How Rojstvensky's Fleet Looks When Sailing at Full Speed

(Copyright, 1905, by W. R. Hearst.)

This photographic view of Rojstvensky's squadron shows the guardship in advance, followed by the flagship of the rear admiral. The quantities of smoke emitted by the vessels is due to the fact that they are all using soft coal. These great columns of smoke make it easy to distinguish the vessels at a great distance. This fact was commented on when the vessels were passing Singapore. It was also noticed that they were covered with weeds as the result of their long stay in tropical waters. This greatly retarded their progress.

RUSSIAN FLEET IS LOCATED

Portion of Rojstvensky's Fleet Enters Kamranh Bay on the Eastern Coast of Cochin-China

OTHER SHIPS SEEN 350 MILES TO NORTH

Russian Admiral Coaled Ships and Made Preparations for Dash to Vladivostok—May Have Already Sailed

ST. PETERSBURG, April 17, 11:55 a. m.—The news that a portion of the Russian squadron had put in at Kamranh Bay, north of Cape Padran, off the east coast of Cochin China, bears out the statements contained in these dispatches a week ago to the effect that Admiral Rojstvensky probably would seek shelter off that part of Cochin China coast and there coal and make his final preparations before embarking on the final stage of his journey. No definite information is obtainable as to the length of the squadron's stay at Kamranh Bay or whether the warships have already sailed, the admiral being naturally silent on this point. "You may be sure," said an official, "every precaution will be taken against a torpedo attack. Rojstvensky can be relied upon to protect his ships." Among naval men the idea that Admiral Rojstvensky divided his squadron is not entertained.

No confirmation is received here of the reported naval engagement south of Natuna island, which, according to the British steamer Telemachus, which has just arrived at Hong Kong, took place 150 miles north of Natuna islands on the afternoon of April 12.

TOKIO, April 17.—Information received regarding vessels of the Russian squadron being seen at Kamranh Bay April 14 reached Tokio today and was given to the public through a brief communication from the navy department. The news was a surprise, because it was generally doubted that France would permit the use of her ports to a belligerent squadron engaged in offensive operations. The Japanese government is silent on the subject of its intentions, but it is expected it will make immediate representations to France.

The response of France is eagerly awaited, particularly as to whether France admits the squadron within her territorial waters when it was off Madagascar. If she denies it in this instance it will give Japan an opportunity to attack the Russian vessels without violating France's neutrality. Many people continue to believe the Russian squadron will speedily leave Kamranh bay and continue its voyage northward.

TOKIO, April 17.—It is calculated here the Russian squadron arrived at Kamranh Bay at noon April 12 and therefore had been occupying the port 48 hours when seen at noon April 14.

Kamranh Bay is 850 miles west and 200 miles south of Manila. By most direct route, it is over 2,700 miles from Vladivostok. It is 1,100 miles from the island of Formosa, near where Admiral Togo's fleet is supposed to be waiting. Under most favorable circumstances, a fleet of the size of Admiral Rojstvensky's can cover about 250 miles a day.

Ships Seen Near Turan Bay

LONDON, April 17.—A special dispatch from Hong Kong says a portion of the Russian squadron was seen Sunday at Turan Bay, about 350 miles north of Kamranh Bay. Turan Bay is between latitude 15 and latitude 16 north. According to advices from Haifong to a Paris newspaper, forty Russian vessels were recently sighted in that latitude, steaming north.

RUSSIANS REPORTED IN CHINESE WATERS

HONG KONG, April 17.—The German steamer Brunhilde arrived here today from Singapore and reported she was stopped for two hours by three Russian cruisers April 14, thirty miles north of Cape Padaran. The Brunhilde counted altogether thirty-three vessels steaming north by northeast at ten knots an hour. The ships appeared to be in good condition. The report is current here a portion of the Russian squadron reached a bay in Chinese waters northward of Hong Kong. Cape Padaran is off the east coast of Cochin China, not far south of Kamranh Bay, where it is reported a number of Russian warships are anchored and re-vicegating.

PASTORS WANT VETO ON RACING BILL

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 17.—At a meeting of the Pastors' Union this morning a resolution was adopted to urge the governor to veto the Hancock horse racing bill.

KILLING FROSTS OCCUR IN TENN. AND GEORGIA

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 17.—Local Forecast Official Walz, in his report of weather conditions today, said:

Abnormally low temperatures prevail generally today with heavy and killing frosts as far south as Southern Tennessee and Northern Georgia and East Virginia, while light frosts are reported from Southern Alabama and Northern Florida.

"Snow flurries occurred in the Ohio valley."

NEGRO WHO SLEW SIX MEN CAUGHT

Last Victim Was Town Marshal of Albany, Ga., Who Tried to Arrest Him

ALBANY, Ga., April 17.—John Manler, marshal of Pretoria, Ga., was shot and almost instantly killed Saturday night by Pete Thomas, a negro.

Thomas had been creating some disorder, his conduct becoming such that the officer approached him with the intention of placing him under arrest. The officer, knowing the negro to be a bad character, ordered him to throw up his hands. Thomas replied by presenting a revolver. The first shot shattered the marshal's arm and the second cut his jugular vein and brought him to the ground. Thomas then pumped the remaining balls into the prostrate body of the officer, who was dead when assistance reached him.

As Thomas ran off a white man, who had come up, fired twice at his retreating form and it afterward developed that both shots took effect, one in the hand and the other in the thigh. The negro was captured about noon today by Sheriff Edwards. He made the statement that Manler was the sixth man whose life he had taken.

SAILOR CLUNG TO PLANK 12 HOURS

Fell Overboard From Russian Vessel in Straits of Malacca, But Was Rescued

SAIGON, April 17.—A Russian sailor who fell overboard in the Straits of Malacca, and who was rescued after floating twelve hours on a plank, was brought to Saigon, whence he rejoined the squadron. Admiral Bayle has signed a contract with a Hong Kong firm for the salvage of the French armored cruiser Sully, which ran on the rocks in Allong bay early in February. The firm will be paid $300,000 if it succeeds in raising the cruiser. The Sully is still fast upon the rocks.

FACTORY CLUB TO FINISH ORGANIZATION

For perfecting the organization of the Home Industry and Factory Club, a meeting of citizens will be held at the city hall tonight. The committee, recently appointed to draft a plan of organization, will make its report at the meeting and in addition to this a meeting will be held by the president, first and second vice president and ten directors will be elected.

Dr. J. L. Cooper will preside at the meeting. The first meeting is held to discuss the formation of 125 business men. Each of these has promised to bring a companion, assuring a good attendance at the meeting.

FRANCHISE TAX CLAUSE CHANGED

Williams Says It Was Eliminated to Free Referendum From All Strings

NOW UP TO GOVERNOR

Faults Found in Denton Charter Said to Have Been Taken From That of Fort Worth

"All important clauses in the charter amendments of the city of Fort Worth have passed the senate and the house," said Representative William D. Williams this morning, who has just returned from Austin. "Some of the minor clauses were cut out on account of the failure of the city council to publish the same, but all important features, including the creation of street improvement districts, the regulation of saloon limits and the referendum, went through."

Senator Hanger and myself made a change in the reading of the referendum clause, eliminating the minimum tax of 2 per cent on the gross earnings of all franchises. That is, we did away with the setting of either a minimum or maximum. If the people are to have the referendum, let them have one without any strings to it—let them regulate the minimum and maximum to suit themselves."

State Senator W. A. Hanger returned from Austin Sunday morning. When seen today regarding the status of the Fort Worth charter amendments the senator said that he was not in position to discuss the matter intelligently in the absence of a copy of the amendments. However, Senator Hanger said that he ratifying portion of the amendments to the charter was cut out because of the form in which it was drawn, the best constituted lawyers at Austin declaring it to be unconstitutional.

This is believed to effect only the tax for city parks.

Senator Hanger said further that the clauses having reference to improvement districts, together with the referendum and saloon limits, were permitted to remain in the city charter and will no doubt become law when the governor signs the bill. Mr. Hanger entertains no doubt but that this will be done in due time.

"Governor Lanham vetoed the Denton city charter for the reason that certain parts of the amendments to the Fort Worth charter were left out," said Senator Hanger, "which is that the desired amendments were not put in the notice of publication."

Senator Hanger says nothing was done with that part of the charter having reference to the election of city officers, because no agreement could be reached. He said that he is heartily in favor of electing all city officers by a direct vote of the people.

NAN PATTERSON TRIAL DELAYED

Third Hearing of the Actress' Case Again Postponed in New York

NEW YORK, April 17.—The trial of Nan Patterson, which was postponed from last Monday, was again postponed today when the case was called in the court of general sessions.

Delay this time, however, probably will be only for twenty-four hours, since the only thing awaited is the final ruling of Justice Gaynor on the motion making District Attorney Jerome be ordered to surrender papers confiscated when J. Morgan Smith and his wife were arrested at Cincinnati.

HAVILAND CHINA MAKERS STRIKE

LIMOGES, France, April 17.—The excitement among the porcelain strikers is becoming more violent and manifesting itself principally against the American firm of Haviland which has taken a leading part in the lockout.

The socialist mayor's attitude of inactivity, and his appeal to the ministry to send troops, appears to encourage the workmen to continue their demonstrations. They now refuse to listen to his advice to remain calm, and consequently a representative of the Haviland concern went to Paris to interview the minister of the interior, who ordered reinforcements to be sent here. In the meantime the strikers exploded a package of cartridges before the house of the manager of the Haviland works, without causing much damage. The barricades which were erected Saturday are still in place.

MANCHURIA SAILS FROM SAN FRANCISCO

Takes 10,000 Tons of Freight Mostly of Contraband Character for Japanese

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—The steamship Manchuria sailed for the Orient today with a cargo of 10,000 tons of freight, mostly for Japan. The cargo is mostly of a character that would be considered as contraband by the Russians and consists not only of food but heavy machinery for railroads and bridges in Manchuria. In view of the possibility of Admiral Rojstvensky's defeating Admiral Togo on the sea somewhere on the Asiatic coast, some anxiety exists regarding the safety of the Manchuria and she will call at Midway Island to receive instructions.

RUSSIAN FORCE WITH FLEET TOTALS 18,000

SAIGON, April 17.—The Japanese recently captured a large number of colliers off the coast of Cochin China. Six men supposed to be Japanese landed some days ago at Cape St. James near here from a Japanese junk and after a brief stay embarked.

A number of Russian warships are anchored in Kamranh Bay, where they are re-vicegating. The steamer Frieden, which was purchased by a local French firm, sailed yesterday evening with full cargo of provisions for the squadron. The health of the Russians is reported good. Only eight deaths

DEAF MAY HEAR SERMON BY PHONE

Wires From Pulpit Under Carpet Carry Words to Listeners' Ears

CHICAGO, Ill., April 17.—The first "sermon by telephone" ever experienced in Chicago has enabled Mrs. Mary F. de Blois, who is quite deaf, to follow every word of the finest sermon she has heard in twenty-five years.

The sermon was preached by her son, the Rev. Austen K. de Blois, at the First Baptist church. Although he was ordained seven years ago, Mrs. de Blois never had heard her son's voice from the pulpit and her dearest wish was gratified.

Several other persons of impaired hearing also were able to understand everything the minister said.

The eight persons shut off from the rest of the world by reason of their affliction were connected with the pulpit by means of wires concealed under the carpet. By placing small receivers carrying almost invisible wires to their ears they were able to hear the sermon distinctly.

MORO CHIEFTAIN GIVES WEAPONS TO ROOSEVELT

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—Captain Thomas Darrab, United States army, who has arrived on the Sherman from Manila, is the bearer of a letter to President Roosevelt from Datto Piang, the Moro chief of the island of Mindanao. Piang has a fine collection of native weapons, which in the letter he tenders to the president as a token of loyalty. In consideration of their destination, the weapons were passed free of duty by the customs officials.

From disease occurred since the departure from Europe, out of an effective force totalling 18,000 men.

A Russian officer, suffering from beriberi (sleeping sickness) is in the hospital here. Other sick men who were brought here by the Russian hospital ship Orei include Prince Cantacuzene, but reports that the Orei had as there had been no fighting up to the time of her arrival.

Admiral Dejonqueres rejoined the French cruiser Descartes in Kamranh Bay, Cochin China, which is about 200 miles northeast of Saigon.

Another part of the deal is an extension of the Frisco from Brady to Weaver, on the San Antonio and Aransas Pass road, which will give the company another line into San Antonio. The gap to be built is about seventy miles long.

Mr. Yoakum left New York in his special and visited Nashville, Tenn., at which place he concluded a deal for the purchase of the Tennessee Central, which is now a part of the great Frisco system. From Nashville Mr. Yoakum went to Chicago, from which point he came to Fort Worth over the Rock Island. He left here at noon today for Dallas, and tonight will go over the Central to South Texas.

Mr. Yoakum said that he was going to South Texas to look after some railroad matters in connection with the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico road, of which he is a resident. He will be in the state about ten days, at the expiration of which he will return to New York.

Vice President and Traffic Manager D. B. Keeler and M. A. Spoons, attorney for the Denver road, and Captain Thomas West of the legal department of the Frisco in Texas, met Mr. Yoakum at the station and had a brief conference with him. Mr. Yoakum is making the trip alone, with the exception of his private secretary.

DEATH CAME WHEN WEDDING DAY WAS SET

NEW YORK, April 17.—Miss Mattie Belle Quarrier, daughter of the Late Arch Quarrier of Louisville, Ky., vice president of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, is dead at the home of her brother in this city. She was a great beauty and was to have been married April 26 to James V. McDonald.

Miss Quarrier had been ill with pleurisy, but recovered sufficiently last week to fix the date of her wedding. Sunday, in a fit of coughing, she burst a blood vessel and death occurred almost immediately.

Claim of Wealth Was Regarded as Fancy—Buried in Pauper's Grave

NORFOLK, Va., April 17.—Thomas Yandow, a conspicuous figure in Norfolk for over fifty years, claimed up to the time of his death he was entitled to a large fortune in California.

Five years ago he was adjudged a lunatic and sent to the Eastern Virginia asylum at Williamsburg.

Two years ago he died and was buried in a pauper's grave at the asylum. A letter has just been received here by a local attorney from the Pacific coast, stating Yandow was entitled to a large portion of an estate in California, worth upward and fifty cents in all you are required to Yandow's wife is dead and he left no heirs.

Japs Confiscate Vessels

NAGASAKI, April 17.—The appeal of the case of the British steamer Nigretia, seized by the Japanese cruiser Tushima Dec. 30 off the coast of Korea, and condemned as a prize Jan. 5, has just been rejected. The vessel and her cargo have been confiscated.

The row among the Equitable Life insurance people has broken out in a new place, and its officers are saying some things about each other that do not look well in print.

YOAKUM CONFIRMS BIG DEAL

Chairman of Frisco System Board Says Colorado Southern Will Have Gulf Outlet via Fort Worth

MEETS OFFICIALS OF DENVER HERE

Leaves for South Texas to Look After St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico Interests—Plans to Be Executed Soon

Statements that the Frisco-Rock Island systems will expend $50,000,000 in absorptions, extensions and construction of new lines in Texas were verified for the first time this afternoon by B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the Frisco board, as he stood near his special train, which was ready to pull out from the train sheds at the Texas and Pacific station.

"You can say that we intend in the near future to carry out our plans in Texas as have been heretofore outlined," was the way Mr. Yoakum expressed himself to a reporter for The Telegram.

"What about the Colorado and Southern proposition?" was asked.

"That is a part of the great deal," said Mr. Yoakum.

"When the present negotiations are complete the Colorado and Southern will have an outlet to the gulf port at Galveston via the Fort Worth and Denver City to Fort Worth, thence over the Trinity and Brazos Valley road, which is to be extended at once south from Mexia to Houston and north from Cleburne to a connection with the Rio Grande division of the Frisco about twelve miles below this city.

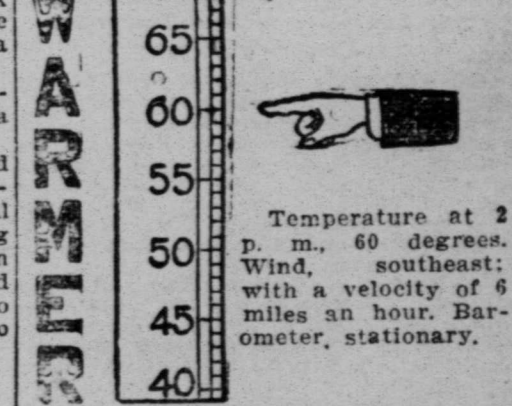

Another part of the deal is an extension of the Frisco from Brady to Weaver, on the San Antonio and Aransas Pass road, which will give the company another line into San Antonio. The gap to be built is about seventy miles long.

Mr. Yoakum left New York in his special and visited Nashville, Tenn., at which place he concluded a deal for the purchase of the Tennessee Central, which is now a part of the great Frisco system. ## SIoux TOO SLOW FOR THE PANTHERS

Rapid Water's Curves Were Good for Seven Runs and Thirteen Hits

That the American aborigine can't play ball with his white brother was conclusively shown at Haines park Sunday afternoon when Fort Worth ball players won from the Sioux Indians by a score of 7 to 2.

The game was not of the sensational kind, Fort Worth simply had easy picking from the first to the last. Fort Worth scored three runs in the second inning; two in the fourth; one in the sixth, and one in the eighth.

The Indians, as a result of a little mix up, were able to get one man across the home base in the third, while good hitting gave them a run in the ninth. Not once was Fort Worth in danger of defeat and on this account there was not much enthusiasm in the largest crowd which has assembled at Haines park this season.

The feature of the entire exhibition was a home run for Fort Worth by Ross Erwin, a new man signed Sunday, who replaced Mauch behind the bat in the fifth. The first time the new man came to the bat he slugged the first ball across the plate, sending clear over the right field fence.

The Panthers did rather heavy hitting all round and are credited with a total of 13 hits.

Pappan, the Indian shortstop, was quick on his feet and made some pretty throws. Swift Water, in the Sioux box, did creditable pitching.

Ballew held down the slab for the first five innings for Fort Worth and was replaced later by Johnson.

Sullivan, seen on the local diamond for the first time this season, received applause when he came to bat.

Pointexter was not in the game. Bates took his place in right, Boles held down second and Tullar short.

Passage of the measure amending the Hancock bill by permitting the placing of bets on horse races within the race enclosure has been received with jubilation by the sporting fraternity of this city. Members of which have received definite information that next winter will see Fort Worth the center of winter racing.

Dan Stuart is mentioned as the backer of the circuit, which will include this city, San Antonio and Houston. The circuit will be one covering ninety days, and will open with twenty days racing on a track to be established between this city and Dallas. The strings will then be taken to San Antonio for ten days and to Houston for fifteen days, returning to the Indian track for a run of forty-five days closing with the opening of the Hot Springs track.

Under the regulations, the bill, unless vetoed by the governor, will become a law May 5. Although a number of fair races may take place during the summer, the big circuit racing will not begin until next winter.

Plans for the utilization of Prospect park as a center of racing are also under way, though being closely guarded at present. John McMurtry, one of the lovers of fast horses and a skillful driver himself, said this morning that plans for racing on a large scale at the track were under consideration, but that at present he was not at liberty to disclose them.

For the present he said the regular Thursday matinee races will be continued at the track.

The track, a kite-shaped one, is one of the fastest in the country and is admirably situated for the drawing of large crowds. It can be reached in a few minutes from all parts of this city and North Fort Worth, and has the advantage of two car lines. Frisco and Cotton Belt tracks at the back of the track will also enable the running of excursions to the track direct.

Alderman J. L. Lydon of North Fort Worth is deeply interested in making a first-class racing center of the track. Even before the opening of the legislature he urged efforts to convert the track into a pleasure ground that would attract people from all parts of North Texas, urging the combination of ball grounds and other amusements.

Under the provisions of the new bill it is said large purses could be offered for races with chances of good profits to the managers.

AMUSEMENTS

THE BUTLERS, HYPNOTISTS, MARVELS AND MYSTERY

What is hypnotism? How did Svengali overmaster Trilby? What power is there in a person's eyes that causes another person to fall asleep under its gaze? How long does this influence last? Why is it that some people possess it and others do not? Why cannot every one be hypnotized? All of these are questions that the public take great interest in and all of them are answered by Dr. and Mrs. S. L. Butler in their entertainment at Greenleaf's opera house all this week, excepting Friday, commencing Monday night, April 17.

One who has read the late Du Maurier's great work should go to see Dr. Butler and his wife, Mrs. S. L. Butler, the eminent American hypnotists, and have by the book any questions that are aroused in the many knotty questions that are answered, and a true solution given. Ladies will be admitted free tonight when accompanied by a person with a paid 30-cent ticket, if purchased before 6 p. m. today.

JEWISH PICNIC IS HELD

Superintendent and Teachers of Orthodox Congregation Entertain Scholars

After a postponement of two weeks the picnic given by Superintendent B. Z. Friedman of the Taylor Street Orthodox Jewish synagogue Sunday school to sixty pupils was held Sunday at Hermann park.

The members of the Sunday school accompanied by their teachers, Misses Ray Dan and Tillie Shuster and the superintendent, met at the synagogue at 10 o'clock and marched in a body by the corner of Houston and Eighth to streets, where they were taken in a special car for a ride around the new city belt line and then to the Hermann park. Here the usual morning Sunday school was held. Following this came the serving of a basket lunch, the children being joined by the parents.

FISHING AND SHOOTING

A new region, now accessible for the first time by rail, and known as the "Tomagami" (pronounced Tem-mog-amo) district, is being brought to the notice of the public as one of the finest fishing and hunting confines in Canada. Excellent sport is assured all who take advantage of a trip to this magnificent territory, which is situated 300 miles north of the city of Toronto at an altitude of 1,000 feet above the sea. Black bass, speckled trout, lake trout, wall-eyed pike and other species of fish are found here in abundance, and large game, such as moose, caribou and deer abound in the forests. A handsome booklet, profusely illustrated, giving all information, including comprehensive maps—can be had free on application to F. N. Hopper, T. P. A., 327 Shelley Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.

SOLDIER'S GRAVES TO BE DECORATED

Exercises Will Be Held by Lee Camp May 24—First Settlers to Be Present

Lee camp, United Confederate Veterans, was opened Sunday with prayer offered by Chaplain J. I. Wright. Adjutant McConnell read the minutes of the previous meeting which were adopted.

Colonel Hugh L. Taylor of East Tennessee, a brother of former Governor Bob Taylor, was a visitor.

For the first time the roster of the officials of the camp was read by Adjutant McConnell. A letter was read from Mrs. Mary Patton Hudson of Robert Patton Chapter, U. D. C., of Cincinnati Ohio, with reference to the raising of funds for the purchase of the Confederate cemetery at Johnson's Island, where Confederate soldiers are buried. Mrs. Hudson stated in her letter that the first Texas contribution had come from the Elks' Club of Palestine.

The resignation of L. C. Vaughan as a member of the executive committee was accepted and a vote of thanks extended for past services. William Ferris was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Opposition to the contribution of camp funds for monument purposes while many soldiers were in need of medical attention of the contribution, however, offering to make the donation personally. The question was finally settled by the appointment of a committee to collect a contribution to be given in the name of the camp.

Colonel Hugh Taylor was then introduced. He said he came with a message from Governor Bob Taylor, and proceeded to read it as follows:

"O glorious Empire State of the sun-kissed south! With thy one hundred and seventy-five thousand square miles of as rich a country as was ever tickled by the plow or the pick, and as ever laughed a harvest of corn and cotton for the happiness of man! With thy cattle on a thousand hills, thy countless flocks, thy gushing wells of oil, thy fields of rice and sugar cane stretching far away like the sweet fields of Eden on the other side of Jordan! With thy brave men and beautiful women of this universe, thy fearless thou canst feed and warm the world! And thou canst furnish wives for all the bachelors and husbands for all the old maids! I wonder why the poor huddle in the smoke and filth of crowded cities when Texas has in need beckons them to her landscapes of beauty, where the prairie flowers bloom and the sunshine plays with the zephyrs from the gulf and sometimes scuffles with a cyclone. I wonder why tolling millions dwell amid blacked walls only to be slaves to heartless masters when untouched fields invite the happy home and virgin soil still waits for the plowman and his merry song. I wonder why helpless children are doomed to die by thousands in polluted hives and crowded tenements, when the meadows of Texas hid them come and chase the butterflies among the blue-bells and the daisies and blossoming hills call them blither to romp and play, where the happy Texas sun and the cool breeze come in the fragrant with the breath of alfalfa and the sweet wild grasses of the plains.

"Texas is a paradise for the poor—it is a third heaven for the rich!"

Historian C. C. Cummings announced that the monetary committee had fixed the day of the birthday of Captain Edward S. Terrell, the first settler of Fort Worth, and that he had written that he would be pleased to meet the few surviving "first folk" of the fort, and expected to hold a "week" at the camp on Monday. Captain Terrell is now 83 years of age. He lives in Graham, Jack county.

The application of Philip Weaver was referred back to the applicant, the examining committee being unable to locate any of the persons named as references.

R. C. May announced that the Daughters of the Confederacy will give a picnic May 6.

Miss Ted Edgington was elected sponsor for the camp at the Louisville reunion. There was no opposition to the nomination.

W. P. Levery of Burleson, commander of the camp at that place, was present and announced that the Burleson camp will give a picnic April 22. He extended an invitation to the camp to be present, which was accepted.

MEETING OF SONS

A number of the Sons of Confederate Veterans held a meeting following that of the parent camp.

The regular order of business was dispensed with and the following entertainment program rendered:

Reading, "The Blind Girl," Miss Burgess; instrumental and vocal music on the guitar, by Master Hightower; reading, "The Vagabond Prince," Miss Crossland; reading, "His Courier," Miss Miller.

The camp was addressed by Hugh L. Taylor of Nashville.

Messieurs W. P. Lane, W. H. Tanner and Key were appointed to arrange a suitable program for next Sunday.

RACING PLANS ARE UNDER WAY

Winter Circuit Definitely Outlined Will Have Headquarters in This City

Passage of the measure amending the Hancock bill by permitting the placing of bets on horse races within the race enclosure has been received with jubilation by the sporting fraternity of this city. Members of which have received definite information that next winter will see Fort Worth the center of winter racing.

Dan Stuart is mentioned as the backer of the circuit, which will include this city, San Antonio and Houston. The circuit will be one covering ninety days, and will open with twenty days racing on a track to be established between this city and Dallas. The strings will then be taken to San Antonio for ten days and to Houston for fifteen days, returning to the Indian track for a run of forty-five days closing with the opening of the Hot Springs track.

Under the regulations, the bill, unless vetoed by the governor, will become a law May 5. Although a number of fair races may take place during the summer, the big circuit racing will not begin until next winter.

Plans for the utilization of Prospect park as a center of racing are also under way, though being closely guarded at present. John McMurtry, one of the lovers of fast horses and a skillful driver himself, said this morning that plans for racing on a large scale at the track were under consideration, but that at present he was not at liberty to disclose them.

For the present he said the regular Thursday matinee races will be continued at the track.

The track, a kite-shaped one, is one of the fastest in the country and is admirably situated for the drawing of large crowds. It can be reached in a few minutes from all parts of this city and North Fort Worth, and has the advantage of two car lines. Frisco and Cotton Belt tracks at the back of the track will also enable the running of excursions to the track direct.

Alderman J. L. Lydon of North Fort Worth is deeply interested in making a first-class racing center of the track. Even before the opening of the legislature he urged efforts to convert the track into a pleasure ground that would attract people from all parts of North Texas, urging the combination of ball grounds and other amusements.

FRISCO AFTER TENN. CENTRAL

Officers Are Now Inspecting a Line Which Will Open the Southeast to System

The announcement is expected daily that the Frisco has acquired the Tennessee Central road, the main line of which runs from Harrison, Tenn., to Hopkinsville, Ky. Chairman B. F. Yousum and President A. J. Davidson are now making a trip over the line with officials of that road for the purpose of inspecting the property.

The present plans seem to be to build in the gap between Joppa, Ill., or Evansville, the nearest point on the Frisco, and Hopkinsville, and on the other extremity of the Tennessee Central, to build on into Knoxville, a distance of fifty miles.

It is believed that the acquisition of the Tennessee Central is but the preliminary move by the Frisco system for a general expansion in the southeast. It is reported that the Frisco will formally take over the road May 1, operating it in connection with the Chicago and Eastern Illinois.

The main line of the Tennessee Central is 251 miles long and has branches forty-seven miles in length and owns a belt line around the city of Nashville, Tenn. The road runs up extensive timber and coal lands east of Nashville.

GULF LINE TO OPEN

May 1 Fixed for Operation of Steamer Service

The establishment of the new steamship service between Texas City and Mexican port points will be of considerable value to this state, as it will bring many tourists to the Republic through Texas. The service will be inaugurated May 1, at which time five vessels will be put in service. The sixth vessel is now being built at Norwich, Conn., and is to be finished by July 1. It was originally intended to put this new steamship service in operation April 1, but this was found to be impossible.

The line will have connection with the Gould lines at Houston, and the plan is to put one of the new vessels in a direct line to Coatzacoalcas, there connecting with the Tehuantepec railroad, and through it with the Pacific steamship lines and Pacific ports, thus furnishing the most direct route from New York to the Southern Pacific ports.

STOP AT BRIDGE

Mexican Road Issues Order to Prevent Wrecks

The adoption of a system has been ordered by the Mexican railroad to prevent bridge disasters. The Mexican officials have issued orders that hereafter all trains must stop at the entrance of bridges, which act will reduce to a minimum the chance of serious accidents. This action was taken as a result of the recent serious wreck at the Metlac bridge.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC EXTENSION

Will Build Rather Than Acquire Nueces Valley

The Southern Pacific is contemplating the extension of its line from Beeville to the Rio Grande header at Laredo. By building to Laredo a direct connection with Mexico shorter than at anywhere else will be had and affording facilities to the Southern Pacific that would not be the case if that road secured the Nueces Valley and Mexico, which is being projected by Fort Worth parties, and built it up to Eagle Pass.

CLUB SPECIAL ORDERED

El Paso Organization to Go to Buffalo in July

The Texas and Pacific has been selected as the official route for the trip of the Queen Saba Club from El Paso to Buffalo in July. The train that will carry this club will be one of the finest that has ever been provided for such occasions. The route will be via Fort Worth, Dallas, Texasiana, Little Rock to St. Louis over the Iron Mountain, thence to Detroit and St. Thomas, Canada, and Buffalo. The train will be run in two sections, according to present plans.

Fred J. Feldman of El Paso has gone to Buffalo to make all arrangements for the accommodation of the club while in that city.

SIERRA MADRE CHANGE

Route Altered Because of Engineering Problems

By the first of August about eighty miles of the Sierra Madre road will be completed, according to the statement of Chief Engineer J. P. Hallihan, who is also assistant to President C. W. Green. Twenty-five miles of the extension, which is to be 145 miles in length, have already been located and five parties of engineers are now in the field pushing the work of locating the line.

Instead of building from Terrazas, the present terminus of the road, to Dedrick, as was originally planned, it has been decided to build from Casas Grandes to Dedrick, making the road from Casas Grandes to Terrazas a branch line. Instead of a continuation of the main line, as there are several difficult engineering problems to be overcome the chief engineer says that he is not now able to say when the final route will be decided. A great many bridges and tunnels will be required to equalize the grade of the road.

FACTORY CLUB MEETING

The meeting of citizens to be held at the city hall tonight for the purpose of perfecting the organization of the Fort Worth Factory Club, should be generally attended.

TEXAS TRUST INVESTIGATION

Recently there was a petition circulated and signed in this city by a number of live stock commission men operating upon the local market, praying the state legislature not to make an appropriation of $15,000 for the purpose of aiding the attorney general of Texas to proceed against the trusts alleged to be doing business in this state.

Hon. W. W. Turney of El Paso, president of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas, takes that view of the matter, and it is safe to say that President Turney well presents the views of practically all the members of the great organization he represents.

President W. W. Turney of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas, who, with Mrs. Turney, is down from El Paso to witness the McNeal-Kokot wedding, was asked by the Express representative Wednesday while a visitor on change what the cattlemen thought of the petition to the legislature signed by a large number of the commission firms at Fort Worth, protesting against an appropriation of $15,000 by that body to be used in investigating the business of packers in Texas.

The action of the commission men was doubtless inspired by the best motives. It is not probable that they intended by their action to manifest any sympathy for the so-called beef trust or to take sides against the producing element of the country.

The committee, consisting of Senators McKamy and Hicks and Representatives Bryan, McFaddin and Williams, appointed to make an investigation and report what means, if any, the state of Texas can, and, in its judgment, should use to aid the president in putting an end to the constant and oppressive violations of law in which the beef trust has been and is persistently engaged, today filed a report, in part as follows:

"We had several sessions of the committee and have had before us a number of persons, and, while there was not developed such evidence of specific violation of the anti-trust law upon which we could recommend the investigation of civil or criminal proceedings against any particular person or corporation, yet, from these hearings and from advice received and obtained by the committee and the several members thereof we are able to state and to report that, in our judgment, there exists in this state a combination of persons and corporations engaged in the business of packing and selling beef and other like products, which is in contravention of the anti-trust law and constitutes a trust, monopoly and a company in restraint of trade.

"It is not the wish of this committee or of the legislature, or of any department of government, that a course of action shall be recommended or adopted encouraging or organizing a procedure for the enforcement of the anti-trust law without sufficient evidence in each case to justify a judgment or conviction, yet we think the time has arrived when this law should be in good faith enforced or the law repealed.

"It is beneath the dignity of this great state to solemnly enact a law of this nature, under the conditions then and now existing, and then to permit such law to remain a mere form and without meaning or effect.

"While the existence or non-existence of what is termed the 'beef trust' is the only matter which has been referred to this committee for investigation and report, we are advised that complaints are being made from different parts of the state of this and other violations of the anti-trust law, to such an extent and with such effect as has led to the introduction in the legislature of a bill providing the attorney general with means for the enforcement of the law against the trusts alike.

"We therefore recommend that the bill referred to, carrying an appropriation of $15,000, be enacted into law, and that this committee be continued and made permanent, with authority to act during vacation and under the direction of the attorney general in the investigation of the beef trust, with power to send for persons and papers, administer oaths and compel the attendance of witnesses, and to make report to the attorney general of such matters as this committee may determine necessary; that said committee will perform its duty without cost to the state.

"This means that the investigation of the alleged beef trust in Texas will be continued by the legislative committee, and that the attorney general of the state may set the machinery of his department in motion in the same direction. If there is no beef trust in Texas no harm will be done any way.

While there is so much of a howl going up against the operations of the big trusts all over the country, the fact should be borne in mind that there are few of us who would not be monopolists if the opportunity was extended.

A BID FOR FREEDOM BY GUY BOUTHBY

"Let us go on," I cried. "We have no time to lose." So, bidding Haj Absalaam farewell, we mounted our horses and left the little town for the arid region beyond. Hours after hour we pressed on, and it was not until midday that we cried a halt under the selfsame palms under which I had halted on the occasion of my memorable ride from the capital.

Having allowed our horses time to recover themselves somewhat, we started on our way again, but, though we rode fast, we discovered no trace of the other party. This puzzled me considerably, for, though they had had a start of us, we had ridden at such a pace that it was inexplicable why we had not caught them up. I trusted, however, that we should find them at the resting place at which I had slept on the way down.

know that it so exasperated me that I took her by the wrist, and crying "Come out of that, you brazen harlot!" pulled her from the litter to the sandy track. "It seems that we have been swindled," I said, turning to my companions. "Is it possible that this is the woman they brought from Gibraltar?" Manalaki looked puzzled; not so Constantides. "No," he answered. "She is gone another route. They have heard that we are following. Push on to the city, else Muhammad Hassan and his brother will be there before us, and then we shall do no good."

Leaving the disconsolate negress, we proceeded on our way, to the accompaniment of a volley of abuse in the vernacular. It was almost the time for closing the gates when we rode into the city. I noticed that the guards looked somewhat strangely at us, and I could see that my companions were also aware of the fact.

A WOMAN AS BLACK AS EBONY.

But when we reached it we were destined to be again disappointed. There was no sign of them there, nor did the villagers know anything of them, though we questioned them severely. I asked my companions what they thought of it, but Manalaki's only explanation was that they must have gone another way, which appeared to be quite unlikely, considering that the track we were following was the shortest and consequently the most direct route to the capital. As usual, Constantides did not offer an opinion until he was asked for it, and when he did you may be sure it was in as few words as possible.

"Not in front," he said. "Behind!" I looked at him in surprise. This side of the question was entirely unexpected. I asked his reason for saying such a thing.

"They are traveling with a litter. We have done 50 miles. Could they?" "On the way, yes, you may be sure it will be where it will take a clever man to find them."

"Never mind," I said; "in the morning we'll push on and wait for them. If they can play the hiding game, so can we."

This plan we carried out. We discovered a good position 100 yards or so from the track and hid ourselves there.

It was a long and dreary wait, but at length we were rewarded by seeing a small party coming across the plain. When they came nearer it became evident that they were the folk we were expecting, for they had a litter with them.

I might possibly not have been so certain in my own mind had I not been informed by Manalaki that it was our friend Muhammad Hassan who rode ahead, while his brother escorted the litter behind.

This opinion was strengthened by the fact that a soldier of the sultan's body guard rode on either side of it. "Let them come opposite us," I whispered to my companions, "and then we'll ride out."

When they came to the place I wanted, I gave the signal, and we dashed out of our hiding place towards them. The two brothers incontinently fled and the soldiers followed their example. The 24 slaves, who took it in turns to bear the litter, fled also, leaving the precious receptacle at our mercy.

"Thank heaven!" I said to myself, "we have succeeded beyond my utmost expectations." Sprinkling from my horse and giving the reins to Manalaki, I approached the litter crying, "Thank goodness, Lady Olivia, we have found you at last!" I drew back the curtain and looked inside. What did I see? Not England's peerless beauty, but a woman as black as ebony, who laughed pleasantly and asked me in Arabic why I had driven her men away.

Without doubt our worthy friend Hassan had already given information against us. As we rode across the sok, and I caught a glimpse of the grim kasbah towering aloft, a feeling that was almost one of hopelessness came over me.

I was recalling the misery I had experienced, when a miserable cripple approached and held up two handless arms in entreaty for bushsheesh. His mouth was open and I saw that his tongue had been cut out.

"We'll be what you call dam lucky if we don't find ourselves in the kasbah tomorrow morning," said Manalaki in English. "Had it not been for you, my friend, I would not have come upon this errand."

"Go back, then," I said savagely. "There is still time." I knew my man. Having taken up the matter, all the demons of the underworld could not have induced him to give it up before he saw the end of it.

The man with whom we put up was an old friend both of Manalaki and myself. When our host retired we deliberated as to what was to be done next. I was tortured by the belief that that night the Lady Olivia would be an inmate of the sultan's palace, yet how I was to prevent it I could not think. To venture there myself would mean certain death, yet if I did not how could I rescue her?

"Leave that to me," said Constantides. "I will find out whether she is there and what is the best way to communicate with her."

Manalaki laughed and patted the little man upon the back. "My friend is most wonderful," he said. "In all my life I knew not so great a man. I beg you wait and see."

Personally I was beginning to feel a great confidence in this weird little man who did not seem to know when he was beaten.

When we woke in the morning Constantides had disappeared. I inquired from Manalaki what he thought of it, and was informed by him in his usual figurative English that there was not the slightest occasion for me to worry.

"Do not fear," he said. "Constantides will not play you false. Then with grim emphasis, 'if he did, he knows that he would find my knife between his ribs!'" Manalaki declared his intention of going out to make inquiries on his own account. He was in the act of bidding me farewell when our landlord informed us that a stranger desired to see us. Though I did not know who he might be, I bade the man admit him, and in response the most villainous native leafer you can imagine made his appearance.

"Ah!" I thought to myself, "a spy from the sultan." I thought it would not be long before one would put in an appearance. "What do you want?" I asked; and the man whined sympathically. It appeared that he had come in the hopes of being able to induce me to take him into my service, and when I told him that I stood in no need of a servant he whined and implored. I glanced at Manalaki. His eyes were half closed, but they were fixed upon the beggar. Once more the latter implored me to take him into my service, and again I refused. Then his voice changed and he asked me if I knew him. It was Constantides! "I am flattered that you did not know me," he remarked, without a smile upon his face. "But to business. I have been to the palace and have made inquiries in my own way."

"And with what result?" "That I know where the lady is," "Where is she, then?" I inquired. "When she enters the palace?" "She has not entered it at all. For the present she is in the city, and the sultan will pay her a visit of ceremony today."

I ground my teeth. "Do you know the place?" "He nodded, and his nod was as significant as that of the great Lord Burleigh."

"Can you convey a message to her to let her know that she has friends in the city who will do their best to save her?" "I will do my best," he answered, "but it will be dangerous, for she is guarded so closely that no one can approach her."

"If any man can do it, you can," I said, and Manalaki expressed the same opinion. Later on he disappeared again, and the afternoon was well advanced before he returned.

Gleanings From the Exchanges Some of the legislators are complaining that their constituents are asking for too many passes. We don't see where there is any room for complaint. The legislature has refused to pass a law abolishing the free passes, and we certainly think that the boys who do the voting are entitled to at least an even divide. Certainly if a voter wants to take his family for a long-needed trip the legislator for whom he cast his ballot should have the courtesy to send him a pass for one trip out of the many he has from the railroads.—Denton News.

And the constituents of the members of the state legislature are making the same kind of complaint, believing the members themselves are asking for too many passes. So long as passes are given so freely in return for legislative influence there can be no great crime in vox populi asking to make just a few free trips. There is a feeling of distinction attached to traveling on a free pass, and the common herd should not be debarred from that feeling and privilege during the season when free passes are so easy.

Already blindly partisan papers are "regretting" Governor Hogg's Dallas speech and characterizing it as a "mistake." Usually these papers have believed and preached all along that Hogg's entire public career has been a "mistake." Meanwhile, by Gattins pursues the even tenor of his way and continues to be the trusted friend and adviser of the great mass of Texas people.—Dallas Times-Herald.

There are things the papers referred to should find much more regrettable than Hogg's Dallas speech. There are incidents connected with their abortive effort at party leadership in Texas that are much more to be deplored. The things they are saying about the ex-governor will have no effect on the people of Texas, however. They are too well informed as to the animus that is really behind the situation.

It was not essential in order to impress upon President Roosevelt the dignity, self-respect and cordiality of the people of Texas for Governor Hogg to sneer at certain southern statesmen because they could not approve certain phases of the president's Panama policy. That he should have overwhelmed the chief magistrate with his admiration was to have been expected, for when a man of Mr. Hogg's eruptive emotions becomes aroused the utmost floridity of speech must be looked for.—Houston Post.

The Post is never so happy as when it can find excuse for lambasting James S. Hogg for the mistakes he makes in his public utterances. Apparently, the Post forgets that it has also been guilty of making just a few mistakes. For instance, there is its connection with the Alton B. Parker fiasco—a mistake which kept more than 200,000 good Texas democrats away from the polls in the last presidential election. Governor Hogg only said at Dallas what he honestly believed. Would the Post have him declare sentiments that do not express his real opinions? The people of Texas know James S. Hogg, and when it comes to a choice between that gentleman and the Post in the matter of leadership, the people of Texas will be found following the Hogg banner every time.

Those who have been escaping taxation since 1884 may now be compelled to make good, the house having finally passed the bill for back tax collections. It is expected that the bill will result in collecting more than a million dollars due the state in back taxes.—San Antonio Express.

And if these people who have been escaping taxation had been made to toe the mark there would not now be any hole in the state treasury and no necessity for an extra session of the state legislature. Texas has suffered much from errors in the past, and it is to be hoped that the future will bring better things all around.

ECZEMA A FLESH FIRE

Those afflicted with Eczema know more than can be told of the suffering imposed by this "flesh fire." It usually begins with a slight redness of the skin, which gradually spreads, followed by blisters and pustules discharging a thin, sticky fluid that dries and scales off, leaving an inflamed surface, and at times the itching and burning are almost unbearable. While any part of the body is liable to be attacked, the hands, feet, back, arms, face and legs are the parts most often afflicted. The cause of Eczema is a too acid condition of the blood. The circulation becomes loaded with fiery acid poisons that are forced through the glands and pores of the skin which set the flesh aflame. Since the cause of the disease is in the blood it is a waste of time to try to cure it with local applications; the cause must be removed before a cure can be effected. S. S. S. has no equal as a remedy for Eczema; it enters the blood and forces out the poison through the natural channels, and builds up the entire system. The skin becomes smooth and soft again, and the Eczema is cured. Cases that have persistently refused to be cured under the ordinary treatment yield to its purifying, cooling effect on the blood. ### PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT NOW AMONG MOUNTAIN LIONS AND GRIZZLIES

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, COL.

BY W. H. EMMONS.

Special to The Telegram. DENVER, Col., April 17.—Four years ago Theodore Roosevelt, then vice president-elect of the United States, visited western Colorado and spent some weeks in lion hunting in Routt county. Now, he is again visiting these same haunts, but this time as president.

with every inch of the mountainous territory in the northwestern part of Colorado, traversed the hills hunting out those places where the bear, lion and other big game abound in the greatest numbers. And these points are not those which are by any means the most accessible from the railroad. Sport is what the president wanted, and sport he will have if the plans of John Goff and Jake Borah, the two most famous guides of the west, do not go astray. But in order to find this sport the president will be obliged to rough it in every sense of the word. The subject of the best hunting grounds for the president was discussed at a recent conference at Glenwood Springs, between Philip B. Stewart of Colorado Springs, who has the arrangements for the Colorado trip in hand, and John Goff and Jake Borah. These two guides had been over every inch of the grounds under consideration, and if the plans agreed upon at this conference are carried out, the president, during most of the time that he is in Colorado, will be more than a score of miles away from even the nearest telegraph station. His headquarters will be in a hunter's log cabin, some-where in the mountains in that part of Colorado where the counties of Pitkin, Garfield and Eagles join. In this little cabin, with the aid of a tallow light, the affairs of the nation which need immediate consideration will be decided. In order to reach the president, it will be necessary for a messenger to ride horseback thirty miles each way over the roughest mountain roads and trails to be found in the entire state. The president left his special train, which will run via the Colorado Midland railway, at Glenwood Springs. Here Secretary Loeb and the executive clerks will be signing orders.

THE WHITE RIVER COUNTRY, WHERE THE PRESIDENT WILL HUNT.

PHILIP B. STEWART.

maintain headquarters at the Hotel Colorado, which becomes the temporary capital of the nation, and each day or two the secretary will make a sixty-mile ride across the mountains to the president's cabin, where important state papers will be signed.

John Goff

The country in which the president is hunting is the wildest in the state. The nearest railroad reaching this part of the state is the Colorado Midland, and in one county alone, in the northwestern part of Colorado, there is more anthracite, according to the estimates of engineers, than is to be found in the entire state of Pennsylvania. This county is Routt, and adjoining it is Rio Blanco county, and in neither of these counties has there ever been a railroad.

That the presidential party expects to have good luck is evidenced by the announcement of Stewart, who is in charge of the trip, that bear meat will be one of the menus of the evening dinners which the ruler of the nation expects to enjoy. Bacon, black coffee and corn bread will make up the rest of the bill of fare. For this is the entire list of edibles which the presidential party will take with it. Of course, the mountain streams in the vicinity where the president will hunt abound in trout, but unless the distinguished party violate the game laws of the state there will be no fish at any of their meals.

It is seldom that hunting parties ever venture into the White river country at this time of the year, on account of the severity of the winter, and plenty of snow will be found by the president. But this snow has not deterred Roosevelt, for his last visit to these same hunting grounds was made in January.

Dr. Little Says Gambling Halls Cannot Be Closed While Parlor Games Are Played

Action of the county attorney in closing gambling houses and that of society women in playing card games in their homes for prizes was contrasted by Dr. Luther Little in a sermon delivered in the Union Evangelical series Sunday night. At the close of his sermon he called for all who approved the action of the county attorney to stand up, causing a number to rise. In attacking home card parties he declared that in one instance a prize offered was permitted to contain the store price and address so that the contestants could exchange it for anything they desired more. Money, the root of all evil, was at the basis of the sermon charges that many

We Paid $100,000

For Liquozone. Yet We Give You a 50c Bottle Free

We paid $100,000 for the American rights to Liquozone; the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, in this country and others. We cured all kinds of germ diseases with it—thousands of the most difficult cases obtainable. We proved that in germ troubles it always accomplishes what medicine cannot do. Now we ask you to try it—try it at our expense. Test it as we did; see what it does. Then you will use it always, as we do, and as millions of others do. You will use it, not only to get well, but to keep well. And it will save nearly all of your sickness.

It is this fact that gives Liquozone its worth to humanity. And that worth is so great that we have spent over one million dollars to supply the first bottle free to each sick one we learned of.

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and recovery. That is inevitable.

Kills Inside Germs

Liquozone is not made by compounding drugs, nor is there alcohol in it. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and fourteen days' time. This process has, for more than twenty years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. The result is a fluid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetable matter. There lies the great value of Liquozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease.

SUICIDE'S SHOT HEARD IN CHURCH

Former British Sea Captain Kills Self During Devotional Service

ST. LOUIS, April 17.—Captain James A. Rider, 66 years old, for four years the janitor of the St. James' Memorial Episcopal church, committed suicide yesterday by shooting in a room adjoining the auditorium, where the rector of the church was conducting devotional services. The sound of the shot was plainly heard by the congregation, but there was no excitement. One of the vestrymen investigated and reported to Dr. Duckworth, who announced from the pulpit a brief statement of what had occurred. He requested that the congregation leave the church at once.

Very little is known of Captain Rider's antecedents. It is said he was born in Liverpool, England, and that he was a captain in the British merchant marine service.

The car was in charge of Conductor Mann and Motorman Hamilton. Superintendent Edwards of the Traction Company said the only explanation that could be offered for the accident was that the motorman mistook his location in the dark and thought the curve further ahead.

STATE CLOSES IN BRIBERY CASE

Defense in Kirby and Vandervoort Trial Will Offer Testimony Today

Special to the Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, April 17.—At noon today the state rested its case in the trial of the case of the state against John H. Kirby and A. S. Vandervoort, charged with conspiracy to bribe a judicial officer. The state closed, however, with the understanding that they would introduce additional direct testimony if they saw fit.

At the morning session of the court William M. Baugh of Houston, auditor of the Kirby Lumber Company, was called by the state. He testified as to making an entry on the voucher book for $12,500, and that one-half of this amount was charged to the Kirby Lumber Company and the other half to Houston Oil Company. This amount was charged to the account of legal services and expenses incidental to dismissal of the anti-trust cases.

Brown Botts of Houston, clerk for the Kirby Lumber Company, said that he had received an entry on the voucher book, Judge James H. Robertson, who was Kirby's lawyer in the anti-trust cases, testified as to the conference he had with different lawyers representing the Kirby Lumber Company, in which he contended that the cases could be won legitimately. He testified that he had furnished a written opinion to Kirby to the effect that the cases could be won, as the anti-trust act was unconstitutional; that also the district attorney had no jurisdiction, and also on facts.

The purpose of the state in placing Judge Robertson on the stand was to show that the anti-trust cases would have been dismissed regularly and according to law and without resorting to bribery of the judiciary. The testimony of Vandervoort submitted in the Moore trial was submitted by the state to show the connection of Vandervoort in paying over the money to Glover.

The defense will begin introducing testimony this afternoon.

Young Gurnsey here is an ex-student of Brown University, which college he entered in 1902.

After leaving his alma mater, where he made a good record as a ball player, he has mixed up more or less in professional ball circles and at last drifted to Texas. He has been in this state for about two months.
