional performance than one by amateurs. Miss Mary Eubanks and Messrs. Bellig and Allgeyer added greatly to the entertainment by their musical numbers.

FELL ASLEEP AND NEVER AWAKENED

MEMPHIS, Texas, April 30.—B. F. Stokes, one of the oldest settlers of Hall county, and a highly respected citizen, died early Monday morning after sleeping soundly since Saturday evening, when he laid down to take a nap. After he had been asleep sometime, his wife was unable to rouse him, and though a physician was summoned, his efforts were unable to rouse the patient, who died Monday. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon and was conducted with Masonic honors. Congestion of the brain is said to have been the direct cause of Mr. Stokes' death.

Judge Pardue returned Monday from Mineral Wells and Terrell, where he had been visiting for the past week.

Miss Bertha Brody returned to Childers Monday, after a pleasant visit with relatives and friends at this place.

A light rain fell here Tuesday.

LOCKHEAD'S CURVES TO THEIR LIKING

PARIS SLUGGERS NOT STOPPED BY LUCID, EITHER

Fort Worth Hammered Bateman and Got Off With Good Lead, But Failed to Hold It—Corsicana Again Defeats Dallas—Zook Pitches Well

The news from Paris is not so enlightening. Lockhead knocked out of the box by the Corsicans, no matter how good Cy Young, the daddy of them all, gets it once in a while. But these words of consolation do not go far in lessening the distress among local fans.

Fort Worth jumped off in the lead and by good work at the bat and on the bases scored 5 runs; then in the third Fort Worth started after Bateman again but stopped when two runs had been tallied. This made a total of 7. Meanwhile Paris had acquired two. Things would have continued roseate but she didn't stop and get only one run after the third. Paris got three in the fourth and seven in the fifth which caused Lockhead to reel from the box. Lucid succeeded him and did not do much better.

The locals hit Bateman harder than any other club that has faced him this year. They made eleven hits for a total of eighteen bases, while Paris made sixteen hits for a total of twenty-one bases.

POINDEXTER'S LET UP

PoinDEXTER isn't doing his share at the bat. He has not landed one in safe territory since the team left home. Disch continues to slug the ball; got a double and a triple yesterday.

Today it is Sorrells' turn to face Paris. Sullivan seems to have gathered a hard-hitting bunch about him, but it is safe betting that it is no stronger at bat than Manager Ward's team, if as strong. Two out of three at Paris would satisfy the local fans.

CORSICANA AGAIN VICTOR

CORSICANA, Texas, April 30.—Corsicana made only one base hit and no runs up to the seventh inning yesterday; then she fell on Reagan who was in the box for Dallas for four runs. Zook displayed excellent form in the box; the visitors got only three hits; he gave four bases to first, however.

ROME, April 30.—Miss Elizabeth Kemp, one of this year's most prominent American visitors, who has attracted much attention by her unusual musical gifts—a fine horsewoman and passionately devoted to all kinds of equestrian sports—has astonished her Italian friends by entertaining them at a "horse tea" at her villa, near Porta Pia, a function similar to C. K. Billings' "horse dinner" in New York.

The tea took place in the handsome stables attached to Miss Kemp's establishment, and all the prominent sportsmen and women of the city were her guests. Roman society seems delighted with the originality of the idea, and similar entertainments are promised.

BASEBALL MORALLY GOOD

Manager Donovan of the St. Louis Cardinals talks sound sense when he says: "Everyone knows how baseball betters a man physically, but I contend and can prove that it is of benefit to him morally as well. This is because no man who can succeed in the major leagues of the period."

Speaking of young colts who enter the big leagues from the minor organizations, Donovan says: "When a young player becomes associated with the best class of players of the senior leagues, who have achieved success by being temperate in their habits and honorable in their actions, their influences are at once directed, in a quiet way, to make him as they are. If the effort is not successful and the player persists in his dissipation there is the same result here as there would be in any other business—the dissipated person is dropped out and a steadier and better man takes his place."

"The day of brilliant inebriates is past. It is day of steady, brainy young fellows who are willing to work, and work hard, is at hand. Baseball is a business. It requires just as much study and just as much attention to win success in that line as it does to build up great mercantile establishments. Haphazard methods will no more do in the national game than they will in the wholesale grocery business."

"I have said that to win success in the baseball world requires hard work and much study. There is no profession which requires closer attention. You must practice all the time. You must take care of your health. Never take any risks, for you must, above all things, be physically perfect."

BRYAN TALKS OF GOOD ROADS NEED

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 28.—At Tuesday's session of the National Good Roads convention, one of the most prominent speakers was W. J. Bryan, whose remarks were enthusiastically received. Other speakers were General Nelson A. Miles, ex-Governor Hogg of Texas and Hon. J. Jesse of the University of Missouri.

BRYAN'S ADDRESS
Mr. Bryan said in part: "The expenditure of money for the permanent improvement of the common roads can be defended, first, as a matter of justice to the people who live in the country; second, as a matter of advantage to the people who do not live in the country; and third, on the ground that the welfare of the nation demands that the comforts of country life shall, as far as possible, keep pace with the comforts of city life."

"It is a well-known fact, or a fact easily ascertained, that the people in the country, while paying their full share of county, state and federal taxes, receive as a rule only the general benefits of government, while the people in the cities have, in addition to the protection afforded by the government, the advantages arising out of the expenditure of public moneys in their midst."

FOR THE FARMER
"The improvement of the country roads can be justified also on the ground that the farmer, the first and most important of the producers of wealth, ought to be in a position to hold his crop and market it at the most favorable opportunity, whereas at present he is virtually under compulsion to sell it as soon as it is matured, because the roads may become impassable at any time during the fall, winter or spring. Instead of being his own warehouseman, the farmer is compelled to employ middlemen and share with them the profit upon his labor. The farmer has a right, too, to insist upon roads that will enable him to go to town to the schoolhouse and to the homes of his neighbors, as occasion may require, and with the extension of rural delivery he has an additional need for good roads in order that he may be kept in communication with the outside world."

WELFARE IMPORTANT
"It is important for the welfare of our government and for the improvement of our civilization that we make life upon the farm as attractive as possible. Notwithstanding the introduction of free letter delivery, the telephone, manufacturing plants and the extension of electric car lines, there still remains a pressing need for better country roads, a need emphasized and made more apparent by the placement of city streets. As long as mud placed an embargo upon the city traffic the farmer could bear his mud-made isolation with less complaint, but with the improvement of city streets and with the establishment of parks and boulevards just demands for better roads find increasing expression. The people now realize that bad roads are indefensible and are prepared to consider the remedy."

CROP CONDITIONS DURING PAST WEEK

The weekly summary of weather and crop conditions, issued from the Galveston office of the weather bureau this week, bears a new name. Instead of E. H. Bowie, station director, appears the name of L. K. Murdoch. Mr. Bowie has gone to St. Louis, to become local forecaster, and Mr. Murdoch is his successor. The summary is as follows:

WEATHER CONDITIONS
Widely scattered showers occurred during the week, but the rainfall was generally too light to be of much service. The ground is too dry and hard to be worked in many places. Rain is also much needed by all growing crops and to germinate seed planted since the drouthy conditions began. Fresh to brisk northerly winds generally prevailed. The average temperature for the week was below normal, the greatest deficiency occurring in the northeast counties. On the whole, the weather conditions were quite unfavorable for farm work and plant growth.

COTTON
Very little progress was made in planting on account of the dry and hard condition of the soil. Much of the seed in the ground cannot germinate until rain occurs. The early planted made poor to fair stands. The cool nights prevented much growth, but the condition of the plants is generally good.

CORN
Good stands were not secured and in many places replanting is in progress. Chinch bugs are doing some damage to the plants in Bosque, Falls and Van Zandt counties. This crop would be greatly benefited by a good rain.

WHEAT, RYE AND OATS
The grain crop is generally suffering as a result of the dry weather, and some damage by rust is reported from Atascosa, Comanche, Coryell, Gonzales, Hamilton, Hays, Medina, Milam, Williamson and Wise counties. The condition of wheat has deteriorated considerably during the week. Fall oats are still in good condition, but spring sown oats have suffered from lack of moisture.

RICE
The seeding of this crop is still in progress.

SUGAR CANE
The crop is in need of rain and is turning yellow in places.

MISCELLANEOUS CROPS

FEDERATION MEETS IN DENTON, TEXAS

DENTON, Texas, April 30.—The first annual convention of the Second District of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs met here yesterday. There are thirty-six clubs belonging to the district, each of which had a delegate in the convention. An interesting program was carried out at Wright's opera-house, interesting even to those present who had no special interest in the women's club work. Two of the most interesting and instructive things in the program were the paper read by Miss Myra M. Winchester of Fort Worth, on "The Kindergarten," and the address of Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the federation.

A full set of district officers for the ensuing two years was elected, including a heavy rainfall. The speaker of the day was Mrs. J. D. Osborn of Cleburne, the retiring district president, being selected to represent the district at the national convention.

AMARILLO GETS A HEAVY RAINFALL

AMARILLO, Texas, April 29.—This section was visited last night with a heavy rainfall. The wind shifted to the north during the night and there was a rapid fall in temperature, the thermometer now being near the freezing point. Snow was falling at noon today, but indications are good now for clear weather.

H. B. Martin of the Western Advocate of this place left today for Denver, Col., where he will be married on May 4 to Miss Beatrice Kemp of that city. After the wedding they will go to Fort Worth, where Mr. Martin is due to attend the meeting of the executive committee of the Northwest Texas Press Association on May 8.

W. W. Gatewood, a prominent attorney of Roswell, N. M., is in the city on legal business.

Hon. Lee Satterwhite of Wortham is in Amarillo this week, and expects to locate here permanently. Mr. Satterwhite was a member of the twenty-seventh legislature and a clerk of the house during the last session.

SAYS THE DURBAR WAS MAGNIFICENT

NEW YORK, April 30.—Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter and her daughter, Miss Daisy Leiter, who took part in the durbar at Delhi, India, in which Lord Curzon, the viceroy, and Mrs. Leiter's daughter, his wife, played the leading roles, and who returned on the steamship Oceanic after an absence of nearly a year, had a rough homeward voyage.

On Tuesday, while Mrs. Leiter was sitting with her daughter on the deck, a sea struck the ship and the chair, which was not lashed, slid toward the rail. Mrs. Leiter was saved from collision with the rail, or perhaps from going overboard, by other passengers. Mrs. Leiter and Miss Leiter were seasick nearly the whole trip. Of the ceremony of the proclamation of Edward VII. as sovereign of his Asiatic possessions, Mrs. Leiter said: "It was grand, magnificent, impossible to describe."

CURES CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

One Week's Use of Hyomel Did More Than Six Months' Treatment by Specialists

In the treatment of deafness which is often a result of catarrh, Hyomel acts almost immediately upon the inflamed membrane and the hearing begins to return at once. A few days' treatment will bring relief, and in three or four weeks, according to the severity of the case, a cure will be accomplished.

Miss Meeks of Mattawan, N. Y., says: "Hyomel is truly wonderful. I have used it but a short time and see a great change in my condition. My hearing is improving rapidly, and I had no idea I would improve so rapidly in so short a time. My breath which was very offensive to myself and others, has lost its bad odor entirely. I have spent a great deal of money with catarrh specialists and can truly say that six months of their treatment is not equal to one month of Hyomel."

GRAND LODGE FOR HOUSTON IN 1904

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS IN CLOSING SESSION THIS AFTERNOON

Many Amendments and Resolutions Proposed—Routine Business of the Morning—Grand Lodge Officers Elected—Reception This Evening

The closing session of the thirtieth Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, is being held this afternoon. This evening the representatives will attend a reception by the Rathbone Sisters at K. P. hall, which will conclude the program of the week.

MEET AT HOUSTON IN 1904

The Grand Lodge next year will be held at Houston, the selection having been made at the close of the session yesterday afternoon. There will be a lively contest on between Houston, San Antonio and Brownwood for the meeting. On first ballot Houston received 31, San Antonio 22, Brownwood 15. Brownwood was dropped and Houston winning the next Grand Lodge.

IMPORTANT CHANGE

An important proceeding this morning was the amendment of the laws creating the state into 31 districts to be known and numbered from 1 to 31, each district to be composed of the counties of and numbered in accordance with the present senatorial districts of Texas, as fixed by the laws of the state.

ROUTINE BUSINESS

The Grand Lodge met promptly this morning at the appointed hour, 8 o'clock. The drop in the temperature caused the representatives, especially those from South Texas, to call for hot air, but the kind that flows from the tongue of the orator, but the genuine article.

Today being the last day, the enactment of new laws and the adoption of amendments was mainly the business transacted. The law was changed so that a holder of a transfer card may apply, subject to the provisions of sections 204, 205 and 206, supreme statutes, except paragraph 3 of section 204, which shall not apply to applicants for deposit of transfer card.

Section 237, chapter 11, grand statutes was repealed. Grand statutes were changed providing for chancellor commanders of subordinate lodges to appoint a committee to school applicants in the unwritten law before they could be advanced.

The judiciary committee recommended that a committee of three be appointed, with the grand chancellor and grand keeper of records and seal, as ex-officio members for the purpose of codifying the grand statutes. Grand Chancellor Bonner appointed F. J. Bell, H. E. Ellis and H. L. Stuart. By vote of the lodge, Grand Chancellor Bonner was added.

FINE PROVIDED

Section 165, grand statutes, was amended providing that subordinate lodges shall be fined 25 cents per day each day thereafter, if they do not have their per capita tax in the hands of the grand keeper of records and seal by the first day of February and August of each year. The amendment has a proviso that the grand chancellor may remit the fine after an investigation if he deems it to the best interest.

Section 45 of the grand statutes was amended by adding: "This fund shall not be subject to partition among the members of the lodge, and in case a lodge shall cease to exist said fund shall revert to the grand lodge."

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

A resolution was adopted instructing the supreme representatives to offer an amendment to the supreme grand lodge constituting creating the Rathbone Sisters a branch of the order of the Knights of Pythias.

A resolution was unanimously adopted honoring Supreme Representative H. P. Brown for supreme vice chancellor and instructing the supreme representatives to use all honorable means to secure his election.

A resolution was adopted instructing the supreme representatives to make an effort to enact a law and so change the existing law that a failure to pay an assessment during the current month, in which a member may die will not have the effect of forfeiting his certificate of insurance in the Endowment Rank, but that the payment of a monthly assessment in any one month shall have the effect of continuing said certificate in force until the day when by the law the assessment may be paid on the next succeeding month.

A resolution was adopted instructing all grand representatives of subordinate lodges to bring the matter of locating the Widows' and Orphans' Home and Industrial School before their lodges, and should the said lodge or city in which it is situated desire to submit a bid, that it be at once forwarded to the chairman of the board of trustees of said Widows' and Orphans' Home.

Resolutions were adopted thanking the Rathbone Sisters for donations to the home fund. The resolutions commend the Rathbone Sisters and bid them God-speed in their great work of disseminating the ennobling principles of friendship, charity and benevolence.

GRAND LODGE OFFICERS

Nearly the entire session yesterday afternoon was consumed in the election of officers, the result being as follows: Supreme representatives—John M. Adams of Fort Worth and H. P. Brown of Cleburne, for the long terms, and Benjamin Rogers of Brenham, for the short term.

GRAND CHANCELLOR—John Olin of San Antonio.

GRAND VICE CHANCELLOR—F. J. Bell of Dallas.

MASTER OF EXCHEQUER—W. F. Skillman of Sulphur Springs.

Grand master-at-arms—D. P. Thomas of Garland.

STRIKE OF DRIVERS SEMMS INEVITABLE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 30.—The Team Drivers' Union of this city has voted to strike tomorrow if its demands for shorter hours and higher wages are not granted. The teamsters have picked this time because they think their strike will be most effective on May 1, when every horse and wagon in town is demanded for moving household goods.

Their demands are for a ten-hour day, employment of only union men, double wages for holidays, a wage rate of $12 a week for drivers of one-horse drays and $12.50 for drivers of four-horse teams. All drivers are to demand one and one-half wages for overtime. The owners of trucking establishments say the demands are impossible, and a strike seems inevitable.

RAILROAD Y. M. C. A. MEETING AT TOPEKA

TOPEKA, Kan., April 30.—In the auditorium today presidents and managers of great trunk lines sat side by side and exchanged views with clerks, brakemen, switchmen and other railroad employes, the occasion being the opening of the eleventh international railroad conference of the Young Men's Christian Association.

The rapidity with which the movement has grown in recent years was evidenced by the large and representative attendance. More than one thousand delegates were present, representing all branches of the railroad service, from the present of the road down to the humblest employe. Not only were the railroads of the United States represented, but there were delegates from Mexico, Canada, Denmark and other countries where the Y. M. C. A. has gained a foothold.

The session this afternoon marked the formal opening of the gathering. It was given over to addresses of welcome and responses, the roll call, appointment of committees and other work of a routine nature. Tomorrow will be the big day of the conference, when President Roosevelt will be here to address the delegates and also to officiate at the laying of the cornerstone of the new association building in this city.

MASSACHUSETTS HAS BIG FOREST FIRE

GARDNER, Mass., April 30.—A forest fire which broke out in Baldwinville last Tuesday has burned over more than six hundred acres of woodland in Baldwinville and Templeton and spread toward the village of Templeton. A large force of farmers is fighting the flames, and the Templeton fire department has been called upon to assist.

At last reports the fire was still unconquered and had destroyed a large area of standing timber. The Baldwinville fire department has joined the Templeton department and altogether seventy-five men with apparatus are fighting the blaze.

BIGAMIST SMITH GETS FOUR YEARS

Burglar Thomas Pleads Guilty and Is Sent Up for Three Years—Previously Given Four Years in Parker County, Now to Be Tried in Dallas

In the Seventeenth district court this morning E. H. R. Smith, alias Dick Smith, pleaded guilty to bigamy and was sentenced by the jury to four years in the penitentiary.
Smith came to Fort Worth from Palo Pinto county some time ago. He left his wife behind him. On March 1 of this year a license was issued to him to marry Miss Josie Culp of this city. The ceremony was performed by Justice Charles P. Rowland. The arrest of Smith followed. Several officers from Palo Pinto county were present in court to testify against the man.

MANY CHARGES
In the same court today Wm. Thomas pleaded guilty to burglary. He robbed W. H. Tanner's house about a month ago of a valuable mandolin, some money and some costly jewelry. The jury gave him three years in the pen. Thomas a few days ago was convicted of horse stealing in Parker county in two cases and was given two years in each. Another case is pending against him at Weatherford. He will now be taken to Dallas for trial on two burglary charges there. They are certainly taking him down the line. He already is facing seven years in the pen, and the end is not yet.

MILAM STILL ILL
The continued illness of Judge R. F. Milam today again caused the half-tried cases against Officers Terres and Holley to go over. Judge Milam is suffering from an attack of the grip and from the aftereffects of an operation performed on his nose several days ago. He probably will not be out before Saturday. His fever for several days has been high.

Detective Jim Thomason this morning made cases in the county attorney's office against a man who gave the name of William Smith and a woman who goes under the name of Hamilton. The two have been living at a fashionable Fort Worth boarding-house as man and wife. The charge against them is adultery.

A case was made by the county attorney this morning against a negro named Anthony Hawkins, charged with the robbery of Morehouse and Mrs. Sadio Meryfield.
R. M. Johnson and Miss V. Brady.

A TWO CENT STAMP CAUSED HIS ARREST

NEW ALBANY, Ind., April 30.—James L. Miller, a letter carrier of Jeffersonville and a brother of the state attorney general, has been arrested by a United States deputy marshal on a charge of violating the postal laws. The direct charge against him is that he collected 2-cent postage due on a letter and failed to affix the postage due stamp or to turn the money into the Jeffersonville post-office. The alleged offense was committed over a year ago and was discovered recently in an inspection of the post-office by postoffice inspectors. There is talk of other offenses, but this is the only direct charge against him.
Miller is 60 years of age and an old resident of Jeffersonville. He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Cardwell in this city, where the case was continued until next Saturday, and he furnished bond for his appearance for trial.
