KANSAS CITY SWEEP BY A LAKE OF RUSHING WATER NEVER EQUALLED IN THE CITY'S HISTORY

THOUSANDS ARE NOW HOMELESS

RAGING KAW ENTERS AND DRIVES INHABITANTS TO HIGHLANDS AND PUBLIC BUILDINGS FOR SAFETY FROM STREAM

TOPEKA CONDITIONS

Not So Serious As First Reported - Damage More than a Million But Loss of Life Will Be Under Twenty--Des Moines Is Recovering

The following stories were received in the city today from private correspondents in Kansas City. They tell most graphically the story of the actual conditions as they are in that city today:

PICTURE OF THE FLOOD KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 1--If you can imagine Chicago under water from Twelfth street south to Washington Park, from eight to twenty-five feet, and the lake running wild through the stock yards and packing houses, you can get a small idea of our condition here.

There is no water to drink or cook with. There are no electric lights or street cars. Every available horse has been in use since Saturday, and all are played out. Elevators, hotels, warehouses, packing houses are crumbling and going down.

There is no meat or bread to be had except that left on wagons and in show cases since Saturday night. Gasoline and coal oil tanks are floating down the river. Thousands of families are in the flooded district and are on the hill, wet through, and it is still raining. It is awful.

ANOTHER STORY Another correspondent, writing of the flood, says:

"Conditions could hardly be worse. The water supply is cut off, and probably will be for several days. All street cars are abandoned. The railroads are paralyzed. All bridges across the Kaw have been washed away. Armourdale and Harlem are entirely under water.

"The bridges across the Missouri river are of no use. Probably 25,000 people are homeless. The railroad loss is enormous. The Missouri Pacific is said to have lost fifteen engines. Nine feet of water is in the Union depot. The wholesale district is abandoned. All the packing houses are closed.

SEVENTEEN ENGINES LOST The last of the Rock Island's bridges has gone down with seventeen locomotives on it.

COMPELS FACTORIES TO STOP ENGINES

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 1--The desolate aspect of the flood situation here showed no improvement this morning, except that the fires which it was feared last night would spread were put out by the rain and the flood itself. So far as all communication is concerned, the city is almost an island.

The only communication, and that was very uncertain, was by roads running southeast. Business all over the city is suspended.

Manufacturers on the high ground were compelled to shut down owing to the almost total shutting off of the water supply. No street cars are running nor are any railroad trains going to or from the city north, west or south.

The blockade at the outlet to the southeast was so severe that traffic in that direction is practically at a standstill. Great anxiety is felt for the safety of the people of Kansas City, Kan. There has been no communication with that city since yesterday and exhaustive efforts to get word from there this morning failed of any result.

Five reporters who crossed the Kaw river yesterday before the flood became so serious have not been heard from since. Telegraph and telephone wires to the north, south and west are down and there are only a few wires in shape to do business to the east.

ROSE DURING NIGHT The river gauge this morning showed thirty-five feet, having risen from 20.7 during the night. This is nearly nine feet higher than the previous high record, made in 1881. There is eight feet of water in the Union depot. A great, swirling lake dotted with floating cottages, telegraph poles and other wreckage, covers the lowlands as far as the eye can reach.

Similar floating objects came rushing down the Missouri river, some thought was possible from Topeka. The committee having in charge the relief work and rescue are busy today, and a special meeting of the city council was held during the forenoon. Thousands of refugees at the convention hall made their breakfasts from the liberal rations issued by the relief committee.

The police have been ordered to shoot on sight any one caught plundering.

The number of lives lost in this vicinity cannot be learned for some time and probably will never be known definitely; however, there seems to be ample verification of the reports which account for the loss of more than a dozen lives in the bottoms. The keenest anxiety is felt over the situation at Kansas City, Kansas.

One rumor was circulated during the night that scores of people perished in that city but owing to the fact that there has been absolutely no communication with that place since yesterday, there is general disposition to discredit this and other sensational reports. That there has been some loss of life there, however, is regarded as probable.

PACKING-HOUSE LOSSES The losses in the wholesale district will aggregate well into the millions. The losses at the various packing-houses nearer the river will be tremendous. The nearer the river will be the big Armour packing plant is under five feet of water. Armour & Co. have a force of 200 men working at the pumps trying to keep the rising waters out of the buildings. At the superintendent's office it was stated that the plant will continue in operation with a full force unless the water goes much higher.

All of the hundreds of smaller concerns near the ordinary banks of the Missouri river, which depend upon the river for water, are under water, and they will be forced to suspend until the river recedes, throwing thousands of men out of employment.

Three-fourths of Armourdale was submerged under an ocean of water. The packing-houses on the Kansas river here were entirely surrounded and fifteen feet of water surrounded the Schwarzschild-Sulzberger and Swift packing plants.

STOCK YARDS SUBMERGED The entire stock yards, situated on the state line, are submerged, and the pens being five feet under water. The pens being five feet under water. The pens being five feet under water. The pens being five feet under water.

as many head of cattle and horses have been drowned, and the loss at this point will be very heavy. All night the forces of the stock yards men were at work rescuing live stock. Hundreds of men are being brought up into town.

RESCUING SUFFERERS KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 1--At 9 o'clock this morning it was reported at police headquarters there had been no further loss of life during the night as far as is known.

All along the bank of the river wagons containing ropes were stationed during this morning. In order that any emergency could be promptly met. Early in the morning it was announced there were a number of people on the Milwaukee bridge, and it was decided to send a ferry boat to their rescue.

An additional call was made from the hotel situated at the intersection of Fourteenth and Genesee streets, where a number of people were reported to be held in the upper stories of the building.

A ferry boat was also ordered to take them off at the earliest practicable moment.

Word also came up from the stock yards that there were twenty or thirty people caught by the flood in that district.

They are said to be in no immediate danger, however, and probably will not be taken off until late today or tomorrow.

It was reported to headquarters this morning that a number of men were looting houses in the east bottoms. The looters had improvised rafts from boards and by propelling them with poles, were making their way into the houses through the second story windows.

As soon as this word was received by Chief of Police Hay, he ordered a detachment of officers to the place, with orders that if the story was found to be true, that the thieves should be shot down at once.

DRINKING WATER IS BADLY NEEDED

TOPEKA, Kan., June 1--It is now believed that the total number of lives lost in the flood here will not exceed twenty. No lives were lost in the fires and only eight buildings were destroyed by fire. Early reports were unavoidably exaggerated. The burning lumber piles gave the impression that the whole north end was going and no one was found who placed his estimate of the loss of life under hundreds.

KAW STOPS RISING AT TOPEKA TODAY

TOPEKA, Kan., June 1--At 8 o'clock this morning the Kaw river was almost at a standstill with a slight tendency to falling. There was no rising water from above. Rain has fallen without ceasing for the last seventy-two hours, but at no time has it been in the nature of a cloudburst. The situation at North Topeka is improving. There is but little more danger of death from drowning. Except in isolated cases, the refugees have been cared for. Many are wearing insufficient clothing. Hundreds are sleeping in improvised beds, but it is believed all have been cared for.

TOTAL LOSS OF LIFE LESS THAN A SCORE

TOPEKA, Kan., June 1--The following is the list of known dead: Henry J. Dan, colored; Mr. Ward, an aged man; Arthur Stitt; the 5-year-old son of Mr. Garrett; George M. Story; Miss Louise Seabaven; Mrs. Jackson, a widow; Henry Luddington; John Adams; Mrs. Ida Mont.

BURGLARS THROW PEPPER IN DALLAS

DALLAS, Texas, June 1--At midnight burglars attempted to rob the safe of Craig's drug store, at Main and Akard streets. A clerk grappled with the man who had the cash drawer and the robber dropped it and ran. Someone threw pepper in the clerk's eyes. The police have locked up one man and three women and they are charged with the crime.

EXPLAINS THE TERMS OF THE CUBAN LOAN

NEW YORK, June 1--Edmund G. Vaughan of Havana, vice president of the National Bank of Cuba, has arrived in this city. In conversation regarding the proposed $35,000,000 government loan of Cuba he said:

"You understand that these bonds are not yet ready to be offered for sale. President Palma and his cabinet are following in this matter the same business-like and conservative policy which a review of their actions will show has characterized their administration from the beginning, and which has resulted in a good treasury balance on hand and at the same time excellent sanitary conditions and a good amount of public improvement. In other words, the administration is 'cutting its coat according to its cloth.'

"At the present time the Cuban government is engaged in preparing a schedule of its resources in order to determine correctly the income and the amount of bonds on which it will be able to pay interest and provide a sinking fund for the retirement of such bonds, in order that it may present in a definite and businesslike way its proposition to prospective bond purchasers. The amount of study and detail in connection with such work can well be imagined and will explain any apparent delay in making a government bond issue.

"In regard to the bonds of 1896, I can only say that Cuba is desirous and realizes the importance of maintaining her credit and her whole course has been such as to assure that all of her obligations may be attributed to the causes of which I have spoken before, as the payment of these bonds must be provided for in the national issue.

"As to general business conditions in Cuba, they are healthy. A great deal of capital is coming in for investment and for the purpose of lending to planters on their crops. Great activity is only restrained by the fact of the uncertainty of reciprocal trade relations--not necessarily with the United States, but with some countries adjoining the market.

"The United States claims to have a primary right or option on Cuba's trade--such right is reduced to a reciprocal treaty. I say without hesitation that the business people of Cuba only ask the United States to determine either to exercise their right or to reject it absolutely. They have the fullest confidence that Cuba has within herself ample resources to enable her to make other arrangements insuring her abundant prosperity."

PREDICTS BIG CROWDS FOR WACO MEETING

DALLAS, Texas, June 1--General W. H. Patterson, president of the State Association of Elks and commander in chief of the army, has returned from southern Texas, where he has been on an official tour connected with lodge matters. General Patterson said:

"There was never before in Texas such manifest interest and enthusiasm in the welfare of the order of Elks as exists today. Aside from the fact that new lodges are being rapidly organized, new life pervades the old members, and the noble cause of this grand order is being heralded and spreading. We will have a great gathering at Waco. I predict several thousand brothers will be in attendance, aside from an array of beautiful sponsors and visitors from this and other states. There will be bands of music galore. Our parade will be grand in extent and make-up, while additional attractive features of the program will crown the occasion's great success. I was the guest of the Waco lodge during the past week, and was most royally entertained. The city will do herself proud next month. Not only the Elks, but the citizens generally, are alive and active, and will leave nothing undone for the enjoyment and entertainment of their coming visitors."

IN MEMORY OF BRIGHAM YOUNG

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 1--Today was the one hundred and third anniversary of the birth of Brigham Young and the anniversary was observed in the customary manner by the descendants and admirers of the great Mormon leader. The chief feature of the observance was the holding of a family reunion at Salt Lake.

TIOGA, Texas, May 30--The Baptists of Grayson county are holding their fifth Sunday meeting at this place. Ministers from all over the county are present. A protracted meeting will follow immediately.

GOES TO EUROPE WITH HIS PILE

Daniel J. Sully After Cleaning up Two Millions in Cotton Will Go Abroad for the Remainder of the Year

NEW YORK, June 1--Daniel J. Sully, late king of the cotton market, has closed out his big deal and has not a bale of cotton, either long or short. He has cashed in all his profits and the money has been divided between himself and the two Wall street operators who backed him.

The three members of his syndicate have had luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria, congratulations have been exchanged and Mr. Sully will sail for Europe Wednesday to be gone the remainder of this year.

The profits of this pool were $2,050,000 and each member received one-third. This profit was made without the actual expenditure of a single dollar, although there was an agreement to make good losses to the extent of $4 million dollars, if any should develop. Not a dollar was ever called for.

Immediate friends of Mr. Sully who followed his movements made upward of 10 million dollars, it is said, and if any of them are still in the market it is against the advice of their former leader.

INSIDE STORY OF SULLY DEAL This is the true story of the Sully deal as told last night by one of his two backers:

"I chanced to meet Mr. Sully early last winter, and he astonished me with a relation of what he declared was the real situation in cotton. I had long known him as an expert on the stuff, and so accepted his figures as final. He satisfied me that there would be practically a famine in cotton. We agreed at once to get some money together and go into a deal to be closed up in May. He furnished some cash and all the experience, while I got a friend to go in with us.

"Much to our surprise, we were never called on to put up one dollar. We bought in all 200,000 bales, at an average of 9.02 cents, and sold it at an average of 11.05, taking total profits of $2,050,000, which was divided equally. Sully caught cotton on the rise, and our profits carried us along.

STARTED IN LAST WINTER "Sully began buying early in the winter, long before Theodore Price unloaded. He would buy options in cotton, and as they matured or leaped up would sell out and transfer to a later month. The biggest part of the deal was in March and May. The market turns Sully was able to execute paid our brokerage, expenses and interest charges, so that our profit is all net.

"It is very funny to us to see the public excitement. Sully was reported at the head of a huge syndicate with noble cause of this grand order is being heralded and spreading. We will have a great gathering at Waco. I predict several thousand brothers will be in attendance, aside from an array of beautiful sponsors and visitors from this and other states. There will be bands of music galore. Our parade will be grand in extent and make-up, while additional attractive features of the program will crown the occasion's great success. I was the guest of the Waco lodge during the past week, and was most royally entertained. The city will do herself proud next month. Not only the Elks, but the citizens generally, are alive and active, and will leave nothing undone for the enjoyment and entertainment of their coming visitors."

HUBBY'S PISTOL TO HELP HER APPETITE

NEW YORK, June 1--Breakfast, eaten under persuasion of her husband's revolver, tea and coffee swallowed when she did not want to drink them, a love letter and an arrest are items in the complaint of Mrs. Irvine Graham, niece of a wealthy resident of Tarrytown. She is suing for separation from Frank B. Graham. Judge Dickey ordered the defendant to pay his wife $250 as counsel fee and $5 a week alimony. Mrs. Graham said in her complaint that Graham gave her only twenty-five cents a day for household expenses. It was his habit, she alleges, to sit at the breakfast table with a pistol beside his plate and force her, at the point of it, to eat food when she had no desire for food, and to drink hot tea and coffee when it caused her much pain.

PLAGUE VICTIMS ARE DEAD IN LIMA, PERU

NEW YORK, June 1--Two employes of the Milne's flour mill, who were attacked by bubonic plague, died in the isolation tents at Calta Saturday, cables the Herald correspondent at Lima, Peru. They had been in the tents twenty-two days.

GETS A FORTUNE FOR SAVING RICH WOMAN

NEW YORK, June 1--Some years ago, when Charles McCaffrey was a boy, he spent much of his time about the docks in Oswego, N. Y., and became one of the best swimmers in town. Mr. McCaffrey is now a traveling salesman for a Buffalo firm, and on a trip through the West in 1891 he stopped in Two Harbors, Minn., one day in June. Three women were walking on the pier that night, when one of them stubbed her toe, lost her balance and plunged into the water.

McCaffrey saw the accident and leaped to the rescue. After a long struggle he managed to save the drowning woman and bore her to land. She was Mrs. Elizabeth Morton, a widow from California and rich. As a mark of gratitude Mrs. Morton offered McCaffrey money and wished to set him up in business. He declined these offers, but they corresponded until her death recently in San Francisco.

Mr. McCaffrey has now been notified by Mrs. Morton's lawyers that he is one of the principal heirs to her estate of half million dollars and his presence is desired in that city. Mr. McCaffrey's legacy will amount to $200,000.

FERRIS WHEEL TO BE SOLD AS JUNK

CHICAGO, June 1--The Ferris wheel, which has brought joy to the children of the North side at twenty-five cents a ride since 1896, when it was torn down and removed from the World's fair grounds to Ferris Wheel park, opposite the Illinois car barns on the North side, will be torn down and sold for junk to satisfy creditors. An order has been entered in Judge Chytrous' court providing for the tearing down of the massive wheel and the selling of the iron for the creditors, principal among which is the Illinois Trust and Savings Company bank. L. V. Rice, who has been manager of the wheel for several years past, was appointed receiver by the court. Bids will be received on the property June 1. It is said that the junk in the wheel will not bring over $15,000, while the total indebtedness of the Ferris Wheel Company is near half million dollars.

BULL GETS GAY IN BUSY BARBER SHOP

PHILADELPHIA, June 1--A mad bull took possession of Schloftwan's barber shop, 709 Fourth street, Saturday night and in fifteen minutes wrecked the place and ruined the property. There were fifteen men in the shop when the bull entered and when they rushed for the door they found it locked. The bull had come by the back door. It caught Jacob Pollunonsky and threw him across the room, breaking his leg. The other men got under chairs and climbed on top of the stands. The bull caught sight of himself in a big mirror and rushed forward, demoralizing it. The men were terrorized and the work of destruction was seen by hundreds who stood watching the scene through the windows. Police broke in the door and liberated the frightened men. The bull charged out and finally fell in the street and died.

PRUSSIA'S MINISTER OF FINANCE IS HERE

CHICAGO, Ill., June 1--Baron Von Rheinbaben, Prussian minister of finance, accompanied by Privy Councillor Moritz Von Boeker of Remscheid, Germany; F. Von Mersen, United States deputy consul general in Berlin; Secretary Von Chellor-Stelwartz of the imperial German legation in Washington and J. K. Hand of New York, a representative of J. Pierpont Morgan, have arrived at Chicago from a tour through the west and will remain here for several days.

STORMY "SKIS" IN A CHICAGO HOME

CHICAGO, Ill., June 1--While murderously attacking Mrs. E. Schmerjalski, A. Frank Lizinski, his brother-in-law, was struck on the head with a flatiron by one of her sons and thrown down a flight of stairs. A half hour later Lizinski was dead. Whether he died as a result of the blow or committed suicide after being ejected cannot be decided until the inquest. Burns of carbolic acid were found on his mouth.

EXCESSIVE RAINS DO SLIGHT DAMAGE

TYLER, Texas, June 1--The heaviest rain in years visited this country the latter portion of last week, and while it was very beneficial to all growing crops, and much needed, it was quite destructive to some sections of the county, judging from different reports. Lands were washed considerably, crops destroyed in low lands, and roads washed out nearly impassable.

SINGING CONVENTION

Several young people of Tyler went out to Hickory Grove, a few miles south of town today, where they joined their friends of that section in the musical pastime of the Fifth Sunday Singing convention. Dinner--a sumptuous one--was spread at noon, and quite an enjoyable day was spent. Next Sunday the music lovers are bled to meet at Chapel Hill, just east of the city.

A CROWD MET AT THE HOSPITABLE HOME

A crowd met at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Massey where they were very pleasantly entertained by Miss Emma and Nellie Massey. Berry shippers were compelled to abandon shipping the last few days on account of rain, and had their berries given away for the picking.

START TO SURVEY BAHAMA ISLANDS

Scientific Expedition Leaves New York to Gather Valuable Data Relating to Region - Many Noted Men Going

BALTIMORE, Md., June 1.—An expedition organized for a scientific survey of the Bahama Islands, under the auspices of the Geographical Society, of which Dr. Daniel C. Gilman of Carnegie Institution is president, will sail from this port this afternoon on the William Van Name, a schooner, chartered for the purpose, which is well supplied with all scientific apparatus and machinery necessary for the objects of the voyage.

The vessel is commanded by Captain C. B. Flowers and Dr. George B. Shattuck is director of the expedition and chief of the geological staff. The other scientists in the party are: Dr. Oliver L. Fassig, section director of the United States weather bureau, chief of the staff for climatology and physics.

J. E. Routh, Johns Hopkins University, assistant in climatology and physics. Dr. P. L. Miller, professor in Bryn Mawr College, geologist. Dr. Clement A. Penrose, vice director and surgeon of the expedition and chief of the medical staff.

Q. E. Eyster, H. P. Cole, E. B. Beasley and T. H. Coffin, Johns Hopkins medical school, assistants to Dr. Penrose. Dr. W. C. Coker, University of North Carolina, chief of the botany staff. C. A. Shore and M. F. Haines, University of North Carolina, botany assistants. Barton A. Dean, curator of fishes in the United States National Museum, chief of staff for marine zoology.

J. B. G. Curtis and J. A. Lewis, Johns Hopkins University, assistants in marine zoology. J. H. Riley, curator of the United States museum, chief of staff for land zoology. S. H. Derickson, assistant in land zoology. C. M. Mooney, United States department of agriculture, soil survey. J. C. Britton and E. C. Hughes, United States department of agriculture, assistants to Mr. Mooney. W. M. Wright, Johns Hopkins University, historian. A. H. Baldwin of Washington, artist. Sir Gillist of the Carter, British governor of the Bahamas, will accompany the expedition on a part of its explorations.

Among the adjuncts taken along is an eighteen-foot gasoline launch to be utilized along the inlets and estuaries of the islands, and a glass-bottomed boat. The latter is a large dory, the interior being painted black and the bottom covered with two heavy plates of clear glass, through which objects below the surface may be observed.

The expedition will erect a bench-mark monument, a granite shaft five feet long, at Nassau, to determine whether the land surface is rising or falling. Its height will change with oscillations in the crust of the earth. Several large kites will be used to carry self-registering apparatus above the trade winds and into the anti-trade winds. Magnetic instruments to measure the dip and the inclination of the needle at the various stations throughout the archipelago will be used.

SMASH BY DISCH DID THE BUSINESS

HIS HOME RUN DRIVE BROKE ZOOK'S HEART Silvery Deluge Greeted the Acting Captain—Sorrels Was Hit Hard and Often, But Not as Hard and Often as the Corsicana Twirler

When Disch lifted the ball over the fence at Haines' park yesterday afternoon in the third inning of the game with Corsicana, when the locals were four runs behind, he not only shoved two men across the plate in front of him and put the Panthers in the game, but he broke Pitcher Zook's heart and put new ginger into his own players, who forthwith sallied out and gave the Corsicana pitcher a drubbing the equal of which has not been seen on the home grounds this season.

It was a fruitful smash. It made the score 5 to 4, and in the next inning the Panthers again set the big crowd on fire by chasing another tally across the plate and tying the score. Then, in the fifth, they took the lead by scoring two; Corsicana tied by tallying a brace in the sixth. In Fort Worth's half of the sixth the locals indulged in a batting bee; when the inning closed the score was 12 to 7 in Fort Worth's favor. In the eighth Corsicana got a new start and scored four runs, making the score 12 to 11. In Fort Worth's half three more were added and Corsicana managed to chalk up only one in her last effort, the final score being 15 to 12.

SILVERY DELUGE A regular deluge of silver greeted Disch when he came in to the bench, after making his home run crack. When it was all gathered it made a double handful, and the whole team was around smooching Perfectors last night.

A better pleased crowd of fans never left Haines' park. Sorrels was hit hard from start to finish, but the men behind him rallied strongly and punished Zook harder than Corsicana was able to punish the local twirler. In a hard-hitting game, where the score runs up into double figures, there are five exciting plays where there is one in a short score game; yesterday when both sides got men on the bases and scored them, in almost every inning, the spikot of the excitement keg was turned on every minute. Fort Worth scored in six out of eight times at bat, while Corsicana got runs in six out of nine turns at the stick. With all the big scoring, the game was played in 1:45.

DALLAS TRIES IN VAIN Dallas tried out three new men in the game against Paris yesterday, but Paris scored an easy victory. Conover, a new pitcher, Kenady, a new second baseman, and Burke, a new shortstop, donned Dallas uniforms. The score was 3 to 1 in Paris' favor. Dallas may not have any luck with the new acquisitions, but the management of that club certainly deserves credit and praise for the strong effort it is making to put that club into the race.

JARVIS FOR SORRELS Fireman Jack Jarvis is now a member of the Fort Worth Baseball Club. He was signed today as a pitcher. The deal by which his services were obtained was concluded this morning and included the transfer of Will Sorrels to Paris. Ted Sullivan had first call on Jarvis' services this season. Jack would not play with any club other than Fort Worth, and so he has been unable to play thus far this season. This morning Sullivan said he would release Jarvis to Fort Worth provided Sorrels was given to him. Manager Ward at once closed the trade.

TEXTILE WORKERS OUT ON A STRIKE

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 1.—The general strike of textile workers was inaugurated in this city today, involving about 50,000 operatives. Of the 600 firms engaged in the textile industry here forty-seven have granted the demands of the union, and their plants, employing about 15,000 hands, are in operation.

DELIVER PETITIONS FOR YOUNG'S PARDON Congressman O. W. Gillespie, State Senator W. A. Hanger and Assistant City Attorney R. E. L. Roy returned last night from Austin, where they delivered petitions to Governor Lanham which prayed for the pardon of Milton W. Young, who recently pleaded guilty to manslaughter for the killing of Joe Oldfield at Arlington. Young was given two years, the lowest sentence under his plea.

PRIVATE ENTRANCE FOR PRESIDENT. The president of the United States will have a private entrance for himself and family in the new railroad station now being constructed in Washington. Mr. Cleveland used to escape the crowds by having his driver take him to the forward ends of the trains instead of entering at the front of the station, but even this refuge is no longer practicable, so the private entrance has been arranged.

DESERTED BRIDE IN CARLYLE CASE HERE A pretty little blonde girl, aged 16, passed through Fort Worth last night en route to Kingsfisher, Ok., where she is to testify against Dr. Richard L. Carlyle, whose trial there for bigamy was begun today. The girl gave her name to Assistant Chief of Police Allen as Mrs. R. E. Shelton and exhibited her marriage certificate. Mrs. Shelton, who is richly endowed with sunny curls and big blue eyes, says she was married to the man who now calls himself Carlyle at Little Rock last January. He lived with her a few months and then sent her to Paducah; from there she returned to her home at Little Rock. On this trip she is accompanied by her elder sister. She said that she was perfectly willing to testify against Carlyle.

COMMISSIONER WARE VERY ECONOMICAL WASHINGTON, June 1.—Pension Commissioner Ware is opposed to many of the small expenditures incident to the bureau of which he is head, and he has cut out some that have for many years seemed indispensable. One of these is the daily list of pensions allowed, which, ever since the civil war, has been forthcoming in duplicates for the use of attorneys and newspaper men. These lists have been published all over the country, and from time to time have proved their usefulness in many ways.

WHY THEY'RE THERE Under the head of "Editorial Patent," the Dalhart Texan says:

Editorials in the great daily papers now-a-days are ground out something on the order of patent insides for country weeklies. The day when editors wrote their editorials and expressed the sentiment of the sheet on the topics of the day is past and gone. We notice an editorial on the enlightening topic of "actresses should not marry," by Max O'Reil occupying a very prominent position on the editorial page of a half dozen dailies of last Sunday.

Not a single editorial in one great daily we noticed was written by the editor of the paper, but were all copyrighted by W. R. Hearst and were mere trash.

The presence of copyrighted editorials by current writers in many newspapers now-a-days seems to have provoked a deal of misunderstanding as to their use.

For one thing, signed editorial comments on topics of general nature, merely expressing the views of men and women who have won national attention, either by their achievements in literary work or by the originality of ideas, are not necessarily expressive of the opinions of the newspaper in which they appear, any more than are the views of "irate citizens" on the payment of a dog tax and printed in a country weekly indicative of the reflections of the editor on the same subject.

The Hearst editorials at least are produced by men and women who have won distinction in newspaper work, whose ideas command a price and whose literary efforts supply a public demand. They are entertaining, concise and cleverly written.

As the views of bright people who write for the entertainment of other bright people, and offer to them new ideas, new topics for discussion and new food for thought, they have as yet been unequalled. They have created a field for themselves as distinct from the dignified editorial column, as a modern illustrated school book from an old-fashioned speller. They are not usurpers, but merely a valuable additional feature which are appreciated by readers who like variety and cleverness. The modern copyrighted "editorials" may have been somewhat unfortunately named—they save more of the essay—but in these days of diversified editorial columns in even the most conservative newspapers it is hard to draw the line.

At any rate, essay or editorial, they are proving successful and are meeting a strong popular demand, and as long as this continues they will exist.

PUBLIC EXECUTIONS

At Kaufman Saturday a negro was legally executed for a crime, the heinousness of which was long ago recognized by Texas lawmakers as sufficient to merit the death penalty. The execution took place before a crowd of some fifteen hundred people. The negro who was hanged confessed his crime, expressed a willingness to die and even exhibited a sort of stoicism akin to brute indifference previous to his execution.

There will be some who will say that the people of the outraged community would have been justified in lynching the black fiend. There are others who will say that a quiet and orderly lynching would have been better than a legal execution made a spectacle for an idle crowd's gossip.

The question raised is whether or not public executions by their grossness do not produce an effect on those who witness them harmful to a greater degree than the degree in which the majesty of the law is impressed.

So large a crowd at an execution smacks of grim satisfaction in seeing the taking of human life as the atonement for a crime. The hanging was done legally and the justice of it is self-apparent. The exercise of the death penalty as a means of checking the spread of crime is not the question at issue.

The real question is, Would not a private execution, attended only by the representatives of the law, have been

DAILY SHORT STORY

A SNAP SHOT

BY MINNIE INGWERSEN

She nodded, half-shuddering. "Yes, Leo—I can't do it—I thought I could, but since you spoke to me I am afraid, and I can't marry him."

"Speak to your father, or to Leo," I urged. "They both love you in their own way—as for me, I am not disinterested, you know."

She turned her head away, but her eyes filled with tears, and I felt like a brute; after all she had come to me for help.

"Break it off," I repeated, "what is to hinder? You don't love him."

"Leo wants the money—he lost his through father, and—"

"And you are to be the compensation. I for one don't see it. Let him take the money, but break it off. Make them listen to you."

"I can't; I have tried."

"You can refuse to marry him, can't you, what is easier?"

"Yes. No, I can't; I mean I would do it, only—only they would think I have some other reason, and I can't speak because—"

"Well?"

No answer.

"Well, just because," I asked, bending over her.

"Just because I do care," she whispered.

The dusk of the autumn afternoon closed in about us and we were alone together.

When I left Angel it was settled that I was to go down to Little Hampton at Christmas.

Between now and then I was to devise some plan which would convince Mr. Devine of Leo's unsuitability as his son-in-law, and free Angel without my name being dragged into the matter. A nice task she had set me, yet it was the condition of my winning her, and unnecessary and quixotic as it seemed to me, I would fulfill it. For Angel, the darling, was firm; she would not come to me empty-handed, and Mr. Devine was quite capable of cutting her off with a shilling if she broke off the match on her own initiative.

The next thing that I heard was that the marriage was being hastened on, and was to take place at Christmas. Leo evidently suspected something, and had no intention of losing the cash. My poor little girl! I was getting desperate, barely a month to work in. Then one day in Regent street a sudden idea struck me and I made my plans.

Everything was in train. I flattered myself that I was about to make it hot for "Brer Fox." I got off by the twentieth and went down to the village with Leo, my friend of the press.

There was little to amuse him except our grand annual entertainment, a sort of glorified tea meeting, to which all the old people, the Temperance Society, Bands of Hope, and all Mr. Devine's friends who approved of philanthropic fads, were invited.

The village and the "Quality" made merry together, and the show included singers, carols, recitations, the village choir, and, as a great and crowning finish, animated pictures.

Nervous old ladies predicted a second Paris fire; as for me, I shouldn't have minded a little flare up, which would enable me to rescue Angel while Leo ran away. But it might have been awkward if Leo rescued her instead, so on the whole I thought we would skip the fire.

The great evening came at last. Of course Leo and I were in the reserved seats, and I took care to sit just behind Mr. Devine and his party. But as we came in late while the gas was low, the old man had not the slightest idea that we were there.

Wild bursts of applause greeted the living pictures—a perfect hurricane of bravos, with stamping and clapping showed their appreciation of Jubilee Day.

"An' I shouldn't wonder," said a queer old biddy behind me, "if there weren't nobody so glad when it were all over as pore ole Victoria 'erself!"

We were getting toward the end of the show now, and I held my breath as I waited. I furtively watched Leo Fox. He could not see me save by turning right round in his seat. He was between Mr. Devine and Angel, and he took advantage of the excitement to steal his arm round her waist and whisper in her ear. Of course it was pretty nearly dark, but I saw him, and also saw the shudder with which she drew herself away from him.

Brute that he was! How many other girls had he embraced in similar fashion? I could scarcely keep from hauling him out of his seat by main force. Then Leo chuckled in my ear.

"Time's up," he said with a sardonic grin, as he pointed to the screen.

The derby race course was now to be seen. A horrified yugmur broke from Mr. Devine; he had not bargained to be present at a derby, but he could not help himself, it was too late to stop the show.

At once the squire, who was sitting on the other side of Angel, exclaimed in a loud voice:

"By Jove! There's Leo Fox!"

"Where? What? Bless my soul—so it is! To the very life!" stammered the vicar, as he nudged Mr. Devine. "I say, Devine, I never thought Leo!"

He stopped short, remembering Angel. Cries of "Oh! I say, look at Mr. Fox!" "Who's the lady?" "I say, he's stuck fast." "Well, I never! Who would have thought it of Mr. Fox?" rang through the room.

One of the pictures had caught for a moment, and a corner of the race course stood out distinctly; in the foreground was old Greenwood on his stand speaking to a man in a loud "check suit. A woman at his side threw her arm over his shoulder. He was just entering a bet; as the obstacle was removed and the pictures glided on across the screen, he tipped his hat to the back of his head, winked at someone out of sight, and vanished.

The final scene where the crowd swarms over the course flashed by as the measure of surprise went round the audience and the lights turned up with a glare, showed to all Angel's white face and Mr. Devine's look of fury.

It was a photographic exposure, and we had every reason to be gratified with the result.

On Christmas day, Mr. Devine and Leo sat smoking together, and Angel and I were alone by the fire, she vowing that she never, never would be such a coward again; and I, assuring her with equal emphasis, that she never, never would have the chance again.

THE SPECIAL EDITION

We are in receipt of a sample copy of the illustrated edition of The Fort Worth Telegram, said to be the largest paper published in Texas, and as it consists of seventy-two pages with illuminated cover, we believe the claim to be correct. The paper is certainly a credit to its publishers and to the city of its home—Clarendon, L. T. Messenger.

The Fort Worth Telegram's special Sunday edition, containing seventy-two pages of up-to-date matter, attracted a great deal of attention in this city and was praised as an honor to Texas journalism. It certainly indicated a master stroke of enterprise on the part of the proprietors. It eclipsed any effort of the kind that we had ever seen attempted in Texas.—Denton Monitor.

The Fort Worth Telegram issued on the 17th is the largest paper ever issued in Texas. It was a "five stock and packing-house" edition and contained seventy-two pages, exclusive of an illuminated cover, both artistic and descriptive. That such a paper can be sent out from Fort Worth is a surprise even to those who are aware of the progressive spirit of the Lone Star state. From what we should say, is about the same size as Lexington, but its factories and its packing plants give it a prestige and few cities of its population enjoy. The Telegram does great credit to it and its almost unprecedented edition will call attention to its advantages that will be of incalculable advantage to the city.—Lexington Democrat.

SOME JOKES

The Up-to-Date Author. "Yes, sir," said the up-to-date author, "I may say that I've been quite successful in a literary way. What do you think my capital was in starting out?"

"Don't know."

"A bottle of ink, a dozen of pens, a ream of paper and a couple of stamps!"

"And now?"

"I employ a secretary, two servants and keep ten typewriters busy eight hours a day! Talk about 'genius'—but I haven't time to talk now—I must get off a couple of new novels on the fast mail!"—Atlanta Constitution.

An Economical Kaiser.

"It must be admitted," said the courtier, "that our Emperor has simplified education wonderfully."

"In what way?"

"In order to answer the questions, who is the greatest general, diplomat, critic, poet and playwright? it is necessary only to mention his name!"—Washington Star.

INCORRIGIBLE.

"Don't you know that if you had stopped playing billiards and smoking you could purchase a fine residence?"

"Yes. But I shouldn't care for a house that hadn't a billiard room and plenty of cigars in it."

A Radical Change.

"What do you want with Seth Stimson as postmaster? Why, he can't even read or write!"

"That's just the point," said Farmer Cornsack. "We want somebody that won't keep on pestering us by opening our newspapers and telling the neighbors what's on our postal cards."

ABOUT FORT WORTH

Every newspaper man who visited Fort Worth last Saturday with the editorial party is prepared to say that the Panther City is the most rapid place in Texas. Its growth is simply a revelation to those who had not seen the city for a year or two. Its future is as rosy as the fondest dreamer could wish. The best investment that city ever made was the bonus paid the two packeries to locate there.—Brownwood Bulletin.

Fort Worth may not be as large as some towns in the state, but she is not behind any of them in enterprise, and the time is coming when she will stand in the front ranks as a commercial center. The enterprising business men of that city never let an opportunity pass to put in a good word for their town, and they are ever on the alert for new enterprises. With such enterprises as the stock yards, the packing houses, etc., which are a great benefit to the entire state, that town will grow very rapidly.—Honey Grove Citizen.

HAUNT SCENES OF CRIME

A detective of national reputation was talking in his Chicago office the other day of crimes that have been committed in Chicago and that have been followed by peculiar trains of circumstances.

"That every crime of importance breeds two more is an axiom well known to the police," the detective said, "but more interesting than these linked crimes is another fact I know. That is, that the scene of every great crime possesses an almost unnatural fascination not for the criminal, that theory having been dissipated many moons ago, but for other persons who deal in the smaller things of crime."

"It was only the other day that a man committed suicide on the prairie at Seventy-fourth and State streets. Nothing unusual in that until you remember that his body was found within two feet of the place where Minnie Mitchell's body was found in the Bartholin case."

"Adolph Luetgert's sausage factory has been robbed seven times. Captain Schuetter of the Sheffield avenue police station tells me. He worked on the conviction of Luetgert and since the factory has been closed he and his men have been called in seven times to detect men who have entered the place to steal lead pipe and fittings."

"Take the house at Sixty-third and Wallace streets. Not a great deal of interest attaches to what happens there until it is remembered that this gloomy big house was the Holmes castle of the infamous H. H. Holmes, who was hanged in Pennsylvania in 1894 charged with a 'castle' in England the place has been robbed twice. It has burned twice, and during one of the fires a man jumped out of the building to save himself and was killed!"—Chicago Tribune.

WHO DO YOU THINK IS THE MOST POPULAR LADY IN FT. WORTH

Votes are coming in rapidly. Miss Mabel Stowers, head saleslady in the suit department of G. Y. Smith's Dry Goods store, starts off in the lead with 3000 votes to her credit.

FORT WORTH'S GREATEST POPULAR VOTING CONTEST. TWO GRAND AWARDS — A HORSE, STANHOPE AND FINE EQUIPMENTS COMPLETE, WORTH SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS, AND A DIAMOND SET SOLID GOLD RING; A PURE WHITE STONE WITHOUT A FLAW MOUNTED IN THE LATEST STYLE TIFFANY MOUNTING AND VALUED AT TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS.

The Telegram's popular voting contest starts today and will close July 31st at midnight. Many votes have been received from contestants and their friends and it is expected that there will be many important changes in the list this week. Intense interest and watchfulness prevails among the contestants. They are gathering their many friends to assist in getting as large a vote as possible. Now is the time during the contest that an extra effort in securing votes may be the means of winning one of the awards and possibly first choice. The excitement will be intense, the struggle will be fierce and the result indefinite. No one can predict the winner.

Hundreds of new subscribers will take advantage of this great contest and no one can tell how their votes will be cast. Hundreds and perhaps thousands of old subscribers will also save money and secure votes for their favorite by prepaying for The Telegram. If one week's subscription of 12 cents is paid in advance and sent to The Telegram office before midnight, June 15th, forty-eight votes will be counted for the popular lady of your choice. One month's subscription of 50 cents if paid in advance before the above date will count two hundred votes. A three month's subscription at $1.50 will count six hundred votes. A six month's subscription at $3.00 will count 1,200 votes and a year's subscription at $6.00 will count 2,400 votes. Subscribe for The Telegram and help your favorite. DO IT NOW.

LOOK OUT FOR COMETS

If the calculations of astronomers are correct, the year 1903 will be unusually fertile in comets, says the New York Herald. About September the comet discovered by Faye in 1843 should appear for the ninth time, and that it will appear is practically certain, since it is a model of regularity and has never failed to show itself when due. In December the Veneke comet, which has already been observed seven times, will probably be seen, and during the same month astronomers will look for the Brooks comet, which hitherto has only been observed twice. In January, 1904, the Arrest comet will arrive at its perihelion and a glimpse may be obtained of it as early as November or December, 1903. During the year the Perrine, Giacobini and Spitaler comets will also appear. Of

PSYCHOLOGY OF THE MILLIONAIRE

Austrian Scientist Says That Characteristics Are Merely Those of Men Possessing Big Brains

(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.) VIENNA, May 30.—(Special Cable.)—The Prele Presse has published an article by Cesare Lombroso, entitled "The Psychology of the Millionaire," in which he discusses the physical and mental traits of famous millionaires like Astor, Vanderbilt, Morgan, Hill, Whitney, Carnegie and Rockefeller. Lombroso says: "At first thought one inclines to the belief that the psychic world of the millionaire is a special world in itself, with marvelous powers that are lacking in other men; but if their origins and lives are studied one comes to the conclusion that the only really individualistic trait about them is that of their native soil."

"Even the particular intellectual gifts of the millionaire are not those belonging to an exceptional type of genius, but are only those found in men with big brains. These particular intellectual gifts are a quick perception of the true value of a deal, a quick decision in undertaking it, perfect mental equilibrium, thriftiness approximating stinginess, and above all the absence of general culture. If some millionaires possess culture, like Carnegie, Vanderbilt or Gould, then it is a kind of military genius for action, never an artistic or literary genius."

Lombroso finds one trait common to millionaires, which is that their commercial spirit was manifested in youth. He says: "As a rule, millionaires are uneducated. They lay education aside when embarking in business. Commodore Vanderbilt wrote like an illiterate."

Lombroso further lays emphasis upon early poverty as a factor in the production of millionaires. "Necessity in the early struggle for a living," he says, "imparts independence, superior energy, rapid

The property loss, from the best estimates now possible, will amount approximately to $1,000,000. North Topeka is still under water seven feet deep in it.

While the 200 people penned up in the second stories of various buildings have plenty of food, they are in great need of good drinking water, which is being supplied as rapidly as possible in barrels and cans.

Great fear is present that some of the buildings in North Topeka may collapse because their foundations are undermined by water.

ECZEMA SETS THE SKIN ON FIRE

No disease causes so much bodily discomfort, or itches, and burns like Eczema. Beginning often with a slight redness of the skin it gradually spreads, followed by pustules or blisters from which a gummy, sticky fluid oozes which dries and scales off or forms hard looking sores and scabs. It appears on different parts of the body but oftenest upon the back, arms, hands, legs and face, and is a veritable torment at times, especially at night or when overheated.

In 1898 I experienced at times patches on the inside of my hands that itched and burned, causing much discomfort. As time went by it grew worse, and I was convinced that I was afflicted with Eczema. I consulted several physicians and a number of specialists, and used several external applications, receiving but slight temporary relief. In February I decided to try S. S. S., and in less than a month I experienced a change for the better, and by May all symptoms had disappeared, and I found myself entirely cured, and have had no return of the disease since. W. F. BRUSH, Manager Stockman's Advertising Agency, Station 2, Kansas City, Mo.

The cause of Eczema is a too acid and general unhealthy condition of the blood. The terrifying itching and burning is produced by the overflow through the glands and pores of the skin of the fiery poisons with which the blood-current is overloaded. While external applications, such as washes, soaps, salves and powders are soot and cooling they do not enter into the blood itself or touch the real cause of the disease, but S. S. S. does, and purifies, enriches, and strengthens the thin acid blood and cleanses and builds up the general system, when the skin clears off and Eczema with all its terrifying symptoms disappears. TEXAS GIRL WINS HONORS

MISS MARY LANE

HILLSBORO, Texas, June 1.—Miss Mary Lane, the youngest daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Lane, was born in Tusculum, Ala., nineteen years ago, and lived there the first twelve years of her life. She manifested a talent for drawing early in life, but was untaught previous to the removal of her father to Hillsboro in August, 1889, to accept the pastorate of the Presbyterian church here. She entered Patterson Institute and entered her art studies under Miss Mollie Bishop that year. Miss Bishop is now the art teacher at the Presbyterian College for Girls at Milford. Miss Lane pursued her studies under Miss Bishop until she entered the National Academy of Design in New York last October. While under Miss Bishop she took the medal for the best work from still life in 1902. She took the examination which was required to be passed before being admitted to the Academy of Design with highest honors, the genuine merit of her work giving her admission where others older and more experienced failed, and all during the year has won from her teachers in the academy strong support, sympathy and encouragement and has given to her work her undivided attention. As a result of earnest and steady application she was awarded by the academy the Studian medal in bronze for the best work in antique, and her picture will be hung permanently on the walls of the academy. She expects to continue her studies in New York the coming year.

DO CAKEWALK STUNT BEFORE THE KING

LONDON, June 1.—Last week in society was extremely gay. In addition to the splendid court, at which many Americans were presented, innumerable private balls have been given. Mrs. Frank Avery, who was among the Americans presented at court, is a great social success. The other night she gave a smart dinner. Among the guests were the duke and duchess of Newcastle, marquis and marchioness of Dufferin, Prince Teck, earl and countess of Chester, countess of Essex, Lady Listerkell, marquis and marchioness of Granby, the American Lord Fairfax Marquis Desovoral, the king's friend, and many other notables. After dinner, Mrs. Avery had the principals of Walker & William's Dahomey Company dance a cakewalk and singcoon songs. The negroes are an enormous success in fashionable society, and many fashionables are taking lessons in cakewalking as did the Newport 400.

Lady Barrymore has presented her daughter, Miss Post, the tallest girl in society at court. Lady Newborough and Mrs. Avery were also among the presentees. No torture to that of a rheumatic. Prescription No. 2551, by Elmer & Amend, quickest relief of all. E. F. SCHMIDT, Houston, Texas, Sole Agent.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR RUBBER. After experimenting for several years a substitute for rubber has been perfected. It is produced, principally, from asphalt and can be used in the manufacture of rubber goods, linoleum, etc. A substitute of this kind will probably answer as well as the genuine article, but in medicine it has been found, time and time again, that all substitutes are dangerous. Therefore, beware of them when purchasing Hueston's stomach bitters, the celebrated family medicine for stomach, liver and kidney ailments, by noting that the Private Stamp over the neck of the bottle is unbroken. The bitters positively cure cholera, dysentery, diarrhea, indigestion, flatulence, constipation, and all ailments of the stomach and bowels. It is sold by all druggists and grocers everywhere.

WEDDING OF ADMIRAL'S DAUGHTER. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 1.—The wedding of Miss Meta Melville, daughter of Rear Admiral Melville, U. S. N., and Herbert Grant Brockwell took place here today. The bride was accompanied by her father, Rear Admiral Melville, U. S. N., and the groom by his father, Herbert Grant Brockwell. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. J. H. Smith, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, No. 10th and Chestnut streets. The bride is a member of the Philadelphia Y. W. C. A. and the groom is a member of the Philadelphia Y. M. C. A. The wedding was a very quiet affair, and the only guests were the immediate families of the bride and groom. The bride is a very beautiful young woman, and the groom is a very handsome young man. They were both educated at the University of Pennsylvania. The bride is now residing in Philadelphia, and the groom is now residing in New York City. They are both very successful in their respective careers. The bride is a very popular young woman, and the groom is a very popular young man. THE SURPLUS IS OVER $44,000,000

Report of Treasury Receipts and Expenditures for Eleven Months Indicate Gain—Revenue Receipts Larger

WASHINGTON, June 1.—So far as government business is concerned Friday ended eleven months of the present fiscal year with the treasury department, and the figures of the receipts and disbursements are noteworthy.

For the month of May the receipts have been $41,113,696 and the expenditures $40,585,006, making a surplus for the month of $528,690. The receipts from the different sources for the month have been as follows: Customs, $20,471,949; internal revenue, $19,160,209; miscellaneous, $1,482,537.

For the eleven months of the fiscal year the total receipts have been $510,432,471 and the expenditures $471,584,855, showing a surplus for the fiscal year to date of $38,846,616. Treasury experts estimate that in June the surplus will probably be in the neighborhood of $5,000,000, which will make the surplus for the fiscal year about $44,000,000.

RECEIPTS $510,000,000

The receipts from the different sources during the fiscal year have been as follows: Customs $262,194,413; internal revenue $209,426,850; miscellaneous $38,902,205.

For the same period of the last fiscal year the total receipts were $510,242,765, and the expenditures $438,234,999, showing a much larger surplus than will be the case during the present year. But this is accounted for by the fact that congress repealed all the war revenue taxes imposed during the Spanish-American war, and the repeal went into effect July 1, 1902, and by the fact that expenditures this year are much greater than for the same period last year.

DECREASE IN INTERNAL REVENUE

The decrease in internal revenue is shown by the figures of this year and last. For the eleven months of the last fiscal year, corresponding to the eleven months of this year, the receipts from internal revenue were $246,825,084. For the eleven months of this year they have been $209,426,850, a loss of about $37,000,000.

The feature of this year, however, has been the increase in customs receipts. That the country has been largely increasing its imports is testified in the constantly increasing receipts of the government from tariff duties. For the eleven months of the last fiscal year the government had derived from customs $232,306,362, while for the eleven months of this year the receipts have been $262,194,413, an increase of about $30,000,000.

The expenditures this year, as already shown, have been $471,584,855, while for the same period of the last fiscal year the total was $438,234,999. This increase has been divided among all the branches of the government. The war department has so far expended this fiscal year $110,136,742, not quite a fourth of the total expenses of the government for the year.

FLOOD EFFECTS ARE FELT BY THE ROADS

The effects of the heavy rains and flooded conditions in the north are being felt by all railroads entering Fort Worth from that direction.

The Rock Island has instructions not to sell tickets for points north of Caldwell, I. T., and has not had a train through to Kansas City for a week. The recent washout at Chickasha has been repaired, but the line west of there is still out. Local ticket agents of other roads entering Fort Worth from Kansas City have not had instructions authorizing them to discontinue the sale of tickets to that point, but the uncertain conditions prevailing are having ill effects on the service in general.

The Santa Fe train which left Kansas City June 30 and was scheduled to arrive in Fort Worth at 9 o'clock last night, did not get through until 5 o'clock this morning.

Rock Island train No. 11, due at 7:30 this morning, did not arrive until 2:30 this afternoon.

Katy No. 2, due at 7:10 a. m., did not arrive until 12:40 this afternoon.

HUNDRED KILLED BY TORNADO AT NOON

ATLANTA, Ga., June 1.—A long distance telephone dispatch says that the plant of the Gainesville cotton mills at Gainesville, Ga., was blown down this afternoon by a tornado and that fifty to seventy-five operatives were killed.

BULLETIN—ATLANTA, June 1.—(By long distance telephone message from Gainesville, Ga.)—Shortly after the noon hour today the city was struck by a terrific tornado, killing probably one hundred persons, unroofing the city hotels and other large buildings, destroying the Gainesville cotton mills.

The greatest loss of life is reported in the destruction of the cotton mills, where about eighty are believed to be killed and a score were injured.

Eighteen persons were killed in the city, between the center of the town and the railroad station, where four large stores were blown down. The storm had driven many people into the stores for refuge. They probably will all be killed.

There were five hundred at work in the cotton mills when the storm came. The mill is a three-story building.

The roof of the city electric car barn was also blown off.

ANOTHER BRIDGE GONE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 1.—The bluff street bridge was torn out and the wreckage went crashing against the buildings close to it, battering some of them badly. This bridge was entirely in Kansas City, Mo., and spanned the Burlington tracks at Fifth street.

IMPORTANT STATE WITNESSES ARE ABSENT

Trial Goes Over to the October Term. Joe Wolf Case is Set for Wednesday. Will Preston on Trial for Assault on Murder

In the forty-eighth district court this morning the case of the state vs. Joe Lawrence, defendant being charged with the murder of James M. Wilson in this city, was continued owing to the absence from the city of important state witnesses. The trial will not take place now until the October term unless it is transferred to the Seventeenth district court, in which case it will come up at the September term.

QUININE AND WHISKY A BAD COMBINATION

A lengthy docket, which included in its roster of offenders 10-year-old boys, a gray-haired woman, young and old toppers, a one-legged man, white and black and yellow persons and people of many nations, confronted Judge Prewett when the corporation court convened this morning. The one-legged man exhibited a dilapidated countenance, one eye, especially being in need of repair. His name is John Hatafield. "You see, your honor, I took a lot of quinine and whisky and when a man takes that stuff he don't know what is going to happen. It shows that a man has no sense, when he takes quinine and whisky, and it's a sure thing that he has no sense after he takes it. This is my first offense in Fort Worth, and if you let me go I'll leave the city for Sherman where I can get work at once." The judge let him go. Two sets of school boys, who ran amuck while surcharged with joy over the arrival of vacation time, were in court charged with creating disturbances. In the first set were Harry Harrison and Wilfred Young. They explained that some other—and, of course, unknown—boys locked them up in a school house where they were caught by the officers. Their cases were filed on their promise to not offend again. The cases against Claude Baker, J. D.

Baker and Walker and Oliver Davis, charged with disturbing the peace of a school teacher and a janitor, were passed until tomorrow morning. Cora Wallace entered a plea of guilty to vagrancy and was fined $1 and costs. Two similar cases against Lucile West went over until tomorrow. Lee Black and W. C. Wilson, who were under arrest on charges of pistol-toting, will be tried tomorrow morning. Joe Hunton entered a plea of guilty to the charge of intoxication. He was fined $1 and costs. Will Davis, a negro who is charged with engaging in an affray, pleaded not guilty and asked to have his case continued until tomorrow, when he hopes to have witnesses present to establish his innocence. His request was granted. The bond of A. Osborne, charged with courting sweet Morphew in a public place, was forfeited. Hogan Lawson entered a plea of guilty to having overworked a spigot Saturday night, and $1 and costs was his portion.

WATCH CRYSTAL AS MEANS OF SUICIDE

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 1.—Dispatches from Warren, Ohio, state that J. R. Waters, Cleveland agent for a tea company, held in jail on a forgery charge, made desperate attempt to commit suicide. He removed the crystal from his watch and used the sharp edge to cut the arteries in both wrists. He was bleeding freely when Chief Griffin discovered his condition. He begged the officer not to call assistance, but to let him die. The jail physician gave him surgical attention.

RIBBON CANE IN TEXAS. Some months ago F. A. Woodward, who lives at Tyler, gave out a statement in regard to raising ribbon cane syrup. It has been published before, but it will do no harm to print it again, and it is presented below: "I had three and a half acres in ribbon cane, and after putting up one acre of my poorest cane for seed next year I worked up the remaining two and one-half acres into old-fashioned open-kettle (evaporated) syrup, which made 1,077 gallons. I sold the greater part of it right here in Tyler for 50 cents a gallon; the remainder I sold for 45 cents. I have been shipping a little every year for the last fifteen years, but it will be unnecessary to ship any more, as I could have sold three times as much as I made for 50 cents a gallon here. I measured the best acre of cane that I had, and it made 580 gallons. "I have three brothers who raise ribbon cane every year. One of them, G. W. Woodward, has eight acres in cane and has put up about 20,000 stalks for seed, and from the balance he gets 2,500 gallons of good syrup as was ever sopped. Another brother, S. W., had four acres, and after putting up enough seed for five acres to be planted next year, has made 1,029 gallons. Another brother, R. M., had a small patch this year, but is putting up the most of his cane for seed, only making about 450 gallons of syrup. I had a piece of land on which I raised a good crop of oats, and after harvesting my oats have made a good crop of corn and peas on the same land. This country gives good returns for honest labor judiciously expended."

WANTS INJUNCTION TO STOP DOG'S BARK

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 1.—Joseph H. Marks has applied for an injunction to restrain a dog owned by George D. Luce, his next door neighbor, for barking and howling at night. Mr. Marks alleges the defendant's canine has contracted a habit of barking, sometimes all night. The howler, he charges, has kept the petitioner and family awake for hours in the last few months. His expostulations have been of no avail. Charging that his health and comfort have already been damaged, he prays for a judgment for reasonable damages and for an injunction commanding the defendant to abate the nuisance.

LAWRENCE HAS A BIRTHDAY

LAWRENCE, Mass., June 1.—The booming of guns, ringing of bells and screeching of factory whistles at daybreak this morning ushered in the semi-annual celebration for which the city of Lawrence has been preparing for months past. The celebration is to continue three days and the program is replete with interesting features, including parades, athletic contests, speech-making and fireworks. The city is thronged with visitors and decorated as never before in its history.

SENATORS TO VISIT ALASKA

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 1.—Senator Beveridge announces that the members of the subcommittee of the senate committee on territories appointed to investigate and report on the best method of electing a delegate to congress from Alaska, will start this week on their trip to the far northwestern territory. The members of the committee who will make the trip are Senators Patterson of Colorado, Nelson of Minnesota, Burnham of New Hampshire and Dillingham of Vermont. It has been decided by the London school board to appoint six oculists, at a total cost of $4,365, for one year to examine the eyes of the scholars.

CHILLIEST JUNE 1 IN LOCAL ANNALS

YEAR THUS FAR IS 292 DEGREES SHY ON TEMPERATURE

It Also is 4.80 inches in Arrears on Rainfall—Forecast for Tomorrow Is, Warmer With Rain—The Weather Statistics for May

Fort Worth awoke on the coldest June 1 in its history this morning. The temperature at 4 a. m. was 48 and two hours later it had moderated only one degree.

Forecast Officer George Reeder says there is a huge bunch of hot air coming to Fort Worth. The year is deficient on temperature to the tune of about 2 degrees per day ever since January 1, or in other words it has been 592 degrees colder since January 1 than the average temperature for that period. During May the deficiency was 3 degrees per day. In brief, it is a cool and late spring. The mean temperature of May was 70—the lowest since the bureau was established here nine years ago. The next lowest was in 1896, when the mean temperature for the month was 71. The highest temperature during the month was on May 27, when 91 was recorded; the lowest was on May 1, when the mercury snuggled down to 34.

A big chunk of moisture also is due in this vicinity. Our northern cousins seem to be getting Fort Worth's portion in addition to their own. The deficiency in May here was 2.45 inches, and the deficiency up to date since January 1, is 4.80 inches. In May there were five clear days, twenty-two partly cloudy and four wholly cloudy days. Rain fell on six days. The total rainfall for the month was 1.84 inches; the biggest rainfall in any May in nine years was in 1900, when 6.58 inches was measured; the next lowest to the May of this year was that of 1899, when 2.91 inches fell.

From all these figures and for other reasons, Forecast Officer Reeder believes that Fort Worth is due to have some rain and some warm weather. His prediction forecast for tomorrow is warmer, with rain.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 1.—President Roosevelt was on the go nearly all day yesterday. In the morning he was driven to the First Methodist church, where special services for the president were held. At the close of the service carriages were taken to the home of former Senator Carey, where luncheon was served. In the afternoon a long procession of carriages, headed by the president's party, started for Senator Warren's ranches, fourteen miles south of Cheyenne. Here the routine work on one of Wyoming's largest ranches was shown the party. At 6 o'clock supper was served, after which the start for Cheyenne was made. When the president reached his hotel at 10 o'clock tonight he was in jubilant spirit, and remarked that he was looking forward with great pleasure to the frontier exhibition to be held this morning.

PRESIDENT SPENDS QUIET SUNDAY

Previously to starting for the Warren ranches, the Eagle's lodge of Cheyenne presented to President Roosevelt a life membership in the order. Secretary Moody, who has been with the presidential party since it entered California, has left for Washington.

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Catarrah a Danger Sign—Weaver's Pharmacy Guarantees Hyomei Will Cure It. There is no more common disease than catarrah, and there is none that is really more dangerous. It is weakening and debilitating to the whole system, and if allowed to run will in the end result in consumption. The prevalence of catarrah can be realized by scanning the advertising columns of any paper. It is noticeable, however, that among the many medicines and treatments that are advertised to cure catarrah there is only one which is sold under the positive guarantee of a reliable local dealer to refund the money if it does not cure—this is Hyomei, nature's remedy for the cure of catarrah. No dangerous drugs are taken into the stomach when Hyomei is used. This remedy is breathed through a small pocket inhaler that comes with every Hyomei outfit. The balsamic fragrance of Hyomei penetrates to the most remote cells of the throat and lungs, kills the germs of catarrah, heals the irritated mucous membrane and gives complete and permanent cure. Weaver's Pharmacy, 504 Main street, have sold hundreds of packages of Hyomei; everyone under their personal guarantee to refund the money if it did not cure. Only two customers have asked for a refund. This record is something unusual in the annals of medicine. It demonstrates beyond question the remarkable powers of Hyomei to cure catarrah. If you or your friends are suffering with this dangerous and offensive disease you should not delay taking advantage of Weaver's offer to sell you Hyomei under his "no cure, no pay" plan.

The Telegram's second news contest closed yesterday. The contestants finished as follows: Dudley Tarlton...261. Argus Purcell...198. Nannie Lee...152. Emma Woodruff...84. There were others in the race, but the four given above are the only ones that captured prizes. Three prizes were offered, but a fourth was added, owing to the good showing made by Emma Woodruff. The winner receives $5; second, $3; third, $2, and fourth, $1. The winners will receive their money at the Telegram office tomorrow morning.

VETERANS AND SONS' REGULAR SESSIONS

At the regular meeting of R. E. Lee camp, United Confederate Veterans, yesterday afternoon, the resignation of J. J. Mayfield, as a member of the executive committee, was presented and formally accepted. The resignation was made necessary, owing to the fact that Mr. Mayfield was to soon leave the city. The vacancy will be filled at the next meeting of the camp, Sunday, June 7. The question of deferring the celebration of Jeff Davis' Memorial day, which falls upon June 3, until the following Sunday, was discussed at the meeting of the camp yesterday. Some favored the postponement, owing to the fact that the Mexican war veterans will be holding their reunion in Fort Worth at that time. Mrs. Moore Murdock, national commander of the Dames of 1846, who will also meet in reunion on June 3, informed the members of R. E. Lee camp that it would delight the Mexican war veterans as well as the Dames of 1846, to have the observance of Jeff Davis' day on June 3, whereupon it was decided to postpone the same. The services will be held at 2 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, at R. E. Lee camp headquarters. Mrs. Jessie V. McKinley, Miss Flora L. McKinley, Mrs. Moore Murdock and Mrs. M. J. Kirtley were presented for honorary membership to the camp, the applications being referred to the proper committee.

PARIS CROWDS AT THE ANNUAL RACES. NEW YORK, June 1.—In spite of the intense heat the annual steeplechase meeting at Auteuil on Sunday was one of the most successful ever held, says a Paris dispatch to the Herald. It was rendered doubly interesting by the fact that English horses were entered in every event thus giving the meeting a thoroughly interesting character. From an early hour in early morning, thousands of people invaded the Bois de Boulogne and planked gaily under the shade trees. The crowd kept pouring in from every direction, and before the first race the course was black with sightseers. There was a tremendous turnout of ladies and show costumes, such as has never been seen even at this fashionable sporting function. Nothing but muslins could be seen in all directions. There was an unusual number of English people present. The president of the republic drove to the course in an open landau. He was respectfully greeted by the crowd. There were twelve starters in the Prix event. Veinrod, owned by M. Erhardt, won. Caporal was second and Saint Martin third. President Loubet warmly congratulated the winning horseman. CHICAGO, Ill., June 1.—Herr Johann Most was the principal speaker at a picnic given yesterday afternoon at Sharpshooters' park under the auspices of the Arbeiter Zeitung. Many anarchists were present and a detail of police was stationed in the grove. Anarchy was not discussed. Most advised his auditors to uphold the flag and constitution of the United States and refrain from any acts of violence.
