Fire Originated in Goldgraber Block, Destroying Seven Buildings Before Flames Could Be Checked

IT BURNS FIERCELY AND CAUSES ALARM

City Council of North Fort Worth Will Be Asked to Take Steps Immediately to Supply a New Water System—Bonds May Be Issued

- THE LOSSES J. Goldgraber building, known as City Hall, $4,500; insurance, $2,500. L. G. Prichard, frame building, $800; insurance, $400. J. J. Lydon, three small store buildings, $1,000; no insurance. G. W. Hewitt's store building and residence, $1,500; partly covered by insurance. Daniel's photograph gallery, loss, $25. Rosen Inn, loss $200 to $400. Glass windows and doors broken and front of hotel blistered. Daniel & Watkins Produce company, occupying Hewitt building, loss $500; covered by insurance. City loss, including tax rolls, office fixtures, etc., $45; no insurance.

This morning at 3:15 fire broke out in the Goldgraber building in North Fort Worth and before the citizens succeeded in getting it under control $10,000 worth of property was destroyed.

The Goldgraber building is situated in the center of the block on Main street fronting the Rosen Inn building. Those first upon the scene say that the fire originated in the rear of the building upstairs, in a room which has been used for lodge meetings, while others think it originated in the kitchen of the City Hall Cafe, which occupied one of the store rooms of the Goldgraber building.

When the fire was first seen a volume of smoke was pouring out of the building, but for fully five minutes no flames were visible. The complete equipment for the new chemical engine arrived yesterday and the volunteer company used its entire apparatus in endeavoring to keep the fire from spreading to the adjoining buildings, but with little success, as the Goldgraber building was a high two-story frame and the flames simply scooped down on the smaller buildings, igniting them faster than the firemen and citizens could extinguish them.

All store buildings immediately south of the origin of the fire were burned and also everything in the block north to Collier's Grove, which is on the north corner of the block. J. B. Collier's store and residence were only saved by a grove of large green trees, all of which were scorched and burned.

HEAVIEST LOSER The heaviest loser is J. Goldgraber. Mr. Goldgraber's building is valued at about $4,500, with only $2,500 insurance.

J. M. White, who conducted a saloon in one of J. J. Lydon's buildings, lost his entire stock, with no insurance. A blacksmith shop, restaurant and barber shop adjoining White's saloon were also burned with a loss of both buildings and contents.

L. G. Prichard and W. G. Booth owned a vacant store building south of the Lydon buildings, which was burned. As Mr. Booth is in California, the amount of insurance carried could not be learned.

The Daniel & Watkins Produce company, which occupied the Hewitt building, saved most of its stock by moving it into one of the vacant store rooms in the Rosen building. Its loss of stock was about $500. The barbecue stand situated in the old Rosen land office building was saved by being rolled into the street.

The fire department of Fort Worth was called upon when the alarm was first sounded and made an exceptional good run, arriving upon the scene in twenty minutes after the first alarm. Very little could be done even by the large chemical, so fierce was the heat. Chief Maddox directed his attention in trying to save the buildings across the street from the fire and those situated near enough to be in danger.

NEED OF WATER SUPPLY North Fort Worth has no water system upon which it can rely, depending on a few private wells which are located throughout the business district of the town. At the meeting of the city council next Tuesday night the citizens will insist that the city either float bonds for a water works or make arrangements with Fort Worth for a water supply.

A leading citizen said this morning that there was no excuse for the present condition of the water system, that the city of Fort Worth five months ago made the city council of North Fort Worth a proposition to lay a water main to North Fort Worth at a charge of 50 cents per 1,000 gallons, and that at the time the proposition was made three of the councilmen were in favor of accepting it, while the other three aliened. It is claimed by some of the citizens that the consumption of water by the people of North Fort Worth would more than pay for the supply used from Fort Worth.

This second serious fire within a brief period has emphasized the necessity of an ample water supply.

NEW YORK, August 8.—The board of classification of the United States general appraisers has announced a decision which will be of interest to persons who import mummies. The collector of customs at Philadelphia recently assessed a duty of 20 per cent ad valorem on a mummy. The price of mummies by the importers is sustained by the board.

THE NEW ENVELOPES

Samples of One-Cent Variety Arrive at the Postoffice A few samples of the new one-cent stamped envelope have arrived at the Fort Worth postoffice. As this office does not keep one-cent stamped envelopes in stock, they are not on sale here. The ones that were received at the postoffice this morning came from Chicago and Houston.

The new stamp is in the same color as all of the one-cent stamps have been for some years back—green. The green on this envelope is somewhat brighter than the others, however. For the first time in years a stamped envelope is made with a bust in the center of a perfectly round design. The stamp has a circular hand just inside the design, with the words "United States postage" on the top and "One Cent" at the bottom. Inside is an embossed bust of Benjamin Franklin, with the word Franklin below it, and the dates of his birth and death—1706 and 1790—on either side.

According to the new rules of the universal postal union, all stamps which have an equivalent value to our cent must be printed in green. All those equal, or as nearly equal as the relative denominations will allow to two cents are to be printed in red and those equivalent to five cents are to be in blue.

Louis R. Eisenberg of Odessa Tells How Alexander II's Kindness Is Indirectly Responsible

GREEK CHURCH IS HOSTILE TO JEWS

Priests Imbue Their Pupils With a Bitter Feeling for Those Who Will Not Barter Their Faith—Migration Is the Only Hope

PITTSBURG, Pa., August 8.—"Strange as it may seem, the present deplorable persecution of the Jews in Russia is in a great measure due to the liberal policy of Czar Alexander II toward the non-Russian population and the serfs alike," said Louis R. Eisenberg, a newspaper man of Odessa, Russia, who has recently arrived in Pittsburgh, "and it is the children of the very serfs whom he liberated that are most active in the attacks against them. In order that the situation may be perfectly understood, it is necessary to go back into the history of Russia fifty years ago. Alexander II put into practice the theories he had formed for a more liberal government, and the education of his eldest son, Constantine, the heir apparent, was conducted in a manner to fit him for continuing his father's policy upon his ascension to the throne. Unfortunately, Constantine died, or was killed, before his father's assassination by the nihilists, and the next brother, Alexander, became czar.

"Alexander had been given a purely military education and knew of his father's policy. He married Princess Dagmar of Denmark, who had been the former heir apparent's betrothed, and who was a very ambitious woman. She brought about a change in the policy of the government inaugurated by Alexander II, with the aid of the ministers, who sought the greater power that would be exerted through the hands of his father's policy. He used the argument with Alexander III, that unless a change was made the reign of the house of Romanoff would be endangered through a well-known defect in the succession. The schools that had been established by Alexander II were closed in charge of the Greek orthodox priests, who cherished a bitter hatred against all non-Russians who refused to barter their faith, including the Jews and Poles. The children of the serfs were imbued with this same hatred, and their fathers and mothers had been liberated through the same kindness of Alexander II, that would have eventually made the conditions for the Jews much better had he lived to put his intentions into effect. Riots directed against the Jews were frequent occurrences, though those of this year have been more violent than ever before.

"The immediate cause of the recent massacre at Kishineff was a pronouncement issued by the government granting religious freedom to all but Jews. The omission of Jews from these privileges was skillfully used by their enemies to make the ignorant masses believe that those who indulged in demonstrations and attacks against the Jews were exempt from punishment. The affair at Kishineff should not be called a massacre, for it was not. Though forty-three Jews were killed, it has never been reported how many Russians met death at the same time, though their number was equally great.

It was then unknown in the city, and being unable to dispose of his first cargo, Captain Egnor was obliged to throw it overboard.

ETHEL RANDALL'S AWFUL DEATH

Young Lady Residing on East Daggett Avenue Succumbs to Injuries Sustained in Kerosene Explosion

SUFFERED INTENSELY BEFORE DEATH CAME

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Randall, Parents of the Deceased, Returned From Waco This Morning in Response to Telegram—Details of Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Randall returned from Waco this morning at 8 o'clock to find their daughter, Miss Ethel, a corpse, the result of a kerosene explosion at the Randall home last evening. The accident which resulted in the death of Miss Randall occurred between 4 and 5 o'clock while the young lady was endeavoring to rekindle a fire in the stove. From a gallon can, in which there was about a pint of kerosene, she was pouring oil onto the embers. The explosion resulted, and before the flames could be extinguished Miss Randall was lying in a horrible manner about the face, and her clothing was almost entirely burned from her body. Slight damage resulted to the building in which the fire occurred.

Physicians were summoned and everything possible was done to spare the young lady's life, but skill was of no avail except in alleviating the intense suffering of the patient during the four and one-half hours which she survived.

Just before the accident occurred, Miss Randall, in company with her sister, Mrs. Bob Hunter, Mrs. Bobbie Turnall, Miss Goldie Stevens and Daniel Tubb, were sitting in the parlor of the Randall home, 301 East Daggett avenue. She excused her departure from her friends to go to the kitchen to prepare the evening meal. The stove on which the family cooking is done yet contained live embers from the fire on which the dinner had been prepared. Miss Randall, supposedly, desired to renew the fire by adding fresh fuel and applying a quantity of kerosene. The gallon can in which the oil was kept contained only about a pint of oil, but this exploded with the results above stated.

The members of the family, who had remained in the parlor, heard the report from the explosion, and for a moment were at a loss to conceive what had caused it. Their first belief was that some one in the neighborhood had discharged a pistol. Mr. Tubb stepped to the door leading to kitchen, and upon opening it witnessed a horrible scene. Miss Randall's clothing was in flames, and from the result of the explosion, the forehead of which had been already in a critical condition. The fire was quickly extinguished by wrapping the young lady in a comfort, but her injuries had already extended beyond human relief.

Drs. Walker, Miller, Van Zandt, Brown and Suggs were summoned and made every effort to save the life of their patient. Until placed under the influence of an anesthetic Miss Randall remained conscious, although suffering the most excruciating pain. Repeatedly she called for her father and mother, the parents having departed only thirty hours before for Waco to attend a Holiness meeting.

At 9 o'clock Miss Randall passed away, her last words being, "Girls, I hate to leave—God, I'm coming."

Miss Ethel Randall was 17 years of age. She was born in Limestone county, Tex., and while yet an infant came with her parents to Fort Worth. Later the family moved to Waco, but returned to this city about two years ago. The deceased was a bright, charming young woman, and the awful death which came to her has prostrated her family with grief.

GENERAL YOUNG COMMANDS ARMY

Order for the Retirement of General Miles Is Brief and Makes No Reference to Distinguished Record

UNDER THE NEW LAW CHANGE TAKES PLACE

In the Middle of August New Head of the Army Will Become Chief of Staff—He Is to Retire on Account of Age in January Next

WASHINGTON, August 8.—The following order was issued by the war department: "By the direction of the secretary of war the retirement from active service by the president August 8, 1903, of Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., part of his brother officers was due to the fact that he was not a West Point man. The same cause for complaint is to be found in the case of the new commanding general. General Young is the third man who has come from civil life, as distinguished from those who have gone through the academy, to attain the command of the army. The first, after it became possible to appoint a West Point graduate, to achieve that position was General Winfield Scott, who became commander in 1841, thirty-nine years after the establishment of the academy. He entered the army from civil life as a captain of artillery. Since Scott all the commanders of the army except Miles have been West Pointers.

NO FUSS OR FEATHERS But the new commanding general is a soldier from the ground up, without any fuss or feathers. He is not a medal of honor man, but one who quietly and faithfully performed his duties at all times, and is recognized as a tireless fighting general who is ready for duty day or night. He emerged from the civil war with the respect of all his comrades, and performed excellent service during the Spanish war, later distinguishing himself in the Philippines.

Five months after he entered the Pennsylvania regiment as a private, April 25, 1861, he was made a captain of volunteers. One year later he was promoted to the grade of major. In October, 1864, he had reached the grade of lieutenant colonel, and two months later was placed in command of his regiment. April 5, 1865, he was brevetted brigadier general of volunteers for conspicuous gallantry, and was honorably mustered out of the service July 1, 1865.

A year later he was appointed in the regular establishment, with the rank of second lieutenant of the Twelfth regular infantry. July 28 the same year he was transferred to the cavalry arm of the service with the rank of captain and was assigned to the Eighth regiment. He was not promoted again until April 2, 1883, when he was commissioned as major. He held this rank until August 15, 1892, when he was promoted to a lieutenant colonel, this time to the colonelcy of his regiment.

IN SPANISH WAR Upon the outbreak of the Spanish war Colonel Young was given the rank of brigadier general of volunteers and was assigned to duty at Las Guasimas, Cuba, where there was a lively battle in which Sergeant Hamilton Fish and Captain Allyn Capron, in command of a light battery, were killed. This is the battle in which Colonel Capron, fought so desperately after his son had been killed. During this campaign father and son lost their lives.

Before the close of the Spanish war General Young had been honored with the rank of major general of volunteers, which rank died with the volunteer army in 1899. He was made a brigadier general in the regular army in 1900 and sent to the Philippines. Then followed the daring and successful campaign in Luzon, conducted under the special direction of General Young, whose cavalry scattered and broke up the insurgent organizations effectually.

General Young was a member of the courtmartial which tried and found guilty General Egan, who attacked General Miles before the commission which investigated the scandals of the Spanish war. Later General Young was promoted to major general and selected by Secretary Root to be president of the army college.

The personal relations of the new commander and President Roosevelt are strong because of their association in the Santiago campaign. Secretary Root also has a high personal regard for General Young, and also places a high estimate upon his ability as an army officer.

WILL SERVE FIVE MONTHS

General Young will serve only five months as commanding general of the army, as he will reach the age limit January 9, 1904. Upon his retirement it is the plan to appoint Major General Henry C. Corbin lieutenant general in command of the army. General Corbin will not retire for age until September 15, 1906.

TROLLEY LINE TO BE BUILT

Ohio Capital Will Be Interested in a Traction Company in Southeastern Part of the State

BUILDING IS TO BE COMMENCED AT ONCE

It Will Run From Port Arthur to Saratoga, Passing Spindle Top Oil Fields—History of the Cherokee Land Question Is to Be Written

AUSTIN, Texas, August 8.—A very interesting railroad charter was examined and approved by the attorney general yesterday evening and filed for record in the office of the secretary of state.

The name of the corporation is the Beaumont, Sour Lake and Port Arthur Traction Company. The headquarters of the company are at Beaumont and the amount of its capital stock is $300,000.

The company is chartered for the purpose of building an electric railroad from Port Arthur to Beaumont, from thence to Sour Lake and on to Saratoga.

The incorporators are G. W. Menke of Houston, W. A. Mize of Franklin county, Ohio; John B. Linn of Clark county, Ohio; Theodore Weyant of Franklin county, Ohio; H. E. Smith of Franklin county, Ohio; B. R. Norvell of Beaumont, George A. Hill of Austin, G. M. Craig, R. C. Durr, W. C. Averill, George O'Brien, T. S. Reed and George W. Carroll, William Weiss of Beaumont.

Quite a number of the incorporators were here two weeks ago to consult the railroad commission as to what basis the road would be placed on, and were informed it would be regarded by the commission as a commercial railroad. The filing of this charter is the result of that conference. It is understood that active building operations will commence at once and be pushed to completion.

THE LUMBER TARIFF

The railroad commission issued a circular yesterday on application of the Texas and New Orleans Railroad Company, Houston East and West Texas and the International and Great Northern, that the tariff issued to apply on lumber and articles taking the same rate in cars transported by railroads between points in Texas be amended by adding:

"Rates on pine lumber and articles taking the same rate, in car loads, from mills located on the Houston, East and West Texas and International and Great Northern to Hawkinsville, Middlefield and Tres Palacios, shall be 18 1/2 cents per 100 pounds.

CHEROKEE LAND QUESTION

Professor E. W. Winkler of Brenham is in Austin to spend some time in writing a history of the Cherokee land question.

He is a member of the faculty of Blum memorial college in Brenham and one of the editors of the college monthly, published by the students and teachers of that institution. Professor Winkler is well educated in both the German and English languages, and being an enthusiastic student of Texas history he is well equipped for unearthing and unraveling all the facts in connection with the interesting subject he has in hand.

He is spending much time in consulting the records and archives in the university, state library and the several departments where historical data are to be found.

FOR LIGHT AND WATER

The board created by an act of the last legislature consisting of the governor, secretary of state and attorney general, to provide a system of light, water and electric power for the capital and grounds, general land office, governor's mansion, state university and the various eleemosynary institutions held a meeting yesterday evening.

Various plans were suggested and discussed, but no conclusion reached. It was determined to have a consultation with the corporation now supplying these general state buildings and institutions authorized to renew the contract with the water company, failing, however, to do which the bill placed $155,000 at the disposal of the board with which to install a new plant.

A NEW BUILDING

The work of erecting the new school building for the blind institute was commenced here today. The new structure will be two stories, built of brick, 110x150 feet, and is to cost $47,000. The building will be ready by May 15, so the contractors think.

DEAR SIR: There were 7,187 head of cattle on our market this week, lighter receipts having prevailed during the entire week. Tuesday had the only decent run of the week, and even then there were not more than enough cattle here for the requirements of the two packers. Our market has held steady on cow stuff, opened higher on calves and has eased off about 25c since the opening. Good fed steers are 10c to 15c higher for the week. All of the Northern markets are on a lower basis than last week, and while prices are very low everywhere, we are getting about as much per pound and a good deal more net money than anything going North. Our packers are very anxious to increase the run at this point, and will do their reasonable part in maintaining prices here that will net a good deal more money than to forward to any of the Northern markets.

Hog receipts for the past week were 1,199 head, being very light. We have had a good steady market all the week, in some cases 5c to 10c higher on good hogs. We expect a steady market for some time to come, with a slight advance each week, not enough, however, to justify you to hold your hogs if they are ready to come. Our top hogs are bringing $5.50 to $5.55, lighter hogs $5.25 to $5.40. Recent ruling of the government allows stock hogs to be handled on this market, though they must be billed as stock hogs in order to be unloaded in the division set apart for them. We can use some good quality hogs at from $5.00 to $5.50.

Sheep receipts for the past week were very light, not enough to test the market. We could sell some strictly good sheep at from $3.00 to $3.25 per 100 pounds, the ordinary kinds bringing $2.50 to $2.75.

THE WEATHER CRANK WEARS SUNNY SMILE

"Hello, Central! Will you do me the kindest of favors by causing the weather man to stick his ear against the phone—yes, 423?" "Hi, there! That you? Say, did you see what the Panthers did to the scrubs from Dallas yesterday? Why, they literally walked over them. That was fine weather for baseball. I see that you are going to give the same kind of a time tomorrow for the double-header. Why, do you know that there are people who don't want to go to a ball game unless they know the home team is going to win, and those same people will never go to a game unless you say that it is going to be fair weather? Superstitious? Well, maybe, but they know how you can help them.

HE GETS OFF LIGHTLY AFTER SHOOTING MAN

The corporation court this morning was chiefly interesting by reason of the interesting stories there which did not come to the surface. Palmer Maddox was fined $1 on a plea of guilty to affray. Mark Rice, a Waco saloon man, pleaded guilty to carrying a pistol and was fined $5 and costs, the minimum for the offense. The facts in the case were that Rice fired two shots at Maddox in a resort in the west-end district, one of which struck Maddox in the foot and the other grazing his head. Rice also suffered some bruises in an affray that preceded the shooting. Then the case of "Ebbie" Hicks, a negro porter, formerly an employee of the

MONEY IS TIGHT

Mayor Sanford of Waco Returns From the East and Talks. WACO, Texas, August 7.—Mayor Allan Sanford, who has been off to get $50,000 for the city, in speaking of the money situation in the financial centers, said: "The money market I found more stringent than at any time since 1893, due to large speculations on the stock exchange for the past two or three years, these things being bound to have a culminating point. These speculations have resulted in a great scarcity of actual money in New York and other centers. The banks of the south and west have recently been sending money and taking care of New York's situation, something almost unprecedented. In Chicago, St. Louis and New York money can hardly be had for propositions of an outside character, no matter how attractive those propositions may be, and the moneyed men will not listen to a proposal to lend money except to regular customers just now. A big operator in New York, a man known as the financial world for his solidity and conservatism, showed me where he had had to use ex-

A VALUED ACQUISITION

Adolph Friedman, Former Waco Business Man, Coming to Fort Worth. Adolph Friedman, late of Waco, is in the city superintending the work of remodeling the interior of the large store-room at the corner of Main and Ninth streets, in which he will soon open one of the largest clothing establishments in Fort Worth. The building is admirably located for Mr. Friedman's business, it having an entrance both on Main and Ninth streets. The large area of floor space affords an excellent opportunity of displaying the thousands of merchandise which will be opened at this place about the 15th of the present month. The stock will comprise clothing, men's furnishings, etc. Personally, Mr. Friedman comes to Fort Worth's business circles with a most excellent reputation as an honest, conservative and successful merchant. For the past ten years he has been engaged in business in Waco, in which city he established a successful patronage on the principles which will characterize his operations in Fort Worth. Mr. Friedman is a pleasant gentleman, socially, and has already made many acquaintances in this city. In Waco many expressions of regret were heard on every hand, when the news of his departure for the metropolis of Texas was announced.

Outside of Mexico there is a prevalent impression that because General Diaz is now seventy-three he must be failing in his power to some extent at least, and that but a few more years would see him necessarily retired. On the contrary, it is said that half a minute in his presence is all that is needed to dispel this misconception. He is an Oaxaca Indian, a tribe noted for his longevity and physical prowess, and knowing this one is not at all surprised at the failure of the years of his hard active life to make more than a superficial change in him. On horseback he sits in his saddle with ease, and can stand as much fatigue as when he rode into Puebla conqueror of the French, thirty-five years ago. Porfirio Diaz, Jr., the president's son, is now a man of great affairs in the Mexican financial world. He was given a military education in the United States, but he took to business, and has in a few years amassed more wealth than his father in all the time he has been president.

SECOND ATTEMPT ENDS IN SUICIDE

Mrs. Viola C. Moseley Found Dead in Bed at Her Boarding House on East Fourth Street

MADE FORMER EFFORT TO END HER LIFE

Coroner's Verdict Says Strychnine Self-Administered Was Cause of Death—A Letter Gives Names of Father and Husband of Deceased

Despondency, said to have been caused by family troubles and illness, are attributable to the suicide of Mrs. Viola C. Moseley, at her boarding house on East Fourth street last night. The self-administration of an eight-ounce dose of strychnine was the second attempt at suicide by Mrs. Moseley during the past month. The first attempt was made while she was boarding on Missouri avenue, an account of which was printed in The Telegram at the time, the name of the woman being omitted in the article.

CHANGED BOARDING HOUSES

Recently Mrs. Moseley changed her place of residence from the Missouri avenue boarding house to East Fourth street. Little of her is known at either place. At the East Fourth street house it was stated today that she has been under the care of a physician a great deal of the time. She was despondent, her acquaintances said. Her remains were found this morning when an investigation was made on her failure to respond to the usual call for breakfast.

MRS. MOSELEY'S LETTER

The letter follows: "Dear Mrs. —: My woe is too much. If I die have me buried nicely here on a nice lot. Wire R. H. Moseley and write to my father, J. M. Teague, Austin. Pack and send all my stuff to father. Mr. Moseley will pay all necessary expenses. Lovingly and sadly yours, "VIOLA."

THE CORONER'S VERDICT

The inquest over the remains was conducted by Coroner Charles T. Rowland, whose verdict was that the deceased came to her death by strychnine administered with her own hands with suicidal intent.

NORTH FORT WORTH, August 8.—The first week of August closed quietly at the stock yards. No hogs were received this morning and up till noon but two carloads of cattle had been weighed.

The market closed steady. Cows of the best quality have made perhaps a 10-cent gain, and good steers are also higher. Calves are active with prices unchanged.

There is a demand for both good cows and steers and the prices paid for such are equally as good as can be obtained by shipping to northern markets, when freight and shrinkage are considered.

IN GRAIN PITS IT IS BULLISH

Stocks at Minneapolis Decreased Six Hundred Thousand Bushels During Week Just Passed

STOCKS EXHAUSTED FARMERS HOLDING

Corn Market Dull With Light Trade Most of the Session. Country Purchases Light.

Oats Firm All Day With Fair Volume of Trade

CHICAGO, August 8.—In wheat the news was mostly bullish, particularly so from the northwest and this applies to both the cash and option markets.

The stocks at Minneapolis decreased this week 500,000 bushels and are now 2,250,000 bushels. The receipts are light and there is a lively scramble for them.

There was a report circulated that the Commercial West estimate of the crop on Monday would be 150,000,000 bushels, and this exerted considerable influence. Receipts and country acceptances in the southwest were both light.

The Pacific coast situation is rather peculiar. Stocks are exhausted and farmers are holding their wheat. Flour demand for export to China and Japan is such as to make wheat for milling purposes worth $2 to $2 1/2 per bushel more than for export.

Estimated receipts for Monday are 155 cars. Corn—The market was dull with a very light trade most of the session, but showed an advancing tendency, but the strength in wheat helped somewhat.

The weather was favorable. Country purchases were again light. Reports being received from widely scattered localities are estimating a very poor crop outlook, being from one-half to three-fourths of an average crop. The estimated receipts for Monday are 135 cars.

Oats—Oats have been firm all day, with a fair volume of commission trade and heavy selling of both December and May by the prominent long interests, amounting to perhaps three-quarters of a million to a million bushels. These offerings were readily taken up by the local speculators who appear to be taking oats for investment. The close was strong at top figures.

All country reports continue to be bullish. The estimated receipts for Monday are 150 cars.

Provisions—This market was firm and without feature, except some covering of shorts in September and by foreign houses. The closing was strong with a net gain of 5 cents on pork, 10 cents on lard and 5 cents on ribs. The hog market was strong and closed 15 cents higher than yesterday. Estimated receipts for Monday are 35,000, and for next week 125,000 head.

WHAT BARRIE SAID. Soon after J. M. Barrie leaped into fame the editor of three London journals for which he had done a great deal of work determined to give a dinner to his honor. Mr. Barrie accepted the invitation, and in due course the editor and their distinguished guest sat down together.

The hosts, knowing their contributor only by his work, fully anticipated a "feast of reason and a flow of soul." However, the soup and fish were consumed without a word from Mr. Barrie—or, at least, with nothing beyond non-committal grunts. Despite efforts to lure him into conversation it was not until he rose to put on his coat that he made the first and last remark that he uttered during the evening: "Well, this is the first time I've ever had dinner with three editors."

ESTIMATE OF TEXAS CROPS

It Has Advanced Far Enough Beyond the Speculative Stage to Give a Basis for Judging

FIGURES ARE GIVEN TO SHOW THE YIELD

Authorities Place the Cotton Production for the Season at Three Million Bales. Farmers Are Busy—Heavy Trade Coming

DALLAS, Tex., August 8.—The crop situation in Texas for 1903 has advanced far enough beyond the stage of speculative estimate to give a fairly good basis for judging the outcome.

The wheat harvest is set down at approximately 25,000,000 bushels; oats at 10,000,000 bushels; corn at 50,000,000 bushels; cotton at 3,000,000 bales, and rice at 4,500,000 sacks. The financial returns from these products of the farms and plantations of the state is conservatively estimated at:

Cotton $150,000,000 Wheat 15,000,000 Corn 20,000,000 Oats 4,000,000 Rice 13,000,000 Total $202,000,000

MANY OTHER ITEMS Added to this sum must be the returns for cattle, wool, fruits, vegetables, oil and miscellaneous products, the figures on which cannot be as intelligently obtained, but they will be sufficient to swell the grand total to not less than $250,000,000. This should be a most satisfactory showing to persons within or without the state who are directly interested in or affected by conditions in Texas.

The implement trade is showing the effects of the bettered situation. Confidence is expressed in the ability of farmers and retail merchants to meet in a large measure past due obligations and purchase liberally in new goods. The best statistics obtainable as to the extent of transactions in the Dallas implement district during 1902 place the sales at $1,000,000, which was $500,000 or more under the sales of the banner year of 1900. Those who estimate on the trade transactions of the current year generally place the increase over last year at not less than 25 per cent. This would make the distribution of implements and collateral goods in the Dallas district for 1903 close to $1,800,000.

Dullness prevails in the district at present. Farmers are busy in the mid-crop season and most of the retailers have heretofore stocked up for immediate needs, consequently visitors to the district are scarce. Many rice binders are being shipped to the farmers, country, and the orders for twine are coming in on a liberal scale. The harvesting of the crop will begin about two weeks from now, and Mr. J. M. Johnston, manager of the McCormick company, expresses confidence in a $15,000,000 crop. He reports the conditions to be almost perfect in the rice belt.

Wagons and buggies are selling well now with the indications of a heavy trade in the early fall. The large volume of freight hauling because of the good crops is stimulating the demand for freight and farm wagons. Dallas houses reports sales increasing and inquiries more numerous than since 1900.

SOURCES OF INFORMATION The figures herein contained on crop yields have been gathered from the most reliable sources that could be consulted—implement dealers, farmers, merchants, mill men, produce buyers and railroad freight departments. The estimates correspond well with those given out on August 5 by the state agricultural departments with one notable exception—the corn crop. The private authorities referred to—particularly grain buyers—estimate the corn yield of the state at approximately 50,000,000 bushels; the agricultural department places the state crop at almost three times that quantity, predicting that the yield will be 145,000,000 bushels. Should this yield be realized then nearly $40,000,000 of the products of the state, making a grand total of nearly $300,000,000 as the year's returns to the producers.

BULL CLIQUE READY TO SELL

Carried the July Deal Through Successfully and Now Wants to Dispose of the Staple Taken Up on Tenders

HEAVY COTTON LOAN CALLED BY BANKS

It Will Be Fully Four Weeks Before New Crop Will Be Available—There Was Generally Favorable Weather Reported in the Belt

NEW YORK, August 8.—The cotton market opened steady, prices 10 to 15 points lower under renewal of pressure noted early yesterday and in spite of cables, which were about 25 points better than expected. The weather reported over the belt was very favorable, and this encouraged offerings, which were also stimulated by apparent absence of bull support. Prices, however, fluctuated in narrow limits, August sold down to 11.4c, net less 9 points, while September sold at 10.38c on call, recovered to 10.40c and then turned easier again, while late months, though somewhat irregular, displayed the declining tendency.

After carrying the July deal to a successful consummation as far as making a history is concerned, the bull clique has set about the task of disposing of the large volume of cotton accumulated as the result of tenders taken up. It was thought that it would be their policy to support the price in August and September in order to make a better market for the actual cotton, which they have to sell, but there has been little evidence of an effort during the past week. The disturbances in Wall street had more effect on cotton than nature's rain and the decline in August can be almost entirely attributed to rumors that heavy cotton loans have been called by banks, which is no doubt true, as some of them have found it imperative to reduce their outstanding loans, but the rumors that the clique was in trouble and needed assistance were untrue, as the process of selling out the cotton in hand is going on at a fair pace. Mr. Borden, the leading speculator of New England, bought something like 5,000 bales and in an interview recently published pointedly stated that mills are short of cotton, and as business generally is good and consumption of goods large, the stocks of the latter are greatly reduced and prices of raw cotton must be raised to a parity with the value of raw cotton. A great deal is being said about the great weight of the stocks now being held by the clique, and the difficulty of disposing of such a lot of cotton. What is remembered is that the total supply in the United States is less than 200,000 bales, and that the normal consumption of the world is 215,000 bales for a single week, we can realize the little weight there is in this argument. It will be fully five weeks before new cotton will be available in any quantity and it will hardly be argued that the marketing of one week's supply over a period of five weeks presents any serious difficulties for the market. The present week has been exceptionally fine, and the prospect has improved materially. This is in striking contrast with the conditions existing at this time last year, when the crop was undergoing the blasting effects of a severe drought, which brought down the figure of condition from 81 in August to 64 in September, a phenomenal deterioration in a month, something never heard of before. The condition this year was 79.7 and a steady improvement has been the rule since, it is only natural that the public should look forward to a bureau report on Sept. 3, which will not only show a radical improvement over last year, but promises to close approach the high averages of the two seasons 1897 and 1898, which were followed by the biggest crops ever grown. In the face of such an outlook, the decline of 7 to 10 points in the winter months is insignificant.

The outlook this afternoon publishes one of the most favorable reports in a long time. The liquidation of the bull campaign furnishes a splendid example of the true workings of the future delivery system. A set of men bought several hundred thousand bales of May, July and August futures—say at prices which would make them an average of 10 cents. When those contracts for the delivery fall due the cotton which they represented was delivered to them and this cotton, in turn, had to be disposed of. If the cotton itself should be sold finally to the mills at an average of 12 cents, the profit from the operations of the clique would be represented by the difference between the price at which it was bought originally and the figure at which it was disposed of. The fact that July figures at one time sold as high as 13.75c and 14.50c in New Orleans has nothing to do with the outcome except in so far as it effected other independent speculations of the clique on which they received no spot cotton.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET NEW ORLEANS, La., August 8.—Our market opened unchanged, and prices never departed much from yesterday's closing figures. Trading was relatively active, compared with the dullness of previous Saturdays, and both sides were equally favored. The predominant feeling on the floor is rather against present new crop prices, owing to continued good crop accounts and favorable crop weather. In this respect the map promises generally fair weather for the eastern belt, but showers in Oklahoma, Arkansas and northeast Texas. People, however, are afraid of giving vent to the increased bearish feeling which sensational price developments cause. Trading slackened in the last hour and an unfavorable bank statement creates fears of further depression in monetary situation. The market closed at a decline of 4 points on September and 3 to 4 points on later new crop months.

THE STOCK MARKET Trading is Controlled by the Bearish Element—Some Excitement NEW YORK, August 8.—In the absence of support and extremely bearish rumors from abroad, the stock market here opened with prices down a point or more in a number of active issues, such as Atchafalaya, Baltimore and Ohio, Erie, Canadian Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Consolidated Gas. There were large fractional breaks in a number of other issues and the declines became more marked towards the end of the first hour in the course of which other stocks, such as sugar and some specialties were raised. Pronounced weakness was shown also by the steel stocks and numerous industrials.

The attendance of brokers was comparatively small, not so much because of a half holiday as because the conservative element seem able to keep out of the market and leave the fight to the trading element.

The market in the first part of the trading was almost entirely governed by operations of the bear professionals, who signalized the opening by a rapid, depressing railway issued from 3/4 to 1 1/2 per cent. The attack was attributed to lower London quotations and the belief that loans would show a considerable increase instead of decrease, as expected. The bank statement proved a disaster and its appearance was followed by fresh selling by the professionals and losses were shown as great as 3 1/2 per cent. Declines in some issues were as large as 4 points. The decline in St. Paul was accompanied by a statement that the company was likely to come in the market for a $20,000,000 loan. The final dealings were exciting and feverish, with indications of support in some railway issues. The market at the close showed some rallies from the extreme low points, but the tone was nervous and unsettled.

Mrs. F. J. Smith left this morning to visit her daughter, Mrs. Conley, at Eikhart, Texas.

CARS FOR ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

The city council last night granted a franchise to the promoters of a street car line to Arlington Heights, but one vote being in opposition. Alderman Wagman stated that he was not willing to vote for the franchise until he ascertained whether there was opposition of property owners in his ward to the line on the streets on which they live. It is very well for Alderman Wagman to thus consult his constituents in a matter of this kind, but at the same time there should be no opposition to the construction of such a public convenience. Arlington Heights is a suburb of Fort Worth, where quite a number of people live. Property is owned there by people who purchased it believing the facilities of transportation would be provided, and they are now cut off from communication with the city by any means except private conveyance. It is too far to walk, and the ride in and out by private vehicle is tiresome. Rapid transit is the only satisfactory manner of making the trip, and if there are those who are willing to risk the investment, no obstacle should be thrown in the way. The Country Club is located there. Unless the street car line is built, it will follow that parlors and grill room of that delightful club house will be more often unoccupied than otherwise. Arlington Heights is a delightful place to live, and with first-class transportation facilities it will build up. But the facilities must of necessity be better than has heretofore been furnished to the residents of that section of the county. The taking up of the car line has been a serious drawback to the people living at the suburb, and as the Northern Texas Traction Company has declined to extend to that locality, the council has very properly allowed a franchise to a new corporation.

The people should welcome every facility of transportation. It matters not to the general public that such an investment will not pay. Let the corporation having the franchise worry with the bad business, and the people take advantage of the opportunity to ride.

SOUTHERN PRIEST TALKS

Rev. John Daly, the southern priest who is holding special services in Milwaukee, Wis., is deeply interested in the negro problem from the southern standpoint. His residence in various cities of the south during the greater part of his life gives him an intimate knowledge of the question. He vigorously denounces the rapidly growing class spirit in this country, and deprecates the narrow spirit of sectionalism and the tendency of the United States to undue national conceit. "Each section has its own noble men and women to solve these questions," he says, "and it is exceedingly ungracious for anyone to rub salt into the sore spots of another. Let us not imagine that only in our own age or in our own country or in our own section of this country are learning, culture or virtue to be found. Travel disabuses one of that idea and has a tendency to discourage conceit. All desirable gifts may and do exist in other climes and have existed in other ages. The spirit breatheth where it listeth," and "there were great men before Agamemnon."

"How to elevate the negro is taught best by those who have lived in sections where there are ten negroes to one white man. They have learned in the best school—experience. And, if mistakes are made, it is but human to err. When these mistakes of those who are in the midst of the fray are magnified, harrowed by people who never knew and never can understand, small marvel if the south, when reviled, should retaliate and enter into ungracious rivalry. Alas! evil is so much more readily believed than good. "In the glare of a Texas burning the south points out a negro execution in Illinois and even in Massachusetts, not forgetting the horrible Wilmington mob at our very doors; if there be outlaws in Kentucky, we have the memory of Tracy in the far west; if a race riot in Alabama, also the same in Illinois, and what of the sickening crime committed in the quiet city of Madison, in this state, only a few weeks ago, and the more recent lynching horror at Danville, in supposedly peaceful Illinois?" Father Daly speaks as one who has lived in the southern country, where the natural home of the negro has always been, and it may be that a man of his position and influence will have some effect in shaping the sentiment of the people of Wisconsin. The daily papers of Milwaukee have been loud in denunciation of the people of the south for lynchings. They have looked at the thing from a distance. They have now with them a man whose words cannot be doubted and whose veracity cannot be questioned. Let the northern people be educated on the one subject by this good man.

A story is telegraphed from Galveston which gives the history of a letter which was returned to the officials of the custom-house that has quite a history and has traveled many miles around the country in quest of the person to whom it is addressed, without finding him. The letter in question was written in New York city at the city hospital on Sept. 26, 1879, to the collector at Galveston by one J. R. Lowe, asking that he send him his time served on the revenue cutter in the port of Galveston, in order that he could enter the sailors' home at Staten Island. In reply the deputy collector, William D. Shepherd, made a note upon the letter, directing him to write to the revenue bureau at Washington. This reply was made Oct. 12 of the same year, and mailed to the address given. The letter never reached Mr. Lowe and after being sent back and forth between New York and Galveston, and probably lying around in some pigeonhole at Washington, it was finally returned to the custom-house in Galveston, just twenty-two years, eleven months and nine days from the time it was written. The writer being ill and in the hospital at the time it was written, in all probability he is dead now. This history will prove to the people who are always complaining that mail miscarries, that Uncle Sam does not lose that which is entrusted to him.

The kerosene oil can has claimed another victim—this time in Fort Worth. It would be natural to think that by this time the people would have learned to handle fires with something besides a can of oil. This method is as deadly as the habit some men have of sitting on a can of powder to enjoy a pipe full of tobacco. The newspapers will continue to chronicle such deaths, and people will never learn to keep the oil can in the other end of the house from the fires in the kitchen.

FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY FOR AUGUST

The fiction number of Leslie's Monthly has a remarkable list of authors on its cover: Irving Bacheller, Henry Harland, John Luther Long, Howard Pyle, Roy Robt. Gilson, Harry Stillwell Edwards, David Belasco, Marion Hill and Judge Shute, among others. There are stories of all kinds and of all varieties of feeling, ranging from the delicate sentiment of Harland and Gilson to the strong, virile feeling of John Luther Long's story, which is really a novel in disguise, and from the quaint humor of Bacheller's new stories of Eben Holden to the jubilant fun of Judge Shute's "Real Boys," and the broad farce of Edwards' darkey story and Marion Hill's picture of modern kindergarten methods. "The Great American Lobby" is a careful study of the lobby in politics, taking Missouri's case as an example, and it is a striking exposition of present conditions and a work of permanent value. The article reads like fiction, but unobtrusively it is only too true. There is an interesting sketch by David Belasco in regard to atmosphere on the stage and a prose poem by Howard Pyle. Jack London's story "In Magdalena" is a delightful literary skit called "Alice in Bookland," by E. P. Butler, enliven the end of the magazine.

THE USEFULNESS OF CUP RACES

We do not yet know definitely how much water a yacht might be built with success, but out of the international races of Sandy Hook have come other races of the same kind on the great lakes, where still greater breadth of beam has been found. Advantages, moreover, the smaller classes of yachts have shown tremendous speed for the size, model pure and simple. Who can say on authority that thirty feet is too great a beam for a ninety-foot sloop? One may admit that the trans-Atlantic steamers have not yet adopted overhangs, and that their proportion of depth to beam is greater even than that in the Shamrock III. But, in spite of these facts, it may be worth while in a practical point of view to know what is the shape of hull that will give greatest speed. As to the methods of framing for strength with small weight, we have proof that the experiments made in building swift yachts has been of practical advantage, for the best systems, without exception, the best builders of all kinds of vessels that require strength with light weight. Further than that, if the overhang is not to be adopted in the merchant service, the spoon-shaped bow in modified form can now be seen in some cargo carriers, and there is hope for still further improvements in this direction. But the greatest benefit the American people have derived from the international yacht races has come to them indirectly. From the salt swells of the sea coast to the sod houses of the plains and the log cabins of the backwoods, everybody becomes interested in the fate of the American cup. Has it been of no advantage to the nation that its boat warships and without merchant ships that the yacht bearing the old flag should triumph from year to year? J. H. Spears in August Outlook.

"NO POLITICIAN"

Two years and a half ago Major General Wood was an assistant surgeon with the rank of captain. In his promotion he leaped over the heads of nearly five hundred of his seniors, of whom two hundred and fifty-four were in service during the civil war, while their young major general was in ecstasies over his "first ship of honors." Of them, the New York World says: "One graduated from West Point the year before General Wood was born, fought in twelve battles, won a medal of honor for conspicuous gallantry, and fought Indians both before and after the civil war. Another took part in sixteen battles, was twice wounded and three times brevetted for gallantry. Some of these men were still captains, and after forty years of service, when Dr. Wood was made a brigadier general. "All this of course is calculated to cause talk. But General Wood's critics ignore his greater service to the nation. He organized the rough riders and allowed them to be christened with the name of his second in command. If he had insisted on having them called "Wood's Rough Riders" instead of "Roosevelt's," there would have been a name for the butcheries of San Juan Hill, and Vereshtchagin never would have come to paint the charge that carried Payne into the postoffice department."

IT IS VERY SIMILAR

Miss Alice Spencer Geddes, a Boston woman who edits a paper, finds much similarity between circus troupes and similar women. "They travel year by year about the same beaten route, appearing as certainly as the seasons open at the most advantageous show places," she says, "and at the final performance, attend in all their finery and lace, they enter the ring. This implies that Miss Geddes would have the society women stay at home or enter the ring in their "every day clothes." But there is more serious matter. "If the society women were merely a harmless superficiality, she would be irresponsible, but nothing more," says this critic. "It is when she marries and perpetuates her own species that she is a criminal." The definition is not so clear in this case, would she condemn the butcheries to single wretchedness, or is it possible that she would have them marry and not perpetuate their species?

HE WANTED A PASS

Peter Dressler, an old Pennsylvania politician, and long the coroner of Allegheny county, had a habit of conducting his office according to his own whims. Among other traits he had a peculiar fondness for free railroad passes, and never let an opportunity go by of securing one for the office. On one occasion he was hearing the evidence in a rather celebrated case, when a neatly dressed, gentlemanly appearing young man was called to the witness chair. Looking him over carefully, the coroner asked: "What's your name?" "George Blank," "What's your occupation?" "Secretary of the Y. M. C. A." Turning to his clerk with serious expression of countenance, the coroner whispered: "Say, John, have we got any passes over that line?"

THE SEARCH FOR BEAUTY

Everybody wants to be beautiful and strong and healthy. This explains the wonderful success of any curative article advertised in newspapers, that produces conditions of pure blood, clear complexion, and vital energy by perfect assimilation. An illustration is found in Cascarets, Candy Cathartic, that work while you sleep, and have proven that "Beauty is blood deep" by cleansing the blood and actually producing beauty. The sale of Cascarets now is at the rate of over twelve million boxes a year.

PANTHERS NEARLY SCORE SHUT OUT

Railing's Home Run All That Prevents Dallas From Getting a Coat of Whitewash

Fort Worth had an easy time defeating Dallas yesterday. Except for a fine home run by Railing the game would have been a shut out for the home team.

The game was marred by the continual kicking of the Dallas players. Doyle was the worst offender, but after he had kicked heartily after twice allowing the third strike to go over the middle of the plate.

Railing pitched a good game for Dallas, but could not keep his hits scattered. The five errors that his friends made behind him also aided in helping Fort Worth to win.

NOTES OF THE GAME Yesterday for the first time this season Schaezke had to run after he got to first base. The other teams have been good enough to see that he was in no condition to do any more running than necessary, but not so with Dallas.

H. Clark, on third base, has developed into one of the biggest grandstand players in the country since he was sold to the Chicago American League club. Yesterday he would start after fouls that were fifty feet beyond the fence and made a hard run for no purpose at all if not to draw the attention of the spectators to him.

Moran made up for some of his grievances against Tilford yesterday. The ex-umpire was in the grandstand and Moran drove a swift foul in that

NEGRO ASSAULTS GIRL IN CHURCH

Story of a Heinous Crime Committed Near Line Between Travis and Bastrop Counties in This State

THE VICTIM AGED BUT THIRTEEN YEARS

All Parties Are Negroes—Arrest of Man Charged With Crime—Four Criminal Assault Prisoners in Travis County Jail

AUSTIN, Texas, August 8.—Gip Desha and Wade Hutchinson, colored, rode on horseback into Austin about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, going up Congress avenue to the sheriff's office.

All of the parties live on Cedar creek, in Bastrop county, not far from the Travis county line.

"John Caldwell is a brother-in-law of Mollie Parks, my stepdaughter, marrying her sister, who is now at my house at Cedar creek. Caldwell's mother, Lizzie Henderson, lives in Austin, and his aunt, Ann Jackson, lives in South Austin.

The darkies remained in front of the courthouse quite awhile, a large crowd assembling. The majority of the crowd were colored people, and they condemned the fiend's crime in strong terms.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Ninety-nine out of every one hundred diseases that children have are due to disorders of the stomach, and these disorders are all caused by indigestion.

Sheriff Fox stating that Caldwell had been arrested near Carl and would be brought to jail as soon as possible.

McLENNAN COUNTY COTTON

Outlook is Good for a Fine Yield of the Staple

WACO, Texas, August 7.—"Cotton is simply fruiting to beat anything I have ever seen," said one farmer today in referring to the outlook.

It now seems that the outlook for a fine yield is brighter than it has been, and that even despite the cloudy weather of the past ten days, the picking of cotton of the opening rather will be later than last season.

I. and G. N. is Now Running Regularly Through Waco

WACO, Texas, August 8.—The right trains of the International and Great Northern railway, which were discontinued temporarily a short time ago between Houston and Fort Worth, one way, have been put back. They will now run regularly.

The management discontinued the trains because it was very difficult to make schedule time, owing to the excessive rain which made it bad on the new track.

Story of Loss in the Valley of the Brazos River

BRENNHAM, Tex., August 8.—District Attorney J. P. Buchanan, who owns a large Brazos bottom farm, through his attorneys, Messrs. Sealey & Garrett and W. C. Henderson, filed suit in the district court of Washington county against Hon. Heber Stone and wife, Mrs. M. L. G. Stone and the Houston and Texas Central Railway company, for $42,500 damages, alleged to have been caused by the destruction of the crop on the Brazos bottom farm by reason of the embankment of the Central railroad and the levees on Mr. Stone's farm backing water over his crops on the 2d, 4th and 5th of August, 1920.

The petition contains over 5,000 words, tells of all the crops grown on Mr. Buchanan's farm of 3,150 acres, and the value of each, as follows: On the 1,800 acres in cultivation, 700 acres in rice, valued at $25,200; 700 acres in cotton, valued at $14,000; corn valued at $4,500; sugar cane, five acres, valued at $25; five acres of alfalfa valued at $25, making a total of $43,950.

The allegations against Mr. Stone set out that his five-mile levee from four to twelve feet high along the river front on the east side of the river opposite the Buchanan farm, prevents the flood water from going its usual course and throws it back upon Mr. Buchanan's farm on the opposite side, and the allegation against it in the Central railway are the same as those alleged in the suit recently filed by Mr. Joe Routhie that the Central bridge across the Brazos is improperly constructed and prevents the river from running off as fast as it should and the long dump through the bottom, together with this bridge which, with its abutments and piers, prevents the flow to a certain extent, caused the back

BEAUTIFUL NEW MEXICO

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Wylie have just been in Roswell, N. M., spending a few days with relatives and friends, looking over the irrigated farms and ranches. They were delighted with the country. The Slaughter ranch, with the fine cattle, indeed, gave them much pleasure. They write: "We never saw finer cattle, and they would deserve a premium in any country." The home of Mr. Hagerman also is worthy of praise. Roswell is destined to be the city of the west. With her rich and fertile valleys, flowing wells and health-giving climate, she bespeaks her own glory. Her people are thorough-going and see for this place a future yet untold.

Mr. and Mrs. Wylie left for Amarillo on the 6th. From there they go to Colorado Springs for a stopover and rest, thence to Yellowstone park, from where they will return in September. BLOOM.

EXACT KNOWLEDGE OF MEXICO

Is a sealed book to most people in the United States; yet it is the most attractive neighbor America has. Its fertile soil produces cotton, corn, tobacco and tropical fruits in abundance, while its mining regions are rich in treasure. There are five cities in the Republic of Mexico not reached by the Mexican Central Railway. Excursion tickets sold the year round with nine months' limit and stop-over privileges.
