CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought. Bears the Signature of J. C. Watson. G. W. SAUNDERS IN CITY. Talks of Agricultural and Live Stock Conditions in South Texas. George W. Saunders, head of the live stock commission firm of G. W. Saunders & Co., is in the city on a short visit from San Antonio and, speaking to a representative of this paper yesterday in regard to the general conditions of both live stock and agricultural interests said: "South Texas was never in better condition, the few unmarketable cattle are all in good shape, while crops never looked better at this season of the year."

DALLAS TURNS DOWN THE HELLO FRANCHISE. COMMISSIONER THINKS THERE WAS A CHANCE FOR NEW OPPOSITION TO BACK OUT OF ITS PROPOSITION—STATEMENT OF MEANING OF THE VETO OF ORDINANCE ON THE SUBJECT. DALLAS, Texas, July 18.—Much surprise has been caused in Dallas because of the municipal commission's rejection of the franchise vote by the city council to a Pennsylvania syndicate for a new telephone company to operate in Texas in competition with the Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone Company, which has its general headquarters in Dallas. The veto of the commission was sustained by the city council at a full meeting of the board by a majority of one vote, this killing at least for the time being the new telephone project. As its promoters had promised to establish general headquarters in Dallas and spend not less than half a million dollars in this city immediately, and had offered the city $5,000 for the franchise, the action of the municipal commission has been subject to much criticism.

TESTIMONIAL TO EMPLOYER

Telegram Force Presented Mr. Reimers With a Valuable Fob Chain

At 6 o'clock last night the dread word "strike" began to be whispered about the Telegram office and the entire force of employes gathered in the composing room, where the murmuring increased into loud shouts for the owner of the paper, C. D. Reimers.

The fob is unique in design and beautiful in workmanship. A sheet of solid gold in facsimile of the first page of the Telegram is shown, while in its center and apparently bursting through the sheet is a large, pure white diamond.

HAS GOOD WORDS FOR TELEGRAM

Capt. J. A. H. Hosack, of Cleburne, is one of the regular readers of the Telegram in the metropolitan and what he thinks of the Telegram is stated among other things, in a letter to the publisher of the paper.

Capt. Hosack is perhaps the most widely known auctioneer in Texas. One of his big sales is to occur at East Winchell, in Brown county, on September 23.

DALLAS, Texas, July 18.—A bulletin from Taylor says the prohibitionists were defeated by 299 majority in the local option election held in Williamson county today.

The actual circulation of the Telegram yesterday was 7,200. The daily average circulation for the month of June, last past, was 6,787.

SALE OF THE COLUMBIA'S HIGH-CLASS MERCHANDISE STARTLED ALL FORT WORTH

When the announcement became public property, the news spread like "wildfire" throughout the city, county and state. The reception accorded us on the opening day and during the past week was wonderful and most satisfactory. The second week of this greatest of all sales starts tomorrow. The powers of attraction are irresistible. The Columbia's immense stock of well bought merchandise, linked with the best which the world's marts could furnish, bought by us at 60 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR, completes an inimitable offering, so powerful that they cannot be rent asunder by competition's greatest efforts to underprice. This week is to be all-important to the economical buyers who seek to make their dollar do double duty. We say, come; come every day this week.

A Satisfactory Business Reception for Which We Thank You

We avail ourselves of this opportunity to extend to the public of Fort Worth and vicinity our earnest, sincere and heartfelt thanks for the reception extended us and for the generous, loyal support the past week. We shall endeavor to merit your kind favors by bettering this store; by giving you still greater values; more extended varieties in merchandise and higher grade service. Again thanking you, we are, sincerely yours,

ROCK ISLAND STOPS TEXAS CONSTRUCTION

ATTITUDE OF RAILROAD COMMISSION IS CONSIDERED ANTAGONISTIC TO THE COMPANY AND THE OWNERS ARE AT A STANDSTILL - DALLAS EXTENSION WOULD NOT HAVE BEEN BUILT

The action of the Texas Railway Commission towards the Rock Island Railroad Company it is suggested has caused that company to suspend indefinitely all operations in the south and southwest... The Rock Island came to the south and southwest for development. It saw the opportunities and realized the needs of the equipment and facilities which it affords.

NO TROUBLE BREWING IN FREIGHT CIRCLES

JOHN C. McCABE, GENERAL AGENT OF ROCK ISLAND RAILWAY, SAYS HIS ROAD IS NOT ATTEMPTING TO DISTURB SITUATION IN REGARD TO SHIPMENTS VIA THE GULF PORTS

"You can say in The Telegram that there is no trouble brewing in freight circles" and that the Rock Island is not disturbing the situation nor attempting in any manner to disturb the present conditions... Such were the words of John C. McCabe, general agent of the Chicago, Rock Island and Texas Railroad Company, yesterday, when reference was made through the gulf ports to New England seaboard.

Reagan Pitches in Fine Style, Allowing But Five Hits, Lockhead Hit Freely

BY A STAFF WRITER. DALLAS, Texas, July 18.—Dallas and Fort Worth wallowed around in the mud today for a little over an hour in a game which went all Dallas' way.

On account of the rain which fell for an hour just before the time for beginning the game the Fort Worth team did not go out to the grounds until late.

The victory of Dallas was due to the pitching of Reagan. He allowed only five hits and struck out nine Panthers.

Dallas scored first in the fourth. Bashore went out on an easy one to Lockhead. Ury knocked a hot one to Reitz, who, in his haste to throw it to first, put it five feet over Ditch's head.

Dallas made the last two of the five in the eighth inning. Ury singled and Nickell placed a short home in front of the plate.

YOZOLIAS VS. YOZOLIA CUT BACKS

At Haines' park this morning the Yozolia baseball team will cross bats with the Yozolia "Cut Backs."

CLERKS VS. McCORD-COLLINS

This afternoon's game at Haines' park should prove very interesting, as it is the last game of a series of three.

AVERAGES OF THE PANTHER TEAM

Batting and Fielding Per Cents of the Fort Worth Batters. Peer Leads Batters Again

The following batting and fielding averages have been figured out by the sporting editor of The Telegram for the new series.

The hitting of the team as a whole has improved somewhat since last week.

None of the players have an average over .300 for the past eighteen games.

The fielding of the team has dropped off from .939 to .911. This is due to the playing of Ditch, Combs and Reitz, all of whom have been making errors rather regularly this week.

Buchanan is the only one of the team who has a perfect record for the past series.

WALLACE MAY NOT BE GUILTY

JOE H. BRITTON IS REARRESTED BY THE POLICE. HE MAKES ADMISSIONS. ACKNOWLEDGES IMPROPER CONDUCT TOWARD THE GIRL, WILLIE LATHAM.

WACO WINS AGAIN

WACO, Texas, July 18.—Waco won the eighth straight game here this afternoon, by defeating Corsicana by the score of 9 to 0.

RIVAL FOR NOTED WAR OF WORLDS

Doctor Lebon Reports a Discovery Fraught With Possibilities Only Dreamed Of

PARIS, July 18.—Some of the wonders coined by Novelist Wells' imagination may come true.

Dr. Lebon's experiment, which was actually effected, may lead to a terrific death-dealing invention similar in results to the mysterious machines of death of the Maritans in Wells' "War of the Worlds."

Dr. Lebon was experimenting in Hertzan, in waves in his laboratory, when suddenly he was surrounded by a rain of fire dropping from all the metallic objects in the room.

Dr. Lebon is confident that it would be possible to construct huge metallic mirrors capable of reflecting Hertzian rays several miles.

If the discovery leads to a practical invention it will be possible to inflict death from a distance like Wells' Maritans.

Rear Admiral Francis A. Cook, who commanded the cruiser Brooklyn during the battle of Santiago, is slowly recovering from a long illness in the naval hospital, Brooklyn.

Alfred H. Smith, the new general manager of the New York Central railway, began his career as a messenger boy in the Cleveland office of the Lake Shore, at a salary of $4 a week.

Sir Gilbert Parker has come forward to reinforce Cecil Rhodes' scheme for the knitting together of higher education in English-speaking countries by calling a conference in London to discuss this and related topics.

The physicians made a report to the police yesterday in which they stated that neither the girl nor Wallace was diseased.

While being sweated yesterday Britton broke down and wept. He pleaded with the officers not to question him.

The following incident furnishes one of the reasons why the men in the employ of Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph company, swear by him.

Ever since his boyhood Alton B. Parker of New York has manifested great determination regarding matters he had in hand.

It is reported by a Kansas politician, just from Washington, that Joseph I. Bristow, fourth assistant postmaster general, will be a candidate for the United States senate against J. R. Burton in the next campaign.

Schedule between Dallas and Fort Worth the same as that applying between Fort Worth and Dallas.

TRANSCONTINENTAL (Texas, Kansas, Sherman and Paris). Arrive 7:15 am. Passenger daily 8:30 am.

Determination to Have State Properly Represented at the World's Fair Strikes a Popular Public Vein

LETTERS COME IN TO HEADQUARTERS

Substantial Aid Given to Movement by Those Who Have Not Heretofore Gone on the List—Fruit Growers Realize Importance of an Exhibit

DALLAS, Texas, July 18.—That the action of the Texas world's fair commissioners in deciding to go ahead with the work of representing Texas at St. Louis next year has the approval of the public has been abundantly demonstrated in the last three days. Letters from every section of the state have been received expressing gratification that the work has not been given up. Many of the writers give more substantial evidence than words of their gratification as they announce for the first time their willingness to subscribe to the fund. Several of the writers give assurance that not only will the quotas of their counties be raised, but that more than their quotas will be forthcoming if necessary. Individual subscriptions have been increased in a number of instances, and in a few cases they have been doubled. Increased certainty has followed the certainty that Texas will be represented, and no doubt whatever is felt that all the additional money that may be needed to represent Texas creditably will be forthcoming. The desire to make the exhibit thorough and comprehensive in every respect is general, for it is the opinion that now that Texas has decided to be represented, nothing less than a complete exhibit will be acceptable to the state.

Plans for the collection and preparation of this exhibit are now being worked out, and it is expected out within a few days the general outlines may be announced. The following letter from Sam H. Dixon, secretary of the Texas Horticultural Society, to the members shows that the fruit growers are already active in the importance of beginning their preparations. "I am instructed by C. C. Meyhew, president, to announce that in pursuance of a resolution adopted at the recent session of our society, providing for the appointment of a committee, to consist of one member from each congressional district, to assist the present standing committee in securing a creditable exhibit of the horticultural products of Texas for the world's fair at St. Louis, that the personnel of this committee will be announced as early as a thorough canvass of the situation can be made. This committee will be charged with the securing, arranging, classifying and determining what products shall be offered for exhibit, and it will work in harmony with such officers and employees of the Texas world fair commission as its general manager may designate. "Each member of the committee will be charged with organizing his district, and is empowered with authority to appoint a chairman for each county therein to assist him in his work. "I am also authorized to announce that the world's fair commission of Texas will employ a competent horticulturist as horticultural agent, who shall have general supervision of all horticultural exhibits and that a liberal allowance to defray all expenses incident thereto will be made. The committee from our society will co-operate with this agent. "President C. C. Meyhew, whose address is Sherman, Texas, would be pleased to hear from every member of our society and all others interested in this work that a committee of workers may be announced as early as possible. Drones will not be needed on this committee."

DAY'S NEWS OF ABILENE

The Goings and Comings of a Busy Western Metropolis. ABILENE, Texas, July 18.—E. B. Cosby has gone to New Mexico for his health and on business. Mrs. George S. Anderson and Miss Mary Piques are visiting in Italy. Sheriff J. V. Cunningham is attending the Sheriff's convention at San Antonio. Mrs. James W. Crayton left Thursday for a visit to her parents in Keosauqua, La. C. W. Merchant and J. H. Parramore are off for Hot Springs, Ark. Miss Jesse Pierce of Alabama is visiting her brother, E. A. Pierce. Mrs. J. M. Bedford and children are enjoying an outing on the lakes of Michigan. Mrs. L. A. Sanderson of Galveston is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Herling. E. W. Miller and wife left this week for a few days' visit to Sweetwater, Roby and Snyder. M. H. Comper and wife and Miss Jeanne Logan have gone to Boulder and other points in Colorado. Mrs. Maud Thomas of Marlin is visiting her brother, S. A. Thomas. John Pratt of this place and William Dunn of Midland have rented the Odd Fellows' building, which they will use as a storage and office for buying and selling grain. Miss Sue Matheson, an employe at the steam laundry, had her hand badly torn and bruised by some of the machinery a day or so ago. The 2-year-old baby of Dabney Harvey had its hands and lower limbs badly burned this morning while playing about a washing machine containing water almost at the boiling point. The child pulled the stopper from the drainage pipe, allowing the water to gush upon it at a considerable force. Someone stole a watch from Arthur Gorman one night this week. Later the watch was found in one of the mail boxes by Mail Carrier Milo Shackelford. The watch had the initials of the owner engraved upon it, and it is supposed the chief thought detection would follow and took the above method of relieving himself from danger and of returning the watch to the owner. Professor J. Wilburn Rose, a Chautauqua entertainer, has been delivering lectures at the Christian church each night this week on religious, scientific and historical subjects, illustrating them with fine scenes from a powerful projecting machine. The Pettus murder case, which was tried here once resulting in a "hung jury," and was transferred to Eastland, has been set for Monday, July 27. Perhaps fifty witnesses have been summoned from this county, most of them being from Merkel, in the vicinity where the murder was committed.

NO CONTEST OF WILL DALLAS, Texas, July 18.—An erroneous and misleading press telegram was recently sent out from Dallas and given wide publication in newspapers, to the effect that a will contest suit was on in the records of the Dallas courts, involving property in this city, valued at approximately $1,000,000, and disposed of by a will of the late Mrs. W. C. Sickles, said to have been made by her in 1888, and recently offered for probate. Mrs. Sickles was the mother-in-law of the Hon. Barnett Gibbs of Dallas, a former lieutenant governor of Texas. No such suit or will contest has been filed. The offering of the will for probate created much comment and the publication of the press dispatch referred to was doubtless the result of a confusion of ideas and rumors. There may be a will contest and litigation in the courts when the will finally comes up for probate—probably several months hence—but at this time no such step has been taken.

HALL COUNTY EVENTS

MEMPHIS, Texas, July 17.—Dr. J. R. Temple returned Thursday from the Panhandle Medical Association at Amarillo. Curtis Milam, who was so badly hurt by a horse falling on him, has recovered his speech and is able to walk. Mrs. S. S. Coffee of Amarillo is spending the week here with the family of Rev. F. F. Robinson. Miss Ethel Williams of Gainesville is here, the guest of her aunts, Mrs. McElreath and Mrs. Forgy. Professor Wells will leave Sunday for Austin. He is a member of the board of examiners for summer normals and will be absent several weeks. Kay Thornton and Miss Ardena Hazard were married in Childress several weeks ago. The marriage was kept secret until this week. The young couple have the best wishes of a host of friends. Editor Johnson and wife returned Tuesday from Omaha, Neb., where he attended the National Editorial Association. Earl Johnson returned this week from Denison, where he spent a month with his grandmother. Miss Lillie Stephens of Wichita Falls is here, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Max Temple.

NEWS FROM BELLEVUE

BELLEVUE, Tex., July 18.—Rev. G. L. Hickey is very sick here. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert McCrary of this place, on the 13th, a boy. DENTON, Texas, July 18.—G. W. Sparks and Miss Naomi Cochran, both of Denton, were united in marriage at the Oak Street Methodist Episcopal church in this city yesterday. Rev. R. L. Selle, presiding elder of the Fort Worth district, officiated. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. GILMER, Texas, July 17.—While the Gilmer and Trickett mines were engaged in a ball game Nell Bule fell and struck his head against Walter Mathis' leg and broke it.

JAMES GORMAN BREAKS AWAY

People of the Big Horn Basin Aroused by the Escape of a Desperate Murderer. CODY, Wyoming, July 18.—Great excitement exists throughout Big Horn basin over the escape of James Gorman, the convicted murderer of his brother, Thomas Gorman. On Wednesday evening Sheriff Fenwick received information that a party of determined citizens from Shell and Paint Rock, in this county, were coming down the basin to lynch Gorman and Walters, another convicted murderer. The sheriff handcuffed both prisoners and two armed deputies secretly removed them to a canon about two miles from town. When nearly to their destination Gorman's men in a powerful man, suddenly wrenched off his handcuffs and broke for the surrounding shrubbery. One of the guards started in pursuit and fired several shots at the fugitive, but he escaped into the darkness. Walters, the other prisoner, made no attempt to escape. Information was instantly sent to the town and a number of mounted men started in pursuit, declaring their intention of lynching Gorman if recaptured.

WOMEN AND JEWELS

Jewels, candy, flowers, mean—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get this reliable remedy at W. L. Smallwood's and Smallwood & Walkup's, Price 25c and 75c.

WILL CONTEST IS INTERESTING

Willoughby H. Stuart Tells father Was Not in Rightz Court That His Grandfather Was Not in Right Mind. BOSTON, July 18.—Arioch Wentworth, the deceased Boston millionaire, once told his grandson, Willoughby H. Stuart, Jr., according to testimony given by Mr. Stuart before Probate Judge Harmon, that Willoughby H. Stuart, Wentworth's son in law, had debts amounting to four or five millions.

This testimony was given at a hearing in the contest of the will of Wentworth which cut off relatives and left $7,000,000 to found an industrial school. The family holds the testator was of unsound mind. Stuart testified that his grand father, formerly British vice consul in Boston, was found to be insane by experts who examined him some years ago. He told in detail of his grand father's table manners, which he said were disgusting, and of his alleged disregard of his personal appearance. He said that Mr. Wentworth had declared that doctors knew nothing about medicine. "I know more about it than all of them together," he said. "Why, look at me," he said, said the witness, "I have dyspepsia and what do I use for it? I use sand and the only reason is that the chickens use it. It does them good and why should it not do me good?" Stuart told of many medicines which Wentworth brought home and of many concoctions which he would try to mix some of which, such as whisky and oil, would not mix. Mr. Wentworth used to take sand paper and sand paper his hands, and often the top of his head. He said that it was a good thing for rough or chapped hands to make them smooth. Witness was asked: "Did Mr. Wentworth ever express to you his intention of founding a mechanics' institute?" "He always declared that he did not believe in them—in colleges or museums. It would be better to spend the money in good streets, and then he would tell how the presidents of various colleges had come to him for advice as to how to run their institutions."

THE MAIDEN AND THE ROSEBUD

She stood in the garden at twilight, And her head had a fanciful pose. She held in her hand a sweet floweret; 'Twas only the bud of a rose.
The light fell in ripples On her bright, golden hair; A picture of beauty She looked standing there.
The shadows of evening had deepened, And fell on the grass at her feet. The robin no longer sang above her, His song so dreamy and sweet.
Thoughtful and slow She then wound her way, With footsteps no longer delayed; And paused near the bank Of the clear flowing stream, Where the daisies and buttercups strayed.
And there by the clear flowing stream-let, Where violets and wild flowers nod, She carefully planted the rosebud, There on the river bank sod.
Nursed by the wind and the sunshine, And watered by bright drops of dew, The rosebud so carefully planted, To fragrance and beauty soon grew.
But one day the rosebud was plucked, And placed on the snowy breast Of the maiden so fair who planted it there. And had now gone home to her rest.
Only the stars knew the story, Who saw from their watch in the sky, And the dear, loving God, the Father of Love, Who looked from his kingdom on high.
Now the rose tree is withered, And dead on the streamlet's sweet sod; The maiden blooms now, a flower so fair, In the beautiful garden of God. CARRIE KELLER.

The summer group on the veranda watched the dancers within and viewed with special favor the Pretty Girl. When she came out for an ice and paused for a minute's chat she whispered to the Idle Woman that dancing was not always as easy as it looked.
"Now I can always dance with comfort with Bob. He guides positively and never has me guessing one little minute as to his intentions and he never forces upon me the responsibility of choosing the turn or reverse. But Reginald! I strain every muscle trying to keep my equilibrium while he makes up his mind what he will do. I know I can dance, and dance as well as most girls, and if he would only take the lead and keep it, I am sure I could follow. If I could not then he might get another partner. But he insists at ways upon asking me to dance and then seems to expect me to give the signal how and when I want him to lead. And it makes me tired. Oh, there is Bob now."
"How like women!" exclaimed the woman with the Newspaper. "Let her have her own way, continually defer to her wishes, even in so small a matter as leadership in a dance and she is dissatisfied. But hold her with determination, set the step for her with decision and she follows with alacrity and enjoyment, provided..."
"Provided..." interrupted the Idle Woman. "The man can lead and is sure of his ability. No woman likes to follow just for the sake of following. As with our girl here, who because she dances well enjoys the more thoroughly a partner that dances better, one that knows what his duties as a partner are and never supposes for an instant that she expects anything else. So it is in all the other things. The man who tries to please a woman by surrendering his rights and yields to her whims that she neither wants to make nor is equal to, will sooner or later have occupation in wondering why she has tired of him."
"Am I to understand," said the Idle Woman, "that a fellow has to boss a woman to please her? I want to know about this." And just then the veranda group saw the Pretty Girl pass dancing with Reginald.
"Will, boss is not exactly the word. There are some women who like to be bossed, but not many. There are men I have heard that need an occasional knock on the head to make them approximately decent citizens. But they are few. The average woman does not need a

HOW TEXAS OFFERS BOLL WEEVIL REWARD

AUSTIN, Tex., July 18.—The promulgation of the proclamation by the governor, Dr. Houston and Commissioner Clay, offering a reward of $50,000 for a remedy that will encompass the destruction of the pestiferous boll weevil, has brought a stream of letters of inquiry as to the conditions upon which payment of the reward will be made and who will be the judge of the success of the remedy.

So many letters are being received that the boll weevil board concluded to publish a summary of the law which contains all needed information to enable persons to compete for this handsome prize, including the test of the remedy, which is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas: That the sum of $50,000 be and is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of discovering a practical remedy for the destruction of the boll weevil, said money to be used as hereinafter set forth, to-wit: That said money be held in the state treasury subject to a warrant drawn thereon signed by the governor, president of A. and M. College and the commissioner of agriculture of Texas. That said persons shall constitute a board whose duty it shall be to offer in the name of the state of Texas the said reward to any person or persons who shall discover and furnish a practical remedy for the destruction of the cotton boll weevil in Texas. That said money shall not be drawn from the treasury until it has been thoroughly proven as hereinafter provided that the person or persons in whose favor the warrant is drawn have produced a practical remedy that will destroy the cotton boll weevil. Said board of three as aforesaid shall act jointly with a committee of five practical farmers to be appointed by the governor from five representative districts of the state where the cotton boll weevil is prominent.

Sec. 2. The sum of $2,500 or so much thereof as is necessary, be and the same is hereby appropriated to pay the expenses and per diem of the board appointed to pass on the remedy produced, said money to be used out of any money not otherwise appropriated, and paid out under direction of the governor; provided, that each member shall be allowed $5 per day for his services. The persons presenting their claims for said reward must subscribe to the following oath, to-wit: I, _____, have discovered a practical method by which the cotton boll weevil can be destroyed, at a cost of not more than one dollar per acre per annum, and cause no bad effect to the cotton. My method is so economical that it can be used by all cotton planters.

Sec. 3. And it is further required that said five practical farmers, reputable citizens, shall subscribe to the following oath: I, _____, swear or affirm, that I have witnessed experiments and applications of Mr. _____ in the destruction of the cotton boll weevil at _____, I further swear, or affirm, that this method of destroying the weevil is so economical and practical, that if followed as directed by _____, will effectively destroy the weevil affecting cotton. That I have witnessed the test made for the destruction of the cotton boll weevil _____ that I have not received anything or been offered anything of value to secure my vote or influence in securing the reward for the party or parties claiming the same, and I do further swear, or affirm, to the best of my judgment that the method offered by _____, which I have seen tested, is economical, practical and will destroy the cotton boll weevil if followed as directed.

Sec. 4. That after the person or persons claiming the said reward, and having complied with the above demands, he or they shall report to the governor that he or they have discovered a practical remedy for the destruction of the cotton boll weevil.

Sec. 5. It shall then be the duty of the governor to appoint five practical farmers, of good character and reputation, as aforesaid, selecting one from each of five representative districts of the cotton producing belt of Texas, who shall assemble at a place designated by the governor, where experiments will be carried on by the party or parties claiming said reward, and in case of refusal, resignation or disqualification of any member of the committee, the governor shall appoint another from the representative district so vacated to fill his place.

Sec. 7. After a fair test or tests covering all points claimed by the inventor or discoverer of a practical remedy for the destruction of the cotton boll weevil have been made, or may be made from time to time covering two consecutive years, to satisfy fully all members of the committee appointed by the governor, commissioner of agriculture and the president of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, that the remedy proposed by the party or parties having been given a fair test for two consecutive years under every requirement of the committee appointed by the governor, and having been by them declared to be so economical, practical and effective and that the cost of same does not exceed one dollar per acre per annum, will so report to the governor in writing, giving in full the details of the experiment witnessed, and recommending that the governor, commissioner of agriculture and the president of the A. and M. College pay to the party or parties who have made the test the reward offered by the state of Texas.

Sec. 8. After the aforesaid board of practical farmers, acting jointly with the governor, commissioner of agriculture and president of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas have passed on the claims of all who make application for the aforesaid reward, and have decided upon the most meritorious claim presented as heretofore required, they shall a period of two successive years elapse in which the people may put into practical application the remedy recommended. And if at the expiration of the two years it has, in the judgment of the aforesaid board, proven a success, the $50,000 shall be awarded to the person or persons discovering or inventing said remedy. Provided, that the insecticide, device or machine, if patented, or if an insecticide, the formula of same shall be conveyed to the said state of Texas before said party competing for the prize shall have the right to have same tested by the board free of charge provided, further, this remedy shall not interfere with the disccovery of any remedy by the state of Texas in the experimental station or by the A. and M. College.

Binghamton Man Claims His Orator Was Appropriated by Prize Winner

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 18.—The originality of the Brown-University commencement day oration this year, when was delivered by Maurice B. Rich, and which with its delivery won him the Gaston medal for oratory, has been attacked by Professor Harry Mintz, of Binghamton, N. Y., high school, having made the charge that the oration, "The Folly of Anti-Semitism," is very similar in many parts to an oration delivered by him at Hamilton College in 1901. When Rich's oration was printed a Binghamton man noted the similarity. Mr. Rich says that he is innocent of an attempt to appropriate another's work.

They Must Get Off the Land Condemned for New York York Watershed

NEW YORK, July 18.—Notice has been served by the county court at White Plains on the fifty-eight squatter occupants of land condemned and purchased for New York's water shed, that they must vacate. Some of the property taken in Golden Bridge, Purdy's Station and Yorktown is to be turned into artificial lakes to supply New York with additional water power. Many of the farmers already are preparing to migrate, but others declare they will fight.

Included in the property to be seized by the city are four churches, four schools, six hotels, ten summer resorts and about forty farms.

AN EARNEST LETTER TO M. T. PANGBURN & CO.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8, 1903.—Dear Sir: The discovery in this city of a new diuretic is saving thousands of lives. It is hard for people to believe who are not eye-witnesses. You as a brother druggist will know that up to this time chronic kidney diseases, Bright's Disease and Diabetes have been necessarily fatal. It is no longer. And I not only know this by being on the ground, but I was also one of the patients. I had Bright's Disease and Diabetes and looked upon death as inevitable. I was so prejudiced I wouldn't buy the new treatment. I couldn't believe it. So they gave it to me to prove it. I not only recovered, but have since given it to somewhere near fifty patients and know of only three or four failures.

I am a pioneer druggist of this city, have been doing business on my own premises for forty-eight years, and I now declare to you on the honor of a brother pharmacist the absolute curability of these dread diseases in about nine-tenths of all cases. I understand the business men who are placing it before the world have appointed you to represent them in your city and I beg to tell you that there are lives to be saved and friends to be made. Yours sincerely,

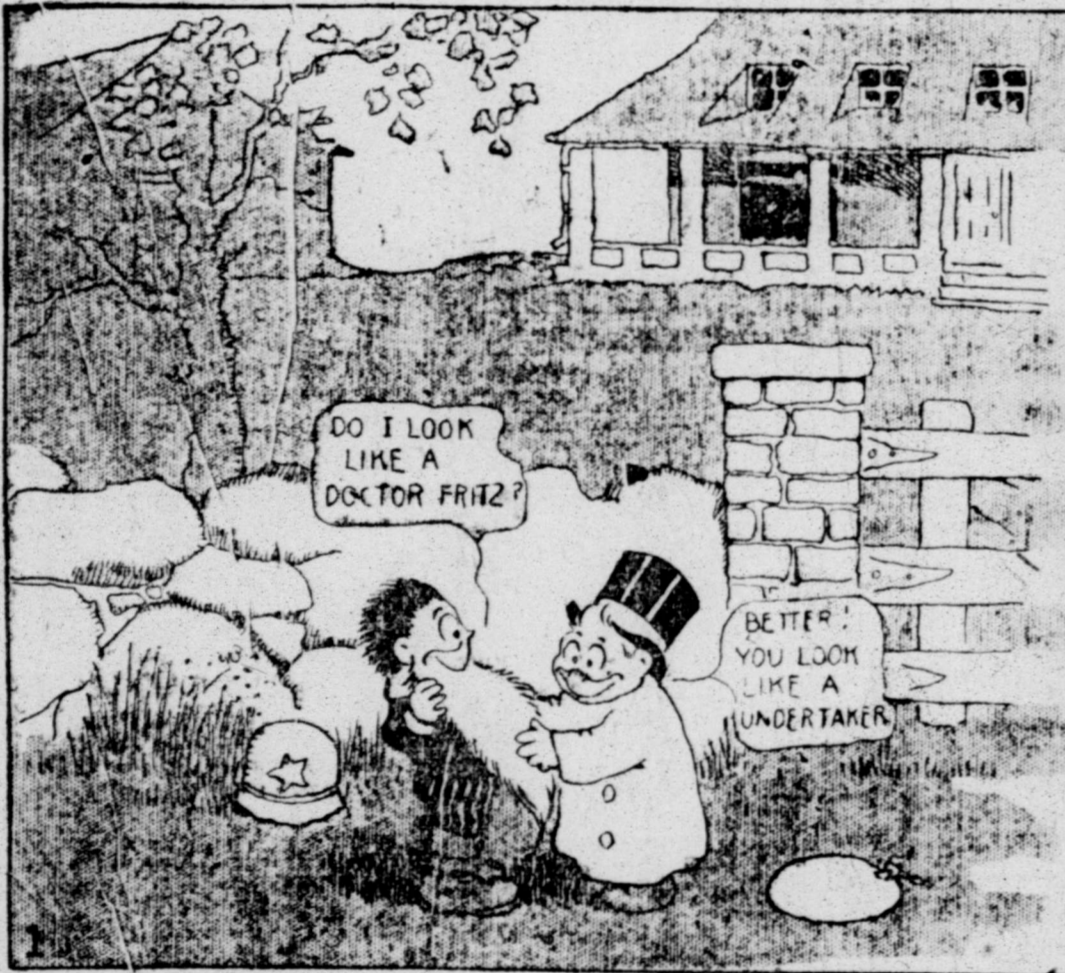

CARL D. ZEILE

The Animal Trainer.

In one of the legislatures this year a member introduced a bill prohibiting newspapers from publishing pictures of human beings in the form of unhuman animals. Of course, it failed to pass, but the remarkable thing about it was that it had some really serious support.

Possibly the old influence of the commandment against graven images may have had something to do with the mental attitude of the sentiment back of it. If so, those in whom the sentiment existed did not know their Scripture very well or were ignorant of the trend of history.

The use of idealized animals in the Old Testament days was for idolatry; the use of animals in these days by the cartoonist and the symbolist is either for ridicule or for the expression of an idea which is not likely to hurt anyone's religion.

Indeed, it is difficult to keep the mind and hand from drawing people as animals. We did it in our school days. We like it in our newspapers and in our speeches.

We constantly see resemblances between the human animal and the dumb brute.

And thus, in larger form, we have the trend exhibited in representations not merely of one person or a few people, but of entire nations.

The British Lion, the Russian Bear and the Chinese Dragon, not to mention a score of others, carry their own significance to the simplest understanding.

It was the habit of our critics across the sea in other years to picture the United States as a very pompous and a very small rooster, and we have ourselves given a certain vogue to the idea by using this noisy but harmless bird as the trumpeter and the chanticleer of victory at the polls.

But the effort to give the United States an unhuman representation has not been a great success.

Even the eagle, which we all claim as the national bird, has never been very popular or familiar, although constantly used upon some of the money and in official illustrations.

Uncle Sam is our favorite caricature. He stands for the country; he holds his head high before the world, and there never was any better reason why he should keep his form erect and his expression confident than there is today.

It is no mere stretch of fancy to call him the animal trainer of the world.

He has done more to keep the international menagerie in peace, to drill the animals into proper habits and to restrain them from seeking what does not belong to them than any other figure or influence in the history of mankind.

He has been a wonder at this business from the very start.

In the Eighteenth Century he taught the lesson of "no taxation without representation," and erected a scheme of freedom which all the monarchies snarled at in vain.

In the early part of the Nineteenth Century he taught the greatest nation of the earth that it could not board his ships and impress his seamen.

Later, in the same century, he put mankind a few steps further in the line of progress by holding the same nation responsible for the work of ships that were equipped for war in its ports.

In the little fight he had in his own family in the sixties he set new standards for the race. Grant's remark to Lee, that defeated Confederates should take their horses because they might need them for the spring plowing, found a splendid echo in South Africa when the British and the Boers settled their differences.

In the war with Spain, Uncle Sam's unexampled generosity was not only magnificent in itself, but once again it had its effect upon the British when they offered their terms to the brave men of the veldt.

So the old gentleman, by both firmness and kindness, has set a good example, which is one of the necessary virtues of an animal trainer.

But his part in recent years has been much more important, although not quite as spectacular as when actual war was involved.

From the days he opened the ports of Japan's commerce he has steadily sought peace and trade.

He has added to that a policy of humanity.

There is no question that if he had not exercised his powers the animals would today be roving over China, each with its chunk of territory.

Through the great problems and difficulties of the East his restraining hand has prevented more than one conflict and has defeated more than one scheme of land aggrandisement.

He seems to be the one power before whom the British Lion will pause; he is the single figure that stops the Russian Bear when that shaggy and hungry quadruped goes too far.

His work in the Western Hemisphere is so great and so truly grand that it will take the perspective of history for a full appreciation of it. That is a joy which the future American will look back upon with pride.

With infinite patience and with marvelous forbearance he has dealt with the snapping and fighting of the little republics in South America.

But gradually the results have come. Only the other day, when Chile and Argentina were on the point of war, they were persuaded to leave their disputes to arbitration, and thus the navies which they were going to bankrupt themselves to build became unnecessary.

Still later the powerful explosion of public sentiment in this country over the Kishenev massacre turned the growl of the Russian Bear into a whine of apology and explanation.

We find, of course, that the old trainer comes in for a large amount of criticism.

There are good people in other continents who would like to tame him a bit.

An excellent society exists in London for the suppression of lynchings in America; there are societies against the occasional massacres which take place in this country; Uncle Sam's treatment of the Indian is not a pleasant chapter of history.

All these things must be admitted, and he can afford to admit them with candor and with regret without diminishing his larger claim for the betterment of the world and for his useful influence over the animals in other continents.

The great fact in all this work is that it makes for peace.

It was Uncle Sam who secured the International Court of Arbitration at The Hague.

It is he more than anyone else who has put truth and common sense into diplomacy.

He has, by the proper insistence, turned men's thoughts less toward war and more toward commerce.

He has shown the animals that clawing one another is an unprofitable business, and that after all about the best thing they can do is to scratch for a living.

So the world is becoming less martial and more commercial, and Uncle Sam stands figuratively at every port to see that there is an open door for the competition of civilization.

Perhaps we may expect his good work to continue to some point in the near future when the dream of universal peace will have some substance, when the savage desires of the animals will not eat up all the food of the taxpayers for great navies and vast armies.

But, of course, that is speculation. The immediate criticism is that the world, by becoming too commercial and too orderly, may get rid of the fighting spirit which many think essential to the finer development of man.

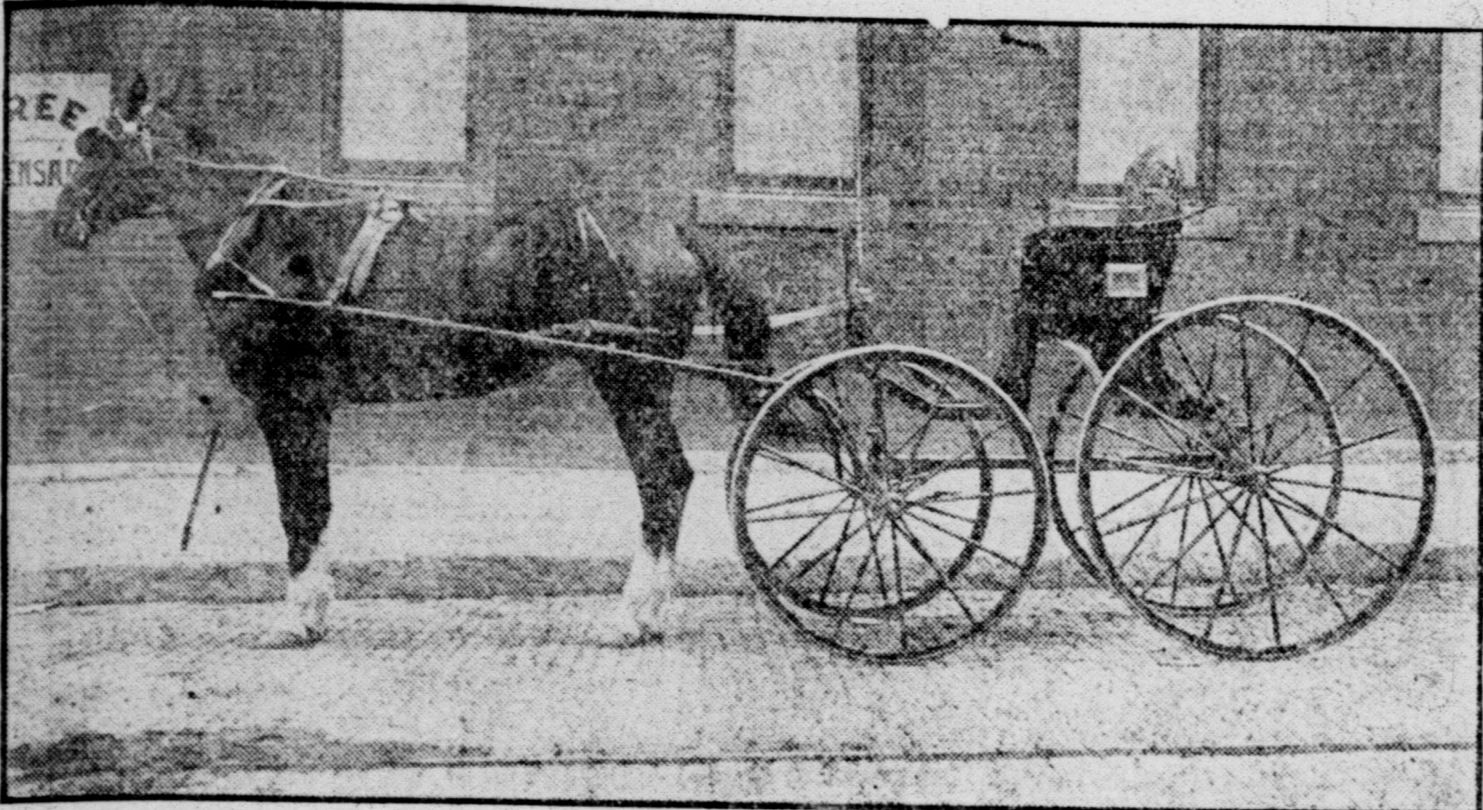

But again, peace has its own heroes.

Surely it is better to have the animals at play under the eye of a good and just trainer than to see them sharpening their claws, pouncing upon the helpless and fighting away their strength, their resources and their morals.

A GOOD INSTITUTION

The correspondent of The Telegram in investigating the schools of Dallas, was especially impressed with the showing of stability and thoroughness made by the Dallas Commercial College.

This progressive institution has now nearing completion a four-story, with basement, brick and stone school building, located at 475 Commerce street, just opposite the new Carnegie library. The building is modern in every sense of the word and will be furnished with the best equipment that money can buy. The entire property represents an investment of more than $50,000.

Texas is fast becoming noted for her educational institutions, and can well be proud of this, her first building dedicated to the cause of business education.

Mr. G. A. Harmon, the genial president, has had about twenty-five years' experience and is known to the profession generally as the best all-around commercial teacher in the south.

The school publishes the largest list of successful students of any business college in Texas and has the unqualified support of the business men of Dallas. One firm, the Dorsey Printing Company, uses fifteen of their students in the stenographic and bookkeeping force.

The school is adding a thorough university training department, with Colonel J. R. Cole, formerly with the A. & M. College and Cole's Classical and Military School of Dallas, as president.

ADOPTS THE LANGUAGE

Special cable. Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.

PARIS, July 18.—A number of forthcoming discourses show how public men now learn to speak fluently the language of their neighbors. Senator George Clemenceau will shortly go to London to be dined, and will harangue in the language of his hosts upon a good understanding between Great Britain and France.

Recently Jean Jaures, vice president of the chamber of deputies, delivered a long discourse in excellent German. M. Paul Lafargue, former deputy of Lille and relative of Karl Marx, lectures in Spanish. Enrico Ferri, deputy for Rome, comes every year to Paris and delivers discourses on sociology in French worthy of the academy.

At the recent congress of socialists Mr. Hyndman of England addressed the assembly in French, as did also M. Van Kol of Holland.

THE FOURTH TIME
AUSTIN, Texas, July 18.—D. H. Ross, assistant county attorney of Hunt county, came to Austin last night on business with some of the departments. While in the attorney general's office he informed Judge Bell that a verdict assessing the penalty of death in the case of the State vs. W. H. Lax had just been returned by the jury in the district court. Mr. Ross added that Hunt county was organized July 13, 1846, fifty-seven years ago, and this was the fourth time in all those years that the penalty of death had been assessed as a punishment for crime.

THE BOSS WORM MEDICINE.

H. P. Kumpe, druggist, Leighton, Ala., writes: "One of my customers had a child, which was sick, and threw up all food, could retain nothing on its stomach. He bought one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, and it brought up 119 worms from the child. It's the boss worm medicine in the world." White's Cream Vermifuge is also the children's tonic. It improves their digestion and assimilation of food, strengthens their nervous system and restores them to the health, vigor and elasticity of spirits natural to childhood. 25c at H. T. Pangburn

New Things Strange and Curious

GIANT PRESS IN COUNTERFEITERS' DEN.

This is the inside of a room in which counterfeiters practiced their trade in Philadelphia. The huge machine in the middle was used for running silver 25-cent pieces. The coins were good imitations, and it was some time before the government detectives ran down the gang engaged in manufacturing them. So ponderous was the apparatus em-played that it required the muscular effort of two strong men to revolve the great horizontal bar which served down the masses of iron block that served as a press.

The Bank of France can compare customers to accept one fifth of withdrawals in gold coin.

FINE OLD DUTCH COUNTRY CHAISE.

Nothing recently brought to this country from the old world treasures can take eclipse in unique style the elegant "old Dutch country two-wheeled chaise" pictured here, and owned by a well-known society woman of New York. It was built about 1740-1750 by the celebrated carriage builder Mulder, of Holland, and is the only sample of his splendid work in existence.

It is as strong in every part as of old, the body turned in, the body of the wheels, a rich golden brown, has profusely hand-carved. The Holland carriage is represented on the panels in softened tints, the spokes, the curving springs at the back are curiously ornamental, and it is used for the horses, tandem.

CHARACTER TOLD BY SHOES.

Scarpology is the name of a novel method of divination which is now attracting some attention in Europe. It was invented by a scientist of Basle, and it is based on the assumption that the character of any person can be told from his shoes.

When a foot and sole are worn even to meaning thereby when neither is in a worse condition than the other, one may be confident, if a man wears the shoe, that he is energetic and is endowed with excellent business ability, and if a woman, that she is loyal to her husband and a good house-keeper.

WOMAN IN MINIATURE.

Much curiosity has been felt regarding the woolly-headed black dwarf of our newly acquired archipelago in the Southern Pacific. The photo presented herewith shows what very little people they are, the woman being four years and about 10 years of age. She does not reach much above the elbow of the white man standing by her side. That she is of full Negro blood is shown by her hair. The 20,000 acres of British orchards yield yearly 85,000 tons of fruit.

Ingenious New Hat in.

Very different from the ordinary hat in which it must be acknowledged, is described by primitive as the new hat in shown in the accompanying picture.

It is composed of a needle, a head, a spring tongue and an open sleeve or side. The spring tongue is fast to the needle, and is designed to be the latter in respect to position, and on the sleeve a stop and finger grip which are intended to prevent the needle from being inserted into the hat.

Dr. Dimor, a well-known Belgian physicist, recently tested several children on this point. He gave them two small bottles, each containing a different quantity of heavy powder, and one of which was given to the child, and the other to the child, when he was asked to hold the bottle, the child who was given the bottle with the heavy powder held it longer.

Test For Children.

Hand a person two objects which are of exactly the same weight, but of different dimensions, and the chances are three to one that he will pronounce the smaller to be the heavier of the two. The reason is, of course, because it is natural though erroneous to suppose that the more compact a body is the more heavy it is bound to be.

He gave them two small bottles, each containing a different quantity of heavy powder, and one of which was given to the child, and the other to the child, when he was asked to hold the bottle, the child who was given the bottle with the heavy powder held it longer.

The Smallest Watch.

The smallest watch ever made is shown in the accompanying picture. It is a pocket watch, and is so small that it can be held in the tip of the tongue.

An Amusing Toy.

One of the most difficult things to invent is a toy which will amuse children, not for a day or two, but as long as they remain children, and those persons who are competent to speak with authority on the matter maintain that those toys which represent animals in motion, or of which animals are the principal parts, are more likely to become popular than any others.

If this be true, the toy shown in the accompanying picture ought to be held with delight by children, since an animal plays the most important part in it; indeed, without the animal it would be an uninteresting

The toy is a small animal, and in the upper part of its body, which can be covered if desired, the animal is shown in motion, by means of a spring, which causes it to play with the animal, and it is a very amusing toy.

VASE RESTORED FROM 638 FRAGMENTS.

To the great delight of the art world, the famous Francois vase, the most important monument of the temples of Solon and Pisistratus, and the most precious example of Greek art in the sixth century before Christ, has after years of toil been restored and again placed on exhibition in the Florence Archaeological Museum.

Connoisseurs are of the opinion that this most valuable and noted antique ceramic piece, which was not restored until 1850, and which was found in fragments by the new received three years ago.

This rare old specimen of art has a most remarkable history. Signor Alessandro Francois found the vase in October, 1844. It was inside a vault located within an apartment belonging to the Grand Duke of Tuscany, at Ponte Rotella, near Chiusi, or, to be strictly accurate, he found only two-thirds of the body of the vase, with one of the handles, in the first place. A year later he came across some other remarkable pieces, among which was the second handle, which, as afterwards another fragment came to light, and was handed over as a gift to the museum in 1866 by Marquis Charles Strozz, when the parts previously found were put together and so firmly fixed that the vase remained undisturbed until smashed into fragments by the blow received three years ago.

TYPES OF PHILIPPINE HEAD HUNTERS.

A private letter to a gentleman in New York, who is a collector of ethnological specimens, gives a description of the head-hunters of the Philippines. The head-hunters are a people who live in the mountainous regions of the Philippines, and are known for their practice of head-hunting.

Eyesight And Electricity.

It has been supposed that electricity is more injurious to the eyesight than any other artificial light, but a recent test has shown that this is not the case. The test was conducted by a scientist in New York, and it was found that electricity is not more injurious to the eyesight than any other artificial light.

Mechanical Novelty.

A new form of mechanical novelty has been invented by a scientist in New York. It is a device which is used for measuring the strength of a person, and it is a very interesting and useful device.

Modern Sun Worshippers.

In Europe several persons now sedulously pay homage to the sun, and in a learned journal, entitled "L'Esprit Nouveau," one of them maintains that the sun should be especially honored at Christmas.

Man-Like Root.

The remarkable resemblance to the human figure which this root bears has caused the Chinese to regard it as a supernatural reversion. They believe it is a panacea for all the ills to which human flesh is heir.

His Own Grandfather.

Repho Brazoni, a Neapolitan sailor, is a living proof of the fact that a man can be his own grandfather. He is a man who is a living proof of the fact that a man can be his own grandfather.

The root was photographed just as it was dug from the ground in a ginseng garden near China, N. Y. As will be noted, its resemblance to the human form is wonderful. It has a waist, head and neck, arms and legs. It is one of the most valuable products which grows from the soil, and a large quantity of it is used in America for medicinal purposes.
