

PRICE FIVE CENTS

SITUATION NEW ONE

For the First Time in the History of Russia There Is Allowed a Gathering of People at St. Petersburg

AN EXILE IS SPEAKER

Man Who Has Spent Twenty-Four Years Away from His Land Under Government Direction, Is Allowed to Make an Address in Public

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 21.—Interest in the meetings of the Zemstvo representatives is intense. The war and all other questions are temporarily forgotten. Nothing else is talked of. Liberals from all parts of the empire are flocking hither, including many from Poland and Finland. The hotel lobbies are crowded, almost resembling convention times in American cities.

The permission granted by Interior Minister Svitolopk-Mirsky was for an assembly of 300 people. Participants and friends display complete confidence in the protection that has been promised will be afforded by the minister, and the most outspoken sentiment of the situation is altogether unparal-leled. Nothing approaching such gatherings have ever before been permitted in Russia.

As an evidence of the remarkable state of affairs it is sufficient to mention the name of one of the most prominent speakers yesterday, M. Petrunkevitch Tver, who spent twenty-four years as an exile and who has only been allowed since Prince Svitolopk-Mirsky's advent to come to the capital.

GENERAL ATTACK WILL NOT BE RESUMED

CHEFOO, Nov. 21, 8 p. m.—A Japanese official, among the latest arrivals from Dalney, states positively that the general attack upon Port Arthur has not been resumed. Rumors to that effect in Dalney arise because of fresh troops, including the Seventh division, recently landed, being sent to the front.

It is believed that the explosion which took place on November 16, occurred in some counter tunneling work. The second explosion, which was heard November 19, was the result of a mine which is reported upon best authority, that it was due to the blowing up a Russian magazine. It is expected that the next attack upon Port Arthur will be a tremendous affair. More reinforcements are coming to support General Nogi than those dispatched to Pigeon Bay. The Japanese are now constructing fort defenses at Pigeon Bay, which are accepted as an indication that they expect to be defending Port Arthur themselves some day.

BLOCKADE RUNNER IS CAPTURED BY JAPS

TOKIO, Nov. 21.—The navy department reports the capture of the German steamer Batelan, while attempting to run the Port Arthur blockade. The department says at 3 a. m. November 19, the Japanese squadron cruising off the coast sighted a vessel steaming for Port Arthur. The gunboat Tatsuta pursued and overtook the steamer at 5 o'clock in the morning. On board the vessel was found a great quantity of winter clothing, blankets, medicine and other necessities. Her captain said he was bound for New Chwang. The route and cargo of the Batelan being considered, she has been taken possession of and brought to Sasebo.

WORKMEN BREAK UP THE MEETING TODAY

KHARKOFF, Nov. 21.—The law society met at the university here today in order to draw up a telegram of congratulations to Interior Minister Svitolopk-Mirsky embodying also the wishes of the people for reform. Many who are not members of the society, including ladies, were present. A few members were opposed to the dispatch of the telegram as useless, which precipitated an uproar. In the midst of the tumult a large number of workmen entered the hall and showered the audience with a revolutionary proclamation. The chairman declared the meeting adjourned. A great panic followed and there was a semi-crush for the exit, many ladies in escaping leaving their wraps and hats behind. The workmen and some students remained and held an impromptu meeting, afterwards going out in a procession singing revolutionary songs. The procession, however, soon dispersed. No one is reported to have been injured.

NO GENERAL ATTACK

MUKDEN, Nov. 21.—As anticipated, the general attack by the Japanese has not developed as yet. Uncertainty of the present situation gives rise to conflicting rumors and speculation regarding future operations. Some expect the Japanese to attempt a flanking movement in the Pass and others claim the armies will practically winter in the present positions. Complete inactivity prevails. Nights are growing colder and fuel scarce. Crowds of Chinese are wandering over the fields and picking up everything combustible, even the roots of Chinese corn.

JAPS MAKE GAINS
TOKIO, Nov. 21.—Reliable sources report the Japanese mined and occupied a counter scarp on Rihlung mountain Nov. 19. A dispatch from Tokio early today announced the Japanese, after successful mining occupied a counterscarp on Sungshu mountain on Friday Nov. 18. Rihlung mountain is east of Sungshu mountain.

THE SECOND DIVISION
FREDRICKS HAVEN, Denmark, Nov. 21.—The second division of the Russian second Pacific squadron arrived here and anchored in Skaw bay.

PATRICK TO MAKE A FIGHT FOR HIS LIFE

He Has Discovered a New Line of Defense in the Event He Is Granted a New Trial in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—District Attorney Jerome was told today that Albert T. Patrick, the lawyer sentenced to die for the murder of millionaire William Marsh Rice, has an entirely new defense in case a new trial was granted him. This defense was discovered by Patrick himself, who, although his knowledge of the medicine is scant, has through constant reading of medical books come across an anatomical condition he hopes to result in his acquittal.

That Patrick would base his new fight for life on a medical theory was made public last night at a meeting of the Medico-Legal Society at the Waldorf-Astoria. Samuel Bell Thomas, a lawyer and secretary of the society, brought out a discussion on this subject: "Will the embalming of a body before rigor mortis sets in without the withdrawal of any blood produce the same effect of congestion of the lungs as that produced on the lungs by vapor poisoning?"

Mr. Thomas explained that he had been called to Sing Sing to see Patrick, who wished to use it in his defense. He explained that it was not for Patrick's benefit that the discussion was brought up, but for the benefit of science, and that he would have eliminated Patrick's name had it been possible.

At Patrick's trial it was brought out that old man Rice's body had been embalmed a few hours after death without the withdrawal of blood from the body and physicians who performed the autopsy after the embalming process found unmarked congestion of the blood in the lungs, which could only have been caused by asphyxiation or vapor poisoning.

SHE FAILS TO IDENTIFY NEGROES

Two more negroes were taken before Mrs. Ludie Therrell, 1102 Peach street, the woman assaulted by a negro on the Samuels avenue extension near the Trinity river bridge on Saturday, but the woman failed to identify either of the men. The police are still searching for the guilty party, but are fearful that the woman will be unable to identify the man if caught, owing to her excitement at that time.

A TRAGEDY AT MILL CREEK SUNDAY

Town Marshal Hughes Is Shot and Another Man Is Dangerously Wounded and Probably Will Die

ARDMORE, I. T., Nov. 21.—News of a tragedy which occurred at midnight Saturday night at Mill Creek, I. T., reached here Sunday. One man dead and another in a dying condition is the result.

The report which reached here by telephone states that Bud Work, a young farm hand residing near Mill Creek, and a few of his friends were in town Saturday and became somewhat boisterous.

Deputy United States Marshal W. H. Sublett, Town Marshal L. C. Hughes and the latter's deputy, Will Elliott, undertook to effect the arrest of the offenders and concealed themselves under a bridge over which the boys would pass en route home. When Work arrived the officers ran toward him; Elliott fell, his gun was accidentally discharged, the bullet lodged in Hughes' back and the town marshal died instantly. It is alleged that Sublett and Elliott began firing on Work, who was speeding away. A bullet lodged in the fleeing man's back, passed through his bladder, and he can not recover.

Bud Works, the farmer who was shot in the trouble at Mill Creek Saturday night, died at 10:30 o'clock last night. Deputy Will Elliott went to Tishomingo and surrendered himself for the killing of City Marshal Hughes, which he alleges was accidental. His examining trial will be held at Tishomingo this afternoon. Hughes' remains will be buried at Dougherty this afternoon.

Result of the Seventy-Six Days' Session Which Has Just Finished—A Land Office Created

ARDMORE, I. T., Nov. 21.—After a quiet session covering a period of seventy-six days, the Chickasaw legislature has adjourned.

The duty of the appointee shall be to determine the value of all segregated mineral lands in the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations. The appropriation of $250,000 for school purposes; the appointment of three delegates to Washington to represent the nation in the matter of federal legislation, and the adoption of a memorial asking congress to allow all children born since September, 1902, share in the division of the lands are also among the important enactments.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 17.—To Union Men of Texas: The twenty-fourth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor has settled down to business...

There are not as many votes in the Texas Federation of Labor as there are in the American Federation of Labor, but this is due to the non-payment of dues by some of the large organizations...

It is almost certain that the next convention will go to Pittsburgh, although had Texas sent a strong delegation...

Work has so far progressed that we can form a pretty correct idea of what is ahead and it is the general opinion that the convention will be the longest in the history of the organization...

Questions of jurisdiction will consume most of the time, and while we know there are going to be several city unions, the attendance will be very large...

It is almost certain that the next convention will go to Pittsburgh, although had Texas sent a strong delegation...

COMBERS COMING TO TEXAS The reception given me by President Gompers yesterday was a very flattering one, in my opinion, for Texas...

Have taken up nearly all of Texas' troubles with the internationalists interested in the Texas Federation of Labor...

President Lynch of the International Typographical Union returns via Texas and will visit El Paso, San Antonio, Austin, Dallas and Fort Worth...

Special efforts will be made during the ensuing year to have our anti-trust law tested.

Pressure is expressed by members of the American Federation of Labor on the board over the good work accomplished by our State Federation...

This afternoon was given to a trolley ride, ten cars, and all points of interest were visited...

The balance of the day except the time of the rain in the morning was damp and chilly...

The forecast for Texas east of the one hundredth meridian, issued at New Orleans, is as follows:

East Texas (north)—Tonight and Tuesday, generally fair, cooler in east portion and warmer in extreme west portion tonight...

West Texas (south)—Tonight and Tuesday, generally fair, probably preceded by showers in east portion tonight. Colder tonight.

PARAPHERNALIA OF GAMBLERS BURNED

ARDMORE, I. T., Nov. 21.—The gambling houses at Paul's Valley, where federal court is in session, were raided Saturday night by United States officers and the paraphernalia was piled into the streets and burned.

A number of alleged gamblers were placed under arrest.

United States District Attorney W. B. Johnson states that gambling in the southern district must cease, and that every offense will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

HOUSEKEEPING MAKES HIM HANG HIMSELF

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Dissatisfied with his wife's housekeeping and finally throwing himself into a towering rage because dinner was not ready the moment he arrived home, John P. Ziegler, a ferrier, has hanged himself at his home in the Bronx.

Mrs. Ziegler told the coroner, although she tried hard to conduct the household to please her husband, he was never satisfied. She said he attempted to poison himself two months ago, and later tried to kill both by putting poison in the tea.

President of the Board of Trade Has Named Those Who Are to Discuss the Matter at an Early Date

In compliance with the resolutions adopted by the directory of the Fort Worth Board of Trade, the president has appointed the following committee to consider and devise a plan for the erection of an auditorium in this city: O. R. Menefee, chairman; M. L. Epstein, Dr. J. L. Cooper, George Stillman, W. G. Turner, O. P. Haney, F. M. Haines, C. A. Wheeler, M. D. Watson, A. J. Long, J. E. Weeden, J. F. Zurn, E. D. Reimers, J. W. Spencer, W. F. Sterley, William Bryce, Clarence Ousley. The committee is expected to meet at an early date and commence the work.

That an auditorium is needed in Fort Worth is admitted by every one, and the many conventions which have been held in this city indicate that seating capacity and committee rooms are badly needed for such gatherings. Next spring the annual convention of the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association is to be held here, and after camping that large organization in the city hall and the opera house for several years, it is the opinion of many that some more suitable place for a convention should be provided. There are political conventions, farmers' congresses, etc., which move from town to town in the state and Fort Worth can get these if the proper building is provided.

There is a proposition pending before the Board of Trade from a Chicago builder who wants to put up an auditorium and this committee will have that for discussion.

It will be noticed that M. L. Epstein has been named as one of the committee. Epstein is the owner of the opera house in Denison, and it has been stated that in conjunction with O. R. Menefee, also a member of the committee, he has discussed putting up an opera house here. Having this matter in mind, it is no doubt with a view to getting some expression from Mr. Epstein in regard to a building, that he is invited to be one of the auditorium committee.

McCLEAN SAYS HE WILL NOT GIVE OUT PLANS

County Attorney Will Work Quietly in Future on the Policy Which He Has Commenced as an Officer

"Wish you would state in The Telegram for me that I do not care to make any further statements as to what I will do in the future, except to carry out the policy I have already inaugurated," said Prosecuting Attorney Jeff D. McClean this morning to a representative of The Telegram in speaking of the fight begun against Sunday opening and the closing of all gambling places in Fort Worth.

"I propose to keep up the work already begun in reference to these matters," Mr. McClean said in the future. "I shall endeavor to keep to myself what plans and devices I may select in putting into execution methods to be employed in closing gambling houses and the suppression of the practice of saloons keeping open on Sunday."

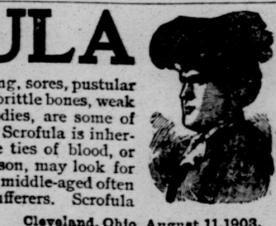

The prosecuting attorney said that he believed that he would be better able to enforce the laws by working quietly and not making public what he was doing in an official capacity. Hence, his decision noted above. "Reticence in the future, as to my movements regarding these matters, does not mean that all parties found guilty will not be vigorously prosecuted," he added.

In reference to the raid made by Mr. McClean and Sheriff Honea Saturday night when a place was closed and $33,300 and twelve dice were confiscated, the prosecuting attorney said that he had made cases against all parties known to him and that a man had since claimed the money, which is still in possession of Mr. McClean. He stated that a case had been made against the man and he will be prosecuted for exhibiting.

SCROFULA

Swollen glands, tumors, white swelling, sores, pustular or scaly skin eruptions, flabby muscles, brittle bones, weak digestion, emaciated, ily-nourished bodies, are some of the well-known earmarks of Scrofula. Scrofula is inherited. Parents too closely related by the ties of blood, or tainted with consumption or blood poison, may look for signs of Scrofula in their children. The middle-aged often have it, but children are the chief sufferers. Scrofula breaks down the vital forces, and the blood becomes so weak and poor that it does not nourish the body. The remedy in all scrofulous affections must be one that purifies the diseased blood, builds up the weak digestion, increases the appetite and gives new energy and strength to all life's forces. No medicine has won so much fame as a blood purifier as S. S. S., and its tonic effects upon the system are not equalled by any other remedy. It makes the weak, tainted blood rich and strong, and drives out of the circulation all tubercular deposits and morbid matter that cause the glandular swelling, sores, abscesses, tumors and other horrible symptoms that make Scrofula so dreaded and dangerous.

KING COTTON.

What It Means For America.

IN the old days before the war, cotton was King, and the cotton crop was of the greatest importance to the United States. Our vast wheat and corn growing states were then in their infancy. Cotton is again king to the front, and its importance to American industry is vastly greater than some years back, and just as the people and the resources of the South have become elements of our national strength, so has cotton become a great factor in our national prosperity. One large speculator made the price of cotton higher in 1903, and fortunately the growers of cotton respected some of the benefits of the higher prices before their crop was out of their hands. The value of the crop to the southern planters, was about six hundred millions of dollars, which was about one-third more than the South has received for its cotton in former years. Never before in the history of the cotton trade have the southern planters realized such high prices for their cotton. The southern people—strong, brave and chivalrous—bear a very important part in our national strength. Just as cotton bears such an important part in our national prosperity, so are the people of the South a great factor in our strength as a Nation.

The southern people are, as a rule, hardy and strong. They have more than their share of the sunshine, and modern medical science is proving every day that sunshine has a great deal to do with our health. The disease-carrying germs are germs of darkness; they lurk in dark corners of buildings. Sunshine as a rule kills these germs, but there are drawbacks to life in the South. The warm climate is enervating, the stomach suffers from indigestion, the whole system lacks good, rich red blood which produces energy and force. To supply this good blood and to get rid of the poisons in the system, we know of nothing so good as an alterative extract of roots and herbs prescribed forty years ago by Dr. R. V. Pierce, in his large practice. He is chief medical director of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. This herbal extract was finally put up by him in such form that it could be easily procured at all stores where medicines are sold. Made without the use of a particle of alcohol or any narcotic, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has enjoyed larger sales in the past thirty-eight years than any other extract for the making of rich clean blood. Its alternative effect on the body completely removes all poisons clogging the system and it then goes to work in the right way, assisting the stomach to absorb from the blood just the elements required for forming rich red blood. This pure blood in time feeds the heart and the other organs of the body on the proper nourishment they require to be vigorous and healthy. Many people have been cured of indigestion by this remedy, and many people have been cured of blood diseases by its use. After fevers and weakening illnesses, this remedy is a wonderful flesh-building tonic. It bears the stamp of public approval.

PRESBYTERY IS TO MEET TUESDAY AT WEATHERFORD

It Will Consider the Admission of Dr. J. W. Caldwell, Recently Selected as Pastor of First Church Here

A special session of Fort Worth Presbytery will be held at Weatherford tomorrow for the purpose of passing on the application of Dr. William Caldwell of this city for membership in the presbytery and to settle the matter that recently created somewhat of a sensation at a session of the Texas synod which convened at Austin to consider his case, which was sent back to this presbytery for adjustment. The doctor feels confident of satisfaction showing just how he stands on all questions which it has been charged he does not believe in, according to the faith of his church. At a largely attended meeting of the First Presbyterian church which has extended a call to Dr. Caldwell, held Sunday, a petition signed by all church officers and members of the congregation, was read endorsing the doctor, his faith, beliefs, etc., and asking his acceptance into presbytery. To the petition was signed more than 200 names of members of the congregation. The petition will be presented to presbytery when it convenes at Weatherford. There will be a large number of friends of the doctor attend presbytery.

AN UNGUARDED PACKAGE IS DECLARED LOST

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Property lying unguarded in the public street, whether it be in front of an express office or department store, has been declared "lost" within the meaning of the law by Magistrate Whitman. This ruling was made when the magistrate discharged a man arraigned on a charge of having stolen a package containing a handbag from the sidewalk in front of an express office. The package, it was testified, was the only one on the sidewalk at the time.

TAKES POULTRY PRIZE

SHERMAN, Texas, Nov. 19.—Dupont Lyon, who owns the largest poultry yard in Texas, if not in the whole country, captured about sixty prizes with fifty-one birds shown at the poultry show which closed at Marshall this afternoon. The message received stated that he took the grand sweepstake, thirty first prizes, sixteen second prizes, four third prizes, the prize for the best collection, another for the best scoring male and female and six other special prizes. Mr. Lyon is one of the greatest of bird fanciers, and is much enthused with the showing made at Marshall. His poultry yards are his pride and he has at great cost collected nearly every known breed, including some of the rarest in the world.

CHICKASHA, I. T., Nov. 21.—Owens Fitzpatrick, negro, a citizen of Chickasha, National bank, of Chickasha, has been arrested charged with stealing a package containing $5,000 from the bank a month ago. Most of the money was recovered.

There Was a Phenomenal Run of Cows and Calves on the Fort Worth Market Today—Over Seven Thousand Head Are Received—Nearly Two Thousand More Than the Same Day a Week Ago

NO MARKET THANKSGIVING
The members of the exchange will observe Thanksgiving day, next Thursday, as a holiday. No buying or selling or weighing will be done on the yards. Live stock arriving will be yarded and fed. Shippers are notified not to ship stock to arrive on Thursday.

NORTH FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 21.—A phenomenal run of cattle marked the supply of today's market—230 cars, equal to 7,500 cattle and calves, against 4,732 this day last week, 5,804 same day a month ago and 4,457 the corresponding day a year ago. The quality of offerings was somewhat inferior, with the exception of calves, the quality of which was fully equal to the best of last week. The steer supply was not large, with the exception of feeders, from which no difficulty existed in making selections. The lack of good steers did not tend to stimulate prices in the face of the big run which continued throughout the day. Steer prices were cut early 15 cents on the best grades, and 20 cents on the feeder class.

The big run of cows failed to bring in anything of a toppy nature, the bulk being made up of common butchers and the inferior and undesirable sorts. On the inferior and undesirable sorts, with a few best cows, prices were shrunk fully 20 cents, and on canners and salters a full quarter. Trading was generally active, owners taking a philosophical view of the situation and submitting to the cut which the oversupply forced upon them, with a view of getting rid of holdings as soon as possible, fearing a possible overrun tomorrow.

The bull supply was short and prices held almost steady with Saturday. Calves were in to the tune of around 500. Some of the best quality, choice vealers, sold steady with the end of the week, while the heavy calves were in better demand and commanded slightly stronger prices.

The hog market opened with twenty-two cars in the pens and three more due to arrive, around 2,000 head, one of the largest runs of the season. The quality shown was not equal to the best of last week. Reports from northern packing points disclosed extra large runs, with a 10-cent drop in prices. Trading began here on a basis of 5 to 10 cents lower than Saturday, best hogs selling at $4.72 1/2, equal in weight and finish with those that sold Saturday at $4.80. Bulk of sales went between $4.65 and $4.70. Prices on pigs unchanged.

BRADBURN-DAVIS
The marriage of G. K. Bradburn and Miss May Davis was celebrated yesterday morning by Rev. Luther Little at the First Baptist church.

A SUSPENSION

A conference incident to the Saturday night raid was held in Prosecuting Attorney McLean's offices Sunday afternoon between that official and Chief of Police William M. Rea and John F. Henderson, chairman of the police committee of the city of Fort Worth, the object being to talk over the matter with reference to the statement made in The Telegram that an officer of the city had attempted to interfere with the raid on the place. Mr. McLean stated today that Chief Rea wished to be informed on just what was said and done by the aforesaid city official and also to ascertain his name. The chief was told who the party was, and the conference ended.

Discussing the matter with The Telegram Mr. McLean stated that when he Sheriff Honea made their way across Main street and stepped up to the back door of the Strong place, two men were observed standing in front of an entrance to the house, and that the city officer simply said "Hey!" to the officers who passed on into the place. "You can put your own construction to what was said," said Mr. McLean.

"I don't care to say anything further regarding the fight I am making and will continue to make on all evil doers," said Mr. McLean.

SUSPENDS AN OFFICER
Chief of Police Rea yesterday morning after reading the article in The Telegram relative to the conduct of an officer of the city police department in regard to the raid made Saturday night by County Attorney McLean and Sheriff Honea, went at once to the police station and after a few minutes conversation with Mr. Potts, chief of the force, it is stated that Mr. Potts suggested a suspension and investigation. J. F. Henderson, chairman of the police committee, also suggested it.

This morning Chief Rea gave the following statement to The Telegram relative to the suspension of the chief of the Fort Worth detective force. "I suspended Mr. Potts at his own suggestion. If he is guilty of the conduct mentioned, he ought to be off the force, and if innocent, he ought to be reinstated as soon as possible. I know that Mr. Potts from his own statement was in that neighborhood at the time in the pursuance of his duties and was probably unaware that anything had happened or was about to happen."

MR. HENDERSON'S STATEMENT
J. F. Henderson, the chairman of the police committee of the city council, who had advised Chief Rea upon reading the article that the officer be suspended pending an investigation by the police committee of the council, was seen this morning and asked regarding the matter concerning the suspension of Mr. Potts. He said: "When I read the article in the Sunday Telegram I went direct to Chief Rea and took the matter up with him. He then suggested that Mr. Potts be suspended; that it was best to have an investigation. We will hold the investigation tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the committee room of the city hall. While the police committee has no power to compel witnesses to appear, as I understand the law, yet we ask that anyone knowing anything about the incident attend and tell what they know. I have found out that Mr. Potts was there at the time. There is nothing in the article, however, that would indicate who it was."

"So far as I am concerned, as chairman of the police committee, the investigation is going to be just as rigid as I can make it. If any official, so far as I am concerned, in my official capacity, is guilty of interfering with the county officers in the discharge of their sworn duties, I wish to have such a matter thoroughly investigated to the end that the man may be punished and the supremacy of the law upheld."

S. S. Potts, chief detective, handed this written statement to The Telegram today: "I was out Saturday night until 11 p. m. searching for the negro wanted for assault to rape the lady on her way from the packing house Saturday about noon, and falling to find him I was standing in the corner at Eleventh and Main streets waiting for a street car to go home, when Mr. McLean and Mr. Honea came along. I walked out to see if my car was in sight and saw McLean and Honea go up the back stairs. I had no idea that they were making a raid and did not think that gambling was running for the reason I had notified the proprietor the night before also the proprietors of all other gambling houses to close up. That Chief Rea had given me instructions to assist the county attorney fully to suppress all violations of the law and I had so stated to Mr. McLean Saturday afternoon and on previous occasions. I did not speak to McLean or Honea, did not go near them, was not asked by either of them for my assistance, nor did they say anything to me. I did nothing to interfere with them but would have been glad to have assisted them if they had asked me to. In corroboration of my statement I will say further that I have talked to Mr. McLean about the matter and he bears me out in every particular as to what happened Saturday night. Mr. McLean emphatically declares that I did absolutely nothing in the world to interfere with him and the sheriff and made no effort to stop them in enforcing the law. I had not been at the corner of Main and Eleventh streets five minutes when they passed by. I asked Chief Rea that my action in this matter be investigated.

Respectfully,
S. S. POTTS.

A FATHER TAKES CHILD FROM HOME

Shortly afternoon today the police department was notified of a most sensational kidnaping case in this city, which they are endeavoring to solve.

The alleged kidnapers in the case are the father of the little girl taken and a friend.

According to the reports, the father and mother of the child, who is a beautiful girl, 7 years of age, were divorced about a year ago by Judge Smith, the child then remaining with the mother. She moved away for a time, but later returned to this city, leaving the child at the home of his maternal grandmother, living elsewhere in the city herself.

Today, the father's friend is said to have appeared at the home of the grandmother and to have given the child a dime with which to purchase some candy. The child went to a neighboring grocery store, secured the candy and came out. Outside the store her father was waiting in a buggy. Assisted by his friend he placed the child in the buggy, drove to the court house and turning there went down Main street, where trace of the team was lost.

During this time the child is reported to have been struggling constantly to escape. The mother was at once notified of the affair and in turn notified the police. Up until a late hour this afternoon the child had not been recovered.

A number of splendid sites are available with good railroad facilities, several of which will be offered on reasonable terms. The addition of the Burris elevator to those already in existence will be one more step toward making this city the grain center of the southwest.

County Attorney McLean showed his fearlessness as an officer of the law Saturday night, when he raided a gambling den and raked in a quantity of ready cash and paraphernalia. Mr. McLean made his race for office with a promise to fulfill the duties of the position as provided by law. He was only a few days ago inducted into office and celebrates the event by pulling a joint, the only one, it is claimed, that was running Saturday night.

THEY WANT WET WINTER

Cattlemen generally are apprehensive of a hard winter season, on account of the fact that for the past three winters the season has generally been very mild. They are willing to endure a pretty rigorous season provided it is accompanied by plenty of water. In fact, the cattlemen all say they want to see plenty of rain this winter, enough to soak the earth clear through to China, as some of them express it, in order that there may be plenty of early grass next spring and summer. The three mild winters we have had in succession have also been very dry winters, which caused late grass and poor cattle until well up in the summer of this year.

The greatest concern of the ranchmen at all seasons of the year is moisture, for with moisture he is sure of grass. He can stand low prices, slack demand and demoralized market conditions, but he wants to see plenty of rainfall on the range. And few of them will ever admit that the range has had all the moisture it needs. One more good one at the proper time is always necessary to make the grass what it should be, and still the cry is eternally for more. The western portion of the state has less rain and needs more than any other portion of Texas. The soil out in that section is generally very porous and the high winds that sweep over the elevated ranges dry the moisture out of the earth with great rapidity. Only a few days are required to obliterate the evidences of a big rain to a very great extent, and as soon as these evidences are removed the prayer is immediately wafted skyward for more.

From what can be learned of conditions out in the range country at this time, the outlook is generally very favorable. The late fall rains did not come as soon as they were desired, but in most instances they came in time to make good winter range. The supply of grass now on the range is so much better than it was at this time last winter that the average ranchman is in high spirits over the outlook and considers himself among the blessed. He looks to the future with confidence, and the roseate retrospect he draws of the situation is only marred by the fear of another mild, dry winter. Give him the moisture he feels he needs in his business this winter and he will show up in the spring as gay as a lark.

Discussing the situation generally a few days ago, one of our leading cattlemen remarked that while the past year had been a very hard one on the stock interests as a whole, yet it was a fact that some ranchmen had managed to make a little money. Others had been barely able to hold their heads above the water, and a few had gone down with a crash. He thought if the men now engaged in the business could get through the winter without large losses and there was sufficient precipitation to insure the coming of grass very early in the spring, it would be found that the turning point had already been passed in the cattle business, and from that time on there would be a gradual return of the dissipated prosperity. He did not think that prices next spring would be of a boom nature, as there were many adverse conditions yet remaining to be overcome, but these would be gradually adjusted until general prosperity would again be in vogue.

There seems to be a very general impression that something is now on the eve of being done in connection with the beef trust investigation that will result in an improvement in existing conditions. It is believed that when the election excitement has had time to thoroughly cool there is going to be such a shaking up of the beef trust's bones as will put that great combination on its good behavior at least for a time. If this is done, it is probable that market conditions will show improvement of a very substantial nature by the time the spring movement begins. The demand from the northwest may be small, but it is a fact that the number of steers offered in Texas next spring will be the smallest ever known.

The Telegram would suggest in all kindness to the business interests of Fort Worth that a strong effort should at once be brought to bear to place this city in closer touch with the agricultural interests of the surrounding country. There has been too much disposition to overlook this matter in the past, and we are today reaping the fruits of that neglect. We should make the farmers realize that Fort Worth wants to do business with every one of them.

John D. Rockefeller, junior, tells his Sunday school class that "Some men think they can buy their way into Heaven. This treasure is of such great value that it can not be bought." All of which is very true. The ill-gotten Rockefeller millions will not buy their holder even one peep at the promised land. Standard Oil is not used for illuminating purposes there.

The surprisingly large vote received by Debs, the socialist candidate for the presidency, is pretty good evidence that there are a large number of our people who are losing confidence in the proposition that democracy is the party of the people. A few more blunders on the part of the democratic party and it will be relegated to the things that were.

The London Spectator, in commenting on President Roosevelt's election, asks, "What will he do with it?" Present indications are that he is going to do what he thinks is right, regardless of the opinions of his party associates. This may cause him some trouble, but the president is a man who never tries to dodge a thing of that kind.

County Attorney McLean is demonstrating the fact that he is something of a lid putter on himself, and proposes to enforce the laws without fear or favor. The gentlemen who left their kale seed exposed in their hasty exit Saturday night can learn something to their disadvantage by applying at the county attorney's office.

The south now looks good in her splendid political isolation, and if she is wise she can hereafter constitute the balance of power in the affairs of this nation. Independence politically is the strong card of the south at this time, and her votes can be placed from now on where they will do the most good if our leaders are wise enough to grasp the opportunity.

The Russians and Japs are again fighting around Mukden, and it is predicted that this engagement will be the decisive battle of the war. It does look like some means ought to be found of putting a stop to the butchery that is going on in Manchuria. The world should be too civilized to permit such things to occur.

The death of Colonel W. C. P. Breckenridge of Kentucky removes a very able man from the scene of his usefulness, and is generally regretted. Colonel Breckenridge had his faults, but the fact will always remain that he was a man of unquestioned ability.

How the owner of Dan Patch could expect to lower the horse's record in as slow a town as Dallas is one of those mysteries that are too deep for average comprehension. No self-respecting horse could be expected to do his best in Dallas.

The state of Colorado may never be troubled with the boll weevil, but in Governor Peabody she has something infinitely worse. The defeat of that gentleman is the greatest blessing that has come to the state in years.

Governor Lanham is now at work on his annual message to the state legislature, and it is probable that the matter will be coughed in the most agreeable English. The governor writes well when he feels an interest in his subject.

Chairman Lyon's suggestion that only capable republicans should be inducted for office is a most sensible one. If we must have republican officeholders in the south, please give us the best that the party contains.

President Roosevelt has promised to come to Texas next spring, and if he comes we will unite in making him regret he is a republican and wish he was a Texas democrat.

A Texas man has perfected a device which converts a buggy into an automobile, and this will doubtless soon bring the red devils down to the dust where they will no longer be regarded as a luxury.

The oldest voter in the United States today is Merick Keerwin of Seward, Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania. He has just passed his 107th birthday, and this year voted the democratic ticket as usual.

General Miles says he still has faith in the American people. Of course he has. The American people are still doing business at the old stand.

The Debs vote this year passed the 600,000 mark, and that fact is a standing rebuke to the men who reorganized the democratic party.

The hunting season is now open in Kentucky, and game is still abundant in the mountains. Much of it will no doubt be brought down in the same old way.

It is said that Fort Arthur has been a graveyard for 82,000 Japs and Russians since the siege first began, and the end is not yet.

Arlington does not seem to be the best cotton market after all. The farmers will find out some day it is to their advantage to cultivate Fort Worth.

Gleanings From the Exchanges

C. Arthur Williams and his predictions as to the results are among the things that were and are not. How he ever boosted himself into a staff or special correspondent with brains enough to fool any editor is one of the inexplicable things, unless it was the desire of these editors to be fooled, and make him responsible for opinions and statements that they would not stultify their intelligence by making over their own columns as editorial utterances. John Sharpe Williams is infinitely sharper than C. Arthur Williams, but in this instance it would puzzle the Philadelphia lawyer to tell which had missed it most as to the election.—San Antonio Light.

Democrats indulge in the fond hope that they will not C. Arthur any more in the role of an election prognosticator. His election forecasts were just about on a par with the government weather bureau long range guesses.

If every state candidate was as liberal as Governor Lanham, Chairman Andrews had a magnificent campaign fund at his disposal. The governor swears that his expenses for the campaign amounted to $2.—McKinley Gazette.

With the sworn statement that his campaign expenses only amounted to $2 the governor sets the state an example of political thrift not to be sneezed at. Was there ever another governor of Texas elected on an expenditure of so little money?

Four more years of Rooseveltism! Who knows but in that time a "flying squadron" may be seen to ascend the Trinity?—Terrell Transcript.

Some envious Fort Worth paper above the head of navigation may be constrained to remark that a squadron would have to fly in order to come up the Trinity, but a report of work now under way, published in the Times-Herald, leads one to the conclusion that a squadron may come up under its own steam at no far distant day.—Dallas Times-Herald.

A squadron of small catfish are reported to have found very fair swimming in the Trinity during the recent rise, and the circumstance has been eagerly called to the attention of the Federal authorities by Dallas citizens as conclusive evidence that the rotten old stream is navigable.

In connection with the embezzlement of Kansas school funds a prominent citizen of the Sunflower state in a speech stated that "the school fund commission has stuck its long felonious fingers into the pockets of posterity and is snatching the money to pay for the education of children yet unborn."—Galveston Tribune.

The Kansas brand of embezzler is no respecter of persons. He had as soon steal from posterity as from the present generation, and always does ample justice to the occasion. The Kansas grafter is a very smooth animal an always has an eye open to the main chance.

This will help you to figure out just how large Texas really is. If you have a star mathematician in your family, tell him the number of square miles there are in the big state; then tell him the population of the globe; then ask him if all the people in the world were placed in Texas and its soil divided out among them per capita how large would the man's farm be who had a wife and two children? When he gets through figuring, then whisper in his ear "more than half an acre." Great is Texas!—Texarkana Courier.

There may be bigger and better things in this world than Texas, but they have not yet been located. The eyes of the world are upon the state, and her growth and development is but little short of phenomenal.

Governor Lanham is setting a good example. He believes in home products and hence is pleased to wear clothes from a Texas factory. For two years he has done this, and the other day in passing through the city he had his measure taken for a suit of clothes to wear at the coming inaugural, the cloth of which was made from wool taken from the necks of Texas sheep. The big mill in Waco makes this cloth, which is a standard argument in favor of a cotton mill in the same neighborhood.—Waco Times-Herald.

All Texans should unite in the determination to patronize Texas institutions. In that way we keep our money at home and in active circulation. This is much better than to send it out of the state to build up other communities.

Perhaps the dearest bought of all titles of good fellowship is that of being a "good fellow." It costs more to gain, takes more to maintain and brings less in the end, than all others.—Texarkana Courier.

A man is usually only regarded as a good fellow so long as his cash holds out and is freely dispensed. After that he is a "poor fellow."

Minnesota has chosen the democratic son of a washerwoman for governor, even though the state went for Roosevelt. To charge a man, nowadays, with being poor is only to make him the more popular with the people.—Denton News.

The strongest claim the governor-elect of Minnesota had upon the people was that he had been good to his mother. That kind of a man will always do to tie to.

Heaven! This thing is getting to be little short of deadly! fumed Crenshaw, his right-hand neighbor, who was also a member of the corps of observation. "I'm going to the club for a game of pool. Won't you come along?"

Kent nodded and left his seat with the bored one. But in the great round he changed his mind.

THE GRAFTERS BY FRANCES LINDE COPYRIGHT, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FOUR, BY THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

SYNOPSIS. Gaston is a city of the plains, an infant among cities as to size, but old in age. The tale is of the days of the Mormon's march westward. The town made no progress for a decade until a railroad came that way. Speculators buy ahead of the Western Pacific the lands of the pioneer settler. The town is boomed. The professional city builder is at hand. Jethro and Simsby after a year returns to his former land, sees the improvements and, discouraged, takes to drink and kills himself over his bad venture. The new characters of a boom town are portrayed and a vivid picture is drawn of a town on the Great American Desert after its many claimed virtues have disappeared. The story smacks of Texas and her early people. There are politics in Gaston and one man, David Kent, has plans. He is a young man and becomes one of the new town's population. He has come west to grow up with the country. He had a love affair in the east. The same parties become the participants of it in the new town. The characters are cleverly handled by the author. Loring, also a young man who comes west from his eastern home, brings memories of a romance in the east. (Continued from Yesterday.) David Kent was of this silent army of observation, doing watch-dog duty for the Western Pacific; thankful enough, if the truth be told, to have a thing to do which kept him from dwelling overmuch upon the wreck of his hopes. But in the closing days of the session, when a despatchful assembly, anxious to be quit of its task, had gone into night sittings, the anodyne drug of work began to lose its effect. The Brentwoods had taken furnished apartments in Trejon avenue, two squares from the capitol, and Kent had called no oftener than good breeding prescribed. Yet their accessibility, and his unconquerable desire to see his wound in the flame that had caused it, were constant temptations, and he was battling with them for the hundredth time on the Friday night when he sat in the house gallery listening to a perfunctory debate which concerned itself with a bill touching state waterways. "Heavens! This thing is getting to be little short of deadly!" fumed Crenshaw, his right-hand neighbor, who was also a member of the corps of observation. "I'm going to the club for a game of pool. Won't you come along?" Kent nodded and left his seat with the bored one. But in the great round he changed his mind. "You'll find plenty of better play-ers than I am at the club," he said in extenuation. "I think I'll smoke a whiff or two here and go back. They can't hold on much longer for to-night." Five minutes later, when he had lighted a cigar and was glancing over the evening paper, two other members of the corporation committee of safety came down from the senate gallery and stopped opposite Kent's pillar to struggle into their overcoats. "It's precisely as I wrote our people two weeks ago—a timidity scare, pure and simple," one of them was saying. "I've a mind to start home tomorrow. There is nothing doing here, or going to be done." "No," said the other. "If it wasn't for House Bill Twenty-nine, I'd go tonight. They will adjourn tomorrow or Monday." "House Bill Twenty-nine is much too dead to bury," was the reassuring rejoinder. "The committee is ours, and the bill will not be heard of again at this session. If that is all you are holding on for—" They passed out of earshot, and Kent folded his newspaper absently. House Bill Twenty-nine had been the one measure touching the sensitive "vested interests;" the one measure for the suppression of which the corporations' lobby had felt called on to take steps. It was an omnibus bill put forth as a substitute for the existing law defining the status of foreign corporations. It had originated in the governor's office—a fact which Kent had ferreted out within twenty-four hours of its first reading—and for that reason he had procured a printed copy, searching it diligently for the hidden meaning he was sure it embodied. When the search proved fruitless, he had seen the bill pass the house by a safe majority, had followed it to the senate, and in a cunningly worded amendment tacked on in the upper house had found what he was seeking. Under the existing law foreign corporations were subject to state supervision, and were dealt with as presumably unfriendly aliens. But the senate amendment to House Bill Twenty-nine fairly swept the interstate corporations, as such, out of existence, by making it obligatory upon them to acquire the standing of local corporations. Charaters were to be refiled with the secretary of state; resident directories and operating headquarters were to be established within the boundaries and jurisdiction of the state; in short, the state proposed, by the terms of the new law, to deal only with creatures of its own creation. Kent saw, or thought he saw, the fine hand of the junto in all this. It was a still hunt in which the longest way round was shortest way home. Like all new-country codes, the organic law of the state favored local corporations, and it might be argued that a bill placing the foreign companies on a purely local footing was an unimproved blessing to the aliens. But on the other hand, an unprincipled executive might easily make the new law an engine of extortion. To go no further into the matter than the required refile of charters: the state constitution gave the secretary of state quasi-judicial powers. It was within his province to pass upon the applications for chartered rights, and to deny them if the question pro bono publico were involved. Kent put two and two together, saw the wide door of exactions which might be opened, and passed the word of warning among his associates; after which he had watched the course of the amended House Bill Twenty-nine with deep interest sharpest, planning meanwhile with Hildreth, the editor of the Daily Argus, an expose which should make plain the immense possibilities for corruption opened up by the proposed law; a journalistic salvo of publicity to be fired as a last resort. The measure as amended had passed the senate without debate, and had gone back to the house. Here, after the second reading, and in the very hour when the Argus editorial was getting itself cast in the linotypes, there was a hitch. The member from the Rio Blanco, favoring the measure in all its parts, and fearful only lest corporation gold might find a technical flaw in it, moved that it be referred to the committee on judiciary for a report on its constitutionality; and, accordingly, to the committee on judiciary it had gone. Kent recalled the passing of the crisis, remembering how he had hastened to telephone the Argus editor to kill the expose at the last moment. The incident was now a month in the past, and the committee had not yet reported; would never report, Kent imagined. He knew the personnel of the committee on judiciary; knew that at least three members of it were down on the list, made up at the beginning of the session by his colleagues in the army of observation

as "approachables." Also, he knew by inference at least, that these three men had been approached, not without success, and that House Bill 29, with its fee-gathering amendment, was safely shelved. "It's an ill-smelling muck-heap!" he frowned, recalling the incidents of the crisis at the suggestion let fall by the two outgoing lobbyists. "And so much of this dog-watch as isn't sickeningly demoralizing is deadly dull, as Crenshaw puts it. If I had anywhere to go, I'd cut the galleries for tonight." He was returning the newspaper to his pocket when it occurred to him that his object in buying it had been to note the stock quotations; a daily duty which, for Elinor's sake, he never omitted. Whereupon he reopened it and ran his eye down the lists. There was decided upward tendency in westers. Overland Short Lines had gained two points; and Western Pacific— He held the paper under the nearest electric globe to make sure: Western Pacific, preferred, was quoted at fifty-eight and a half, which was one point and a half above the Brentwood purchase price. One minute later an excited lifesaver was shut in the box of a public telephone, gritting his teeth at the insanity of the central operator who insisted on giving him "A-1234" instead of "A-1234," the Hotel Wellington. "No, no! Can't you understand? I want twelve-thirty-four; one, two, three, four; the Hotel Wellington." There was more skirling of bells, another nerve-trying wait, and at last the clerk of the hotel answered. "What name did you say? Oh, it's you, is it, Mr. Kent? Ormsby? Mr. Brookes Ormsby? No, he isn't here; he went out about two minutes ago. What's that you say? Damn? Well, I'm sorry, too. No message that I can take? All right. Good-bye." "This was the beginning. For the middle part Kent burst out of the telephone box and took the nearest short cut through the capitol grounds for the street car corner. At a quarter of nine he was cross-questioning the clerk face to face in the lobby of the Wellington. There was little more to be learned about Ormsby. The clubman had left his key and gone out. He was in evening dress, and had taken a cab at the hotel entrance. Kent dashed across to his rooms and in feverish race against time, made himself fit to chase a man in evening dress. There was no car in sight when he came down, and he, too, took a cab with an explosive order to the driver: "124 Tejon avenue, and be quick about it!" It was the housemaid that answered his ring at the door of the Brentwood apartment. She was a Swede, a recent importation; hence Kent learned nothing beyond the bare fact that the ladies had gone out. "With Mr. Ormsby?" he asked. (Continued Tomorrow.)

"If the gamblers driven out of Fort Worth attempt to transfer their attentions to North Fort Worth, they will find a net spread for them," declared City Marshal Howell of North Fort Worth.

That there has been some gambling going on in North Fort Worth is admitted, but declared that he was doing everything possible to prevent it both by arresting and raiding.

"Of course it is only natural to suppose that a portion of the gamblers will drift to this side of the river," he continued, "but it will be an unfortunate move for them."

A close watch will be kept for any operations and the first attempts toward the opening up in the vicinity will be promptly suppressed.

In view of the well known determination of City Marshal Howell it is not expected any great efforts will be made to transfer operations across the river, his record and skillful handling of affairs during the recent packing house strike, when the peace was preserved without friction making the sporting fraternity respect his declarations.

PANKEY OPPOSES TO FIGHTING WAR OVER AGAIN

Member of Lee Camp Believes Veterans Should Forget the Old Sores Caused by the Civil Strife

In the absence of Commander E. W. Taylor, Lieutenant Johnson presided on motion of Dr. George Jackson.

Prayer was offered by Past Captain Pankey, after which Assistant Adjutant Kirtley read the minutes of the former meeting, which were approved.

Further time was extended the committee, which had charge of the recent entertainment gotten up for the benefit of the indigent fund of the camp. Another similar entertainment is contemplated to take place in December. A committee composed of Comrades Abston, Parker and Kirtley, was named to work out details of the entertainment.

Dr. George Jackson presented the camp with a copy of the minutes of the thirtieth state encampment, held at Temple, July 20 and 21.

A vote of thanks was extended to all those who assisted in making a success of the recent entertainment for the benefit of the camp.

Comrade Pankey, under the head of "good for the order," said he wished to make a suggestion along the line of reform. He said it was his idea that veterans should be morally brave men and let the past be buried and not continually open old sores caused by the civil war. He referred to the how the old federal soldier came to the assistance of the Confederate comrades and helped them carry the proposition to increase the state pensions from $250,000 to $500,000. He said that these bickerings were working an injustice to the Confederate soldiers and were doing no good.

Thomas Cross next spoke, but took a different view of the matter, and said that if he had to be a "lickspittle," he would never ask for a pension.

Also Harris said that at the national meeting of the Mexican Veterans at St. Louis he heard many federal soldiers comment on the fact that the Confederate soldier was entitled to a pension and should have it.

Dr. Jackson said that all Confederate veterans who expected a pension from Uncle Sam are harking up the wrong tree.

The examining committee approved the application for membership in the camp of J. H. Hightower. Mr. Hightower enlisted from this country in February, 1862, as corporal in company C, and was only 16 years old at the time. He served under Captain Leonard two years on post duty at Dallas, Bonham and Tyler. Later he went into the regular service in Captain J. C. Terrell's company of cavalry. He was furloughed in March, 1865, and before the furlough expired, the army surrendered.

James M. Williams made application for membership. The application was referred to the committee.

MEETING OF THE SONS

There was an interesting session of the sons' camp yesterday afternoon, presided over by Commander W. Booth. Besides business matters the social features were very enjoyable. Short addresses were delivered by Colonel Abe Harris, Thomas Cross and J. C. Scott.

The amusement numbers were participated in by Miss Gregg, Miss Eubanks, Clarence Able, and Mr. Bedford, the latter rendering a pleasing recitation.

A committee composed of Messrs. Curtis, Bratton and Young was named to report resolutions on the departure of N. A. Tisdal and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ball and Miss Ball, who during the present year, depart for their new home at Rusk. These resolutions will be reported at the coming meeting next Sunday.

FIGHT FOR PRESIDENT

The annual convention of the state chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy will convene at Waxahatchie December 6 and continue one week, and it is expected that the session will be a very interesting one.

It is known here that there will be a fight for the presidency of the chapter. At present Miss Katie Daffan of Ennis is at the head of the association, but her place is being sought by Mrs. Crawford of Palestine, at present the president. Both parties have many friends who are up and doing in their respective interests.

Mrs. W. P. Lane of Fort Worth, the secretary of the chapter, will not be a candidate for reelection, and it is not known who will announce for the place.

RAILROAD NEWS

Announcement has been received by General Passenger Agent Glisson of the Denver to the effect that service on the extension of the St. Paul, Minn., and Dakota line, at present the company of Winnipeg, Manitoba, was opened today.

The new line extends a distance of 462 miles and it is stated solid through trains are being run under a schedule of approximately 100 hours.

This time is considered exceptional for a new road, but considering the fact that eighty-pound rails have been laid on gravel ballast, it is believed here the schedule will be successfully maintained.

Not a Medicine

Liquozone is not a medicine. It is not made by compounding acids or drugs, nor is there any alcohol in it. Its virtues are derived solely from germ-killing oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and fourteen days' time. Each cubic inch of Liquozone requires the use of 1,250 cubic inches of the gas.

Liquozone is the result of a process, which, for more than 20 years, has been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. The main result is to get into a liquid, and thus into the blood, a powerful, yet harmless, germicide. Another result is to create a vitalizing tonic with which no other known product can compare.

Went you do as those millions have done? If you are still using medicine for what medicine can not cure, won't you learn what others know about Liquozone? Won't you let us pay the cost of your test?

Acts Like Oxygen

The great value of Liquozone lies in the fact that it does what oxygen does. Oxygen is the vital part of air, the very source of vitality, the most essential element of life. It is the blood food, the nerve food, the scavenger of the blood. It is oxygen that turns the blue blood to

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Liquozone; and the British rights sold for a like sum. That is the highest price ever paid for scientific rights on any scientific discovery.

Before making this purchase, we tested the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, in this country and others. We employed it in all germ diseases, in thousands of the most difficult cases obtainable. We proved that in germ troubles it did what all the skill in the world could not accomplish without it.

Now Liquozone is more widely employed than any medicine ever was. It is more widely prescribed by the better physicians. And no one can doubt that it is doing more for sick humanity than all the drugs in use combined.

AGREE ON PASSES

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—It is understood that the eastern railroads have acquiesced in the annual pass agreement reached by the executives of the western lines last Tuesday in St. Louis.

The plan, which will be in effect for 1905, is practically the same as that used this year. Its main object is to prohibit the issuance of free or reduced transportation of any kind for the purpose of influencing or securing freight or passenger business.

ADDITIONAL HOLIDAY RATES

The Denver road has notified the chairman of the Southwestern Excursion Bureau of its intention to apply holiday rates to Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver for the December and January holidays, in addition to selling points in the old states in the southeast and the territory covered by the Western Passenger Association. The tickets, which will have a time limit of thirty days, will be sold at the usual rate of one fare plus 25%.

Local rates will also be put on for points in Texas at a rate of one fare plus 10 per cent for the round trip tickets being sold December 23, 24, 25, 26, 31 and January 1, good until January 3. The rate will also be maintained between Denver road points and stations on other lines in this territory.

KATY CHANGES

Much interest was displayed by local railroad men in the report of the approaching changes in the Texas division superintendency and the general superintendency, as contained exclusively in The Telegram of Sunday.

The appointment of N. J. Finney to succeed General Superintendent Alvord is accepted as highly probable and considerable speculation is being made regarding the superintendency of the Texas division. No suggestion can be secured as to the probable successor.

FRISCO OFFICIALS

General Passenger Agent Tuley of the Frisco and General Freight Agent Preston of the same road, both at Frisco, left this city last night for Chicago, where they have been for over a week.

Mr. Tuley attended the passenger meeting of the Rock Island-Frisco, as announced at the time of his departure.

Superintendent W. N. Neff of the Cotton Belt, accompanied by his secretary, H. W. Ferguson, Mrs. Neff and Miss Ethel Clark of Mount Pleasant, are in the city today.

Division Superintendent J. W. Robinson of the Santa Fe is also in the city, a meeting between him and Mr. Neff being stated to have been arranged.

Five Nations

Now Use Liquozone. Won't You Try It—Free?

Liquozone is now used almost the world over. Peoples half-the-world away from you are curing their ills by it. And so are people next door to you—your neighbors, your friends. Won't you ask some of them what Liquozone is doing? Then ask us for a bottle to try?

Liquozone is so new that few people realize how many millions are using it. One year ago it was almost unknown in America. Now nearly half the people you meet—wherever you are—know some one whom Liquozone has cured.

Don't you realize that a product which has spread like this must have remarkable merit? We have never asked a soul to buy Liquozone. We have published no testimonials, no evidence of cures. We have only asked the sick to let us buy the first bottle—to let the product itself show what it could do. Those sick ones told others, and the others told others. That is how it has spread.

Went you do as those millions have done? If you are still using medicine for what medicine can not cure, won't you learn what others know about Liquozone? Won't you let us pay the cost of your test?

All diseases that begin with fever—all inflammations—all catarrhs—all contagious diseases—all the results of impure or poisoned blood.

In nervous debility Liquozone acts as a vitalizer, accomplishing what no drugs can do.

MR. PADDOCK TALKS OF THE EMPTY BENCHES

He Gives His Idea of the Lack of Interest in Church Affairs—People Reject the Dogmas

The cause of empty pews in the churches was discussed by Captain E. B. Paddock, secretary of the Board of Trade, last night at Trinity Episcopal church. He ignored and dogmatic teachings of the ministers being assigned as the cause. Captain Paddock did not mince matters in his address, and announcing his belief in the deity and the Bible, he asserted he did not, however, believe all of the Bible as the ministers would have you do.

Considerable stir was caused at the closing of his remarks by his announcement of unbelief in the resurrection of the body and the portion of the creed containing that clause. In support of his position on this point he quoted the passage of Scripture detailing the rending of the temple. The raising of the dead at the time of the crucifixion and declared his belief that that portion of the Scripture was erroneous, for the reason that such an unprecedented event would have been handed down in the general histories and writings.

"It is sown a temporal body and reaped a spiritual body," and "flesh and blood shall not enter the kingdom of heaven," were quoted by him in support of his position.

On the theory of belief in the whole Bible he quoted the various versions, particularly the one containing the injunction against omissions and additions and the subsequent raising of the dead at the time of the crucifixion.

"Which Bible must I believe in toto?" he asked.

Touching the abuse of agnostics by ministers who play upon the feelings, he declared his unbelief that God would consign to torment a man who had earnestly endeavored to grasp the truth by a diligent study and failed through inability.

On the Sunday subject he also attacked the ministry, declaring "Sabbath made for man and not man for the Sabbath." He then took issue with the recent criticism of the Confederate veterans for their Sunday meetings, and declared such things were causing the empty pews of the church.

AMUSEMENTS

"Peggy from Paris" is coming to Greenwall's opera house tonight. This is George Ade's musical comedy, which has scored a tremendous success in New York, Boston, Chicago and wherever it has been presented. Critics and public have united in praising the wit, merriment and originality of the comedy, and have agreed in their admiration of the music, which was written by William Lorraine. "Peggy from Paris" outranks most musical comedies in respect to story and action. There is really an interesting comedy which would make an entertaining play even if the music were eliminated. Given the added attractiveness of bright and catchy music and there is formed a combination which create one of the most successful plays of the kind ever written. "Peggy from Paris" is particularly strong in interesting and amusing characters. The types are varied, but all are of un-falling amusement. There are country folk who visit the city and find its ways strange and mysterious; there are city folk who have great sport with unsophisticated guileless ristics; there are theatrical people and society leaders, men about town and that element that pursues actresses; there are men and women of exalted position who display the American weakness of paying homage to distinguished foreigners, and there are many other types with which the public is familiar and who are entertainingly caricatured. The person in the play are skillfully drawn by Mr. Ade, who gives them his brightest and best in wit, humor and satire. William Lorraine has written delightful music for the play. There are a great variety of airs and the music of "Peggy from Paris" has become popular wherever it has been heard. Wit, humor and satire is alternated with bright and merry music for comedians and chorus. The scenery and costumes are of rare beauty and attractiveness, as will be known from the fact that "Peggy from Paris" is under the management of Henry W. Savage.

"HAPPY HOOLIGAN"

The most popular comedies of today are those which introduce characters taken from the comic caricatures in the metropolitan papers, with which one is acquainted and familiar with the laughable incidents and pictures. Such a play is "Happy Hooligan," which comes to Greenwall's opera house Tuesday matinee and night, November 22, and the characters all seem to be flesh and blood creatures, somewhat exaggerated in their stage appearance, but easily recognized as if they had walked in from the pages of these well known publications. The scenes are from the pen sketches of that famous caricaturist, Fred Opper, and Frank Dumont has written a witty, sparkling dialogue even more humorous than he has given his other comedies, and several well known composers have contributed marvelously catchy and tuneful music that is an enjoyable feature of the entertainment. The comedy is one of the most uproariously funny pieces that has ever been seen here; in fact it is one huge laugh. There are three acts, each crowded with songs, dances and mirthful specialties that there is never a dull moment while the curtain is up.

"THE JEWEL OF ASIA"

Vera Michelena, the brilliant prima donna of "The Jewel of Asia," which will be seen in this city for the first time at Greenwall's opera house Wednesday matinee and night, November 23, has great faith in the future of Lone Island. She has invested her earnings in farm lands not far from Oyster Bay, the summer home of President Theodore Roosevelt. On one farm she has built a bungalow, where she spends her vacations. The remainder of the property she is holding for investment. Four years ago Miss Michelena was just leaving a convent in San Francisco. John P. Slocum heard her sing and placed her under a ten years' contract.

CHARLES B. HANFORD

The appearance of Charles B. Hanford in "Don Caesar De Bazar" at Greenwall's opera house on Thursday (Thanksgiving) matinee, November 24, is an event of more than ordinary interest, as he represents the school of acting which is considered in the fore front. An actor who has remained "good" for so long, over the same circuit and before the same people, as has Mr. Hanford, secures a standing which can not be estimated lightly. Mr. Hanford's name is a guarantee. He has been a welcome visitor season after season for many years and has never failed to give a performance which gratified the critical sense and delighted the auditor who seeks the theater for an evening's diversion. Trained as he was in his early career by the great masters of his art, he has steadfastly clung to the highest ideals of his profession and has claimed the admiring confidence of the public as an actor, as a stage manager and as a producer. Thursday night "Othello" will be given.

CHILE RESPECTS INTERNATIONAL LAW

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—In discussing reports circulated in Europe relative to the alleged sale of Chilean warships to Russia through Colombia, a high government official says, according to a Herald dispatch from Valparaiso: "This news is absurd. It is unworthy of the slightest attention. In respect for international law Chile occupies the same, if not a higher level than some of the greatest world powers. "It is quite as absurd to believe that Chile would sell battleships to a belligerent power as to suppose that the United States would sell some of her ships to Russia or Japan. Because Chile is placed on the South American continent is no reason to imply that she is a savage and uncivilized country, just as, on the other hand, there would be no reason to assume that she was a civilized country because she happened to be located in Europe."

SNEAK THIEF STEALS TROPHIES OF ATHLETE

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Attorney Meyer Prinstein, who a few years ago was numbered among the champion athletes of the world, having carried the colors of Syracuse University to the front in many events, has been despoiled by a sneaky thief of several valuable trophies kept in his residence here.

The losses include cups, medals, watches and plate and the athlete's law school diploma. The trophies were from games held by almost every one of the eastern colleges and universities and some from abroad.

SHOOTS A MAN IN THE HEEL AS HE RUNS

Deputy Sheriff O. H. Buck of this county and Sheriff Creswell of Erath county went out to Handley to effect the arrest of Thomas Thornton, who is wanted in Erath county on an indictment alleging horse theft. They found the man at home, but when Thornton observed the officers were after him he started to make his escape through the back yard down into a cotton patch. Officer Buck pursued when Thornton drew his gun and continued his flight. Buck fired to frighten the man, the ball taking effect

HE SAYS HE COMES ON MISSION OF PEACE

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The Most Rev. Ambrose Alfred Agius, recently appointed apostolic delegate of the Catholic church in the Philippines, who has just arrived here on his journey to the islands, declares his mission to be one of peace and good fellowship.

"I do not come," he added, "as a politician, but shall devote my energies to the spiritual welfare of the people of our faith. I expect to arrive in Manila in January."

ALL SALOONS ARE CLOSED, BUT POLICE MAKE MORE ARRESTS FOR DRUNKENNESS THAN IS USUAL ON THAT DAY HERETOFORE

ONE PLACE IS RAIDED
Saloon Near the Santa Fe Accommodates Territory Excursionists and the County Attorney Walks Into the Place

Yesterday was Sunday in Fort Worth, as well as in Tarrant county and the rest of the world at large. A closed Sunday it was supposed to be. However, there were more persons arrested for being drunk Sunday in Fort Worth than for the last two days of the same day in Fort Worth.

Yesterday ten men were arrested and taken to the city hall for being drunk as the police blotter will show. That was from midnight to midnight. The Sunday before only two arrests for being drunk were made and the Sunday before that only one arrest on the charge of intoxication was the extent of the arrests. On the first of the last four Sundays, October 30, two men only were arrested. A year ago yesterday three arrests were made on the same charge and the same day of 1902 only one party was arrested. That all the saloons could be closed and yet this amount of unprecedented drunkenness occurred seems impossible. Many of those arrested when searched at the city hall had on them corkcreeves and several had half empty bottles of whisky.

Saturday night the saloonkeepers did a landoffice business in the bottle trade and in selling drinks up to the last moment before midnight. For a time the rush was terrific and the barkeepers could hardly attend to the trade. All day Sunday whenever a proprietor of a saloon came to his place of business he was beseeched by some of his customers, who had inadvertently forgotten to prepare for the day, and asked to give them at least one drink of the Wild Cow's milk, but in most cases the owners of the saloons were inclined to obey the law and refused to do so. Several, however, went to the trouble of preparing for the day and the sly liquor. This was done as carefully as possible, but one man at least was not careful enough and his little game was nipped by County Attorney McLean.

A saloon between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets near the Santa Fe depot was caught in the act of passing out at the back door about 7 o'clock Sunday evening liquor to all who applied. The county attorney was inclined to believe that all the saloons were going to observe the law and had for a time forgotten all about the new order of things in Tarrant county. He had gone to the Santa Fe depot to accompany a friend. He noticed that the depot and the street in the vicinity of it was crowded with many persons, among whom a policeman and a man had an elegant sufficiency of the drink that cheers and inebriates. Mr. McLean knew that an excursion of some six hundred had come in on the Santa Fe in the morning from Purcell, I. T., and in immediate proximity to the depot began to do a little hard thinking and made some very rapid calculations and the next moment was out on the streets looking wise. Seeing a number of men going into a yard back of a saloon and none coming out he called to several policemen nearby and ordered them to do their duty and to come with him and the three men and a friend of the county attorney passed a watchman at the gate and in they went. At the back door of the saloon the place was being a landoffice business and only to be met by the proprietor and assured that there was absolutely nothing doing.

Young men representing the county attorney during the day visited a number of saloons and resorts to see what luck they would have in getting refreshments in violation of the law, but met with scant success. In one or two instances persons were met who assured them that by going to such and such a place whisky could be secured, but upon going there they were told that nothing was doing. Nevertheless, in almost every alley in the redlight district men could be seen drinking from bottles and it is presumed that several persons made neat fortunes yesterday bootlegging whisky. At the resorts no beer was sold all day and up to midnight. There the word was passed along that "there was nothin' doin'."

When midnight began to approach this morning around some of the saloons the crowds were fierce. Men were gathered about the front doors actually spitting cotton. Never had they been so dry in a long time. When the porters arrived to clean the saloons preparatory for the day's business many attempts were made to have the subordinates overreach the law just a little and sell them the first drink, but the men were too careful and avoided doing so and when the bartenders began to arrive the appeals were then renewed with fresh vigor and ambition, but they fell upon deaf ears and not a minute before twelve was a drink sold to the knowledge of The Telegram at that hour. When the doors were opened for business what a time was had. After an enforced dryness of almost twelve hours in many cases the rush was tremendous and for several hours the men behind the bars could hardly lead the liquor out fast enough for the thirsty men in front of them.

Reports were received about the city during the day that drinks could be secured at some of the resorts on the outskirts of the town, but visits there proved this untrue.

C. W. POST VISITS HIS PARENTS IN THIS CITY

Inventor of Postum-Cereal Is at His Former Home with His Bride—Success in Business

C. W. Post, the inventor of Postum Cereal and Grape-Nuts, is in the city to remain over Thanksgiving day with his father and mother, C. R. Post and wife of 406 Clarence street.

Accompanying Mr. Post is his bride, formerly Miss Leila Young, a member of one of the most prominent Battle Creek families, and for a long time secretary to Mr. Post, with whom she has traveled in many countries.

With his almost unprecedented success in business lines since his departure from this city, an invalid, in search of health, Mr. Post is now devoting much of his energies to securing the adoption of the Post-Check system of currency. Under this system which will be urged at the next session of congress, the government will issue $1, $2 and $5 bills in the form of checks which must be indorsed to become good. By indorsing them and placing a stamp upon them they may be sent anywhere as payment. Under the plan the checks would be issued to the banks instead of ordinary bills and upon use would be returned to the banks which would in turn exchange them for fresh ones. The cost of postage would reimburse the government for the issuing of the currency.

Mr. and Mrs. Post will remain in this city over Thanksgiving day. Mr. Post being very much attached to this city and a supporter of many of its institutions.

The success of the Postum Company is too well known to need repetition of their products through unneeded use of judicious advertising reached nearly every home in this land and having invaded many foreign fields. In addition to five American offices, the company now has branch offices in London, Paris and other foreign cities.

THANKSGIVING GAME TO BE GOOD ONE

The Elks football players have been working hard for some time to get in shape for the Thanksgiving game. They had a hard practice yesterday with the Sans Pareil team, and showed up in good condition.

In the game their experience will count for much, likewise their weight.

Just what the Fort Worth University players will depend upon to win is not known, but hints of fine team work and constant playing are being dropped by "Varsity" people.

Besides the regular Elks players, several Polytechnic College boys will be in their line up, and a fine game is anticipated for Thanksgiving afternoon at Haines park.

LINE-UP FOR GAME
The line-up for the Entre Nous-Sans Pareil football game Thanksgiving morning has been finally determined, the two teams being about evenly matched in weight with an average of 150 pounds.

Line-ups are reported to be in good shape and a hard struggle is promised between the Old Gold and White and the Old Gold and Black.

The line-up as announced is:
Sans Pareil: Entree Nous—Ashmore.....center.....O'Grain Honea.....right guard.....Reynolds Campbell.....left guard.....Spiller H. Farnsworth.....right tackle.....Stewart Anderson.....left tackle.....Jones M. And does it make any difference, if three-fourths of the paints are short-measure?
It seven pints a full-gallon or a full-gallon?
What's the penalty for making or selling whitewash paint?
Is whitewash paint, if mixed with a little paint and labeled "Pure mixed paint," or something like that?

BRONCHITIS

OFTEN THE SEED OF CONSUMPTION
Druggist R. A. Anderson Tells People of Fort Worth Quickest Means to Cure It.

For years cod liver oil has been known to possess remarkable curative relief from chronic coughs, colds, bronchial and lung troubles, but as a famous physician has said, on account of the grease it contains, it has been difficult for people to take enough of it into their systems to combat a thoroughly settled disease.

"Now, however," said Mr. Anderson, "we have Vinal, which contains in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal curative elements actually taken from fresh cod's livers, but without a drop of oil or grease to upset the stomach and retard its work, and there is no need to the amount any person can take into their system to overcome disease. Here are two letters that have just come to our attention:

"Mrs. Louisa Stover of Elkhart, Ind., writes: 'For a long time I suffered with bronchial trouble and feared consumption. I could not seem to get any relief from cough medicines, old forms of cod liver oil or emulsions. I coughed badly, and my chest was sore and irritated. Vinal has healed the soreness and stopped the cough and has strengthened and invigorated my whole system.'

"Mrs. John Hopkins, Bangor, Penn., writes that Vinal cured her son of bronchitis, from which he had suffered for years after everything else had failed.

"We ask every person in Fort Worth suffering from chronic colds, coughs, bronchitis, or who need an invigorator and strength-creating medicine to try Vinal on our guarantee to return the money if it fails." R. A. Anderson, Druggist.
