

POPE PIUS FAINTS CELEBRATING MASS

Pontiff Shows That His Nerves Have Been Under a Severe Strain For Several Days--Falls to the Floor While Venetians Look on in Dismay.

ROME, August 11.—11:15 a. m.—Pope Pius X. had a fainting fit this morning while celebrating mass. His holiness soon revived.

ROME, August 11.—Pope Pius had a fainting fit this morning while celebrating mass. The Pope has been over-exerting himself to such an extent his naturally strong constitution was unable to bear the strain put upon it by the coronation ceremonies.

Last night his holiness was very much agitated, still he insisted upon admitting this morning to hear mass all Venetians who journeyed to Rome purposely to attend the coronation. They numbered about 300.

It is impossible to describe the confusion and alarm among the worshippers while the pope lay motionless with his eyes closed.

Fortunately among the Venetians present was Dr. Davenzia, who for nine years had been the pope's attending physician at Venice, but he had been called only once during that time, to treat a sore throat.

Chicago Regulations Cause Total Abstinence in Various Social Organizations

CHICAGO, August 11.—Following the announcement of the police authorities that drabsup licenses must be taken out for all clubs where liquor is sold, the club house of the Chicago Athletic Association has become "dry."

"We have voted that no drinks be sold over the bar and the ruling will be religiously enforced. We do not wish to get into trouble with the law, and we shall not seek to evade it."

Thirteen other clubs have served notice on City Clerk Lahiff that they have abandoned their bars. Among this number are the Lincoln, Menoken, Automobile, Tuscarora and Press Clubs.

PEOPLE DIE IN A TUNNEL HORROR

A Wrecked Train Bu in the Underground Passageway and Many Suffocate While Gropping in the Smoke and Darkness Seeking an Exit

PARIS, August 11.—Eighty-four bodies have been recovered and the death list will probably exceed 101 in an underground railway disaster which occurred here last night.

The accident, which occurred on the Metropolitan Electric railway, assumed proportions of an awful catastrophe during the early hours today when more than four score bodies of victims were removed from the subterranean passage.

Although the accident occurred at 8 o'clock last night, the officials and firemen were unable until early this morning to descend into the tunnel, owing to the blinding clouds of smoke from the burning train. Frequent attempts were made by heroic volunteers, whom it was necessary to rescue half-suffocated and carry away to hospitals.

At 3:30 o'clock firemen forced their way down through the tunnels to Menilmontant and returned soon afterward with six bodies—two men, two young boys and two women. These persons had been asphyxiated, as their position showed they had been groping through the smoke-filled tunnel seeking a way to escape, when they were overcome.

The work of bringing up the bodies went on steadily after that under the direction of the prefect of police, Lepine, who summoned a large reserve force to hold back the surging crowd, including the relatives of the victims.

Long lines of ambulances were brought into requisition and the bodies were carried to the morgue near military barracks.

After daylight the crowds at the entrance to the tunnel increased to enormous proportions, obliging the police to form a solid cordon, through which was admitted only those seeking to identify their relatives with the victims.

The failure of many men, women and children to return to their homes during the night gave many the first news of the catastrophe. Fathers and mothers came hurrying to the mouth of the tunnel to try to find absent ones.

SHOPS REMAIN AT CHILDRESS

General Manager Egan of the Fort Worth and Denver City Railroad Makes Official Announcement Today

If the Present Water Supply at Denver Shops Should Prove Inadequate to the Demands of Company, It Will Be Increased

All speculation as to the removal of the shops of the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad from Childress was dispelled today by the announcement made by General Manager Egan that no change will be made.

Mr. Egan met representative citizens of Childress yesterday, at which time it was decided that in the event the water supply at the Denver shops and roundhouse should prove inadequate to the needs of the company a sufficient supply will be provided.

The rumor has been in circulation for some time past that the Denver would eventually remove its shops from Childress to Fort Worth because of the fact that the water supply at the former place is not what the company requires.

The announcement made by Mr. Egan today will relieve any fears which the people of Childress might have had and likewise will dispel any anticipations which might have been entertained by citizens of Fort Worth in the belief that this city would profit by the reported change.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The Fort Worth Telegram will be gladly corrected upon due notice of same being given at the office, 1010 and 1012 Houston street, Fort Worth.

WHAT ABOUT YOUR STREET?

Several times recently reports have been made to The Telegram that certain streets were in bad condition. One gentleman in particular said that he wants his troubles told through the daily papers. It is possible the city authorities are doing all they can to repair every bad place in the streets, but a little wholesome advertising of the places which need repair will do no harm.

In this issue of The Telegram is published a blank which you can fill out and send to this office. It will not be necessary for your name to be published, but each blank must be signed. As these reports of bad streets are received a publication will be made directing attention to the bad place in the thoroughfare. It may be proper in such a contest as this to exempt Houston street from the competition, as a contract for paving has been let, but there are enough places without including Houston.

THE MAYOR'S VETO

Mayor Powell has vetoed the ordinance granting the franchise along Fifth street to the promoters of a street car line to Arlington Heights, and his reasons therefor cannot be criticized. He has received petitions from property owners and churchgoers on that street protesting against such a franchise grant without the people interested being allowed an opportunity to be heard.

The announcement that former Governor Lubbock was to be married, published yesterday in The Telegram, was a surprise. "Uncle Frank" is one of the best known men in Texas, a friend to all who know him, and one who has been active in the upbuilding of this state.

The announcement comes from Dallas that that county is unable to sell the recent bond issue. Dallas is in hard lines.

GALLANTRY OF LIPTON

Sir Thomas Lipton has a gallant way of paying pretty compliments to ladies. Driving through Washington on the day he lunched at the White House with President Roosevelt, he passed a large red automobile that stood before an imposing mansion of gray stone.

This is a matter for general discussion by the people between now and the meeting of the city council, and a general interest will be a guide to the city council in acting upon the request of the promoters and the veto by the mayor.

By all means let Fort Worth have all the transportation facilities which investing corporations will provide. If people will build street railways, let them be built in Fort Worth and let every franchise grant provide that some per cent of the gross earnings be paid to the city.

city. It is a policy long ago advocated by Mayor Powell, and in this instance it should be applied as well as in every other. It is possibly true that the company will be a losing investment from the start, but there will come a time when it will either pay or the operation will be discontinued.

Let the Traction Company operate its franchises or let them be forfeited. Valuable rights of the people should not be controlled by private parties or corporations unless the people get a revenue or an accommodation.

COUNTRY EDITOR PROTESTS

At last the country editor is finding out that he has been "worked" for free advertising and one of these has come out in the open and has made a protest. The Waxahachie Enterprise says:

The Texas State Fair is again calling on the country press for free advertising. For the past ten years it has been the policy of the fair association to ask the newspapers for column after column of advertising in exchange for a season ticket to its show, said ticket to have a photo of the editor pasted on the reverse thereof for the purpose of identification.

The Enterprise makes a true statement in this paragraph, and it is very likely the rural press will fall into line in support of the objection made by the Waxahachie paper. Advertising space for the Dallas fair is worth just as much as advertising space for the dry goods man in your own town.

In accepting the papal crown Cardinal Sarzo took the name of Pius, evidently having no fear of the disaster which has followed that name through several years of the papacy. Pius VI died in exile. Pius VII was banished from Rome and imprisoned by Napoleon. Pius IX was also driven out of the Eternal city, and 1870 deprived of his temporal dominions.

The popular serial story, "Graustark," soon to be completed in The Telegram will be followed by another exciting romance of intrigue and love. Watch for announcements.

CLEANINGS FROM... THE EXCHANGES

A large bunch of Pennicillaria was shown on the streets yesterday. It is a new kind of foliage, and was raised on the Jackson place, two miles southeast of town. The stalks shown are eight feet or more in height and looked somewhat like what are commonly called "cat tails."

It would have been well for the Herald to have stated in this connection, that the United States department of agriculture has been waging an active campaign to tell the farmers of the country that this same "Pennicillaria" can be also called pearl millet—its real name, by the way—and that farmers in many sections have paid seed hogs $1 per pound for the seed, while the common price is $1 per bushel.

Elifjak Runnels of Fort Worth was here last week and bought a carload of cattle for the packing houses at Fort Worth. He expects to return soon for the purpose of buying other cattle.—Claude News.

That's the way Fort Worth does business. Send your cattle to this city and Fort Worth will furnish you dressed meats.

One of our Sherman exchanges remarked recently that Sherman was also a nursery center. The Fort Worth Telegram refers to the fact that after several years' retirement in Cleveland he has established another nursery. It is all right for Sherman papers to have local pride, but they must own up that Collinsville takes the cake as a nursery center.

The packeries at Fort Worth can use all the hogs you raise. Don't be afraid of bulking the market with hogs.—Waxahachie Enterprise.

And you need not be afraid of shipping the market with bulls, cows and heifers. Send in your stuff on the hoof and Fort Worth will pay you good prices and ship it back in refrigerator cars ready for the broiler.

GRAUSTARK ...By... GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON Copyright, 1901, by Herbert S. Stone

Greenfall Lorry, an American, wealthy, globe-trotter, meets by accident charming young lady foreigner while traveling from Denver to Washington. Taking exercise on the station platform during the temporary stop of the train, they are left by the flyer. He telegraphs to hold the train at the next station, procures a wagon to drive four miles. They separate at Washington; she goes to New York with her uncle and aunt. Finishing business, he tries to meet them in New York. Reaches there in time to see the young lady, Miss Guggenlocker, sail. She sails to him from the steamer. Then follows a chase. Lorry leaves for Europe with a companion and starts a continental tour in search of her. One evening while rambling about the grounds of the castle where dwells the court of the Princess of Graustark, they overhear a plot to abduct the princess and resolve to capture the plotters.

"There is a serious difference," said Quinox, maliciously enjoying the insistent one's acknowledgment of weakness. "If we reach it safely, I can take you under ground to the old dungeons beneath the castle. It may be some time before you can enter the halls above, for the secret passage is guarded jealously. There are but five people who know of its existence."

"Great confidence is placed in you, I see, and worthily, I am sure. How is it that you are trusted so implicitly?"

"I inherit the confidence. The captain of the guard is born to his position. My ancestors held the place before me, and not one betrayed the trust. The firstborn in the last ten generations has been the captain of the guard in the royal palace, possessing all its secrets. I shall be the first to betray the trust, and for a man who is nothing to me."

"I suppose you consider me selfish and vile for placing you in this position," said Lorry, somewhat contritely. "No. I have begun the task, and I will complete it, come what may," answered the captain firmly. "You are the only being in the world for whom I would sacrifice my honor voluntarily save one."

"I have wondered why you were never tempted to turn traitor to the princess and claim the fortune that is represented in the reward."

"Not for 5,000,000 gavros, sir!"

"By George, you are a faithful lot—Dangloss, Allode and Ogbot and yourself, four honest men to whom she trusts her life, her honor! You belong to a rare species, and I am proud to know you."

The stealthy couple found the cave and spent an hour or more within its walls, sallying forth after the tardy darkness had crept down over the mountain and into the peaceful valley. Then began the tortuous descent. Quinox in the lead, they walked, crawled and ran down the narrow path, bruised, scratched and aching by the time they reached the topmost of the summer houses along the face of the mountain. After this walking was easier, but stealthiness made their progress slow. Frequently as they neared the base they were obliged to dodge behind houses or to drop into the ditches by the roadside in order to avoid patrolling police guards or A-xphain sleuths.

At last, stiff and sore, they stole into the narrow streets of Edelweiss. Lorry glanced back and shivered, although the air was warm and balmy. He had truly been out of the world. Not until this instant did he fully appreciate the dread that possesses a man who is being hunted down by tireless foes. Never did man's heart go out in gratitude and trustfulness as did his toward the strong defender whose sneywy arm he clasped as if in terror.

"You understand what this means to me," said Quinox gravely as they paused to rest. "She will call me your murderer and curse me for my miserable treason. I am the first to dishonor the name of Quinox."

BOWLING ALLEYS ARE DOOMED IN TEXAS

According to the new interpretation of the law regarding bowling alleys, it looks as if the state revenue agent will drive all the places of amusement out of the state.

The Austin bowling alley proprietors have agreed that the proper definition of bowling alley is meant to include all the runs in a single place of business.

Unless some other opinion is given by the revenue agent the Fort Worth places will be run under the same idea.

The new interpretation will spoil all plans that have been made this summer for the first state bowling tournament for this fall.

The Texas tax at present is much larger than any other state in the country.

These letters charge in substance that Waco would like to see Dallas win the second pennant in order that the post-season games for the championship may be played between Dallas and Waco.

WACO LOSES TWELVE OF FIFTEEN GAMES

Sullivan's Club Can Beat Fort Worth, but Not Dallas, While the Panthers Easily Dispose of Dallas—What Record Shows Thus Far

It is pity, yet it is none the less true, that it is the way of man to be suspicious of his neighbor.

Base ball is the national game of the United States.

In only one instance has the reputation of the national game suffered and that was many years ago.

The fans say that the record of Waco in the present championship series is enough evidence for them.

THE LAW ANNOYS

Epileptic Asylum Commissioners Are Tied Up by It. AUSTIN, Texas, August 10.—Some members of the board of epileptic asylum commissioners are greatly annoyed at the position in which the law places them in regard to settling with the contractor for the erection of the buildings.

Article 148, acts of the twenty-sixth legislature, provides that all money appropriated for the erection of buildings by the legislature, or making improvements upon the grounds of an asylum shall be subject to rejection by the board of trustees of such asylum for the amount actually necessary to pay for such buildings or improvements, but no money shall be paid except it be upon estimate of completed work furnished by the contractor and approved by the architect and board of trustees; provided that in no case shall more than three-fourths of the actual cost of buildings or improvements be paid until the work is completed and accepted.

The buildings for the epileptic colony at Ahilene will cost in round numbers, when completed, $150,000. Three-fourths of this amount has been paid the contractor, and still it will require between $5,000 and $10,000 to complete the work.

Under the law the board has paid all it is authorized to pay until the buildings are received. This is working a hardship on the contractors, who will be forced to borrow money to go on with the work.

If the $10,000 unpaid represented the contractors' profit, there would be no injustice in the law, but it is not supposed to make that much clear on a contract of that amount the law simply forces him to build for the state and advance a part of the money to pay for it.

INVESTED ALL MONEY

Available Portion of the School Fund Is Drawing a Revenue. AUSTIN, Texas, August 11.—The state board of education purchased for investment of the permanent public school fund Texas county road and bridge bonds to the amount of $500,000.

The purchase of these bonds by the board wipes out entirely the large amount of cash that has been standing to the credit of the fund for over a year. This purchase increases the amount of bonds now held by the school fund to $11,500,000.

Alpha, the first letter of the alphabet, means the first of everything, and is a pretty name for a deer, and would be suitable for the first deer in our zoological collection.

LOWER ESTIMATE ON WHEAT YIELD

Texas Millers Discuss Various Topics of Interest to the Association, in Session in Fort Worth Today

PREDICT ADVANCE IN THE PRICE OF WHEAT

Meeting Addressed by M. A. Carleton, Cerealist, of the Agricultural Department at Washington, D. C.—Forty Members in Attendance

The prevailing opinion of the members of the Texas Millers' Association, assembled in convention in Fort Worth today, is that the wheat yield of the state has been greatly exaggerated. A majority of the members present placed the estimate at from 16,000,000 to 17,000,000 bushels instead of from 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 bushels, a figure generally conceded earlier in the season and one which is yet held by many.

There were forty members of the association present when the session was called to order by President J. N. Rayzor this morning. The meeting is being held at the parlors of the Worth hotel. The object of the session is for the purpose of discussing the general situation affecting the milling business. The entire forenoon was devoted to the subjects of flour, bran and wheat.

The regular meeting of the association was held at Sherman last May. Annual meetings have been the rule heretofore, but at the Sherman meeting it was decided by the association to meet at least semi-annually, hence the session today.

The convention, besides the time devoted to the routine business of the organization, gave some time profitably to listening to an address by M. A. Carleton, cerealist of the agricultural department at Washington, who is in Texas at the present time attracting so much attention from wheat growers in Texas, and also because of the fact that there were present at the meeting two members of the association who have had some experience with the variety of wheat referred to.

The meeting was called to order by J. N. Rayzor of Denton, president of the association. The other officers are George Chapman of Sherman and Harry Landis of New Braunfels, vice presidents, and Ed R. Collett of Fort Worth, secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Rayzor briefly stated that the object of the millers in the organization is to afford an opportunity to meet and discuss conditions which are common to all engaged in that business. He told the members that there is not anyone who knows better than they the difficulties which the millers of Texas encounter in order to make their business a paying investment and pointed out the advantages which are to be gained in meetings of this kind.

"I know," said Mr. Rayzor, "that recently when our committee was before the interstate commerce commission regarding differential charges that the interstate wheat trade that Texas millers had come down here in a desert and that they needed special legislation. That condition does not exist now. We are in a bountiful wheat country, and besides having what wheat we need, we will have some for export.

The first subject for general discussion this morning was "Mill Products." Every member present told of the condition at his local market, the rule with few exceptions being that the demand for flour and the prevailing price of wheat warranted an advance in the price of the former and that owing to the decrease in the demand for bran that the prevailing price of that commodity should be reduced.

On the suggestion of Harry Landis of New Braunfels it was decided by the association to take some steps toward making a concerted action to establish an export market for bran. Other members whose elevators and facilities warranted storage of the product expressed their determination to hold their surplus till fall and winter, when the demand will be increased and the price advanced accordingly.

Frank Kell of the Wichita Mill and Elevator Company stated that he had been making some personal investigation regarding a market for bran in the southeast and believed that it is within the options of the association to secure a 20-cent rate for that commodity to Memphis, Vicksburg and New Orleans.

A suggestion was made that the millers of the association, individually pay Mr. Kell a commission of so much per car to dispose of their surplus bran in certain markets which he had been investigating. This Mr. Kell declined.

A committee, however, was appointed to wait on the commission for the purpose of securing the 20-cent rate on bran above referred to, in which event individual shippers would be enabled to dispose of their products at a much greater advantage than the present conditions warrant. Frank Kell, Mr. Lackland of the Thomas Milling Company of Houston and F. P. Burrows, representing the Collin County Mill and Elevator Company of McKinney and the New Century Milling Company of Dallas, were selected as the members of the committee.

The secretary of the association was instructed to issue a crop report of Texas between the present time and Sept. 1. Before adjourning at noon each member of the association was instructed to hand to the secretary the number of bushels of wheat he has on hand and the number of bushels he has already consumed of the present crop, the aggregate only to be announced, in order to ascertain what portion of the crop has been marketed to the millers.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Carleton for his address to the convention. The afternoon is being consumed in the discussion of various questions of general interest to the millers of Texas.
