MAN AND GIRL DEAD OF POISON

Will Buckley Puts Strychnia Sulphate in Two Plates of Chile

THEN INVITES MRS. KELLEY TO DINE

Chats Gaily With Her as She Unsuspectingly Partakes of the Fatal Feast—It Is a Tragic Case

Lying side by side on stone slabs in Undertaker L. P. Robertson's establishment are the dead bodies of two persons, a man and a woman, who died in the small hours this morning of poison.

They spent yesterday evening together on the second floor balcony of a rooming house at 1709 Jones street, eating pop corn and oranges. Several others kept them company, including Florence DeLacy, proprietress of the house, and Laura Riggs, who is one of the roomers.

After the meal the woman left the man and went to her room. About 11:30 she heard him groaning and went to his room to ascertain if he was ill. She waited upon him and rubbed him, brought him water and did all the things she could think of to do for his welfare.

SHE HEARD HIM GROAN After the meal the woman left the man and went to her room. About 11:30 she heard him groaning and went to his room to ascertain if he was ill.

HE CONFESSED Meantime the man had confessed that he had poisoned himself. At first the woman whom he told of this fact refused to believe it and thought that the whiskey had been drinking for several days.

THE MAYBRICK ESTATE Suit Regarding Property Said to Belong to Fair Prisoner

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The hearing in the case of the trustees of the Maybrick estate, in which Mrs. Florence Maybrick has a reversion, was called today before John H. Judge, as referee.

the woman there that he had been in the city only a day before he went there. It is learned, however, that he stopped at the Avenue Hotel some days. He was fairly well dressed and looked to be about 29 years old. He told several different stories in regard to his place of residence, claiming at one time that he owned a ranch near Roswell, N. M., and at another time that his ranch was near Amarillo. He drank heavily and last night while sitting on the porch with the woman he occasionally drew out a flask and drank from it.

He told Mrs. Kelley that he corresponded with her when she was 15 years old and lived in Louisville, Ky. She did not remember him. She looked to be about 23 or 24 years old and was attractive. She was separated from her husband, James Kelley, a railroad man. A number of letters from him are in possession of Justice John L. Terrell who, at 6 o'clock this morning conducted the inquests. One letter was written from Kansas City, Mo., and others are dated at Terrell, Ark. They all show affection for her and indicate that her conduct had led to the separation.

AN ARDENT SWAIN Among her effects was a well written letter from a man at Rhine, Texas, who was a most ardent swain, but this letter is addressed to "Pattie" and it is not known if Mrs. Kelley wore this name sometimes or whether she was keeping this letter for another girl. It reminds her of a promise to make a chain for him of her "precious hair."

SHE WAS HIS FRIEND There is nothing to show that she was ever acquainted with Buckley before.

PRAY FOR SOUL OF DYING MAN

Motley Crowd on Chicago Street Bows at the Command of a Priest

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 22.—"Kneel and pray for the soul of a dying man. At this command from the lips of Father Madden of St. Gabriel's Roman Catholic church, 250 persons of many creeds and many races fell on their knees in the network of railroad tracks at Forty-fifth street and Stewart avenue last night and prayed for Thomas Shaughnessy, over whose mangled form the priest was bending.

COULD HE HAVE SPOKEN, the police believe that he would have told a story of a murderous attack. Boys of the neighborhood declare that Shaughnessy and a trainman were scuffling by the side of a freight train a moment before the former went under the wheels. A dispute over the blockage of the crossing by the train was the cause of the seeming quarrel, the police believe.

Difficulty Between Honduras and Nicaragua Imminent

IT INVOLVES AMERICANS Original Difficulty Over the Rights Granted to Pittsburgh Company

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 22.—Advices of the expected invasion of Nicaragua by soldiers from Spanish Honduras to enforce the country's contentions that the Nicaragua government has given a concession to a Pittsburgh syndicate and granted right on territory which belonged to Honduras, have reached this city from Puerto Cortez, Spanish Honduras. Last month a commission headed by General Ordóñez, was sent by President Bonilla of Honduras to Cape Gracias to notify the collector of the port there that if the Nicaraguan republic did not recognize certain rights claimed by Honduras along the banks of the river separating Honduras and Nicaragua that war would be proclaimed by President Bonilla. MANY SCHOOLS IN TURK'S DOMAIN

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 22.—Owing to the widespread interest regarding the imperiled American Christian colleges for young men in Turkey, the American board of commissioners for foreign missions is about to issue a report on the subject, translated from the Turkish. It comes from Aintab, central Turkey, and contains the following:

NAMES OF SCHOOLS These colleges, according to the order of their dates of establishment, are: Robert College, at Constantinople; Syrian Protestant College, at Beirut; Central Turkey College, at Aintab; Euphrates College, at Harpoot; Anatolia College, at Marsovan; and St. Paul's Institute, at Tarsus. Beirut College, in the growth of its courses of study, variety of branches, accommodations of its buildings and completeness of its equipments and apparatus, has been making very rapid progress, so that the value of its present property is not less than 100,000 liras, nearly $400,000. The number of its teachers in various branches is more than forty, ten of whom are professors. There are now 1,450 students in the colleges, 771 of whom are Armenians.

GOVERNMENTAL EMPLOYEES There is one point in which none of the others can be compared with Robert College. The latter holds the greatest number of the officers in governmental departments. It is able to show among its graduates lieutenants, generals, commanders, judges, mayors, governors, ambassadors and even cabinet members and prime ministers, and these are not merely some exceptions, but nearly one-fourth of its graduates have attained one or the other of these high positions. This superiority may be ascribed partly to its high standard of education and largely to its important geographical situation in a central point between Asia and Europe.

He left an immense estate, and the reversionary interest claimed by Mrs. Maybrick is in excess of $2,000,000. It is alleged by the attorneys for Mrs. Maybrick that the unfortunate woman was persuaded to sign away her interest in the estate while she was in the London dock condemned to death. The transfer, it is said, was procured by fraudulent means. The properties in dispute are located in the states of West Virginia, Virginia, Alabama and Illinois. The suits have been pending for some time, and it is hoped that a final settlement will be reached in favor of Mrs. Maybrick by the time she is released from prison next July.

The perpetrators of the crime were confident that their social positions would prevent any suspicion falling on them. It was only after the strong chain of evidence had been completed that they confessed.

Reforms in Handling Baggage Will Be Discussed at New Orleans Meeting

"The movement to reform the methods of handling baggage by the railroads of this state is a commendable one and should succeed," said a well-known passenger agent this morning in referring to the forthcoming convention of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents, which is to be held at New Orleans, Oct. 15. Quite a number of general passenger agents of Texas lines are present to the association and will be present.

Certain reforms are to be instituted in the manner of handling baggage at this meeting, and the Association of General Baggage Agents will be asked to co-operate with the passenger association in bringing about the much-needed change. Within the past few years "baggage smoking" has been reduced to a minimum on the larger roads of the country, but it is the intention of the general passenger agents to bring about a uniform method of caring for passengers and property.

It has been discovered that many causes combine to make the careful handling of baggage difficult on the part of the employes of the railroads, said a Cotton Belt official this morning. Continuing he said that passengers are responsible for the conditions to a great measure, as they invariably delay sending their baggage to the stations in plenty of time to be properly handled by the baggage agents. As a general rule, the baggage reaches the station about ten to fifteen minutes before the departure of trains, hence it is next to impossible to handle it expeditiously. This being the case, the haste usually results in damage to baggage.

Another question that will be considered at the New Orleans meeting is in reference to the scalpers during the World's Fair. It is a matter which is generally participated in by all members of the various passenger associations in an effort to counteract the work of scalpers.

The officers of the association which is to meet in New Orleans are O. W. Bagley of Chicago, general passenger agent of the Michigan Central, president, and A. J. Smith of Cleveland, general passenger agent of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, secretary.

The Texas officials of the association are E. P. Turner, general passenger agent of the Texas and Pacific, representing the Southwestern Passenger Bureau, and George H. Lee, who holds a similar position with the Chastain, Oklahoma and Gulf road. These two officials are on the directory board.

HOW TO FIND OUT

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains the linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it, or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mind and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, and a book that tells all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure to mention that you read this generous offer in the Fort Worth Daily Telegram. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Mother Says She Will Beseech Governor on Her Knees

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—When the news of Governor Odell's refusal to commute the sentence of the Van Wormer brothers was received at Kinderhook much satisfaction was expressed by many citizens, who have vigorously opposed the appeal. Mrs. Van Wormer, mother of the boys, heard the news in a meagerly furnished room of the little house she has occupied since the murder occurred, pacing up and down, apparently suffering the greatest anguish. When she heard that all hope was gone she cried:

"The boys are innocent; I shall go to the governor myself and plead on my knees for their lives."

TISDAL TALKS RICE CULTURE

Immigration Agent of the Cotton Belt Discusses Plans for Importing Japs

N. R. Tisdal, immigration agent of the Cotton Belt, has just returned from a trip to East Texas where he went to conclude negotiations for a large tract of land for a colony of Japanese who are expected to locate near Gilmer, on the Cotton Belt, in the near future.

Mr. Tisdal said to The Telegram this morning that while at Gilmer he closed the deal by which he secured title to a large tract of fruit and vegetable land which will be used by these Japs, who will come direct to Texas from the Orient.

True to their methods of fruiting and vegetable growing these Japanese will only till five-acre tracts, claiming that the results will be such as to be entirely satisfactory. In their native country only about two acres are tilled by a single Jap who, by his thorough knowledge of the work in hand, manages to realize a profit of from $1,000 to $1,500 from his small tract. With five acres in Texas it is claimed they will be enabled to make a profit from fruits and vegetables of at least $2,500 annually.

George L. Vanderwerker, who is the advance representative of the Japanese colony to locate in the Gilmer district, is to arrive in Fort Worth this week and will be taken over the entire system of the Cotton Belt by Mr. Tisdal, in order to direct the growing of small fruits and vegetables, industries to which the Japanese are peculiarly adapted. "This class of people know how to utilize every inch of ground when it comes to trucking," said Mr. Tisdal, and it is the desire of the Cotton Belt company to assist in settling many of these people along its line and is using every possible method to accomplish the work.

The colonies are not to be located at one spot, but are to be established at various sections of the country along the Cotton Belt, and tracts of land are now being looked after by the advance representative, Mr. Vanderwerker and Immigration Agent Tisdal.

The Southern Pacific railroad company is also interested in locating similar colonies in the south part of the state along its line, but the Japanese who will be brought to that section of the state will engage almost exclusively in the growing of rice on an extensive scale. Already quite a number have been located along the Southern Pacific and the Arkansas Pass line, and provisions are being made for several hundred more soon to arrive direct from the Orient.

LEGISLATIVE EXTRAVAGANCE

The Fort Worth Telegram, in a lengthy editorial, charges that clerks and helpers are employed by our legislatures that are not needed and to reward political services, etc. These are grave accusations, and if true show that our legislatures are corrupt. Now The Telegram should come forward with the proof. It should do this or forever hereafter hang its head in shame!—Tyler Courier.

The Telegram did not make the charge without having a basis for it, and states to the Courier that all alleged is a fact.

The clerks in the Texas legislature are not elected after any contest to show which is proficient and which is meritorious. The reading clerks only are tested as to their abilities, but beyond this showing of capabilities, nothing is required. In one instance there were two ladies contesting for the postmastership of the house. One was victorious. To be magnanimous, the defeated candidate was elected assistant. Two salaries were paid for doing the work required.

Clerks are employed to handle the committee work of the legislature, and many of them devote their time to copying bills, writing letters, etc., for corporation lobbyists. It has been the case when members have wanted service from the clerks that they are busy writing for attorneys who are employed by the big corporations.

The chief clerk of the house has much time on his hands, but a warrant clerk is employed to make out the warrants for the members.

The pages do service for the lobbyists, as well as for the members. Many of the clerks are employed without regard to qualification, but are friends of members.

Clerks are paid $5 per day, when some of them could not earn that much in any business in private life.

It has been used as an argument that clerks are entitled to more money because the situations which are given them do not last long, and they are worked very hard. The state does not urge any clerk to present himself for a position. These places are sought, and if they are not wanted at regulation pay suitable for clerk hire, it is very easy for these clerks to remain at home.

At one session of the legislature the senate appointed a lady as postmaster, and employed a man to carry the mail between the capital and the city post-office. He was paid $5 per day. A negro could have been employed for the same work and would have considered he was well paid if he had received $30 per month.

Members vote themselves copies of the daily papers of the state, and the bills are paid out of the state treasury. Members vote themselves postage during the session, and they generally draw to the full amount.

The contingent expense account covers a multitude of expenditures which should never be paid by the state. There is need for reform in this matter and the legislator who can go to Austin and bring about that reform will be given the plaudits of the whole people.

The San Antonio Express has taken up the criticism of various papers and says: So many clerical errors have been discovered in the recording or enrollment of bills which have passed the legislature, and so much criticism of the loose and haphazard clerical work at recent sessions of the legislature has been indulged in by the newspapers that the Dallas News suggests an united effort on the part of the press to have the clerical service in the legislature and in the departments at Austin put under merit rules. This would require applicants for clerical positions to prove their fitness for the work and their reliability, other than their kinship to or claim upon some one with a political pull. The state ought to have good service while paying for it.

In commenting on what The Telegram has previously said on the subject, the Dallas News says: It is observed, and this may be a grave charge also, that those who have what is known as a "pull" generally get the offices. The legislature squabbled several days over the clerks and pages, and the result was unsatisfactory, to say the least of it.

The Houston Post is now in its new building, and is to be congratulated on the success that has brought it such prosperity. The paper is fast nearing its twentieth birthday, having been established in April, 1855. It was built up by two energetic newspaper men—J. L. Watson in the business department and R. M. Johnston in the editorial, and through the best efforts of those two, it has become one of the most important newspapers in the state. Mr. Watson did not live to see the crowning success of the enterprise for which he had worked so hard, but Colonel Johnston is yet the presiding genius of the editorial department, and through his personal efforts the work upon which he had labored with his friend, now deceased, has been brought to a better position in business life every year. The Post is almost out of her teens. May success mark all efforts.

General Grant is endeavoring to have the government settle the citizenship status of a tribe of Indians near Fort Clark, Texas, known as the Hispano-Africo-Seminole. These Indians, who are a worthy sort of people, were originally part of the Southern Seminoles, but when the tribe was moved to the West they settled in Mexico, and for many years lived there, becoming mixed in blood by association with the Mexicans and negroes. They returned to the United States soon after the civil war, when they no longer feared the danger of being kidnaped and sold as slaves, and found themselves in the peculiar status of having neither citizenship in the United States nor membership in the Seminoles tribe. These Indians have been valuable to the country in which they are located. They have cultivated the lands in that western section, and in every way have shown themselves worthy of some governmental attention.

Waco has a county judge who has the nerve to look into violations of the law. Some time ago he gave orders that gambling should stop in that city. Many were fined, but last week he learned that the sport had been resumed and he went in person to investigate. Judge Gerald is brave enough to do anything. He has never flinched on any proposition, and he speaks his sentiments whenever occasion requires. He is a candidate for congress now, and if the campaign brings out an interesting fight, he will be heard from.

Arthur Goebel, brother of the martyred governor of Kentucky, has called the Cincinnati Times-Star to account. The Star denounced the Caleb Powers verdict as having been brought without evidence to justify it. The murdered man's brother offers to pay $500 if the Times-Star will print the evidence in the case, word for word. Mr. Goebel is evidently willing for the case to be decided by the people on the same evidence which was presented to the jury of twelve.

Senator Hanna will now have a chance to show what kind of material he is made of. He received a formal challenge from John H. Clarke, democratic candidate for United States senator in Ohio, who desires a joint debate in close legislative districts. Let the republican leader respond to the challenge, and when the votes are counted, it can be determined who had the argument.

The governor of Nevada has telegraphed the state department that he has ordered an investigation of the affair in which injuries were inflicted on Chinese in that state. Figures Prove Municipal Ownership In Fort Worth to be a Good Thing Does municipal ownership in Fort Worth pay? This question seems to be pretty thoroughly answered by some figures gathered by The Telegram.

If it pays to have Fort Worth own the plant that supplies it with water, the same thing will pay anywhere in Texas, for there is no other city in Texas that requires so much pump power, as does this one in order to be provided with water. There is no other Texas city able to provide water at that price, whether owned by a private company or by the municipal corporation. In Dallas there is a flat rate of 50 cents per 1,000, measured through the meter; in San Antonio the rate is 25 cents per 1,000, exclusive of the meter rent; San Antonio buys its water from a private company. Texarkana also buys from a private company and pays 50 cents per 1,000.

Notwithstanding this low rate, the Fort Worth waterworks is getting to be a paying proposition. Looked at in one way, it is a very good investment. For instance, the city is not called upon every year to hand out a large package of money to some private company for fire hydrant and school water rent. To be sure, the waterworks department charges the city for its fire hydrants and school water. There are 499 fire hydrants and, under a contract made a long time ago, the waterworks department charges the city $100 each for the first hundred fire hydrants and $50 each for the rest. The rate, if there were a private company, would be somewhat cheaper, but not appreciably so.

The annual total cost of fire hydrants alone, therefore, under the present rate is $25,500. In Denver, where there are a great many more fire hydrants than there are here and where the pumping power necessary to be used is not nearly so great, the water companies are owned by private concerns, and Denver pays from $35 to $45 annually for each of its hydrants. But, of course, the sum charged by the waterworks department in Fort Worth is never paid. It is simply transferred on the books, and the mythical $25,500 counts in the city's disbursements and in the city's receipts, helps boost the income of the waterworks department—and does no harm. To this $25,500, which would not be a myth if a private company owned the Fort Worth water system, would be added the cost of flushing sewers, putting water on the streets and furnishing water to the schools and other municipal buildings and works.

OPERATING EXPENSES The total operating expenses of the waterworks in the fiscal year which ended March, 1902, was $40,851.98. Operating expenses included the following items: Superintendent and secretary, $3,411.17; Fuel, $14,511.17; Plumbing, $7,986.61; Inspector and plumber, $2,400.00; Engineers and firemen, $4,944.26; Advertising, $75.00; Stationery, $21.49; Pumphouse repairs, $1,595.83; Pumphouse supplies, $74.93; Pumphouse extra labor, $1,931.38; Interest, current, $137.57; Miscellaneous expense, $25.81; Miscellaneous dam repairs, $276.38; Repairs on suction crib, $1,047.61; Tax, $86.00.

Total, $40,851.98. To ascertain the total cost of the department, there must be added to this $40,851.98 the sum of $49,480 interest on the waterworks bonds.

The receipts from water rents in cash for the year amounted to $29,842.63; the receipts from plumbing work done $2,623.27; from fire hydrant rental by the city (there were 480 hydrants then) $28,750; and plumbing work done for the city $35.40—a total of $91,861.32.

The net earnings for the year amounted to $1,579.34—this after the $49,480 interest on the waterworks bonds and the operating expenses were deducted.

BUSINESS BOOMING In the year which will close on March 21 next, Fort Worth will do a much greater business in the sale of water than city people expect. At the present rate of increase, within two years the cash income from water rents will approximate $100,000, as pointed out in The Telegram recently. The operating expenses do not increase in even ratio as new customers for water are connected with the city mains. In fact, twice as many as now buy water could begin taking it, and there would be little increase in the operating expenses. In the last two years the extra work by reason of the Mead contract and the drought of last summer made the fuel bill more than twice as large as the average; otherwise, the net earnings of the waterworks would have been much greater.

While the net earnings appear to be but a small sum, yet it must be remembered that there is much gained in the fact that the dealing is directly between the city and the people; the people have the power to raise or lower the price of their water; if there is no profit they know that the people have been getting the water at unusually low rates; if there is a profit, why the city has it, and is at liberty to spend it for the benefit of the city. The only thing that the city loses now is the interest it pays on the money it borrowed with which to build the waterworks—and everybody knows that a private company would do a good deal more than pay interest on the amount invested.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING Even a better showing is made by the Fort Worth city electric light works. Six per cent interest is paid on the cost of the plant, which was $45,828.97; the interest, therefore, being $2,759.88. The pay roll for the year ending March 21, 1902, was $3,329; fuel cost, $399.51, and miscellaneous expenses were $1,484.96—a total of $8,564.35.

Each thirty candle power incandescent light cost the city $3.50 per year with out interest and $3.50 with interest; each arc lamp of 1,200 candle power cost the city $46.40 per year, without interest and $8.40 with interest.

Under the prices charged by the local lighting companies—and there is no reason to suppose the city could make a contract at a rate much cheaper than a private citizen's—the net cost of a 1,200 power arc lamp per month is $9, or $108 per year; the saving to the city, therefore, on arc lamps, of which there were a year ago 120, is $10,800, or $4,800, less.

There were 704 thirty candle power incandescent lights on the streets and alleys a year ago. The local light companies charge $1 per month each for sixteen candle power lights. Putting the price at $1.50 per month for thirty candle power lights, the total for a year would be $12,572. Each would cost $18 per year; each costs the city, selling to itself, $5.80 per year without interest and $5.85 with interest on the plant; the 704 cost the city $1,083.20 without interest and $6,019.20 with interest. The saving to the city, therefore, on incandescent lights is about $6,000 a year. So that the total sum saved to the city by furnishing its own lights is over $10,000 a year, or was a year ago.

Last year's figures are used in these comparisons, because the figures of the light and water departments this year are withheld pending the arbitration of some differences regarding the fuel expended on the Mead contract, but the figures of last year will do to point the moral.

THE LIE PASSES AT SCHOOL MEETING

INTERESTING AFFAIR OCCURS AS THE BOARD DISCUSSES THE USE OF HYDE'S BOOKS IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS — MAJOR VAN ZANDT REFUTES A STATEMENT MADE BY A LOCAL BOOK DEALER

Not since the days of 1865, when he earned the title of major in the Confederate service, has K. M. Van Zandt wanted to fight as much as he did yesterday afternoon, but he fought bravely. It was at a meeting of the school board. The board had been called to consider the question of using Hyde's First Lessons in English and Hyde's Grammar, published by D. C. Carruthers. As was stated here by J. S. Carruthers, and represented in The Telegram Sunday morning, the use of these books has been held up by the board, because the information had been received from book dealers in the city that all dealers were not allowed to handle the two books. There were present Mayor T. J. Powell presiding, Secretary Montgomery, Trustees Capps, Van Zandt, Thompson and Sprinkle and Superintendent Alexander Hoag. The mayor explained the meeting was called because it was necessary to fill the course of study at once.
Mr. Sprinkle—What is the trouble?
Major Van Zandt—You all know that we made a change in the course of study, adopting the Hyde grammars because they were adopted as a state book; the price was satisfactory and they are considered good books. I made the recommendation, the assurance being received from the publishers, that all dealers would be treated right in the matter and the city would have the same privilege allowed the state. I am informed the books can be had from but one man, and I do not believe in encouraging a monopoly. We need 2,190 of these books in the city. That number cannot be had.
Mr. Carruthers, the agent—I have 825 of the first book and 625 of the second. I hold Mr. Connor that he received of Mr. Benson I would let him have some of these books.
Mr. Capps—Did we adopt this book?
Major Van Zandt—We did, at the last meeting.
Mr. Capps—Is it the cheapest?
Major Van Zandt—We adopted it not only because it was the cheapest, but because it is the state adoption. I made the recommendation.
Mr. Capps—Has there been time to get it here?
Major Van Zandt—There has been time to get it here, but not to print it for the general demands of the state.
Mr. Capps—If it is a state adoption, is the best and cheapest. I do not see why we cannot use it, whether one or a hundred dealers have it for sale. I do not

Music and Drama

The Ewing-Taylor company opened a three nights' engagement at the opera-house last night, presenting "Home Sweet Home."
There is much of sentiment in the piece and much of comedy. Mr. Taylor has the comedy role and, in a dry, humorous way, he moves through the piece, enlivening it with his drollery. Miss Ewing is very pretty and was handsomely gowned. She has a sweet voice and a pleasing nature and won the hearts of the audience. The play was very well cast and its presentation was enjoyed by the large audience, the standing room only sign being out early.
There were a number of specialties, the illustrated songs being well rendered and the pictures very pretty. The monologues artist, as has been usual several times this season, used a joke or two which were not appreciated because of the "banned" point which was made. The better class of theater goers do not appreciate these things and they are better left unsaid.
Tonight the company will present "The Girl From Frisco." There will be a matinee to-morrow afternoon at which time "The Lady of Lyons" will be presented.

DARKNESS AND DAYLIGHT

It is safe to say that if you were to put the question to any one of the legion of women novel readers in the land as to who was her most popular author, or author, she would respond, Mary J. Holmes. "Darkness and Daylight" has both well known and popular. Many readers and admirers of the authoress of it will be delighted to know that it has been dramatized, and that the play is to be seen here Thursday night, September 24, at Greenwall's opera-house.
This story is of the kind that lives, for it is pure in tone and sentiment, and putting its characters on the little stage has robbed it of none of its charm.

"LOOKING FOR A WIFE"

The big comedy success, "Looking for a Wife," comes to Greenwall's opera-house, Friday matinee and night, September 25. "Looking for a Wife" is said to be a comedy above the average of this class of entertainment. It is said to much resemble some of the famous Hoyt farces, which some time ago were the talk of the country. The play is intermingled from start to finish with light musical numbers, new songs and dances. Fun, music and pretty girls are what make a comedy, and the management claim that in "Looking for a Wife" they have all these essentials. Special scenery is carried by the company for the entire production.

Mental

Strain Affected General Health.

Doctor's Doses Weakened Stomach.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Cured Me.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine brings rest and sweet sleep to the tired brain worn out with the cares and anxieties of the sick room. Read the following:

"I have always been healthy with the exception of a touch of rheumatism since my age came on, up to the time of my husband's last illness some years ago. I assisted in nursing my husband for nearly three months when he departed this life and the mental strain I think caused my trouble. Aside from extreme nervousness my trouble commenced with sore throat and neuralgia. My physician gave me purgative doses which weakened me very much and my stomach for a time seemed inactive. Mental strain and the dormant condition of my stomach soon told upon my general health. I had little appetite and was soon forced to stay in bed a greater part of the time. Within a week after the time I began taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Tonic I was up about the house. I continued their use until completely cured. My faith in Dr. Miles' Remedies has been strengthened by experience of other people, our daughter having used Restorative Nervine with splendid results in a case of paralysis and a friend to whom I sent a box of the Anti-Fam Pills reports that she has been completely cured of neuralgia by their use. I know of a number of others whom your medicine has helped in a large degree. I wish you continued success."

A NEW TOWN IN DAWSON COUNTY

It Will be Called Lamesa and Will Open About October 3. Livestock News

COLORADO CITY, Texas, Sept. 22.—A new town by the name of Lamesa is being built near the center of Dawson county. Frank Conner, an old inhabitant of Mitchell county, owns the section on which the town is being established, and he and his friends are going to give a big barbecue on his new town site October 2, to which every person in the county and all his friends in the surrounding counties are most cordially invited. Their attention will be called to the advantages the place offers for the county seat, when an election on the question is held, in the way of water, fertility of soil, proximity to the center of the county, liberality in the giving and selling of town lots, etc. Chicago, the old post-office for the past ten years, is on Slaughter's land and is only two miles north. Many families have settled in the county the past two years, since the county has been open to settlement. Lamesa already has a number of new buildings, and a party of rail will soon move to the new location, and an election to organize the county and determine where the county seat shall be will be held before a great while.
