JEWELS STATUE

Ceremonies Accepting the Gift From German Emperor Are Marked With Great Military Display

BARONESS OFFICIATES

Prominent Military Men and Diplomats Are Present— Baron Speck von Sternberg Makes the Presentation and President Makes an Address

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Hailed by the military and a blare of twenty trumpets, the bronze statue of Frederick the Great, presented to the American people by Emperor William, was unveiled this afternoon by Baroness Speck von Sternberg, wife of the German ambassador. The ceremony was marked by great military and official display. The statue was presented on behalf of the emperor by his personal envoy, the German ambassador, who made a brief address. The president made the chief address of the day and accepted the gift on behalf of the American people. Remarks were made by Lieutenant General Chaffee, chief of staff; Major General Gillespie of the general staff; Master of Ceremonies, Lieutenant General Von Loewenfeld, one of the special commissioners sent to the unveiling by the emperor, and Charlemagne Tower, American ambassador to Germany.

Seldom has the national capitol witnessed a more brilliant and distinguished assemblage than gathered on the grand esplanade of the War College around the pedestal of the statue. Immediately back of the statue on the president's stand, which was completely covered in red, white and blue bunting, and decorated with American flags, sat the president and cabinet, the German ambassador and Baroness Speck von Sternberg, Lieutenant General Von Loewenfeld and Major Count Von Schmettow, the emperor's special commissioners to the unveiling, and the entire diplomatic corps, all in uniform. On the stands and to the right and left of the statue were officers of the army and navy in full dress uniforms, members of the supreme court, members of congress and other invited guests.

Directly in front of the pedestal of the statue were grouped members of the German societies from various parts of the country.

Early in the day Washington was alive with marching troops, and by 1 o'clock Pennsylvania avenue contained a steady stream of carriages with diplomats and army and navy officers, all moving in the direction of the war college. The diplomats, with the exception of the German ambassador and staff, drove informally to the esplanade to await the arrival of the official party, which came in three groups. They arrived in inverse order of rank, the military group first, then the diplomatic group and lastly the presidential group, each under escort of troops of cavalry.

BATTLE'S IN FULL SWING

MUKDEN, Friday, Nov. 18, via Pekin, Nov. 19.—A severe artillery fire opened on the Russian right commencing at daylight today and lasting for several hours. There was also intermittent firing during the day. The Russians are expecting a general attack on the part of the Japanese.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 19.—It is reported that a battle between the two armies before Mukden is in full swing. The war office does not confirm the rumor, though it is admitted that there is activity all along the line, which indicates that both armies are ready.

The Russians, according to General Kurapatkin's report, are pressing the Japanese's left, while a very significant movement of the Japanese is reported at Simonsin, forty-five miles east of Mukden.

SECOND DIVISION SAILS

FAKKEBERG, Denmark, Nov. 19.—After coaling the second division of the Baltic squadron sailed northward this morning. A Danish gunboat and a torpedo boat accompany the fleet in Danish waters.

BRITISH CRUISER SAILS

SIMONSTOWN, Cape Colony, Nov. 19.—The British cruiser Baro sailed from here today. It is believed her destination is Walvis Bay, on the coast of German Southwest Africa, and that her object is to watch the approaching division of the Russian second Pacific squadron.

CONVENTION AGREED TO

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 19.—Negotiations on the subject of the Anglo-Russian convention are practically concluded. Only one small minor point remains to be settled and that is of such slight importance that Foreign Minister Lansdorff and Ambassador Harding will this afternoon discuss the question as to how and where the signatures are to be exchanged. In substance the determination of responsibility by the international commission provides for the location of any blame which is found to exist upon any persons of Russia, British or foreign nationality.

A CRUSADE AGAINST ADULTERATED FOOD

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Continuing his crusade against adulterated articles of food, Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture, has addressed the students at the College of the City of New York. He declared that the adulteration of food and drugs had done more toward lowering the moral life of this country than had the excessive use of liquor.

Among other examples of adulteration he stated that the product of a widely advertised Vermont sugar bush was made in Chicago and that this Chicago plant turned out more so-called maple sugar in one month than Vermont could produce in a year. The bright green color of imported peas, he said, was obtained by the use of sulphate of copper, which is very injurious to health. Dr. Wiley cited many similar cases and appealed to the students to use all their power with the object of wiping out the practice of adulteration.

GREAT RECEPTION TO O'DONOVAN ROSSA

QUEENSTOWN, Nov. 19.—Numerous deputations accompanied by a band went out on a tender to meet O'Donovan Rossa, who arrived here today on the Cunard line steamer Etruria from New York November 12. The deputations escorted Mr. Rossa ashore. His entry into Cork Sunday will be the occasion of a great demonstration.

WANTS ALL THE RIVER FRONT

BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 19.—It became known here today that W. P. H. McFadden, a wealthy and prominent citizen, has made an effort to get almost the entire river front of the city via the land office at Austin.

The information is received that he had filed application for a patent for a strip of land one hundred and fifty feet wide, along the meanderings of the river and bayou, the most of the New Tevis league. Original field notes of the league call for the meanderings of the streams, but there are some defects in the measurements. The land sought is worth at least a million dollars, and has been owned for more than half a century without question of title.

Property owners have learned of the scheme and have filed vigorous protest against issuance of the patent.

A FIGHT FOR AN EARLDOM IS GROWING

A Kansas City Man Will Be There to Oppose the Claims of the Present Contestants for Possession

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Robert Barclay Allardice, whose claim to the dormant earldoms of Strathern, Monteith and Airth in the peerage of Scotland will be heard in the next session of the house of lords, will be opposed, according to the Herald's London correspondent, by George Marshall Graham of Kansas City, whose interests in England are represented by his cousin, W. M. Graham Easton.

Mr. Graham, who was born in Edinburgh on November 18, 1852, is the eldest surviving son of the late James Graham of Leitchtown, Monteith, Perthshire. The earldom of Strathern dates from 1371 and the earldoms of Airth and Monteith from 1633 and 1427 respectively.

Barclay Allardice is an alderman of Lochinilth, Cornwall, and eldest son of the late Samuel Ritchie by his marriage with Margaret Barclay Allardice, whose name the claimant assumed by royal license in 1888. The titles have passed through many vicissitudes, causing the present tangle. James I. of Scotland started the trouble in 1427 by depriving the then Earl of Strathern of his earldom because of the latter's claim to royal descent.

In 1423 the seventh holder claimed his title and asserted that he was of purer descent than Charles I. who then occupied the throne. His action nearly ended fatally, but King Charles settled the matter temporarily with a new title—Earl of Airth. It is claimed by Barclay Allardice that the Grahams of Gartmore are now extinct, and that the way is thus left clear for himself.

CONSUL GENERAL ILL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Carl Buentz, the German consul general at this port, is dangerously ill. Five weeks ago he was operated on for appendicitis. Following this came an attack of pneumonia. He rallied, but another relapse now reported and the consul general is reported to be in a serious condition.

COCKRELL MAY GET PLACE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—While no announcement yet has been made regarding the president's action in the selection of the man to succeed Colonel Frank J. Hecker, on the isthmian canal commission, it is known he is considering seriously the appointment of Senator Cockrell of Missouri to fill the vacancy. If the senator should conclude he does not care to undertake the work of the canal commission, it is certain the president will give him some congenial position befitting his character and services.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 19.—In talking with the Associated Press over the long distance telephone from his home at Warrensburg, Senator Cockrell said in regard to the Washington item in connecting his name with a probable appointment by President Roosevelt: "If tendered any position by the president I should treat it with great consideration and do whatever might be best in the premises. I have great regard for President Roosevelt and should be glad to undertake any position I would appreciate fully the motive prompting it and of course will give full consideration. However, it is manifestly improper at this time to state my probable action in such an event."

JEFF D. McLEAN

New County Attorney Swears That He Will Enforce Every Law—Specifies Gambling and Sunday Selling

GAMES HAVE CLOSED

At Midnight All the Gambling Houses in the City Shut Up —Some Say They Will Open Again, While Others Believe It Is Tight Forever

"A man who will take the oath of office which I took this morning cannot allow laws to be violated, it matters not what that law is, and I propose to enforce every law as I find it written. I am doing this from a sense of duty under my oath, and not just because I promised when the campaign was on that I would do so. It is true I made the promise, and I will stick to it, but my knowledge of the oath of office I would have to take is the cause of the promise."

So said county attorney Jeff D. McLean this morning to The Telegram. For several days The Telegram has told what it was understood would be Mr. McLean's policy, but nothing could be obtained from him in person until he had taken the oath of office. Now as county attorney he has spoken plainly on the subject.

GAMBLING HOUSES CLOSED

It is understood that at midnight last night the gambling houses, of which there are about eighteen in the city, closed their doors, pulled the covers over the furniture and are out of business. Some say it is just for a time and that the moral wave will lose its force in a short time and they will be open again. Others do not take such an optimistic view of the matter, and are inclined to believe the county attorney means business.

One gambler stated to The Telegram today: "I quit at midnight, and am looking for a job at something else. I am not prone to take any chances with Mr. McLean. It appears to be the general impression that he will prosecute and I don't care to be the one on whom he experiments with a jail sentence and I am willing for some other fellow to serve it. I won't."

Asked if Mr. McLean has sent notice to the gamblers to close he said he did not know.

MR. McLEAN'S STATEMENT

Prosecuting Attorney Jeff D. McLean this morning took the oath of office, as did also all his deputies, and at once assumed the duties of the office, relieving Mr. Lattimore and his assistants. It was a busy scene soon after the change. Many friends of the new administration called to extend congratulations.

Mr. McLean was seen by The Telegram and asked concerning the reports regarding his future action in enforcing the Sunday selling and opening law. "I said that all those who do not believe that he will do just what he has said he will do, have only to wait thirty days and see. He said he thought that his administration during that time would be a fair sample of what he will do thereafter."

"My administration will be just the same as it would have been had I been elected two years ago," said Mr. McLean. "At that time I promised the people of this county that I would see that the gambling and Sunday opening would be prosecuted to the fullest extent and that there would be no favorites in the eyes of the laws of the state. I made the same promises at this time, and that I will live up to them, and see that the laws are strictly obeyed. I am just as positive. I would dislike very much to prosecute any of my friends who are engaged in the saloon business, but if they violate the laws, I will do so in every instance, it makes no matter who the parties may be."

"I have no desire to break into the newspapers as to what will be the policy of the county attorney's office, but I have no hesitancy in publicly announcing that I propose to do all within my power to stop both gambling and the selling of liquor on Sunday. I made the campaign on this platform. I promised that if I were elected I would enforce these laws, and I shall keep my faith with the good, law-abiding people who elected me to fill the position. There is no reason why the law against gambling and the selling of intoxicating drinks on Sunday should not be as rigidly enforced as that of murder and other crimes. It can be and will be."

"The overwhelming sentiment among the citizens of Fort Worth and Tarrant county is in favor of it. The gambling and Sunday law violating element is very small; it amounts to nothing, and should not feel that I am discharging the duties of the office by permissively compromising in payment of fines, though it would result in great pecuniary profit to my administration. I have no compromise to make with those who thus violate the law, and if they expect to stay in Fort Worth or Tarrant county and think they can carry on their business I notify them here and now that they will be sadly disappointed, for under no circumstances will I accept pleas of guilty in a few cases and dismiss the others."

"It is foolish to say that this law can not be enforced, and none knows better that it can than the gamblers and those saloon men who have no respect for the law and who keep their places open on Sundays, regardless of the law. I know that there are saloon men in Fort Worth who have the regard and esteem of good citizens, but they do not belong to the class that feels that a few dollars will sell with those who are charged with the administration of the law. I announced on the stump that these laws must be respected if I were elected county attorney, and the overwhelming support I received showed that these laws are believed what I said and promised."

"My pledge is out to enforce the law in this respect. There are men engaged in the violation of these acts and they had better make up their minds now to quit business else they will place in jeopardy the very best it can land them in the county jail, a place which we all know is not at all congenial to their class and kind. I have said more than I intended, but you have asked me for an expression, and as already stated, I have no hesitancy in giving it."

"You can also say that I am going to give notice to the owners of all houses that have been leased and used for the purpose of gambling that they must obey the law which makes it an offense to so lease a house. It will also be my effort, in addition to enforcing the gaming and Sunday selling laws, with the aid of my corps of assistants, to enforce all 'fractious of the criminal law of the state.'"

R. E. L. Roy will be Mr. McLean's first assistant, with work in the district courts, W. H. Slay and Hugh Barndon, second and third assistants, and E. Bratton assistant in the justice courts. Max K. Meyer will have charge of tax matters.

While the reporter was talking with Mr. McLean a couple of saloon men called to ask his purpose regarding the Sunday law. He told them plainly and they agreed with him that it should be enforced. They stated they preferred to close Sunday, but could not do so unless all of them did.

FRENCH BOOKS REJECT EYE OF AMERICA

Custom House Official Now Proposes to Guard Morals of the People by Censoring Reading

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—No more high spiced French novels will get into this country if the second clerk in the liquidation department of the custom house can prevent it. The official named is busily engaged in going over all sorts of contributions from French writers and his office is rapidly taking on the appearance of a bookstore. Hundreds of volumes will soon go up in smoke and fire.

There is only one way in which a work which falls below the ethical standard of the liquidation department can escape oblivion, and that is by being as old as it is bad. Works known as ancient and modern classics which do not meet the approval of the censors, is discovered in a package, all the others, no matter what their antecedents, will be destroyed.

It has been found that the number of French books coming under the disapproval of the treasury department has greatly increased since last May. Most of this class of literature was consigned to small dealers in the French quarter.

A WOMAN BURNS TO DEATH

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 19.—The ten thousand dollar residence of R. H. Wood at Rockport, Texas, a most popular summer resort, was burned early today. Mrs. Howard, Mr. Wood's mother-in-law, burned to death and other members of the family narrowly escaped. The origin of the fire is unknown.

DOCTORS MUST BE EXAMINED IN NEW YORK

They Can Act as Assistants in the Pneumonia Examination Unless They Are Passed Upon

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The civil service commission of Greater New York has ruled that the commission of medical experts appointed last year by the city authorities to investigate pneumonia and its causes can not employ assistants in their cities unless the physicians so employed first come to New York and undergo a municipal civil service examination.

The ruling has surprised the expert commission, which comprises some of the most distinguished medical men in the country. It is made up of Professors William Osler and William H. Welch of Johns Hopkins University, Edward G. Janeway of New York University, T. Mitchell Pruden and L. Emmet Holt of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Chicago; John M. Musser of the University of Pennsylvania and Theobald Smith of Harvard.

To pay the expense of the commission's work the board of estimate made an appropriation of $10,000 to assist them in their researches. The members of the commission asked the city to appoint without competitive examinations physicians of Baltimore, Philadelphia and Boston to collect data, statistics and other material of value to them from those centers of population. It was proposed to pay these physicians $100 a month. The civil service commission has now refused the request, though the services of physicians will be of an occasional and expert character.

GRAVE IS MADE IN YARD OF A CITIZEN

Unknown Men Work at Night by the Light of a Lantern and Lay Away the Body of an Infant

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Nov. 19.—Wednesday night the body of a male child, 2 months old, was buried in the front yard of Quint Whitmore, on Mag-nolia street. Not one member of his family saw the transaction. Living diagonally across from Whitmore's on Lake street is Mrs. Frank Reynolds, who, in company with a boarder, Joseph Woodrow, saw the three men at work, one holding a red lantern. Supposing that it was Whitmore who was at work, Mrs. Reynolds asked the family about it next day. They were greatly surprised and upon investigation saw where the ground had been disturbed. Whitmore telephoned the police department and he was requested to dig in the ground. He put it off until yesterday, when he made the excavation and at the depth of six feet found the infant in a wooden box, which had been lined with faded wall paper and packed with cotton. The baby was well dressed and was surrounded with flowers. Coroner Merritt summoned a jury to act upon the case.

BANQUET TENDERED TO HUGH TAYLOR

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 19.—Upon the eve of his departure from Dallas, where he has been a newspaper man for several years, and the assuming of higher and broader duties in magazine work in St. Louis, friends of Hugh Taylor, managing editor of the Times-Herald, tendered him a banquet last night at the Oriental, and spoke their best wishes for him in his new field and his greater work.

It was declared time and again that it is in this city that he has worked his way by earnest effort to position of trust and responsibility in his chosen line, and it is here that he has friends that are held by ties that time and distance can not weaken.

No matter what the topic of the toasts assigned by Will Kiest, the master of the board, each of the responses dealt rather with the kindly feelings that all had for this friend.

The editorial workers of the Times-Herald presented Mr. Taylor with a handsome gold-headed silk umbrella, made on special order and heavily embossed in handle, at a cost of more than $25.

In behalf of Colonel Frank P. Holland, a diamond-studded Elk's watch charm was presented by Frank L. Irvine.

Mr. Taylor will leave the city today to assume his duties in the editorial rooms of a Missouri magazine.

Shortly after the arrival of the secretary at the hotel Governor Blanchard and members of his staff in uniform made a formal call upon the distinguished visitors. Subsequently there was a public reception, at which many representative business men met the secretary. Still later the visitors boarded the United States steamer General Newton, accompanied by local committees, and made an inspection of the harbor.

Secretary Taft will speak on the president and army at a brilliant banquet arranged in his honor tonight. Governor Blanchard will also be among the speakers. CHICAGOANS DE YALE-HARVARD IN NEW YORK SAVE HOTEL FOOTBALL

Life-long Friends of the West Expire Within a Few Hours of Each Other While Visiting in the East

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The body of former Judge Moran, a well known corporation lawyer of Chicago, who died suddenly yesterday in this city, will be taken home this afternoon on a train leaving at 2:45 o'clock.

Shortly after Mr. Moran's death Coroner's Physician Weston was summoned to the hotel and determined the cause of death to be valvular disease of the heart and granted a permit for the removal of the body. When he sent his report to the coroner's office he omitted to specify the cause of death. A rumor started that death was due to suicide, and Coroner Scheeler telephoned to the police to stop the removal of the body. Then the coroner hastened to the Waldorf-Astoria. His investigation showed there was no ground for the rumor.

By strange coincidence Arthur J. Caton of Chicago, the widely known attorney, social leader and horseman, died only a few hours later at the same hotel. Several dinner parties were given at the hotel by Chicagoans who were visiting the horse show were abandoned when the news spread through the corridors. With Mr. Caton at the time of his death was his wife, who had returned only the day before from Europe. Her husband had been ill all the summer, but it was only recently that his condition became serious and Mrs. Caton was recalled to this country by cable.

When she departed on Thursday Mr. Caton was apparently much better and had even suggested attending the horse show, to which he had looked forward for a month. Within a few hours after the return of his wife he suffered a relapse and although several leading physicians were called it was impossible to prevent the rapid sinking of the patient.

Judge Moran and Mr. Caton were intimate personal friends and the bond which lasted through life will be continued when their bodies are taken to Chicago today on the same train.

SWISS BALLOONIST CROSSES THE ALPS

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—A well known balloonist, Spelterini, accompanied by two members of the German Aerostatic Club of Berlin, has made an ascent from Zurich, says a Herald dispatch from Geneva, Switzerland.

The balloon took a westerly course over the Bernese Alps, making a safe landing in the village of Corbattiere, in the canton of Neuchatel. It attained an elevation of two miles. Brilliant sunshine was experienced, but the cold was intense.

Several successful photographs were taken.

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 19.—The official canvass of votes in Silver Bow county apparently show the election of Miles Romney, democrat, to the office of secretary of state by a plurality of sixteen. On unofficial figures the republicans have claimed all state offices but those of governor and lieutenant governor.

RAILROAD NEWS

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 19.—The action of the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf Railway in fixing a rate of 15 cents on grain from the Indian and Oklahoma territories to Amarillo came up for consideration by the railroad commission again yesterday.

Mr. Mayfield called up his motion to instruct the attorney general to file suit against the road to forfeit its charter, when Commissioner Colquitt offered the following substitute:

"Whereas, The railroad commission act confers upon the railroad commission of Texas power and authority to make regulations to govern and regulate railroads, and to correct abuses and unjust discrimination and extortion in the rates of freight; and

"Whereas, It has been known to the railroad commission, through its western committees tariff No. 32B, supplied by page 28, that the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf Railway Company is participating in divisions on a mileage basis on wheat, corn, hay and straw, and articles taking four rates, much lower upon a mileage basis than those established by the commission, said rates in the opinion of the commission being a discrimination against the producers, manufacturers and consumers of said articles in Texas, and it being the desire and policy of the law of the railroad commission to afford producers and consumers and carriers equal protection in fair and just rates; and

"Whereas, The reduced mileage rates participated in by the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf Railway Company is an indication to this commission that the local rates applying between points in Texas on the lines of the said railway are too high upon the products named;

"Therefore I move that this commission make the following emergency rates to apply on the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf Railway, amounting to a reduction of 20 per cent of those at present applying on mileage basis on flour and articles taking four rates, much lower upon a mileage basis than those established by the commission, and on hay and corn and oats in car load lots.

Following the resolution a scale of rates on both single and joint lines is given.

Resolution, or rather the substitute for the Mayfield resolution, was adopted, so far as the emergency rate feature of it is concerned, and the relief asked for by the people of the grain producing section of the state granted.

FREIGHT WRECK ON TIN CAN

WACO, Texas, Nov. 19.—A freight wreck on the Texas Central railway between Fowler and Whitney, Thursday afternoon, delayed passenger traffic on that line, which has just straightened matters out again. Four cars loaded with cotton seed and cotton were dinged, the track torn up and a man who had a shipment of horses from Stamford to Kosse, but whose name was not learned, was hurt. He was not seriously injured, however.

CONSTABLE SEIZES A TRAIN

ARDMORE, I. T., Nov. 19.—Colonel H. B. Lockett of Comanche recently brought suit in Oklahoma against the Rock Island railway company in six cases for the killing of cattle belonging to Lockett upon the tracks of said railway company by their trains in Indian Territory. The case was tried in Oklahoma and although hotly contested by the attorneys of the railway, the court ruled in favor of Colonel Lockett. A constable was sent to Waurika and levied upon a Rock Island engine, which is used to pull the local freight train. The officer held the engine for two days, until the officials of the company could make settlement for the judgment of the court. This is the first case known here, where an offense was committed in one territory and tried in another.

STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Traces of irregularity seen in this week's stock market were ascribed to the interruption of service by the storm and the consequent cutting off of important buying demand and to the London depression on account of revived fears of a break between Great Britain and Russia. But between Great Britain and Russia, but materially impaired and the upward movement of prices continued at different points. The fears of stiffer money rates, owing to the large gold outgo, were largely alleviated by the later decline in call steel prices. The advances in prices of loan products, the excited copper market and reports from the industrial and commercial world at large were accepted as proof of the expansion of progress.

AT LAST MOMENT CZAR REFUSES CONSENT

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 19.—Today may mark a red letter day in the Russian calendar. About a hundred representatives of the provincial Zemstvos assembled privately at 2 o'clock this afternoon with the avowed purpose of presenting to Emperor Nicholas, through Interior Minister Sviaropolsky, a truthful picture of internal conditions of Russia, coupled with recommendations pointing in plain terms to the necessity for calling a legally empowered constituent assembly to have a direct voice in the government. The word "constitution," however, will be carefully avoided.

The meeting was to be held at Duma or the city hall, but at the last moment the official auspices were refused the emperor withdrawing consent. Many Zemstvo representatives attribute the emperor's attitude primarily to the influence of Grand Duke Sergius, M. Pobedonostzev, procurator general of the holy synod, and M. Sazonoff, member of the council of the empire, and indirectly to such reactionaries as M. Merchersky, Strumer and Suchinsky. The two latter formerly were the late Interior Minister M. Von Plehve's assistants, who were promoted to the council of the empire.

SAN ANGELO COUNTRY SALES
SAN ANGELO, Texas, Nov. 18.—C. W. Schrimp of San Angelo who was here this week and bought one car of muttons which he shipped to New Orleans, is a mutton buyer who does not believe in patronizing the big markets or "trust centers" as he calls them, and says he can get better prices at the eastern markets for his fat muttons. This whole country is teeming with fat muttons, there are scads of them. McKenize & Ferguson, J. R. Hamilton & Son and several other firms have from 15,000 to 20,000 each, and there are hundreds of smaller firms who have small flocks. If good winter rains come along the mutton shipments to market from this section next spring will be something immense.

THE TEXAS OF TODAY

Texas is industrially wild. The rich soil and the inexhaustible resources of the big state, which have lain dormant for ages, are being rapidly developed. This development is so waking up the commercial and producing energy of the people and the interests down there that the Texans themselves are amazed at the herculean character of the process. Land, farming and producing life generally lead, and to such an extent that everybody in Texas is a farmer or the son of a farmer, or claims to have farm interests, if one may judge by the public utterances of people down there at meetings.

It does not matter what the occasion is, or where the speakers talk stock, crops or boll weevil, bankers and merchants, even lawyers, doctors and preachers, are no exception. They all have the Texas development fever. Hog and hominy was the first economic cry of the greatest board and joined in. Then she became pregnant with prosperity and has given birth to more enterprises than even the most optimistic citizen of the Lone Star state had hoped for in his wildest dreams.

Texas has 10,000,000 cattle and millions of hogs, sheep and horses for food measure. Her live stock alone is worth nearly $700,000,000. Texas has a normal cotton crop of 3,000,000 bales. At last year's prices these were worth over $150,000,000 for the lint alone. From this lint dropped 1,500,000 tons of seed, worth $10 per ton at the gin, or $15,000,000 for the lot. This made the cotton crop worth $165,000,000. Texas has over $200,000,000 worth of railroads of all kinds, besides trolley lines and equipment for the same. Texas has over 300 cotton seed oil mills and nearly $100,000,000 invested in factories of other kinds. Texas is one of the greatest producers of coal, lumber, grain and mining states in the nation. Texas is, possibly, the greatest natural petroleum field in this age in any country.

A hundred other things of a comparative nature might be said about industrial Texas. Twenty-five years ago Texas was a comparative wilderness. Today the state has multiplied her strength fourfold and no man can now even estimate what the possibilities of the great state will be a decade hence. Energy is alive everywhere. The rich, natural wealth of the commonwealth is being brought to life, and everything feels it as by a magic touch. Texans are talking and doing. It is a great state, and is at a ready packing-house center of the first importance.—National Provisioner.

Texas is today the greatest state in the American union, and possesses more opportunities for the homeseeker and investor than any other state. The fact of the business is, Texas herself is just beginning to awaken to some kind of an appreciation of what she really is, and the home folks are getting on their fighting clothes and preparing to make a new showing for the future. For many years the great industrial problems were allowed to go unsolved, and leading industries were not properly developed. Men took life easy in Texas, for the simple reason that it was easy to get along and life presented few serious problems. But all over Texas there has been a wonderful awakening. The state is fast filling up with the liveliest and most progressive citizens of the slder states, and when these good people come among us they are amazed at our lack of appreciation of the golden opportunities that exist all about us. They are not only quick to see and appreciate, but they have set us an example in development that has proven very contagious. The result of this is seen on every side. There are evidences of a stirring activity all over Texas.

New railroads are being planned and constructed. New factories are going up all over the state. New business enterprises are being ushered into existence. New towns are being built, and there is activity in brick and mortar everywhere. New homes are being built all over the state, new land is being broken to the plough, and the hum of industry and business activity is heard throughout the length and breadth of the state. And with all this, Texas is but in the infancy of her promised development. It requires no stretch of the imagination to see this great commonwealth at the very head of the procession during the next few years. It is as certain to come as anything human can be, and when it does materialize, all the world will stand aghast with pride to the development of Texas.

The Texas of today is very different from the Texas of yesterday. The day has gone by when the state was the dumping ground for the least desirable of the citizenship of other states. There was a time when men came to Texas from necessity, but in this day and time they come from choice. The fellows who would come from necessity give the state a wide berth, for they have found from experience that the law is just as rampant and ready for business here as in any other state. Just keep your eye on Texas if you want to keep up with the liveliest member of the American sisterhood of states.

If you appreciate anything a friend or employe is doing for you, tell him so. Don't wait until he is dead to place a wreath of flowers on his tomb. They can bring no joy to the cold clay that sleeps beneath, when a word of appreciation will often not only win you an answering smile, but spur the recipient on to renewed effort.

Count Cassin, the Russian ambassador to this country, says that the war in the Far East will never end until the Russians have conquered. If that is the case it will be prolonged indefinitely, for the Russians have as yet given no evidence of ability to conquer anything but British fishing craft.

Reports come from Chicago that the republicans in the next congress will make a determined effort to cut down congressional representation from the south to offset the disfranchisement of negroes. Perhaps they believe if the negroes were allowed to vote they would be able to make the next election unanimous.

It is said that Bob Taylor's varied matrimonial experience is playing havoc with some of his lecture engagements. The public is willing to concede that Governor Taylor is a very eloquent and entertaining gentleman, but there is a feeling here that he is too much married.

The total available military strength of Russia is 21,250,000 men, and this is just about three times in excess of that of Japan. But as it takes about six Russians equal one Japanese in point of fighting ability, the real strength of the two nations is very nearly the same.

General Sherman Bell of Colorado announces that in consequence of the defeat of Governor Peabody, he will leave the state and settle in Mexico. This announcement will occasion no regret in Colorado, where General Bell is hated just about as cordially as it is possible for a man to be.

It is now predicted that the president will call an extra session of congress for the express purpose of revising the tariff. If this is done it will be a clear case of tariff revision by the friends of a protective tariff, and this will no doubt prevent any very radical changes.

General Kuroki may really be dead, but information to that effect would be regarded as more authentic had it emanated from other than Russian sources. It is strange Japan has given out no information of the sad event if her great fighter has really passed to his reward.

It is now announced that Governor Lanham's corrected campaign expenses amounted to $20, and even at those figures there is no reason why the man of high aspirations and limited means should feel discouraged.

The management of the St. Louis World's Fair has repaid the last of the Federal government loan, so that Uncle Sam is now safe on the amount he put up to help the big enterprise get on its feet.

The Russians have decided to double track the Siberian line, and it is thought such action will give General Kuratkin two lines of track upon which to operate when he again starts in the direction of home.

President Roosevelt has been invited to attend a boll weevil convention at Shreveport, notwithstanding the general impression that he no longer eats 'em alive.

Pension Commissioner Ware has successfully refuted the charge that few republican office holders can be induced to either die or resign. He has proved that occasionally one of them can be persuaded to resign.

Tom Watson says the universal hate for Grover Cleveland was vented on Judge Parker, and this statement will cause the public to stop and ponder on the question as to whose hate it was that was visited upon Tom Watson.

It must be very startling to General Nelson Miles to realize that all that political effort of his out on the firing line was for nothing. His dream of being secretary of war passed up in thin vapor.

An Illinois woman recently walked a distance of 100 miles for the purpose of getting married. She must have been afraid that opportunity would never again knock at her door.

Train robbers held up and robbed the miniature train operated at the St. Louis World's Fair grounds a few days ago and escaped with booty aggregating about $100. It seems that nothing is safe in St. Louis.

Lord Selborne fears Russian aggression in India, and wants England to look to her front door defenses. It is a timely suggestion, for the paw of the Bear will sooner or later be laid on that portion of British territory.

The election of Shoemaker Douglas to the exalted position of governor of Massachusetts is a striking exemplification of the truth of the old saying that the last shall be first.

Judge Alton B. Parker has moved to New York and opened an office for the practice of law. His friends wish for him in his professional career that measure of success he failed to attain in politics.

And now the republicans are insinuating that they must have carried Arkansas. This is adding insult to injury.

All those new babies that were named Alton B. during the campaign will wonder in after years why it was done.

The people all say that The Telegram's suggestion as to Fort Worth's duty to the fat stock show is the proper thing under the circumstances.

Mr. Roosevelt is expected to break with his party advisors, but Mr. Roosevelt has a way of disappointing people that is almost cruel in its effects.

Another big fight is expected to occur around Mukden soon. More heavy firing has been heard in that vicinity.

And there stands Missouri like a mud fence.

THE GRAFTERS BY FRANCES LINDE COPYRIGHT, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FOUR, BY THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

Elinor and Ormsby, made sure that she saw no special reason to be ungracious to David Kent. For the others, Ormsby was good-naturedly suave; Elinor was by turns unwontedly kind and curiously silent; and Penelope—but, as we say, it was to Penelope that Kent owed most. So it came about that the outcome of the cataclysm was a thing which happens often enough in a conventionalized world. David Kent, with his tragically fresh upon him, dropped informally into place as one of the party of five; and of all the others, Penelope alone suspected how hard he was hit. And when all was said; when the new modus vivendi had been fairly established and the hour grew late, Kent went voluntarily with Ormsby to the smoking-compartment, "to play the string out decently," as he afterward confessed to Loring. "I see you know how to get the most comfort out of your tobacco," said the club-man, when they were companionably settled in the men's room and Kent produced his pipe and tobacco pouch. "I prefer the pipe myself, for a steady thing; but at this time of night a light Castilla fits me pretty well. Try one?" tendering his cigar-case. Fighting shrewdly against a natural prompting to regard Ormsby as an hereditary enemy, Kent forced himself to be neighborly. "I don't mind," he said, returning the pipe to its case. And when the Havanas were well alight, and the talk had circled down upon the political situation in the state, he was able to bear his part with a fair exterior, giving Ormsby an impressionistic outline of the late campaign and the conditions that had made the sweeping triumph of the People's Party possible. "We have been coming to it steadily through the last administration, and a part of the preceding one," he explained. "Last year the drought cut the cereals in half, and the country was too new to stand it without borrowing. There was little local capital, and the Eastern article was hungry, taking all the interest the law allows, and as much more as it could get. This year the crop broke all records for abundance, but the price is down and the railroads, trying to recoup for two bad years, have stiffened the freight rates. The net result is our political overturn."

"Then the railroads and the corporations are not primarily to blame?" "Oh, No. Corporations here, as elsewhere, are looking out for the present dollar, but if the country were generally prosperous, the people would pay the tax carelessly, as they do in the older sections. With us it has been a sort of Doneybrook Fair; the agricultural voter has shilly-shallied the head he could reach most easily. The New Yorker nodded. His millions were solidly placed, and he took no more than a sportsman's interest in the fluctuations of the stock market. "Of course, there have been all sorts of rumors East; 'bull' prophecies that the triumph of the new party means an era of unexampled prosperity for the state—and by consequence for western stocks; 'bear' growlings that things are sure to go to the bow-wows under the Bucks regime. What do you think of it?"

"Kent blew a series of smoke rings and watched them rise to become part of the stratified tobacco cloud overhead before replying. "I may as well confess that I am not entirely an unprejudiced observer," he admitted. "For one thing, I am in the legal department of one of the best-hated of the railroads; and for another, Governor Bucks, Melgs, the attorney general, and Hendricks, the new secretary of state, are men whom I know as, it is safe to say, the general public doesn't know them. If I could be sure that these three men are going to be able to control their own party majority in the assembly, I should take the first train East and make my fortune selling tips in Wall street."

"You put it graphically. Then the Bucks idea is likely to prove a disturbing element on 'Change?" "It is; always providing it can dominate its own majority. But this is by no means certain. The political earthquake is essentially a popular protest against hard conditions brought about, as the voters seem to believe, by the oppressions of the alien corporations and extortionate railroad rates. Yet there are plenty of steady-going, conservative men in the movement; men who have no present idea of revolutionizing things. Marston, the lieutenant governor, is one of that kind. It all depends on whether these men will allow themselves to be whipped into line by the leaders, who, as I am very well convinced, are a set of conscienceless demagogues, fighting solely for their own land."

Ormsby nodded again. "You are likely to have good hunting this winter, Mr. Kent. It hasn't begun yet, I take it?" "Oh, no; the assembly does not convene for a fortnight, and nobody short of an inspired prophet can foretell what legislation will be sprung. But one thing is safe to count on; the leaders are out for spoils. They mean to rob somebody, and if my guess is worth anything, they are sharp enough to try first to get their schemes legalized by having enabling laws passed by the assembly."

"Um," said the Eastern man. Then he took the measure of his companion in a shrewd overlook. "You are the man on the ground, Mr. Kent, and I'll ask a straightforward question. If you had a friend owning stock in one of the involved railways, what would you advise?" Kent smiled. "We needn't make it a hypothetical case. If I had the right to advise Mrs. Brentwood and her daughters, I should counsel them to sit tight in the boat for the present."

"Would you? But Western Pacific has gone off several points already." "I know it has; and unfortunately, Mrs. Brentwood had bought in at the top of the market. That is why I counsel delay. If she holds on, she is sure to lose. If she holds on, there is an even chance for a spasmodic upward reaction before worse things happen."

"Perhaps; you know more about the probabilities than I pretend to. But on the other hand, she may lose more if she holds on." "Kent bit deep into his cigar. "We must see to it that she doesn't lose, Mr. Ormsby." The club-man laughed broadly. "Isn't that a good bit like saying that the shallow must see to it that the wind doesn't blow too hard for it?"

"Possibly. But in the sorriest wreck there is usually some small chance for salvage. I understand Mrs. Brentwood's holdings is not very large." "A block of some three thousand shares, held jointly by her and her two daughters, I believe." "Exactly; not enough to excite anybody's cupidity; and yet enough to turn the scale if there should ever be a fight for a majority control." "There is no such fight in prospect, is there?"

"No; not that I know of. But I was thinking of the possibilities. If a smash comes there will be a good deal of horse-wrapping in the middle of the stream—buying up of depressed stock by people who need the lines worse than the original owners do." "I see," said Ormsby. "Then you would counsel delay?" "I should; and I'll go a step farther. I am on the inside, in a way, and any hint I can give you for Miss—Mrs. Brentwood's benefit shall be promptly forthcoming."

"By Jove! that's decent," said Ormsby, heartily. "You are a friend worth having, Mr. Kent. But which 'inside' do you mean—the railroad or the political?" "Oh, the railroad, of course. And while I think of it, my office will be in the Quintard building; and you—suppose you will put up at the Wellington?"

"For the present, we all shall. It is Mrs. Brentwood's notion to take a furnished house later on for herself and daughters, if she can find one. I'll keep in touch with you."

"Do. It may come to a bit of quick wiring when our chance arrives. You know Loring—Grantham Loring?" "Passably well. I came across him one summer in the mountains of Peru, where he was managing a railroad. He is a mighty good sort. I had mountain fever, and he took me in and did for me."

"He is with us now," said David Kent; "the newly appointed general manager of the Western Pacific."

"Good!" said the club-man. "I think a lot of him; he is an all-round dependable fellow, and plenty capable. I'm glad to know he has caught on higher up."

The locomotive whistle was droning again, and a dodging procession of red-eyed switch-lights flicked past the windows. Kent stood up and flung away the stump of his cigar. "The capital," he announced. "I'll go back with you and help out with the straw-strap things." And in the vestibule he added: "I spoke of Loring because he will be with us in anything we have to do in Mrs. Brentwood's behalf. Looks him up when you have time—fourth floor of the Quintard."

"After all, there is nothing like DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER I have used it with satisfaction for nearly forty years."

FOSTER'S WEATHER FORECAST

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Last bulletin gave forecast of disturbances to cross continent 22 to 25, warm wave 21 to 25, cool wave 24 to 28. Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about 27, cross west of Rockies by close of 28, great central valleys 29 to December 1, eastern states 2. Warm wave will cross west of Rockies about 27, great central valleys 29, eastern states December 1. Cool wave will cross west of Rockies about 30, great central valleys 2, eastern states 4. This disturbance will come in at the close of a long period of cold weather, a period that will make the last half of November average colder than the normal. The warm wave of this disturbance will bring the warmest days of the month, but temperature will not long continue high. Weather features will reach their greater intensity west of meridian 90—will be particularly severe west of Rockies—but will lose energy east of Mississippi as they approach eastern states and provinces. A great rise in temperature will occur to eastward of this disturbance as it crosses the continent and not much rain or snow may be expected. Immediately following November 19 very cold weather will reach meridian 90—a little earlier west, later east and this cold spell will reach far into the southern states, killing most of the remaining top growth of cotton. Principal rainfall and snow, according to latitude, will occur during the week of which 19 will be a central day and the week ending November 24 will be the coldest week of the month. There are indications of very cold weather about middle of December and unusually warm weather during the Christmas-New Year holidays, particulars of which will be given in next bulletin. One of the great improvements in these weather bulletins during the winter months will be general forecasts of next year's crop weather, with advice, "What and When to Plant and Sow." Having before me my calculations of 1905 crop weather I thoroughly believe that I can give valuable advice about next year's crops. I expect to otherwise greatly improve these bulletins and if my readers will use their influence to secure subscribers for this paper it will enable me to rapidly improve the value of my forecasts. I must depend on the press for support, therefore I sincerely hope that you will work for the papers that publish my forecasts. My forecasts of election day weather were notably correct throughout the United States.

Gleanings From the Exchanges...

Texas has just undergone the turmoil and excitement incident to a political campaign covering every office from president down to constable. She now needs to get down to straight business and let politics alone until the time comes around for things of a political nature. Let us have more talk of progress and prosperity, more effort to settle and develop our waste places, and a general determination to summarily flatten out any man who has the temerity to suggest state politics until the time comes around for the determination of such matters. There are things of more general moment just now than who will be the next governor of Texas.—Fort Worth Telegram.

That is good, sensible talk. A political campaign always demoralizes business to some extent, and a perennial campaign is but little less than disastrous to commercial and industrial interests. Judge Bell, Colonel Tom Campbell, Commissioner Colequist, and Judge Wells are already squarely in the gubernatorial race, but it is hoped they will spare the state the excitement which a heated canvass produces, until the spring of 1906; then they will have plenty of time in which to discuss whatever issues there may be, and the meantime farmers and others will have a chance to make a living.—San Antonio Express.

The next state campaign should not be launched until it becomes a necessity, and the candidates who have already placed themselves before the people should be content with that action. There is a time for all things and the man who defies the proprieties will surely suffer in consequence.

We are all human. It seems second-nature of sin. Hence, when we see a fellow villifying, by tongue or pen, one of his fellow-citizens because he or she has sinned, we feel like saying as did the Man of Galilee to his disciples when they desired to punish the unfortunate woman who lay prostrate at His feet: "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone."—Bonham News.

And if only the man without sin was actually permitted to cast the first stone, there would be no stone bruises made on the person regarded as a legitimate target.

The Post has received a letter from the private secretary of Booker T. Washington denying the statement contained in the Washington Post to the effect that a son of Washington had applied for a position as paymaster in the army and that the application had been indorsed by Booker T. Washington Sr. The Washington Post, from which this paper obtained the information upon which our comment was based, was evidently misinformed. So we cut out that part of the editorial on the subject and stick by the assertion that Booker Washington makes a mistake in hobnobbing so much with the social equality contingent of New England.—Houston Post.

Let him hobnob with that contingent to his heart's content, for it is no southern man's funeral. Booker can not do any hobnobbing in the south except with his own color, and the people of the north and east have a perfect right to lionize him if they so desire.

The State Medical Association, in session in this city, has adopted a prospectus of a bill that they desire passed by the forthcoming session of the legislature looking to a better health law for Texas. The physicians of Texas are entitled not alone to consideration but to dictation. They of all people know best what Texas and her people need.—Austin Statesman.

But when that proposed health bill gets to the state legislature it will be quickly developed, that the wise solons know more about therapeutics and the natural laws of health than all the practicing physicians. The average member of the state legislature considers himself a very wise guy.

The proposal to amend the Terrell election law by permitting the citizen to pay his poll tax at any time up to the day of the election is an encouragement of corruption. It destroys the patriotic feature of the law which gives the franchise to those who are sufficiently interested in times of peace to prepare for war. It will encourage the expenditure of great quantities of money by candidates by practically transferring the poll tax from the citizen to the candidate. In short, there are many objections to this amendment. If a citizen wishes to participate in the government he can do so by paying his poll tax before February of each year. This removes it from the speculative field and makes it a matter of patriotism.—Beaumont Journal.

Still, it looks like an injustice not to permit a man to pay his poll tax at any time prior to the election. When he comes up with the money he ought to be entitled to the goods.

The city physician's report for the month of October, as contained in The Telegram of last week, was received and filed.

A contract made for the sinking of an experiment well on the property of the Texas and Pacific, providing for payment at $2.75 per foot, was approved by the council and a report received that 273 2/3 feet of the estimated 1,000 necessary had been bored.

Ordinances were passed under suspension of the rules providing for the grading and graveling of Rosedale street from College avenue to Hemphill street, and Kane street, between Magnolia and Myrtle, the usual third payments being stipulated.

City Engineer Hawley was instructed upon motion to open up the alley between Bryan avenue and Crawford street and extending from Tucker to Henrietta streets. The statement was made that the alleyway had been obstructed.

Instructions were given for the filling of a ditch at Twelfth and Steadman streets, the citizens in the vicinity agreeing to do the work and the city furnishing the material.

Complaint was made by citizens living at Railroad and Galveston avenues that by the repeated use of the fire hydrant at that place for filling the street sprinklers a large mud hole had been formed there being no means for the carrying off of the water. The petitioners asked the erection of a sink hole or some other contrivance to care for the water. The petition was referred to the water works and streets and alleys committee.

The request of the Texas State Humane Society for the appointment of J. D. Neal and F. G. Greer as special policemen was referred to the police committee.

W. A. Coutant filed with the council, asking to be appointed assistant city attorney to succeed R. E. L. Roy, who becomes attached to the county prosecutor's office. On motion of Alderman Parker the council agreed to the appointment until the next meeting on the grounds of Alderman Lehane's absence from the city and on the assurance that Attorney Roy would withhold his resignation until that time.

NATIONAL MASTER OF THE GRANGE IN AN ADDRESS

Aaron Jones of Indiana Tells of the Work of the Organization During the Past Year in This Country

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 19.—The annual report of the executive committee of the National Grange covers in detail its work during the year past, since the last annual meeting at Rochester, N. Y. It is very comprehensive and shows the order to be flourishing beyond expectations.

National Master Aaron Jones of South Bend, Ind., gave his annual address, in which he said, among other things, that successful agriculture does not depend alone upon methods of culture; distribution and sale are equally important factors, and that the grange will furnish profitable employment for all its members.

He spoke of the prosperity of the order and its growth during the past year and recommended that methods successful in the past should be continued. Grange literature should be more widely and generally distributed.

He commended the work being done by the press throughout the United States in the interest of the grange and advised that every member of the order should co-operate with their local and agricultural papers that are friendly to the grange cause.

He recalled the achievements of the grange during the past year, especially emphasizing the establishment of the agricultural department and system of rural free delivery of mail as among the most distinctive and important. He recommended further action on the part of the state and subordinate granges favoring

First—Anti-trust law and provision for state inspection of all corporations.

Second—A law that would compel all property to bear its just proportion of taxation.

Third—A pure food law.

Fourth—A law giving the state railway commission full power for fixing the rate for freight and passenger service.

Fifth—Such a revision of fees and salaries as will place them on an equitable basis.

On good roads he said that the pending grange good roads bill No. 10765 should have the active support of the order.

The secretary of the national grange reported that 281 new granges had been organized during the past year and eighty-two reorganized.

CITY COUNCIL HAS A SHORT SESSION

REAL ESTATE

L. L. Hawes yesterday closed a deal whereby he came into possession of ten acres of ground in the Field-Welch tract to Fort Worth location on the South Side, the consideration being $7,000. The property was owned by E. N. Brandegee of Montana. Before the deed had been recorded Mr. Hawes offered $10,000 for the ten acres, but refused to take it. The tract is to be cut up into lots.

Mr. Hawes has also purchased six acres of ground located at Sixth No. 1 on the interurban from D. T. Bomar and will also cut this up into lots.

City Engineer Hawley has been secured to survey the ground at once.

Quite a number of other similar deals are pending and will probably be made within the next few days.

There is at this time considerable demand for residence property in the southern part of the city, especially since the traction company has built its line out on Eighth avenue. The ten acre tract just bought by Mr. Hawes is located along this extension of the street car company.

It is claimed that that part of the city is the coming residence portion of Fort Worth, and already inquiries are being made of the real estate dealers for homes in that section of the city.

Only Routine Business Is Disposed of During the Regular Meeting—Rosen Petition Is Referred

Mayor Pro Tem Zurn!

Effluent beneath the spreading boughs of a chrysanthemum, Jake F. Zurn, chairman of the hospital and judiciary committee and alderman from the aristocratic Eighth, directed the swift revolving wheels of the city council last night, grinding forth during the temporary absence of Mayor Powell.

But for a few brief moments did Mr. Zurn grace the chair upon the raised dais, but that time was sufficient to bring to his ears the plaudits of his fellow aldermen, and as has been whispered, to raise mayoralty aspirations in the aldermanic breast.

Be this so or not, his voice took on a new thrill as his first presiding words ordered the approval of the minutes as read.

All members of the body were present, with the exception of Aldermen Lehane and Henderson, and business was ground off at an amazing rate.

The petition of the Rosen Heights Street Railway Company changing its franchise so as to run up Throckmorton street to Eighth and thence to Rusk, connecting with the line as originally marked out, was presented as outlined in The Telegram of yesterday afternoon, and an ordinance embodying the change was referred to the streets and alleys committee.

The report of the claims committee was next approved, allowing claims to the amount of $6,773.49.

A notice was received declaring that No. 6 fire hall was in a dangerous condition and threatening to collapse at any time. After considerable guffing of Alderman Parker over the Chambers Hill hall its condition was referred to the public buildings committee and the city engineer, with power to act.

On motion of Alderman Moreland a change was ordered in the minutes, making the 2 per cent discount on taxes allowable until October 31, instead of October 29.

is very much like the blossoming of a flower. Its beauty and perfection depends entirely upon the care bestowed upon its parent. Expectant mothers should have the tenderest care. "NATIVE BIRDS" IS SUBJECT OF HIS ADDRESS

Prof. Paschal of the Public Schools Makes an Address to the Children at Public Library

At the public library this morning there were a large number present to hear Professor Paschal of the public schools in his address on "Our Native Birds." In part he said:

The best authorities say that there is only one bird in Texas now where three were found twenty years ago. This is not because of any race suicide among the feathered tribe; a pair of bird's eggs with proper care by children, could produce in ten years a pair of birds for every child in the land. If we do not have all the birds we want it is because we do not know enough about rearing them or we are not willing to act in accordance with our knowledge.

By proper care we can have more birds than now and birds of sweeter song. In England, where birds have a richer and fuller than with us.

Our native birds have been decreasing but English sparrows, cats and dogs have increased in geometrical progression. Outside of things over which we have no control these are the factors which have destroyed our bird neighbors. Our prairies are not the best habitation for song birds; they like trees and forests. Birds like the plover, curlew and partridge, which inhabit our land, have been destroyed in large numbers by the hunters. Our song birds, not less valuable as destroyers of insects and the seed of noxious weeds, have to contend with climatic influences. The cold winter of 1894-95 destroyed many of our blue birds. Other birds died by thousands in the cold spell of February, 1899. Hail storms kill many. English sparrows around our towns and cities mob our native birds and drive them away. And rapidly where the English sparrow is most numerous, we must destroy these foreign pests, if we would escape the scourges of insects and again enjoy our native birds and drive them away.

And finally, insects multiply most rapidly where the English sparrow is most numerous. We must destroy these foreign pests, if we would escape the scourges of insects and again enjoy our native birds and drive them away.

And finally, insects multiply most rapidly where the English sparrow is most numerous. We must destroy these foreign pests, if we would escape the scourges of insects and again enjoy our native birds and drive them away.

MILLION BALES HELD BY UNION

Organizer C. M. Compton of the Farmers' Union passed through this city last night en route to Wichita Falls, where he will endeavor to organize a local branch of the union today.

While here he estimated that a million bales of cotton were being held by the members of the organization in this state and the territories. He states that, basing their estimate on a total crop of about 11,000,000 bales, they will hold their crop for 16 cents or over. That it would be worth 12 cents he denied.

Organizer Compton claims a growth for the organization of 50,000 in this state since the convention held in this city.

WEATHER FORECAST

For a time this morning the skies were partly cloudy and the atmosphere was suggestive of rain, but it came not and from the weather bulletin there is not much chance of any rainfall at the present time. For tonight the skies are to be a little cloudy and the weather is to be some colder. Last evening as the late pedestrians were wending their way home the impression conveyed to them by the strong wind blowing was that a norther was headed Fort Worth way, but the forecast of today disproves that such was the case.

FORECAST

The forecast for Texas east of the one hundredth meridian, issued at New Orleans, is as follows:

East Texas—Tonight and Sunday, generally fair, colder in west portion tonight; colder Sunday.

"Cheekiest, Sauciest, Daringest of All Novels," says Alan Dale

What Prominent Actors and Actresses Say of "In The Bishop's Carriage"

"In the Bishop's Carriage," a Masterpiece Among Works of Fiction—Miss Michelson's Novel, With Its Splendid Dramatic Situations and Astounding Climaxes, Compels the Admiration of Stage Favorites

A STORY OF THE MAKING OF A SUCCESSFUL ACTRESS

NANCE OLDEN'S LOYALTY, BRAVERY AND WOMANLINESS

Effie Shannon, one of the most womanly actresses on the American stage, who has recently pleased metropolitan critics by her splendid performance of Clara Volk-

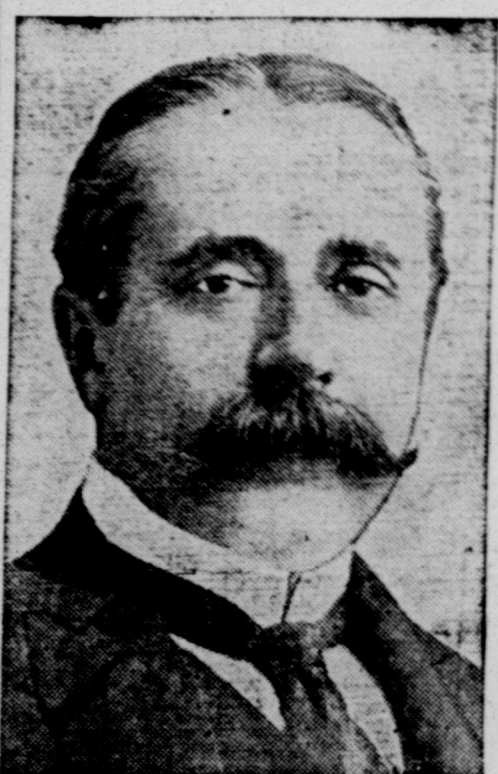

Effie Shannon.

lard in "Taps," is delighted at the womanliness of the principal character in "In the Bishop's Carriage." She says of the book: "The most interesting woman I have ever found in fiction is Nance Olden in 'In the Bishop's Carriage.' The author scored her strong point with me by the fact that she makes no obvious effort to claim sympathy for the girl thief, who is her heroine, but the loyalty, the bravery and above all the humor of Nance are so great that one becomes her admirer before finishing the book. Since any reader becomes absorbed in the adventures of a heroine whom he or she admires, it seems unnecessary for me to add that I followed the story of 'In the Bishop's Carriage' with a degree of absorption which has rarely been called for me by any work of fiction. When I came to the splendid situation in which the purse containing $300 is found in Nance's apartment, I was sorry the book was not being acted in order that I might stand up and applaud. I do not hesitate in saying that 'In the Bishop's Carriage' is as clever a volume as has ever occupied one of my Sunday afternoons."

FORCEFUL, CLEVER, NOVEL-PUNCTUATED WITH STRONG SITUATIONS

Herbert Keiley is a splendid actor, who has been before the theater going public in New York since the beginning of the success of the Lyceum Theater Stock Company. He is at present starring with Effie Shannon in Franz Adam Beyerlein's play, "Taps." He says: "It is natural that any actor should read a book with his eye chiefly on its dramatic possibilities. In 'The Bishop's Carriage' so abounds in those that I wonder that it has so long escaped the hands of the adapter. The story is punctuated by strong situations and divides itself into acts as naturally as a hard boiled egg divides itself into white and yolk.

Herbert Keiley.

The novelty of the idea, the force of its execution and the cleverness of its narration seem to me to stamp 'In the Bishop's Carriage' as one of the few well-told stories of this decade."

"IN THE BISHOP'S CARRIAGE" CERTAINLY MOST ABSORBING

Grace George, who is now with the all-star cast of "The Two Orphans," says of "In the Bishop's Carriage": "Once I was picked up the book. I found that I was unable to put it down. I read it on elevated trains, on ferriesboats, anywhere. I happened to be at the time. I am not saying that 'In the Bishop's Carriage' is the best literature I ever read, but it is certainly most absorbing."

"MORE REAL THAN THE PEOPLE WE MEET ON THE STREET"

More real than the people we meet on the street are Nance Olden and her lovers and the Bishop and all the delightful dramatic personae of "In the Bishop's Carriage." Realist of the real is Nance herself. From the moment when, in another girl's chinchilla coat, she jumps in the unknown carriage, and snuggling up to the solemn owner, calls him "Daddy"—from that moment until she makes her final bow, a happy wife and a triumphant actress, Nance Olden holds your fancy captive and your heart in thrall. Not since "David Harum" has an American novelist created a character so convincing. And to her reality Nance adds the most delicious unexpectedness. She keeps you wondering "What next?"

TICKLED AGAIN BY THE TALE OF NANCE OLDEN'S CLEVERNESS

De Wolf Hopper, one of the best known comedians on the boards, who continues to be the bright particular star of "Wang," has just written a characteristic letter to the publishers in which he says: "I praised 'In the Bishop's Carriage' once and then read it again. I have only to say that if I had read it again before I had praised it once, I should have praised it at least twice and probably still more often."

De Wolf Hopper.

PLAIN, UNVARNISHED HUMAN NATURE—SPARKLES WITH VITALITY AND DRAMATIC POINT

Miss May Buckley has received favorable notices from the critics on many occasions, most flattering of all being the comments on her splendid work in "The Shepherd King." She gives her opinion of

"In the Bishop's Carriage" as follows: "In the Bishop's Carriage" is plain, unvarnished human nature, and therefore contains everything which goes to make humanity interesting. It has humor and dramatic point, and sparkles with a vitality peculiar to itself. Above all, its tone is one of optimism, and charity for human frailties, and any book which has this tone is surely worth while."

NANCE OLDEN'S ADVENTURES MAKE DECIDEDLY INTERESTING READING

William H. Crane needs no introduction to theater goers. He is now appearing in the latest of his long line of successes, "Business Is Business," at the

William H. Crane.

Criterion Theatre, New York. Mr. Crane says: "I have read 'In the Bishop's Carriage' with a great deal of interest. It is a most pleasing novel, in which unusually striking situations abound. Perhaps we might care more for Nance Olden if she was at times just a little better at heart, but she makes interesting reading as it is, decidedly interesting."

LIKE OTHER SPLENDID RASCALS, BUT TRIUMPHS IN THE END

Robert Loraine, who is at present leading man for Herbert Keiley and Effie Shannon in "Taps," and who is shortly to star in George Bernard Shaw's "Man and Superman," says of "In the Bishop's Carriage": "I do not read much modern fiction and I do not mind confessing that I have found very little of interest in that which I have read. Nevertheless, I did not put down 'In the Bishop's Carriage' one minute after I had picked it up and begun the story of the girl who compelled a clergyman to become her accomplice in escaping from the police. I really think that Nance Olden deserves to rank with those other splendid rascals, Nancy Sikes, Jean Valjean, 'Beauty Steele and 'Raffles.'"

Robert Loraine.

COMIC OPERA STAR DELIGHTED WITH "IN THE BISHOP'S CARRIAGE"

Grace Van Studdiford, starring with undiminished success in the romantic opera, "Red Feather," writes: "I find 'In the Bishop's Carriage' most interesting indeed. It is an original and most fascinating tale, and as 'The New York Sun' says: 'In it new ambitions are opened to the bachelor girl.'"

MRS. FISKE FINDS ENJOYMENT IN "IN THE BISHOP'S CARRIAGE"

Mrs. Fiske occupies an enviable position among American actresses. At present appearing in "Becky Sharp," in which she has achieved a notable success, she will shortly follow this with a revival of Mrs. Fiske.

"Hedda Gabler." She has read "In the Bishop's Carriage," and says of it: "In the Bishop's Carriage" is a clever and entertaining story."

CHEEKY AND SAUCY

Alan Dale says: "For five consecutive hours I sat in a corner—like little Jack Horner—and chuckled in sheer glee. It was in the corner of my own den that I sat, and Jack Horner-like, picked out the plums from 'In the Bishop's Carriage,' the cheekiest, sauciest, daringest theatrical story I have ever read."

"The author, who is a New York newspaper writer, has done a daring piece of work, but she has done it well. Her book may never reach its 100th thousand; it is not a book for children or for the Young Women's Christian Association any more than 'Raffles' is, but it will warm the cockles of the novel reader's heart just the same."—Literary editor Chicago Tribune.

The praise from prominent members of the profession quoted in this article seems to be justified as viewing the book from a purely literary standpoint. No less an authority than Professor Peck of Columbia University, writing in the May Bookman Magazine, says: "It should rank with the very best of those which the year has so far given us."

AMUSEMENTS

"Driven From Home," a play of the heart touching kind, was given by North Bros. Comedians Friday afternoon to a large-sized matinee audience. The acting of the various characters was splendid. The play had just enough pathos in it to bring an occasional tear to the eye and then laughter and applause when it came out right in the end.

Last night "A Quaker Tragedy" held the boards. The picturesque costumes of Quaker simplicity and the pesty and devotion of a supposed "black sheep" brotner and the love of a Quakeress were features of the play. The antics of the two village "wise-ones," and their petty quarrels amused. Such character delineations are to be found in any village. A brother's misstep, the black sheep's sacrifices to shield the erring one and the sorrow blamed to one and caused by another are pretty parts of the well written and acted play. The North Bros. Comedians are of splendid ability. Each plays well the part assigned. A large audience greeted both the afternoon and evening performances.

At this afternoon's matinee "East Lynne," that great English emotional drama, is delighting a large audience. This play always attracts and although it has been before the theater going public for years, it is just as interesting as ever.

Tonight concludes the visit of North Bros. Comedians to this city. The visit here has been a successful one and they will deserve the liberal patronage given them. Besides the elegant plays they have presented, the specialty Tumors or the excellent music of the Palmatrix Sisters deserves special commendation.

"PEGGY FROM PARIS"

"Peggy from Paris," George Ade's successful musical comedy, abounds in droll and amusing characters, who not only are witty in speech but comical in action. The clever comedy characters are those of Montague Fish, a knacker, and his wife. Mr. Fish is a caricature of a type of rich and elderly men about town who have ambition in directions other than their regular vocations.

MISS FLORENCE WILLARD, WITH "PEGGY FROM PARIS."

Mr. Fish feels moved to be a dramatic author, therefore he is a frequenter of the stage door. His wife also cherishes a secret ambition, which is to go on the stage. By an amusing combination of circumstances she obtains an engagement in the company which has been organized to produce her husband's play. This play-producing enterprise Mr. Fish has kept a secret from his wife, and to gain time to attend to the preliminaries unknown to her he has told her he was going to Kansas City. It is easy to understand the fun which ensues when husband and wife learn of each other's presence in the theater and their attempt to evade discovery.

"Peggy from Paris" comes to Greenwall's opera house Monday matinee and night, November 21.

F. Opper in the illustrated comic weeklies, and Frank Dumont, the author of this latest bit of fun, has turned out the best work of his career. The interpreting company is of unusual magnitude and importance, including the leading lights in musical farce, while the secondary roles are in competent keeping, and even those of minor consequence are given marked prominence in the action. Extraordinary care has been evinced in the selection of the chorus and ballet. Youth and prepossessing appearance were made essential and every type of feminine loveliness is introduced. There is a commendable dash, sparkle and brilliancy leaving only pleasant memories of pretty girls, cavoring comedians, sweet singers, dainty dancers, gorgeous costumes and sumptuous scenic display.

"THE JEWEL OF ASIA"

"The Jewel of Asia," which is booked for Wednesday matinee and night, November 23, at Greenwall's opera house, was really due to arrive in this city last season. Manager Greenwall had arranged for the engagement of this brilliant musical comedy, but John P. Slocum, the manager, was compelled to cancel all contracts by reason of the phenomenal success enjoyed in New York, Boston and Philadelphia. It was originally booked for four weeks in New York and ran there over six months at the Criterion and Daly's theaters. In Boston, where its schedule called for a fortnight, it remained two months, and similar success was recorded in Philadelphia. The big company comes to Fort Worth practically intact, with Vera Michelen as the prima donna and William Blaisdell in the leading comedy role.

CHARLES B. HANFORD

It has been said that the regular theater patrons are not those who make the fortunes of theatrical performers. They constitute a reliable clientele, whose critical opinion is valuable, and who decide the fate of many an attraction. But the productions which win extraordinary financial returns are those which appeal to the people who attend the theater only

PERMANENTLY CURES RHEUMATISM

Demorest, Ga., March 1, 1904. THACHER MEDICINE CO., Chattanooga, Ga. Gentlemen: About two years ago I was taken with rheumatism and suffered horribly for ten weeks. I was advised to try Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup. I procured two bottles, and in less than two weeks I was entirely cured and have had no return of the disease since. I keep it all the time—would not be without it—and have recommended to a great many others who have received great benefit from its use. J. F. GRANTHAM.

once in a while, when they are sure that the play and the performers will appeal to their taste. It is before such audiences that Charles B. Hanford has had the good fortune to appear. People who are weary of the gauzy frivolities of the time, or who perchance, disapprove of them on principle go to see Hanford with absolute confidence that what he offers will have substantial merit as well as the qualities which amuse. Mr. Hanford never forgets that the public demands diversion at the play house. He supplies that by selecting the best material that play writing has ever produced and interpreting it in a modern and sympathetic spirit which makes the humor irresistible.

Mr. Hanford will present "Don Caesar De Bazan" at Greenwall's opera house Thursday (Thanksgiving) matinee, November 24, and Thanksgiving night "Othello" will be the bill.

Prescription No. 2851, by Eimer & Amend, will not cure all complaints, but it will cure rheumatism. E. F. SCHMIDT, Houston, Texas, Sole Agent.

Letters to The Telegram

To The Telegram. In your paper of November 13 I noticed "Method Changed, But Pupils the Same." It certainly is true. But it is spelling the only study in which the method of teaching has changed and not for the better? My 70-year-old mother can spell better than my 16-year old daughter, in the high school. The method of teaching writing has changed as much as the spelling. Now they give the beginner copy books filled with sentences. The pupil begins by trying to form the whole letter with one stroke of the pen. He is not taught the principles of the letters and has no idea of the space required for each letter.

The method of teaching writing and spelling is not so bad as the reading aloud (by the teachers) to the pupils during school hours, as is practiced in four of the public schools of Texas that I know of and others of which I have heard. Not biographies and historical books but books of fiction. I heard one principal of a public school complaining that there was so much time wasted in the grammar department. The teachers in that same department read aloud to the pupils This is my experience about reading aloud by teacher: I started my little girl to school in the grammar department. She came home every evening with her mind filled with some story her teacher had been reading to the pupils, and she could not be contented one minute until she had told the story to her little brothers, and all were very impatient to hear what happened next, in the story. (As I had read the story, I soon learned how well she could concentrate her mind, also how well she could remember.)

She seemed to regard her lessons like second class mail, when compared to the story. They had to travel the same road, but could come on the next train of thoughts. Now for a school where no story was read by the teacher to pupils, I started my two boys to school. They came home perfectly delighted with the beautiful ideas presented to their mind by the teacher that lesson. The teacher, instead of reading to them, had taken time to tell them some interesting event connected with the lesson or something she had read or seen, which this lesson brought to her mind. She was a teacher in a hundred. The boys learned to regard their lessons as the direct road to everything pleasant, beautiful and successful. Lessons must come first of all, on the "fast express" train of thought for fear some pleasant idea or event would be lost.

REPUBLICANS

The sober second view of my toast reveals the fact that its answer is not a prophesy, but a legitimate deduction. As imperfectly as I may be able to fit the role, let me assume that of a painter, and standing here as an artist with my box of paints within easy reach, take therefrom the materials and sketch briefly upon imagination's canvass.

My box is the physical possessions of the United States, and it extends practically from the frigid zone to the tropic regions, and holds in its grasp the greatest gulf, the largest fresh water lakes, the longest commercial carrying rivers, the highest and longest range of mountains, and the waters that touch every port in Christendom.

The banquet hall was artistically decorated with a profusion of hanging, American flags, and the portraits of General Washington, President Roosevelt, Vice President-Elect Fairbanks and the lamented president, William McKinley.

The tables were also tastefully dressed with ferns and palms and the whole affair was one that will live in the memory of every one who was fortunate enough to be present.

My country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing.

The tables were also tastefully dressed with ferns and palms and the whole affair was one that will live in the memory of every one who was fortunate enough to be present.

My country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing.

My country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing.

My country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing.

change of the world—so that wars may not be waged without consulting his dictum; so that commercial codicils may not be concluded without asking his royal wish; so that provinces may not be divided without seeking his suzerainty; so that peace may not be disturbed without begging his pardon. It does more than that, my friends—it sends him as the missionary into the black fields of superstition and converts the Mohammedan into the Christian; places clothes upon the back of the cannibal and ideas into the heads of the feeble.

And time and ability preclude the finishing of the picture of our country's glorious future. I see it as the agent that shall Christianize the peoples of the earth and teach them the gloriousness of political and religious liberty. In other words, the lines of the picture will fade, but there will come into view as the streaks of the sunrise ultimately breaks with the appearance of the sun itself, the picture of the American teaching and preaching to the world. In other words, our country's future is the teacher and preacher to the peoples of the earth. We will conquer not by the length of our sword or the carrying power of our musket, but by the power of our religion and the superiority of our intellect. We will conquer superstition, and in its place enthroned Christianity. We will conquer ignorance, and in its place enlightenment.

There may be no doubting Thomas; already the lights of our institutions has been reflected into the dungeons of Russia and the Siberian prison doors are opened and political offenders are seeking anew the homes they were banished from years ago; the press is becoming freer; cruel punishments are being abolished and the reign of the brotherhood of man is being inaugurated in that powerful kingdom. American diplomacy holds open the Chinese door, and one in every thirty of the inhabitants of Japan have already embraced the Christian religion. England is now agitated to her very core over the enactment of a tariff system such as this country has—an economic principle that both Germany and France have already adopted, while the factories of the continent are seeking American workmen for the purpose of instilling his ingenuity and genius into the native workmen of these various provinces.

And so, my friends, the painting of the picture writes indelibly upon the hearts of each of us the measureless responsibility that weighs upon every individual American. Events warrant us in proclaiming that God has made us his chosen people, and if we fall to uprightly and bravely carry the burden he imposes upon us he will surely chastise us as he did the children of Israel; but at last from out of the trials and ordeals will come the ultimate triumph of this people, standing as the guardian and exalted carrier of the nation's heritage, and when this day comes there will be no sweeter tune, no more entrancing melody than the song which we sing today and now—

My country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing.

My country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing.

My country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing.

My country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing.

My country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing.

My country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing.

My country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing.

DON'T GIVE UP Discouraged Citizens Will Find Comfort in the Experience of a Fort Worth Woman

Don't give up. Discouragement has lost many a life. Fight it out. Try every means. Failure in one case does not mean success is an impossibility.

Here is a case in point: Mrs. J. B. Morris, 1602 Hemphill street, says: "My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills proved them to be an exceedingly valuable and effective remedy. I had read so many statements in our Fort Worth papers, made by responsible persons, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills that I finally procured a box at John M. Parker's drug store and took them as directed. In a comparatively short time their curative powers were demonstrated. It is a pleasure to recommend a preparation that so thoroughly fulfills all the claims made for it."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

DEATHS FUNERAL OF MRS. MILLER The funeral of the late Mrs. Daniela Miller, wife of G. S. Miller was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence, where the impressive service of the Episcopal church was read by Rev. Robert Hammond Cotton, rector of Trinity. A Word to the Wise

"Once a miserly saving was one of the virtues of the clerk who was determined to succeed. He could wear a hickory shirt, leave off coat and vest, sell dry goods all day, and then sleep on a pile of carpets in the back of the store. The time is past when a young man can come into the great city and find potential capital in his bare feet and ill-fitting linen duster. If he comes in well dressed, with an air of having fed well and substantially, and can cover up the fact that he has only 20 cents between him and the woodyard, he is of the stuff of which the times are made."

BLAZE KILLER IS LEADER IN TEXAS

Some Testimonials of the Success of Using the New Method of Putting Out Fires

It will pay every property owner to read and investigate. Fires, large and small, are of daily occurrence and millions of dollars' worth of property as well as many lives are sacrificed every year. Blaze Killer has an unequalled record as a fire killer wherever it is known, as thousands can testify. Since June we have saved our patrons many thousands of dollars, and it is an established fact that for every dollar we collect in a town or city we save our patrons from 20 to 100 per cent on their investment. Blaze Killer is put up in tubes of nearly four pounds each, and can be handled by a child, never loses its power, is always ready, and is endorsed by insurance companies, fire chiefs, bankers, and merchants everywhere, and should be in every business house, hotel, school and residence.

Read the Blaze Killer's record since June 1: Roswell, N. M.—Blaze Killer prevented what might have been a $100,000 fire in the Joyce fruit, wholesale and retail store, which is the largest in the Pecos Valley.

Dalhart, Texas.—Blaze Killer prevented the burning of the St. Elmo hotel, the finest in the city. The fire was caused by a gasoline explosion and property valued at $16,000 was saved. Grapevine, Texas.—Blaze Killer was used in putting out the fire in the residence of Mr. J. R. Wall, and many citizens admit that its use saved the entire row of five buildings, valued at several thousand dollars.

Handley, Texas.—Blaze Killer blotted out a fire in a box car, set by a passing train, before a bucket of water could be pumped from a nearby well. Fort Worth, Texas.—Blaze Killer saved the business property of the Hawkins-Miller Manufacturing Company, on Boaz street, and prevented what might have been a serious conflagration. Read what they say.

"In the afternoon of November 10 fire was discovered in the back of our building, where we had piled a lot of boxes, boards, etc., caused, it is supposed, by children with matches. The fire had gained considerable headway when I discovered by the ladies of the sewing room. At the cry of fire we jerked a tube of Blaze Killer from the wall and applied the contents to the flame and had it under control in short order. It is only about a month ago that we purchased Blaze Killer from Mr. J. O. Marsh, one of our reliable townsmen, and we heartily recommend it to every property owner and resident. We will never be without it. The company has refilled our tubes as per agreement, when we purchased."

Read what Fort Worth's fire chief, J. H. Maddox, says: "This is to certify that I witnessed the fire exhibitions given on our streets by J. O. Marsh and C. W. Waddell, who represent the Advance and Fire Appliance Company, and am well pleased with how Blaze Killer handles a fire. It should be in every home and business house in the city."

J. H. MADDOX, Chief Fire Department. Among the purchasers of Blaze Killer are the following leading firms in Fort Worth: The Stewart-Binyon Company, the Southern Cold Storage Company, The Fair, The Telegram, the Fort Worth Furniture Company, Brice & Co., contractors; the R. E. Bell Hardware Company, The Arcade, the C. H. Lilly Company, the M. P. Ferris Company, the Mugg & Dryden Company, the Morris Grocery Company, Tucker & Son, grain merchants; the Hawkins-Miller Manufacturing Company, E. Carr, J. T. Collins Grocery Company, J. W. Moore, druggist; James Nash, William Vernon, the Hightower Grocery Company, the Grunewald Hotel, A. P. Sprinkle, real estate; R. E. Garvey, real estate; Constable & Bury, real estate; D. W. C. CORONER'S VERDICT IN WEBER MURDER CASE

AUBURN, Cal., Nov. 17.—In the Weber case the coroner's jury has brought in the following verdict: "We find that Julius Weber, Mary Weber and Bertha Weber came to their death by pistol shot wounds, and it is the belief of this jury that said wounds were inflicted by Adolph J. Weber. The same verdict applies to Chester Earl Weber, with the exception that it states that wounds were made by some blunt instrument instead of by pistol shots."

HENRY MELDRUM FOUND GUILTY OF FORGERY

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 18.—Henry Meldrum, formerly United States surveyor, has been found guilty of forgery on twenty-one counts by a jury in the United States district court. This is the first conviction in the so-called land fraud cases now pending before United States District Judge C. B. Bellinger. Meldrum was accused of having, while United States surveyor, forged the names of eighteen persons to applications for surveys of land in Harney county, Oregon, west and southwest of Harney Lake. The contract for surveying this land was awarded to Rufus Moore, Meldrum's nephew, for $3,500. It is benevolently suggested by the bar that the trouble caused by boys who climb upon the seating accommodation of slow-going motor cars in crowded thoroughfares might be effectively removed by a high-tension wire, controlled by the driver.

Suggestion of Grand Chancellor for Such a Gathering Will Be Observed by Local Lodges

In pursuance of the advice of the grand chancellor, the Knights of Pythias in this city will have a roll call Pythian rally. Dear Sir and Brother: The following suggestion is made by our grand chancellor: "Let every lodge in the state fix some meeting night of this year for a 'roll call meeting.' Let every member be notified that he is expected to be present, personally, if possible, and by letter if
