BEEF TRUST EXISTS SAYS U. S. COURT

Charge of Conspiracy Among Packers to Fix Prices on Fresh Meat Sustained in De- cision Handed Down by Jus- tice Holman—Lower Court Sustained

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The supreme court of the United States today decided the case of the United States against Swift & Company, known as the "beef trust case," charging conspiracy among the packers to fix prices on fresh meats, etc. The opinion was handed down by Justice Holman, and affirmed the decision of the court below, which was against the packers.

TO INVESTIGATE NORTHERN SECURITIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The supreme court of the United States today granted a petition for a writ of certiorari in the case of E. H. Harriman and others against the Northern Securities Company, growing out of the former decision of the court relative to the distribution of the stock securities. The effect of granting the writ is to bring the case to the supreme court for review.

GREAT BRITAIN RESENTS CHARGES

Russia's Efforts to Fix Respon- sibility for Recent Riots May Cause Clash

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 30.—The posting of placards at Libau signed by the governor of the court and of similar purport to those posted at Moscow, charging Great Britain with the responsibility for the disturbance in Russia, has called out another vigorous protest from British Ambassador Sir Charles Hardinge, who has pointed out to Foreign Minister Lambsdorff that such proceedings must make a deplorable impression in Great Britain and cannot fail to seriously affect the friendly relations of the two countries.

The British military attaché here, Major Napier, has been dispatched to Warsaw to inquire into the attack on Consul General Murray and the vice consul there.

CONSUL GENERAL REPORTS

British Official Was Charged on by Russian Cavalrymen

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The foreign office has received a telegram from Consul General Murray at Warsaw, reporting that he and Vice Consul Muckahn were charged on by Russian cavalrymen engaged in clearing the streets of Warsaw. It appears Mr. Murray is partially deaf and probably did not hear the approach of the troopers, and when he subsequently endeavored to make known his personality it was without avail. The foreign office has telegraphed to Ambassador Hardinge to make urgent representations at St. Petersburg on the subject.

WHAT THE JAPS HAVE ACCOMPLISHED IN A YEAR

BY WILL H. BRILL.
(Special Correspondence of The Telegram.)
HEADQUARTERS OKU'S ARMY, Manchuria, Dec. 15.—It is now more than seven months since the land fighting in the Russo-Japanese war began and now the armies seem to have settled down to await warmer weather before continuing the fighting. Of course one never can tell when trouble will begin, for no matter what the plans of one army may be there are always the plans of the enemy to reckon with.

Russian War-Ship at Liao-yang, near Japanese hospital.

that it was hoped they would accomplish. But during those months the Japanese have accomplished much more than, a year ago, people who were not in close touch with Japan and the Japanese preparations would have believed they could accomplish.

The war on land practically opened May 1, with the battle of Antung and the crossing of the Yalu river from Korea into Manchuria. This was accomplished with little difficulty by General Kuroki and his army, who have since pushed on across the mountains of Manchuria, defeating the Russians at different places and repulsing their desperate counter attacks at Motien-Lin pass and other places.

Today General Kuroki's army, which was a part of the main Manchurian army of invasion, after marching over nearly 300 miles of the most difficult country in Manchuria, meeting the enemy and defeating them a number of times and not losing a single battle, is now had been directed to relieve Port Arthur, and has now driven it back to within a few miles of Mukden itself. Every time the two armies came in touch the Japanese were victorious and the Russians were forced to retire still further until they finally reached the place where they had spent many weeks in preparing a series of earthworks and defenses which are, it is believed, much more elaborate than any of the Russians have before occupied.

In the meantime General Nodzu, with one division, landed at Ta-Ku-Shan, on the Korean gulf side of the Liau Tung peninsula, about midway between Dalny and the mouth of the Yalu, and, defeating small bodies of Russians on the way, marched across country to Hai-Cheng, where he formed a junction with General Oku's army.

When General Oku's army had driven the Russians back from Nanshan on to Port Arthur itself, after one of the most desperate battles of modern times, General Nodzu's army landed at Tallen-Wan bay, Dalny having been occupied after that no one knew that the change had been made and that General Oku had turned his army north to meet General Kuroki and the army he was taking south to relieve Port Arthur. When the two armies met, it was for a battle royal.

Near the village of Te-Li-Tzu, the Russians had hastily fortified a position and from this position they were driven after a very hard-fought battle, retreating, in such disorder that the Japanese shot down the retreating soldiers by the hundred, more than 2,000 Russian dead being left on the field. Only the fact that a heavy downpour of rain came on late in the afternoon and delayed the Japanese in getting up their guns, prevented the entire annihilation of the Russian force.

This was on June 15. After waiting for a few days the army continued its advance slowly, and on July 3 occupied the important Chinese town of Kai-Ping, with called by the Chinese Shu-Sham-Po. At daylight the next morning the fight began and lasted all that day and night and all the next day and night. On the second day the Japanese obtained a footing on the eastern end of the range and that was the beginning of the end. On the morning of Sept. 1 the whole range was in the possession of the Japanese. That day was spent in resting and the next day the troops began the slow but steady advance on Liao Yang. The armies commanded by General Oku and General Nodzu closed in on the town and after two days' hard fighting occupied it.

In the meantime General Kuroki had been having a hard time on the Russian left flank. He had moved up along the Teltze river and was there met by the overwhelming force of Russians. For three or four days his men were forced to fight desperately against much greater numbers in order to hold the position. Finally by a clever maneuver a part of Kuroki's force was pushed across the Teltze near Yen-Tai and the Russians were forced to withdraw, perhaps not defeated but clearly outmaneuvered. It was a cleverly executed bit of business and for not preventing it the Russian general, Orloff, was recalled and dismissed from the service.

As soon as possible the Japanese moved on to a point just north of the Yen-Tai coal mines while Kuroki withdrew his forces across the Hun river. Then came the required delay for the bringing up of fresh men and supplies and then followed Kuroki's unsuccessful attempt to drive the Japanese back, which resulted in the Japanese moving forward some ten miles, fighting every inch of the ground and finally establishing themselves firmly along the south bank of the Sa river.

This brief summary of the work of the three armies during seven months proves the original statement that the Japanese have never been defeated and that the Russians have not once been successful.

Note—As the date shows, the foregoing letter was written before the fall of Port Arthur and the recent operations in Manchuria. Latest dispatches from the headquarters of General Kuroki's army in Manchuria indicate that instead of a Russian victory as was at first reported, the Russians failed in their effort to break through the Japanese left and were compelled to retire.

The statement in Corbett's book that the Japanese have never been defeated and that the Russians have not once been successful, therefore, still holds good.

The next day a force was sent to the west and occupied Yin-Kow or Newchwang, as it is usually called. Thus the Japanese obtained a second port of entry for their supplies and the transport problem for stores from Japan was practically solved.

It was not until July 31 that another move was made and the next day the Japanese occupied Hai-Cheng without opposition. Here a junction was formed with General Nodzu's army which had reached that point from Ta-Ku-Shan. General Oku furnished General Nodzu with another division and the two armies moved on for the advance on Liao Yang. This was the objective point of the whole movement from the time of the landing of the three big armies. Nodzu had come through as was expected; would Kuroki be able to do the same? All reports showed that he was well on his way and slowly driving in the Russian advance positions and gradually sweeping around to the northward in an effort to take Kuroki in the flank.

The advance of the second army began Aug. 24, and two days later the advance came in touch with the Russians a few miles south of An-Shan-Tien, a small village which lies in a narrow pass between two very high hills and commands the main highway. On Aug. 26 there was a small fight and all preparations were made for a big battle the next day. But the next day it rained in torrents almost and the whole landscape was blotted out by a dense mist. So the battle was postponed until the next day. On the 27th it poned until the Russians had abandoned An-Shan-Tien and had fallen back on a line of hills about three miles south of Liao Yang, leaving only a small rear guard consisting of a little infantry and a few batteries of artillery in the hills just north of An-Shan-Tien. The Japanese rushed this position, drove the infantry back and captured the guns.

This was in the morning and before the next night the Japanese had advanced across the plain and were well up to the Russians' new position on the line of hills

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 30, 12:30 p. m.—Most of the factories and mills of St. Petersburg are in operation today and the strike to all intents and purposes is ended. A few of the large establishments have not yet fully resumed operations, owing to the usual formalities in registering their thousands of employes. Some of the workmen at the Putiloff iron works, where the strike originated, asked for the celebration of a religious service by the metropolitan of St. Petersburg before resuming work, "so as to remove the effect of the presence of the unroofed priest and excommunicated leader." Father Gopon. Some of the social democrats are protesting against the arrests Friday and Saturday on the ground the action taken was a violation of the implied promise contained in the proclamation of the authorities. The Manufacturers' Association will meet this week to decide the question of paying wages to the strikers for the time the latter were not at work, but as a number of works already have paid unskilled laborers pay day was Jan. 23 one-half or full time the rest of the employers probably will decide to pay the workers at least part of their wages for the time they were on strike.

The men, it is added, must return to work unconditionally.

WATCH BLAMED FOR FATAL WRECK

Hands Caught, Engineer Mis- led and Collision of Trains Followed

GAINESVILLE, Texas, Jan. 30.—(Special)—Santa Fe southbound passenger train No. 19 and northbound freight train No. 22 came together at 12 o'clock noon Sunday and a half mile north of Berwyn in head-on collision, causing a frightful wreck.

No passengers were seriously hurt so far as is known. The dead: GUY COSETT of Gaines, fireman on the freight. Seriously injured: Passenger Engineer McKenzie of Cleburne, left leg broken, internal injuries. Fireman Johnson of the passenger and Engineer Kidd Stone of the freight train, both of Gainesville, and Conductor Dan O'Brien of the passenger train, slight injuries.

The wreck was caused by the catching of the minute and hour hands of Engineer Stone's watch. When the collision occurred the freight was running at high speed, being fifty minutes behind time.

Both the engineer and conductor of the freight train wired their resignation from Berwyn.

HAS KANSAS THE NERVE TO FIGHT STANDARD OIL?

Entire Country Will Watch Outcome of Proposition to Build State Refinery, Now Before Legislature at To- peka

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 30.—The big fight in the Kansas legislature begins today, when the first battle of the war on the Standard Oil Company will be fought. The proposition now before both houses to establish a state oil refinery in opposition to the Standard Oil Company is the paramount issue, and members and senators living outside the oil belt are being furnished with letters and petitions from their constituents to vote in favor of appropriation of $200,000 for a state refinery, to be run in connection with the state penitentiary and to use convict labor in the refining oil.

The last provision has aroused organized labor, and opposition to the scheme is rising from that quarter. Others oppose it on the ground that it is socialistic and that if the idea is carried out to the limit Kansas will soon be engaged in the business of running its own packing houses, flour mills, salt plants, etc.

Advocates of the state refinery declare that the consumers of the refined product in Kansas will be saved 25 per gallon of oil, and that this saving will amount to $800,000 annually.

Enlightened by the publicity on the trust affairs in recent years, benefited by the experience of other fields, fully understanding the character of the oppressor and its methods, and having delegated their power of government to officials and legislators who are giving their representative government, the people of Kansas are apt to deal the great monopoly several staggering blows before they are through with it.

The situation is particularly in their favor inasmuch as the Standard is giving out, while the Kansas field continues to yield unprecedented output.

In the middle west the claim of Kansas oil men that eventually Kansas oil will light the world is believed.

KANSAS OUTPUT INCREASING

The Kansas surplus Jan. 1, 1905, amounted to over 5,000,000 barrels, though but a fraction of the field has pipe line connection.

The gain in Kansas production in 1904 over the previous year was 420 per cent, or 4,527,828 barrels.

Short-sighted for once in its career, the Standard thought to handle the output by its refineries in Neodesha, Kan., and Sugar Creek (Kansas City), Mo. Before the improvement was completed, the production was so vast that extension of the pipe line to Kansas City was undertaken to Whiting, Ind., where connection with the Atlantic seaboard lines may be made.

It is believed that the Standard will not care for the wealth pouring from the oil sands of the Sunflower state.

The Standard took the usual means to stop production. It reduced the price paid for crude oil. In the past three weeks the price has decreased 25 per cent. The value of the product 25 per cent. Crude oil has dropped 47 per cent in value in one year. Refined oil remains practically at the same old price.

The whole oil field howls and most of Kansas has joined in the hue and cry against the "arrogant monopoly."

But production goes right on. An oil well must be pumped or it fills with water, so the producers are forced to turn their product to the standard at what they say are not living prices.

And meanwhile, hundreds of promoters, spurred on by leases which make drilling obligatory, are sinking wells, though they know the slim profits, perhaps actual loss, faces them if they strike oil. They may lose if they strike oil, and they lose if they don't. The Standard's price list is blamed.

Before the Standard built its pipe line to Kansas City or took much interest in the field, I. N. Knapp, the pioneer oil man in the district, had worked up a nice business, with Chanute as headquarters.

The freight rate on crude oil to Kansas City was 10 cents for a 64 gallon Knapp had a lucrative business running away up into Nebraska and Iowa and even Illinois. After the Standard got busy, the rate on crude oil went up 15 per cent. Knapp made a big kick and asked the railroad why rates on refined had not changed.

Before he got an answer the rate on crude had gone up again and was then double what it had been. Rates on refined remain unchanged. Knapp to this day can't see what caused the changes, but his business was ruined. Heavy investments in loading racks, tank cars, etc., were valueless.

Then somebody gave Knapp a tip and now he turns over his oil to the Standard and buys the so-called "gas oil" to which his business was devoted from the Standard. Freight rates don't bother him any more. The Standard allows him to stay in business in consideration of his giving them all the profit they can make on the kerosene, gasoline, waxes and lubricants in every gallon of oil his wells yield. He can have what he makes on the residue—the "gas oil."

Others oppose it on the ground that it is socialistic and that if the idea is carried out to the limit Kansas will soon be engaged in the business of running its own packing houses, flour mills, salt plants, etc.

Advocates of the state refinery declare that the consumers of the refined product in Kansas will be saved 25 per gallon of oil, and that this saving will amount to $800,000 annually.

GOVERNOR EDWARD HOCH.
He is leading the fight against the Standard Oil Company in Kansas. Hoch is an editor, a prohibitionist, Methodist elder, woman's suffragist and reformer. He is noted as a fighter of the bulldog stripe. He has been known to give his last penny to a stranger in distress.

Another legislative idea is embodied in a bill by Senator Porter for the construction of a state refinery in the heart of the oil field. He believes $200,000 would cover the whole expense.

State Senator Billie Waggener has another plan which is of immense possible importance. He favors a law declaring a pipe line a common carrier. In other words, the Standard must transport at "a reasonable rate" all oil offered it. Put into execution, this plan would probably mean scores of little independent refineries.

Another proposition of importance is the proposed establishment of an independent pipe line to Port Arthur, Texas, on the gulf. Steamers from all the world touch Port Arthur and crude oil, it is figured, could be offered European refiners at rates which would open their eyes. Besides there are three immense independent refineries at Port Arthur.

Another measure which has many advocates is that Kansas should follow the example of Texas and require the Standard to fix a certain rate for refined oil to apply throughout the state, the freight charge to be added for each town. This would prevent the kind of warfare Webster is getting at Emporia.

Another proposition is to place the regulating of freight rates in the hands of the executive council and governor.

To all these propositions the Standard is saying nothing, it reduces the value of crude oil whenever it chooses and it makes whatever price it sees fit for refined oil. It offers no explanation of the cuts and takes as little of any individual producer's oil as it wishes. It can put him out of business in a couple of weeks. Wise monopoly would take all the product. Probably the Standard would like to, but it is simply swamped and cannot. It builds its pipe lines only where it wants to, which means that hundreds of wells cannot get their product on the market.

It is stated that the Standard is clearing up $18,000 a day, or $125,000 a week by the Sugar Creek and Neodesha refineries. This means $6,552,000 a year from the Kansas field.

I can afford to offer a full dollar's worth free because mine is no ordinary remedy. Ordinary remedies treat symptoms. My remedy treats the cause that produces the symptoms.

Stomach troubles is not really a sickness, but a symptom. It is a symptom that a certain set of nerves is ailing. Not the voluntary nerves that enable you to walk and talk and act—but the automatic stomach nerves over which your mind has no control.

I have not room here to explain how these tender tiny nerves control and operate the stomach. How worry breaks them down and causes indigestion. How misuse wears them out and causes dyspepsia.

TEXAS SURVIVORS TELL TERRIBLE TALE

Adrift in an Open Boat Thirteen Days Without Food, All Save One, Were Almost Dead

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Three survivors of the crew of the steam dredge Texas arrived here yesterday on the Etruria of the Cunard Line.

Adrift with ten others in an open boat for nearly thirteen days, without food or fresh water on the sixth day, and picked up by schooner when all save one had gone almost mad, is the story of the disastrous voyage.

At Southampton on the evening of the sixth day the vessel began suddenly to settle at the bows. A plate had been ripped loose. The water was pouring in rapidly. Sixty tons of coal were thrown overboard.

"All of us," said Haga, one of the men, "became like madmen. A German who had gone mad on the second day after our water had given out, became so violent we had to tie him to a thwart to prevent his doing violence to himself or to us."

"Mutterings were heard on all sides, and half a dozen of the men planned to draw lots as to who should be sacrificed for the rest. Captain Minot heard this and forbade such discussions."

The crew were picked up by the Mercedes, transferred to the Zeno, which set them down at Waterford, Ireland. Captain Minot is still ill in Waterford and five of the Texas crew are still in the hospital.

Haga, Pedersen and Gerasola were sent to this country by Mr. Swiney, the United States consul at Waterford. None of them are American citizens, but Haga and Gerasola have both lived in the United States, and the former has two grown sons in Nebraska.

Send your Name and Address Today. You Can Have a Trial Treatment Absolutely Free

We will gladly send to anyone, free of charge, a trial treatment of our wonderful treatments for the cure of men who are suffering from nervous debility, loss of vitality, vital weakness, unnatural drains at night, varicose veins, and other results of early indiscretions; also stricture, blood poison in the first, second or third stages, and all other venereal or private diseases of men.

We feel it a waste of time and space to go into details to tell you what these wonderful remedies have done for others. The quickest way to convince you that the remedies will do all that we claim for them is to have you give them a trial. As the old saying is, "the proof of the pudding is in the eating."

NOTE: THIS above is indeed a fair and liberal offer, as the doctors connected with the Interstate Remedy Co. are all skilled and experienced specialists.

Has Prefaced Religious Campaign With Unique "Declaration of War"

WAR DECLARED ON FORCES OF SATAN

Salvation Army Leader Notifies Followers of Unique Campaign

Members of the Salvation Army have received notice of a unique campaign mapped out by Evangeline Booth, beginning Feb. 5 and lasting until March 14.

The campaign has been preceded by an official "declaration of war," charging Beelzebub with having broken treaties with deluded mankind, the document being prepared in a striking and realistic way.

The campaign to be carried on will be similar to that held recently in Wales. Special weeks will be set apart for special work in prisons, hospitals and among various classes of people.

The declaration of war, composed by Miss Eva Booth, is in part as follows: "Whereas, certain information having been placed before me by the chief provincial commanders of the Salvation Army forces now operating in the United States of America to the effect that there has been ruthlessly destroyed an agreement made by his Blackest Majesty, 'Prince of the Powers of the Air' and King of the Nethermost Regions of Hell, with the poor, deluded slaves of sin, whom he cruelly deceived, and remorselessly dragged, bound in fetters of transgression, from the paths of godliness, virtue, honesty, sobriety and truth, and to whom he had promised peace, prosperity, happiness and security from all harm;

"Wherefore I, Evangeline Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army forces in the United States of America, in the name of God, the king and ruler of the whole universe, and in the name of Jesus Christ, His Son, whose servant and soldier I am, do hereby declare war, in character most desperate and sustained than heretofore, against the combined forces of darkness commanded by his majesty (the great deceiver) King Beelzebub.

"This is to give notice, therefore, that a special campaign, commencing the 5th day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and five, will advance and assault the enemy, to destroy every kind of evil work resulting from sin, such as drink, blasphemy, hatred, half-heartedness, sham, hypocrisy, cant, lukewarmness, jealousy, cowardice, fashion, pride, conceit, lies and other enemies of God and man."

The Pills That Cure Rheumatism

Mr. C. H. Hickey, of No. 3 Main St., Harris, R. I., is one of thousands who have been cured of Rheumatism by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills For Pale People.

He says: "I suffered for three months, a part of the time confined to bed. I took many remedies but without relief. Then I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the first box I took helped me. After I had taken three boxes the swelling went down and the pain and lameness left me for good. I have had no trace of rheumatism since. My wife and I recommend these pills to everyone afflicted."

Obstinate cases of neuralgia, sciatica and locomotor ataxia also yield to this specific for diseases of the blood and nerves.

 LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP *****

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 30.—"Clod Hopper" McNeil, as he takes pride in designating himself, has written the following story, in which he makes a very witty play on the names of members of the house:

"On a beautiful hill, near a Low Marsh, where Rice and Onions grow, handled by an expert Peeler, the house meets, Wood of many kinds, including Brown, Gray and Green wood is found. Love abounds in this body, although Blunt, Sharp and Sevier instruments are sometimes used in debate.

partly cloudy to cloudy weather, probably rain Tuesday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

D. S. Landis issued the following statement of weather conditions this morning:

Low pressure conditions, accompanied by snowfall, marks the northern states from North Carolina to New England. High pressure controls the upper Mississippi valley, accompanied by clear cold weather, the temperatures being 10 to 20 degrees below zero.

Snow is falling in the middle Missouri valley, covering South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas. The upper Missouri is coming under low pressure condition. Rain continues in Oregon, Texas is cloudy and temperatures from 21 degrees in the north to 46 degrees on the coast.

Maximum and minimum temperature of leading cities during past twenty-four hours: Chicago, 4, 10; Denver, 20, 30; Kansas City, 10, 20; New Orleans, 40, 48; Pittsburg, 12, 20; St. Louis, 10, 22; St. Paul, 12, 6; Cincinnati, 10, 20.

WIRELESS SERVICE EXTENDS

Stations in the City of Mexico and the Isthmus of Panama Announced by F. G. McPeak

F. G. McPeak, southwestern representative of the DeForest wireless telegraphic system, with headquarters in this city, said today that work was progressing on the new stations now in course of construction at Galveston and New Orleans and that it was expected both would be completed and in operation by the middle of February.

Mr. McPeak stated that the government is having a station put in at Panama and there would also be one erected in the city of Mexico. When the latter is completed the company will establish commercial relations by "wireless" between Panama, Mexico and the United States.

He said recent demonstrations made near Key West, Fla., on board the "Denver," a vessel of the Mallory line, show conclusively that the system is working correctly, as messages from Key West to the New York station, 1,000 miles away.

Mr. McPeak says that his company has a station built at Havana, Cuba, but because of some differences with that government, no messages have ever been sent to Key West.

RAISING CAMPAIGN FUNDS

Expenses of Diversification Crusade to Be Secured from Sale of Association Buttons

Oswald Wilson, secretary of the National Cotton Association, who returned Sunday from New Orleans, is today mailing out $12 letters to the leading bankers in as many counties in the different cotton-growing states, asking them to subscribe for buttons urging the diversification of crops.

These buttons are for distribution among farmers and cotton growers and the revenue derived from their sale will be used in maintaining the general offices of the association in this city. The entire expenses will be paid in this way.

"The aim of the association," said Mr. Wilson today, "is to organize the farmers by school districts through the newspapers by publishing articles having reference to diversification of crops in all southern or cotton growing states. These articles will keep the farmers informed of the progress that is being made and at the same time will give them the benefit of much good advice as to growing various crops, from men who are competent to deal with the subject."

Among the articles to be furnished the press this week will be one by Dr. S. A. Knapp, who had for quite a while the cotton co-operative demonstration for the United States department of agriculture. The subject for the week is corn growing. Others of equal prominence connected with the agricultural department of the government in the south will contribute of various articles advocating diversification.

Indians rapidly fading from the face of the earth, the item in the Indian bill for transportation of supplies had increased from $60,000 a year to $380,000 a year in a very short time.

"Now that was a mild inquiry, very mild. Sherman looked down at me and said, 'Now, you, Benton, you are full of prunes,' and I concluded I was and never made any further inquiries. O, yes, Sherman is a very forceful man."

"There was a sure-thing gambler down in Mississippi named Gamble—good name, by the way," said John Sharp Williams. "He never made a bet unless he was sure he would win. He was out at a country fair, staying at a hotel. One morning a man who was in the sporting line himself got up early and looked out of the window. He saw Gamble carefully measuring with a tape line the hitching post in front of the hotel. He knew something was up and when Gamble went out to the fair he went out and measured the hitching post himself. Then he took a sledge hammer and drove the post into the ground an inch and a half."

"That night, after supper, while they were all sitting on the hotel porch, Gamble craftily led the conversation around to the difficulty of judging distances and heights.

"Now," he said, "there's that hitching post yonder. I'll bet a hundred I can come nearer to its height than anybody here."

"How high would you reckon it is?" asked the sledgehammer artist, who after a lot of conversation had put up the hundred with Gamble.

"Oh," said Gamble, "I'll take it at 30 inches."

"Oh, no," replied the other man, "you are wrong. I'll bet it is less than 30."

"They measured and it was 28 1/2. Gamble hasn't smiled since that day."

Colonel "Bill" Sterret of Texas watched the senate warming up for the trial of Judge Swayne. Everything was solemn and still including Colonel Sterret.

"What's the matter, 'Bill'?" asked one of Colonel Sterret's friends.

"Nothing, only I had expected to see him brought in loaded down with chains," replied Colonel Sterret. "We never get up that solemnity in Texas unless a leading citizen is about to be sentenced to be hanged."

"The great trouble with Sergeant S. Prentiss was that he had too great a thirst for the ardent spirit," said Representative Chandler of Mississippi at a cloakroom symposium. "He once had his falling called to his attention by a political opponent."

"It is true," said Mr. Prentiss, "that I sometimes drink and sometimes drink to excess. Suppose I do. I like the wines which for thousands of years have entered into the blood of our emperors and kings, while my opponent is satisfied with the cheap corn whiskey of his constituents. Mine is a refined appetite, while that of my opponent is depraved."

COL. J. B. SIMPSON'S DEATH

General Order issued by Major General Van Zandt Officially Announcing the Demise

A general order has been issued from the headquarters of the Texas division, United Confederate Veterans, as follows: With profound sorrow the major general commanding announces to the Texas division, United Confederate Veterans, the death of another member of his official family, Colonel James Bates Simpson, assistant adjutant general of the division, who died at Dallas, Texas, at 4:30 p. m. on the 27th instant, from injuries received by being thrown from a buggy on the 23d instant.

Colonel Simpson was born at Fort Smith, Ark., in 1845. His parents removed to Texas while he was an infant. He was educated at Nashville, Tenn. The outbreak of the war found him at his mother's home in Union county, Ark., where he enlisted as a Confederate soldier. He served through the war, being twice wounded in battle, and was paroled at Marshall, Texas, in May, 1865. At the close of the war he returned to Texas, settling first at Houston, where he studied and was licensed to practice law. He lived for a time at Galveston and then settled at Liberty, where he was district attorney for two years, and was then a member of the state senate for a term. He removed to Dallas in 1874, where he became prominent as a lawyer and a journalist. He was a man of great enterprise and public spirit and took an active interest in everything that contributed to the upbuilding of his adopted home.

TRUE AMERICANISM

There is something infinitely greater than being the partisan member of any political party, and it is gratifying to see a disposition even among our greatest and most prominent men in political life to rise above the question of party environment and proclaim themselves Americans in the broadest sense of the term. President Roosevelt has done this in many of the reforms he is now pressing upon congress, some of which are entirely at variance with the tenets and traditions of his party. So much so, in fact, that the president is accused of being at heart a democrat because he is willing to concede that there is right and justice in some of the democratic contentions, and for the general good of the country is trying to have those democratic demands engrafted into the law of the land.

While the attitude of the president on these matters is no doubt displeasing to many of his party leaders, it but serves to impress the rank and file of the American people with the belief that no serious mistake was made when Theodore Roosevelt was made president of the United States. That there is sufficient love of country in the man's heart to proclaim to the world the fact that he is first an American, and he holds his duty to the republican party of secondary importance when it conflicts with his duty as the head of the great American nation. No further evidence of the man's greatness is necessary. He has written it in letters of gold that will endure forever.

No doubt there are many members of the republican party who oppose meritorious measures for no other reason than their democratic origin. They are so steeped in the curse of partisanship that they would refuse to support any measure that savored of being a democratic demand. All that is necessary for them to know is that it has had democratic indorsement and that puts an effective quietus upon it so far as republican support is concerned. And there are democrats just as blind. They are so imbued with the fanatical fires of partisan politics that they would vote against a measure involving some sacrifice of their real interests if it was tainted with the small of republicanism. They are doing this thing every day, and party feeling in many instances is as rancorous as if the opposing forces were actually engaged in battle.

It is gratifying that while the real leader of the republican party is giving to the world evidences of the fact that he can and will rise above the hide-bound principles and customs of his party, the real leader of the democratic hosts has just given to the world evidence that he is made out of the same kind of material. William J. Bryan was in Washington a few days ago and paid a visit to the president, by whom he was most cordially received, and in commenting on that visit the great democratic leader says:

"We talked over several matters," he said, "and it was a pleasure to agree with the president on many things. I believe in speaking well of any policy which is in speaking well of any policy which is good, regardless of what party is supporting it. I have often been accused of being a populist, merely because I have given my support to some things advocated by that party. I suppose I shall now be accused of being a republican because I agree with President Roosevelt's views on some things. I think the president is unmistakably right in his demands as to railroad legislation and I told him so. I also think that Mr. Garfield, the commissioner of corporations, is right in recommending that corporations be required to take out federal licenses. I likewise believe in an income tax, and hope to see it brought about. This could be done by a constitutional amendment."

Such talk as this may not please the politicians, but it must be of a very pleasing nature to the masses of the American people. It dispenses the fire- eaters on both sides, for it robs them of some of their most cherished thunder. But to the man in the humbler walks of life it comes as a genuine revelation, for it discloses the fact that American statesmanship is becoming better by reason of its becoming broader. That it is possible for men who are elevated to the highest pinnacle of leadership by their respective partisans to lay aside partisanship and come out on the broad platform of American citizenship. This tendency on the part of our truly great men cannot be without a generous reward in its effect upon the masses. It can but inspire the same lofty sentiments in the breasts of all true American citizens and ultimately be reflected in cleaner and purer political methods all along the lines of the two great opposing factors.

There are many men who affect to believe that American politics is constantly growing more rotten and corrupt, and there are men of such narrow views as to contend that an honest election has not been held in this country since the days of George Washington. They believe that the time is not far distant when the whole political edifice must fall by reason of its own rottenness, but such evidences of true greatness on the part of our real party leaders disprove these contentions. American politics is growing better.

The present session of the state legislature is after the Pullman sleeping car company, and a bill has been favorably reported placing that corporation under the control of the railroad commission in this state. Incidentally it is proposed to make the price of a night's entertainment in a lower berth $2, while the individual who is compelled to roost higher is to have the privilege of doing so at a cost not to exceed $1.50. If this bill passes it is expected that it will result in making all the sleeping cars top-heavy, for the average man will be willing to do a little climbing for the sake of that fifty cents.

Zach Mulhall says there was too much Texas in his trial last week, which resulted in the jury giving him a sentence of three years in the state penitentiary, on the charge of shooting a cowboy attached to his wild west show. At this distance it looks like too much Missouri for Mr. Mulhall. That state has shown him some things that are evidently not exactly to his liking. His case has been appealed, however, and action has not yet been taken on the appeal. The conviction was a great surprise to him, and will grieve his many Texas friends.

Texas has fared very well in the river and harbor appropriation agreed upon in congress, the sum of $2,295,287 being promised by the committee. $167,287 is authorized for the Trinity river, but it is required that the city of Dallas must come up with a cash contribution of $66,000 for the same purpose. It is evident from this fact that some wise guy from Fort Worth must have put congress next to that refunded Rock Island subscription which caused such lofty emotions in our sister city a few months ago.

That threatened Russian revolution seems in process of abortion from the fact that no leader capable of dealing with the situation has been developed among the revolutionists. But the suppression will be but temporary, for the fires of revolution once kindled may smoulder for several generations before sweeping the country, but sweep it they will in the due course of time and human events. Man is becoming too civilized to endure the form of government that has been prescribed for him in Russia.

Work has begun on the new state fair building at Dallas, and it is expected that it will be completed by the first of August. Dallas has had a pretty tough experience with her state fair proposition, but has held on to it in such a manner as to win the admiration of the entire state. It is to be hoped that the great enterprise will be gotten on a sound basis this year, and that it will continue to grow and expand in consonance with the rapid growth and development of all Texas.

President Roosevelt has been officially invited to attend the annual meeting of the cattlemen in this city next March, and if the president is up to snuff he will hasten to accept that invitation and grace the occasion with his presence. The cattlemen desire an opportunity to demonstrate to him their appreciation of his action in the interstate commerce recommendation he has pressed upon congress, together with other matters in which he has shown a friendly interest.

A political conference has been held between William J. Bryan and Judge Alton B. Parker, which is said to have resulted in Mr. Bryan notifying Judge Parker that the west and south would dominate the democratic party in the future. It would have been better for the party if such had been the case in the last election, and no doubt the eastern contingent is now in a position to concede the truth of the matter.

The Trinity and Brazos Valley railway is trying to lease the privilege of entering Fort Worth over the tracks of the Santa Fe, and if the arrangement cannot be perfected, no doubt room can be found for the road to locate and come to town over its own tracks. It is as natural for all up to date railroads to desire to come to Fort Worth as it is for water to seek its level, and the Cleburne road will find a cordial welcome.

With the evidence that is being piled up before the state legislature at Austin to the effect that the agricultural land of this state is assessed for taxation at one-third of its selling value, Governor Lanham ought to revise that portion of his recent message which located the tax-dodger in the cities and towns of Texas.

The railways are fighting the Williams intangible asset bill at Austin with grim determination, alleging that they are already paying to the state all the taxation they can possibly stand. They are putting up some very strong argument, and are being given very close attention by the committee having the hearing in charge.

OF INTEREST TO CATTLEMEN

BROWN COUNTY CATTLE

"There are fewer cattle in my part of the country now than a few years ago," said Joe Gilliam, a well-known stockman of Brown county. "That country is being settled up very fast by the farmers from the north, and what used to be boundless ranges are now prosperous farms. This has been the main factor in the decrease of the number of cattle in that part of Texas."

"There are quite a few stockmen who are feeding there this winter. That country in good years produces good corn and plenty of it, but it is uncertain and the farmers are holding on to their grain in case of a failure next year. Brown county has enough corn to last it a year in case of a shortage. The farmers are asking from 60c to 6c a bushel for the grain and you can buy it up north and have it delivered there for about 58c; so you see how the farmers are holding on to their grain. Consequently, there is very little corn fed. Cotton seed is our main feed, with milo maize and sorghum for roughness. But taking everything into consideration it hardly pays one to go into the feeding business down there. I have fed my cattle since the first of November, but they do not look like the same cattle. There will not be a very heavy run of grass cattle from my section next summer, and with the coming of the farmers I think the days of the big runs are numbered."

"This is a good country for an ambitious farmer. The land is adapted to almost everything a farmer cares to raise, and it is an especially good fruit country. The first settlers are as a rule getting well fixed and the country is beginning to resemble the more northern states."

OKLAHOMA QUARANTINE

They are having some interesting times in Oklahoma over the quarantine question. A dispatch from Guthrie says: "Senator Joel R. Scott of Perry is determined to pass his bill, which provides for a quarantine line around the entire territory of Oklahoma, including the Osage Nation. This was Governor Ferguson's recommendation in his message and bills freeze. We had several inches of ice on the ground for some six days and it melted slowly. Grass on the ranch is in good shape and there is plenty of water."

BOUGHT RANCH AND CATTLE

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Jan. 26.—Bob Anderson, who for about twenty years has been out in the Midland country in the cow business, has moved back to Southwest Texas for keeps. About a week ago he bought Will May's ranch on the Nueces in Uvalde and Zavala counties, comprising about 11,000 acres at $3 per acre, and on Wednesday closed a deal with Mr. May for his cattle, consisting of about 800 head. Mr. Anderson went west Wednesday and Mr. May left Thursday morning. Just when the transfer will be made could not be ascertained.

FEEDING IN TEXAS

Most feeding of cattle in Texas this season is being conducted at Fort Worth, Taylor, Temple and New Braunfels, where, it is estimated, 74,900 head were put in the start, as compared with 59,100 at forty-nine points in Texas and the territories last year.

STONEWALL COUNTY CONDITIONS

R. P. Fowler, Stonewall county, shipped to the Fort Worth market Friday five cars of mixed stuff. In discussing the range conditions and the cattle in his portion of the state Mr. Fowler said: "The range at the present time is in fairly good shape. There is no doubt that it could be much better and that the market conditions could be the same, but there is always something to mar the life of us fellows and it is hard to find all conditions such that we can all agree on them. Out our way there are but few feeders and those the cattlemen are counting on keeping. Cattlemen have sold out most of their other stuff and there is now a scarcity of cattle, yet the market remains low and I do not understand why it is so. There is probably only one answer and that is the present rush to the market on account of the poor condition of the range in many with practically the same provisions have been introduced by Senators Scott and Hickman and Representatives Walker and Taylor. Recently, however, the governor has notified Secretary Hitchcock of the interior department that the Osage Nation cannot be placed above the line on account of the pasture leases the department has made with southern cattlemen, such leases bringing to the Indians an annual fund of $400,000. This message from Hitchcock is not to the liking of the members of the Oklahoma legislature and for that reason Senator Scott will try to pass the bill throwing the line around the Osage Nation and he claims he has enough votes to pass it. If Governor Ferguson refuses the bill his approval Senator Scott will pass it, if possible, over the executive veto. If this procedure does not carry then a substitute bill along the line of the one being drawn by Dyke-allinger will be taken up and passed. This will eliminate the Osage Nation.

PREDICTS HIGHER MARKET "The tendency of the market for fed cattle is upward and as soon as the corn state feeders have marketed their stuff, which will be in a short while, I look for a much better market," says E. B. Carver, now in the commission business at Kansas City, but formerly a resident of Henrietta, who is now in the city for a few days. "The high price of corn this year has resulted in a comparatively small number of cattle being fed in the corn belt this season. The market is bound to go up with the decreased supply."

THE FAT STOCK SHOW The work of building the pavilion and sheds for the fat stock show has been commenced and will be pushed to completion.

CATTLE IN FINE SHAPE "Cattle on the J. A. ranch stood the cold spell in fine shape," said Alex Ligertwood of that ranch, who was in the city yesterday. "At one time we feared that the ice would result in considerable injury, but aside from being a bit drawn the cattle appear to be now in about as good shape as they were prior to the parts of the state and the stock laws, which are driving the cattlemen to sell out as soon as they can."

INDIAN TERRITORY CONDITIONS H. D. Colton, Anadarko, I. T., shipped seven cars of mixed stuff to the market this morning. "We are well pleased with conditions up our way at the present time," said Mr. Colton. "Cattle have stood the winter well, we have had a good range and plenty of water and have come out wonderfully well and now I hope the market conditions here are such that we can enjoy the good luck that has been ours throughout the season. Cattle of good grade are bound to attract a good price on any market. It is my opinion that the market here is as good as any. The stock laws in many parts of Texas is probably one of the causes of so many cattle of all grades and conditions being shipped in at this time and this has had a tendency to lower the market. However, it must soon go back to a normal condition, as there is undoubtedly a scarcity of stock all over the southwest."

SUBMARINE BOATS ENDANGER A CLASH Committee on Naval Affairs and Navy Department Said to Be on Verge of Breach

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—The committee on naval affairs and the navy department are on the verge of a clash on the question of submarine boats. At the last session of congress $50,000 was appropriated for the purchase of four submarines. The law provides that the purchase should only be after open competition. It is now declared that the navy department has purchased Holland boats and that there was no competition. The committee on naval affairs of the house voted down an appropriation for the purchase of Holland boats. It is stated that in the discussion the charge was made of unfairness on the part of the navy department. The report comes from a reliable source tonight that the committee decided to ask the navy department to send it without delay all the papers and correspondence in its possession bearing on the tests of a submarine which it is said were held. This is of a sensational character.

Sir Alfred Jones stated at a meeting of the Liverpool chamber of commerce on Nov. 22 that it was expected this year $750,000 worth of cotton would be brought to England from Lagos, Africa. Great interest has been shown in Mexico in the announcement that $1,000,000 has been put into an undertaking for the manufacture of artificial silk. There are many conjectures as to the method to be employed in making the silk.

Gleanings From the Exchanges

There is a change in the law relating to the payment of the poll tax which if made will greatly facilitate the trial of cases by expediting the impaneling of juries. As the law now reads there are many citizens who decline to pay their poll tax in order to escape jury service; in other words, they deliberately disfranchise themselves rather than serve as jurors. The law should be amended by a provision to the effect that failure to pay his poll tax should not disqualify any citizen as a juror, but he shall be eligible as a juror regardless of whether he has paid his poll tax or not. There should be no provision of law which tempts or encourages citizens to evade jury service, or aids them in so doing.—Houston Chronicle.

It is questionable if the man who deliberately and with malice aforethought transforms himself into a Chinaman would make a good juror and is qualified to pass on the rights of others. The man who makes a good juror is best represented by the highest type of our citizenship, and such men do not seek to evade any of the duties of citizenship. Jury service is often a very disagreeable service, but it is a duty that should not be shirked. The poll tax requirement, however, cuts but little figure in the situation.

On account of the shortage and high price of wheat, mills are finding a substitute in Fankhauf Kaffir corn, and are using great quantities of it and paying good prices. It is said that when mixed with wheat it makes better flour than wheat alone. This is providing a nice market and making a piece of money for mill country farmers. They will perhaps get pinched a little on the price of cotton, but for a cash crop will still have the Kaffir, maize and sorghum.—Memphis Herald.

If the flouring mills of Texas are grinding Kaffir corn and using great quantities of the product to mix with wheat flour, they are guilty of a gross imposition upon the consumer and should be called to time under the laws of this state for adulterating an important foodstuff. Bread is the staff of life and should always be what it is represented, but in this day of adulteration and substitution the consumer does not know what his digestive apparatus is often called upon to tackle.

There is in Texas a market and growing demand for twice as many dairy products as we now produce. We can raise forage and live kine as well as our neighbors in Kansas, Illinois and Ohio. Draw your own conclusions.—Gainesville Messenger.

There is a market in Texas for every pound of butter than can be produced in Texas, yet Kansas supplies the demand for a truly first-class article. There is a demand in Texas for every pound of pork that can be produced in the state, and yet our packing houses have to import thousands of hogs annually from other states and territories. There is opportunity in Texas for the manufacture of every pound of cotton produced in the state, but we continue to buy our cotton goods from New England mills and hold public meetings to devise methods of reducing production in order that we may be still further at the mercy of eastern spinners. The list might be continued indefinitely, but it's no use. Texas has much to learn, and is acquiring knowledge along these lines very slowly.

The most dangerous of all real venomous reptiles is the "human snake in the grass." They know nothing "for certain," but they have always "just heard something terrible" about somebody and merely asked to ascertain the truth of the rumor. Nine times out of eight the malicious lie has generated in the putrefacted brain of the human reptiles and the "inquiries" are made for the sole purpose of circulating the falsehood.—Pleasanton Monitor.

Many persons have been driven into the grave and many businesses wrecked by the venomous whisperer. Many characters have been irretrievably blighted and happiness banished from many homes by the self-same individual. It is a grievous habit and should be suppressed.

So much has been said in different newspapers over the state in regard to divorced people, and usually the man is condemned more than the woman. While the News does not claim that men are always right, we do claim they have precious little show in the courts for justice, when confronted by a pretty woman. A woman can be the purest and most precious jewel, or she can be the least respected creature that inhabits the earth.—Lampasas News.

And a man can be a pillar of integrity or he can be the most conspicuous example of degeneracy that was ever permitted to walk on the face of the earth. Every woman that God has ever created was pure at one time in her life, and man has always managed to participate in her sin and fall from her former high estate.

The Bible upon which Governor Lanham and Lieutenant Governor Neal took the oath of office last Tuesday has served that purpose for every governor and lieutenant governor since the days of the republic. It was also used when General Sam Houston took the oath of office as president of the republic of Texas. Though somewhat worn, it is still in good condition, despite its age and long use. It belongs to the Texas supreme court.—Bonham News.

The average Bible is a great treasure to its fortunate possessor, but this one has become one beyond the power of money to purchase. Already it is venerated by all Texans for its past history and associations, and the coming years can but add to this feeling on the part of our people. That Bible is truly a priceless relic.

OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Two Grateful Letters from Women Who Avoided Serious Operations.—Many Women Suffering from Like Conditions Will Be Interested.

When a physician tells a woman, suffering from ovarian or womb trouble, that an operation is necessary it, of course, frightens her. The very thought of the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart. As one woman expressed it, when told by her physician that she must undergo an operation, she felt that her death knell had sounded. Our hospitals are full of women who are there for ovarian or womb operations. It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but such cases are much rarer than is generally supposed, because a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after the doctors had said an operation must be performed. In fact, up to the point where the knife must be used to secure instant relief, this medicine is certain to help. The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make come from women who, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, have escaped serious operations. Margrile Ryan, Treasurer of St. Andrew's Society, Indianapolis, Ind., writes of her cure as follows: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—'I cannot find words to express my thanks for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me. The doctor said I could not get well unless I had an operation for ovarian and female troubles. I knew I could not stand the strain of an operation and made up my mind I would be an invalid for life. Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills. Hearing how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had saved other women from serious operations I decided to try it, and in less than four months I was entirely cured, and words fail to express my thankfulness.' Miss Margaret Merkle of 275 34 Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—'Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, severe shooting pains through the pelvic organs, cramps, bearing down pains, and an irritable disposition compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said that I had ovarian trouble and ulceration, and advised an operation as my only hope. To this I strongly objected—and I decided as a last resort to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. To my surprise the ulceration healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared, and I am once more strong, vigorous and well; and I cannot express my thanks for what it has done for me.' Ovarian and womb troubles are steadily on the increase among women—and before submitting to an operation every woman should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been curing the worst forms of female complaints, all ovarian troubles, inflammation, ulceration, falling and displacement of the womb, leucorrhoea, irregularities, indigestion and nervous prostration. Any woman who could read the many grateful letters on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office would be convinced of the efficiency of her advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"THE RUNAWAYS"

The advance sale is now on for the appearance of Arthur Dunn in "The Runaways" which comes to Greenwall's opera house Tuesday matinee and night, Jan. 31, has started briskly and all indications point to a house filled to its capacity. It was one of the greatest successes of last season, when the pretty extravaganza played here to tremendous business and proved to be a magnificent production, with the richest kind of stage settings and beautiful gowns and costumes.

This year the production will be upon the same elaborate scale, and a remarkable spectacle is promised when the blinding rays of a dozen calciums and new electrical inventions play upon the many-hued gowns and varied scenic effects.

Local theater goers will also have their first opportunity of seeing the first famous pony ballet in the much discussed radiance, an entirely new and sensational feature which has been put on at a fabulous expense.

A TEXAS GIRL PLAYS LADY MACBETH

Most states have given a favorite daughter to the stage ever since Mary Anderson added to the fame of Kentucky by her matchless dramatic successes, but Texas now comes to the front with a young tragedienne of whom it is said the leading actresses of today have cause to harbor no small degree of professional envy. This young lady is Miss Louise Ripley, who is featured as Lady Macbeth in John Griffith's sumptuous production of Macbeth.

Miss Ripley was born and passed her early life in Sherman, from whence her parents removed to Denison and thence to New York, where the gifted young lady took three years of instruction from the foremost dramatic teachers, making her debut but a few seasons ago in an important production at the Empire theater with such distinguished success that managers at once commenced to bid for her services. Her present season as Lady Macbeth is her last as a member of a touring company, for arrangements have been completed to bring her out as an independent star next season in a big New York production of a remarkable play called "A Daughter of Juda." Miss Ripley is a young lady of unusual beauty and this coupled with her dramatic powers will attract big audiences during her coming tour of Texas at the head of John Griffith's splendid company, which plays here Wednesday matinee and night, Feb. 1, at Greenwall's opera house.

BESSIE TOONE IN "IRIS"

Miss Bessie Toone, who appears here in "Iris" at Greenwall's opera house Friday night, Feb. 3, is a native Texan, and like all fair daughters of the Lone Star State, is an expert horsewoman. Miss Toone was educated at Oxford University at Oxford.

"THAT LITTLE SWEDIE"

A production of unusual magnitude will be given at Greenwall's opera house Saturday matinee and night, Feb. 4, Hampton & Hopkins' superb scenic comedy drama, "That Little Swede," and as its name indicates, it deals largely with the Swedish population of the northwest, but it presents an abundance of effects that are daring in their magnitude and admirable in their execution. The reproduction of the falls of the Chippewa is said to be a wonder of clever conception and masterly mechanical work, the roar of the falls is heard and the mist that rises—for it is shown vividly—the play is startling at times in the intensity of its climaxes, and these when presented with all the effects of the intricate stage setting, brings the interest to a degree that is rarely attained even in melodrama. A large number of people are employed in the production.

"SERGEANT KITTY"

The demand for seats for the performance of the comic opera, "Sergeant Kitty," at Greenwall's opera house, where it will be seen Thursday night, Feb. 2, has been great.

R. E. LEE CAMP MEETING

Committees Appointed to Draft Resolutions on Deaths of Colonels Simpson and Goodman

Little business was transacted at the meeting of R. E. Lee camp, United Confederate Veterans.

After the usual opening exercises were had, Acting Adjutant Kirtley read general order No. 4, issued by Commander Paddock, having reference to the death of the late Inspector General Duke Goodman.

Colonel Wynne asked that a committee be named to draft resolutions on the death of Colonel Goodman, Commander Taylor appointed Colonel Wynne, chairman of the committee, with R. E. Beckham and W. T. Shaw his assistants.

H. B. McGar was appointed on the membership committee, and R. R. Keith on the cemetery committee, to fill the vacancy on both these committees caused by the death of Duke Goodman.

W. E. Jones of Indian Territory and Mr. Iveson of Georgia were introduced to the camp. They have recently moved to Fort Worth.

Colonel Wynne referred to the first Sunday in March as being memorial day and urged that every member of the camp be on hand to commemorate, in some way, the deeds of departed members.

Commander Taylor appointed Messrs. McNeely, Terrell, Abston and Cummings a committee to report resolutions at the next meeting on the death of John B. Simpson, who died recently in Dallas as the result of an accident.

General B. B. Paddock, commanding the Fifth Brigade, United Confederate Veterans, has appointed H. L. Abston an aide de camp on his staff, with the rank of captain, effective from Jan. 1, 1905.

Captain Abston will have supervision over the camps at Burleson, Fort Worth, Mansfield, Arlington, Grapevine and Keller.

If you are thinking of building see Donaldson, it will pay you.

When a witness in an English court the other day remarked that it was necessary to sit on a horse's head when he was down to keep him quiet the judge replied: "Nothing of the kind. People don't seem to understand that the only thing necessary is to get hold of his ear and keep his nose up in the air. I have seen a lady keep a horse quiet in that way without soiling her gloves."

NEW LINE AIMS AT EXPORT GRAIN

Transcontinental Successfully Financed and Will Open Its Headquarters at Dallas

General headquarters of the transcontinental railroad that is being projected by Colonel E. S. Steger of Bonham and John N. Simpson of Dallas, will be established in Dallas soon.

This road is to run from Duluth to the gulf coast, possibly Galveston. This enterprise is being financed by French capitalists, and Colonel Steger who has just returned to this country from Paris where he went to confer with those who are backing the new road, states that a general conference of the monied interests, both in this country and in France, will soon be held at Dallas, possibly within the next thirty days, and that immediately thereafter actual work on the road is to begin.

The recent trip to France by Colonel Steger settled the fact that the road is to be constructed. He went there to lay the project before those who are to furnish the money for building the line, and a report that he now makes, while reticent in many of the details, indicates that he was successful in his efforts to interest sufficient capital to insure the building of the road from Duluth to the gulf coast.

When built the new road will be one of the greatest lines in this country and will be a power in the transportation of the great grain traffic to the gulf for export. It is the purpose of the projectors to make the road an airline and no expense will be spared in an effort to reduce the mileage and make it the most direct route to tidewater.

YOAKUM COMING TO TEXAS

Will Personally Look After Projects Involving Large Expenditure

The announcement is made that after Feb. 1 J. M. Gruber, who was formerly a stenographer for the Santa Fe at Galveston, will become general manager of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy.

Mr. Gruber is well known in Texas railroad circles and his rapid promotion is the subject of much favorable comment.

GRAIN RATES CUT

Gould Campaign Met by Lines Using Eastern Ports

The fight being waged by the Gould lines to secure the grain traffic from the northwest for export via gulf seaports, has induced the eastern seaport lines to reduce the rates from 15 to 13 1/2 cents.

There is every reason to believe that rate-cutting will be most pronounced in years.

MEXICAN CONSOLIDATION

Central Reported to Have Closed Deal Opening New Territory

It is reported here that the Coahuila and Pacific road will pass into control of the Mexican Central company on August 1. A rumor to this effect has been going the rounds for some months. The Central, it is said, has adopted this method of getting into Saltillo, as the Coahuila and Pacific tracks extend from Torreon to that place.

It is further stated that the Central will build a connecting line from General Cepeda Station, on the Coahuila and Pacific to Paredon, a station on the Monterey division of the Central, not far from Monterey. If this is done the Central will be able to handle freight from Monterey and point south to Saltillo, and all places on the Coahuila and Pacific, the line from Paredon to General Cepeda making the route a piece shorter one than via Torreon.

POLL TAX PAYMENTS MADE

Citizens Have Until 9 O'clock Tuesday Night in Which to Qualify as Voters

County Collector Walker states that up to the close of his office Saturday there had been a total issuance of 6,988 poll tax receipts, including exemptions, which is 3,000 less than it was for last year.

CANTAB-A IN ARROW BRAND

QUARTER SIZES, 15c. EACH; 2 FOR 25c. OLIVETT, PEABODY & CO., BAKERS OF OLIVETT AND BORDEN BREADS

has been paid 3,323 polls, making a total voting strength in the city to date of 3,590. Including the exemptions there is to date a total voting strength in both the city and the county 6,828. These figures will be materially increased as a rush to the collector's office will no doubt be made today and Tuesday which is the last opportunity voters will have to qualify.

Those who wish to pay their polls can do so as late as 9 o'clock Tuesday night, as both the offices of Collectors Walker and Gilvin will remain open until that hour.

The registration up to Saturday night at various county precincts is as follows: Glenwood 128, Manchester Mills 76, Handley 97, Forest Hill 41, Prairie Chapel 33, Brooklyn Heights 19, Arlington Heights 27, Marine 339, Saginaw 27, Riverside 83, White Settlement 29, Benbrook 47, Leonard Store 22, Crowley 90, Oak Grove 34, Enon 62, Arlington 344, Johnson Station 58, Little 64, Kennedale 61, Sublett 67, Webb 52, Britton 48, Mansfield 248, Rendon 64, Grapevine 278, Eules 82, Bedford 109, Branford 116, Dove 71, Keller 138, Smithfield 102, Birdville 77, Haslet 25, Dido 39, Wayside 18, Azle 120, Montgomery 40. Total 3,328.

It is said that there are in the neighborhood of 250 more certificates issued by the county than the number issued by the city.

In order to be able to vote in the city it is imperative that Fort Worth voters hold a certificate from both the county and city. This is a point that probably has been overlooked.

FROM HUMBLE PEASANT LAD TO MOST-FEARED MAN IN RUSSIA

History of Father George Gopon, Leader Workingmen's Forces, Reads Like Romance. Woman Gave Him His Inspiration—Government Afraid to Take Him Prisoner—Now in Sweden While Recovering from Wounds

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 29.—The hour has produced the man. Out of the vast multitude of those clamoring for humanity's inalienable rights; clamoring without being heard, has risen one man whose voice rings out clear as a clarion call above the turbulent voices of a rebellious nation; above the walls of autocracy, muled of its power, and this one man is Father Gopon, the village priest.

Who heard of him outside of Russia until these few days of turmoil? Who, even in Russia, believed him capable of gathering under one flag all the conflicting elements which have now been combined into one vast army? The names of strike leaders, of agitators, of true friends of the people, the name of Troubetzkoi, the liberal prince; of Sviatopolk-Mirski, the liberal minister; of Witte, "the son of the times"; of Tolstoy even, the hope of the peasants, have been forgotten, and on the lips of all is the name of Gopon.

GREEK CHURCH CAST HIM OUT.—The metropolitan of St. Petersburg, the Most Holy Antonius, has pronounced an anathema over him, and accursed him and consigned his soul to perdition for all times—and yet, wonderful to say, the word the Greek Catholic church would lose every devotee in the vast throng over which he holds unbridled sway.

He has been arrested by an official inspector of police, but the government ordered his immediate release. His removal from St. Petersburg has been demanded by the most influential and powerful manufacturers and business men of Russia's capital city, but Minister of Finance Kokovtsov absolutely refused to act upon the suggestion.

It is wonderful that Father Gopon has so far been as a sacred person to the authorities, despite his bitter determination to go or die. More wonderful indeed is the influence he wields over the striking cohorts.

PEOPLE UNDER HIS BANNER.—Among them are those whose patience has been described as "intolerably pathetic," but whose patience at last worn out, and whose instinct of obedience has at last failed; those who have ever described assassination and rebellion as the only means to save Russia; those who work with the smooth engine of intrigue and the weapon of the infernal machine placed at the dead of night under the houses of peaceful sleepers; and those who have written upon their banners the magic word, "enlightenment," and are willing to die and fight in its glorious cause. All these, and all their leaders, stand ready today at the beck and call of a simple clergyman.

AND WHENCE THIS MAN? He was born 25 years ago in an insignificant village in the government of Poltava, South Russia. The son of two peasants, Poltava is among the blessed regions of the Russian empire. The soil is rich, and on its level surface grows every grain known to the country, and vast herds find healthy grazing in its juicy grass. Kief, Ekaterinoslav and other big cities of the vicinity offer splendid markets for the crops and even the poorest, even he who is ridden by the tithing system, enjoys prosperity and a life unknown to the peasants of poorer sections of the country.

A BOY WITH BRAINS.—There young Gopon passed the days of his youth herding the geese and swine of the nobleman who had tilled the soil by his father. All sorts of anecdotes are told about him today; now that he stands as the beacon light upon the mountain of Russia's great hour. So much is certain, though, that he displayed remarkable ability and mental capacity even as a boy, for the sons of Russian peasants are not sent to school and selected for the priesthood unless their brow bears the stamp of genius. So it came about that well-to-do folks living in the village became interested in the boy and sent him to school and afterward to a seminary, where he studied for the priesthood. While in the latter institution the spirit of unrest began to move within him. The peasants had grown dear to his heart and he had learned that, poor though the friends of his childhood may have been, they were rich compared with their brethren in sorrow in other parts of the land. He had read Tolstoy's pleadings for the peasantry as other students had read their bible and litany. Finally, when he had reached the highest class in the seminary he insisted on discussing with his fellow students and with agitators the material conditions of the peasantry. As a result he was summoned before the faculty and warned. But he refused to heed the admonition and finally his expulsion came.

FATHER GEORGE GOPON

This picture of Father Gopon from a photograph of him taken several years ago is the first authentic likeness of the remarkable Russian Priest published in Texas.

THEN HE MET HIS AFFINITY.—Free from the trammels of the educational institution, he immediately turned his attention to the work which he had mapped out for himself as his life task. He became clerk to the local zemstvo and as such became intimately acquainted with all the powers and limitations of that secular institution. He found that there was little chance for him to accomplish his ends by remaining associated with the Poltava zemstvo, and for a time the path became dark and uncertain before him. Then he met his affinity.

She was a young socialist, earnest beyond her years and inspired with her cause. Those who know Gopon and the woman who made him what he is today, say that there was no word of love spoken between them. They were far too serious for the frivolous play of Cupid. However, under her guidance, he regained his firm step. She showed him that power and influence were necessary for the achievement of his ends and hers. As a poor man, without friends, without position, he could get neither.

"Become a priest," she said, "and do with the cross what you cannot do with the sword."

HE BEGAN TO PREACH.—Gopon took his advice. His expulsion from the seminary made it impossible for him to have a general pastorate, but he was finally permitted to enter the priesthood under limitations and to preach wherever he could find a flock willing to listen. For several years he preached the gospel of "the Liberator." Then he became restless under the restraint of the narrow pathway which the preacher must go, and he wrote a book on the so-called Christian socialism, in which he poured out all the storming thoughts which coursed through his brain. The government, feeling the seductive power of the work, suppressed it.

Then it was that Father Gopon conceived the plan that was to make him leader. He was not a socialist in the political sense of the word. He realized that the masses were not ripe for the higher socialism as he understood it. He also saw that farmhands, the country, with its patient plowers, offered him no sphere of influence.

AS A RADICAL LEADER.—So he came to St. Petersburg and assumed the mask of a radical. Here he gained the confidence of the workers. Slowly and with infinite patience he made his aims clear to them. That not bloodshed would free them, but reason; that the days of the intrigue were over, and that the time had come for open, honest talk with his tocsin. And when they had finally accepted him to such an extent that his name became a household word, he stepped out into the open and said: "Now I will lead you."

Father Gopon is tall, slender and sinewy. His cheeks are pale and his large, steel-blue eyes are those of a dreamer. His long brown beard flows down upon the cross on his breast. As he walks through the streets his stride is that of a leader of men; as he speaks to his people his voice is soft. But when he mounts the platform and addresses those who would follow, his whole being seems transformed and the fire of holy exaltation pours from his lips. Father Gopon is now said to be in Sweden, having escaped there after being wounded during the recent disorders in St. Petersburg.

Rosen Heights Building Open Despite Shortage of Funds—Citizens Claim $600 Still Due

Studies at the Rosen Heights school were continued as usual today, despite the announcement of last week that the school fund had been exhausted. Citizens of Rosen Heights say they still have about $500 of the state and county school fund on hand and that the school will be conducted on this as far as possible. "If necessary," said Dr. C. O. Crenshaw, a citizen of Rosen Heights, this morning, "we will levy a special tax on the citizens and keep the school open in this way. We are of the opinion that we have considerable funds due us from the county and state and we will have our attorney, J. W. Stitt, investigate the matter thoroughly. Whatever may be the condition of funds, however, the school will be kept open even if a special tax is necessary."

BILLY WILLIAMS' LIFE

Will Form Topic of Lecture at City Hall Tonight

All arrangements have been completed for the lecture to be given at the city hall tonight by Billy Williams on his experiences before the footlights. Billy Williams, who has been in this city for several months, is perhaps the most popular minstrel in the south. Winner of the world's championship in dancing of all sorts, hero of the Memphis yellow fever plague and a successful performer before a fickle public for a score of years, his experiences promise an interesting lecture. The following is the committee having the entertainment in charge: T. J. Powell, who will announce Mr. Williams; W. H. Gray, assisted by K. C. Maddox; Rev. Father Guyot, Rev. Father McKeough, Rev. E. B. Ramage, James O'Dowd, Martin Lavin, Jacob Washer, A. S. Dinger, B. B. Paddock, A. M. McElwee, Dr. M. V. Creagan, George H. Colvin, Joseph Wheat, J. E. Mitchell, Bert Crago, F. H. D. Snodgrass, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the district court to be held in and for the county of Tarrant, at the court house thereof, in the city of Fort Worth, on the second Monday in February, A. D. 1905, the same being the 15th day of said month, then and there to answer the petition of R. Vickers as plaintiff, filed in said court on the 14th day of January, A. D. 1905, against J. D. Snodgrass as defendant. Said suit being numbered 23658, the nature of which demand is follows, to-wit: That on the 1st day of November, 1901, plaintiff conveyed to defendant, J. D. Snodgrass, part of blocks Nos. 54 and 55 of Glenwood addition to city of Fort Worth, Texas, being 64 feet north and south by 500 feet east and west of the southeast corner of block No. 54, and a strip 17 1/2 by 500 feet off the north side of block No. 55, as part consideration for said conveyance said Snodgrass executed and delivered to plaintiff his certain promissory note for the sum of $215, bearing 8 per cent interest, payable quarterly, payable in monthly installments of $10 each, beginning Dec. 1, 1901, said note being secured by a vendor's lien upon said above described premises. Said note also provides for 10 per cent additional if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection. That plaintiff has demanded the payment of said note, but the same remains due and unpaid, except the sum of $130; that the balance due now is the sum of $83.05, together with $93.00 interest, and plaintiff prays for judgment for said amount and for foreclosure of his vendor's lien on said premises, and general and special relief. Herein fail not, but have you then and there before said court, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

WITNESS, Jno. A. Martin, clerk of the district court of Tarrant county. Given under my hand and seal of said court in Fort Worth, this 16th day of January, A. D. 1905. JNO. A. MARTIN, Clerk District Court, Tarrant County, Texas. By M. H. HARDIN, Deputy.

OFFENSIVE CATARRH I suffered for a long time with a bad case of Catarrh, and took a great deal of medicine without any benefit. I had a continual headache, my cheeks had grown purple, my nose was always stopped up, my breath had a sickening and disgusting odor, and I coughed incessantly. I heard of your S. S. S. and wrote you. I commenced to use it, and after taking several bottles I was cured and have never since had the slightest symptom of the disease. MISS MARY L. STORM, Cor. 7th & Felix Sts., St. Joseph, Mo. Wheeling, W. Va., May 29, 1903. I had Nasal Catarrh for years for which I used S. S. S. with very gratifying results. I tried local applications for some time, and getting no permanent relief I came to the conclusion that the seat of the trouble was in the blood. Knowing S. S. S. to be a good blood medicine I began its use, and after using it for some little while it did away entirely with the offensive mucus in the nostrils, and I did not have to hawk and spit, especially in the morning, to dislodge the catarrhal matter. 1679 South St. FRID H. PRESSKY. The filthy secretions and foul mucus that are continually dropping back into the throat, and find their way into the stomach and are absorbed into the blood. Catarrh then becomes constitutional, and the only way to get rid of it is through the blood. Write us if you have Catarrh, and our physicians will advise you without charge. REVENUE HEARING TO CLOSE SOON

House Committee Now Nearly Through Listening to Arguments on Taxation

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 30.—The house committee on revenue and taxation expects to conclude its hearing of corporate interest today or tomorrow, at the very latest, and the committee will then be in a position to consider the manner of taxation bills that they will report to the house for its consideration.

The railroad interests are concerned. It is not known exactly when the committee will make a report to the house upon this very momentous matter, but it will likely take them the remainder of the week to properly draft a bill that will suit all the committee inasmuch as there is evidently a difference of opinion among the members as to some provisions of the bill now pending before them upon the question of intangible tax especially.

While the house is waiting upon a report from this committee and the finance committee, which by the way, will not be ready for several weeks yet, the members will be given an opportunity to consider other bills and do no little badly needed committee work. As might be expected, much of the time up to the present has been put in in committee work, and there is yet much labor confronting them in that line.

The senate is working away at first one thing and the other, waiting upon the more important matters of legislation, while it is expected to give much time and no little discussion to the anti-free pass bill this week, it is expected that they will find time to take action on other measures as well, though nothing very startling is promised in either the house or senate during the coming week, and if it arises it will be as a result of later developments.

RUSSIANS QUIET AFTER REPULSE

No Further Operations on the Shakhe River Since Japanese Victory

TOKIO, Jan. 30, 1:30 a. m.—Russian activity on the Shakhe river seemed to have ceased after the fights at Chenchi-po and Helkoupai, where the Japanese were victorious. The object of the operations is not clearly understood here, but it is suggested that the Japanese either intended to turn the Japanese left and move a heavy force down west of the Liao river, or were seeking to divert attention from some projected operation against the Japanese right.

It is reported that the weather is warmer since Jan. 25, but it is still extremely cold, so that it is impossible to expose the troops at night.

The Tokio press expresses the opinion that General Kurapatkin either ordered the movement to divert attention from the domestic conditions in Russia or that he had planned to make a fight before Field Marshal Oyama had been heavily reinforced.

Manchurian army headquarters, telegraphing yesterday, says: "There has been no great change in the direction of our right and center armies since the night of Jan. 28, except constant collisions between reconnoitering parties. In the direction of the right, the Japanese keep up a slow but constant cannonade."

"The enemy's main body at Chenchi-po and Helkoupai seems to have retreated in the direction of Nelyupao, which is two miles west and under Sinfangtai. At a point ten miles northwest of Chantang the enemy fell many dead."

The details of the fighting at Chenchi-po and Helkoupai have not yet been reported.

House Committee Now Nearly Through Listening to Arguments on Taxation

One Home in Five

Has Someone Cured by Liquozone. Won't You Try It—Free?

We judge from our records that one home in five, the country over, has someone whom Liquozone has cured. Some have been cured of little ills; some know that their lives have been saved by it.

These homes are scattered everywhere. Your neighbors and friends live in some of them. If you will only ask about Liquozone there are plenty to tell you about it. It is wrong to stay sick with a germ disease while millions know that Liquozone can cure it.

And any sick one, anywhere, may try it at our expense. We will gladly buy the first bottle—a 50c bottle—and give it to any sick one free. You don't need to rely on those who were cured by it. You may test it, without a penny of cost, for yourself.

What Liquozone Is. Liquozone is a product which in the past two years has sprung into worldwide use in the treatment of germ diseases. It is now used by the sick of nine nations; by physicians and hospitals everywhere. It is constantly used in millions of homes in America.

The virtues of Liquozone are derived solely from gas, made in large part from the best oxygen producers. No drugs, no alcohol, nothing but this gas enters into it. The process of making takes fourteen days, and requires immense apparatus. At the end of two weeks we get one cubic inch of Liquozone for each 1,250 cubic inches of gas used.

The main result is, to get into a liquid, not into the blood, a powerful, yet harmless germicide. And the product is so helpful—so good for you under any circumstances—that even a well person feels its instant benefit.

We Paid $100,000. For the American rights to Liquozone, and the rights in other countries have sold for proportionate sums. We mention this fact to indicate the value of Liquozone—the value to you. Men have never before paid such a price for any discovery used in the cure of sickness.

We need not tell you that we proved Liquozone well before buying it. For years it was tested through physicians and hospitals, in this country and others. It was employed in every stage of every germ disease; in all the most difficult cases obtainable. With thousands of sick ones, considered incurable, we proved that it did what medicine could not do. But, and then only, did we pay the price.

Since then we have spent nearly $2,000,000 to make Liquozone known. We have bought the first bottle and given it free to every sick one we learned of. These people told others, and the others told others. The result is that Liquozone is now more widely employed than any medicine ever was. And no one can doubt that it is doing more for sick humanity than all the drugs in use combined.

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases; all due to germs or to the poisons which germs create. These are the diseases to which medicine does not apply, for drugs cannot kill inside germs.

All that medicine can do for these troubles is to act as a tonic, aiding Nature to overcome the germs. These results are indirect and uncertain, depending on the patient's condition. A cure is always doubtful when drugs are used, and some of these diseases medicine never cures.

Liquozone alone can destroy the cause of these troubles. It goes wherever the blood goes, so that no germ can escape it. The results are almost inevitable. Diseases which have resisted medicine for years yield at once to Liquozone. "Incurable" diseases are cured by it. In any stage of any disease in this list the results are so certain that we gladly send to any patient who asks it an absolute guaranty.

Liquozone is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. Yet it is not only harmless but of wonderful benefit—better than anything else in the world for you. No one is so well that he cannot be helped by it.

The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetable matter. To the human body Liquozone is exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying—the most needful, the most helpful thing possible. But to germs it is certain destruction; and these facts are true of nothing else in existence.

Russian Transport Started Baltic Fleet Incident by Blunder

PARIS, Jan. 30.—The international commission inquiring into the North sea incident, at its session today, heard two witnesses, Captain Johnson and Mate Strenberg of the boat Aldebaran. They both testified that a few hours preceding the firing on the British trawlers by the Russian squadron their boat was wrecked in the North sea by a strange warship, which fired many shots at the Aldebaran, but did not do very serious damage.

Counsel for Russia protested that this testimony was not directly connected with the North sea incident, but Admiral Fourrier, president of the commission, ruled that the testimony was admissible.

Hugh Oberine, the British agent, said the strange vessel was the transport Kamchatka, which mistook the Swedish craft for a torpedo boat. Mr. Oberine further declared that the Kamchatka afterwards sent a wireless message to Vice Admiral Rojstevsky, notifying him that she had been attacked by a torpedo boat, and that Rojstevsky thereupon ordered his squadron to be on the lookout for the torpedo boat.

AMERICAN SCHEDULE FIXED

President Ban Johnson Completes American League Playing List. Season Opens April 21.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—After a long conference here with H. C. Pulliam, president of the National League, Ban Johnson, president of the American League, has practically fixed up the playing schedule for the coming season. President Johnson arrived from Washington where he succeeded in effecting the sale of the American League club in that city to local capitalists.

"I have gone over the schedule with President Pulliam," he said, "and everything will be satisfactory. There will be only five conflicting dates in this city, as against eleven last year. The New York Americans will open the season on April 14 at Washington and will come back here to open American League Park on April 21, a week later. The season will close Oct. 8. This will leave only seven days for the playing of the world series. As far as the demands of the minor leagues are concerned, the American League will never accept the proposition they have submitted."

The schedule meeting of the American League will be held in this city Feb. 20 and that of the National League either on that date or Feb. 15.

LETTER TO ELLISON FURNITURE CO. Dear Sirs: There are two sorts of furniture. You know both; for you sell 'em both. One sort looks better than it is, and the other is better than it looks. There isn't any other sort.

The same, two sorts of paint, no more; and we make 'em both—we make tons of stuff that isn't worth its freight. Belongs to the business—have 'em. Belongs to your business—you have 'em.

But this is aside. We put into cans, with our name on, the very best paint there is in the world; Devoe lead-and-zinc. It takes fewer gallons than mixed paint, and it wears twice as long as lead-and-oll.

Mr. C. O. Brown, Columbia, S. C. painted his house with Devoe lead-and-zinc. The painter, on seeing the quantity sent to the house, said there wasn't enough. There were ten gallons left, when the job was done.

RUSSIAN SUCCESS ADMITTED

Dispatch from General Sakharoff Says Russians Retired. ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 30, 12:25 a. m.—A dispatch of confirmation of Saturday night's report that General Kurapatkin had broken through the Japanese left, came Lieutenant General Sakharoff's official admission today that the Russians had been compelled to retire from Sandepo and to their winter quarters.

It is also significant that dispatches from Russian correspondents at the front have suddenly ceased, which is regarded as an indication of the failure of the operation and strengthens the first impression that it was a demonstration undertaken to distract the people at home from the political situation.

RUSSIA REPEATS CHARGES. Reasserts that China has Violated Neutrality Laws. BERLIN, Jan. 30.—The Russian government's reply to China's declaration she has not infringed her neutrality nor permitted Japan to do so is the reassertion that she has done so. The Russian note, which was communicated to the press Saturday, gives specifications of what is affirmed to be a violation of neutrality, but the tone of the reply is such that it is inferred that Russia is not likely to carry the discussion much further.

It is learned here that Russia has found that all powers, particularly Germany, hold views identical with those of the United States on limiting the zone of war and keeping China out of it.

Erath County Sheriff Makes Arrest Near Waco. WACO, Texas, Jan. 30.—Sheriff W. M. Creswell of Erath county, has left here with Jasper Price, wanted on a charge of incest and under indictment. Creswell has followed Price over three states in the past year, locating him near Waco. The crime is alleged to have been committed a year ago.

NEW INDUSTRY STARTED

Company Chartered and Buys Land to Raise Chickens and Hogs. Prominent citizens of Fort Worth, including Stuart Harrison, William Capps, B. L. Waggaman, William D. Williams, W. H. Smith and J. H. Thrasher, have organized a company known as the Fort Worth Blooded Stock Company, and will engage in raising fine cattle, poultry and hogs on property west of the city, near Arlington Heights.

The company at present has about 300 acres in cultivation and has purchased an additional 125 acres from the Alliance Trust Company of St. Louis. The price paid being $22,000 cash. William Capps, one of the directors, stated this morning that the company had not decided upon all future plans, but that fine poultry and Berkshire hogs will be bred.

SMALL POX STOPS MAILED

Disease in Postoffice Building at Hartzo Under Control and Removal of Ban Expected.

Smallpox has caused the discontinuance of mail service to Hartzo, in East Texas. Delivery of mail at that point has been ordered stopped until it is demonstrated that proper steps have been taken to prevent spread of the disease through the mail.

The smallpox epidemic at that place is not serious, the order being issued because of the fact that the disease appeared in the postoffice building. Reports received at headquarters of the railway mail service this morning show that the smallpox is under control, and it is expected the ban will be removed in a few days.

CATTLEMEN TO MOVE HERE

John W. Lovelady of Colorado City, one of the most prominent cattlemen in the state, has announced that he will move to this city. No home here has yet been secured by Mr. Lovelady, but he expects to secure suitable property within a few days. Advantages in watching the market more closely are responsible for his determination to move here.

ANTI-RUSSIAN MOB SCATTERED BY POLICE

Crowd of Fifteen Hundred in Demonstration at Office of Russian Consul in New York. NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—After a meeting in the Academy of Music which was addressed by John Dewitt Warner and others, 1,500 men and women sympathizers with Russian freedom who had been in the theater, marched to the Russian consul's office in Broad street, singing the "Marseillaise" and shouting revolutionary slogans.

A great demonstration took place in front of the academy where the crowd poured into the street. Cries of "down with the autocrats" and "kill the czar" were heard. Then some one suggested that the crowd form in line and march to the Russian consul's office.

This program was enthusiastically agreed upon and soon a line of excited men and women extended for blocks along Fourteenth street. They marched to the East side, shouting and singing as they went. A few policemen on the route tried to disperse the marchers but were powerless. Every one in the sections through which the paraders passed

WEDDINGS

SOWELL-WHITE. The marriage of W. L. Sowell and Miss Magale White, both of Dallas, was celebrated Saturday evening by Rev. Luther Little at the home of Mrs. Willie Montgomery, 915 South Main street.

Among the most serious effects to the commerce of the city is the vast amount of ice that is floating down the rivers with tides, only to float back again and pack the ferry slips and docks. River pilots estimate that a few more days of freezing weather may tie up ordinary shipping.

SECOND DISTRICT RESULT CONTESTED. A. J. Houston, Republican Candidate, Files Exception to Returns Giving M. L. Brooks 8,000 Majority. BEAUMONT, Texas, Jan. 30.—It was announced here this morning that A. J. Houston, republican candidate for county in the Second District, had filed notice in Washington to contest the election of M. L. Brooks, the democratic nominee, who was awarded the certificate of election. The grounds for the contest cannot be learned. The fact of the returns showed Brooks' election by more than eight thousand majority.

It is proposed by the German government to raise the peace strength of the army to 500,000 privates corporals and lance-corporals. The military estimates show an increase of nearly $20,000,000.

THE SOUTHWESTERN TELEGRAPH AND TELEPHONE COMPANY. was aroused. When the crowd reached No. 68 Broad street they stood in front of the office of the Russian consul for half an hour singing the "Marseillaise."

Finally a policeman appeared and tried to drive them away. They said they would remain until the Russian consul came out. When the policeman told them that No. 68 Broad street was only the office of the consul and that he lived in another part of the city they were bitterly disappointed.

"He used to live at No. 17 State street," shouted some of the paraders. They marched to that house, not far away, and made another demonstration. By this time four policemen had arrived and attacked the crowd with their sticks. The mob did not disband but it became more orderly. Still singing and shouting they marched back to Park Row and up the Bowery to their homes on the East side.

BRAKEMAN BRUSHED FROM MOVING TRAIN. R. L. Harkleroad Struck by Post and Severely Injured on Belt Line Sunday Morning.

R. L. Harkleroad, a switchman on the Belt railway, was seriously injured early Sunday morning, being knocked from a freight train upon which he was working. The accident occurred just east of the packing plant of Armour & Co. Harkleroad was standing on a ladder leading to the top of the car when he was struck by a post near the track. He was picked up unconscious and conveyed to his home at 419 Rusk street, North Fort Worth. Examination showed that his knee, back and shoulder were badly bruised, and it is feared he may be injured internally. Today he is reported as resting easy.
