FEAR MAKES IMPERIAL FAMILY VIRTUAL PRISONERS

Only Hope of Safety Seems to Be in Remaining Behind Palace Walls—Foreign Rulers Send Messages of Sympathy

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 18, 11:05 a. m.—An oppression like the shadow of doom seems to be hanging over the Russian capital. Bells are tolling and the people in the streets are awe-struck at yesterday's bloody crime. Every one seems to shrink before the contemplation of what may happen next. The tragedy struck deep in the heart of the perplexed and tried emperor, and many who were unsparring in their criticism yesterday today have only expressions of sympathy for his unhappy lot.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 18.—The father of the fight on the Standard Oil octopus is Senator S. M. Porter of Caney, Kan. He figured that the state uses 1,000 barrels of oil per day, and that the octopus was exacting an unjust profit of $2 per barrel, besides robbing the oil producers. So his bill, calling for an oil refinery in the heart of the oil fields, named by convicts, to cost $200,000, was born.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—One of the most audacious of the many recent robberies in this city, occurred in the Bronx early today, when a highwayman attacked Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cornish in front of their home, snatched a $5,000 diamond brooch from Mrs. Cornish's throat, fired two bullets through the clothing of Cornish when he remonstrated and then escaped, after an exciting race with the policemen, in which several shots were exchanged, but so far as known without effect.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 18.—Ed Dunn, one of the suspected Lebanon bank robbers, has been identified by a colored Pullman car porter as one of the men who held up and robbed the passengers in the Pullman coach attached to the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company train several weeks ago.

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 18.—Definite announcement has been made of the coming of President Roosevelt to Houston, on Wednesday, April 1. He will arrive at 9 o'clock in the morning and will remain until about 2 p. m. He will be met by a citizens' reception committee and escorted from his special train to the auditorium, where he will deliver the only address of length that will be heard in Texas.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The Hon. Arthur Reginald French, eldest son and heir to the title and estates of Baron De Froyne, a large land owner in County Roscommon, Ireland, who arrived here Jan. 16 and was reported yesterday to the police as having mysteriously disappeared from his hotel, is at Fort Slocum, on David's Island, near New Rochelle, wearing the uniform of a private in the United States army. On the day of his disappearance French enlisted at a recruiting station in this city and was assigned to the Eighteenth regiment. He came to America to visit his uncle, Captain William French, who owns a ranch in New Mexico. Having telegraphed his relatives and received no reply the young man decided to take up army life of which he is very fond.

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 18.—Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of Christian Science, in a signed statement gives her idea of heaven:

"Is heaven spiritual? Heaven is spiritual, heaven is harmony, infinite, boundless bliss. The dying or the departed enter heaven in proportion to their progress, fitness, to partake of its quality and quantity. One individual may awaken first from his dream of life in matter with a sense of music; another with that of relief from fear or suffering; and still another with a bitter sense of lost opportunities and remorse. Heaven is the reign of divine science. Material thought tends to obscure spiritual understanding, to darken the true conception of man's divine principle, love, wherein and whereby soul is emancipated and environed with everlasting life. Our great Teacher hath said: 'Behold, the kingdom of God is within you,' within man's spiritual understanding of all the divine modes, means, forms, expression or manifestation of goodness and happiness."

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Robert S. Stangland, captain of last season's Columbia football team and a member of the varsity track team, who was to run in the Columbia-Cornell relay race at Buffalo, Feb. 25, has been declared by his physician definitely withdrawn from all engagements in athletics of any nature. Stangland is stated to be suffering from an enlargement of the heart, and though his condition is not critical, any excessive exercise would tend to increase the trouble to a dangerous point.

ENGINEERS READY FOR GREENE ROAD

Vanguard of the Construction Army to Develop Northern Mexico Fields Arrives

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 18.—The vanguard of the invasion of men and money which Colonel W. C. Greene will pour into Mexico, have already arrived here and preparations are being made to begin work on the first of Colonel Greene's various enterprises in which he is to invest the total sum of $50,000,000 of American capital.

The party of scientists, engineers and railway builders in the party are under the escort of R. J. Hartman, assistant to the president of the Rio Grande, Sierra Madre and Pacific railroad, which was recently purchased by the Greene interests. Professor Robert T. Hill, formerly of the United States geological survey, is at the head of the exploring party, and around him are many distinguished men. They will devote their energies to a thorough examination and report on the resources of the territory now under the control of the Greene company.

The first work of the party will be the construction of an additional line to the Sierra Madre from Terrasas to Dierdrick, a distance of 150 miles. This line will open up a vast mineral, timber and agricultural country and will be of immense value to the Greene interests, as the concession for the development is in their hands. The work of constructing this road, which is to be finished by Nov. 1, will be a great undertaking as it runs through mountainous country for a large part of the way.

J. H. Frick of Kansas City, who had the supervision of the construction of the Rock Island line from Kansas City to St. Louis, is with the Greene party, and will have full charge of this construction, which will cost $4,000,000.

Colonel Greene has concessions for the extension of his road to the coast through the rich territory of Sonora, and this work will also be pushed through steadily.

TEXAS RAILROAD DEAL

Kansas City Southern Reported After Gulf Connection

A dispatch from Galveston to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat states that the Kansas City Southern has secured control of the Orange and Northwestern railroad extending 150 miles from Orange through the pine forests and rice section of East Texas and has closed a deal for the Gulf and Interstate road, a seventy-five mile line from Galveston to Beaumont. The dispatch further states that a connection will be built eighteen miles from Beaumont to Orange, and this gives the Kansas City Southern a commanding position in the oil, timber and rice industries of East Texas and makes the plans of the Frisco, which proposed building into Beaumont and taking over the Orange and Northwestern. The deal includes the building of docks at Bolivar, opposite Galveston, which gives the Kansas City Southern terminals at Galveston and Port Arthur, independent of any other railway.

TO PROMOTE HARMONY

Dissemination of Suits the Object of Recent Meeting

To allay the general antipathy of the public against the railroads of the state and to bring about a more friendly feeling in the minds of the people, the recent meeting of the general managers of the Texas lines was held in Fort Worth. While the statement was given out by one of those who sat in the meeting that matters referring to the miscellaneous pass question was the topic discussed, another cause is now learned to have been the cause for the meeting.

It is well known that there has been considerable bad feeling existing between the railroads of the state and the various commercial and industrial interests, as has been shown for several years in the large number of damages suits instituted against the railroad companies. It is to allay this condition of affairs that last Thursday's meeting of railroad managers was held.

Former Governor Sayre, who was called in by the general managers to view the situation from a legal standpoint, will soon prepare a statement to be given the public regarding the final action taken by the meeting.

The London police have a rule that allows the officers a chance to go into hiding whenever they get a black eye in the course of duty. If it is not a serious one they are allowed to do night duty.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

THOUSANDS OF MEN AND WOMEN HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND NEVER SUSPECT IT

To Prove What the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root, Will Do for YOU, Every Reader of The Telegram May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Absolutely Free by Mail

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected, and how every organ seems to fall to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys begin to get better they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

I was out of health and run down generally; had no appetite, was dizzy and suffered with headache most of the time. I did not know that my kidneys were the cause of my trouble, but somehow felt that they might be, and I began taking Swamp-Root. There is such a pleasant taste to Swamp-Root, and it goes right to the spot and drives disease out of the system. I have cured me, making me stronger and better in every way, and I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers.

Gratefully yours, MRS. A. L. WALKER, 351 East Linden St., Atlanta, Ga.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for many kinds of diseases, and if permitted to continue, much suffering and fatal results are sure to follow. Kidney trouble irritates the nerves, makes you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable. Makes you pass water often during the day and obliges you to get up many times during the night. Unhealthy kidneys cause rheumatism, gravel, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints and muscles; make your head ache and back ache, cause indigestion, stomach and liver trouble, you get a sallow, yellow complexion, make you feel as though you had heart trouble; you may have plenty of ambition, but no strength; get weak and waste away.

The cure for these troubles is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the world-famous kidney remedy. In taking Swamp-Root you afford natural help to Nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that is known to medical science.

How to Find Out If there is any doubt in your mind as to your condition, take from your urine on rising about four ounces, place in a glass or bottle and let it stand twenty-four hours. If on examination it is milky or cloudy, if there is a brick-dust settling, or if small particles float about in it, your kidneys are in need of immediate attention.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is used in the leading hospitals, recommended by physicians in their private practice, and is taken by doctors themselves who have kidney ailments, because they recognize in it the greatest and most successful remedy for kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

EDITORIAL NOTE—So successful is Swamp-Root in promptly curing even the most distressing cases of kidney, liver or bladder troubles, that to prove its wonderful merits you may have a sample bottle and a book of valuable information, both sent absolutely free by mail. The book contains many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women cured. The value and success of Swamp-Root is so well known that our readers are advised to send for a sample bottle. In sending your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say you read this generous offer in the Fort Worth Daily Telegram. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

PIANOS FREE!

And Hundreds of Other Prizes If You Can Count These Rings Correctly

A Home Magazine Published by Home People—The Contest Will Soon Close

American Home Journal friends, both young and old, have taken up the work and unite in the verdict that this is the greatest prize offered by any southern magazine. It is a very simple thing. A child can understand that there is no "catch" in the proposition. It simply means that every one who counts the rings correctly, and sends sixty cents along with their count, will get the American Home Journal one year. There are no blanks, and there is an equal opportunity for each one to win a beautiful $350 piano, for the small sum of 60 cents.

At once, and join our band of earnest workers, all members of the American Home Journal family. You will find something good in store for you—our word for it.

Two $350 Pianos Free—Read Carefully The two persons who can count the number of rings on the cut shall each receive a $350 piano free. If no correct counts are submitted, then the pianos shall be given to the two whose counts are nearest correct. If more than two correct counts are received, the pianos will be awarded to the two who submit the best plans of counting.

If more than two submit what is considered the best plan of counting, then the prizes will be awarded in a fair and impartial manner. Therefore, in sending in your count, also state your plan of counting.

In addition to the two big prizes above mentioned, every one who counts the rings correctly shall receive a prize of the value of one dollar. So that there are no blanks. Every one who counts correctly is bound to get a prize.

One count is allowed with each year's subscription to The American Home Journal (regular price of subscription one dollar); but if you will send us your count and 60 cents, you shall be entered in the contest for these big prizes, and shall also receive The American Home Journal for one year. And remember, if your count is correct, you shall, in any event, receive a prize of the value of one dollar. Renewals count as new subscribers.

If you will send in one dollar we will give you two year's subscription to The Journal and allow you three finest literary features, therefore, be-

THE FOILS AS AN ADJUNCT TO HEALTH

BY MARGARET VANCE GUERNEY

THE FENCING GIRL'S REWARD

For any girl and all girls the foils offer a way to physical and mental development second to none. The girl who is slow in her movements, slow to arrive at conclusions, nervous and unsettled, given to jumping at every sound, and on the lookout for trouble all the time, just put a foil in her hand, place her before her opponent, and after the first few lessons she will begin to wake up, her step will quicken, her perceptions brighten, and you will hear her say: "Oh, yes, I see, in a bright and interested way ten times after for once she has said it before. Of course, it is not all of it so easy as it looks. Like all other things worth while, things that tend to develop one's mental and physical attributes, fencing calls for an earnest and undivided attention, a dogged determination to succeed and a patience and perseverance in practice which cannot help but develop and improve the general character. Like all other high class sports, fencing has an educational value. And the lessons of self-restraint and self-command, instant thought, followed by instantaneous action, are more than valuable in establishing habits which will tell in after life. There are a few hints and cautions which cannot be impressed too strongly upon the mind of the fencer, and these must be borne in mind and constantly observed if she would excel in the use of the foils. The first is: Never lose your temper. No matter what your adversary may do, keep your temper, and smile if you can. Keep your eye upon your opponent's right hand and arm rather than on the tip of her foil. The arm will indicate the direction of the next move a fraction of a second or two before it is taken, and you will then be able to meet it. Always play to win, whether you are acting on the offensive or the defensive, and play up to the best you know and to the best that is in you. Be sure that the button is firmly fixed on the tip of the foils, and try the button every time there is a breathing spell in the bout. An unprotected point may do incalculable damage. Pay attention to your shoes, and see that they are not worn so smooth in the sole that they are likely to slip. Men who fence habitually prefer spiked shoes, but a pair of heelless shoes, with corrugated rubber soles, will serve very well indeed for the fencer. A slip when fencing is dangerous in the extreme, and no amount of caution is too great or too much trouble to take to avoid such catastrophe. The mask, the foils, the chest pad and the gauntleted glove, this latter to protect the wrist from any possibility of being pricked, there being several large veins and arteries in the hand and wrist which would bleed freely upon even a slight prick with the point of a foil, can be purchased at any sporting goods store. The chest pad is best made of leather and thickly padded. The length and weight of the foil must be determined by individual preference; but a safe guide is to take a foil that will touch the floor when held with the hand on a level with the waist line. The basket foils are often selected for beginners, especially when only the wrist, hand and arm movements are being practiced but the girl who intends eventually to fence exhibition bouts would better accustom herself to the regulation foil from the start. First, the question of correct carriage. If the fencer does not stand correctly she can never hope to gain any benefit whatsoever from the sport. Her thrusts, lunges and parries will be miracles of awkwardness instead of miracles of grace, and she will develop a slouchy style that is the reverse of attractive. "Shoulders-down" should be the slogan of the girl who would stand with grace. Our grandmothers were told to throw the shoulders back, and so earnest were they in following this direction that they often stood so straight that they bent over backward, to use a phrase that used to be current in the last century. This threw the abdomen all out of position, and led to the so-called high stomach—really a protruding abdomen, which characterized the last generation. "Shoulders down and chest high" will inevitably hold the abdomen in place, and give a pliancy to the body that will make for grace in every posture. Now grasp the foil with a loose and yet a firm hold. Loose enough not to cramp the fingers, and yet firm enough so that it will not fly from the hand at the first movement. Make the point of the foil describe a circle, being careful to make the movement with the wrist solely, and not to move the elbow or arm. This will prove decidedly tiring for the first few days; but it must be persevered in. The tired and aching muscles may be massaged with a little sweet oil after the lesson. Now begins the duet, or the duel lesson. First comes the salute with the foils, for fencing is a polite accomplishment. Standing in correct position, with the heels pointing slightly toward each other, and the toes pointing outward at about an angle of 45 degrees, the foil is first raised straight up, touching the forehead, and then both foils are clashed, crossing each other at about the level of the face. Simultaneously both fencers warn the other "En garde!" That is, be on your guard; the game commences. Now begins the thrust and the parry; and those two must usually be taught simultaneously, although they may each be practiced separately. The aim of the one who takes the offensive or attacking side is to make the point of her foil touch the breast pad of the other, preferably in the region of the heart. When she succeeds she cries "Touche!" that is, touched. The aim of the one who takes the defensive part is to guard against being touched, and at the same time try to touch the other herself. There is a recognized series of moves which are usually gone through serially by the pupil; but in combat they are used in any sequence which the style of play may suggest. The thrust is delivered in varying ways, and each thrust has its own particular parry. Thus there is the thrust in tierce, in quarte—the third and the fourth positions respectively—and these are parried according to rule. One of the simplest and most effective parries is done with the defensive foil suddenly turned downward on the opposing blade, thus beating down the attack. Unless the opposing foil is grasped firmly and correctly this will disarm your adversary, and this should be practiced often.

SOME CATTLE HAVE DIED

Since the first of February the weather has been very unfavorable for the live stock interests of this state. The blizzard which came the first of the month was followed by another which brought the coldest weather of the entire season, but which fortunately only lasted for about two days. The cattle of the country were in good shape when the first spell of bad weather came, but its close found them much run down in flesh and very badly weakened. The last spell caused the thermometer to go down below the zero mark, and as a consequence many of these weak and thin cattle have died. Some portions of the range country seem to have escaped with less fatality than others. In the Colorado City country but few deaths are reported, and it is said the majority of these were occasioned by the lack of water. Losses are reported light in the Midland country, and west of that point the estimate is about 15 per cent. The Panhandle country has lost a considerable number of cattle, some estimates ranging as high as 25 per cent, but this is generally believed to be somewhat excessive. Down in the Concho country the reported losses are light, and according to general reports South Texas seems to have suffered perhaps greater than other sections of the state. Down in Brazoria county the cattle seem to have chilled to death. A report from Angleton says:

The firm of Sharpe & Smith of Angleton today shipped out 6,000 pounds of hides, which have been taken from carcasses on the prairie around town since last Monday. Other firms have shipped 5,000 pounds in the same time. This indicates the fatality among cattle caused by the recent bad weather.

While there may exist something of a determination on the part of cattlemen to suppress the facts, the sale of hides always tells the story, and the indications are that the hide business is going to be pretty good in Texas for some weeks to come. Of course, it is very unfortunate that these losses have occurred, but under the circumstances there was no way by which they could have been avoided. The great majority of the cattlemen have been feeding heavily, and if March is a bad month they will continue to feed very liberally. If March is cold and raw, as many seem to think the month will be, there will be further losses, the amount of which will depend wholly on the severity of the weather. Illustrative of conditions out on the larger ranches of West Texas, it may be mentioned that Colonel C. C. Slaughter of Dallas has been advised that about 500 cows have died on his Buffalo ranch, north of Big Springs. In discussing the situation Colonel Slaughter says:

"The loss is not heavy, everything considered. There are between 10,000 and 15,000 head on that ranch. As the result of the previous blizzards we lost only 100 or 150 head of cattle, and I do not believe the losses would have been as heavy this time if the cattle had not been weakened by the previous spells of weather."

"I have yet to hear from my northern ranch, the one on Running Water, in Hale and Lamb counties, nor from the other ranch in Hockley and Cochran counties. On these ranches my men have not returned from their trips of investigation."

"The period beginning Saturday night at 10 o'clock and ending Sunday night at 10 o'clock furnished the severest weather we have ever experienced in Texas, because the blizzard was the third within the last thirty days. I mean by this that it was because the cattle were in very bad shape to stand this storm, having been weakened by the cold and wind of the other two. It is the wind that kills them. My cattle were frozen to death."

"In December the cattle on the western ranges were probably in the best condition that they have been in for years. But they could not be expected to pass safely through three such blizzards."

"However, the temperatures during these blizzards were not so low, comparatively speaking, except near the Texas-New Mexico line. The mercury went down to more than 20 degrees below zero."

"I am really surprised to be able to report such a small loss of cattle. I don't mean by that that I consider 500 cattle a small loss, but that it is small, comparatively speaking, and when all the circumstances are considered. When this latter blizzard struck Texas I expected to receive reports of losses reaching 25 or 30 per cent. Therefore I am very well satisfied with this report, for it shows a loss of only about 10 per cent. However, if we have more bad weather I am afraid that many a steer will perish on the range, for the animals are not now in condition to endure more hardships of the kind."

"It is probable that the snowfall was the heaviest in the history of Western Texas. From my ranch north of Big Springs, which is in Dawson, Martin, Howard and Lynn counties, I have received reports to the effect that the fall was about eight inches on the level. This will put a quantity of moisture in the ground which we have not usually had in February. The snow melts slowly, you know, and all the water goes into the ground. The moisture has been retained and it will probably make early weeds and grass, which we have not usually had early in the spring. Last year we had to wait until June for good grass.

"I am looking for news from my northern ranches within a day or two."

Colonel Slaughter is evidently not one of the cattlemen who believe in suppressing facts, but is willing that the truth should be known in order that idle speculation and hurtful rumors may be properly discounted. It is a good idea, and should be emulated by other stockmen. It is always best to let facts be known rather than rumor be permitted to get in its deadly work.

The official records at Washington show that General Miles was ordered to place shackles on Jefferson Davis only when in his judgment it became necessary, and this fact places the entire responsibility for that unfortunate act on General Miles. The further fact that he was commanded by the secretary of war to remove them and explain why they were placed upon Mr. Davis, also shows that General Miles acted in the matter entirely on his own volition. He has recently seen fit to deny his responsibility, but the records are against him.

The report of the bureau of commerce and labor in the beef trust investigation is again promised for next week, and it is to be hoped that it will fully materialize this time. If the department has been able to discover any evidence of the unlawful conduct of its business by this great combination, it should be used in a further effort to place these people where they will no longer have the producers and consumers of the country so completely at their mercy.

Tranquility in Russia has not materialized, in spite of the fact that the information had been given out that the strike situation had entirely cooled down. The assassination of the Grand Duke Sergius, uncle of the czar and one of the most cordially hated men in the empire, goes to prove that the situation is much more serious than has been generally anticipated. It now seems that all the horrors of the bomb are to be called into requisition and that is a favorite method in bloody Russia.

The cold weather this month has broken the record for many years, and the fuel bills will break the bank accounts of many consumers. Such an amount of snow and sleet has never before been seen in Texas during the month of February, and bad weather has been general all over the country. Scientists are laying the condition of affairs to sun spots, but to the uninitiated it seems more like a drift of Greenland or Siberia that has drifted off in this direction.

The Russian government complains that the Japs have been very unkind to prisoners captured, subjecting them to much cruelty and many forms of indignity. The Japs have also been very unkind to the Russians they have not been able to capture in keeping them on the run at all times and not giving them time to settle down comfortably for the winter.

Congress may be able to defeat the enactment of the railway regulation bill at this term through the opposition and inaction of the senate, but it seems certain that if such is the case the president will at once convene the body in extraordinary session. The executive does not appear to be weakening one particle on this very important measure.

Governor Lanham has issued his official proclamation asking the people of Texas to observe Washington's birthday, which is Feb. 22, as Arbor Day. The intention of arbor day is that all patriotic citizens will take the necessary time that day to plant a few trees and it is a very sensible and timely idea. There is much tree planting needed in Texas, and that fact will become more apparent with the passage of the years.

President Castro of Venezuela has taken steps to still further defy the United States government in the asphalt troubles that have prevailed in that republic, but he will find that he has made a great mistake. The man that successfully bluffs your Uncle Samuel will have to be of larger calibre than the president of a little South American republic.

It is intimated from Washington that the Standard Oil investigation may be extended so as to include the operations of that company in Texas, and it is predicted there will be some interesting developments even in this state. Mr. Rockefeller has declined to express himself in the newspapers on the subject of this investigation.

The contest between the president of the United States and the republican party may now be said to be just getting fairly under way. Fortunately for the honor and integrity of the president, he has already announced that he will not again be a candidate for office, and that fact now serves to intensify his sincerity of purpose.

A LEGACY of HATE

By LOUIS TRACY
Copyright, 1904, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.

After a quarrel with his cousin David, Sir Alan Hume-Frazier is found murdered at Beechcroft hall, near Sturmarket. David, after being acquitted at the trial, requests Reginald Brett, lawyer-detective, to find the real murderer and clear his name in order that he may marry Helen Layton.

Sir Alan was the fifth baronet to die suddenly at Beechcroft. At the time of the murder, David, in a dream, saw the death of the first Hume-Frazier, re-enacted. He relates the dream to Brett.

David and Brett visit Beechcroft, now occupied by Sir Alan's sister, Margaret, and her Italian husband, Signor Capella. Capella secretly loves Helen Layton. He quarrels with David and leaves the house.

"Thank you, David," she whispered. "Leave me now. I will be all right soon. My heart troubles me. No. Do not ring. Let us keep our miseries from the servants."

She passed out, leaving Hume and the barrister uncertain how to act. The situation had developed with a vengeance. Brett was more bewildered than ever before in his life.

"That scoundrel killed Alan, and now he wants to fill his own wife!"

affable manner was affected. She was really somewhat alarmed. Her eyes wandered to the high road to see if anyone was approaching, and she kept at some distance from the Italian.

"Do not play with me, Nellie," said Capella, in agonized accents. "I am consumed with love of you. Can you not, at least, give me your pity?"

"Mr. Capella," she cried, and none but one blind to all save his own passionate desires could fail to note her lofty disdain, "how can you be so base as to use such language to me?"

"Base! To love you!" "Again I say it—base and unmanly. What have I done that you should venture to so insult your charming wife, not to speak of the insult to yourself? When you so far forgot yourself a fortnight ago as to hint at your outrageous ideas regarding me, I forced myself to remember that you were not an Englishman, that perhaps in your country there may be a special code which permits a man to dishonor his home and to annoy a defenseless woman. I cannot forgive him. "What happened when you jumped the hedge?" he said to Hume. "I handled that scoundrel somewhat roughly," was the answer. "It was Nellie here who begged for mercy on his account."

David begged Helen to accompany them to Mrs. Eastham's. "No, indeed," she cried. "I must go home. My father will forget all about his lunch otherwise, and I am afraid I—w—want to cry!"

He turned aside to arrange with the groom concerning the care of the horse, as they would be detained some time in the village. Then the two men approached Mrs. Eastham's residence. That good person, a motherly old lady of over 60, was not only surprised but delighted by the advent of David Hume.

"You a second time. Let me pass!" Brett, in his admiration for the spirited girl, momentarily forgot his companion.

A convulsive tightening of Hume's muscles, preparatory to a leap through the hedge, warned him in time. "Idiot," he whispered, as he clutched him again.

The Italian returned to the attack, speaking rapidly and with passionate fervor. "Nellie, you madden me. But listen. If I may not love you I can at least defend you. David Hume-Frazier, the murderer of my wife's brother, has returned and he openly boasts that you are to marry him."

"Boasts! to whom, pray?" "To me. Within the past half hour." "Where? Impossible! He could not be here without my knowing it!" "Oh, ho! So you acknowledge it? So, you are in love with this unconquered felon, this murderer—"

"Stop, sir!" commanded the girl, her eyes blazing. "Let me pass." "No, no, you must hear me," cried the Italian. "Helen, he is not worthy of you. He cannot love you as I can. Nay, I will not be repelled. Listen. My wife cannot live now. She is dying even now. I will soon be free. Bid me hope. Give me but one kind word, my darling."

The girl made no reply to this outburst, but in sheer desperation she tried to dart past Capella and reach the stie. The Italian caught her in his arms, and, with passionate fervor, tried to quell her mad struggles and kiss her burning face.

Then, with a sigh, for he would have preferred to avoid an open rupture, Brett let go his hold on Hume. Indeed, if he had not done so, there would have been a fight on both sides of the hedge.

He turned away at once to light a cigarette. What followed immediately had no professional interest for him. But he could not help hearing Helen's shriek of delighted surprise, and certain other sounds which denoted that Giovanni was being used as a football by his near relative by marriage.

In an instant Brett hurried to the lodge and before Mrs. Crowe's attention could be attracted by the scrimmage beyond the hedge the lawyer-detective held her spellbound with his fascinating talk about homely and familiar topics. Having allowed David enough time to chastise Capella, Brett stepped out through the gates and made for the angle of the hedge.

Helen's voice came to him shrilly: "Enough! That will do, David! Please stop!"

Just then the Italian dashed around the corner. He was disheveled and bruised and it looked very much as though his wife's broad-shouldered cousin had been rolling him over in the dust of the road. At the same moment Mrs. Crowe came out of her lodge.

"Mrs. Crowe," almost screamed Capella, "you see those two men there?" "Yes, sir." "Well, you are the keeper of this lodge gate and I warn you that neither of them are to be allowed to set foot inside my grounds under any circumstances. Do you understand?"

FOSTER'S WEATHER FORECAST

WASHINGTON, D. C. Feb. 18.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent 23 to 27, warm wave 22 to 26, cool wave 25 to March 1. Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about 28, cross west of Rockies by close of March 1, great central valleys 2 to 4, eastern states 5. Warm wave will cross west of Rockies about 28, great central valleys March 2, eastern states 3. Cool wave will cross west of Rockies about 3, great central states 5, eastern states 7.

In my last bulletin I overlooked the importance and some of the details of the fourth disturbance of February. It will reach the great central valleys about 19, eastern states 21 and will be a furious disturbance from start to finish. From 18 to 23 I advise all to keep as well informed as possible as to location and movements of the storm centres, the highs and lows. The best information on that subject is the U. S. weather bureau maps. They are all that can be desired. The weather bureau is good at telling what the weather has been and the maps give the location of disturbances in a graphic form, easily understood. The cold wave following the disturbance will be very severe and will affect west of Rockies about 19, great central valleys 21, eastern states 23. The warm wave, cold wave, rain, snows, winds, will be particularly intense about 22 when the cold wave is expected in the Ohio valley and warm wave reaching the eastern states. Next bulletin will give general forecasts of March. My advice to planters not to sell their cotton has had some effect. They are not selling and the prices are rising. At this time they are up four or five dollars on the bale, or about twenty million dollars on the cotton they now hold. B. M. Curt of Milliken, Texas, who is a planter, writes me as follows: "I have not sold a pound of cotton since you advised us to hold it. I have watched your forecasts eight or nine years and am forced to believe that you have the key to the weather and if you live to completely unlock that secret law of nature you will confer on their race one of the greatest blessings. Just think of the untold millions and billions of dollars that have been lost in muscle and sweat by not having some idea of what 30 or 60 or 90 days in advance had in store for us in the weather line. Volumes could be written on this topic and then half would not be told."

did not exist—"you must ask Mr. Brett." Thus appealed to, the lawyer set forth, in a few explicit words, the object of their visit. "I hope and believe you will succeed," said Mrs. Eastham, impulsively. "Providence has guided your steps here at this hour. You cannot imagine how miserable that man Capella makes me."

"Why?" cried Hume, darting a look of surprise at Brett. "Because he is simply pestering Nellie with his attentions. There! I must speak plainly."

"How long has this been going on?" inquired Brett, for Hume was too furious to speak. "For some months, but it is only a fortnight ago since Helen first complained of it to me. I promptly told Mr. Capella that I could not receive him again at my house. He discovered that Nellie came here a good deal, and managed to call about the same time as she did. Then he found that she was interested in Japanese art, and he is really clever in that respect."

"Clever," interrupted the barrister. "Do you mean that he understands lacquer work, Satsuma ware, painting or inlaying? Is he a connoisseur or a student?" "It is all Greek to me!" exclaimed the old lady, "but unquestionably the bits of china and queer carvings he often brought here were very beautiful. Nellie has told me that once he showed her a Japanese sword, a most wonderful piece of workmanship, with

NO RAISE IN PRICE FOR MINOR LEAGUERS

American League Refuses to Adopt Amendment Agreed to by National League

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The American League of Baseball Clubs yesterday rejected the amendment proposed by the National organization of minor league clubs for an increase in payment by major leagues for players drafted from teams of the minor leagues.

The National League at a meeting in Cincinnati some time ago decided to agree to the proposed change, but the action of the American League today will have the effect of preventing any change in the old drafting price. Under the old agreement the major league paid $750 for players drafted from class A leagues, $500 for class B, $300 from class C and $200 from class D. It being provided that only two players should be drafted at the prices named from the old classes. The National Association proposed an amendment providing for a new class—class A. The price for a drafted player from this class was to be fixed at $1,500, for class B, $1,000 and class C $750, class D $500 and class E $400.

The fourth amendment provided that only one player should be drafted from class A and an unlimited number should be drafted from other classes at the price named.

The joint committee on rules of the two major leagues met and readopted the 1904 rules. Absolutely no change was made. The conditions for the world's championship series of games between the respective winners of the National and American leagues were made known. There will be seven games, the location of the first three to be decided by lot. The deciding game will be played in neutral city to be designated by the National committee.

The American League was in session for a brief time last night and adjourned after formally adopting the playing schedule.

Like the National, the American League season will open April 14 with Chicago playing at St. Louis, Detroit at Cleveland, New York at Washington and Boston at Philadelphia.

FOR NEW TEXAS LEAGUE

Proposition Received by Manager of Denison's Katy Team

DENISON, Texas, Feb. 18.—R. D. Bray, who last year was manager of the Katy baseball team here, has received a letter from John Higberger of Paris in regard to the matter of forming a circuit of six cities in North Texas for baseball this summer.

The six towns that the Paris man proposes are Texarkana, Clarksville, Paris, Bonham, Denison and Sherman. Mr. Bray was manager of the Katy team last year. He does not intend to conduct such a team this season, but will interest himself in the city team that will be formed.

The letter received from Paris will be laid before G. E. Myers and a plan of action will be decided upon.

QUARANTINE WILL NOT AFFECT SHOW

Cattle From Above Line Will Be Exhibited on Equal Terms With Others

Cattle from above the quarantine line will be exhibited on equal terms with those below the line at the coming Fat Stock Show, arrangements having been completed for their appearance in the rings with other stock.

J. F. Hovenkamp announced Friday that Messrs. Hicks and Anderson have donated the use of the east side of their horse and mule barns for the benefit of cattle above the quarantine line. W. B. King, he announced, has arranged with the quarantine officials to permit the exhibition. Under the arrangements the cattle will come out in the show ring beside the southern cattle, be shown in the arena and go back at once to their respective places.

Announcement of definite arrangements has been awaited by the cattlemen in the proscribed section, many of whom have declared that unless definite arrangements were made within a short time they would abandon all plans of exhibiting at the show. The announcement as made by Mr. Hovenkamp is official and puts at an end all doubt as to the eligibility of cattle above the line.

All preparations for the show, it is announced, are making good progress and an exhibition on a better scale than ever before is confidently predicted by the committeemen.

BIG CROWD HEARS RIVAL ORATORS

Mitchell Medal Awarded by Fort Worth University Goes to J. S. Payton

J. S. Payton won the Mitchell gold medal at the ninth annual oratorical contest of the Fort Worth University, which was held at St. Paul's church Friday evening. T. T. Garrard took second place. Mr. Payton will represent the university in the state oratorical contest, which will be held in this city April 17. The subject of Mr. Payton's oration was "The Making of an American." The medal was awarded at the conclusion of the orations by President MacAdam of the university.

Despite the inclement weather the contest was largely attended, the congested condition of the church delaying the opening exercises on account of the necessity of providing chairs for some of the audience. An organ prelude by Mrs. P. L. Jaccard opened the exercises, after which Dr. MacAdam delivered the invocation. The orations then followed in the order given:

"The Making of an American," J. S. Payton; "The Demands of Labor," J. O. Bentley; "Has the Black Man a Place in Our Civilization?" T. T. Garrard; "The American Spirit," C. J. Smith.

During the evening Miss Frohman of the University Glee Club sang a vocal solo, and at the close of the exercises the glee club sang the "Song of the Vikings."

The Mitchell medal has been won on the eight previous occasions by the following students of the university: N. P. Willis, Wilnot Smith, George Steere, Elmer Pope, Fred Stocking, Roy Smith, F. A. Lundberg and Fred McArthur.

CENSUS FIGURES PROMISE SURPRISE

Counting of North Fort Worth Population Will Be Completed During Next Week

By the Compiler

Taking of the census of North Fort Worth will be completed during the coming week if weather conditions prove at all satisfactory, according to J. W. Creed, who has been engaged by the city council of North Fort Worth to make the first count.

"Bad weather has hampered me in the work," declared Mr. Creed, "but I have still been keeping at it and hope to have it finished soon."

All compilation of figures at the present time consists merely of their notation as secured, making it impossible to estimate the population that will be shown by the total figures. It is announced, however, that the figures will prove startling to persons who have not kept in close touch with the growth of one city.

Under the ordinance of the council by which the census taking was awarded to Mr. Creed, full report must be made by March 5.

The census now being taken is distinct from the school census taken in May to determine the distribution of state school funds.

CRESTON CLARKE

Mr. Clarke belongs to that class of earnest, conscientious actors who are willing to be judged by the company they keep. "Monsieur Beaucaire" has all the essential elements of absorbing interest and its romantic features, so closely allied to a vein of the purest and most healthful comedy, furnishes ample occasions for the display of the star's inherited genius. Mr. Clarke, while proud of his family ties, which connect him with two of the most honored names in the profession, is still prouder of the fame he has gained through his own endeavors. "Monsieur Beaucaire" will have a truly elaborate presentation here tonight at Greenwall's opera house under the generous direction of Jules Murry, who has obtained for Mr. Clarke the rights to Richard Mansfield's version of this beautiful story.

THE FASCINATION OF IT

Charles Frohman and George Edwards were both similarly at sea regarding the future of "The Girl from Kay's" in America when they decided a year ago to interrupt its successful London run and transplant the costly production in New York.

It was simply casting the die to win miserably that is not well sung, that is nothing but a string of variety acts. Right in New York you probably cannot see this—and Miss Van Studdiford's listeners admitted woeefully that they could not—"but through the country one can. On Broadway a second or even third-rate singer can make a hit in comic opera, if she will look demure and get off some gags on local managers and events around the Tenderloin, which no one but Tenderloin frequenters ever heard of. And there are enough of these frequenters in New York to keep opera after opera successful on Broadway. Broadway today is the easiest place in America to get into the opera in comic opera. But out through the country the people who go to light opera are not of this class. They are more critical, they like good music well sung, and are getting tired of sexities and silliness. A fresh demand for legitimate light opera is arising, and—now don't laugh at me—the composers and librettists are going to arise to meet it." Miss Van Studdiford, being neither a second nor a third-rate singer of light opera, may at least be credited with speaking without pique.

Miss Grace Van Studdiford in "The Red Feather" comes to Greenwall's opera house Wednesday and Thursday nights, Feb. 22 and 23.
