The Telegram today prints a large number of advertising announcements of the merchants of Fort Worth as mid-week offerings to those who are careful buyers. Our merchants are desirous of obtaining the co-operation of their customers in helping to make of Thursday a shopping day. At the present time the buyers in the dry goods, grocery, clothing and other lines are accustomed to utilizing only about two of the days in the week to do the bulk of their shopping. On this account the merchants have more than they can do on certain days in the week. The people seem to have acquired the general idea that they can secure better attention and better bargains on other days. This is not necessarily the case. But in order to test the willingness of the buyers of Fort Worth to make purchases in mid-week if the prices are right many of the merchants are offering today in the Telegram some special inducements in the way of good articles at low prices.

The advertising columns of the Telegram will attest this fact. The readers of the Telegram will find it to their interest to look over these announcements with care. In calling for advertised goods, readers of the Telegram will confer a great favor upon the paper if they will tell the storekeepers or their clerks that their advertisement in the Telegram is largely responsible for the visit to their store.

ELKS WILL MEET IN THIS CITY NEXT YEAR

GALVESTON, Texas, May 25.—The second annual convention of the State Association of Elks adjourned yesterday afternoon after selecting Fort Worth as the place for the third annual meeting and electing officers for the ensuing year.

Under the law as adopted at the present convention the president of the State Association is commander in general of the army of Elks, but a general to have charge of the annual parade of the army will, under the new rules, be elected at each annual convention.

The new rules also call for the secretary of the State Association to be a resident of the same place as the president, and the selection of a secretary is therefore placed in the hands of the president and board of directors.

The election of officers resulted in Joseph E. Farnsworth of Dallas being selected as president and T. T. Jackson of San Antonio vice president.

General C. E. Shipp of Dallas was elected commander of the annual parade of the army of Elks.

W. W. Selcy of Waco was re-elected treasurer of the association.

The publication in the Union Banner, saying that I turned off one of my clerks because he belonged to the Clerks' Union, is a falsehood, and is known to be by the writer of the article. If any one wishes to know the facts in the case they can get them by calling at my place of business, 301 East Front street.

Respectfully,
J. J. HOGUE.

THE UNION TENT MEETING

Another splendid audience attended the union tent meeting last evening, everyone present seeming to enjoy the service. It had been a day of prayer. In the morning ten cottage prayer meetings had been held. They were all well attended and the reports from them given at the afternoon meeting were excellent.

At the evening service Mr. Smith's subject was "How We May Know That the Bible is True." He made three suggestions: first, by what those say who have tested it; second, by the results of its teachings in nations and individuals; third, by testing its teachings as we may ourselves.

He said "No man has any right to say I do not believe the bible until he has tested it himself."

Tonight Mr. Smith's subject will be "The Greatest Question." It is said by many to be his finest address. Splendid music as usual will be enjoyed. By special request Messrs. Smith and Gilmore will sing "Life's Railway to Heaven."

Customer—But that umbrella looks so awfully cheap and common the price you ask for it is preposterous.
Dealer—My dear sir, that's the beauty of that umbrella. It's really the very best quality, but it's made to appear cheap and common so that no one would think it worth stealing.—Philadelphia Press.

WILL CLEAR 21,000 ACRES FOR LUMBER AND LAND

SHERMAN, Texas, May 25.—Press reports from Texarkana announce the chartering in the state of Arkansas of the Dorsey Land and Lumber Company of Miller county, Arkansas, of which organizers are Messrs. S. W. Porter and P. W. Terry of Sherman, Texas, are officers and stockholders, the former having been chosen vice president and the latter secretary and general manager, as was anticipated in a previous report of this mammoth land deal in these columns.

As stated then, it is the purpose of this company to clear up the entire 21,000 acres of land for cultivation and to utilize every possible stick of timber, some of which is the finest hard wood, and to this end a saw mill, tram roads and all such necessary will be put in at once under the supervision of Mr. Terry, who has been there looking after the property for several weeks.

FIRST GUN OF THE CAMPAIGN IN HILL CO.

HILLSBORO, Texas, May 25.—The county campaign opened up in earnest at Abott yesterday. All the candidates for county officers met there and began a joint campaign of the county. They will visit all the voting precincts in the county between now and July 9, when the primaries are held. The local option question will figure considerably in the campaign in the race for county judge, county attorney, sheriff and for representatives. The pros are charging that the ants have already united upon certain candidates and it is likely that the pros will also agree on certain candidates. This will narrow the race down and make it very interesting.

NOMINATING CONVENTIONS

The cry which is heard every four years against the congressional trust, has reference to the desire of members of congress to control the national conventions of the parties to which they belong, and is a system which was once overthrown, and out of which really has grown the convention system now in vogue.

The convention system is an invention rather than a natural product of evolution. It was stumbled on by accident in Pennsylvania, was adopted in New York and then spread over the country. It is one of the few American institutions which were not inherited from England or devised by the framers of the constitution.

Washington was chosen president by unanimous consent. But when party lines were drawn after his retirement, the congressmen naturally assumed the part of managers and the congressional caucus came into existence.

Several presidents were nominated by caucuses of congressmen, but the scheme proved unsatisfactory. It tended toward the English system of parliamentary control, since the congressmen naturally bargained with their nominees.

After it has been running through a series of text books in Kansas for several years, the text book commission has ordered the publishers to expunge the statement that General Frederick Funston was promoted for swimming the Bag Bag river in the face of a heavy fire. If that was not the cause of the promotion will some one please state what brought it about.

Justice MacLean in New York does not care for the private comforts of those who come within the jurisdiction of his court and he has ordered that whether it suits her convenience or not Madame Nordica must come into court and disprove the charges of fraud made against her by her former husband.

If the New York girl who hugged a man so hard she broke one of his ribs will come to Texas she will find that many are available and they will bet her a dollar to a dime she cannot produce a fracture in any number of efforts.

In the absence of sound from the vicinity where Judge Parker is supposed to exist, it devolves upon the supporters of that eminent American to produce corpus juris civilis.

once controlled and in every instance the people have rebelled against it. From the people the members of congress get their positions and their power, and the people believe they are well qualified to nominate their own standard bearers for the presidency without undue influence being brought to bear by those who are but servants of the masses.

NEWS FOR WOMEN

There is much food for thought in what Melville E. Stone told the club women in St. Louis when he said that women readers are responsible for the sensationalism which is followed as a policy by some of the newspapers of the country. Mr. Stone can speak on this subject because he is at the head of the Associated Press; which is a news distributing agency—and the greatest in the world—and that which is handled over the wires of the association is legitimate news, pure and simple, and does not touch the yellow tinge.

If the theory of Ernest Rutherford, a young student of science in London is correct, the heat of the earth is a very expensive fire. He asserts that it is caused by radium. Mr. Rutherford thinks that radium was proved to be in sufficient quantities in the earth to supply a new theory as to the source of the earth's heat, so that we should not require the millions of years which the geologists and biologists had reasoned out as the time taken in the cooling process, before life on the globe was possible.

Noted Indian Fighter and War Veteran

Gen. W. F. Melbourne, Famous Indian Fighter and Mexican War Campaigner, Tells of His Wonderful Cure of Indigestion and Dyspepsia by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

GEN. W. F. MELBOURNE.

"I am an old campaigner, veteran of the war with Mexico, the several campaigns against the Indians on the frontier, the expedition for the suppression of the Free State and pro-slavery imbroglio in Kansas, 1856, the Utah Expedition (Mormon rebellion), 1857, and the Civil War. Was also engaged in the late war with Spain.

I enjoyed general good health until some months ago, when I suffered from a severe attack of stomach trouble, dyspepsia and indigestion. I tried many so-called 'cures' without relief. Upon the recommendation of an old comrade I was induced to take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and used it right along. My health is now good and indigestion a memory of the past. I find it invigorating and rejuvenating in a very marked degree and cordially commend it especially to those getting along in years."

SOME LARGE SALARIES

Pittsburg Dispatch. The announcement made last week that one of the large Wall street banks had increased the salary of its president $50,000 a year has directed attention to the compensation paid to the heads of the large banks, the great railroad systems and the huge industrial combinations.

In the matter of salaries the large industrialists appear to be more liberal than the railroads. S. C. T. Dodd, the general solicitor of the Standard Oil Company, probably receives as large a salary as any other person in the country. Including commissions he receives $25,000 a year. Mr. Dodd is John D. Rockefeller's closest legal adviser. During his early life he fought John D. Rockefeller so successfully that Rockefeller determined to secure him as his own attorney.

The largest salary paid any railroad president in the United States is $75,000, A. J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania. James J. Hill of the Great Northern and L. F. Loree of the Rock Island draw salaries of $75,000 a year. The presidents of a number of the other large railroad systems draw a salary of $50,000 a year. Three years ago F. D. Underwood was general manager of the Baltimore and Ohio, when one day he received a message from J. P. Morgan asking him to call at his office.

When Charles M. Schwab was the president of the United States Steel Corporation he drew a salary of $100,000 a year. In addition he received a commission on the volume of sales of the company. When Mr. Schwab resigned the salary of the president of the steel corporation was reduced to $75,000 a year. This reduction was made because of the fact that a number of the duties which Mr. Schwab had performed were turned over to various committees. In addition to a salary of $75,000 William E. Corey, the present president of the steel corporation, tion, makes a commission on the volume of sales of the company. S. R. Callaway, president of the American Locomotive Company, is credited with receiving a salary of $100,000 a year. To accept this position Mr. Callaway resigned the presidency of the New York Central. As head of the New York Central he drew a salary of $44,000 a year. It is not known what salary H. H. Rogers draws as president of the Amalgamated Copper Company. Mr. Rogers succeeded Marcus Daly, who received a salary of $100,000. Henry O. H. Meyer, president of the American Sugar Refining Company, is said to draw a salary of $100,000 a year. C. A. Coffin, president of the General Electric, is understood to receive a salary of $75,000 a year.

Some of the largest salaries in the world are made by the junior members of the large banking houses. In Wall street it is generally understood that Sir Clinton Dawkins, the head of the London branch of J. P. Morgan & Company, draws a salary of $200,000 a year. This is a guaranteed salary, and as a matter of fact, during some years the income of Sir Clinton is very much larger. The system which prevails in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Company, as well as among the other large banking firms, is to give each junior member a certain percentage of the year's profits. This percentage is fixed by J. P. Morgan. As the annual profits of J. P. Morgan & Company have not been less than $1,000,000 in any year during the last decade it is clear that the annual income of the junior members of the firm is very large.

Public Watering Trough. Alderman Lydon stated that the council act upon the question of a public watering trough, as North Fort Worth needed one badly, and that he thought it a very necessary thing, as at present there was no way for transient horses to secure water on the North Side.

At this juncture Alderman Conway stated that the finance committee had a report which they wished to make, but asked that it be made behind closed doors, and intimated that the city's finances were not in the best of condition.

Alderman Conway then suggested the septic tank plan and stated that a small purifying tank could be put in at the mouth of the sewer at a very small cost, say $5,000 to $8,000.

city to lay this sewer over private property. During the discussion several new routes were suggested by the councilmen, but all were passed over until final action is taken on the present plan.

The North Fort Worth Water Company asked for an extension of time on the franchise. During the administration of the old council a petition asking for a franchise for a term of fifty years was vetoed by Mayor Farmer and the franchise granted for five years.

A petition was presented asking that Busk street, between Twentieth and Twenty-third streets, be opened for traffic. The petition was tabled upon the suggestion of Alderman Conway, who stated that the city was in no condition to attempt the opening up of streets.

City Marshal Howell recommended the appointment of O. B. Montgomery for the position of night policeman at a salary of $75 per month. He was duly appointed, his salary being fixed at $60 per month, with an allowance of $10 per month for the care of a horse.

MAY AGREE ON CONTROL. President Felton of the Chicago and Alton Railroad Company is making a thorough physical inspection of the Northern Pacific property from St. Paul to the Pacific coast. Back of this is the assertion that he is acting as arbitrator in the Hill-Harriman feud, and, based upon his report, it is said that Harriman will make an offer for the Northern Pacific system and a half interest in the Burlington. Hill and Harriman have agreed that neither of them can afford to continue the fight, and the powerful financial interests of New York have exerted all their influence to bring about an amicable settlement and avert another panic, such as occurred three years ago over the control of the railroad.

Last week Mr. Scott walked into Brown & Vera's wall paper store and said: "See Vera, you know that room you papered for us four years ago; well that paper looks as well as the day it was put on. I had a room papered last year by another firm, and the paper is all cracked and wrinkled up. I want you to come down and paper another room, and you bet, you will always do my work in the future."

COMANCHE INDIAN MAY BE SENATOR

Opportunity in the Admission Into Union of Oklahoma and Indian Territory

CHIEF PARKER THE MAN

Wealthy Indian Lives Like a White Man and Is Known as Sharp Promoter

An Indian chief as a member of the United States senate! exclaims an eastern paper. This is the suggestion that has been made, and it hinges on the proposition that Oklahoma and Indian Territory be admitted into the American union as one state and that it be tacitly agreed that one of the United States senators from the new commonwealth be an Indian. Whether such a plan would be practicable is still to be demonstrated, but the proposition certainly smacks of poetic justice.

The United States senate today has in its membership the descendants of the sons of nearly every country in Europe, and has in addition men who were born on the soils of Ireland, England and Germany. In view of the fact that men of all nationalities and creeds of all denominations have occupied seats in congress—not to speak of a Mormon senator—it is deemed fitting that an Indian, representing the original holders of the vast territory now known as the United States, could very properly and picturesquely represent the remnant of a once great people on the floor of the greatest deliberative body on earth.

In the uncertainty of politics the proposition should take practical form there is no reasonable doubt but that the honor would fall on Quannah Parker, one of the ablest and wealthiest Indians in America. Parker, who is one of the chiefs of the Comanches, might properly be called the connecting link between the aborigines and the white people of the United States. His career has been filled with the most thrilling adventures.

PARKER A HALF BREED Quannah Parker, who is now about fifty years of age, is the son of a white woman and a Comanche Indian. In one of the first of the Comanche raids in Texas his mother was captured by the Indians and her parents scalped and killed. The Texas Rangers, that celebrated body of fearless men, organized by the early settlers for their own defence and protection, gave chase and pursued the Indians to their lair. The chase was so rapid that the white men compelled the Indians to abandon everything but their light traveling stuff, and eventually corralled them at the foot of the Wichita mountains. After a spirited skirmish the woman was recaptured and taken back to civilization and handed over to her relatives in Texas. But the woman had a taste of Indian life and she preferred it to life among those of her own blood. Under such circumstances it was only a question of time when of her own volition she returned to the Indians. At an early age she became one of the Comanches, and Quannah Parker was the outcome of this curious match.

His mother died when he was a child, and Quannah grew up as an Indian among the Indians, naturally falling into their ways and customs, speaking their language, wearing their dress and living their life. He had natural abilities of a high order and these asserted themselves even in his youth. Before he had attained his majority he was a power among the Indians, and while yet a young man he led the band of one of the two principal bands of Comanche Indians. He was progressive in his ideas, introduced many striking innovations in their lives and became more powerful than any of his predecessors had dreamed of being. Chief Tabornock, who controlled the other band, was a full blooded Indian, conservative in his ideas and jealous of the power of Chief Parker, but for the most part the two men went their respective ways, and there was much muttering they, fortunately for their tribes, did not engage in open hostilities.

"YANKEE INDIAN CHIEF" Chief Parker seemed to possess in himself the elements of success. One of his first directions, if he had been a white man and had located in Wall street, would have soon won the title "King of Promoters." He also has the instincts of a successful politician, although, singular to say, he has never exercised his talents in this direction. It is as a business man that he has won distinction and great financial gains. It is no exaggeration to say that Chief Parker is the richest Indian chief in America. He has been loosely spoken of as an Indian millionaire, but that statement is wide of the mark.

From an Indian standpoint he might be fancifully regarded as a multi-millionaire, but as a matter of fact the value of his holdings of real estate, live stock and money in bank is nearer to $100,000 of our money than the other amount mentioned. He has represented the Comanche Indians in the leasing of their lands to white settlers, who desired the green sward for the purpose of grazing their cattle. The men who have conducted negotiations with Chief Parker are willing to testify that he is fully able to take care of his own interests and those of the Indians he represented on such occasions. Indeed, his capacity for driving a sharp bargain has earned him the nickname of the "Yankee Indian Chief."

Chief Parker's home and reservation nestle at the bottom of the foothills of the Wichita mountains. He owns a modern, comfortable and roomy two and a half story frame building, where he lives the life of a civilized man, with his wife and children. In his youth Quannah was a wild Indian, but having sowed a plentiful supply of Indian wild oats he has now settled down to a thoroughly domestic life, overseeing the workings of his vast farm during the day and smoking the pipe of peace on his doorstep in the cool of the evening. His land is chiefly used for stock raising purposes, and the ponies reared by Quannah Parker have a reputation for excellence through all that section of the west. His cattle, too, have earned a name for superiority that enables him to get better prices for his output than many of the white men that have settled in the same locality. All of Parker's vast lands are enclosed by neat fences—his life itself being regarded as a mark of wealth, sagacity and good management in the far west. Besides the frame house where the chief lives, the farm contains five or six tents where the farmers, Indian employes and cowboys live, eat and sleep. At stated intervals—usually four times a year—Parker deposits his surplus money with

HAS INDIAN ELOQUENCE

Chief Parker is a man of great natural eloquence and on numerous occasions he has swayed the red men by his power of oratory. He speaks English, too, and speaks it well, although, as is natural, it is slightly broken English. He has certain forms of etiquette which he scrupulously observes. When he is doing business with the Indians he dresses as an Indian, with all of the usual paraphernalia, including head-bear, moccasins, blankets, and moccasins and moccasins. When he is negotiating with the white man he adopts the attire which obtains in civilized cities in the United States. It is interesting to note, however, that Parker, like most Indians, is hardly at ease in a plug hat, striped trousers, cutaway coat and an Ascot tie. On these occasions he shows a great weakness for red neckwear, topped off

ANOTHER WAR WITH MEXICO PREDICTS W. R. BOOTH

In an Address Before Veterans of '46 Commander Says the Events Point to Another Conflict in Next Fifty Years

After music by Miss Robinson of Glenwood yesterday afternoon the session of Mexican War Veterans was briefly entertained by an address delivered by Commander W. R. Booth of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, who welcomed the old scarred veterans of the Mexican war on behalf of the sons of Fort Worth. The speaker predicted that this country in less than fifty years hence would see a repetition of the great struggle in which Fort Worth' guests once took part. "The government of Mexico is President Diaz, and when he passes away there will be no Mexican government, and trouble will no doubt follow," said Commander Booth. He continued by saying that United States and English money was heavily invested in the Republic, possibly nine-tenths of the investments coming from these two countries, and the speaker said he expected that a conflict between these two countries would again take place, and added that some of these old boys may be here when it comes. "I'm ready to go to the front right now," shouted an aged hero whose silvery locks nearly cover his face from view.

There was little business transacted yesterday. In fact, the association is not for business to any great extent. It is for the purpose of bringing together the few remaining veterans that they may enjoy socially a couple of days annually.

COMMITTEES NAMED
Two committees were named last evening, one to audit the report of the treasurer and the other to make a mortuary report on the death of members which has occurred during the past year, there being seven. On the first committee were placed J. W. Bell, J. T. Noble and W. A. Mason, and on the latter J. B. Barry, Daniel Haines and R. Castleberry. These committees will make reports during the day.

Music was furnished by Misses Jeanne Marie, Adelaide and Mary Roe upon piano and violin, which was well received by the old veterans, who applauded loudly. "There is no death" was the title of an old-fashioned religious song rendered by Rev. Levi Swinford of Aurora, who is known to all old-timers as a Baptist revivalist. He sang the old song in distinct tones. After he had concluded President Finlay stated that if he could sing like that old gentleman he would have a real old-fashioned revival right there; that had he been possessed with such a voice he would have been a preacher—a successful one at that. He was interrupted by an old veteran, who said that if the president and the members of this organization did as he did for talking, he'd be all right.

When the afternoon session adjourned the entire party took cars for Handley, where they were entertained by the Ben Hur Club, assisted by the Dames and members of the Confederate Veterans. A delightful dinner was served in the beautiful grove at Lake Erie, which was in the nature of a barbecue.

The Northern Texas Traction Company kindly provided transportation for the veterans free of charge, which was an act that will long be remembered with pleasure by the veterans who so greatly enjoyed the little trip to Handley.

WAR VETERANS' HOME FOR HANDLEY

Mrs. Dr. S. M. L. Kennedy of Houston, president of the Old Ladies' Home Association of Texas, in this city presiding over the meetings of the Texas War Veterans' Association, which was convened Tuesday morning. She is here in the interest of one of the two homes to be built in the state in the future.

Mrs. Kennedy has held conferences with the Northern Texas Traction Company with a view to locating the home at Handley, and from what Mrs. Kennedy says the chances are very favorable that one of these institutions will be established there, and to that end much interest is being taken in the movement by the traction company.

Mrs. Kennedy has spent several days in Handley during the past week, acquainting herself with the desirability of the place as a location, and from what she has been able to see and learn, she believes that Handley will make an ideal spot for the home to be located in North Texas. In fact, she is well pleased with that place and will no doubt recommend its selection when the proper time comes.

The Old Ladies' Home Association of Texas is a chartered concern, the object of which is to build two homes in the state for old men and women, and it is said to be in contemplation the asking for an amendment to the charter also permitting the admission to the home of orphans.

For many months Mrs. Kennedy canvassed the state and visited and secured the good will and encouragement of different state organizations, among them the United Confederate Veterans, labor unions, railway unions in various cities and also the State Medical Association, of which Dr. N. B. Kennedy was an honored member at the time of his death. Mrs. Kennedy, being a woman of indomitable energy and having the means at command to aid her, she was most persistent and traveling agent of the association to build the homes now contemplated for the old men and women in Texas. She is known to have refused to accept a salary for her work. She says she is anxious to be able to help those who are unable to help themselves, hence the efforts to have the homes built as soon as possible.

Mrs. Kennedy says that the traction company is showing great interest in locating one of the homes at Handley. She spent Saturday looking the place over. Headquarters of this association are at Houston. She says that South Texas is to be blessed with the other home, but at present no place has been selected.

Fort Worth, Dallas and other North Texas towns are to be asked to lend assistance in the construction of the home, and due time will be called upon by a committee.

Each home will cost about $50,000, exclusive of the grounds.

THIS MORNING'S SESSION
Comrade Mason offered prayer in opening this morning's session of the Mexican War Veterans. The attendance was not lessened by the previous day's work of an interesting session held yesterday.

In the absence of the committee on finance and mortuary the old veterans were invited to listen to some music.

Mrs. Moore Murdock, commandant of the Dames of 1846, addressed the veterans at length.

The mortuary committee made a report showing the following death list during the past year: J. D. Gunnells, Fort Worth; Alex. Coleman, Memphis; John R. Baker, Stockdale; A. J. Nave, Columbus; L. Norman, Alvarado; N. M. Whitson, Moody; Joseph Sherrer, Victoria.

Comrades Mason, Barry and Finlay, and Mrs. Moore Murdock spoke to the memorial resolutions.

The report of the finance committee showed the balance to be $54.55. The collections at this meeting had not been reported, but amounts to $88.

LETTERS FROM TEXAS
A congratulatory letter was read from President James C. Carlton of the national association, extending greetings to the Texas division. An invitation was extended to the Texas veterans to be present at St. Louis September 16, at a reunion of war veterans from Mexico to be held on the World's Fair grounds. The invitation closed with this sentence: "May your lives be spared yet a few years (and many if possible) to enjoy the blessings you and your comrades so gallantly secured on the plains of Palo Alto, Resaca de la Palma, and in the valleys and mountains of Mexico; and we also send greeting and kind words to the few noble Texans yet surviving who achieved independence and secured civil and religious liberty for themselves and posterity on the ensanguined battlefields of Goliad, the Alamo and San Jacinto."

Colonel Tom Scott of Melissa delivered an address on the battle of Buena Vista which took place February 23, 1847. He went into detail and told of the cause of the war in detail which in brief was whether Texas should be received into the union and Oregon retained or ceded to Great Britain. The democratic party at that time favoring expansion, elected James K. Polk president and George M. Dallas vice president over Henry Clay and Frelinghuysen, the two candidates, who opposed both these measures. When congress met in December it voted that Texas should be annexed, and President Tyler signed the bill just before his term expired, and in his inaugural address March 4, 1845, President Polk declared it his intention to defend the claim of the United States to both Texas and Oregon. Texas claimed the Rio Grande as her western border while Mexico declared the Nueces river the boundary. In fact, Mexico had never recognized the independence of Texas and claimed the right to the whole state. It was these claims that brought on the conflict with Mexico.

Colonel Scott detailed the battles that followed and the results attained.

Mrs. Moore Murdock told the veterans of her work in their behalf during the late session of congress to secure an increase of Mexican war veterans pensions from $12 to $20 per month. Her report was a voluminous one. It showed Mrs. Murdock had succeeded in having special pensions increased to $20 for 205 veterans. She said she discovered that pensioners among the union soldiers were not averse to granting the increase of pensions for Mexican war veterans.

During the first week in April, out of fifty-three bills passed by the house from the pensions committee, twenty-four of them were for Mexican veterans and their widows. All through the ensuing weeks the same ratio of success crowned Mrs. Murdock's efforts, who said that among the special pension bills secured, some twenty of them were for veterans in Texas, the names not yet having been furnished her by the committee, but as soon as they are she promises to make them public.

Mrs. Murdock assured the veterans that there would be no cessation in the efforts to secure the increased pensions so much desired.

This afternoon the election of officers and the next meeting place will be decided upon.

EXAMINATION OF TEACHERS IS TO BE NEXT MONTH

Announcement Regarding the Rules Which Must Be Observed That There Shall Be Qualification for Position

The examination for teachers will begin June 6 at the high school building.

The principal of these examinations is to give those who wish to become teachers in these schools an opportunity to get properly before the board and also to give the present teachers an opportunity to renew or to raise their grade of certificates.

The object of the examinations is to properly classify the teachers, since the salaries depend upon two essentials: first, the grade of certificates, and, second, the number of years connected with these schools. There are two distinct examinations, first as to qualifications in a literary point of view and second as to health. The latter examination need not be taken until the result of the first is determined. The subjects upon which the examinations are based are the same as the state with the addition of drawing, vocal music and calisthenics. These are insisted on, and must be taught to all pupils in the various grades.

While in the high school there are teachers of departments, these same teachers teach other branches as they may be best suited for. All our teachers are selected annually, but as far as practicable the civil service principle is carried out. There will be, however, some ten or fifteen new teachers needed.

The board of examiners will be composed of the superintendent and two others, holding "Permanent or city high school certificate appointed by the superintendent and approved by the committee on teachers and examination of teachers."

On application a manual of the Fort Worth public schools will be sent.

BLACK AND TAN IS NEGRO WANTED IN RULE FOR THIS JACKSBORO ON A WHITE WOMAN SERIOUS CHARGE

Miscegenation Is Shown in a Sheriff Cope Passes Through Family Which Remained in the Union Station During an Entire Night

With just as much affection for one as the other, with no apparent idea of the mongrel offspring which she has given to the world, and self satisfied in her poverty, a white woman last night showed maternal regard for a babe in black and one in white, and proudly announced that she has decided to continue the mixture of the races by being very recently married to a Mexican.

The woman came in on one of the trains and remained during the night in the waiting room of the station. She entered the depot bearing the white babe upon one arm and the black one upon the other. The negro child was the younger. A crowd was attracted by the curious sight, and the depot matron had difficulty in clearing a place for the woman to take a seat. She had no means and remained in the station during the entire night. She was questioned and admitted that which was a self-evident fact, that a negro was the father of one child and a white man of the other. Asked if she is married she stated that she has recently married a Mexican.

There was little sympathy for the woman in the crowded station, and men looked on in disgust.

Sheriff Cope Passes Through With Harve Lewis Who Is Charged With Criminal Assault on a Child

Harve Lewis, a negro who is wanted in Jack county on a charge of criminal assault, passed through the city this morning heavily manacled and guarded, in charge of Sheriff L. L. Cope of Jacksboro.

Lewis is charged with criminal assault on a white girl, aged 10 years, at Jacksboro May 15 last. He made his escape and was arrested at Weatherford where he was held for the Jack county officer, who is just now taking him to the county in which the offense was committed. Sheriff Cope is somewhat afraid that a lynching will be attempted when he arrives in Jacksboro with the negro, but he has taken every precaution to protect the prisoner that a fair trial may be had. The negro is about 23 years of age and coal black.

Sheriff Cope wasn't taking any chances with his prisoner while waiting to take a train out of Fort Worth this morning. He kept the prisoner chained to the bench during a two hours' stay here. Lewis was surrounded most of the time by negroes to whom he talked with a volubility that betokened an abandonment to any fate that might be awaiting him. He had about as mean a looking countenance as one could find.

TRAIL OF ELOPING PREACHER IS LOST

Traced to Trenton, N. J.—Is Thought to Have Gone With Missing Girl to Mexico

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., May 25.—The police clues of Rev. J. F. Cordova, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of South River, and Miss Julia Bowne, the twenty-year-old choir singer in his church, who eloped with him, led far as Trenton, but no further. It is suspected that the pair have gone to the City of Mexico, where the dominie formerly lived. What irritates the people of South River, particularly those who sat under Rev. Mr. Cordova's preaching, is that he appears to have taken most of the $4,500 which his wife entrusted to him. He left a small roll of money, however, in his desk.

FATHER READY FOR VENGEANCE
Mr. Bowne, the father of the missing girl, is the village blacksmith, with a prosperous business, and since his daughter left on Tuesday night he has locked his shop, and, dressed in his Sunday clothes of black, with a white bow necktie, sits in his home to be properly prepared should his daughter be found. He is a quiet man, but it is clear, should he have the opportunity, he will mete out punishment where it belongs. Mr. Farr, in addition to being Sunday school superintendent, is superintendent of the department of the handkerchief factory in which Julia worked. He is a little, nervous man, but very powerful at leading hymns in the Sunday school. He has watched over Julia for some time, he says. He has learned that when she left the factory Tuesday evening she told some of the girls that she didn't think she would be there the next day, and hoped that the weather would be fine.

MR. FARR PLAYS DETECTIVE
She was in prayer meeting that night, and so was the minister, a dark man, of Mexican extraction, who, although Trustee Bowne was leading, was on hand to say a few words to his flock. He chose as his subject the hymn, "Rock of Ages." Now the wheezy little organ began the last hymn, and Sunday School Superintendent Farr, who was out on the church porch, could hear the voices of the minister and Julia above the rest, then came a pushing back of chairs and benches, and Farr left the church porch and glided across the street to the shadow of a sycamore tree. For Farr, as he explained this morning, had heard some gossip and now he was going to look into it.

"I know," he said, "that the minister favored Julia, and I put all the talk down to jealousy on the part of those that the dominie didn't take such an interest in. But these stories kept growing, until in my capacity as an officer of the church I felt that they ought to be looked into, so I made up my mind to watch Mr. Cordova on Tuesday night and see what kind of goings on he was up to."

Pretty soon Rev. Mr. Cordova left the church and sauntered down Jackson street, which is a very lonely thoroughfare, leading toward the cemetery and passing a deserted brick yard on the way. Farr started after and picked up Bowne, who was also shadowing his shepherd. When they came up to the man ahead of them, Julia was with him.

MISS BOWNE SHOWS A TRICK
"These are pretty goings on," Farr says he exclaimed.
"And," he continues in telling the story, "I looked at the brother, unwilling to believe that things had come to this. Julia shrank back and all she would say was, 'I want to go home. I want to go home.'"
"Go home, then," said her father, and she started up the street in the direction of the blacksmith shop.
"I can explain all," the man said.
"Very well," I replied, "then I'll give you

SUICIDES ON THE GRAVE OF BROTHER

AUSTIN, Texas, May 25.—Seated upon the grave of his brother in the city cemetery here late yesterday evening, Robert Mueller sent a ball through his brain, expiring instantly. A scrap of paper was found beside him upon which was written, "Sickness—suicide."

FORT WORTH LOSES THE EPISCOPAL RESIDENCE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 25.—The general conference settled the matter of episcopal residences, and Fort Worth, on account of the election of one bishop being postponed, was left out. Everything looked favorable to Fort Worth until yesterday, when Dr. Day declined the office of bishop, to which he was elected, and Fort Worth then contended against great odds. Although the committee failed to report favorably, a strong fight was made in open conference, but Philadelphia was over Fort Worth. Messrs. Selie, Nies, Starnes and Mouson made a great fight, but a strong speech of Dr. Buckley of New York turned the tide in favor of the east. George E. Nies of Fort Worth is elected one of the assistant secretaries of the general conference.

POTATO SHIPPING SEASON IS OPENED

SHERMAN, Texas, May 25.—The potato shipping season may be said to have opened in Sherman today, several growers having begun digging, and R. H. Shivel, sales agent for the Grayson County Potato Growers' Association, began receiving telegraphic quotations from northern markets.

Indications are that the yield will not be as heavy as has been expected, but just what the shortage will be can hardly be estimated with any degree of accuracy. Quotations received so far indicate that the opening prices will hardly go above 70 cents a bushel, f. o. b. the cars in Sherman.

Wouldn't You Kick?

If the Dr. held up his finger at you at breakfast and said: "It's that COFFEE, you know, that causes your stubborn, sick spells and my medicines are useless, fighting against the daily poison to your nerves you take in coffee. You simply cannot get well until you quit coffee, so if you continue to use it we must all consider you like to be sick all day as an exchange for the pleasure of a cup of coffee in the morning."

How We Do Hate Facts

And keep on drinking coffee and enjoying the headaches, stomach and bowel troubles, nervous prostration and the whole train of disorders that follow, after we have used coffee long enough to build in the diseased cells, and when these cells exist we simply cannot be well. We must stop the daily poison of coffee and let good old Dame Nature make new and perfect cells for us.

A Pleasant Way Out

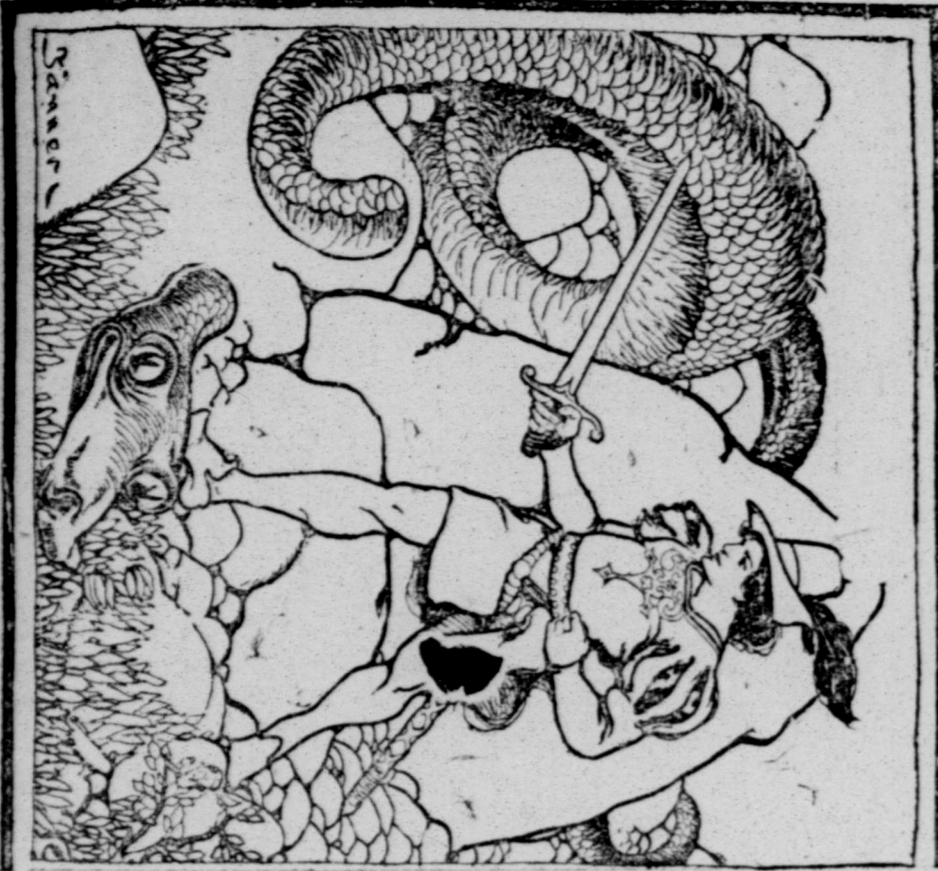

And an almost immediate comfort and relief is to quit coffee absolutely. Have as many or more cups of Postum Coffee, but be very sure to know—insist upon knowing that it has been boiled, actual boiling, not less than 15 minutes. Many cooks try to prepare Postum by 5 or 6 minutes boiling, but that will not do. Of course there's no harm in drinking a weak insipid cup of underboiled Postum, but where's the use, when it can be had rich, deep brown, with a decided crisp coffee snap, hot and delicious. Don't let them serve it to you half made. After a day or two you will find (probably to your surprise) that the old sick troubles are better.

That's Your Cue. Follow It.

Section 2. The owner of any automobile shall register the said vehicle with the city secretary and procure from the said city secretary a certificate thereof, which said certificate shall state that the owner, giving his name, has registered his said vehicle giving a general description thereof, and that a number has been given the same, which number shall be certified in the face of the certificate.

The city secretary shall keep a register in which he shall note the name of the owner of the vehicle registered, together with a general description of the vehicle registered, together with its number, and he shall in no event give the same number to any two of said vehicles, but they shall be numbered in the order of their registration.

The owner of any such vehicle shall, after registration as aforesaid, cause to be painted, placed or affixed on and to the back of the said vehicle in a conspicuous place its number as certified in the certificate of registration in figures not less than six inches in height and proportionately broad.

And it shall also be unlawful if the said vehicle or vehicles shall proceed at a rate of speed greater than ten miles an hour.

Section 4. It shall hereafter be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to drive, propel or to use or to cause to be driven, propelled or used in, upon, along or across any public square, street, alley or public place in the city of Fort Worth any vehicle or vehicles of the kind commonly known and styled as automobiles, unless such person, firm or corporation shall sound the gong or blow the horn heretofore provided for as each street crossing is approached and at a distance of one hundred feet therefrom and continue the said sounding of the gong or blowing of the horn until the said street crossing shall have been passed.

Section 4. ams of this city, accompanied by a large number of local Knights of Pythias, left this morning for Greenville to attend the sixth annual picnic and reunion of the Knights of Pythias of North Texas. An interesting program has been prepared for the day, and Mr. Adams will make the response to the address of welcome by J. P. Yates of Greenville.

For a long time the police department has been bothered by persons gathering at the rear of the city hall and communicating through the windows with the prisoners in the women's department. Frequent orders against the practice proved unavailing, and the matter was finally taken up in a resolute way yesterday by the arrest of three such offenders. Complaints were filed against them and their cases will be taken up in the corporation court.

WAR IN FAR EAST INTERFERES IN MAIL SERVICE

Postmaster General Has Been Forced to Make New Arrangement for the Transmission of Letters

The effect of the war in the east is interfering with the transmission of mail by the Pacific route to such an extent that orders have been issued by the postoffice department that hereafter all mail for points in Manchuria and Siberia must be forwarded to New York for transmission with the regular Russian mails across the Atlantic.

Chinese mail also is to be forwarded by the New York route in the future, the general orders of the department issued today announcing the completion of an arrangement with the customs and postal administration of China and that of British India by which the British India postal service serves as intermediary for the conveyance of ordinary and registered correspondence between countries in the Postal Union and a large number of places in China.

Accordingly mail for these points, which include practically all the Chinese empire, will hereafter be forwarded from New York by way of British India.

CAUSE FOR REMOVAL
Postmaster General Payne has issued an order stating that the use of unauthorized postmarking stamps and cancelling ink will be considered sufficient cause for removal. Postmasters are directed to forward to the first assistant postmaster general all circulars and communications received from them by firms advertising the sale of postmarking supplies.

NEW POSTOFFICES
New postoffices have been established in this state at the following places: Bush, Jones county; Panama, Reeves county; and Strip, Hale county.

The name of the postoffice at Clemma, Ellis county, has been changed to Trumbull and the name of the office at Kit, Dallas county, has been changed to Irving.

SPORTING NOTES

A PITCHER'S BATTLE
DALLAS, Texas, May 25.—A strictly pitcher's battle was fought here yesterday between the locals and the Fort Worth Panthers. During the whole game only five hits and two runs were gotten.

Both pitchers—Jarvis and Craig—pitched excellent games and both deserve credit. Errors and dumb playing on the part of the Fort Worth team are responsible for Dallas' two runs.

In the second Dallas got her first run. Boyd got a pass to first and stole second. Andrews hit a pop fly which Tullar muffed and Boyd went to third and then home, McMurray dropping Tullar's throw home. In the eighth Andrews crossed the plate for another run. Score:

Colonel and Mrs. R. M. Wynne expect to have Colonel William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska as their guest at breakfast tomorrow morning, and it is expected that some arrangement will be made for him to have a public reception, prior to his address at the city hall tomorrow evening. Colonel Bryan comes to lecture under the auspices of the department of philanthropy of the Department Club. The lecture will be at the city hall.

H. H. Roberson of Washington, D. C., is in the city on a business trip. He is prominent attorney of Washington, D. C., who visits this city occasionally as attorney for those who have claims against the government. He is an enthusiastic fisherman and says there is no doubt the New Yorker will be nominated and elected.

There will be a call meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, at the First Christian church. The meeting is to consider ways and means of securing the banking for W. C. T. U. state headquarters. Mrs. Stoddard will be present and every member who feels interested in this important work is urged to be present promptly at 4 o'clock.

A fishing party, composed of railway mail service men, will leave Fort Worth for Galveston Friday night. The party will remain until Tuesday, the 31st. Those who will go are as follows: I. L. Swadlow, chief clerk at Denison; W. S. Tipton, T. W. Ridgway, A. O. Graves and W. O. Davis. The fishermen are especially anxious to catch tarpon and sharks, and are fitting out their outfits accordingly.

Scrofula

It is commonly inherited. Few are entirely free from it. Pale, weak, puny children are afflicted with it in nine cases out of ten, and many adults suffer from it. Common indications are bunches in the neck, abscesses, untoward eruptions, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, rickets, catarrh, wasting, and general debility.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Eradicate it, positively and absolutely. This statement is based on the thousands of permanent cures these medicines have wrought.

"My daughter had scrofula, with eleven sores on her neck and about her ears. Hood's Sarsaparilla was highly recommended and she took it and was cured. She is now in good health." Mrs. J. H. JONES, Parker City, Ind.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keep the promise.

ELOCUTION AND ORATORY

Both the auditorium and gallery of the city hall were packed last night with the friends and patrons of the university, who attended the commencement exercises of the department of elocution and oratory.

The program was so arranged as to include a varied assortment of selections so different in character as to keep the large audience in close attention throughout the exercises. A number of musical selections were also interspersed among the declamations. A short address was also delivered by Dr. MacAdam, president of the university.

The first number upon the program, "Joe and Mek," by Miss Carrie Meader, was especially well received by the audience. The remainder of the program was as follows:

Monologue, "Never Trouble Trouble," Miss Lenora Becher; dialect dialogue, "The Senator Entangled," Miss Willie Conner; address, "The Advantages of Elocution," Miss Mattie Shaw; monologue, "The Silent System," Miss Edith Ellis; dramatic recitation, "The Soul of the Violin," (violin accompaniment by Professor Carl Bellini); Miss Sybil Harris; dramatic scene from Shakespeare's "Macbeth," Mrs. A. B. Moody, assisted by W. Heathcote, M. A.; dramatic monologue, "The Burgomaster," Wright Gaines; presentation of diplomas.

Musical program: Piano solo, Waltz No. 3, Miss Horn; quartet, "Remember Now Thy Creator," Messrs. Iorns, Landberg, Johnson and Pease; vocal solo, "Foredoom's Song from Carmen," R. M. Pease.

This morning the public examinations at the university were continued and this afternoon the graduating exercises of the academic department are in progress at the university chapel. The program being carried out is as follows: Music, "The Scarf Dance," Mr. Aleck Smith; essay, "America," by Miss Georgia Cox; music, "Sunbeams and Shadows," by Misses Hall and Warren; class history, by Miss Mabel Ogden.

The banquet of the alumni and of the Long Syde Club will be held tonight at the Worth Hotel.

ANOTHER UNION OF PRESBYTERIANS

GREENVILLE, Pa., May 25.—The forty-sixth general assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America convened here today and was called to order by Rev. Dr. J. P. Cowan, the retiring moderator. The delegates numbered several hundred and represented the presbyteries of the denomination throughout the country.

A number of issues will provoke lively discussion during the week or ten days the general assembly will remain in session. Foremost among the matters to be considered is the proposed union with the Associate Reformed synod of the south. The two churches hold to the same doctrine and policy and are practically branches of the same family. The slave question brought about a breach half a century ago. The Associate church and the Associate Reformed church in the United States amalgamated in forming the United Presbyterian church in 1858. The project of reuniting the branches of the north and south originated almost spontaneously in both churches about two years ago and bases of union have been proffered by each one to the other. In the movement for union the youth people have been in advance of the older folk. They have become organized in one body, known as the convention of the Young People's Christian Union. The reunited denomination will have a membership of about 150,000.

A MICHAEL ANGELO PICTURE DISCOVERED

BERLIN, May 25.—Professor Thode of the University of Heidelberg announces that he has discovered, in the church of San Spirito, at Florence, one of the earliest examples of Michael Angelo's handiwork, in the shape of a wooden crucifix, which was made for Piero di Medici between the years 1492 and 1494. The crucifix stands on the high altar between two figures of the Virgin Mary and of St. John. The church of San Spirito was renovated between the years 1600 and 1607 and the crucifix was then placed in the vestry.

CONGRATULATIONS FOR BISHOP POTTER

NEW YORK, May 25.—A flood of congratulatory messages received by Bishop Henry C. Potter today reminded that eminent prelate that he had reached another milestone on life's journey. The bishop is now entering upon his 70th year, but is as vigorous physically and mentally as most men twenty years his junior. He continues to take as active an interest as ever in all public affairs, as well as in his educational and church work.
