

CURE FOR CATARRH OF THE BLADDER

PE-RU-NA. A COLD ON THE LUNGS THREATENS TO BECOME SERIOUS. Pe-ru-na Brings Speedy Relief. Mrs. H. E. Adams, Ex-President Palmetto Club, of New Orleans, La., writes from 110 Garfield Court, South Bend, Ind., as follows:

"I am pleased to endorse Peruna, as I took it about a year ago and it soon brought me relief from a cold on my lungs which threatened to be serious."

"The lungs were sore and inflamed, I coughed a couple of hours every night, and I felt that something must be done before my lungs became affected."

"Peruna was suggested by some of my friends who had used it, and acting upon their advice I tried it and found that it was able to bring about a speedy cure. You have my highest endorsement and thanks for the good it did me."

"Sounding the Praises of Peruna. Mrs. Frances Wilson, 32 Nelson St., Clinton, Mass., writes: 'Had you seen me at the time of my illness and now, you would not wonder that I take delight in sounding the praises of Peruna.'"

"My ailment was a severe cold which attacked the bronchial tubes and lungs, and I followed your special directions and after using six bottles of Peruna, I was on my feet again. I think Peruna a wonderful medicine."

A PLAIN TALK

On a Plain Subject in Plain Language. The coming winter will cause at least one-half of the women to have catarrh, colds, coughs, pneumonia or consumption. Thousands of women will lose their lives and tens of thousands will acquire some chronic ailment from which they will never recover.

KEEP PERUNA IN THE HOUSE.

Unless you take the necessary precautions, the chances are that you (who read this) will be one of the unfortunate ones. Little or no risk need be run if Peruna is kept in the house and at the first appearance of any symptom of catarrh taken as directed on the bottle.

Peruna is a safeguard, a preventative, a specific, a cure for all cases of catarrh, acute and chronic, coughs, colds, consumption, etc.

For free medical advice, address Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

For ten years the commission, acting under the advice of able counsel, themselves for the most part lawyers of eminence, and with the concurrence of the railroads themselves, believed that when they made an investigation into a given rate or charge and found it to be unjust and unreasonable as prohibited by the first section of the act, or otherwise unlawful, the provision of the twelfth section, requiring the commission to "enforce the provisions of the act" and to order any carrier to cease and desist such violations, clearly authorized the commission to decide how much too high such rate was found to be.

It means equal rights to all and special privileges to none. It means, in the language of our president, a "square deal" to every interest.

Our president has called the attention of congress to its duty in the premises and we thank him for it; the people indeed, it, except those who are adversely interested, and some of them have stepped to the front and said, let us do it. But it remains for all interested shippers throughout the land to see to it that they earnestly perform their duty. Speak plainly, but speak!

RUN ON BANK CONTINUES

Frightened Depositors Stand in Line Throughout the Night Waiting to Withdraw Their Savings. NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Throughout the freezing rain last night and the chilly fog early today a score of the depositors waited at the door of the State bank on Grand street to head the line when the run on that bank was resumed today.

It means greater equality in rates. It means a nearer approach to reasonable rates. It means to limit advances in rates.

The claim that the interest of the railroads and the public is identical is not true with respect to the rates of freight and passenger service.

U. B. A. OFFICERS

The United Benevolent Association held its last business session this morning at the Odd Fellows' hall.

During the progress of the meeting this morning quite a number of questions were brought forward for the consideration of the members.

Following is the list of the newly elected officers, most of whom were re-elected.

President, Colonel E. W. Taylor; vice president, E. S. Royal; secretary, J. A. Conner; supreme treasurer, Ben O. Smith; supreme chaplain, Mrs. Annette R. Manchester; supreme conductor, L. Ludolph; supreme sentinel, J. W. Hutchinson; supreme counselor, William Pearson; supreme medical examiner, Dr. J. L. Cooper; supreme committee, D. H. Cabean and Elmo Jeffers; supreme trustees, P. M. Elmer, M. D. Schlarz and Davis Biggs.

An invitation was extended the members to visit The Telegram building and inspect the new equipment, presses, etc. The invitation was unanimously accepted.

Fort Worth was chosen for the meeting place again in 1906.

The afternoon was spent by the members in slight seeing.

The feature for tonight is social. It will also be the last meeting. A musical and literary entertainment is to be given at the Christian Tabernacle.

NORTH FORT WORTH, Jan. 12.—Around 2,000 cattle came in today, against 2,266 last week (Thursday).

Quality all around was generally common to good, very little choice stuff appearing anywhere.

The steer market in its early stages offered nothing choice, not even anything good.

The usual amount of hard looking cows was in the yards, with little good and no choice.

Bulls were few and selling steady. 15 calves were in limited supply, about 150, and the trade took them all.

Mid-week finds steers 10 cents lower, cows 10 to 15 cents lower, calves 15 to 25 cents lower than the opening.

Hogs—The hog supply today was 1,300, against 1,771 last week (Thursday).

Today's quality of hogs was about the general run of the week, heavy packers from territory points and mixed loads in which lights and pigs predominated coming from Texas points.

Trading opened brisk, prices about steady with yesterday.

THE GREATEST EPIC OF MARRIAGE

The first is the most crucial time. If for the first time the greatest event in your married life is about to occur, how expectant, how wrapt up in it you find yourselves.

You try to overlook, but in vain, that element of uncertainty and danger that you have been led to expect from the experience of those mothers and fathers who have struggled through this ordeal in ignorance of Mother's Friend what it is, and what it does. If at this time every expectant man and wife might know of this greatest of boons, devised for the express purpose of alleviating and dispelling the suffering and consequent danger of child-birth, how quickly would all doubt and worry be dispelled.

Mother's Friend is an invaluable liniment for external massage, through whose potent agency countless mothers have been enabled to experience the joy of parturition for the first time without danger to themselves or their off-spring.

LAND LEGISLATION

Commissioner Terrell of the general land office, in his annual report to the governor, makes the following recommendations regarding the enactment of a new land law:

Some point of finality and conclusiveness for official action.
Sever all connection of local officers except the present duty of the county surveyors with the acquisition of any rights to public land.

Provide adequate means whereby the fair market value of the land may be realized by sale or lease.
Equalize the privilege to buy scrap land in different portions of the state by requiring cash payments for small tracts, but require settlement and time purchase of large ones.

Give all purchasers on condition of settlement time in which to settle on the land after acceptance of application.
Require lessees to file application by the time their leases expire for the land they intend to purchase under their preference.

Enact an adequate statute for the protection of the school fund's interest in the minerals. Minerals could be mined under government supervision with a royalty on gross output, or an absolute price could be fixed for the land with cash payment in advance.

The first suggestion made by Mr. Terrell is a very essential one, as the land laws of the state have been amended and patched up until it requires a man of extreme erudition and intimate acquaintance with the general situation to be able to arrive at any very definite conclusions as to what the state actually requires in the process of giving up a piece of her public domain.

A plain and simple law is a great public necessity, and it ought to be made so plain that there can be no possibility of a doubt and no necessity for interpretation by the state supreme court. The point as to finality and conclusiveness of action is also well taken. Let the purchaser and the lessee of the school land realize that when they enter into a contract with the state that the terms of the contract must be carried out to the letter on both sides.

That the state proposes to abide by the literal terms of her contract and will compel the party of the second part to do the very same thing. The severance of local officers except county surveyors with the acquisition of any rights to public lands is also a timely suggestion and should be headed by the legislature in the framing of a new land law.

Mr. Terrell favors the adoption of adequate measures whereby the fair market value of the land may be obtained from the purchaser or the lessee, as the case may be, and that suggestion is also a proper one. But those who are best informed as to the conditions which prevail in that section of the state in which the great bulk of the state's school land is located, say the land commissioner has rather an exalted opinion of land values, and is disposed to demand too much in fixing the valuation of this land.

There has been much complaint from both purchasers and lessees of the arbitrary action taken by the commissioner in fixing prices beyond what they claim is just and proper, and while such action is but the natural result of the steps taken by Mr. Terrell, the state should not be placed in the position of demanding more than the land is worth. Land in West Texas will never be as valuable as it is in the agricultural portion of the state, and its value should be placed on a reasonable basis and the land sold to the actual settler at a price he can afford to pay.

The price should be fixed at a point where it will cause the land to sell, and the state should get out of the land business as soon as possible.

The other recommendations made by Mr. Terrell are good and should have attention. Being the head of the state's great land department, he is in position to judge clearly as to the demands of the situation, and his recommendations should carry weight and have effect in the framing of new land legislation. And when the legislature takes hold of this matter it should bear in mind that perhaps the greatest duty it owes to the people in the enactment of a new land law is the incorporation of features that will put a summary quietus upon the present methods of filing. The land rushes that have taken place in West Texas under the provisions of the existing law are a disgrace to modern civilization, and have been productive of much trouble and bad blood.

The fathers of Texas did not intend that the purchasers of this land should have to scrap a whole community and wrestle with the people of an entire county before they can enjoy the privilege of filing an application to purchase school land. There is land enough in Texas to answer all the present demands, and the sales that are made should be conducted in decency and good order. The present state legislature can confer no greater boon upon the people of West Texas than to give them a sane and proper land law which will put an end to many of the disgraceful practices that have prevailed in that section under the provisions of the existing law.

GOVERNOR HOGG AGAIN

The fact that all of his measures do not find favor with the members of the state legislature does not act as a deterrent upon Governor James Stephen Hogg, for he comes forward with some new suggestions with just about as unvarying regularity as the state legislature is convened. Incidentally, it may be stated that the governor's motives are utterly unselfish in the course he pursues. He is inspired by the belief that the people of Texas are suffering from corporate encroachment and other evils to such an extent that it becomes his plain duty to hurry to the rescue and labor unceasingly for the common weal. It may be that the pernicious activity of some of the governor's old enemies has something to do with the enmity with which he hurls himself into the breach, for it is a peculiarity of the big statesman that he never asks quarter. His flag may go down and be walloped in the dust of utter and complete defeat, but he never regrets peccavi. On the contrary, he gathers up the mutilated remains and prepares to pitch the next battle along new lines. And therein lies the secret of much of Jim Hogg's popularity and success. The masses, of which he is the unquestioned champion, knows his staying qualities, and that he always puts up an exhibit well worthy the price of admission.

The last legislature rather gave the big statesman the marble berth. In fact, it has been said that antipathy toward Hogg was sufficient to cause the angry solons to tread several party platform demands unceremoniously under their pedal extremities. Governor Hogg made several spectacular plays including the renting of the opera house in the city of Austin, where he served a warm and juicy roast to those who opposed his policies, but the legislature proceeded in the even tenor of its way, and the Hogg policies were turned down, even though they had been dignified by being transformed into party behests. That fact has placed no curb on the zeal of the governor for he has turned up smilingly again with some new measures, which he is advocating for legislative adoption and enactment into organic law.

The governor's suggestions this time are along the line of tax reform. His proposition to levy and collect at least two per cent tax on the gross receipts of all corporations doing business within the state of Texas, may have the endorsement of that element within the democratic party who would favor a measure to tax all corporations out of existence from the mere fact that they are corporations, but among the conservative element of the party the proposition is regarded as too radical. The fact that such a measure would fall with equal effect upon both good and bad corporations is cited as a very substantial reason why it should not become law. It is argued that if such an idea was adopted it would certainly result in driving many meretricious business enterprises out of the state, from the single fact that they would not be able to pay the tax.

Another one of the Hogg ideas is to increase all occupation taxes to the extent of twenty-five per cent, and this also has called for a measure of vigorous protest. There are many democrats in the state of Texas who contend that occupation taxes are a relic brought over from carpet-bag republican rule, and instead of being increased in the smallest ratio, the entire system should be incontinently and immediately abolished. It is certain that the demand of the business interests of this state will compel the abrogation of this tax entirely as soon as the revenues of the state from other sources will permit of such action. It must follow, then, that any proposition for the increasing of this tax at this session of the state legislature will be most stubbornly resisted.

The suggestion that intangible property should be taxed, also made by Governor Hogg, is but in line with other advanced thought on the same subject, although it will in turn have to run the gauntlet of very considerable organized opposition. Especially is this true if the railroads of the state are included in the operations of the law. These are already paying one per cent of their passenger earnings into the state treasury, and it is believed by the conservative element within the party that this is just about their just proportion.

It may be confidently anticipated that Governor Hogg is going to be very much in evidence at Austin during this session of the state legislature. These tax measures are not the only legislation in which he is interested. He has a special interest in railway consolidation bills, and from expressions made in public speeches and information sought in official circles at Austin a few months ago, it is certain that the big man has an eye on the indicator and will be heard from before the session closes on that issue.

It is reported that the Baldwin Locomotive Works has been compelled to double its force of workmen and double its running time in order to handle the orders already received. This is a gratifying indication, for when business is so brisk among the railroads that they have to place such large orders for equipment, it indicates that there is prosperity abounding among the people. It is when the people are not prosperous that railways are regarded to be the bane of flourishing

My Offer to Kidney Sufferers

I Will Give You a Full Dollar's Worth of My Remedy Free to Try Without Cost or Deposit or Promise to Pay

I could not make this offer—a full dollar's worth free—if mine were not an ordinary kidney remedy. It is not. It treats not the kidneys themselves, but the nerves that control them. The cause of kidney trouble lies ALWAYS in these nerves. The only way to cure kidney trouble is by strengthening and vitalizing and restoring these kidney nerves. That is exactly what my remedy, Dr. Shoop's Restorative, does. Therefore I can make this offer with the certain knowledge that every kidney sufferer who makes this trial will be helped.

When I say "nerves," I do not mean the ordinary nerves of feeling, thought, action. I mean the automatic nerves, which night and day, unguided and unseen, control and actuate and operate every vital process of life. These are the master nerves. The kidneys are their slaves. Your mind can not control them. Your will can not sway them. Yet when they are strong, you are well; when they are not, you weaken and die.

I have written a book on the Kidneys which will be sent when you write. This book explains fully and clearly why control not only the kidneys, but each of the other vital organs.

I have made my offer that strangers to my remedy may know. It is not intended for or open to those who have used my remedy. They need no further proof or hearing. They need only be heard, or hearing, may have delayed or doubted. I say "simply write and ask." I will send you an order for which your druggist will hand you a full dollar's worth—and he will send the bill to me. There are no conditions—no requirements—simply write me today.

how it is possible to make both ends meet. Barring the low prices for cattle and cotton, the world seems to be in a very prosperous condition.

It is said that the reformers are not very much in evidence around the state capital at Austin.

The city council of North Fort Worth says that the citizens of Rosen Heights must stand hitched.

The Mormons of Utah have just elected another senator of the Smoot stripe to be investigated at Washington. The persistence of these people is worthy of a nobler cause.

Victoria is fighting the location of the government bug-house at Dallas, but the government officials are insisting that the head of catfish navigation is the proper location.

A new member of the Missouri state legislature has just introduced a bill making it a misdemeanor to tip a waiter in that state. Such a measure would be popular and timely in other states besides Missouri.

It has developed that Tom Watson only received one vote in the entire state of South Carolina for president last November, and it is evident therefore that populism is a decadent industry in the Palmetto state.

The democrats of the country are much elated that the members of congress under indictment are all republicans, but it is barely possible that some democrats would be in the same condition if they received their just deserts.

President Diaz has decided that the practice of bull fighting shall be abolished in the republic of Mexico, and that is a pretty good indication that our neighbors on the other side of the Rio Grande are really becoming civilized.

David B. Hill says his announced retirement from politics will stick, and as Mr. Hill's retirement was accelerated by more than a million democratic voters by way of emphasis, it may be safely assumed that he has in reality made up his mind to retire.

A number of new enterprises are reported knocking at the doors of Fort Worth, and every one that is worthy should receive all necessary encouragement. There is no reason why the manufacturing interests of the city as well as many others, should not receive a great impetus this year.

It cost Russia the sum of $10,000,000 to fortify Port Arthur, and it required the expenditure of $100,000,000 on the part of Japan to capture the stronghold. At that rate the war will prove an expensive luxury that unborn generations in the two countries will have to pay for.

It is said that the negro Crum is to resign the position of collector of the port of Charleston after his confirmation by the senate, and give the president the desired opportunity to appoint a white man. This fact doubtless accounts for the sheathing of the Tillman pitchfork.

It has been reserved for an ambitious female writer to discover that it was all a mistake about Adam eating an apple. She declared it was the fig that he ate a quince. Be that as it may after the lapse of intervening years, it appears morally certain that Adam thought he was getting a peach.

The precipitation yesterday has served to put Fort Worth in royal good humor, from the fact that it was just what the ranges and wheat crop needed at this time. Stock water was getting scarce in some localities, and wheat was badly in need of rain. As usual, it is said to have just come in the nick of time.

Palo Pinto county citizens have agreed to burn one bale of cotton every Saturday until fifteen bales have been consumed as their part of the sacrifice that must be made to reduce the surplus. The people of Palo Pinto county should bear in mind that the destruction of their own cotton in this manner is an offense against the peace and dignity of the state of Texas, and that every man engaged in such procedure is liable to be called to a legal accounting for his action. There was never a more foolish suggestion made than that to the farmers of the country that they thus destroy a portion of the result of their last year's labor.

The Denver road has information to the effect that over 150 families have settled in the Panhandle during the past few months, and that is a story of rapid development that is very gratifying to Fort Worth. Every new family that settles in the Panhandle country is but adding that much more to the strength and backing of this city.

The personnel of the present state legislature is said to be quite an improvement over its predecessors, and it is a hopeful indication. Perhaps the people of Texas will eventually learn that they must send their very best material to Austin to enact their legislation, and when that time comes it will be a great day for the state of Texas.

The Orient railway literary bureau in Texas has resumed operations, and again the pleasing assurance is given that plenty of money is being put to work and the building of the line in Texas will be pushed to a speedy conclusion. If the builders of this line would build more and push less they would soon be able to show more tangible results of their labors.

That Santa Anna man who returned a railway ticket to the local Santa Fe ticket office that had been issued him in excess of the number purchased, may be regarded as a freak, but in reality he is only an honest man. The man who will beat the railway company out of what is justly its own, would take the same advantage in any other favorable opportunity that might present itself.

Senator Cockrell of Missouri has declined to accept the vacant place on the interstate commerce commission tendered him by President Roosevelt, but not until his term in the senate closes, which will be on the fourth of March. The aged Missouri statesman thus finds himself well provided for in spite of the fact that the political whirlwind dealt him disaster last November.

Judge Sam Cowan of this city and other Texans in attendance upon the meeting of the National Live Stock Association in Denver, are said to have blocked a neat little scheme that had been hatched to turn that organization into a monthly of railway and other adverse influence. Texans can always be depended upon to do their whole duty at all times and in all places.

The mayor of Texarkana has notified the postoffice commissioner that his day is over in that town, and has just imposed a fine of $200 on a negro who was caught with a hog-leg in his possession. Now let the dog work proceed until every guilty person in the city has been dealt with accordingly. The way to suppress crime is to make an object lesson out of every man who converts himself into a walking arsenal.

The state legislature is moving very slowly at Austin, and if this is an indication of conservatism it is all right. If, on the contrary, it is evidence of dilatoriness, it is all wrong. The honorable body should get down to work, accomplish what it was sent there to do, adjourn and go home. There is no reason why the people should be subjected to the expense of a long session of their lawmakers, if they know what they are there for, and a proper realization of that fact is all that is necessary.

John Temple Graves says that the democratic party must be radical in its program and in its action, and that the idea of Mr. Bryan. But there is such a thing as becoming too radical, and the people never repose much confidence in a man who degenerates into a rabid extremist. Democracy should remain conservative, but should not be afraid to stand up for the rights of the people.

A marriage reform bill is soon to be introduced in the Indiana state legislature, with the object of curbing the divorce evil. It will provide that before a license can be issued the fact that it will be applied for must be made public at least ten days in advance of its issuance, and that pending the expiration of the ten days an examining board, appointed by the governor, or the state board of health, should examine the applicants to ascertain if they are of legal age, are free from hereditary diseases, that their family history as regards disease is good, and that the would-be bridegroom is financially able to support a wife and family. This bill is being framed in response to the recommendations of the getting governor, whose theory is that publicity in these matters will insure to the public benefit, and that the divorce evil can be eliminated by exercising the proper supervision over the marriage relation. The contention is made that forcing a man and woman to live together in wedlock will not correct the divorce evil.

Judging from the net results of modern parental methods of control, there are a whole lot of children who would be better off if they were raised on shares. There is a too general disposition on the part of parents to jerk up their children instead of raising them properly, and as a result there are too many children who are candidates for the state reform and penal institutions.

The business men and the railroads and the farmers of Texas can be depended on to do their share of the bringing to this state of all the elements that make for Texas prosperity, but when these efforts are negated by a policy that is hostile or at least not friendly to foreign capital there is little that the others can do. Let the coming legislature take this matter seriously and wisely in hand and put laws on the statute books of Texas that will provide for the investment of money outside that seeks employment here and there will be a change in the situation.—San Antonio Light.

The trouble with some people who are clamoring for more liberal laws in Texas is that they can not appreciate the necessity for carefully guarding the interests of the masses. They would turn Texas loose to become the prey of inimical interests and then to point to the prosperity of the few achieved at the expense of the many. Existing laws cover the situation very nicely, from the fact that they conserve all interests.

persuade it that it should adopt majority rule. So much often depends on the verdict of the twelve men that unanimity in the requirements is all that saves the issue.

Galveston will in future have no more sidewalk merchants, and after all these years will be a real city. All the fruit vendors, sellers of souvenirs, candy or any other merchandise are compelled by the new law to get in doors and the people there are delighted with the change. One of these same outside merchants declared himself pleased with the change, saying formerly because others did it he too had to remain out in all kinds of weather.—Cleburne Enterprise.

The sidewalk merchants usually earn all the patronage they obtain, and while they may be objectionable to their big competitors, they ought to have a right to exist when they are willing to get out in the open and hustle for the sale of their wares. Some very large business enterprises have sprung from modest beginnings of this kind.

The man who has no ambition to improve his condition is in mighty poor shape to fight the battles of life. Even though a person has all the money for which he may have any use there is left the room for improvement of the mind which is so much neglected by the money seeker. The mistake that many make is in making money getting the main aim of life.—Brownwood Bulletin.

The life that has no higher ambition than the sordid purpose of money making is never a happy one. For such an one there is no brightness in the stars, no whispers of love in the breeze, no fragrance in the flowers and no beauty in the changing color of the autumn leaves. The acquirement of riches is one of the small things of life, but many are they who are engaged in the occupation.

Tom Watson has started a magazine of his very own. One consolation is that he will now be sure of having all his writing published—none need go begging on account of the lack of a publisher. But if all our statesmen without jobs should start up papers, what would become of us all? Yet, it is better than to have them to go on the stage, as many of the ex-celebrities have done. This is perhaps an even division—let the pugilist incline try for historic honors, and let the defeated politicians start magazines—it is perfectly harmless at any rate.—Terrell Transcript.

It is a great tribute to the recognized power of the press that the defeated politician instinctively turns in that direction in the hour of his sore travail. But whether or not the press is benefited by such action is a question for the erudite mind to solve for itself.

The census bureau at Washington is happy to inform the public that it collectively lives seven years longer now than it did a century ago. In 1890 the average age of the population was 35.97 years, while in 1900 it has increased to 38.85 years. From this it will be seen that the increase has amounted to about two-thirds of a year for each decade.—Bonham News.

And yet scientists tell us that we are going the pace that kills in this age of rush and scramble for the almighty dollar. If the existing strenuousness continues we may in the course of time be able to put the longevity record of Methuselah out of business.

The Waxahachie cotton mills have declared a cash dividend of ten per cent, and carried over the handsome surplus of $12,000. And still there are people who say cotton mills are not profitable in Texas.—Fort Worth Telegram.

Yes, and strange to say, in Texarkana, the most up-to-date, progressive city in Texas or Arkansas, we have heard business men assert, AND TRY TO PROVE BY FIGURES, "that cotton mills are not profitable in Texas." Of course the figures lied.—Texarkana Courier.

Perhaps if there was a little more attention paid to the development of the cotton manufacturing business in Texas and the south generally, there would be less necessity for burning the staple and holding public meetings to agree upon a reduced acreage.

The next state legislature should consider the number of children that are maimed in this state every year from the use of cannon firecrackers and should very promptly pass a law prohibiting the bringing of such missiles of destruction into this state. Such an action may be termed paternal legislation, but the seriousness of the situation demands a prompt and drastic remedy.—Fort Worth Telegram.

Yes, but why not take our children to the court houses and have them raised for us on shares? Why not parents take some responsibilities like this one on themselves and relieve the law books of an excess of statutes? Has old-fashioned parental authority played out altogether?—Dallas News.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

DRAMATIC
"Slide Tracked" and "The Sign of the Four" comprised a double bill at Greenwall's opera house last night. Both were given creditably for productions of their class. "The Sign of the Four" is a detective melodrama with an abundance of thrilling situations, and although it was not finished before midnight, held interest throughout. "Slide Tracked" is the same production which Jules Waters has made popular. The present season's company is up to the usual average.

"IN LOUISIANA"
"In Louisiana" will be the attraction at Greenwall's opera house Saturday matinee and night, Jan. 14.

"A FRIEND OF THE FAMILY"
On Monday matinee and night, Jan. 16, at Greenwall's opera house comes Gorman's new farcical success, "A Friend of the Family." The comedy comes with a record of 215 nights at the fashionable Court theater, Berlin, Germany, and long runs in Paris and London. Its success in this country is said to equal that of "Charley's Aunt," "My Friend from India" and kindred comedies. After the present tour Manager Gorman takes his company to New York for a season at the Blyou theater.

"THE BILLIONAIRE"
The second act of the spectacular musical farce, "The Billionaire," in which Klaw & Erlanger present Thomas Q. Seabrooke in his famous role of John Doe, at Greenwall's opera house Tuesday matinee and night, Jan. 17, is said to be undeniably the most novel and original comic creation that has ever been seen on the American stage. It is presented in two scenes. The first represents the lobby of a New York theater and the second the auditorium, represented by a great stage with a proscenium opening twenty-five feet wide by thirty feet high, seats, chairs, boxes and every detail exact.

MR. BELASCO'S NEW PLAY
On hearing that David Belasco was engaged on a new play a reporter stopped him on the street recently to inquire concerning it.

"Yes," replied Mr. Belasco, "I am writing a play. What do you want to know about it?"

"Anything you can tell me," was the reply.

"Well, it is to have five acts and three intermissions," said the playwright, "and I've just finished the intermissions."

HOPE FOR THE FATHER
The young doctor met his old preceptor on the street and confided he had a serious case about which he was worrying.

"The baby died a few minutes after it was born," he remarked, "and I fear the mother will die before morning."

"Don't take it so hard," said the old physician, as he gathered up the reins. "Perhaps the father won't die."

"THE BUSY LIFE"

That wonderful book, "The Simple Life" by Pastor Charles Wagner, which is the most widely read and most thoroughly discussed curiosity in the present day, has stimulated curiosity in the other writings of the same author. His admirers will, therefore, be pleased to learn that the J. S. Ogilvie Publishing company of New York have just issued another of Mr. Wagner's books. It is entitled "The Busy Life; or, The Conquest of Energy." The purpose of the book is to instill into the public mind, with special reference to young people, those qualities of heart and mind which are calculated to inspire hope and confidence in a struggling soul; to promote courage and strength in the performance of our daily duties; and to teach that energy is virtue itself. This book contains many valuable moral lessons, and its style is eminently interesting and readable. Price, bound in paper cover, 30 cents; cloth bound, 50 cents.
