Apprentice Confesses That He Was Given Explosive and Instructed by Union Which Molds to Destroy

PRESIDENT IS INVOLVED

Charges Pending Against Officers of Iron Molders' Organization, as Being Party to Fight on the Open Shop Policy of Several Companies

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 23.—There was no disturbance at the foundries in Cincinnati, Covington and Newport during the night and there were no threatening conditions, as the men went to work in the "open shops" today.

Superintendent E. S. Reed, who has been in charge of seventeen Chicago detectives here, went to Detroit today to investigate reports regarding Thomas Bracken and other refugees. Meantime the police of three cities, who have been holding aloof, are rendering assistance.

Charges against Thomas Bracken and Edward Trainor were changed today to being accessory to the murder of Samuel Wesley, non-union molder, Ont., William Friend, alias Patton, who is held as principal, in another interview today denies all knowledge of any plot in which he drew a short straw to do the shooting and others were assigned their respective parts. All interest today centered in the charges made against Joseph F. Valentine, president of the Iron Molders' Union of North America, and other union officials. Detectives claim they have evidence the officials were abetting violence before the confession yesterday were known, and previous information they will still keep to themselves.

It is stated Fred L. Ranshauser, an apprentice, aged 19 years, today repeated his confession without conflict and it was confirmed by his father, who also is understood to be arrested. Ranshauser insists John Hook, committeeman of the local union, met him and his father on the night of Nov. 16. Later that night Hook brought in Joseph Hollowell, who went out for dynamite after Hook made arrangements with the apprentice. Hollowell was to get the dynamite at Kimkamp's office. Finding that place closed, Ranshauser said: "I was instructed in the use of dynamite by Joseph Hollowell. At the same time he told me to destroy mold shear punch. Valentine agreeing to pay me $20 if I succeeded in destroying the shear punch. I was told by Joseph Hollowell to destroy all molds I could and was given five cartridges by Hollowell. I left Valentine's office at 10 o'clock and returned to my home, telling my father what I expected to do. I went to work as usual Monday, Nov. 21."

In the remaining part of his confession Ranshauser tells of putting cartridges in the lathes at 3:30 p. m., Nov. 21, and the first discharge at 5 p. m., while workmen were pouring metal in the mold.

SUGGESTION IS THE CURE FOR HER BOY

Mrs. Washburne Has Received Many Inquiries From Others Who Want to Know About the Treatment

ELKHART, Nov. 23.—Since the publication a week ago of the story of Mrs. Marion Foster Washburne's remarkable cure of her son by suggestion, her mail has been deluged with letters of inquiry from parents of afflicted children and psychologists in all parts of the country. Some of the letters are very touching.

A Cincinnati father writes that his son is troubled with laughing spells and hysteria. A Waynesville (Ohio) woman writes that her boy stammers and is so nervous that he begs to be taken from school. This mother says she suffers untold anguish.

Mrs. Washburne has temporarily put aside her literary work and is endeavoring to reply to the queries. Today she gave an interesting account of how she started to try the suggestion experiment that cured her boy's brain trouble. She said:

"One evening he suffered unusual agony and I asked the Lord to take him out of his pain. Shortly after I fell into a deep sleep. When I awoke the next morning the suggestion plan was fully matured in my mind. I had been thinking along that line and reading books on the subject, but my ideas were vague. That sleep unified and clarified my hazy thoughts in a way analogous to chemical crystallization. All that day I devoted to explaining to the boy in simple language what I planned to do. He was capable of comprehending sufficiently to enable him to help me. That night I sat by his bed and when he went to sleep I completely controlled his breathing by putting my mouth to his ear and commanding him when to breathe.

Later the suggestions were directed toward his brain until in two months he was restored to perfect health."

NEGRO WOMAN KILLED

BONHAM, Texas, Nov. 23.—In answer to a telephone message received last night from Elwood, about twenty miles northwest of Bonham, Sheriff Wise has gone to investigate the killing of a negro woman, who, it is alleged, met death by the discharge of a shotgun in the hands of a negro man. He claims that the shot was purely accidental, and stated that there were witnesses to the accident. He was only recently discharged from the county jail here, after having served a jail sentence for several offenses, and an indictment is now against him in the district court on a charge of adultery.

FEDERAL JUDGE DECIDES THE CLAIM

Morning Glory Company Owns a Portion of the Mary McKinney Vein—A Suit Begun Two Years Ago

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 23.—Judge Marshall, who presided at the recent sitting of the United States circuit court at Denver, has decided that the Morning Glory Gold Mining Company owns 323 feet of the apex of the Mary McKinney vein which includes some of the largest ore shoots in the Mary McKinney mine in Cripple Creek. The Morning Glory company sought judgment for $1,000,000 from the Mary McKinney company in its suit begun about two years ago. This was not passed upon by the court and the amount will be decided by a referee.

SETTLES A SUIT OUT OF COURT FOR CASH

Miss McClellan Gets Thirty Thousand Dollars From the Estate of Charles Broadway Rous

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Miss Edna Weller McClellan's suit against the estate of Charles Broadway Rous has been settled. The amount obtained is more than $30,000 according to her mother. The suit was to enforce payment to her of $35 a week so long as she shall live and for $2,700 due since Mr. Rous stopped the allowance. A contract to pay this money, dated June 16, 1900, was a part of the papers in the suit. It reads:

Miss McClellan is now a woman of 21 years, with dark eyes and hair and a striking figure. She was only 17 years old when, according to her lawyer's version of her story, she began to sing at Sunday night concerts at Mr. Hummel's home. Not long after that Mr. Hummel, her attorney, said Miss McClellan called on him for advice in a contemplated action against the blind millionaire merchant.

Mr. Rous, in order to avoid a breach of promise lawsuit, executed the agreement. Payments were stopped six months before his death and his executor, William B. Rous, refused to recognize the claim. Miss McClellan's suit could not have reached trial until next year.

The young woman lives with her mother, Mrs. Caroline W. McClellan, at 105 West Seventy-seventh street. Mrs. McClellan came to the door when a reporter called today.

"Yes, it is true that the suit has been settled," she said, "but you can not see Miss McClellan. I will do all the talking necessary and as little of it as possible."

Miss McClellan first came into public notice after the naval battle of Santiago as a champion of Rear Admiral Schley. She started an "endless chain" scheme to raise money to purchase a loving cup for him. The money came in so rapidly that it was decided to buy a house. Mr. Rous' gift to this fund was $5.

BIG STICK METHODS ARE WHAT MAKE PANAMA IRRITABLE

Written for The Telegram By Marlen E. Pew, Staff Correspondent to the Newspaper Enterprise Association. COLON, Panama, Nov. 16.—Panama, the infant in the family of nations, has just completed the celebration of the anniversary of her birth, one year ago. For six riotous days the perplexing questions that now vex the child-nation were forgotten, and with ceremonies weird and wild beyond belief she set up her cry of rejoicing in her freedom. Throughout it all the slogan "Viva La Republica de Panama" was first only to that of "Viva la America." The Stars and Stripes found a place everywhere with the red, white and blue banner of the new nation. Black-faced natives, with their long, straight inkly hair dangling over their eyes, dressed in fantastic costumes of all the rainbow colors, performed their almost savage dances to the tune of "Yankee Doodle." Matadors, giddy with wine and gay in their sparkling uniforms, baited bulls in the plazas of Colon and Panama, while thousands of brown-tanned hands applauded their daring, and native bands blared out "America."

Now that she has her fling at funmaking, Panama has returned, after the true and accepted way she has of doing things, to the wrangle she is indulging in with the United States over the disputed interpretations of the treaty by which Uncle Sam proposes to dig the big ditch which will sever the western hemisphere and open a passage through the tropical zone from Atlantic to Pacific for the maritime commerce of the world.

The accepted form of salutation among Panamanians is to grasp left and right hands and pat backs with the others. An American, who adopted the isthmian as his home a dozen years ago, and who is a poet of ability, in one of his rhymes describes this form of greeting and sounds a note of warning to the world to beware of the hand behind the back and any sharp steel it may be clutching.

So it is that Panama yesterday madly sang "America," and today as wildly gives vent to vituperation against the United States based upon the charge that that government has taken undue advantage through misrepresentations of the canal treaty rights.

Panama professes sore indignation. Many of her citizens call the acts of Juggling of official authority, the right or wrong of which is an open question. Panama worked hand and glove with the administration to effect the treaty after her independence had been secured.

Then, after a lapse of seemingly unconscious quiet, the new born nation suddenly arose to take exception to Uncle Sam's goings on and it must be said that the finger Panama points point to the simple question of right and wrong with the American constitution and international laws as the basic principles.

Everything in relation to the matter had a shady aspect at least. The Nashville and Dixie, under sealed orders were on the scene of action with remarkable promptness. There was no time lost at Colon. There was no time lost at Washington across the gulf today reflects no great credit upon the administration at Washington. This is the expression of belief of Americans here, who claim no desire to be hypocritical or to show partisan feeling. This is their argument.

Without question Panama's independence was made to order for the purposes realized. The bloodless revolution of a year ago, when, without a shot, Panama ceded from Colombia and the army of that nation fled from Solon before the yawning muzzles of the guns of the cruiser Nashville while the Dixie was approaching from Kingston, was engineered by a clique of influential citizens of Panama, whose motives were not entirely patriotic, and who unquestionably had a very definite understanding with the powers that be at Washington.

The precipitate recognition of the new republic by President Roosevelt followed, and very soon America had purchased through treaty for $10,000,000 the canal zone and for $40,000,000 took up the valuable claims and properties of the old French canal company whose failure to complete the project fifteen years before had been the result of political grafting, and an astonishingly reckless waste of money and material.

Sure enough Uncle Sam had been dealing with slippery customers at Bogota. Certainly Colombia's negotiations were hedged on every side by the popular game of graft—an art, by the way, which a cocoanut peddler in the streets of Colon knows better than do some of the successful devotees of the game in the United States, who prey upon the public by way of Wall-street or politics. Colombia wanted to hold off signing the treaty until the claims of the French company had expired, and then Bogota would have had free rein in her hold-up project.

The defenders of the powers at Washington argue that the means to defeat this game of graft were justified by the fact that the United States view, end gained. President Roosevelt's critics declaring that the whole program was prearranged and that not only everybody in Colombia and the isthmus knew it, but President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay were cognizant of all that was about to and did happen.

The United States government in the strip territory across the isthmus, known as the canal zone, plain, everyday robbery, which will result in the impoverishment of the baby nation. The American action, establishing what amounts to absolute sovereignty over this strip of land is regarded here now as positively dishonest and very much like building a new republic within the boundaries of the republic of Panama, while under the treaty it was understood, according to the Panamanian view, that the United States was merely to pay its $10,000,000 for the right to use the zone strip in the construction, maintenance, operation and protection of the ship canal.

The many vexatious questions involved in the controversy have formed the absorbing topic of conversation in this country for months and are well understood among the natives. But, thanks to the recent efforts of the political spellbinder in the United States these questions are very thoroughly misunderstood in America.

On the isthmus it is a matter of undisputed history that unusual artifice was resorted to in order that the United States might gain control of the canal zone. To this end there was a point to the simple question of right and wrong with the American constitution and international laws as the basic principles.

Everything in relation to the matter had a shady aspect at least. The Nashville and Dixie, under sealed orders were on the scene of action with remarkable promptness. There was no time lost at Colon. There was no time lost at Washington been given by the prohibition party of the city of New York to the defeated candidates. Nearly every prominent person in the state organization and several national leaders were present. Among the guests were at least four men who at some time had faced certain defeat as candidates for governor of the Empire state, but all speeches were of the most optimistic sort.

Oliver W. Stewart, chairman of the national committee, said that according to his most conservative estimate the vote for Dr. Swallow, the presidential candidate, was 200,000. This was an increase over the 1900 vote, the largest previous vote for the party, which was 265,000. He predicted that at some time in the future a new force will appear in national politics in the shape of a party that has a great moral issue, of which, he declared, there is none greater than prohibition.

THE DIOCESE IS INCORPORATED AT NEW ARK

Heretofore Everything Has Been in the Name of the Bishop and Death Always Caused Transfers

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A new form of handling church property has been inaugurated through the incorporation of the Roman Catholic diocese of Newark, N. J. In accordance with the articles filed in court Bishop O'Connor, with the other trustees, will have full control of all diocesan properties and titles.

When a bishop died heretofore all the property of his diocese was bequeathed to his successor and it was necessary for the executors of the will to deed the property over to the new bishop. Under the provisions of the incorporation the title to the diocesan property will be vested in the corporation and no transfer will be necessary when a bishop dies.

JURORS FAIL IN VERDICT ON WRECK

They Do Not Convict Employees When the Railroad Company Is at Fault for the Accident

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—After eight hours' deliberation, the jurors at Paterson, N. J., in the case of William L. Richards and Ernest Heller, charged with manslaughter in having caused the wreck at Midvale July 10 in which fifteen persons lost their lives, announced that they could not reach a verdict and asked to be discharged. Judge Scott inquired if there were any points on which they needed instruction, but received a reply in the negative and excused the jurors.

It was stated that while the majority in both cases leaned toward a verdict of guilty, the minority held out that the railroad company was at fault for failing to keep the semaphores in good order.

TO STOP SPEED CONTESTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—An ordinance which has just been passed by the board of aldermen, having for its object the prevention of six-day bicycle racing, is quite broad in its provisions, so much so that it might be interpreted to stop many popular games. It forbids any person in a contest of "speed, skill or endurance" from remaining in the contest for more than three hours out of any twenty-four.

Under strict application the new ordinance, as signed by the mayor, might affect golf, bowling and even the time-honored poker game.

YOKUM IS A VISITOR HERE

The visit to Fort Worth today of B. F. Yokum, president of the Frisco board and president of the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico Railroad, and Colonel R. H. Baker, president of the Trinity and Brazos Valley road, may mean more to Fort Worth than appears on the surface. It may mean that the latter road will be extended to this city from Cleburne in the near future.

This is the statement made here this afternoon by Colonel Baker who yesterday took President Yokum over his road from one end to the other on a trip of inspection, with a view to purchasing it outright or securing an interest in the same.

The statement is made here by Colonel Baker that it is now the intention to build his road on to this city as noted above and also to construct it to Houston from its southern terminus at Mexia, making another through north and south line, connecting Fort Worth with Houston.

It was stated in The Telegram some weeks ago that there was more than a possibility that the Trinity and Brazos Valley would be built on to Fort Worth, and the news given out here today verifies that story as told exclusively in this paper at the time.

Presidents Yokum and Baker, accompanied by H. T. Nash, Mr. Yokum's private secretary, arrived here this morning in Mr. Baker's private car, drawn by a Trinity and Brazos Valley engine. This afternoon the party is being shown the city by Colonel Thomas West of the Frisco. Tonight Mr. Yokum will be accompanied by L. F. Parker, general solicitor of the Frisco, will leave in a special for St. Louis, while Mr. Baker will return to Cleburne.

PRIESTS SELLING TICKETS TO HEAVEN

BERLIN, Nov. 23.—The protestant-blast bars tricks of orthodox Russian priests in their dealing with the superstitious peasantry of the country.

Letters, guaranteed to insure the entrance of the soul of a decedent into heaven are written to St. Peter by many priests and sold for what they think their victim is able to pay.

"A peasant living near Brest showed me one of these letters," says the Bremen clergyman, "and I give it here translated literally: 'We, by the grace of God Metropolitan of our Lord and friend, St. Peter, keeper of the keys of the gates of Heaven, write this to let thee know that Vladimir Petrovitch, who has just died, has always been a faithful servant of the Lord and that before his death he was absolved by us from all his sins.'"

"It is, therefore, our demand that thou let him pass through the gates of Heaven without delay, and do not let him suffer from lack of anything, and we have, therefore, written this letter."

ABSTAINERS TO BE OFFERED A LOW RATE

Insurance Companies Come to the Conclusion the Fellow Who Does Not Drink Lives Longer

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Total abstainers in spirituous and malt liquors will likely in the near future be given special low rates by the leading life insurance companies, according to the Tribune.

As is well known, insurance companies never issue policies to immoderate drinkers, where the circumstances are known, but for many years numerous authorities claimed the average span of life is longer among persons who are not total abstainers and underwriters have never taken a decided stand in the matter. Now, however, it is stated, a number of actuarial and medical directors have been working on statistics running over a period of several years, and from the records of a large number of life companies several authorities have come to the conclusion that total abstainers as a class live longer by from 20 to 50 per cent than moderate drinkers as a class. There are a number of details to work out before the policies in contemplation are actually offered to the public.

The wounded man died soon after. The nephew overtook the fugitive and attempted to seize him, but was killed instantly.

Made Life Look New. Miss Postlethwaite's experience with Wine of Cardui shows that all her former suffering was unnecessary. Miss Postlethwaite's cure by taking Wine of Cardui is proof that the pains that hundreds of thousands of other women are enduring are equally unnecessary. And it should convince you that your sickness should not be allowed to go on another day. Wine of Cardui made life beautiful for Miss Postlethwaite. It has made life new for over 1,500,000 sick women. It will make life new for you. It will give you health for your sickness and quick and permanent relief for your pains. A 25 cent package of Theford's Black-Draught will give better health to every member of your family. WINE OF CARDUI No 1312 Broderick St., SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Dec. 8, 1903. I suffered for over four years with ovarian troubles, which robbed me of the joy of life. My back and limbs ached so I could hardly stand up, and shooting pains made life at times unbearable. The blinding headaches I suffered were something no one can understand who has not had the experience. Wine of Cardui saved my life, released me from suffering and made life look new and beautiful to me. I took nearly twenty bottles in all before I was perfectly well, but I felt it was a cheap cure. This was all over eleven months ago. I am well and in perfect health now, and most heartily do I endorse Wine of Cardui as the best and most reliable remedy any sick woman can obtain. Miss Millie Postlethwaite CHAFLAIN, LADIES OF THE MACCABEES.

AVOID POLITICAL AMBITION

Why so many of our young men should turn to politics as a profession when there are so many other more promising fields open to them is one of the unexplained mysteries of the present era.

There is an uncertainty about political life just about on a par with the production of a cotton crop in the heart of the boll weevil district.

Some of the country press have already figured out that in the next congressional campaign counties outside of Tarrant and Parker will control the nomination.

Steel rails have just been advanced in price about $4 per ton, and it is such little incidents as these which serve to remind the public that the great trusts of the country have a very felicitous manner of reimbursing themselves for campaign expenses.

The New Orleans Item says: "Carrie Nation has announced her intention of going to Fort Worth. We see Carrie's finish, as we know that of town."

With one flourish of the big stick, the president has just knocked a couple of rascals from their perch in far-off Alaska, and it is to be hoped he may continue to wield it until more villainous shins are cracked.

It all depends on whose ox is being gored. Governor Peabody, of the state of Colorado, did not require the assistance of any of the courts in driving the Cripple Creek miners out of the state.

The fact that Indiana went republican in the late election will be readily forgiven if the change in the state administration will compel Governor Taylor, formerly of Kentucky, to come out of hiding and answer for the assassination of Governor Goebel.

The fact that Russia is now preparing to build a new navy may be accepted as conclusive evidence that national pride will never submit to the idea of being whipped by so small a nation as Japan.

Up in St. Paul a man burned his young wife's clothes in order that he might keep her from going to the theater. Then he had the pleasure of buying her a new supply.

they have long been strangers, and it is pitiful to note the reluctance with which they again essay to take up the broken threads where they were relinquished when they began their political career.

Bearing these facts in mind, the young man of today can but realize he is committing a grave error when he yields to the whisper of the tempter and enters political life.

AMUSEMENTS

"Happy Hooligan" was in town last night at Greenwall's. "Happy Hooligan," the character made famous by F. Oppen, was an entertainer of the first class, as was the entire aggregation. The show last night was not a place for people who didn't care to laugh. Happy's brother, Montmorency, O'Shannessy and Gaggenehmer, Gloomy Gus, etc., as well as the ballet was up-to-now. The play was one of little plot or serious acting, but was simply a laugh-producer and it filled the hall and every one laughed at the comical situations produced.

HIS SUGGESTION

Col. R. E. Maddox Has a Plan Which He Believes Will Benefit Fort Worth if Worked Out on Broad Lines

HE GIVES HIS REASONS

Wants an Auditorium, Speedway and Show Ring, and Fat Stock Show Will Be Big Thing and Horsemen Will Come Here for the Winter

Robert E. Maddox made several suggestions today as to the best thing to do. One was to organize a stock company composed of the citizens of Fort Worth and Tarrant county; make the shares small, say from $5 to $100; sell enough stock to secure the grounds and do the preliminary work, after which he believed the bonds could be floated and money raised to do the work.

Mr. Maddox suggested that a tract of land not less than 120 or 125 acres be secured near the city, accessible to as many railroads as possible. On this tract of land build a park, erect quarters for the holding of the fat stock show and secure its permanency for Fort Worth. Build an auditorium, erect stables and build a speed and show ring for the improvement and education of fine horses. The center field of this speed ring can be used for polo games and many other amusements.

This proposition, Mr. Maddox maintained, would supply several urgent and important needs of the city. He said that in order to keep pace with other cities a city park for a pleasure resort was needed. Continuing he said: "The benefits to be derived from the fat stock show and the auditorium are too well known to need discussion. With a right kind of an auditorium we could make Fort Worth the convention city of Texas. With the right kind of quarters for the fat stock show, we can secure that branch of industry permanently. With the right kind of quarters and a good show ring and speed ring, in addition to the location and good water, Fort Worth can easily be made headquarters for all horsemen of the state, as well as many from other states.

"As a reasonable estimate I would say that at least from 300 to 400 head of horses would be wintered here and educated every year. The Texas winter climate for horses is remarkably good and horsemen all over the United States are finding it out. Their horses are their stock in trade, and they are a class of men that spare no means and ask no prices when their horses can be benefited by climate, water or feed. The money spent to winter these horses, their owners and attendants will run away up into the thousands. It is nothing to be sneezed at. Most every kind of a business man in Fort Worth will get a part of this money. Besides, horse shows and exhibitions of all kinds of stock can be held on these grounds as well as a place for carnivals."

Mr. Maddox also made this suggestion: "Purchase a block of ground near the center of the business part of the city. Cover this entire block with one grand building, says seven stories in height, one that would be a credit to the city of Fort Worth and a monument to her people. In this one building combine a first class modern and up-to-date hotel building, one large wholesale house or two smaller ones. One up-to-date opera room, and then one grand auditorium covering the entire seventh floor if necessary. In this you will have something no other city has, and something that will be an ornament to the city and one that will add value to the property. Our city

A SURE THING

It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is a sure cure for all lung and throat troubles. Thousands can testify to that. Mrs. C. B. VanMetre of Shepherds town, W. V., says: "I had a severe case of Bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It's infallible for Croup, Whooping Cough, Grip, Pneumonia and Consumption. Try it. It's guaranteed by Matt S. Blanton & Co., Reeves' Pharmacy and W. J. Fisher, druggists. Trial bottles free. Regular sizes 50c and $1.

is very much in need of buildings for wholesale purposes, which cannot be secured without these buildings. For instance, a strictly wholesale dry goods house and others that might be secured.

"In securing the location for either of these enterprises do not stand upon price; let that be a secondary consideration. Secure the best location possible; do not stand upon a few dollars. This city has passed that stage when cheap buildings and cheap enterprises will pay in the future. I believe in spending our money in permanent improvements. Something that will rebound to the interests of the young and rising generation as well as the present. It is no waste of money to build the right kind of public improvements. In the building of the Texas Spring Palace in this city a number of years ago, while I was a very liberal subscriber and believed that it would be a temporary benefit to the city, yet I opposed the enterprise from the fact that it was not permanent. At that time I suggested that the money be used for something similar to my suggestion No. 1. And had we done it at that time, we would very easily have secured the Texas state fair, which Dallas now has and which has been one of the best investments for Dallas that she has ever had. It was that which made it headquarters for machinery and implements; it was that which advertised her all over the United States in a way that could not have been done otherwise.

"I believe with a low rate of taxation from both the county and city for the first few years and with good management, either one of these enterprises will pay a reasonable rate of interest. As to the ability of the people of Fort Worth to handle either of these enterprises there is no question.

"As I said in the beginning, do not dilly-dally on the cost. Have everything first class and up-to-date regardless of cost. Fort Worth needs these enterprises and what difference does it make if either of them should cost one million or one million and a half if necessary, so some one furnishes the money to pay for them."

"The Jewel of Asia," the new musical comedy that comes to Greenwall's opera house tonight, last performance, and which scored such an emphatic hit at the Criterion theater, New York, has for its chief fun makers young and pretty Vera Michelena, as prima donna, and William Blaisdell of "The Girl from Paris" fame. Miss Michelena, the youngest prima donna in the country enjoying stellar honors, is gifted with a becoming sense of modesty and devotion to truth that is rare in the theatrical profession—qualifications which recently resulted in the following amusing incident:

Her advance agent had neglected to ask her birthplace, but with the assurance that comes with long experience in promoting publicity, the agent proceeded to announce at various times the fact that her birth had occurred in the particular city in which at the time he was striving to arouse unusual interest in the forthcoming presentation of "The Jewel of Asia." By accident Miss Michelena learned of the numerous places in which, according to the agent, she had been born, and immediately appealed to Manager Slocum to set the agent right in the matter. A wire was hurriedly sent to the agent; "Mistake in Michelena's birthplace. Don't use." To which came the reply: "Not my fault where Michelena was born. Blame parents. Write fully."

CHARLES B. HANFORD

The costume's art has been lavishly drawn upon for Charles B. Hanford's production of "Don Caesar De Bazan." The ladies of the company all appear in the most delicate brocades, and the gentleman in the elegance in which the Elizabethan period revealed. As a series of stage pictures alone, the production promises rare interest and added to this is the charm of a carefully selected company. Magnificent as the costumes are, they have not been allowed to transcend in importance the people who wear them. So unvaryingly excellent has been Mr. Hanford's work that he is hailed with confidence whether he is to produce a new play or tread the boards in scenes whose familiarity only endears them the more from season to season. Miss Marie Druhan, the leading lady of the company, has been accorded a firm place in the affections of theatergoers, her work fully warranting the bestowal of full credit upon her for responsibilities she has hitherto assumed on numerous occasions with splendid ability.

The engagement is limited to two performances (Thursday (Thanksgiving) matinee and night, Nov. 24. At the matinee "Don Caesar De Bazan" will be given and Thursday night "Orthello."

A STARTLING TEST

To save a life Dr. T. G. Merritt of North Melbourne, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes: "A patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only $1c. at Matt S. Blanton & Co., Reeves' Pharmacy and W. J. Fisher.

A bench of seven magistrates at Wall-sail, England, announced that they were "equally divided" in opinion of a case, and that no decision would be given.

A lawyers' club of California has been formed, with a branch club in every county and headquarters in San Francisco. Its declared objects are: The reduction of expense to litigants; the elimination of delay in reaching a final settlement of cases and the securing of uniform rules of practice in the various counties of the state.

Eight or nine lengths of steel pipe three feet in diameter are floating on the ocean somewhere off the Northern California coast. They were sent down the Trinity river to Junction City, and, getting away from the other pipes, drifted out to sea. Being plugged at both ends they can not sink, but will float till they drift ashore or are picked up.

THE HURRY CALL OF BEAUTY

SMOOTHING OUT FINE WRINKLES UNDER THE EYES.

STROKING THE SKIN OF THE FOREHEAD UPWARD TO RAISE THE EYEBROWS SO THAT THEY WILL FOLLOW THE LATEST FASHION AND BE HIGHLY ARCHED.

A German poet has said: "Black eyes shine more brilliantly at a ball, blue eyes are more sympathetic at early dawn; black eyes arouse and conquer more easily, blue eyes guard their conquests longer; black eyes belong to a responsive heart, but a light one; blue eyes have a heart more tender and less apt to change; black eyes shoot dark blue eyes a tender flame; black eyes show intelligence and blue eyes the soul."

As a matter of fact the color doesn't count much. It is the expression, the shape, the surroundings, that make it beautiful or commonplace.

In the first place there is the toilet of the eyes. Soap and water are not to be recommended. The careful woman should wash her eyes every night and morning with a bit of sterilized absorbent cotton dipped in warm boric water.

In order to cultivate your eyebrows properly you should study the perfect eyebrow. It should be curved, arched, should begin thick and end in a fine thread. Now over the nose the brows should be well separated by a wide space. If they are too close together they may be removed with the electric needle or with some depilatory.

The first necessity is to keep them always absolutely clean. They may be made to grow long and thick by occasionally cutting their ends with curved scissors.

If the lashes are inclined to fall out, I should advise washing them frequently in tepid boric water and then rubbing on them every night a cold cream.

A good method for making the eyes appear larger has been to tattoo the lids black on the edge. Of course this has an advantage over paint, inasmuch as it does not come off with tears.

The very best preparation of all is Arabian Kohl. With this one may soften the eyelids and shadow them in a way to defy detection.

Let me say right here that those dotted veils which may make the complexion appear better are at the same time injurious to the eyes and may even cause inflammation.

When the inflammation is confined to the lids and slight-of course for any serious inflammation you should consult a physician—the eyes should be bathed with a bit of sterilized absorbent cotton, dipped in a solution of boric acid, and a small spoonful of powdered boric acid to a large cup of the camomile.

After each bath rub the lids very gently with a little pomade; by following the above directions carefully the eyes may be made very attractive and beautiful.

HOW A LOVELY FACE GROWS.
"Oh, she has a lovely face!" said a girl enthusiastically. "But she isn't young," added a second, doubtfully.

FOR FUZZY EYES DO THIS WITH THE BALLS OF THE THUMBS

How I MANIPULATE THE EYEBROWS TO MAKE THEM GROW INTO AN ARCH

"And her features aren't at all regular," chimed in the third.
"Still, she has a lovely face," summed up the fourth, and they all agreed.
The woman of whom they were talking was elderly, and had been plain in her youth. Nobody called her so now. Passersby in the street glanced a second time at the beautiful face under the plain little velvet bonnet, and her large circle of friends were never tired of gazing at her. But, as I have said, in her youth she was a plain girl. Often she troubled, like girls will, over her lack of beauty. Then, one day, she made a discovery. Her looking-glass told her that cross thoughts and sharp words were reflected in her dulled skin and eyes. Sullen habits dropped the corners of her mouth, and drew a long line from thence to the chin; anger wrinkled her forehead, and stormy passion pinched her lips into a tight, thin, straight thread of red.

Next, she noted that her ill-temper was spoiling her soft, pink and white complexion. If she felt cross before any meal, her digestion was bad, and that meant a flushed face, red or swollen nose, and a tinge of yellowness in the skin. Simply, at first, because she loved beauty and desired with her whole heart to be beautiful, she began to curb her natural petulance, and sulky or hasty temper. Finding the discipline resulted not only in a sweetness of look and a clearness of eye, but in a peaceful mind, she continued in her efforts to make a beautiful character.

Before long she had her reward. Patience, gentleness, pure living, high thinking and noble aims did their work. Sculptors and artists will tell you there is no face more beautiful than that contentment in which a beautiful soul and character show. It is not so very marvelous, this miracle of ugliness transformed. The body is but the veil of the spirit. What we are within will reveal itself without.

MEETING HELD TO DISCUSS THE CARNIVAL

Committee Is Appointed to Outline Some Plan of Work for an Attraction in This City Next Spring

There were only a few people at the meeting of the board of trade rooms last night to discuss the proposition to hold some sort of spring festival, but those who were present were heartily in favor of giving some kind of attraction, the views varying as to the character of the affair.

President Bomar of the board of trade presided over the meeting. Dell Cobb was secretary.

Clarence Ousley was first to express himself. He said that he wanted to see Fort Worth hold some kind of attraction, but that he had nothing specific to recommend, but thought that if it was feasible it should be given in connection with the fat stock show. The fat stock show, he said, was a good thing so far as it goes, but he said there were hundreds of people who were not particularly interested in this kind of an exhibition and preferred a different attraction. He said there was no assurance that the fat stock show is a permanent thing and consequently thought there should be something else in the nature of a spring event that could be made a yearly attraction. He wanted an attraction that would appeal to all classes of people. "There are many people who are not interested in cattle, hogs, etc., and this class should be provided with an entertainment," said Mr. Ousley. He did not oppose the fat stock show, but wanted something to supplement it. Mr. Ousley then referred to the successful entertainments of different character given by the people of Houston and Galveston and added that similar affairs could be held in Fort Worth at a minimum cost. He thought some sort of street carnival would be about the right thing, at which different attractions could be given such as flower parades, automobile races, horse and harness races, the whole to conclude with a grand social function in the way of a grand cowboy ball at night. He thought that by combining these features they would not detract from the substantial features of the fat stock show, but on the contrary they would add to the event materially. He also suggested that a fantastic display of riders could be given during one day, in which both men and women could appear to advantage. A merchants' parade, showing decorated floats of the various trades, would be a fine thing. Another feature he suggested was a poultry and pet stock show, the whole to make a four or five days' program. Mr. Ousley thought that if the first affair proved a success it would lead up to something permanent and that eventually there might be established something after the character of the "spring palace," which proved to be one of the finest attractions ever given in the south.

A. A. Glisson, general passenger agent for the Fort Worth and Denver railroad company, spoke favorably of the move and said that he was certain the different railroads centering here would heartily co-operate in making the affair a grand success and would authorize a cheap round trip rate that would induce many outside people to attend. He said that he had no special idea about the character of the entertainment, but in-dorsed the views expressed by Mr. Ousley.

Jacob Washer expressed himself favorably as to some sort of entertainment, but thought that the only thing that would work against the affair would be the weather that usually prevails during March, the time the fat stock show is held.

President Bomar thought a committee should be appointed to determine the feasibility of holding the spring carnival in conjunction with the fat stock show. Sam Davidson, in as much as he was not a weather prophet, could not fore-tell the weather during March but thought it might probably interfere with a successful affair. He was of the opinion that a committee should be named to give the matter consideration and determine the kind of entertainment and the date for holding the same, to then make report to a subsequent meeting. He suggested that the committee be composed of men representing the different branches of trade, etc.

A. M. McElwee, representing the order of Elks, was present and said that if it was decided to hold the affair at any time other than during the fat stock show, the Elks with a membership of nearly 500 would cheerfully enter into the matter and assist to make it a grand success. The grand lodge meeting of this order, he said, meets in Fort Worth in May, and that if the entertainment that is being discussed is held in May the order would do all it could in the way of assistance. He said that between 1,500 and 1,800 un-informed members would give a parade and that the order could fill in two days with something unusually attractive, the whole to conclude with a ball at Handley. He also added that the Elks would gladly assist in decorating the city.

McEl-william; the railroads, A. A. Glisson; live stock exchange, Marion Sansom; and press, Clarence Ousley. Mr. Bomar was made ex-officio chairman of the committee.

This committee will hold its first meeting at the board of trade rooms tonight at 8 o'clock and all committeemen are asked to be on hand promptly.

A SUGGESTION
 To the Editor of the Telegram:
 Why not start the spring festival on the first of May with a May-pole for the children. A special feature of May day in the city of Manchester, England, is a procession of all the large dray horses and wagon horses of the city with their wagons kally bedecked with rosettes and streamers. It gives the people an interest in the splendid creatures, and the horses seem to like it themselves. Why not?

CAB DRIVERS TO STRIKE
 NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Negotiations for an agreement for higher wages and less working hours between the Livery Stable Keepers' association and the Liberty Dawn association of coach and cab drivers have practically failed and a general strike of cab drivers in this city is feared. TO MAINTAIN ORGANIZATION

Fort Worth football fans are anxiously waiting for the game tomorrow afternoon between the Elks and University teams, the former have been strengthening their team materially since the game with the Sans Pareils and have been doing hard practice. The university team has been inactive on account of no games and the disbanding of the second team.

More interest has been aroused in football here this fall than for a long time and it now seems probable that Fort Worth will have several good teams each year. The various club teams are to be kept intact and will play a regular schedule of games next season.

The Right Sort of Dressing

There's Dressing and DRESSING as men of taste can attest. There's good dressing and bad dressing as maybe you know, but maybe don't know why.

IT'S IN THE SEASONING. It's just as impractical to make last season's turkey do this year, at last season's style. The DRESSING we serve is not only of the present seasoning, but is suited to the taste of tailoring epicures.

DR. JACKSON HAS COMPLETED THE MINUTES

Proceedings of the Last Confederate Reunion Are Out in Pamphlet Form for Distribution

Adjutant General and Chief of Staff George H. Jackson has just received the published pamphlet of the proceedings of the thirteenth annual state reunion of the United Confederate Veterans' Association, held at Temple, July last.

One of the most interesting reports is that made by James Q. Chenoweth, Superintendent of the Confederate Home at Austin. It shows that there were at that time 324 inmates. The state appropriation for the home was $20,000, and an additional sum will probably be appropriated at the coming legislature with which to complete and equip the hospital building, which only lacks a very little. The mortality report shows that during 1902 there were forty deaths, but during the following year the number was reduced to twenty. In the report, also, are mentioned the names of eighteen Confederates who died and were buried with Confederate honors from the home since July 15, 1903. Since the state took charge of the home in 1895 down to 1904 the lowest percentage of mortality among the inmates was 6.2-3 in 1903, and the highest 18, in 1896.

In the Texas division there are 295 camps at the last report, divided as follows: In the First brigade, 28; in the Second, 34; in the Third, 54; in the Fourth, 81; and in the Fifth, 78. During the year there was an increase of nine camps in the state.

There were 301 camps represented at the reunion, with 421 delegates.

The next annual reunion will be held at Galveston on the third Wednesday and Thursday in July next, and the convention will be one of the largest ever held according to reports. It will be presided over by Major General K. M. Van Zandt, commanding of Fort Worth.

TO GO DEEPER

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Nov. 23.—Engineers are now at work drawing plans and estimating the cost of a tunnel that will cut the district about 1,500 feet below the present tunnel level at a point 6,500 feet above sea level which will permit the mines on Ball Hill to be operated at a depth of about 4,000 feet, which is almost 1,500 feet deeper than the bottom of the Lilly shaft, the deepest in this section.
