URGENT DEMANDS; EMPEROR HESITATES

Ultimatum of St. Petersburg Strikers Is Delivered to the Emperor

WHO CAN GUESS OUTCOME

Government Declares Manu- facturers Are Responsible for Settlement

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 22.—An ultimatum has been served upon the czar. It has come from the pen of Father Gapon, the daring priest who has been the leader and counsellor of the strikers and who, on Saturday afternoon, made the chief of an anathema pronounced over him by the Metropolitan-Antonius. Like a beacon light on a hill stands out the figure of Gapon, high over a black mass of malcontent humanity.

SAFETY TO EMPEROR

The following letter was today submitted to Prince Sviatopolk Mirsky by the Priest Gapon, through his secretary: "Your High Excellency—We, workers and inhabitants of our region, representing different classes, desire to see the czar at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of Sunday, Jan. 22, in the square of the winter palace, in order to lay before him personally the needs of the whole Russian people. The czar has nothing to fear, I am known as the representative of the Russian factory workers and my fellow workers and comrades, even those who are supposed to belong to the revolutionary element guarantee the inviolability of his person. Let him come as the true czar, with a courageous heart to his people and receive from our hands our petition. This is demanded by the needs of his welfare and that of the inhabitants of St. Petersburg and the whole of Russia. Otherwise the moral bonds hitherto existing between the czar and the Russian people may be broken. It is your duty, your duty as the emperor, acquainted today even with our request and our petition, which is hereto appended.

NO ONE CAN PREDICT

What Outcome Will Be

Saturday night in St. Petersburg was like a fever patient during the crisis. No prediction can be made as to what the next few hours may bring, for every effort to avert the worst is met by another to bring it about. Intense activity continues in military quarters. Additional troops are being brought into the city from Petrof and Tsarkoye Selo and rows of uniformed men may be seen in every street.

GOVERNMENT LOOKS ON

However, the government showed its hand yesterday and it suddenly became clear why so far force has not been resorted to in the attempt to quell the strike. The government's position came through Minister of Finance Kokovzoff, who attended the conference of manufacturers as the czar's personal representative. He made it very clear that the government failed to discern the political meaning in the strike, believing that its meaning was industrial in every feature and that the only political phase had been produced by tool agitators, who, naturally, took advantage of the opportunity to incite the discontented workers to political rebellion, but that this fact would not be permitted to overshadow the real issue. Nor was the government ready, he stated, to bear the blame for and the cost of dissatisfaction

NEW THIEVERY TRICK NETS ROBBERS $1,270

Chicago Cashier Called to Telephone Booth as He Enters Office with Val- ise Full of Money

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Robert Stevenson & Co., wholesale druggists in this city, are short $1,270 in cash as a result of one of the newest tricks in thievery known to the police. The money taken had just been brought from the bank by the cashier for the cashier's pay roll. He was alone in his office at the rear of the store and was suddenly summoned to the telephone booth. Some one unknown to him detained him several minutes, talked in an unintelligible manner. When the teller returned to his office the cashier reported the money was gone. The store was closed for the time. No clue to the theft has been obtained. Later in the afternoon thieves entered a jewelry store in the sixth floor of the Masonic Temple, seized a tray of diamonds valued at $1,000, and made their escape.

MAY SEAL RUSSIA'S FATE

Outcome of Mass Meeting Called for To- day Has Gravest Possibilities—Au- thorities Dread Conflict

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 21.—Russia is on the threshold of a popular demonstration fraught with crucial issues. The autocracy is imperiled and a general political outbreak is not improbable. It is expected that many thousands of people will assemble before the czar's winter palace tomorrow to beg for deliverance from countless evils. The number may fall as low as 100,000, assuming that the demonstration is carried out; but it is more likely to reach 500,000 or even 500,000. The collection of vast crowds is always easy in St. Petersburg on Sundays. It will be especially easy in the present state of social unrest. Cathedral and churches, which are places of immense seating capacity, are invariably full. The vast auditoriums of St. Isaac's and the Kazan cathedrals are certain tomorrow to bring some 20,000 persons together on the south bank of the Neva near the palace. The neighboring churches will assemble additional thousands. The leaders of the demonstration, if they finally decide to visit the palace, will time the procession to pass the cathedrals and churches when the services are over. The Neva is at present a broad sheet of thick ice. The palace stands close to the river and the ice affords a magnificent assemblage ground for a multitude. This ground the police can not barricade against the people. The streets opening on the ice on the north side of the river will pour throngs of university medical students and working men toward the palace if they choose to come.

What will the czar do if thousands of his subjects demand his appearance and some promise that the conditions of the people should be bettered? That can not be foretold. It is believed, however, that he will either appear personally or cause some message to be sent to the crowd, especially if the people behave peacefully as they probably will. The address of the strikers is thoroughly humble, loyal and pacific and the most cautious representatives hesitate to suggest that an army of police be ordered to attack such supplicants. Alexander II. was bold and loved to greet his people personally. Nicholas II. has never consented to emerge from his seclusion in response to his real subjects. Nevertheless, he might break this rule tomorrow, for he knows that Russia is confronted with a situation unknown in history. Danger to the public peace lies in the possibility of a rupture between the crowds and the armed guards of order.

PROPOSITION NOW LEFT TO THE MANUFACTURERS

Kokovzoff's version of the movement has astonished many, but many are also ready to express admiration for a government which, in the face of the greatest danger with which it has been confronted, keeps calm and has found a way, without going out on strike, to meet the needs of the people. There is a faint suspicion that if that course be found to be inimical to the interests of the government the manufacturers will be coerced to change it. The government wants peace with the working men, and, in fact, it must have peace. No one will be permitted to stand in the way of the stability of the Russian throne.

DAUGHTERS CONFIDENT

The daughters of the Republic are highly gratified at the success attained thus far with the passage to enactment of the Alamo purchase bill which carries an appropriation of $55,000. It is confidently expected the bill will pass finally both branches.

LEGISLATORS GO HOME

FEAR FOR ENGINEER

Relatives of Chicago Surveyor Alarmed by Yaqui Murders
CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 21.—A telegram from Nogales, Ariz., states that the bodies of five Americans who were murdered in the state of Sonora, Mexico, by Indians were brought to that place today. The dead men are said to have lately come from Illinois. This information, together with the murder near Torres, Mexico, of John McKenzie and Dr. Robert McCoy of Chicago, has aroused fears for the safety of William Chapman Potter, who is in the same region. Potter is the junior member of the mining engineering firm of Dickman, McKenzie & Potter and has resided in the City of Mexico for a year. He is now on a trip to inspect a mine near Puerte, in the state of Sinaloa, adjoining Sonora, where McKenzie and McCoy were killed.

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 21.—Representative Rieger of Comanche county will Monday introduce a unique bill in the house. The bill provides that anybody who wishes to marry shall give thirty days' notice to the county clerk before procuring a license. The bill requires that parties desiring to obtain a license shall make application to the clerk at least thirty days before the date of issuance of said license. The clerk shall keep a record of all such applications in a well-bound book kept for that purpose, which record shall give the names and ages of both parties, and if either appear to be under legal age as hereinafter defined, the name and address of the parents or guardians shall also be given. Said book shall be open to public inspection.

FOR STATE DEPOSITORIES

BAR SALOON KEEPERS

Miners' Union Decides They Must Give up Membership
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 21.—Agitation within the United Mine Workers organization against miners being saloon keepers or bartenders resulted today in the adoption of a resolution by the convention requiring all miners to leave the saloon keepers or bartenders who are saloon keepers or bartenders to leave the greatest evil resulting from membership of saloon keepers or bartenders in the locals is noted in the eastern and central districts of Pennsylvania, although other degree, and the stand of the delegates to their convention this morning was especially taken against the practices in Pennsylvania. It is stated that it is unusual thing for a miner to own a saloon, which his wife conducts during the daylight hours, when he is employed in the mines. After the close of the day's work the owner assumes the role of bartender.

CROKER'S SON IN AUTO WRECK

Receives Serious Injuries at Daytonia, Fla.—Chau- four Is Killed

DAYTONIA, Fla., Jan. 21.—Frank H. Croker of New York, eldest son of Richard Croker, was severely injured this afternoon in an automobile accident on the beach.

His chauffeur, Alexander Raven, of New York, was instantly killed, and another man, name unknown at this writing, who was propelling a motor cycle chair car and who caused the accident, had both legs broken.

Croker's 70-horsepower car rolled over and over into the ocean and when it stopped it was half submerged. Had Croker not been pulled out from under the car he would probably have been drowned.

Croker was speeding northward, driving his car near the beach, when he was pulled back by the motor cycle chair car. Croker tried to turn out, but the cyclist finally shot sideways to the right directly in front of his Simplex. He made a mighty effort to turn but at that minute the lamp sard gripped his wheel, wrenching one of the tires and the car turned sharply and then flopped sideways, turning over until it reached the water, a foot deep. Croker was found to have his leg broken badly near the thigh and his other leg had a deep cut and from a concussion on the forehead blood was flowing, also from his ears. He was unconscious about ten minutes. Finally when a bystander rolled back his eyelids he gradually revived.

There is still a chance of internal injuries being found, but it seems likely that he will recover. The driver has ceased breathing when his body was pulled out by the Atlantic. The cyclist, whose legs were broken, was speedily taken away.

HEPBURN BILL SUBMITTED

Makes Sweeping Rules for Regulation of Railroad Rates Along Ideas Held by the President

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 21.—The long-expected bill of Chairman Hepburn of the house committee on interstate commerce, providing for legislation on railroad rates was introduced today on such a comprehensive character that party leaders are chary upon passing opinion at this time. Some of the republican members who strongly endorse the administration's policy point at it as being of such complex nature as will prevent favorable action within the week session.

JAPAN'S PEACE TERMS

TOKIO, Jan. 21.—From an authoritative source it is learned that the terms which will be demanded by Japan in any negotiations for peace are as follows: The Japanese government will not propose these terms, considering that, for many reasons, notably that of prestige, the request for peace must come from Russia. Once this request is made, the Japanese will be quite ready to treat along the lines here indicated, which they consider will safeguard the vital interests at stake and satisfy the claims of justice involved.

PORTLAND ROBBERS ESCAPE

TRAIL, Ore., Jan. 21.—Four men held up an Oregon railway and navigation train for Spokane at the eastern city limits tonight with an excursion of Knights of Columbus aboard. One man in the subway lost a thousand dollars. Other passengers were robbed. The robbers then mounted horses and escaped.

STRIKE AVERTED ON PENNSYLVANIA

Settlement Between Workmen and Railroad Company Nearly Reached

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 21.—All danger of a strike which has been imminent for the past week, was eliminated late this afternoon on the Pennsylvania when after a conference lasting several hours Grand Master Morrissey of the trainmen's organization and W. W. Atterbury, general manager of the Pennsylvania eastern lines, gave out the following joint statement:

"The conference of yesterday was continued today in the same friendly and amicable spirit and concessions were granted on both sides.

"In order to settle some matters that are still under discussion, the meeting has been adjourned until next Monday at 2:30 p. m.

Representatives of both the company and the union freely express the view that the way has been paved to an expedient and amicable settlement. The board of adjustment will meet tomorrow noon. A member of the board stated that notwithstanding the mild pacific tone of the statement made public the situation was a critical one at the stage of the conference this afternoon and it was only through the fine diplomacy of General Manager Atterbury and Grand Master Morrissey that an open rupture was averted.

From this same source it was learned that under the terms of the settlement, the brakemen would still be helping the firemen, but under what arrangements cannot be learned.

It is believed that the brakemen taken off last July will be re-instated. There is persistent but unconfirmed rumors that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen has a committee at work preparing a list of grievances which will be submitted as soon as the trainmen's dispute shall have been submitted.

SENATORS HEAR SMOOT'S CREED

"God Comes First, Then Country," Says the Utah Statesman at Trial

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 21.—How God makes revelations to human beings; how and when such divine directions may be disobeyed at will and the relative importance of human and divine direction of human affairs, was told by Senator Smoot before the senate committee on privileges and elections today.

Members of the committee showed their interest in the testimony of their colleague by attending in larger numbers than on any recent day. The most important development of testimony given by Senator Smoot today was in his statement that he would at all times obey the revelation of God if it comes to him personally.

"If it should conflict with my duty to the country in which I live," he said, "I would go to some other country."

"But suppose the revelation commanded you to do something in conflict with your duty to this nation?" inquired Mr. Taylor, "and at the same time commanded you to remain in this country, what then would you do?"

Mr. Smoot's only declaration was that he did not think the God he worshipped was "of this kind of God."

Discussions of man as a free agent, to obey or disobey God as he pleased, formed a large part of the testimony. The views expressed by Senator Smoot were listened to by other senators but their trend of numerous inquiries did not indicate the holding of similar views on their part.

Mr. Smoot made no effort to deny his knowledge about the polygamist practices of President Smith and other men high in the church, in whose "sustaining" he had taken part last October.

In the case of a polygamist at pro, Mr. Smoot thought that was "extenuating circumstances" in connection with the man's polygamy. He thought a man ought to be prosecuted for violating a federal law, but held differently about state laws.

SITUATION MORE HOPEFUL

Late Reports from German Coal Fields Indicate Prospect of Strike Settle- ment Soon

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—Reports from the coal districts indicate that the situation has grown more hopeful and that the end of the strike seems in sight. Two thousand more police were ordered to the strike area, however, as the number of strikers appears to be on the increase. Emperor William Saturday had a lengthy conference with Councillor Von Vohsen of the government commission which has been appointed to investigate the situation. He returned to Berlin by special train in order to confer with the emperor and will return to the mining district as soon as he has completed his report.

FITZHUGH LEE'S DAUGHTER TO WED

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 21.—The announcement was made today of the engagement of Miss Annie Fitzhugh Lee, daughter of Major General Fitzhugh Lee, U. S. A., retired, to Lieutenant Lewis Brown, Jr., of the Seventh cavalry. The wedding is to take place Feb. 15 in St. Paul's Episcopal church in this city. The Seventh cavalry is General Custard's old command, which was in frequent collision with troops commanded by Fitzhugh Lee during the civil war. Miss Lee is one of the most beautiful girls in Virginia.

DOWNFALL TRACED TO COLLEGE LIFE

Youth Held on Forgery Charge Blames Associations He Formed at School

ONLY TWENTY YEARS OLD

Confession Follows Arrest After Ten Days' Stay in Fort Worth

"Associations formed at Princeton University are responsible, mainly, for my downfall," said Kirke R. Bachman, 20 years old, who told to a Telegram reporter yesterday afternoon the story of his waywardness, as he sat in the office of County Attorney Jeff D. McLean.

The latter, following voluntary statements made by Bachman, in the presence of witnesses, lodged six different complaints against Bachman and warrants were issued by two justices. Within thirty minutes Bachman was behind the bars of the county jail. He is charged with forgery.

Bachman talked to a Telegram reporter freely. "I am in for it and might just as well make a clean breast of the whole affair," he said.

On his person when arrested was found several checks on the Los Angeles, Cal., National Bank, for various amounts, ranging from $50 to $150. One check was for $50, another for $65, a third for $100, a fourth for $100 and the fifth for $150. A check for $100 which had been cashed by Washer Bros. and sent to the State Bank of Nashville, Tenn., had been returned to Fort Worth with the statement written across the face, "No funds in this bank." All these checks had been certified to by Bachman with red ink and to part of the checks the names of Cashier J. F. Teaford and Cashier A. W. Walker of Los Angeles banks were attached.

Bachman was arrested by Special Detective Al Ray who had been employed to work up the case. Young Bachman is only 20 years old and came here from Los Angeles about ten days ago. He stated to a Telegram reporter that he lived at Nashville, Tenn., where he was employed with the Southern Railroad Company as a civil engineer, and that he was a graduate of Princeton University. He said he tired of his work and decided to take a trip to Los Angeles, and that he did so during the month of December. Returning here, his money soon reached an end and while under the influence of drink he says he signed the checks.

With the proceeds of the $100 check Bachman said he bought a suit of clothes and then spent the rest in having a good time.

Bachman says he comes from a good family. Word has been sent them but no reply has been received up until a late hour last night.

Bachman avows this is his first criminal offense and that he expects to suffer for his wrong-doing. He says that he has an deposit in the Nashville bank $500.

A preliminary hearing of the case will be held before Justice Rowland Monday morning.

LETTER FOUND IN ROOM

After young Bachman was lodged in jail, Detective Ray went to the room Bachman had occupied at the Delaware hotel since he came here. In the middle of a package of unaddressed letters he found one addressed to Harry Gump, care Mahoney Jones & Company of Bristol, Va., to which Bachman's name was signed.

The letter was dated 1 o'clock last Sunday morning.

According to the letter, Bachman attributes his downfall to a loose life, and expressing fear of arrest, threatens to end his life.

THIRD COURT BILL MEETS OPPOSITION

Representative Williams Says It Does Not Meet Approval of Senator Hanger

The introduction in the legislature at Austin of a bill by Senator W. A. Hanger creating a criminal district court here, was the subject of much discussion about the court house Saturday, because of the fact that the provisions of the bill are not known or how the measure will affect criminal matters coming before the county court.

Representative W. D. Williams, when seen, said that while at Austin a bill asking for the creation of a third civil and criminal court for this county was sent him, and that it was turned over to Senator Hanger. He further said that this joint court was not satisfactory to Mr. Hanger. When asked for some of the provisions of the present bill Mr. Williams stated that he knew nothing about them. Senator Hanger will return to Fort Worth from Austin this morning.

The introduction of the bill creating a third or criminal district court in Tarrant county is the result of unanimous action on the part of the attorneys here representing the Fort Worth Bar Association, which association at its annual meeting the first of the year passed a resolution favoring such action and instructed the Tarrant county representatives to seek to have such a court established.

It is said by some members of the bar that a criminal district court will take away the jurisdiction of the county court in criminal cases. Others declare that would not be the case, but added that it would take from the Seventeenth and Fourteenth judicial district courts the criminal cases and concentrate the criminal business before one judge, who is to have jurisdiction only in criminal cases, and relieve the burdens now on the two district judges, which fact will lessen the congested condition of the dockets.

The two district courts in this county hold three terms during the year, and at each term only two weeks are devoted to the consideration of criminal matters, and it usually takes in the more important cases, from three to four days in which to dispose of a single case. With congested dockets and with new cases constantly added, it has become a matter of impossibility to dispose of the cases during the terms in which they should be heard. Therefore, the docket continues to grow until it has reached such proportions as to make it burdensome. Expense is also added by keeping prisoners who are held in jail from term to term. There have been instances in this county, lawyers assert, in which prisoners have been held as long as eighteen months because of a lack of sufficient time of the courts to try their cases.

With a separate criminal court, it is urged, the county will be benefited. The judge of such a court is paid by the state.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 21.—There was quite a spirited fight in the senate yesterday over the confirmation of the appointment by the governor of the state purchasing agent and the commissioner of plots at Sabine Pass. The confirmation of the latter was finally made by the senate, but that of the purchasing agent was not made. Action on this appointment was postponed until the first Monday in February. It was given out that it was on account of a bill now pending in the

What Sulphur Does

For the Human Body in Health and Disease.

The mention of sulphur will recall to many of us the early days when our mothers and grandmothers gave us our daily dose of sulphur and molasses every spring and fall.

It was the universal spring and fall "blood purifier," tonic and cure-all, and kind you, the old-fashioned remedy was not without merit.

The idea was good, but the remedy was crude and unpalatable, and a large quantity had to be taken to get any effect.

Nowadays we get all the beneficial effects of sulphur in a palatable, concentrated form, so that a single grain is far more effective than a tablespoonful of the crude sulphur.

In recent years, research and experiment have proven that the best sulphur for medicinal use is that obtained from Calcium (Calcium Sulphide) and sold in drug stores under the name of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. They are small chocolate coated pellets and contain the active medicinal principle of sulphur in a highly concentrated, effective form.

Few people are aware of the value of this form of sulphur in restoring and maintaining bodily vigor and health; sulphur acts directly on the liver, and excretory organs and purifies the blood by the prompt elimination of waste material.

Our grandmothers knew this when they dosed us with sulphur and molasses every spring and fall, but the crudity and impurity of ordinary flowers of sulphur were often worse than the disease, and cannot compare with the modern concentrated preparations of sulphur, of which Stuart's Calcium Wafers is undoubtedly the best and most effective.

They are the natural antidote for liver and kidney troubles and cure constipation and purify the blood in a way that often surprises patient and physician alike.

Dr. R. M. Wilkins while experimenting with sulphur remedies soon found that the sulphur from Calcium was superior to any other form. He says: "For liver, kidney and blood troubles, especially when resulting from constipation or malaria, I have been surprised at the results obtained from Stuart's Calcium Wafers. In patients suffering from boils and pimples and even deep-seated carbuncles, I have repeatedly seen them dry up and disappear in four or five days, leaving the skin clear and smooth. Although Stuart's Calcium Wafers is a proprietary article, and sold by druggists, and for that reason taboed by many physicians, yet I know of nothing so safe and reliable for constipation, liver and kidney troubles, and especially in all forms of skin disease as this remedy."

At any rate people who are tired of pills, cathartics and so-called blood purifiers a far safer, more palatable and effective preparation.

senate for the abolishment of the office.

The third house is being augmented almost daily, and every indication is that within another fortnight the hotels will be crowded by third house members drawn here for various reasons. The coming week also bids fair to prove most entertaining in that much of the work before the various committees will occur by both time and attention. Corporate interests in general will have an inning during the forthcoming week in committee rooms, and it may safely be said that the work of the entire session will in all likelihood be decided upon within the next ten days as a result of the committee work. It is hoped in this manner to be in a position within a very short time now to ascertain just what corporate interests will have to confront in the matter of legislation. The committee on revenue and taxation will of course have to act first, and after that the two houses will be in a position to express themselves. Just at present the house as well as the senate members are not disposed to commit themselves upon pending issues in the committee rooms, as they prefer to hear the arguments of the interests represented before they take any further steps in the premises looking to a commitment of themselves to any particular policy. Thus it is that some two or three weeks may even elapse before the taxation proposition gets out into the two houses for consideration, but when they do get there they will be strongly in evidence.

In the matter of outlining future legislation, it is also well to not that the announcement that all local option measures will be given a hearing in the state affairs committee on next Friday will assure much interest in that meeting. It is anticipated that there will be some very strong arguments presented, both for and against these measures, at that time, and the sessions of the committee will necessarily be attended by considerable interest. A very notable fact that has manifested itself in connection with all these local option measures is that they tacitly admit the failure of prohibition in Texas. They seek to enforce laws that are themselves ineffectual, and more clearly emphasize that the contention that prohibition in no way prohibits is very nearly true. At least the authors of these measures by their present actions admit that the laws governing the subject are not sufficient, and they now seek to place additional requirements upon the statute books and assess different punishments in the hope of making that effective which has never been hitherto.

In view of the fact that there has already been considerable agitation of the anti-free pass measures now pending in the committee rooms of either house, it is predicted by many that the discussion in the house common carriers committee room on next Thursday, Jan. 25, will be attended by an unusually large number of interested parties as well as onlookers. The strong opposition that has arisen in both houses of the legislature to this so-called platform demand, comes from the fact that the members consider that the passage of such a measure as is in contemplation would simply result in their publicly announcing to their constituents that they felt that they could be bludgeoned by these pieces of paste-board, and they therefore wanted to get out of temptation's way.

There are few members of either house who would care to place themselves in such a position, and it is therefore safe to say that the opposition that has already developed to the measures will grow rather than decrease. Texans are not given over to the blandishment of free passes, as has been proven in the past, and notwithstanding the fact that a so-called democratic platform demand urges them to action upon this question, the prediction is freely made in both branches of the legislature that there are few members who will willingly stultify themselves and their fellow members in the present political controversy over free passes.

SENATE COMMITTEES

Senate judiciary committee No. 2 reported the following bills favorably yesterday:

Faulk's bill providing for the paroling of meritorious convicts.

Faulk's bill providing for the punishment of persons under 9 years of age for perjury, thus qualifying them to testify.

Looney's bill providing for the punishment of those who fraudulently dispose of mortgaged property.

Bill by Chambers and Terrell providing that confessions must be made after warning, before a court of proper jurisdiction, instead of to the officer making the arrest.

Bill by Terrell and Chambers aimed at cold storage and clubs in prohibition districts, punishing persons who allow liquor to be drunk in their places of business in prohibition districts.

House bill diminishing civil and criminal jurisdiction of Gray county.

Bill by Looney and McKamy, making gambling a felony and the keeping of any gambling house and place, a misdemeanor.

Adverse reports were made on following bills because same subjects were embraced in other bills reported favorably:

Looney's first stringent anti-gambling bill by Chambers and Terrell prohibiting divorced persons from marrying within five years; bill by Griggs providing conditional paroles for convicts; bill by Faulk and Hale providing for confessions in open court; Terrell's bill punishing tenants disposing of landlord's property; Looney's bill prohibiting nepotism in any department or institution, state, county, city or subdivision office, was considered briefly.

Senators Looney and McKamy insisted on carrying out platform demand, predicting disaster to the democratic party if it does not carry out its pledges to the people.

Senator Hale said there was an anti-nepotism plank in the platform, which was disapproved by the people in the selection of state officials known to be guilty of such practice as defined in this bill. He said it was "tommyrot."

Senator Hanger said his idea of nepotism and Webster's definition thereof was the premissuous employment of relatives who are not competent, but where the service was not slighted it does not exist.

Senators Looney, McKamy and Stokes voted to report the bill favorably, while Senators Paulus, Hale and Griggs voted in the negative. Senator Hanger was acting chairman and voted against the bill, giving it an adverse report. Senator Looney gave notice of filing a favorable minority report.

Towns and city corporations committee reported favorably Brachfield's bill amending the Marshall city charter and Hanger's bill validating the incorporation of towns of 1,000 inhabitants.

OLD TIME FOOTLIGHT FAVORITE TO TELL STORY OF HIS LIFE

"A quarter of a century behind the footlights" is the title of a lecture to be given by Billy Williams, the famous minstrel man, at the city hall on the evening of the 30th. Mr. Williams is to tell some interesting reminiscences, with the sorrows, antipathies, as well as the joys of an actor's career. Things those attending will wish to know about and will have for the first time an opportunity of hearing realities of life ordinary mortals never dream of. The lecture and a splendid home talent program for the evening's entertainment is to be in the hands of a committee of prominent Fort Worth citizens who are staunch admirers of the man and the good he has done in this vale of tears and sorrow.

Billy Williams entered the theatrical life when he was a boy of 11 years. His first performance was an act with the old Dan Rice circus people in the very early days. His sketch was a little dance and drill with a broomstick called "George the Masher." From his first appearance he became a popular idol of the amusement loving public and many were the times his dancing and minstrel work helped to cheer and amuse.

Besides the lecture to be given by Mr. Williams, a program of the best local talent to be secured will assist. A committee of prominent business and professional men of the city has taken the matter of the entertainment in hand and is doing all in its power to make it an overwhelming success. The committee is as follows: Mayor T. J. Powell, B. B. Paddock, G. H. Dingee, A. M. McElwee, Jacob Washer, Martin Levin, Dr. M. Y. Cregan, G. H. Colvin, Joseph Wheat, Frank T. Crittenden, J. B. Mitchell, Martin Casey, Rev. Father McKough, Jack Lebane, Rev. Father Guyot, Rev. B. B. Ramage, J. H. Madson, Ed White, W. H. Slay, Bert Cowan and Dr. J. B. Frazier.

The annual university revival service begins today at the Chapel. President MacAdam will lead the services, in which the faculty and Christian associations will participate.

NOTICE OF LABEL LAW
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 21.—The agricultural department announced today that the enforcement of the law relating to the labeling of goods containing copper and other artificial colors and to correct the holding of the oil for packing sardines has been postponed from Feb. 3 to March 15. This has been done so that proper notice may be given to importers and their agents on the other side.

YOU CAN INTEREST HIM
Any Man Over Fifty.

You can interest any man over fifty years of age in anything that will make him feel better, because while he may not as yet have any positive organic disease he no longer feels the buoyancy and vigor of twenty-five nor the freedom from aches and pains he enjoyed in earlier years, and he very naturally examines with interest any proposition looking to the improvement and preservation of his health.

He will notice among other things that the stomach of fifty is a very different one from the stomach he possessed at twenty-five. That greatest care must be exercised as to what is eaten and how much of it, and even with the best care, there will be increasing digestive weakness with advancing years.

A proposition to perfect or improve the digestion and assimilation of food is one which interests not only every man of fifty but every man, woman and child of any age, because the whole secret of good health, good blood, strong nerves, is to have a stomach which will promptly and thoroughly digest wholesome food because blood, nerves, brain tissues and every other constituent of the body are entirely the product of digestion, and no medicine or "health" food can possibly create pure blood or restore shaky nerves, when a weak stomach is replenishing the daily wear and tear of the body from a mass of fermenting half-digested food.

No, the stomach itself wants help and in no roundabout way, either; it wants direct, unmistakable assistance, such as is given by one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.

These Tablets cure stomach trouble because their use gives the stomach a chance to rest and recuperate; one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digest 8,000 grains of ordinary food such as bread, meat, eggs, etc.

The plan of dieting is simply another name for starvation, and the use of prepared foods and non-fangled breakfast foods simply makes matters worse, as any despondent who has tried them knows.

As Dr. Bennett says, the only reason I can imagine why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not universally used by everybody who is troubled in any way with poor digestion is because many people seem to think that because a medicine is advertised or is sold in drug stores or is protected by a trade mark must be a humbug, whereas as a matter of truth any druggist who is observant knows that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have cured more people of indigestion, heart burn, heart trouble, nervous prostration and run-down condition generally than all the patent medicines and doctors' prescriptions for stomach trouble combined.

ALL SECTIONS INTERESTED
Citizens at Large Urge the Improvement of Grounds About Public Buildings

Circulation of the petition asking the curbing and paving of the ground surrounding the city hall is not being confined merely to adjacent property owners. Signatures are being secured from persons living in all sections, who feel that the present conditions in the heart of the city are a detriment to the municipality at large.

STATEHOOD BILL AMENDMENT

SMALL GRAIN CROP OUTLOOK IS GOOD

Wholesale Implement Dealers Say They Expect Large Increase in Acreage

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 21.—Despite the fact that the government's estimate of the Texas wheat crop shows a decrease in acreage of something like 2 per cent, as compared with last year's crop, local harvest machinery dealers appear to disregard the report. On the contrary, they anticipate an increase over last year, and set the estimate at 10 per cent, and this they consider very conservative at that. There is every indication of a successful crop, since the drought has been broken by the recent general rain and snow. The rain was very opportune, as it was the first general precipitation since early fall, and will mean hundreds of thousands of dollars to the state at large.

The prospect for a large increase in the oat crop is very promising. A conservative increase as to the estimate places the crop as 20 per cent ahead of the crop of 1904. The large increase in the acreage of oats is largely due to the demoralized state of the cotton market. Farmers are awakening to the fact that diversification is absolutely essential when six-cent cotton points to the end. Indications point to the fact that the acreage in oats is not very greatly reduced next year the staple will not bring a higher figure than 6 cents, and this means financial disaster to the producer as well as to the merchant.

J. N. Johnston, general agent of the International Harvester Company of America, in commenting upon the outlook, said:

"The outlook for a fine wheat crop is as encouraging just at present. In fact, there are many reasons for doubt as to an increase in acreage, and the conditions are ideal. I estimate the increase in acreage over last year fully 10 per cent. The crop is practically assured. It can very well go without rain thirty days, but there is very little likelihood of a dry spell of that length of time at this season of the year. The recent rain and snow of incalculable value to Texas. The ground is very dry, and much of the crop was 'dusted' in; that is to say, down in the dry soil—most all of it was, for that matter. The government's estimate as to Texas acreage shows an increase of only 2 per cent. There will be a large increase in Texas oats this year. The condition of the cotton market will cause many farmers to plant oats, and the increase will be very large.

"All of the wheat is in the ground now, and most of it is up. Oats will be planted the latter part of this month. There will be a large crop of volunteer oats, too.

"The weather conditions to both oats and wheat are very favorable, and Texas planters will undoubtedly reap a rich harvest of both these grains. Prospects for 6-cent cotton next year will cause many of them to diversify, and this means their only salvation."

William C. Lemmon, manager of the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company, expressed his views as follows:

"Texas farmers have just cause for rejoicing over the outlook for wheat and oats. The ground is now in excellent condition for wheat, and that which is not already up, will soon be. Unless high winds set in the wheat can go a long time without another rain, but at this season of the year there is no cause to anticipate a drought. I anticipate an increase in the acreage of about 10 per cent. The government which is not already up, will soon believe that a conservative estimate will place the increased acreage at 10 per cent. Wheat needed rain very badly before the recent rain, but it is comparatively safe now.

"There will be a large increased acreage in oats of something like 20 per cent over that of last year. This condition will be largely due to the slump in the cotton market. Texas farmers are coming to a realization of the fact that cotton is not the only crop, and that oats is a more certain and profitable. Unless the acreage of cotton is greatly reduced this year, there is no telling where the prices will go. The planters are going in strong for oats, and planting will soon begin with oats. There is really no telling how great an increase in oats may be expected.

"The country is in a very fine financial condition just now, and with fine wheat and oat crops this state of affairs should continue."

GOWAN HAS STIFF FIGHT
Fort Worth Attorney, Representing Cattlemen at Washington, Says Railroaders Are Busy

A telegram was received Saturday by Secretary Lytle of the Cattlemen's association from Washington, D. C., in which he stated that the representative of the Interstate Cattlemen's committee in the rate hearing case against the railroads, making an effort to secure legislation to increase the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission, to which there has been decided opposition on the part of the railroads. While in Washington Mr. Gowan will brief the case of the Texas Cattlemen's association against the railroads.

In a message Mr. Gowan says that the railroads are putting up a pretty stiff fight.

SEEK TO ENJOIN ANNEXATIONISTS
Quo Warranto Proceedings Begun Against North Fort Worth Officials

A petition for quo warranto proceedings was filed in the forty-eighth district court Saturday afternoon by L. T. Knight and G. S. L. Fox and others of Rosen Heights against the city of North Fort Worth to prevent the carrying into effect the annexation of a portion of that suburb to North Fort Worth voted on Dec. 31.

The petition alleges that the petition calling for the annexation of a portion of Rosen Heights to North Fort Worth was presented to only a part of the citizens and that it received the signatures of only twenty-nine people. The petition also alleges that on Dec. 31 the city council of North Fort Worth pretended to pass an ordinance annexing Rosen Heights to the city of North Fort Worth; that North Fort Worth council has also committed other acts in attempting to exercise authority and jurisdiction over Rosen Heights, as if it were a part of North Fort Worth.

The petitioners aver to the court that the twenty-nine names were not a majority of the inhabitants of Rosen Heights, and that a large majority of the residents of the petition until after the action of the North Fort Worth council, and were and now are opposed to the annexation to North Fort Worth.

Jeff D. McLean, county attorney, also petitioned the judge of the forty-eighth district court, asking leave and permission to institute quo warranto proceedings against the city of North Fort Worth and its officers to restrain them from exercising any authority over or jurisdiction over Rosen Heights or the inhabitants of the place, and to remove from office any of the officers of North Fort Worth council whose acts in the aforesaid matter may be shown to amount to a breach of forfeiture of office.

The petition declares that there are twenty qualified voters in Rosen Heights who are affected by the annexation and who oppose the action of the twenty-nine who voted for coming into North Fort Worth.

Judge Irbay Dunklin, after examining the petition, set the case down for hearing Jan. 30.

STATE DEFICIT NOW $604,053.42
AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 21.—State Treasurer Robbins this afternoon announced his thirteenth call by registered warrants. This call includes all warrants up to 22,597, amounting to $98,305. This leaves a net total deficit of $604,053.42. It is not total deficit but only members of the legislature have registered their warrants, preferring to accept a discount of three-fourths of a cent.

SALOON KEEPERS FINED
BEAUMONT, Texas, Jan. 21.—Twenty saloon men charged with selling whisky last Sunday were arraigned in Justice Holmes' court this morning. Three of them went to trial and each were fined $20 and costs.

The others accepted the same verdict and all gave notice of appeal to the county court. Complaints were made by citizens, who appeared as witnesses.

Newbro's Herpicide

An Exquisite Hair Dressing

THE ORIGINAL REMEDY THAT "KILLS THE DANDRUFF GERM"

SOME MEN DON'T CARE. Some men are so indifferent to hair loss that they pay no attention whatever to dandruff and itching scalp. But, later, when incurable baldness comes, they will waste time and money in a vain endeavor to overcome the result of their own neglect.

THERE WAS A TIME. There was a time when it was considered quite proper to ridicule and make light of the germ theory, but it isn't good taste to do it now, when municipal governments are sending for scientific men to suppress germ contagion. Prof. Unna (ask your doctor about him) was the first to discover the dandruff microbe, and now dermatologists the world over know that true dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a germ.

THE GUINEA-PIG PROVED IT. Drs. Lassar and Bishop, both noted scientists, took dandruff scales from the head of a student who was losing his hair, and having made a pomade of them with vasoline, rubbed the same upon a guinea-pig and the pig became bald. (See George Thomas Jackson, M. D. on Diseases of Skin, 4th Edition.) Newbro's Herpicide should be used at the first suggestion of dandruff or itching scalp. It prevents scalp infection, robs the public hair brush of its power to do harm, and never fails to cure dandruff and stop falling hair.

THE LADIES KNOW. The ladies are quick to discover any diseased condition of the hair, for with them, the natural impulse of preservation applies particularly to Nature's Charming Adornment. When the hair becomes dull, brittle or lusterless it shows that the dandruff microbe has planted itself in the scalp and is sapping the hairs' vitality. In time it will cause dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. This condition calls for the immediate use of Newbro's Herpicide. The wonderful effect of the very first application shows that it will destroy the cause after which the hair will grow as nature intended.

DISEASED HAIR AFFECTS FACIAL EXPRESSION. The face is a mirror of the mind, and many women lose their youthful appearance by brooding over some physical misfortune that might be remedied. Lasting beauty comes from the consciousness that both hair and skin are perfectly healthy, as nature gave them, and this form of beauty shows through even the most irregular features. A woman may be perfect in form and her complexion may rival the color of the rose, but if it is her misfortune to have scant or lifeless hair, that misfortune will continually wound her pride and be reflected in her face. To such women Herpicide is a positive delight. It gives confidence by quickly producing the "correct" effect. Makes the hair light, fluffy and gives it an indescribable charm. A single trial will convince. Contains no oil or grease, will not stain or dye.

STOPS ITCHING OF THE SCALP INSTANTLY.

NEW GROWTH OF HAIR

Before using Herpicide, the top of my head was completely bald, but the use of only two bottles has brought a new growth of hair. I have spent between $30 and $50 on other remedies, but failed to derive any benefit until using Herpicide.

Signed, CLARENCE HAMILTON.
Atlanta, Ga.

PLEASSED WITH RESULTS

I have been using Herpicide for something more than a year and I am very much pleased with the results. It is considered a standard toilet article in my house, and we do not expect to be without it.

Signed, W. J. BROWN.
Savannah, Ga.

Report on Impeachment Will Be Made by House Committee to Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Further steps were taken by congress today looking to the speedy impeachment trial of Charles Swayne, judge for the northern district of Florida.

In the house the Indian appropriation bill was passed after the extension to September 1 for the offering to settlers of the Upiath reservation in Utah was made.

In the senate the statehood bill was temporarily laid aside for the day, the committee on interstate commerce was given permission to sit during the sessions of the senate and the fortification appropriation bill was briefly considered. It went over Monday, at which time there will be a vote upon the motion of Mr. Teller (Dem.) of Colorado, of the proposition to strike out all appropriations for fortifications in the insular possessions.

The session in each body was concluded by exercises formally accepting from Kansas the statue of ex-Senator J. J. Ingalls.

In the house Speaker Cannon named the seven members of that body who will manage the Swayne impeachment trial before the senate. They are Representatives Palmer of Pennsylvania, Powers of Massachusetts, Olmstead of Pennsylvania and Perkins of New York, all republicans; Clayton of Alabama; Desmond of Missouri and Smith of Kansas, Democrats. A resolution was adopted directing the clerk to notify the senate of the appointment of house managers and to exhibit to the senate the articles of impeachment. This order will be sent to the house Monday. Upon its receipt the managers appointed by the house will visit the senate. When they have been introduced to the senate and signify that they are ready to exhibit articles of impeachment, the presiding officer of the senate will direct the sergeant at arms to make proclamation of that fact. After making such proclamation he will declare: "All persons are commanded to keep silent on the matter of impeachment, the notification of representatives is exhibiting to the senate of the United States articles of impeachment against Charles Swayne."

After the articles have been exhibited the senate will inform the managers that it will take proper regard and give notice of such trial.

It is possible that on this day, orders will be made providing for the arrangement of the senate, the notification of Judge Swayne to attend, the issuing of subpoenas and such other details as will be necessary.

SWAYNE CASE TO COME UP MONDAY

MINORITY LEADER ABOUT TO RETIRE

John Sharp Williams' Followers Expect Him to Surrender Honor

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 22.—It was understood that notwithstanding the earnest solicitation of the majority of the minority members of the house the caucus called for by Mr. Williams for Monday night would be held. Although Mr. Williams refuses to affirm or deny that he called the caucus for the purpose of retiring from the leadership his party followers have accepted this as the reason.

Mr. Williams states that the caucus will consider among other things the question of railroad rates. This causes some to believe that the visit to the capital yesterday by William J. Bryan was largely instrumental in the decision to have a caucus of sort. Mr. Bryan expressed himself in warm terms of praise over the president's railroad policy, carrying personally to President Roosevelt today his congratulations. This is the basis for the belief that Mr. Bryan wants the democrats to adopt the policy with reference to railroad rate legislation with the hope of taking the wind out of the sails of the republicans. It is generally conceded by the democrats, however, that Mr. Williams intends to offer his resignation as leader at the caucus. Mr. Williams' friends were pleading with him all afternoon to postpone a caucus until later in the week in order that his resentment against the democrats in supporting a measure of the republicans may subside. These democrats laughingly say that inasmuch as no minority leader has ever been able to secure the united support of his followers, the present leader should not sacrifice himself on a punctilio.

Several minority members attributed to Mr. Williams the belief that the southerners in refusing to vote for the amendment are trying to revive the old animosity in the south against General Miles for his alleged harsh treatment of Jefferson Davis at Fortress Monroe.

Liberal Receipts of Cattle at Local Yards During Past Week Met with Active Demand

NORTH FORT WORTH, Jan. 21.—Receipts of cattle, including calves, have been 11,600 for the week. This is considered a very liberal supply.

With all of this, prices are but little better than at the beginning of the week. The chief improvement being noted in year calves, which are selling at 25c to 50c stronger for the week.

While steers, good cows and feeder steers are steady, medium cows are 15c to 20c lower and canners are weaker. So long as the flood of poor cattle continues to pour in, no improvement is to be looked for in the trade in good quality cattle.

Hogs.—The supply of hogs has been heavy for the week, reaching 11,240, the largest week's run in the history of the yards. The demand has been good throughout the week, and prices have steadily advanced, closing a nickel and a half higher for the week. This is true of light to medium packing hogs and pigs. Light hogs, particularly mast hogs, from east Texas, have suffered very materially in the past two days, and are selling 20c to 30c lower.

The sheep trade is stronger, closing the week 25c higher. The horse and mule market has been fairly active. During the week outsiders bought some 20 cars for shipment. Mule prices have suffered a decline, and the principal call is for light cotton mules. Horses are lower on all except fancy drivers and brood and work mares in good flesh.

STOCK MARKET IRREGULAR

Underlying Tone of Strength, However, Noted Whenever Reactions Occurred—Amalgamated Loses

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The stock market today presented the same features of irregularity which have been characteristic of the situation for some time.

It may be said that it was marked by the same tone of underlying strength that has been obvious even when reactions have occurred.

Union Pacific moved indifferently but there was an extreme advance in Chicago and Northwestern of 3/4 points and of a five points in Omaha, while strength was marked in New York Central, Big Four and Nickel Plate.

St. Paul also made a sharp advance. Duluth S. S. and A. issues continued their recent rise and Colorado Southern stocks were in demand at considerably higher figures.

In the industrial group Amalgamated was almost the only stock which received attention and it closed with a fractional net loss.

The other issues in this department were irregular. The principal feature of the local traction group was sustained strength in Manhattan.

In the late declines the market in general reacted with some sharpness. The ostensible cause of the decline was the character of the bank statement, showing a heavy increase in loans and deposits, even though the reduction in the surplus reserve was trifling.

Government bonds unchanged, railroad and other bonds active and strong.

The Telegram's Great Offer to Ten Most Popular Ladies in Oklahoma, Indian Territory and Texas

Two Weeks Vacation in Mountains of Colorado

With All Expenses Paid

No Paper in the Southwest Has Ever Made Such a Remarkable Offer as The Fort Worth Telegram Does in this Great Popular Young Ladies' Voting Contest Which Begins Today

Who do you think is the most popular lady in Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territory? Your opinion is just as valuable to The Telegram as that of any other person, so send in the name of your favorite on the nomination blank below, and if possible place enough votes to her credit to put her in the lead the first announcement. The Telegram will publish her name with the number of votes she has along with the other ladies who have had their names sent in by their respective friends.

The names of the young ladies who have entered this contest will be published, with the number of votes they have received, beginning January 23, and will continue throughout the entire contest.

The ten young ladies in Oklahoma, Indian Territory or Texas who secure the largest number of votes between the above date and midnight, Saturday, April 22, will have the pleasure of being entertained in the mountains of Colorado for two weeks, with all expenses paid. The contest will close at midnight, April 22, and the trip to Colorado will be made from Fort Worth over the popular Fort Worth and Denver City railroad, leaving Fort Worth about the 1st or 15th of May. The ten ladies who are successful in securing the largest number of votes in this great Colorado contest will be brought from their home town to Fort Worth and they will be entertained in the city of Fort Worth for one or two days, and while in the city will attend the theaters, view the city by means of a trolley ride and take a trip to Dallas, a distance of thirty-three miles, over the Interurban electric railway. After a pleasant two days' stay in Fort Worth, the entire party will leave for beautiful Colorado, where a two weeks' vacation will be spent, with all expenses paid by The Telegram. The expenses are to consist of railroad and Pullman sleeper fare to and from Colorado, meals on train, hotel and railroad transportation while in Colorado and other entertainments in the various cities to be visited on this great free trip.

When one realizes the fact that the expense to The Telegram will mean something over $1,000, it can readily be seen that nothing will be left undone or no expense spared to insure the successful ten young ladies the most pleasant and profitable trip of their lives. Denver will be the first stop made by The Telegram party. There will be beheld one of the most beautiful cities on the American continent today. The party will be entertained at one of Denver's good hotels and will be given a ride over the beautiful city by electric cars, attend the theaters at night. From Denver the trip will be made over the Colorado Southern railway to Colorado Springs, the Garden of the Gods, Helen Hunt Jackson's grave, and Manitou, where two or three days will be spent in sightseeing and merrymaking. If time will permit and if there are any ladies in the party who wish to go to the summit of Pike's Peak, they will be taken up over the Cog Wheel Route, which is Pike's Peak only railway and which leads from Manitou to the top.

After the party has done with Colorado Springs and Manitou a trip will be made over the Colorado Midland railway to a chain of golden cities, as follows: Cripple Creek, Victor, Anaconda, Elkton, Portland, Independence, Gold Field, Bull Hill, Eclipse, Cameron and Gillette. Along this route will be seen some of the most beautiful scenery in all Colorado. The most wonderful view of all along this route is the scenery to be seen as we approach Cripple Creek. Further descriptions of this great trip will be given from day to day as the contest goes on. Send in the name of your favorite. Do it now. Read the conditions below carefully, and you can readily see how many votes you can give your favorite for each cent sent to The Telegram on subscription. The party will be chaperoned by the Publisher of The Telegram.

The Famous Georgetown Loop, one of the sights that will be seen by the ten winners of this contest.

Gilliland & Harwood,

FORT WORTH NATIONAL BANK BLDG. PHONES 1786

A few West Side bargains that are genuine. A corner lot 90x100 feet on which is a seven-room house with all conveniences, barn and necessary outhouses, Fifth street, west of Main, and situated in the heart of the best residence section. This is an exceedingly cheap proposition, the ground alone being worth the money.

A six-room cottage, with hall, bath and all modern conveniences, rooms very large and tall ceiling, together with good outhouses, which are roomy and substantially built, on corner lot 80x120, beautifully terraced, cement walks and iron fence, nice shade and shrubbery. This property should sell for $4,500, but for a few days only we can shade $4,000 a little.

Seven-room two-story house two halls, new and modern, convenient to two car lines, all conveniences, lot 50x150. This property is easily worth $3,000; can get quick action at $2,750. The three propositions above submitted are all conveniently located on the W. T. Side and are the best to be had for the money. We can arrange terms provided a reasonable cash payment is made.

We are offering some exceptionally "good things" in vacant and residence property on the South Side that prospective buyers can not afford to overlook. Should you be interested in West Pennsylvania avenue, Prewitt street or Quality Hill vacant property, call on or phone us.

We are in position to interest investors in business property that is producing good revenue and does not require an outlay of capital to put it on a paying basis. We are also selling farms in Tarrant and adjoining counties and a ranch now and then and are anxious to figure with any one contemplating the purchase of landed interests anywhere in this section.

TRACTION OFFICIAL SEEKS FRANCHISE

F. W. Potter, Who Would Build Plant Here, Connected With Trolley Company

Improvements of greater moment than appear from the mere application for franchise may be contemplated in connection with the request made to the city council by F. W. Potter for permission to erect poles and places wires.

Members of the street committee seen Saturday declared ignorance of Mr. Potter or others seeking the franchise. It is learned, however, that Mr. Potter is also prominently identified with the traction line to be operated between the cities of Temple and Belton.

The application for the franchise, as submitted to the council, provides for payment to the city of increasing percentages of the gross receipts of the company. No meeting of the special committee to whom was referred the application has yet been called. This committee comprises the regular electrical committee, the board and alley committee and the city attorney.

PACKAGE CONTAINING $5,650 STOLEN WHILE ON WAY TO THE BANK

NEWCASTLE, Pa., Jan. 21.—One of the largest and most sensational robberies which has occurred in this section for years, which a package containing $5,650 was en route from the treasury of the United States to the Citizens National bank of this city, sent via the Adams Express company. The recovery was made when the package arrived at the bank. It was immediately opened after the express driver delivered it and was found to contain the comic section of a newspaper. The original package as sent from Washington contained fifty-six one hundred dollar bills and one fifty dollar bill wrapped in manila paper. When it arrived at the bank it presented practically the same appearance as when it was sealed and was sealed with the same sealing wax used by the company. Superintendent Murphy of Philadelphia was notified and started at once for Newcastle. Following him detectives in the employ of the company began working on the case. The detectives think they have a most important clue from the part of the Pittsburg Post being found in the disguised package and are working along that line.

NEW ORPHANAGE TO BE DEDICATED

Ceremonies will take place at "Faith Cottage," Near Grand Prairie, Wednesday, Jan. 25

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 21.—Fifteen years ago Mrs. Juliette Fowler, a daughter of Captain Fowler, died, leaving property valued at about $25,000 for the founding of a home for white orphan children and indigent widows. A board of trustees was appointed to take charge of the property. It is the duty of the trustees to see that because of the depreciation of real estate the value of the property was reduced one-half. Of this real estate, fifteen acres was to be set aside for the location of the home. This tract of land is located about two miles this side of Grand Prairie on the line of the Interurban and is an ideal location for this purpose. The orphanage was organized about a year ago and the first building used was able to accommodate only twenty children and was located for that purpose. Last July the National Benevolent Association of the Christian church took charge of the orphanage and they immediately began the erection of the first cottage, a series of three, which are to be erected. This building will be dedicated Jan. 25. This new building, which is called "Faith Cottage," is completed in every detail and is modernly equipped throughout. It is steam-heated, lighted with acetylene gas and is equipped with bathing facilities and everything is up-to-date in every respect.

DAILY WAGE HERE REACHES $30,000

Report Filed With Board of Trade Urges Patronage of Home Products

Work of compiling statistics of the number of men employed at the various trades in the city was begun Tuesday and the entire list completed Saturday. The work was accomplished by the Trades Assembly for the purpose of learning the exact number of men employed in making various articles in common use, and then determining how much more of said commodity is consumed in the city than was manufactured here, with the end in view of determining how much Fort Worth would gain by encouraging and patronizing home industries. The list was turned over to the board of trade.

Table listing various trades and their corresponding number of workers, such as Clasmakers, Printers, Carpenters, Pressmen, Clerks, Plumbers, Painters, Sheet and metal workers, Leather workers, Blacking, Ironmolders, Plasterers, Bricklayers, Common labor, Butchers and Meat Cutters, Teamsters, Brewery Workers, Laundry Workers, Garmet Workers, Mattress Makers, Bartenders, Bookbinders, Barbers, Stone Cutters and Marble, Cooks and Waiters, Street Car Men, Mill Operators, Electricians, Tailors, Machinists.

PRIEST DEMANDS

mands were justified. That therefore concessions were in order. Most of those who replied to Kokovsoff had the same views. They claimed that to make concessions at this time would be to admit weakness and that such leniency could only be productive of the most prejudicial influence upon the country's manufacturing interests. Rather than give way they declared they would shut down their plants. They boldly accused the government of aiding the strikers by permitting Gapon, the priest who has been their leader and counsel the past few days, to remain at large. His arrest would break the backbone of the strike, they claimed, and it was the duty of the police to place him where he could do no harm. In the most determined manner M. Kokovsoff declined to accede to this demand. No coercive measures would be taken against Gapon and so far as he knew the police did not even intend to request him to cease his activities.

Government Stands By Leader of Strikers

Gapon, the minister said, was by no means merely a political agitator, true his views were tainted by political influences, but the man was honest and sincere and while the strikers no doubt followed his lead implicitly, there was much room for doubt if the situation would not grow worse every night and perhaps become uncontrollable if the removal of Gapon was effected and the leadership fell into the hands of one of the consciousness agitators who are just as anxious to have Gapon put out of the way. In short, Gapon's fanatical devotion to the workers was tempered by the love of his country and his love for the church.

Continuing, he urged that at least a part of the program of the strikers be accepted as one of those concessions which manufacturers all over the world have been compelled to make their workers, who have been driven to unrest and dissatisfaction by adverse economical conditions. At this juncture the director of the Franco-Russian works rose and declared that he, for one, was ready to come to the aid of the government and make substantial concessions providing, however, that the employes returned to work Monday morning. Accurate reports had convinced him, he stated, that the unfortunate agitation had already caused much suffering and that unless the problem was speedily solved, the city would be swamped with an army of paupers.

MASTER PRINTERS YIELD

Decide to Increase Wages and Grant Demands
ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 21.—One hopeful sign grows out of the attitude of the master printers and publishers and the men who are employed in their establishments. All editors agreed Saturday night to publish on Monday. The master printers held a protracted meeting and agreed to listen to the demands of the men. The latter had several meetings, and they decided to prepare a program which will be submitted to the master printers on Sunday. It includes a demand for a general increase in wages, covering all branches. The men resolved, however, not to resume work unless permitted to do so by the executive committee of their union. The only trouble seems to be that the printers and compositors form but a very small portion of the striking masses. A petition has been presented to the police by a committee of editors, asking for the removal of the censors restricting strike news.

ST. PETERSBURG

STATE OF SIEGE COMPLETE

Government Could Wipe Out Population of St. Petersburg
ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 21.—The state of siege of St. Petersburg is complete. There is no doubt that, were the government ready to do its work, the entire population of the capital city of Russia could be wiped out at a given signal. Every cavalry regiment stationed in the city and its suburbs has been called in from the barracks and throughout the night could be heard the clatter of marching feet, the clatter of horses' hoofs and the curt, sharp commands of the officers. If there is any truth in the rumors that five out of every ten regiments are determined not to shoot on the strikers, then St. Petersburg may fall into the hands of a merciless mob at any moment. But if the soldiers are loyal, the clash which is predicted by many as unavoidable, is bound to be short and the result decisive.

MONEY FROM PARIS

French Socialists Raise $2,000 for Russian Strikers
PARIS, Jan. 21.—Two thousand dollars has been raised during the last forty-eight hours in aid of the St. Petersburg strikers, among the French socialists, who declare that the success of the Russian strike will do more to alleviate the condition of ruined workmen than years of discussion. It is felt that the Russian government can not afford to suppress the manifestations which are being prepared and yet that if it does not the old autocratic order will receive its death blow.

BANK CLEARINGS MAINTAIN STRENGTH

The record of heavy advance in bank clearings established by the local banks during the holiday season has been duplicated during the last week, an increase of over 63 per cent showing that no dull period has succeeded the business activity at that time. Clearings in this city for the week ending Thursday, Jan. 19, according to Bradstreet's report, showed an increase of 63.5 per cent over the corresponding week of last year. The totals amounted to the sum of $5,357,475.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

At the First Christian church, corner Sixth and Throckmorton streets, the value of charcoal

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.
Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.
Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.
Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.
Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion. It whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.
It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.
All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.
The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is that no possible harm can result from their constant use, but on the contrary, great benefit.
A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS
Are greatly benefited by taking a few doses of the Bitters, especially in cases of monthly irregularities, or general weakness. It has a wonderful toning and strengthening effect on the weak organs and never fails to give satisfaction. Hundreds of women use of the exclusion to all other remedies. We hope you'll try a bottle at once and test its value for yourself. It always cures Sick Headache, Dizziness, Nervous Spells, Nausea, Cramps, Dyspepsia and Indigestion.
The genuine has Private Stamp over neck of bottle.

A big difference in character. Unfortunately a difference that does not always show in the importance of society's members. The woman who makes light of another's kindly thought and remembrance is often as much sought after as the one who considers every invitation in the light of a personal obligation...

Hospitality has had some rude jars by such women as the one who slights in words and tone as well as in personal contact the courtesies extended in the way of invitations. Many a woman of modest income but of kindness of heart and culture every glad to invite to her home and to entertain with unpretentious simplicity her friends...

So, between the woman who sneers unmistakably at her invitation, and the woman who becomes a mortal enemy, if she is not invited to every little party her neighbor or calling acquaintance gives, many folks allow their hospitable instincts to wither up and die, and in time they become social Crusoes alone and deserted on their family isle while the ships of intercourse and enjoyment go sailing by most merrily.

Happiness is one of the life savers of character. There may be people who are good and at the same time miserable, but they are of the kind that saints are made of. Saints are not very numerous among ordinary men and women. Happiness depends in a larger measure than we sometimes think upon what we get out of our dealings with our fellow creatures. Every human being depends more or less upon some other human being.

It is to be hoped that an annual event for this noble work undertaken by the ladies of the Hospital association may become a fixture here. OUR LAY SERMON

We seldom think of the shadow that falls across their path, hiding forever from their eyes traces of the loved ones, whose smiles were the sunlight of their existences.

In the beautiful drama of Illion the instincts of immortality are eloquently uttered by the death devoted Greek, find a repose in every thoughtful soul.

The question as to whether or not we shall meet and know each other on the other side of the Great Beyond is one that has caused the world much concern since the very infancy of the human race.

Take away from the world the assurance that there is recognition beyond the grave and you rob the true Christian of one of Heaven's greatest possible joys.

When our Blessed Savior had accomplished His mission upon earth and was on His return to the Father, He assured His disciples that He was going to prepare a place for them.

The human soul is immortal. We have the word of God for that. While we can not see the soul in this life, we are all proudly conscious of the fact that it is in our possession.

Lazarus recognized the rich man in Hell, who had denied him the crumbs that fell from his table. The agonies of the unfortunate could not so disguise his features as to render him unrecognizable to Lazarus in Heaven.

loved ones, then, seems to be dependent wholly upon ourselves. If we choose to lead the life that God has said is necessary to a knowledge of Heaven...

Reader, it rests with you whether or not you are to know and enjoy the happiness and blessings of Heaven with the loved ones who have gone before.

God Himself has told us that we must reap as we sow. If we are sowing the corruptible, then we must expect to reap corruption.

Are you sowing to the corruptible or the incorruptible? Are you placing your affections wholly on the things of this life, or are you looking beyond the grave?

Are you satisfied with the joys of your mortal existence, or do you crave those that come with a blessed immortality?

These are questions that each of us must answer for himself. While God has provided the way and the plan of salvation is free to all comers, it is left to man as a free moral agent to choose for himself.

Which is your choice? Is that immortal soul of yours to be sacrificed in return for the fleeting and transitory things of this life?

But the main desideratum is what will be the conditions of that meeting. We do not want it to be a repetition of the rich man and Lazarus. We do not wish to awaken from the sleep of death to find an impassable abyss between us and the loved ones gone before.

There is an abyss that yawns continually before us, and it must be bridged in this world. When we lay down this earthly armor and appear upon its brink it will be too late to look for bridge material.

There is an organized method of abandoning undesirable children in Fort Worth, there should be an organized effort to locate and punish adequately the persons who are engaged in the practice.

The Fort Worth office of the Western Union Telegraph Company has a new local manager. The attempt that has just been made on the life of the czar of Russia shows the determination that exists in that distracted country to effect a change of government, and should teach those in authority that the masses are not yet placated with the mere promises of reform.

It required three men to carry the documentary evidence that England will introduce in the investigation that is being conducted in connection with the North Sea incident, and it would seem that Russia will be compelled to prevaricate fast and furiously to overcome the heft of the British argument.

The powers are all united in an effort to make China be good and maintain neutrality in the pending war between Japan and Russia, and when the Celestials really break over the line and give Japan the assistance she is entitled to, the dismemberment and partition of that country will be the next step that is taken.

The Japanese army is now in complete possession of Port Arthur, and it is claimed that it has now been discovered that capitulation by the Russian garrison could have been postponed indefinitely.

The fine Italian hand of the beef trust is being manifested in the scores of letters that are flooding members of congress declaring that the Grosscup injunction has not been violated.

Even if Texas does lose one vote in the electoral college in consequence of carelessness in filling out the certificate, it is not a life and death case. It has been apparent ever since the election was held that the messenger from Texas was going to journey all the way to Washington only to be goose-egged in the ultimate result.

The number of lynchings in the United States decreased from 235 in 1903 to 87 last year, and at that rate we ought to soon get down to the basis of a decent people again. Meo's law is a dangerous law in any community, and no good citizen can afford to encourage it.

A movement has been started in Paris to raise a fund with which to purchase a sword to be presented to General Stoesel, and this in turn has given rise to the suggestion that a railway ticket to St. Petersburg would be more appropriate and acceptable.

The insurance companies now say that they consider criminals a very bad risk, and will not knowingly insure the lives of such people. Of course not. But the trouble is that a whole lot of people get insurance before it becomes known that they are criminals.

Arizona and New Mexico are making a strong and determined fight against the proposed joint statehood measure. But it seems to be a case where that brutal republican congressional majority is going to be able to get in its work.

All the men with new tax bills at Austin ought to get together and make a very determined effort to harmonize their differences. The ambition of the average legislator seems to be to shine as a tax reformer.

Cleanings From the Exchanges

Did you, kind reader, ever help a man into office, who, before the election was passed, kind and courteous? Of course you have. And, too, haven't you seen some of said fellows, after the election all swell up, and didn't you know when he met you? Of course keep your eyes open. The Gazette will.

To paraphrase an old saw, man's ingratitude to man makes countless millions mourn, and there are probably more political debts remaining unpaid than any other class of obligations.

One peculiarity of the south, and not an objectionable one, is the fact that the successful business man here does not become a snob. The attainment of a little wealth does not swell a man's head, but rather sharpens his inspiration to see his section of the country push forward.

The people of the south are different from any other people on earth. They are brave, chivalrous, courteous and hospitable to a very eminent degree. The southern business man is always a gentleman, and it is noticeable that his example is always contagious.

If there is no other way for Texas to get on a cash basis and take proper care of her institutions except by raising the general tax rate, then the general tax rate should be raised. Texas is too big a state to pursue a penny wise and pound foolish policy or to neglect to provide for those unfortunate who live within her borders.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature giving conductors on trains and street cars the right to stop the car or train and put off a drunken or disorderly passenger. This is a very laudable idea, and anybody who objects to its enactment into law, or drunken man on a train can make life and travel miserable and dangerous for all the passengers.

There is no reason why the patrons of a railway or street car company should be compelled to endure the frenzied antics of the individual who has imbibed too great a load of John Barleycorn.

Mr. Onion would compel railroads by statute to give passes to legislators and other state officials. Mr. Onion should also compel the peanut vendor by statute to keep the policeman, whose beat he is on, supplied with free goobers.

The Texas senate, it is said, will pass the anti-free pass bill this week, but it will be like a bill that passed that body several years ago in which the measure was made so drastic that the engineer and conductor could not ride on their train without buying a ticket.

The enactment of a law that is too drastic in its provisions is often a trick of the trade of law making; but it is hoped the Texas legislature will not be led into such action at the present session.

The people of Sulphur Springs will join with the farmers of that vicinity, erect a cotton mill and work into cloth the surplus cotton there instead of throwing it on the market at the spinners' price. Here is an excellent example for many other of the state, Austin for instance.

The proper method of disposing of the cotton surplus is to work it into cloth, and one more cotton mill erected in Texas for that purpose will be worth all the wind-jamming that can be done in five years on the subject of reducing the acreage.

A famous physician upon being asked recently what is the chief cause of ill health, replied: "Thinking and talking about it all the time. This ceaseless introspection in which so many of the rising generation of nervous folks indulge is certainly wearing them out."

It is no doubt true that thousands of people annually worry themselves into the grave for no other reason than that they are given to the worry habit and are always anticipating trouble. It is a fortunate person who can lay all troubles aside and always look on the bright side of life.

Fort Worth extends a cordial welcome to Mr. Ollieffer, in the establishment of state headquarters in this city.

RELATION BETWEEN THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH AND THE CAUSE OF LABOR

BY REV. CHARLES S. MACFARLAND, Ph. D., Minister of the Maplewood Congregational Church of Maiden.

THESE are no doubt but what there are men in the Christian church who have too little sympathy with men of toil. There is also no doubt that there are laboring men who are very indifferent toward the Christian church.

Certainly I am that the idea that the Christian church is, on its side, estranged from the working man does that organization a great wrong. The Christian ministers especially are, almost to a man, in deep sympathy with men of labor.

How can Christian ministers be other than sympathetic? Nearly all of them are the sons of working men. Almost to a man they have gained their education and made their way into their calling by the work of their hands.

How can the Christian church do other than commit itself to the moral cause of labor? Its Founder and Leading Personality was a carpenter and the son of a carpenter; its great creative apostle and preacher was a tentmaker; its first disciples were the fishermen of Galilee.

How about its constituency? The idea that it is composed of ruthless capitalists is wrong. It is so democratic and its membership so widely that such a charge is an entrance, but its file are the successors of the Carpenter, the fisherman and the tentmaker.

cessors of the Carpenter, the fisherman and the tentmaker. My own particular church has in its membership only about half a dozen employees of labor.

The churches of today, at least most of the churches of today, are trying to do more than express the ideal in words. Its social conscience is rapidly developing. It is the rare pulpit now that simply points men to a far-off heaven for the alleviation of human ills.

It recognizes the close relation between physical and spiritual betterment; it recognizes the need of sufficient wages and larger time, that men may be permitted to seek the uplifting of their intellectual, moral and spiritual natures.

When all has been said, it is still true that the church has not always reached its ideals. That is, in part, because its ideals are so high. If it has been neglectful in its obligation toward the working man, let him not separate himself from it in bitterness.

There is a magnificent chance, for church and union to work together in the name of Christ, the love of God and the brotherly service of men. The church of the laboring men, in the plan and thought of the infinite, are one.

The only hope of adjustment between employer and employed, and the only prospect of destroying suspicion, arrogance, bitterness and hate between them, is the bringing of employer and employed together in the name and spirit of Christ.

The final estrangement between the church and labor inevitably means the degradation and the dissolution of both. Their co-operation in the social aims of the church means that each has found its true end and spirit.

GANG MADE ARSON A BUSINESS FOR A QUARTER OF A CENTURY

astounding Revelations in Which Incendiarism, Murder, Highway Robbery and Suicide Have a Part—Men of Supposed Good Number and Strength of the Bold Gang of Criminals—Main Line of Business the Burning of Property and Adding to the Reputation Were Members of the Gang

CITIZENS OF THREE COUNTIES RAVAGED PARTS OF OHIO, INDIANA, MICHIGAN FOR GAIN AND REVENGE—INSURANCE COMPANIES ROBBED OF A MILLION AND A HALF

TOLEDO, Ohio, Jan. 21.—With the Letcher trial at Bryan next month the state of Ohio will enter upon the last chapter of its expose of the most remarkable gang of incendiaries ever organized—a gang that operated in northwestern Ohio, eastern Indiana and southwestern Michigan for twenty-five years, that was composed of men of repute in their communities, that reduced arson to a businesslike basis that insurance companies were robbed of $1,500,000, and that perfected its organization to such a degree that its members, though guilty of many crimes, went unpunished for a quarter of a century.

property, fearing to fix suspicion upon themselves. They preferred to maintain their pose as irreproachable men of business, while destroying other people's property for a share of the proceeds, of which the fire insurance companies were defrauded.

The gang sought as confederates men desperately in debt who were possessed of buildings or chattels heavily insured or capable of being so insured. When such a man was found one of the gang—likely enough a respected business acquaintance of the victim—intimated to him, casually or jestingly, that a fire would provide timely relief from pressing obligations.

At any rate, it would have been difficult to draw a jury in any one of the counties without including some of the gang's secret allies.

Even citizens righteously hostile to the lawless organization were terrorized into silence and for years no man in the three counties dared speak a word openly that might be construed as inimical to the gang. For not all of the gang's acts were for gain. The torch was applied, it is said, often for revenge as for greed.

Fires, though frequent in the communities, were a subject tabooed. Even in family circles they were scarcely mentioned. Children were brought up to believe it wrong to use the word, lest some chance remark might bring the father under the gang's suspicion and the family be left homeless by a night fire, from which some of its members might not escape.

It is known that several lives have been lost in fires started by the gang for revenge.

In the fires set with the connivance of the owner, of course there was no loss of life—with the possible exception of one or two unlucky tramps—and frequently the loss of property was not nearly so great as the insurance adjusters were led to believe. However, attempts to save property secretly in such cases were frowned upon by the gang as not "strictly business," and the gang, as a rule, devoted its energies exclusively to its "legitimate" trade—that of the firebrand.

A notable exception to this rule was the attempted murder and robbery of Samuel Ayers, of West Unity, Nov. 27, 1897. Ayers was a wealthy cattle buyer whose habit it was to withdraw from $1,500 to $3,000 from the village bank every Friday evening to pay for cattle to be delivered by farmers next day. The job was planned by Homer Morrison, saloon keeper, leader of the gang and Ayers' friend. He brought Waldo Ely, a professional crook, on from Kansas City, and instructed him how to hold-up Ayers.

The plan failed only because Ayers, contrary to his habit, had a revolver that night and used it. Ely shot to save himself, wounding Ayers in two places and so arousing the villagers that Ely was forced to run before getting Ayers' money. Morrison and others of the gang concealed Ely and eventually smuggled him out of the state, after a man hunt in which he stood off two posses and escaped by commandeering a farmer's team.

Ely was afterwards brought back from Missouri and, before being sent to the penitentiary, made a confession that materially helped the authorities in breaking up the gang.

The story of the exposure, which will be told in the next dispatch, is as remarkable as the story of the gang's quarter-century of crime.

Not its least remarkable feature is the fact that the gang was broken up and its members brought to justice by the state fire marshal's office, a department of the state government which the gang's depredations forced the legislature to create.

Clyde Persing kept a little restaurant at West Unity, O. His credit ran low and, July 21, 1902, the Paddock-Hodge Company of this city drew a sight draft on him and sent him word that, unless the draft was honored next day, suit would be brought. That night Persing's restaurant, heavily insured, was burned.

The officers drove about the country by day and night, searching for evidence in the gang's stronghold. Good citizens refused to make statements—or, if they made them, lied. Many of the events to be inquired into occurred two decades before and memory was lacking, even if fear of the gang had

ELY STANDS OFF A POSSE.

Letcher himself is but one of the big band of men charged with incendiarism, but his case and trial now form the nucleus for one of the most astonishing stories of criminality ever told in these United States.

The gang had its beginning 1874. In Williams county, this state, it had its headquarters, though it operated in Fulton and Lucas counties impartially and spread into the two adjoining states.

The leaders of the gang lived in Williams county. Like most of its other members, they were men of business standing—farmers, merchants, saloon keepers and the like. To all appearances, they attended strictly to their own business.

In reality, they were as busy at night planning and executing their crimes as they were in the day time at their stores or on their farms.

Their main line of business was the burning of property, by collusion with the owner, for a consideration, the owner reimbursing himself out of his insurance. Though more profitable to themselves, the incendiaries seldom burned their own

PAYNE CONFERRED WITH THE BEST MEN OF THE VILLAGE, BUT ALL REFUSED TO TALK, SAYING THAT IT WAS AS MUCH AS THEIR LIVES WERE WORTH.

"I can't begin to recollect the number of fires I set myself."

The gang maintained a lodge-like organization, with countersigns and signals. At one time, the authorities have learned, the countersign was, "I know all about the Keller fire." Any man who uttered these words to a member of the gang was entitled to all needed aid in the latter's power to give.

The Keller fire, one of the gang's last jobs, was typical of its methods. Keller's home was a farm house between Alvorston and West Unity, Ohio. Keller arranged with Bill Bohner and John Swisher to burn it, when they did one night while Keller and his wife were at prayer meeting. All three were indicted by the Williams county grand jury and Keller and Bohner were sent to the penitentiary for one year, while Swisher was tried in Fulton county for setting another fire and was also sent to the penitentiary.

Prior to these convictions the firebugs had seemed immune from arrest, for the gang always took care to provide an alibi for the members concerned.

It numbered in its roster men of political influence, locally, and it has been said that the gang often elected its "own" prosecutors and judges in its home counties.

At any rate, it would have been difficult to draw a jury in any one of the counties without including some of the gang's secret allies.

Even citizens righteously hostile to the lawless organization were terrorized into silence and for years no man in the three counties dared speak a word openly that might be construed as inimical to the gang. For not all of the gang's acts were for gain. The torch was applied, it is said, often for revenge as for greed.

Fires, though frequent in the communities, were a subject tabooed. Even in family circles they were scarcely mentioned. Children were brought up to believe it wrong to use the word, lest some chance remark might bring the father under the gang's suspicion and the family be left homeless by a night fire, from which some of its members might not escape.

It is known that several lives have been lost in fires started by the gang for revenge.

In the fires set with the connivance of the owner, of course there was no loss of life—with the possible exception of one or two unlucky tramps—and frequently the loss of property was not nearly so great as the insurance adjusters were led to believe. However, attempts to save property secretly in such cases were frowned upon by the gang as not "strictly business," and the gang, as a rule, devoted its energies exclusively to its "legitimate" trade—that of the firebrand.

A notable exception to this rule was the attempted murder and robbery of Samuel Ayers, of West Unity, Nov. 27, 1897. Ayers was a wealthy cattle buyer whose habit it was to withdraw from $1,500 to $3,000 from the village bank every Friday evening to pay for cattle to be delivered by farmers next day. The job was planned by Homer Morrison, saloon keeper, leader of the gang and Ayers' friend. He brought Waldo Ely, a professional crook, on from Kansas City, and instructed him how to hold-up Ayers.

The plan failed only because Ayers, contrary to his habit, had a revolver that night and used it. Ely shot to save himself, wounding Ayers in two places and so arousing the villagers that Ely was forced to run before getting Ayers' money. Morrison and others of the gang concealed Ely and eventually smuggled him out of the state, after a man hunt in which he stood off two posses and escaped by commandeering a farmer's team.

Ely was afterwards brought back from Missouri and, before being sent to the penitentiary, made a confession that materially helped the authorities in breaking up the gang.

The story of the exposure, which will be told in the next dispatch, is as remarkable as the story of the gang's quarter-century of crime.

His credit ran low and, July 21, 1902, the Paddock-Hodge Company of this city drew a sight draft on him and sent him word that, unless the draft was honored next day, suit would be brought. That night Persing's restaurant, heavily insured, was burned.

Out of these circumstances grew the exposure of the now notorious Williams-Fulton-Lucas-county gang of firebugs, the sentencing of eighteen of its members to the penitentiary, the indictments of scores of alleged members, the suicides of two and the hasty flight from the state of many others.

At the time of the Persing fire, the state fire marshal's office—then newly organized at the instance of insurance companies, which this gang had victimized to the extent of $1,500,000, was represented here by Assistant Marshal Walter Payne, whose district included sixteen counties.

To investigate this seemingly suspicious fire, Payne went to West Unity, the headquarters of the gang. Before he had been there ten minutes the gang knew his business. He called on a banker named Miller, the village insurance agent, Homer Morrison, known leader of the gang, and other members followed him into the bank.

- SCALE OF PRICES
- So methodical were these firebugs that they had an established scale of prices for their services. It was as follows:
  - For burning a small barn, $50 to $100.
  - For burning a large barn, $100 to $175.
  - For burning a dwelling house, $200 to $250.
  - For burning a store, $100 to $500.
  - The scale varied somewhat, according to the amount of insurance carried and the risk of detection.

Miller was frightened into silence. Later Payne secretly conferred with the best men of the village. Every one refused to mention the name of a single suspected incendiary, saying it was as much as their homes or their lives were worth to be known as even having talked with the fire marshal. Payne was watched, his every movement reported to the gang, but he persevered. With every precaution of anonymous secrecy, the name of Morrison was conveyed to him as one deserving investigation. Payne reported to Columbus, H. H. Hollenbeck, chief deputy fire marshal, and J. M. McMichael, an assistant, were detailed to work with Payne. The fire marshal's department had no money, but it got some from the legislature for the emergency.

The officers drove about the country by day and night, searching for evidence in the gang's stronghold. Good citizens refused to make statements—or, if they made them, lied. Many of the events to be inquired into occurred two decades before and memory was lacking, even if fear of the gang had not sealed its lips. The gang, with its secret means of communication, knew all that was going on and heaped up obstacles in the marshals' way. The search lasted six months.

Then the officers got the name of Jack Page. It came to them as Morrison's had come, as a secret whose telling, if known, meant death. When they tried to find him, Page evaded them. When they found him, he would not talk. Then, to use police vernacular, they "got something on" a member saved you from the pen. You can't afford to throw me down now."

But they did. From their virtuous height of then-undetected guilt they taunted him with being a convict and told him to go starve for all they cared.

It was revenge on these three only that Page wanted, but when he once began to talk, for all his cunning, he was led on until he had implicated practically all the surviving members of the gang and some of the dead ones.

And when he had told his story he was an outcast from the community he had lived in fifty-six years. When he had returned there from the Michigan prison he had kept away from his sons and daughters, lest the prison taint disgrace them. Now, when he had betrayed his former accomplices, his children cast him off. "I'd sooner rot in a fence corner than ask them for help," he declares.

So "Old Jack" Page, the state's star witness in the great firebug cases, finds his only remaining pleasure in his appearance before grand and petit juries, where his word is believed against that of his old companions in crime.

He says they have threatened his life and he lives in constant terror of violent death. Ever since he made his confession, the fire marshals have kept him under special guard to ward off the gang's vengeance. He is now in Columbus, where he will be kept until the trials are resumed at Bryan in February.

This account of the events leading up to the Page confession is given here for the first time.

The forty-three indictments that followed, the trials that were attended by thousands of relieved citizens, the convictions and the sentences—including

Morrison's to ten years in the Columbus penitentiary on five charges of arson—attracted attention all over the United States.

But the work has only been begun. Williamson county is acquitting herself nobly in the conviction of so many of her citizens whose dual lives of pretended probity and concealed crime the fire marshal's investigations revealed, but Lucas and Fulton counties still have everything to do. It will be done.

But they did. From their virtuous height of then-undetected guilt they taunted him with being a convict and told him to go starve for all they cared.

BRITT NOW AFTER "NEW MATERIAL"

Not in Any Hurry, Though, to Get Back Into Fighting Harness

By W. W. Naughton SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. Jan. 21.—With the Ralston anti-mauling measure casting a menacing shadow athwart the pugilistic scene the San Francisco promoters of boxing contests are timid about unfolding their plans for the future. The fighters themselves are scarcely so circumspect. The air is vibrant with challenges and out of the wrangling and recrimination provoked by professional jealousies and disappointed ambitions we get a glimmer of the matches that are likely to be made within the next few months. Provided always, of course, that Senator Ralston does not succeed in having Queenberry pastimes placed on the list of prohibited sports.

As it was in 1904, so it will be in 1905. The lightweights will hold the center of the stage. The foremost men of this class are here in San Francisco now and others, almost equally prominent, are expected. They may not all be bona fide lightweights but we will refer to them as such as courtesy's sake.

Those on hand at present are Gans, Nelson, Young Corbett and Britt. The native son is very much of a mark for the other three but he is bearing up bravely. Nelson has posted $5,000, of which amount he will bet $1,000 that he can stop Britt in twelve rounds. The balance he is content to let go as a wager that he will be returned winner if Britt agrees to meet him in a twenty round match.

Young Corbett announces that he is willing to box Britt for a side bet of $5,000 and allow the winner to take down all the purse money. Herford, who is here with Gans, hasn't flouted his bank roll but he says he will be prepared to bet dollar for dollar if Jimmy will only sign on with Gans.

In any case Jimmy Britt is in no hurry to get back into harness. Out of the lads and jabs he has given and received he has gathered a competence and if the bottom was to drop out of Sluggardom tomorrow Jimmy would lay his hand upon his heart and murmur "Thank the stars, I have made a fortune." He has recently purchased a stack of flats which cost him $30,000 and he is still looking around for bargains in realty.

If there are among the legislators at present gathered in Sacramento any who intend to oppose Ralston's bill on pugilism for all that is pernicious and degrading they should send for Jimmy Britt and mark him "exhibit A."

It looked a few days ago as if there was no certainty about the Nelson-Young Corbett contest next month, but now it is practically settled that the men will box before the Hayes Valley A. C. Nelson feels that his challenge to Britt was not to bear fruit for quite a while, if indeed, he is in a position to demand recognition when he gets through with Corbett, and he has told through with Corbett, and he has told through the details of the February engagement.

With Britt temporarily out of the running the contest is one of the best cards in sight and the belief that the winner will be matched with Britt before many months have passed will add interest to the affair.

Unless Jimmy Gardner puts in an appearance in this city within the next few weeks and evinces a disposition to sign articles with Joe Gans the latter will be confronted with rather a dismal outlook. Gans came all the way from Baltimore under the impression that he was to fight Gardner this month before the San Francisco club. Gardner, as all sportsmen know, kicked over the traces at the last moment and refused to leave Denver.

at a couple of pounds advance on the former weight punch. "I defeated him and I also beat Young Corbett. There was never any question as to either man's condition. Now it appears to me that most people consider Young Corbett was in no shape at all when Nelson got away with him. They are matched again, I understand, and Corbett is making a determined effort to put himself in good condition. Let Nelson show the world that he is Corbett's master when Corbett is in proper fighting trim before he begins clamoring for a return date with me. Nelson is no more to me than any other man I have defeated and I don't believe in going back over my tracks as long as there is new material in sight."

To anyone not knowing young Mr. Britt this little speech would suggest extreme urbaneness. But scratch the native son and you will find he is a scrapper like the rest. Some one managed to bring a pin point in contact with his cuticle a day or two ago and he loosened up thoroughly. "I think Battling Nelson has his full complement of gall," said Britt. "I defeated him and I also beat Young Corbett. There was never any question as to either man's condition. Now it appears to me that most people consider Young Corbett was in no shape at all when Nelson got away with him. They are matched again, I understand, and Corbett is making a determined effort to put himself in good condition. Let Nelson show the world that he is Corbett's master when Corbett is in proper fighting trim before he begins clamoring for a return date with me. Nelson is no more to me than any other man I have defeated and I don't believe in going back over my tracks as long as there is new material in sight."

It is no secret that the "new material" which possesses the most fascination for Britt at present is one James White of Birmingham, England. Jimmy is hugging the delusion that there is a popular demand for an international contest with White and himself as principals. There is not. English sporting writers are always noted for their national pride. During the past year they have perked themselves on the possession of Jim Bowker, the midge bruiser, and Pretty Polly, the famous racing mare. To Jabez White they have referred respectfully as "a nice lad" who boxed well, years ago, but was never meant for a rough grained fighter.

It has been my privilege to peruse some personal letters from London and from them I gathered that White would prove a disappointment if sent against some of our second rate men. In the light of what White's own countrymen say about him it would be manifestly absurd to pit him against Britt. It would be an international tussel of course, but unless White's fighting qualifications are being belittled for ulterior motives, it would not come to be numbered among the memorable struggles of the roped arena.

There has been little doing, pugilistically speaking, in this section of the country this week. Martin Duffy and Dick Fitzpatrick, after wonderful advance notices, fought fifteen tame rounds to a draw at St. Louis, with nobody hurt and everybody disgusted. In Philadelphia, Buddy Ryan, the present claimant of the welterweight championship, repeated his stunt of disappointing the audience on account of the sight of empty seats hurting his eyes—a fool play for a fighter to make at any time, and especially with times as hard as at the present writing.

A western turf war is now an assured fact and the first gun will be fired Feb. 4, that being the opening day of the new Panama track at New Orleans, according to the official announcement this week. There is even some talk of racing at this course all the year round, based on the belief that it is very doubtful that there will be any racing in Chicago this year. It is also stated that Essex Park at Hot Springs will not close down at the expiration of its thirty days' meet, but will continue and run in opposition to the Condon track there, which will start up at the end of this period. The other race courses in the new circuit are Elm Ridge at Kansas City, Churchill Downs at Louisville, Latonia at Cincinnati, Hawthorne and Worth in this city, Union Park at St. Louis and Highland Park and Fort Erie of the Canadian circuit. Truly a strong aggregation.

135 pounds would put up a highly interesting go and some disappointment has been caused by Gardner's failure to toe the mark. The race track men say that Frankie Nell will be a 2 to 1 favorite over Dick Hyland on the night of Jan. 31. The pickers who have followed Hyland all through his four round days say that if there is any such odds forthcoming the pool men will get writers' cramps from registering small bets.

Alec Gregains of the San Francisco club thinks Hyland a wonder. Alec says that every ounce of Dick's 122 pounds that every ounce of Dick's and he believes that Hyland will carry bantam Frankie all over the ring and in all likelihood batter him down and out.

PUGS HOPE MUCH FROM NEW BILL

Revival of Game Expected to Follow Passage of the Frawley Measure

By Chip. CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—The eyes of the pugilistic world are centered upon New York, watching the progress in the state legislature of Senator Frawley's boxing bill, introduced last Tuesday. The measure is wisely framed upon the entering wedge system, and its sponsor has great hopes of getting it safely through.

The bill makes it a felony to hold prize fights, but permits boxing matches with eight-ounce gloves for medals or trophies under the rules of the Amateur Athletic union. All of which sounds splendid, but it is more than dubious if any member of the New York state legislature has any idea that this is what the bill is intended for, or, in voting for it, cares greatly. It is better of course to say "boxing matches, medals and trophies," etc., and thus preserve the proprieties, and at the same time give the sporting element of the country's metropolis an excuse to see a fight once in a while without journeying a thousand miles or so away from New York city.

Of course, the "medals" will be awarded, at least, at the start, and the purse money will be slipped quietly to the contestants at the proper time afterwards. After the entering wedge has sunk deep enough, everything will go along without any trouble, unless the fakery and knavery succeed in queering things once more.

"As goes New York, so goes the country," is true in pugilism as in politics, and for that reason every fan of the sport is keeping an eye on Albany and living in hopes. Should the game again obtain a foothold in the Empire state, it will spread throughout the country in short order, if precedents count for anything.

CORBETT'S BOASTING PROVED A PETARD

I see by reports in the daily papers that Fitz is on the warpath and must have a fight. Every time I read anything about the great Cornishman I think of the day he arrived in this country from Australia. I happened to be one of the first men Bob ran across in the fighting game and his pleasant manners interested me in his future really more than his looks did. Shortly after our first meeting I received a letter from Pat Galvin, a New Orleans promoter whom I had met when in the Louisiana metropolis preparing for my six-round battle with Jake Kilrain. Galvin wanted me to send George La Blanche, or Young Mitchell to New Orleans to fight Art Upton, who had considerable of a following in those days.

I cared little about La Blanche or Mitchell and was thinking of writing a letter to Galvin when he should pop up but Fitz and his manager, I put the proposition of going to New Orleans up to them and when they heard that a $2,000 purse was in it for them they immediately said they would accept.

I wired Galvin that neither Young Mitchell nor La Blanche were available, but that I had discovered another middleweight who would surely give him man Upton a good battle. I received a telegram at once saying for Fitz and his manager to leave for New Orleans on the first train.

There were a lot of men in New Orleans who liked the looks of the lanky Cornishman, and when he stepped into the ring with Upton he carried a lot of money. Fitz proved at once that he was a great fighter and to this day I guess no one has doubted it. This start I gave the Cornishman was the beginning of the ending of myself as the champion heavyweight fighter of the world.

ANOTHER OF CORBETT'S KINDER-GARTNERS

Jeffries is another man I started out in the pugilistic game and afterward had to take my hat off to. It was while training for my battle with Fitzsimmons at Carson City that I received a letter from an old friend at San Francisco, De Witt Van Court, asking me if I needed a sparring partner. I didn't, but the recommendation of Van Court was enough to assure me that I could not make a mistake by bringing on the big fellow.

One Sunday afternoon there appeared at my training quarters a big, clumsy-looking chap, who said that his name was Jim Jeffries and that he had a letter from a "Frisco friend of mine" which would explain his errand. Jeffries was given the glad hand by all my friends and took all the kidding and joshing of the other fellows good-naturedly.

He would put on the gloves with me any time I wanted to, and always took all the punching that I could give him in an ordinary work-out without flinching a particle.

When I faced Fitz, Jeff was behind me, and you can bet he was getting pointers from Fitz that afterward meant a lot to him. The sporting world knows well the outcome of that battle, but few at that time thought the big clumsy fellow in my corner would develop so rapidly into the great ring champion he is today.

PIE FOR THE CONQUEROR

I once attended a banquet by mistake and several of my intimate friends never got through kidding me about it. It was after I had knocked out John L. Sullivan at New Orleans.

On the night following the battle I walked into the dining room of a leading hotel with my manager. We were going to take a seat at a small table and talk over plans, when I noticed a group of famous sporting men at a big table in the other corner of the room. They called me over and wanted to know if I would take a seat at their table. I informed them that I had my manager with me and that we were going to talk over plans while dining. They insisted, however, and finally I sat down with them and enjoyed one of the heartiest meals I ever partook of.

About two weeks afterward I was talking to one of the members of the party and he informed me that I sat in the chair that had been reserved for John L. Sullivan. They had figured that he couldn't lose the battle to me and wanted to give him a feast. But the unexpected happened and Sullivan didn't show up. Had I known at that time that I was occupying the chair that had been intended for Sullivan I might not have felt so welcome.

Colored fighters are slowly fading away in the face of race prejudice and it now seems to be only a question of time until the dark-skinned ring exponent will be a thing of the past. Father time is grabbing them one by one, and they are scarcer each year.

Go back a decade and you will find the colored man very much in evidence. There were Peter Jackson, Joe Walcott and the great little George Dixon, all top-notchers. Then Godfrey and Gans could hold their own with the best of them. The color line was scarcely talked of, and ability was recognized above everything else. The colored men were given a chance.

The fact that at present there are so few places where fighting is permitted may also be partially responsible for the lack of colored fighters.

Fewer are developed, and those that have attained prominence and are being forced into the background are offering little encouragement to their brothers.

Joe Walcott is the last of the dark-skinned champions to pass into oblivion. Gans is practically down and out as the result of his battle with Britt. With the exception of Johnson, there is not a colored man in the pugilistic horizon. Jeff draws the color line, and the only colored man in the world who has even a chance to try for the title is denied the right.

MANHATTAN'S RACING GOSSIP

By Manhattan. NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—J. W. Flack, owner and trainer of Hazel Patch, 2:05 1/2, is in town and stopping at the Ashland House.

He is unique in several departments as a trainer and puts towweights on his horse, behind as well as forward. Also, he bandages the horse from hoof to the body, something no other trainer has ever tried.

They say he uses no washes other than water, and walks the horse hours after others have put theirs away for the night, on race days.

It is Flack's custom to give Hazel Patch a fast heat two days before his races, then three working trips the day prior to the engagement. On the day of the race he gives him a three-hour workout before the first heat is called, thus limbering him up thoroughly. All horses might not stand such strenuous training, yet Hazel Patch traveled over 6,000 miles last year filling his race engagements, and never refused a feed.

Charles Reed, the veteran turfman, has returned from a trip to California. He saw racing at both Oakland and Los Angeles and was much impressed with the progress of racing at the coast tracks. It was his first visit to that part of the country for many years, but he found race tracks that in appointment and general character compare favorably with any in the country, while the racing was first-class. Mr. Reed was one of the Argonauts.

"Boots" Durnell is back from France. He stayed in New York for a few hours only, leaving for Chicago.

Durnell was in good humor, because the French Jockey club gave him a license at its meeting on Jan. 1, which puts him in line to train and race in the east during the coming season.

Durnell, who was formerly partner with Emil Herz in the racing of McClesney and other horses of degree, went to France a month or so ago.

Since the successful career the partners had in the west they have separated, and Durnell hopes to have a good stable in the east this year.

It was Durnell's intention to race at Hot Springs had he not been given a license by the French Jockey club. He will not return to France, but race in this country in the future.

For the season which closed on Nov. 15 last the gross receipts of the New York racing associations were $2,895,126.01, and the tax thereon, which goes to the agricultural societies in this state, was $190,258.30. These receipts are, with the exception of one single year, the largest in the history of racing in this country, and the tax and benefits to the agricultural societies rank correspondingly.

During the ten years in which racing has been superintended by the State Racing commission, under what is known as the Percy-Gray law, the total tax so paid in has been $1,101,475.95.

Between Monday and the 1st of March nearly 4,000 trotting-bred horses of all ages will be offered to the public, mostly by large breeders. Seven big sales will be held—two in Chicago, one here, three in Indiana and one in Kentucky. Smaller ones will be held in different parts of the country. The consignments offered will represent almost every prominent trotting sire of the country.

$5,000 and $10,000; ninety-two were between $5,000 and $8,000, and sixty-three were between $4,000 and $5,000.

Eugene Hildebrand led the jockeys of 1904 and established the highest number of winning mounts in the history of the American turf. In percentage, however, many record holders are ahead of him. The following table gives the title holders since 1886:

TRACK MATERIAL SEEMS PROMISING

Sprints and Long Distance Events Will Both Be Well Cared For

Vastly track men are fast getting into shape under the direction of R. M. Pease and although the bad weather marking the early part of the week has seriously hampered them in the work, a number are already beginning to show good form.

Kilgore, Collins and Tucker are doing good work in the sprints and even up to the quarter, while Lassen is developing into a dangerous man in the long distance events.

No systematic work has yet been taken up by the weight men. Particular attention will be paid to the development of a man for these events during this week which will be used for special work in the broad jump and in pole vaulting.

The Howard Payne College of Brownwood, having given notice of intention to participate in intercollegiate track events this spring, it is now generally conceded the meet will be held at Stephenville, rather than here. Though sorry to lose the meet, the university men recognize the justice of compelling the Brownwood men to take the long trip to this city. Stephenville, which about divides the distance, is practically agreed upon.

A call for base ball men for preliminary work is expected to be issued during the week.

GERMAN'S RULER HAS COLD FEET

Bit of Court Gossip Tickers Subjects, But Makes the Kaiser Furious

GRAND DUKE IN DISGRACE

Czar's Uncle Charged With Selling Cloth Donated for the Soldiers

(Copyright, 1905, American-Journal-Examiner.)

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—The people of Germany have learned more about the private life of their kaiser during the last few months than during all the previous years of his reign, thanks to the articles written by a former lady-in-waiting to the empress, in a French paper.

They have enjoyed the reading of these articles with many a quiet smile while the kaiser has been fuming, but powerless to interfere, not even when the lady told that he can not sleep except in company with a hot-water bottle.

The idea of the great war lord afraid of a cold bed is indeed enough to make even the most serious German smile.

It takes no less than five valets to dress and undress the kaiser, and the head valet does not leave the imperial bedroom until he has tucked the silken comforts down carefully around his master's precious body, so that he is not exposed to even the slightest draft, a danger which it is furthermore tried to avoid by heavy double portieres and curtains which are hung before every door and window.

It is, of course, not so very strange that the kaiser is exceedingly cautious, when one remembers that his throat nearly always troubles him and that he has to make up for his recklessness in public by extreme carefulness in private, but to a man who loves to pose before his people in the most heroic light the thought that this same people have now been allowed to see all his little weaknesses is exceedingly galling, especially as the average German is very robust physically and has a certain amount of contempt for those he considers weaklings.

In case the kaiser should want to get out of bed during the night, the head valet places next to his bed within easy reach of his hand a pair of linen stockings (his majesty never wears socks), a pair of white flannel kickerbockers, a pair of soft boots, a flannel coat, a soft hat and a pair of kid gloves.

All these and many more details are being told to the Parisians by the indiscreet lady, and the sales in Germany of the paper which contains her articles are enormous, a fact of which the kaiser is well aware and which has caused him many a sleepless night.

A lady who has been a life-long friend of the czarina has just returned to the little court of Hesse-Darmstadt, after having spent the Christmas holidays with the czar and his nearest family, and gives a very interesting description of the way the czar and czarina passed the holidays, which, in Russia, are celebrated two weeks after our Christmas and New Year.

As may be imagined, the little czarivitch was the most important personage in the imperial palace during Christmas, and his small sisters had cause to be grateful to him for the magnificent scale of their Yuletide.

Two days before Christmas one of the czar's foresters gave out containing four splendid fir trees into the court yard of Tsarskoe Selo and waited while the little Grand Duchess, as the oldest child, chose one. Needless to say that it was the biggest of the four.

The czarina herself trimmed the Christmas tree, while the two little grand duchesses, Olga and Tatiana, in vain tried to get a peep at it through the keyhole. According to the old custom the czarina had asked every crowned head in Europe for something to hang on the tree and had received a box of costly toys from each.

At the top of the tree hung a ball of solid gold which has been used for this purpose for nearly half a century. In order to avoid the danger of fire the tree was illuminated by electric lights concealed in Chinese paper lanterns. At four o'clock in the afternoon on Christmas Eve the five children were taken into the empty dark room and when the pressing of a button the miraculous tree suddenly flashed up before their eyes they broke out in veritable yells of joy.

Before any of the four children chose their presents the eldest was asked to cut down the finest thing on the tree, which she according to custom sent to a poor crippled child.

On Christmas Day the four princesses were taken outside of the palace to witness the great snow sports which are an annual fixture of the peasants in the neighborhood, and they enjoyed themselves immensely.

An old Russian custom is that children, no matter how young, should taste vodka on Christmas day, but the czarina has substituted more innocent practices instead of this custom, which obtained even at court, and after mass each of the children was given a small glass of water flavored with lemon. In the bottom of which the czar had put a ten-rouble gold piece to be given to the poor.

There was something very touching in the way these imperial parents celebrated Christmas and for a few hours managed to forget their many sorrows in company with their children, whom they adore.

Grand Duke Sergius Alexandrovitch, governor of Moscow, the most hated and despised of all the grand dukes who disgrace the Russians, has come into conflict with M. Morozoff, the biggest manufacturer in Russia, who has complained to the czar that many thousands yards of cloth, given by him to the grand duke's fund for the benefit of the troops, have been sold only in Moscow stores.

The grand duke attempted to press more money or goods out of M. Morozoff, who threatened to retaliate by closing his PARIS, Jan. 21.—The coming visit of King Alfonso of Spain to this city, now only a few weeks off, is greatly occupying the minds of the Parisians, who have been kinless for some time.

Great preparations are already being made for his reception, and it is the greatest sorrow of the Parisians that they can not with the golden casket containing the document bestowing upon him the freedom of the city, give into his hands a suitable bride.

But if they can not do this, they can at least settle to their own satisfaction whom he ought to choose, and this they do to their heart's content.

It is well known here that if King Alfonso were allowed to follow the dictates of his own heart, an American girl, Miss Camilla Rogers, whose fair hair and blue eyes have captured his heart, would soon occupy the throne as Queen of Spain.

ROBBERS STOLE ALL THE WEDDING PRESENTS

President Loubet has decided to notify the poor Bey of Tunis, who, as everybody knows, is only a figurehead, that unless he puts an end to lawlessness in "his" country he will have to pay for the maintenance of a great many more French soldiers than those who are already in the country.

During the last few months the European population of Tunis has been kept in a continuous state of terror by numerous gangs of bandits who infest the country.

A few days ago a young couple who had just returned to their home after having been married in the Cathedral were attacked by masked men who had hidden under their bed, and were robbed of all their wedding presents.

After this they were bound and gagged and carried out of the town to the mountains, where they spent their wedding night half crazed with terror.

Towards morning they were blindfolded and turned loose, having been made to walk a long distance, and returned to Tunis dressed only in their nightgowns.

RUSSIA NEAR REVOLUTION?

Lady Henry Somerset Says the Czar's Reform Proposals Are Weak

(Copyright, 1905, by W. R. Hearst.)

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The event which has probably been most constantly discussed the world over, during these past few days, is the czar's decree, but in order to arrive at any just appreciation of the attitude which he has maintained, we must endeavor to obtain some correct estimation of the real state of Russia.

The demand which comes from a large proportion of the people that the czar should get rid of the present bureaucratic regime, which estranged the supreme power of the people, and that he should, in the words of Prince Trubetzkoi, "summon the freely elected representatives of the people to take part in legislation," seems more distant than ever.

The agitation which is demanding this wider freedom is no Nihilist or Anarchist movement, but it comes from the heart of the Russian people, who are still perfectly loyal to the crown.

Tolstoy was once asked what he would do were he czar. "Declare absolute liberty of conscience," he replied, "and establish absolute liberty of the press." He meant by that, that if these things were done, all else would follow.

But what is the czar's real attitude toward reform? That is the enigma. If, however, he is sincere in his desire to give the Russian people a better future, we shall be able to judge of the genuineness of his attitude by one very clear indication, and that is, whether education is to be more systematic and more widely spread.

It is difficult to conceive how large is the rural population of Russia. One hundred and ten millions at the very least, almost entirely engaged in agricultural pursuits, and almost wholly ignorant. The Russian government has hitherto used its best endeavor to prevent the people from obtaining knowledge. When we read the history of an old country, we realize that its development depends upon its education.

Reform in England was impossible until education rendered the people sufficiently advanced to demand a wider suffrage, but if the vote had been conceded before knowledge had spread the effect in England would have been very similar to that which we should see today if the Russian people were allowed to elect a house of commons to meet at Moscow or St. Petersburg. It is therefore unquestionably for the benefit of that great country that reform should come slowly, but the important thing is that reforms should be frankly started, and representative institutions will undoubtedly follow the spread of education and intelligence.

I think, however, that when the propositions of the czar are analyzed, we shall find that most of them are illusory, for without better education it is impossible for peasants who have suffered wrong to demand legal redress, for they will not know how to set about it. Moreover the real reform that is needed is in the reformation of a corrupt government, and as to this, little amelioration is proposed.

If the proposals are analyzed I think we shall find that though the direction to which they point may be a right one, they bear with them the marks of impotence, which will render them unfruitful.

What will be the next stage? Is Russia working toward revolution?

EMPEROR'S SISTER ADVOCATES POLYGAMY

A social sensation is taking place in the German court. Princess Charlotte of Prussia, sister of the German emperor, and wife of Prince Bernard of Saxe-Meinungen, has written a pamphlet advocating polygamy. She writes that herein lies the remedy for social ills, that divorce is the consequence of boredom, and maintains that if a husband were allowed to make several women happy a social millennium would ensue.

If the Princess were to visit Turkey, I think she would find that the millennium has not yet arrived, although the system has been in vogue there for some centuries.

MANY GIRLS WOULD CHAUFFEURS BE

There are many women who desire now to be "chauffeurs" and the motor girl appears to have come upon the scene. "I have recently had a number of applications," said one of the principal car makers, "but I have discouraged their aspirations. The driving of a motor car as a business is, in my opinion, one of those things which women should have the good sense to leave alone. The driving of a big car is a great physical strain, even on a man, and I tremble to think what would happen if women drivers were sent to compete at race meetings."

We heard a great deal in the early days of cycling, as to the inadvisability of women attempting to ride the wheel, but from the first the reasons advanced were considered absurd by those who were not alarmed by mere novelty. The objection to professional motor driving, however, rests on different grounds, and the tax on nerve force as well as muscular power seems to me to be beyond that which can reasonably be put upon women.

If you can not eat, sleep or work, feel mean, cross and ugly, take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea this month. A tonic for the sick. There is no remedy equal to it. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets. Ask your druggist.

Theatrical powers that have evidently at last come to a realizing sense that Fort Worth is too good a town for their business to be allowed a place in the one-night stand class only. Of course heretofore there have been attractions which were billed for more than one night, and they were always well patronized, but to bill three two-night attractions within ten days is unusual.

Last week "San Toy" had two nights and a matinee, and did good business at all three performances. This week "The Princess Chic" comes Wednesday night, Thursday matinee and Thursday night. Rose Coghlan will be seen Friday matinee has not been permitted to run to seed. This is practically the only show of its kind that comes to the Coast regularly and still keeps up its standard of excellence. As a general thing, the first season an attraction is sent out the company is good, but after that it travels on its reputation because the management will not engage capable people. This is not so with "The Princess Chic." If the truth must be told—and it should, for Washington's birthday is but two months distant—the company at the Marquam Grand is better than when "The Princess Chic" was offered here on the last trip out. Every principal in the cast can sing, and the four comedy parts are entrusted to comedians who can comedize. The forms of the merry-meries are trim and generous, and the men do well with their choral efforts. Gus Vaughan is probably the best Charles the Bold rortanders have listened to. Sophie Brandt is singing the title role this year, and when it is announced that she sings the role the plain, unvarnished veracity is stated. Two other women have had the part on previous Pacific Slope tours, but neither possessed the round, robust, clear voice of Miss Brandt. Her predecessors had good looks in their favor, but the role demands something more than a fair countenance. Miss Brandt was a hit. She struck the clous in the soubrette part of Estelle. Now, in regard to the comedians, there are four of them, and each one is a murderer of melancholia. Jack Henderson is an old friend, and used to amuse us when here with the Boston Lyric. Remember Henderson and Kunkle? He is the Henderson, and his playing of the steward was funny. George W. Callahan and George A. Thomas were a couple of delightful soldiers of fortune, and Tom Smith Martin, a man with the thinnest of legs, rounded out the fourth of the funsters. Encores were asked for every number, and the comedians, in the last act, were called back by the get-your-money's-worth audience some six or more times. Amusement lovers who want something genuinely good will make no mistake by seeing "The Princess Chic."

A REVIEW OF "DIPLOMACY"
 BY ROSE COGHLAN.
 Creator of the Role of Countess Zicka. Sardou's Drama is to be Revived by Miss Coghlan and Howard Kyle at Greenwall's opera house Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee, Jan. 27-28.

How vividly do I recall that memorable evening when Mr. Lester Wallack first produced "Diplomacy" at his theater in New York city, and I, almost a stranger in America, had the honor of appearing as the Countess Zicka in a cast comprised of the then great favorites.

First and foremost I must speak of Lester Wallack, that courtly, genial gentleman, an ideal stage director and the last of our famous actor-managers. Then Harry Montague, the matinee idol, handsome, graceful, debonaire and artistic, whose Julian Beauclerc was a gem. Then there was Frederick Robinson, of "Jim the Penman" fame, as Count Orloff; J. W. Shannon as Baron Stein; Billy Floyd as Alexy Fairfax, beautiful Maude Granger as Dora, and last but not least, that lovable woman and true artist, Mme. Ponisi, as Marquise de Rio Zares. But I must not forget in mentioning these favorites our dear old loved friend John Gilbert, who, while a member of the company, yet was not in the cast of "Diplomacy," and a more unhappy, disgruntled, dissatisfied mortal never lived than dear old John during the run of that play. I remember his coming to my dressing room one evening with his usual grievance. "Oh, Rose, if I were only ten years younger, I could play Count Orloff and play it jolly well, too. But this walking about in awful, awful awful" and he emphasized his remarks with his stick so violently that he made my make-up table shake.

How strong a hold "Diplomacy" has upon the public is shown by its many revivals, the first notable one occurring at Wallack's up town theater with Osmond Tearle, the then prime favorite, replacing poor Harry Montague, and Anne Robe replacing Maude Granger. Again I remember his coming to my dressing room one evening, dissatisfied dear old John Gilbert.

The next noteworthy revival occurred a few years ago under my management at Wallack's old theater, the Star (since torn down), with the original scenery, properties and costumes. For that revival I purposed engaging the best people I could secure in the profession. The first stumbling block was, who could fill Mr. Wallack's part? It seemed hopeless; the only man possible artistically in my mind was my brother, Charles Coghlan; but he was in England. Would he come here and would he play Henri Beauclerc? Much to my delight he accepted by cable, and I need no more than mention his name and his exquisite performance to recall a vivid memory of his delightful work. Frederick Robinson was again the Orloff. I was again the Zicka. John T. Sullivan was the Julian Beauclerc, a really fine performance; Sadie Martinot was the Dora, full of daintiness and grace; Mme. Ida von Trautman was an ideal Marquise, and Robert Fischer to my mind was the greatest of all the Baron Steins. The success of that season is now a matter of history.

"Diplomacy" stands today the one play of modern life that is as much up to date as on the day it was written. A master mind and a master hand surely at playwright is its author. M. Sardou, who is still vigorous and indefatigable at playwrighting though long past the Psalmist's "three score years and ten." Bad acting cannot en-directly spoil so fine a comedy as "Diplomacy," even mediocre interpreters of it afford an audience great pleasure; but when it is rendered by actors thoroughly in harmony with their parts and expert to bring out the subtle dramatic values, it forms one of the most exquisite intellectual and emotional treats that the stage has to give. Pardon me if I grow too enthusiastic—"Diplomacy" has always appealed to me as the model, the nonpareil.

In Mr. Howard Kyle I have a Henri Beauclerc worthy of the best traditions in the part, of Lester Wallack and my brother, Charles Coghlan. The elder Beauclerc must be, first of all, a gentleman of the highest breeding; he must possess the insight of a Leoq or a Sherlock Holmes, the resourcefulness of a diplomat, and the inflexibility of a minister of justice. Mr. Kyle's excellent work in "Rosemary" and "Nathan Hale" has paved the way to his success in the present difficult role.

Concerning my impersonation of Countess Zicka, I must leave you to judge. As it has been my most famous part, so it is the one I most love; and it has been my constant aim to improve retrograde or to remain stationary in the conception I formed of it when as a very young girl I participated in "Diplomacy's" first success.

through Clyde Fitch. Induced Mrs. McMoynie to return to the stage and her entry was made in "Catherine." Mrs. LeMoynie's first starring venture was "The First Duchess of Marlborough," a play by Charles Henry Meltzer, which, though it had great literary merit, did not meet with the unstinted approbation of the theater-goers, although her personal success was very great. Then came "The Greatest Thing in the World," Mrs. LeMoynie's diction is wonderful, not a syllable escapes, and, indeed, in these days of none too careful delivery to hear is a rare treat. Associated with Mrs. LeMoynie in the all-star cast are James O'Neill, Louis James, J. E. Dodson, James Lee Finney, Grace George, Clara Morris, Elita Proctor, Otis and Sarah Truax and many others of much prominence.

Lawrence D'Orsay looks forward with real pleasure to the approaching far western tour of "The Earl of Pawtucket." He has made the coast trip several times during the past few years, and when Manager Kirke La Shelle told him last summer that he had been booked for the coast he was delighted. "You know, dear old chap," he said, "it isn't until a fellow gets out in that country and stays on a train two and sometimes three days between stands that he can evah imagine what a perfectly enawmous place this American is, isn't that so?"

One of the most amusing features introduced into "The Runaways" is the "Tree of Truth." Under this arbor is a seat, and whenever a player sits thereon and tells a lie the tree sends down one or more of its oranges upon his or her untruthful head. The reprobate son of General Hardtack, one of the principal characters, is among the first to suffer.

"You are the only girl in the world for me," he says, and a huge orange drops

DRAMATIC NOTES
 At last there is a real comic opera in town, with real music and real artists to sing it, and a real conductor to bring out the beauties of the composition. Last gorgeous production, "Red Feather," at night saw Grace Van Studdiford in the Hollis Street Theater, and too much can not be said in praise of the work. The scenery is magnificent, the music is thrilling and full of snap and fire, and best of all the singers are probably as good as can be found outside of grand opera—Boston Telegram.

night, Saturday matinee and Saturday night.

The idea is a good one—when the attractions are as good as "San Toy," "The Princess Chic" and "Diplomacy," "The Princess Chic" is one of the brightest of comic operas and none has more tuneful music. Sophie Brandt, who has the leading role this year, is said to have a voice for the part and a strong supporting company.

A stronger dramatic combination than "Diplomacy," with Rose Coghlan and Howard Kyle in the principal parts, would be difficult to secure. The forthcoming reappearance of Sardou's drama promises to be one of the leading theatrical events of the winter.

Miss Coghlan is one of the strongest actresses in her particular line, now on the American stage. Howard Kyle when here in "Rosemary" and "Nathan Hale" won the admiration of all who witnessed his performances.

"THE PRINCESS CHIC"
 The Kirke LaShelle comic Opera Company, with the beautiful and talented Sophie Brandt as prima donna, will present "The Princess Chic" in this city at Greenwall's opera house Wednesday and Thursday nights and Thursday matinee, Jan. 25 and 26. "The Princess Chic" has toured the entire country and has everywhere met with the same enthusiastic approval which first characterized its presentation in New York. The story deals with the medieval days and incidentally with the quarrel of Louis XI of France and Charles the Bold of Burgundy. Princess Chic of Normandy is herself a mythical character, but is thoroughly a part of that romantic era, although a fanciful creation. It is her intercession which enables Charles to hold his feudal possessions against the machinations of Louis. Although the story is consistent and sequent throughout, it is full of fun and music that pleases. Kirke LaShelle, librettist and proprietor, has secured a most accurate scenic mounting and has costumed the entire company in "The Princess Chic" will be seen Wednesday and Thursday nights and Thursday matinee, Jan. 25 and 26.

A Portland exchange said: By long odds, "The Princess Chic" is the best musical offering that has visited Portland since the current season opened last Fall. Although the Kirke LaShelle-Julian Edwards light opera has visited this city on several occasions, it has never had better singing voices than during the present engagement. The entertain-

JEALOUSY JARS RUSSIAN COURT

Keen Rivalry Exists Between the Reigning and Dowager Empresses

(Copyright, 1905, by W. R. Hearst.)

Marquis de Castellane.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—I happen to know that the Russian court is in a comparative state of disorder. Not only have its various members grievously fallen out as to the nature of the reforms which need to be introduced into the empire, but each is horribly jealous of all the rest, and all are busy intriguing one against the other. The two empresses—the dowager and the reigning empress—set the example. It is sufficient for one of them to favor a given reform or policy for the other to oppose it.

The dowager empress was particularly anxious that Russia should not make the retention of Port Arthur a sine qua non of peace; the reigning empress consequently threw all her influence on to the side of making the definite retention of Port Arthur the first condition of negotiations. The latter, who has English blood in her veins, is in favor of introducing a parliament into the empire; the older woman is bitterly opposed thereto.

Last week Baron Knorring and Count Zamolski presented themselves at court upon their return from Manchuria, where they had been to organize the ambulance service. The empress extended the very warmest welcome to Baron Knorring, who has charge of the department of the service which the empress herself has specially patronized; but when the master of ceremonies introduced Count Zamolski, who is at the head of the Red Cross service, patronized by the czar's consort, she merely replied: "Sir, I have not the pleasure of your acquaintance," and turned her back on him.

Such is the state of the court of the greatest autocracy in the world.

FORESEES AN ARMAGEDDON

Though the order of the day is peace, notwithstanding the Russo-Japanese war, and treaties are being signed every day, whereby the slaughter of thousands may be avoided, it seems as if the world mistrusted the very nations which are most vigorously pushing the cause of international arbitration. While England, Spain, France and the United States are busily organizing peace conferences, Germany is increasing her armaments, England is improving her artillery, and to China every week $500,000 worth of arms are being delivered by a well known French firm. The twentieth century will be devastated by wars to a greater extent than any of the centuries which have preceded it, and it would seem that the nations which have most valiantly held the peace ideas are the very ones

Narrow Chests.

The old theory that consumption is inherited is utterly discredited by modern medicine. The germs of consumption must be received from without. These germs are everywhere. They are constantly being received and cast out by the healthy system. It is the narrow chested whose inheritance is weakness who fall prey to consumption because they are too weak to resist and throw off disease.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the lungs strong. It cures obstinate deep-seated coughs, bleeding lungs, weakness, emaciation and other conditions which result in consumption.

$3,000 FORFEIT will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

"In the spring of 1900 I was taken with hemorrhage of the lungs, and became very weak and short of breath, lost flesh and had no appetite," writes Mr. L. Robinson of Tenn. "I was persuaded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first few bottles seemed to do me but little good. Thought I would soon be a victim of that dreaded disease, consumption. Had almost given up in despair when my friend persuaded me to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' a fair trial. I commenced its use. I weigh 160 pounds now, and when I commenced it only weighed 100 pounds. If any one doubts this statement I will be pleased to answer any inquiry."

which will have to submit to the horrors of war.

TITLED LEADERS FOR REPUBLIC. France is a republic of course, but French society has nevertheless its queens. There is the Countess Greffuhle, who is the queen of beauty; the Duchesse d'Uzes, who is the queen of charity; the Vicomtesse de Noailles, who is queen of poetry, and Mme. Blacoffheim (Mlle. de Chevigne), who is the "Queen of the Hot-heads."

What are the Hotheads? They are an association of literary folk made up almost entirely of southerners—French southerners, that is, warmed by poetry and a semi-tropical sun. Notwithstanding that Mlle. de Chevigne is married, she maintains undisputed sovereignty of her kingdom so that between them the French aristocracy still retain possession of all the avenues leading to social distinction.

MARCH OF AMERICANISM

In spite of everything, "Americanism" is making its way in every sphere in Europe. Formerly French families eschewed hotel and restaurant life religiously. Dinner or supper restaurants were a form of social entertainment left to the concierge and the servants, and a fashionable woman would have regarded herself as utterly lost if she had been seen giving a dinner in a cafe.

Now, however, Paris has its Waldorf just as popular and as luxurious as the original. I refer to the Ritz hotel. Between 5 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon one may usually see some three or four hundred carriages lined up on the Place Vendome waiting for their owners, busy taking tea in the hotel. If one enters the hotel at this hour it literally reeks of marchionesses and duchesses of elegance and beauty.

STORY OF "THE LIONESSES"

The Countess de Beaulincourt, who has just died, was the last survivor of a coterie of fashionable women who held sway under the reign of Louis Philippe, and were known as "The Lionesses." "The Lionesses" were the society of that day in London, waiting for the great dress empires, and what the "Little Duchesses" are in our time. They were four in number—the Duchesses de Plaisance, the Comtesse de Rouge, the Comtesse de Fitz-James and the Comtesse de Beaulincourt, then Marquise de Contades.

Their style consisted mainly of an affected simplicity. In the evenings, for instance, they always wore the same gown. Only they had taken care to have it copied a dozen times by the great dress maker who had fashioned it, so that their toilettes were always fresh and charming. They also affected a contempt for jewelry, which they replaced by fresh flowers, mainly white and pink carnations, that is to say by the most trying of all flowers in the world. These famous women had to be doubly beautiful to triumph over the trials which they set themselves. It appears that they were most successful.

CHILD'S TRIBUTE TO SARAH

While the celebrated tragedienne, Sarah Bernhardt, was touring recently, she had occasion to play "L'Aiglon," by Edmond Rostand, at Bucharest. The entire royal family was present at the performance, and among the party was the young heir to the Roumanian throne, a lad of eleven. The prince was so carried away by emotion at the sight of the misfortunes of Napoleon's heir that his parents had to have him removed from the theater for fear that he would make a scene in the presence of his future subjects.

The next day the royal prince and princess invited Madame Bernhardt to tea, and, of course, the princely heir was not present. However, as the famous actress was preparing to leave the palace a shot was heard and uttering a cry, she turned to see by what it had been caused. What was her surprise to see the little crown prince of Roumania, in full regiments, presenting arms and shouting at the top of his lungs, "Vive L'Aiglon!"

PHYSICIANS HUMBLED INSURANCE CONCERNS

(Copyright, 1905, by W. R. Hearst.)

PARIS, Jan. 21.—Two large American life insurance companies, doing business in this city, have suffered losses amounting to over one million dollars by the swindles of a leading physician and an insurance agent.

Both are now under arrest, but owing to the magnitude of their losses the companies desire to keep the matter secret, and the public will therefore not be admitted to the trial, and even newspaper men will be barred. It is said that a number of other arrests are to be made within a short time.

"Thousands of sick and incurable people were insured, having been examined by the physician now under arrest, and on their deaths the money was divided between the doctor, the family of the deceased and the insurance agent."

REPRESENTATIVE HOME FROM THE LEGISLATURE

Representative W. D. Williams returned Friday night from Austin and will probably remain in the city a few days on account of illness.

"There is nothing doing in the matter of amending the Fort Worth city charter at Austin," said Mr. Williams, who added that the matter has not, as yet, even been referred to, so far as he knows. "You are the only one who has spoken to me about the proposed amendments," said he to a Telegram reporter.

Mr. Williams states that during the last session of the legislature there were 1,000 bills introduced, but he looks for a much larger number to be brought up during this legislature.

DIVORCE COURTS TO BE KEPT BUSY

Many Matrimonial Troubles Will Be Aired in London Next Spring

(Copyright, 1905, American-Journal-Examiner—Special to The Telegram.)

LONDON, Jan. 21.—There is an epidemic of matrimonial troubles in the air and it is expected that next spring will witness some sensational divorce cases.

The majority of these affairs originate, as usual, in Leicestershire, where the "hunting set" of Melton Mowbray is becoming so involved in scandal that many hunting men refuse to allow their wives to live there.

One case which will be heard very quietly is that of Lady Grey-Egerton, formerly Miss Cuyler of New York, who obtained a decree of the restitution of conjugal rights for her husband, Sir Philip Grey-Egerton, in October last, Sir Philip left for India at the time in order to give his wife a free hand, and has lately told his friends that he will not attempt to defend the divorce action which Lady Grey-Egerton now intends to bring.

Robert Macrosy of New York, the well-known Anglo-American horseman and polo player, will, when Lady Grey-Egerton obtains her divorce, her friends declare, marry her. She has very little money and four children.

The other matrimonial cases which will go to the courts are of the unsavory hunting variety.

The trouble between Lady Angela Forbes, a step-sister of Lady Warwick, and a daughter of the bankrupt dowager countess of Rosslyn, and her husband, Colonel James Forbes, has gone too far to be patched up.

The most extraordinary case of all will be the Hartopp case, which will again drag in most of the hunting set in Leicestershire. Sir Charles Hartopp will this time secure a divorce from his wife, and Lady Hartopp will on this occasion make no attempt to prevent a divorce. Earl Cowley, who has built himself a

Whitelaw Heid is Hunting a House

Inquiries are being made by an American gentleman through agents in London about Brook House, Lord Tweedmouth's magnificent mansion in Park Lane, and it is now stated that the American is Whitelaw Reid, Mr. Choate's successor as American ambassador at the Court of St. James.

Brook House, which has been in the market to be let or sold for some months past, is a comparatively modern house of red brick, thoroughly well built and nearly double the size of Mr. Choate's residence in Carlton Gardens.

There are six very large reception rooms at Brook House and a grand double staircase leading to broad gallery at the top of the house.

The Countess of Warwick took the house, which had been fitted with electric lights previously, for the season of 1903, when she gave a series of extravagant dances and dinners for her daughter, which were the talk of the town and which made a great hole in the Warwick estate.

Whitelaw Reid occupied Brook House for the coronation season and he and his family liked the house immensely, although it was furnished and arranged in a much stiffer way than it is at present.

English Noblewoman to Live in New York

New York will be treated to the unusual novelty of a titled British hostess when Lady Magherarmorne marries Hugo Baring next March, as the couple have announced their intention of spending a great part of their time in America, where Mr. Baring is already well known in Wall street.

Mr. Baring is only 28, and his future wife, who is not very long been a widow, is a good many years older. Her daughter, in fact, will make her debut in three years' time. Lady Magherarmorne is a daughter of the late Earl of Shaftesbury, always known as the "good earl," on account of his boundless charities. Although a very charming woman and a splendid hostess, Lady Magherarmorne has not the beauty of her sisters, the Countess of Man and Kellie and Lady Maud Warrender.

When she marries, Lady Magherarmorne will take her own title as an earl's daughter, and will be known as Lady Evelyn Baring.

Queen Alexandra

Dialikes Being Stared At

Queen Alexandra has of late evinced a great dislike of being stared at when not "on show"—or in other words, at public functions where, of course, royalty is compelled to bear a public scrutiny. When her majesty was staying with the king at Lord and Lady Cadogan's seat for a few days, three of the servants followed her majesty when she left her bedroom and peered at her over the banisters.

The queen, feeling that she was being criticized, looked up and saw the servants taking in every detail of her appearance. So annoyed was her majesty that she complained to her hostess, who in her turn was equally indignant, and at once gave notice that no one in the household should be at windows or on the stairs as the queen passed from her private rooms to the reception rooms.

The Duchess of Devonshire took the hint from Lady Cadogan and during the visit to Chatsworth none of the servants were allowed to play "hide and seek" about the roomy old passages in that historic mansion.

At public functions the queen has become hardened and has never been known to show annoyance at the behavior of people who level opera glasses at her when standing at a distance of ten yards, but her majesty draws a line between public ceremonies and private visits to friends.

Gerard-Darrel Affair is Not Yet Ended

To the number of distracted parents in great positions who have been trying to prevent their sons and heirs from marrying into the theatrical world must be added the name of Mrs. Harcourt Powell.

Lady Gerard may yet succeed in nipping the affair between her young son, Lord Gerard, and Miss Maudie Darrel, at the Galety Theater, and Lady Ellesmere is doing her best to prevent her son, Lord Brackley, from marrying another Geyrol, but Mrs. Harcourt Powell's efforts were too late to do any good.

Her eldest son, Harcourt Powell, has married a girl with the same name as himself—Miss Constance Powell, a "minor" actress very little known in London. Miss Powell last appeared in the "Love Birds," and was at one time at Daly's Theater, but she has never had big parts to act.

The marriage is a great blow to Mrs. Harcourt Powell, who is in the "Royal set" and who is an enormously wealthy widow. Young Harcourt Powell, who is of course leave his regiment, the Grenadier Guards, was considered one of London's "great catches." He is in the very early 20s, like Lord Gerard.

STOCK MARKET HAS GAINED

Russian Disturbances Have Indirect Influence

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The stock market has gained in activity this week, but has continued highly irregular. Extreme activity and swift advances in a few stocks have been under suspicion of professional speculative origin and have induced only moderate response in the general list. Abundance of money and the evidence of the high degree of prosperity have furnished a strong undertone for the market, but railroad earnings show some evidence of a lull in trade activity and the heavy reflux of money to relieve centers is confirmatory. The settlement of the Fall River strike has been counterbalanced by the Pennsylvania labor dispute. Disturbances in Russia have had an indirect influence here.

HOLDING AT MANSFIELD

Justice Terrill Reports Farmers Prosperous and Keeping Cotton

A number of members of the four Knights of Pythias lodges in Fort Worth, went to Mansfield Friday night to attend the initiation of members into the lodge at that place.

Judge John L. Terrill was one of the visiting knights. He stated that Mansfield was growing rapidly and that the individual deposits of the Mansfield bank are, at the present time, over $30,000. The farmers are holding great quantities of cotton at Mansfield and in that vicinity and many bales were piled up in the yards at Mansfield.

squaring on his head, to the delight of the spectators. "Last Sunday," he says later, "when I was at church."
 A shower of about a dozen oranges interrupted him, and he made a hasty retreat to resume his love-making under an incriminating shade. After that all the untruthful and wicked characters are betrayed by the tree and naturally the audience begins to take an interest in everybody who sits under it.

The opportunity to see Creston Clarke in the role of "Monseur Beaucare" will doubtless be seized upon with avidity by our theater frequenters, who delight in honoring an established star in a play of atmosphere as well as of convincing purity. The production is in every way identical with Richard Mansfield's "Monseur Beaucare" achievement, which means that Manager Jules Murry is determined that the son of John Sleeper Clarke and nephew of Edwin Booth shall have all the surroundings which his record as an actor is entitled to.

A comic opera to be a real comic opera must have good music, clever book and a strong cast of principals assisted by a chorus that is made up of singers. All this and more is to be found in "Sergeant Kitty."

George R. White, who makes the presentation has a reputation in the theatrical field that assures excellence in production and he assembled one of the strongest comic opera companies that ever stepped on the boards for "Sergeant Kitty." Miss Helen Byron heads the company and Charles Wayne is the principal funmaker, while there are many others in the long list.

Mr. Savage's English grand opera includes a score of prima donnas, tenors, barytones and basses, there being a triple cast for each opera. The chorus is a well-schooled body of all-American voices picked from 1,200 candidates by a committee that annually selects the grand opera chorus in New York. The company will be assisted by Mr. Savage's full grand opera orchestra under Chevalier N. B. Emanuel and Elliott Schoeck as conductors. The organization travels in its own special train that has been chartered for this season's tour of the United States and Canada. The coming engagement will undoubtedly be the musical event of the winter in this city.

Wagenhals & Kemper will present Fredericka Ward and Kathryn Kidder in a big production of "The Winter's Tale." These artists represent the best traditions of the Shakespearean and classic drama on the American stage. Miss Kidder is an actress of marvellous magnetism and intellectual grasp, and with this she combines a gentle womanliness which enables her to win affectionate regard as well as sincere admiration. She has the charm of personality, the power of humanizing a character.

The theater will be transformed to resemble a Chinese theater. The occasion is the engagement of "A Chinese Honeymoon," presented this time by the New York Casino Company, with all the original opulent scenic investiture. In the cast are several of the top-liners in the field of musical comedy, including the eight stunning bridesmaids and a competent chorus and ballet.

MAN WHO PAID $20,000 FOR A NEW CARNATION

F. R. PIERSON.

A carnation exceeding in beauty the famous "Lawson pink" has been purchased for $20,000 by F. R. Pierson, a millionaire of Tarrytown, from W. B. Arnold, a horticulturist of Rockland, Mass., who has spent two years in developing it. The new carnation is called the "Variegated Lawson." Six years ago Thomas W. Lawson caused a stir when he paid $30,000 for the carnation which bears his name.

The price paid by Pierson for the new variety is the second largest ever received for a single species of flower. While the "Lawson pink" is a deep pink, the "Variegated Lawson" is a pure ivory white, with delicate carmine pencillings. It is described by those who have seen it to be far superior to the Lawson flower.

PRESIDENT GLAD TO SEE BRYAN

Nebraskan Given Cordial Welcome and Private Conference at White House

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 21.—William J. Bryan called on President Roosevelt at the White House today. He was cordially greeted by Mr. Roosevelt as well as by a number of republican senators and representatives who happened to be in the executive office at the time of the visit.

"You are certainly looking well, Mr. Bryan," said Senator Cullom of Illinois as they shook hands.

"Yes, but I am a little too fat. I could spare you some of my flesh," said the Nebraskan as he looked at the thin form of the Illinois senator.

"Well, you are growing," remarked the senator. "In fact, you are growing more ways than one." Whereupon Mr. Bryan smiled and after a few more words with Senator Cullom walked into the office.

Before he could get to the president's doorkeeper a dozen people stopped him and shook his hand. Mr. Bryan was ushered into the cabinet room which was filled with people.

The president was engaged in an adjoining room with Senator Proctor, but as soon as he learned the noted democrat was in the cabinet room he went to him and grasped his hand cordially. "Come in here," said the president, who piloted Mr. Bryan into his private room, where, joined by former Senator Jones of Arkansas, they remained five or ten minutes.

THOMAS H. CARTER BACK IN THE SENATE

THOMAS H. CARTER.

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 21.—Once more the long white whiskers of Senator Thomas H. Carter will wave serenely in the United States senate. He was elected to his old seat Jan. 16, on the sixth joint ballot. He succeeds Paris Bilson.

Carter represented Montana in the senate from 1895 to 1897. In 1892 he was chairman of the Republican national committee, as such managing the second campaign of President Harrison. Carter is an Ohioan, a native of Scioto county, where he was born Oct. 30, 1854. He received a common school education and engaged in farming, railroading and school teaching for several years. He studied law and was admitted to the bar. In 1882 he came to Helena. In 1889 and 1891 he was a delegate to congress, and was elected to the statehood of Montana as its first representative. He was one of the United States commissioners to the St. Louis exposition and was elected president of the commission.

WEALTHY ESTATE RECORDS MISSING

New York Properties Worth Many Millions May Be Involved in Tangle

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Executors and trustees of the large estates left by William B. Ogden, Mariana A. Ogden and Andrew H. Green are reported to have found themselves unable to lay hands on records of transactions in connection with the properties during the last two years. Funds amounting to something less than $200,000 are said to be unaccounted for by the books and papers on hand. Efforts to find the private secretary and confidential man of Mr. Green have been under way for a month, but without success. No charges have been made against any person, but the trustees and executors are stated to have issued a large number of subpoenas for clerks and others in the hope of securing some light on the matter. Assistant District Attorney Appleton, at whose rooms appeared some of those served with subpoenas, refused to say what the witnesses had been summoned for. He would neither affirm or deny that there had been a defalcation in the Green or Ogden estates or both. Andrew H. Green (whose life was ended

In 1903 by a negro who it is believed had mistaken him for John R. Patt) was trusted for the William B. Ogden estate, who owns great tracts of real estate in the upper section of the city. The estate was one of the richest in the city and Mr. Green watched it with the closest case. Mr. Green was a very cautious man about paying out money. He held that it was easier to pay out slowly than to pay out fast and make vain efforts to recover.

William B. Ogden was the president of the Chicago and Northwestern railway and later of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway. He is one of the earliest mayors of Chicago. In his late years he resided here. Mrs. Ogden died last September. The Green and Ogden properties were closely allied and a great mass of correspondence, books, etc., accumulated in Green's offices. These were under the closest care of the expert bookkeepers for whom the trustees are now searching. Soon after Mr. Green's death the building where he had offices was disturbed by repodelling and it became necessary to remove all the documents. They were separated by the representatives of the two estates and by recently it became apparent that there was going to be a difficulty in winding up the affairs. Both sets of books and papers were searched, but none was found which would give any clue to the transactions of the last two years. Under the books and papers are found millions of dollars worth of property may be thrown into almost inextricable confusion and litigation.

The missing man, who was familiar with all the books and papers, is also treasurer of a large storage and release company in Harlem. It could not be learned that he had visited the offices of that concern since, early in December last while the only address the employes could give was a downtown hotel where the treasurer had not lived in a year or more.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 21.—Congressman Tawney of Minnesota says that there was to be a funeral of an estimate Irish citizen and his daughter prepared for the event, making profuse provision of floral offerings. Among other things they placed upon the casket a large wreath with the word "Papa" in the center. Somehow or other the letter "P" was lost, and there was great excitement when sympathizing friends entered the parlor and saw upon the coffin the letters "A. P. A."

"The memory of James G. Blaine for names and faces was famed in story if not in song," said former Speaker Henderson. "I had an experience with Mr. Blaine which tested his memory, and it has never been published before. I was secretary of the republican congressional committee in 1882, and I boarded at Wormley's hotel in Washington. That was a famous place in those days, and the hotel register showed the names of Blaine, Morton, Conkling, Edmunds, Matt Carpenter, Zach Chandler and many other republican giants.

"Mr. Blaine came there that summer, registered and had been in the house several days, frequently passing and repassing me. One morning as I came from breakfast Mr. Blaine came in. I noticed that he eyed me very closely. A little while after 1 o'clock, as I was entering the dining room for lunch, Mr. Blaine came out. He stopped right in front of me and asked: 'Isn't this Colonel Dave Henderson of Iowa?' And when I replied that I was Henderson he went on to say: 'I thought this morning that I ought to know you, but I wasn't absolutely sure. I met you five years ago in Detroit and we were guests of General Alger. You made a great speech to the old soldiers that day.' And then Mr. Blaine went on to tell me the things that I had said in my speech, and went on as though he had known all about me and my career from my boyhood. I thanked him heartily, and when I took my seat in the dining room, I sent for the head waiter and said to him: 'I want you to tell me exactly what Mr. Blaine said about me this morning, after I had gone.' The waiter earnestly replied: 'Might Blaine didn't say nothin' 'bout you', Kimmel Henderson. He only asked me what yo' name was; and, when I told him, he said as how yo' was a mighty fine gentleman, Sah.'

"And thus I caught on to one of the methods which led people to believe in Blaine's remarkable memory for names and faces.

TO HEAT CLOTHING BY ELECTRICAL WAVES

(Copyright, 1905, by W. R. Hearst.) LONDON, Jan. 21.—The women of London are very much interested in a new invention whereby it will be possible to make light summer clothes warm enough to use all winter. This wonder is performed by diffusing the clothing with heat waves by means of an ingenious electrical device. There are two methods of electrifying the clothes. In one the garment itself is heated, and in the other tiny heating batteries connected with an arrangement of wires are concealed in the folds. Purs, which of late have become very expensive, will hereafter not be necessary. Summer gowns of chiffon and lace will be warmed and made as comfortable as velvet and fur. All women prefer dainty summer garb to the heavy clothes of winter, and, thanks to the inventor of dress electrification, they can now indulge in their fancies.

FASHIONS FOR THE EVENING ENTERTAINMENT

One does not often trace any very tangible connection between the domestic problem of servants—that unending and never ending source of conversation where two or three women are gathered together—and the launching of new fashions!

But there is a very close connection between the two in some of the fickle dame's most recent revelations; for it is beyond even the shadow of a doubt that the servant question is more than responsible for the new mode of hotel and restaurant entertaining at dinner and supper—yes, and even afternoon tea—that smart society considers so swaggar this season.

Even millionaire householders, whose retinue of servants makes the modest flat dweller stare, even they have taken to restaurant entertaining with perhaps a theatre and supper party to follow.

And, of course, with all of these innovations Dame Fashion sees delightful opportunity for the launching of new modes, the fashioning of fascinating costumes designed for those occasions solely. And so cleverly has this been planned and carried out that a very distinct and individual style has been launched, one which is sui generis, and which even the uninitiated can recognize at a glance.

While the well-dressed woman, to whom expense is not a matter of perplexity, can go ahead and order gowns galore, still to the average dresser those new styles at first seem an added demand, further drain upon her dress allowance, one which she had not perhaps calculated upon at the beginning of the season.

But, if she be clever, she will recognize in this new and delightful opportunity whereby she can make a stunning appearance and at a very slight expense, too.

The vogue of the decollete toilette for public dining is one that is so firmly established in London and Paris, not to mention other European capitals, that it is taken quite as a matter of course. Indeed, so firmly is it fixed that at the smartest hotels in both cities guests are not admitted to the regular restaurant unless in full dress. For the man, this rule is inflexible; while for the ladies the presence of a transparent yoke in a dress frock is sometimes accepted as a substitute for the usual decollete when they occur in an evening toilette. But the visitors in afternoon toilette are relegated to what is called the morning room, that cozy but somewhat deserted place where breakfast and informal luncheons are served.

Doubtless it is the Puritan strain that has come down to us from our early New England ancestors that has hindered the vogue of the decollete gown taking so universally as it has done in the older countries abroad. Social leaders, and those who aspire to be considered of that set, adopted the fashion long ago; but the larger and less exclusive section of society has been very slow to adopt it, even for home entertainments; while, as for public appearances! well, "the less said about it the better," has usually been the viewpoint from which the decollete mode has been considered.

However, times change, and the fashions change with them. And now dining in public in a low-cut gown is considered an evidence of smartness and a guarantee of some social consideration.

Where the invitation is for dinner only, then the girl guest often wears a hat—a picture hat, for choice. That is, if she look her very "bestest best," as the little girl in the nursery says, in a hat it accompanies her evening toilette. And the innovation is looked upon with favor. But if she present a more attractive appearance in a becoming coiffure, with some dainty little adornment added to her shining locks, then the hat is omitted.

But if the theatre party or the opera be the continuation of the evening's entertainment, then upon no account will the girl who is adept in all those small social considerations wear a hat. Instead, her hair is dressed in the most becoming way, a spray of velvet flowers or a little wreath of gold or silver leaves added to the coiffure, and just a lace or gauze scarf carried to throw over her head while en route.

And a joy to the girl whose purse is slim and slender is the fact that simplicity, and evident simplicity, is the keynote of fashionable dressing for the evening hours. The materials may be as expensive or as elaborate as can be procured; but the fashionable silhouette must describe simplicity of outline, else smartness is not achieved.

For the younger generation white is still far and away the favorite, and, indeed, many matrons whose hair is snow white still cling to the all-white toilette for the evening hours. Now, however, there is a dash, and often a daring, little touch of color introduced; but it must be done cleverly, else the effect were one of splashiness and splottiness.

The more matronly members of society are affecting all of the faint and delicate shades for wear after dark. The chiffon velvets and velveteens are simply exquisite in these, and the lousines, tafetas, satin muselines and other silken weaves, follow the same color card.

There are some exquisite gauzes just arrived from France in which gold or silver, and sometimes the two in conjunction, is prominent; and these are made dainty use of for all manner and ages of society, usually posed with a veiling of white chiffon over either white or yellow satin.

The debutante belle who wishes to vary her appearance often adopts the silver gauze as an alternate with her white lace, crepe de chine, silk organdie and other entirely white toilettes; and then a spray or chaplet of silver gauze flowers is added to the coiffure, and the smart shiny leather slipper—for the vogue of colored footwear is on the wane—has a rosette of the silver gauze upon the straps that cross the instep.

Girls under twenty-five—by the way, at what age do they cease to be girls, married or single?—favor the bebe corsege for their evening gowns, and in the simplest and most elaborate materials alike this becoming style is equally effective. The degree of decollete is a matter of personal taste and the disposal and arrangement of the berthe must be managed in accordance with the girl's build. The same considerations will apply to the deep girdle or cinchures; and her sleeve is fashioned entirely according to her arm. The girl with the well rounded arm vastly favors the loose half sleeve that is really but a ruffle with a chiffon foundation; while the girl to whom Nature has not been so generous will employ the elbow sleeve.

There is one rule, though, that will apply to all sleeves this season, and that is that the shoulder is broad, and the sleeve as bouffant as can be managed. The lace ones are posed over ruffles of chiffon, the sheer material doubled to give it more body, and the lace shirred in with it.

The skirt that is the most modish is the acme of simplicity, both in construction and appearance. That with the slightly gored widths—the double width one-seam crepe de chine is excellent for this purpose—which hangs in straight lines, full to the feet, is graciously becoming both to the tall girl and her petite sister. Equally effective is the skirt that is fashioned in two or even three sections: the upper one with many rows of shirring over the hips, so that the graceful sloping outline is not lost or hidden, and the lower one an extremely full flounce applied in similar manner, is one that even the veriest two that ever ambitiously attempted a gown can manage with a conspicuous degree of success. Of course, in the expensive imported frocks, whose prices run into the hundred dollar mark and some over, this shirring is all done by hand; but for the amateur the stitch of the oscillating shuttle sewing machine will do the work far more accurately than her unaccustomed fingers could accomplish.

The young matron, however, plans her dinner and theatre gowns with one show of elaboration, and this finds its best expression in the wealth of exquisite detail which forms the trimming scheme.

There is a very strong penchant for the self-trimmed gown, and these quaint little frillings and rufflings and flutings are employed with a lavish hand a discriminating eye for effect. One gown, in an apricot taffeta of the chameleon weave, is simply trimmed with little knife pleatings of the silk. These are applied in crescent form, the inner side of the crescent being filled in with sprays of chrysanthemums worked in the faintest possible shade of yellow. The creamy lace of the small chemisette is the sole concession to color relief; and the effect is at once youthful and dignified.

The dowagers are ordering gowns of the richest materials that will display their cachet rather through the irreprouchable cut and finish than by any elaborate scheme of trimming. The long, straight, unrelieved lines are the ones most favored; and the high dressed coiffure, with an unstanding aigrette, affords an air of dignified simplicity that a multitude of fringes and rufflings could never supply.

In accordance with the vogue of simplicity, it is noticeable that the leaders of fashion are wearing far less jewelry than has hitherto been customary. For the young girl a single string of pearls is deemed sufficient, and she must not delay any more, except of course, her engagement symbol, when that engagement has been announced.

Even the matrons whose jewel caskets and their contents are matters of world-wide information are contenting themselves with but a single necklace, one or at most, two rings, and perhaps a corsage ornament. The diamond stars, the jeweled sprays and other coiffure jewels are for the nonce left in the quiet darkness of the strong box or safe deposit vault; and their owner signifies her adherence to the cult of the simple by having her hair dressed without ornament, or with a single velvet orchid.
