

MOTHER BIG BUILDING TO BE BUILT FOR THE TELEGRAM

More Room Necessary for Its Rapidly Increasing Needs—Twin Structure to Be Erected, Doubling Size of Present Building—Charles A. Myers, Business Manager of the Houston Chronicle, Comes to Business Department of The Telegram

TO OCCUPY LOT ADJOINING PRESENT PLANT

The Telegram has grown so rapidly during the past twelve months that it has been found necessary to have at once double its present floor space.

In this connection C. D. Reimers, president of The Fort Worth Telegram Company, announces that a half-interest in the newspaper property owned by The Fort Worth Telegram Company has been sold to Charles A. Myers of Houston, who has been, and will be until May 6, business manager of the Houston Chronicle and secretary of the company which owns that paper.

No two newspapers in Texas or any state have made the progress that has been achieved by the Houston Chronicle and The Fort Worth Telegram during the past three years.

Mr. Myers will bring to The Telegram the same energies, the same ability, that he brought with him to Houston from northern newspapers, added to it now the experiences that he has gained in four years of labor in the Texas field.

From the Houston Chronicle, May 2: Mr. Chas. A. Myers has resigned his position as secretary and director of the Houston Chronicle Publishing Co., and business manager of the Houston Chronicle, to take effect May 6, and will leave in a few days for Fort Worth, where he will be connected with The Telegram in that city.

Mr. Myers has purchased from Mr. Reimers a one-half interest in the Daily and Weekly Telegram and the Texas Stockman-Journal, the latter being the official organ of the Texas Stock Raisers' Association. Mr. Myers will be associated with Mr. Reimers in the management of these papers, devoting his time principally to the business department.

During his four years in Houston, and prior to coming to this city, Mr. Myers has been known as one of the strongest and one of the most successful newspaper makers in the business. He began his newspaper career on the Kansas City Star, going from that paper to the Indianapolis News.

At a meeting of the directors held yesterday, a strong resolution of commendation was passed in behalf of Mr. Myers and good wishes expressed for his future prosperity.

His many friends made during his residence in Houston, will regret to lose Mr. Myers from business and social circles of this city and these will join in wishing that his lines may fall in pleasant places in Fort Worth.

The Telegram, with which Mr. Myers will be associated, is one of the most successful and influential evening and Sunday morning papers in the state, the circulation and standing of which will doubtless be materially extended through the efforts of Mr. Myers.

Looking backward over the success of both the Houston Chronicle and The Fort Worth Telegram what a full measure of prosperity must surely come to the lot of The Telegram when the energies that were largely responsible for the success of both of those papers are brought together here in Fort Worth under one roof for the further prosecution of the work of building up The Evening and Sunday Telegram, The Weekly Telegram and The Texas Stockman-Journal, all properties of The Fort Worth Telegram Company.

Just a year ago The Telegram property was brought from a rented building on Houston street to the structure erected for its own use, at the corner of Throckmorton and Eighth streets.

The Telegram has been a paper that does things. It has made a single promise that has not been faithfully fulfilled. The Telegram's aim is to be a newspaper first, last and always. It will be the constant aim of The Telegram to always be found doing it full meed of duty and its full share of work in achieving that great end for the city of Fort Worth.

That phrase was repeated from time to time. Today we say it again.

"KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE TELEGRAM. KEEP WATCHING IT GROW."

STRAWBERRY CROP DAMAGED $10,000

SMITH COUNTY FARMERS HEAVY LOSERS AS RESULT OF RECENT DESTRUCTIVE RAINS

TYLER, Texas, May 2.—The low price for strawberries, fifty cents per crate, is causing Smith county growers to quit the fields and the first estimate of loss to the crop by rains is being overreached. The total loss in the past ten days will equal $100,000.

SEC. WILSON SUSTAINED

Attorney General Gives Opinion on Feeding-in-Transit Law

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The attorney general has rendered an opinion sustaining Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture in his contention that the law requiring stock in transit to be unloaded, fed and watered at intervals not greater than twenty-eight hours, applies to terminal railway companies as well as to the through lines.

SURVEYORS TO MARK CANADIAN BOUNDARY

Party Will Leave Victoria, B. C., for the North Thursday and Start on Portland Canal

VICTORIA, B. C., May 2.—The Canadian boundary survey party, which is to delineate the boundary as stated in the Alaskan boundary award, will leave for the north on Thursday, landing at the head of navigation on the Portland canal, following the line. The surveyors will use triangulation and astronomy to mark the line and will cut a wide trail. A series of monuments will be built.

PRICE GETS TEN YEARS

Judge Refuses New Trial and Attorneys Will Appeal

WACO, Texas, May 2.—R. A. Price, who was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary on a charge of robbing N. K. Stegall of Santa Ana, Texas, by getting Stegall drunk and keeping him under guard for several days, extorting checks from him, has asked for a new trial, but Judge Sam Scott of the fifty-fourth district court has denied the new trial and sentenced Price to ten years in the penitentiary. The case has excited much interest here.

Scenes in Chicago Streets Since Teamsters Strike Has Paralyzed Local Freight Transportation

Upper picture shows one of the innocent victims of the big Chicago strike. An egg shell filled with carbolic acid, hurled at a non-union driver, struck the horse and just as the camera snapped the suffering beast reared with cries of pain. Lower picture shows non-union drivers of Montgomery Ward & Co. with their wagons and motors rigged with canvas hoods to protect them from stones and egg shells filled with acid.

CRISIS NEAR IN CHICAGO'S LABOR CLASH

Employers' Union Determines to Force Ultimatum from Striking Teamsters—Decision Must Be Rendered Today

CHICAGO, Ill., May 2.—The outcome of the move to bring the teamsters' conflict to a crisis was eagerly awaited today by employers and unionists. The Employers' Association had delivered its ultimatum to the teamsters, demanding that they must make deliveries to department stores as they have been doing in the past.

Yesterday eleven of the men were brought into court and arraigned on the charge of murder.

MEXICO NOW HAS GOLD BASIS

CITY OF MEXICO, May 2.—The gold standard went into operation yesterday without the slightest jar or disturbance in social or business circles. The finance department had by a series of new regulations and laws smoothed the way for the adoption of the gold standard. The present pesos are worth 50c gold. The final completion of the monetary form is hailed with general satisfaction, especially by great transportation lines and importers who have in their manufacturing industries to buy heavily of the raw materials abroad.

SITUATION IN WARSAW YET GRAVE

Reports Show at Least One Hundred Persons Were Killed or Wounded During Revolutionary Disturbances

LESS SERIOUS THAN OFFICIALS EXPECTED

Uprisings Practically Confined to Poland—Minor Disturbances in European Russia. Military Brutal

WARSAW, May 2, noon.—The city is apparently once again quiet this morning, but the situation is none the less grave. Workmen are going from factory to factory, compelling their comrades to strike and compelling of further conflicts arouses the keenest apprehension.

Ten of the wounded, who were taken to hospitals, died of their wounds. During the early hours of the morning the troops not only fired a volley, but they fired the butts of their rifles and their bayonets and swords as well. Many women and children had their heads and limbs broken. Some of the injuries were of a terrible nature, and there are cases where the soldiers entered the courtyard of the houses and attacked those hiding there.

When the troops fired after the bomb explosion in attracting immense crowds. At Kallsz, during the service in church yesterday, the congregation began singing patriotic songs, whereupon the soldiers and the police entered the building and attacked the people, wounding many of them.

Today the scene of last night's bomb explosion is attracting immense crowds. At Kallsz, during the service in church yesterday, the congregation began singing patriotic songs, whereupon the soldiers and the police entered the building and attacked the people, wounding many of them.

The strikers at Lodz' now number 75,000.

BETTER THAN ANTICIPATED

Russian Authorities Consider Uprising Throughout Poland Less Serious in Results Than Expected

ST. PETERSBURG, May 2.—Bad as was the shooting at Warsaw, Lodz and other places in Poland yesterday, and venomous as was the hostility everywhere displayed against the police and the Russian authorities, the uprising was far less formidable and the results less than anticipated. The authorities had given no warning of their intention to permit no demonstrations and the troops quelled the disturbances ruthlessly. All reports, however, indicate the demonstrations were comparatively few in number. The vast bulk of the population, fearing trouble, remained indoors.

Where the trouble occurred the crowds were armed with bombs and revolvers. In Warsaw a red flag procession was dispersed by two volleys of cavalry. The vast bulk of the population, fearing trouble, remained indoors.

About 100 persons were killed or seriously wounded, according to reports, women and even children sharing in the fate of the men.

At Lodz the workmen attacked the police with bombs and were charged by dragons and Uhlanis, who cut off the bomb throwers, drove them into a house, surrounded it and then fired upon those inside, killing three persons and wounding many.

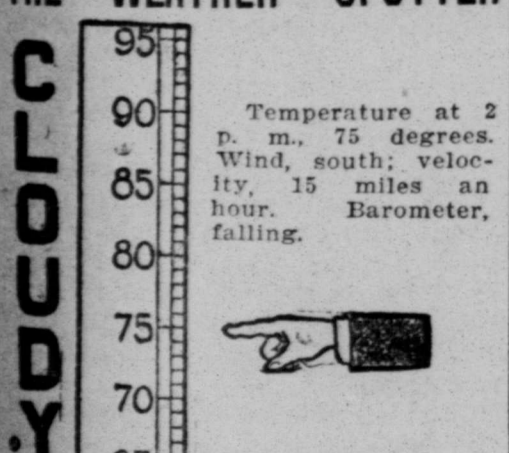

Early reports today say the Polish press is intensely excited by yesterday's bloodshed, and it is feared trouble will be renewed.

The only place in European Russia where trouble occurred yesterday was at Minsk, which, strictly speaking, belongs to Poland. There was also a report received here saying there was bomb throwing and firing upon the Cossacks and patriots from windows, but fatalities were few.

SAY LAWMAKER TRIED TO SELL STAMPS

AUSTIN, Texas, May 2.—The alleged attempted sale of postage stamps by a member of the legislature is to be thoroughly investigated. In the senate yesterday a resolution was adopted providing for the appointment of a committee to make the investigation. The report is that a certain member attempted to sell $25 worth of postage stamps at the Austin postoffice, which was turned down by the postoffice clerk. The adoption of the resolution created quite a stir in legislative circles. The committee is composed of Senators Faulk, Skinner, Chambers, Terrell and Davidson.

GOVERNOR VETOES CITY BOND BILL

Holds That There is no Demand for Legislation of Its Character

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, May 2.—The governor today vetoed the house bill authorizing counties and cities incorporated under the general law to issue bonds for the purpose of raising funds for the payment of valid floating indebtedness. The governor holds there is no general demand for this character of legislation. He also disapproved the house bill requiring railroad companies to construct switches and spur tracks. The governor objects to this bill because it prescribes a railroad to construct switches and spur tracks on private property.

RECIPROCITY WITH MEXICO

A concurrent resolution was introduced in the lower branch of the legislature today requesting the president of the United States to open negotiations with the treaty-making power of the Republic of Mexico with a view of attaining a reciprocity treaty with that republic looking to the encouragement of the exportation of grain, grain products, blooded cattle, hogs and poultry to said republic. Action will be taken on the resolution tomorrow.

The house spent the entire morning session in an effort to cut out the appropriation of $2,500 for miscellaneous items at the Confederates' Home in the general deficiency bill, which is under consideration.

Polytechnic College gained a decided baseball victory over Fort Worth University in a game played on the University campus Monday afternoon. Thirteen runs and fifteen hits for Poly took the slugger's feat that was had off Phillips, the University pitcher. Only one run was made by the University; this in the eighth inning. Poly marked up the tally from start to finish.

MANY BODIES MEET IN DALLAS TODAY

DALLAS, Texas, May 2.—The state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic is in session this morning. Addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Barry and Captain D. E. Grove, an ex-Confederate soldier. They will be in session three days. National Commander Blackmar arrives tomorrow.

The State Woman's Relief Corps is also in session here. The Master Plumbers of Texas are in session here. About fifty are present. Matters concerning trade were discussed in executive session. They meet here for a two days' session.

The board of home missions of the Baptist Missionary Association met today at Oak Cliff. Plans for educational work in the state are being considered. General managers of railroads and their attorneys meet here today. The session is executive. The purpose is believed to consider intangible tax and other revenue measures.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

Don't trifle with a cold; no one can tell what the end may be. Pneumonia, catarrh, chronic bronchitis and consumption invariably result from neglected colds. Nothing can be compared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as a quick cure for colds and grip, and by its use the more serious diseases may be avoided.

today. A meeting was held and several witnesses examined. Chairman Faulk of the committee stated that nothing tangible has thus far been obtained. He said that in the event it is the member of the house who is the person referred to, the senate committee will take action, but will let the house take action.

MINE VICTIM'S BODIES NOT YET RECOVERED

Thirteen Men Still Buried in Shaft Near Wilburton, I. T., 380 Feet Below Surface

WILBURTON, I. T., May 2.—Forty-eight hours after the explosion in the Degnan-McConnell mine disaster shows apparently very little done toward recovering the bodies of the buried miners, but as much work as possible has been done and every effort is being made to rush the work to completion.

A great deal of trouble is being experienced by the rescuing parties because of gathering in the shaft and rendering it liable for other explosions and cave-ins. One cave-in occurred yesterday which caused some backsets in rescuing operations. The shaft is 380 feet deep to the main entry and is caved in 800 feet down, which leaves nearly 100 feet of rock, dirt and debris, the sides of which have to be braced and walled to prevent further accidents.

WOMEN BARRED AT PATTERSON TRIAL

NEW YORK, May 2.—Moved by the scene of yesterday, when it became necessary for the court officer to request several women to leave the court room, Recorder Goff today directed only those having direct interest in the case to be permitted to be present during the closing hours of the trial of Nan Patterson.

To carry out the recorder's order, the force of officers on duty in the criminal court building has greatly increased. Prospective spectators began to gather around the building early in the day. Among them were many women, some of whom have followed the trial from the time the first witness was put on the stand.

PRISONERS SUBSCRIBE TO AID PROSECUTION

Special to The Telegram. HOUSTON, Texas, May 2.—Sheriff Anderson today received a check from prisoners in Rusk penitentiary for $17, with instructions to be used in prosecuting Charles Hottle, under indictment on a charge of murdering J. I. Carter in the woods near Houston two weeks ago. At the same time John Dunlap was shot in the head and recovered. He testified Hottle did the shooting to rob the victims. All three had been fellow prisoners in Rusk penitentiary. The money subscribed for the prosecution of the man now under arrest indicates the feeling of the prisoners at Rusk who have heard of the crime. Hottle was sent to the penitentiary from Fort Worth.

GREAT MAGAZINE ACHIEVEMENT

The Pilgrim Magazine for May, one of the best known of the pictorial monthlies, offers, as a special feature, a double page group of portraits of "Living American Composers," one hundred and seventy-five in number, accompanied by such data as the music lover, amateur or professional, wishes to know of his favorite's work. Such a feature has never before been attempted by any magazine, and its value should result in the preservation of the Pilgrim for May. The almost endless work of gathering the portraits no doubt is compensated for in the ultimate success of the undertaking.

Another extra session of the state legislature is just about all that would be required to induce the people of Texas to hastily put on their war paint.

The Start

In married life is generally made on an equal footing of health in man and wife. But how soon, in many cases, the wife loses the start and falls in face and fails in flesh while her husband grows even more rugged and robust.

There is one chief cause for this wifely failure and that is, the failure of the womanly health. When there is irregularity of an unhealthy drain, inflammation, ulceration or female weakness, the general health is soon impaired.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

AUSTIN, Texas, May 2.—Governor Lanham has vetoed house bill No. 290, an act passed by the present legislature, authorizing the state board of education to purchase state warrants with the money of the permanent school fund.

ATAXIA IS CURABLE

REPORTED CURE STANDS TEST OF FULL INVESTIGATION.

A Former Victim of Locomotor Ataxia Now Free from Suffering and Actively at Work.

"Yes," said Mr. Watkins to a reporter, "it is true that I have been cured of ataxia by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

"Are you sure you had locomotor ataxia?"

"The doctors themselves told me so. Besides I recognized the symptoms."

"What were they?"

"Well, the first indications were a stiffness about the knee joints that came on about four years ago. A few months after that appeared, my walk got to be uncertain, shaky-like. I lost confidence in my power to control the movements of my legs. Once, when I was in the cellar, I started to pick up two scuttles of coal, and my legs gave way suddenly, and I tumbled all in a heap in a basket. I couldn't close my eyes and keep my balance to save my life. Then I had fearful pains over my whole body and I lost control over my kidneys and my bowels."

"How about your general health?"

"Sometimes I was so weak that I had to keep my bed and my weight fell off twenty pounds. Things looked pretty bad for me until I ran across a young man who had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and who advised me to try them."

"Did these pills help you right away?"

"I didn't see much improvement until I had used six boxes. The first benefit I noticed was a better circulation and a picking up in strength and weight. I gradually got confidence in my ability to direct the movements of my legs, and in the course of seven or eight months all the troubles had disappeared."

"Do you regard yourself as entirely well now?"

"I do the work of a well man at any rate. I can close my eyes and stand up all right and move about the same as other men. The pains are all gone except an occasional twitch in the calves of my legs."

Mr. James H. Watkins resides at No. 79 Westerlo street, Albany, N. Y. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained at any drug store. They should be used as soon as the first signs of locomotor ataxia appear in a peculiar numbness of the feet.

Ministers, Doctors and Temperance Workers

Use and Recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as the Only Effective Cure for Lung, Stomach and Nervous Diseases

"I THANK GOD THERE IS SUCH A MEDICINE," WRITES REV. DR. McLEOD, an active minister for 50 years. "For more than 40 years I had been afflicted with dyspepsia and nervous prostration. At times I was so run down I could not attend to my ministerial duties. I could neither eat nor sleep. I began taking Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It gave me strength, helped my digestion, settled my nerves, and I gained 10 pounds in one month. I recommend those who are weak, broken down, nervous, to take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, Greenleaf, Mich., January 22, 1904.

DR. BOWNE PRESCRIBED "DUFFY'S" 25 YEARS. "I have found that in pneumonia, grip and other exhausting diseases my patients never fail to respond favorably to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Taken as directed it is bound to relieve and permanently cure consumption." Dr. E. H. Bowne, Kingston, N. J., Aug. 3, 1904.

MR. THOMAS MORAN, TEMPERANCE WORKER, SAYS: "I have lived in Rochester, N. Y., for almost 70 years and people know me as a strict temperance man, but I unhesitatingly recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for the great good it did me during my illness. Two months ago I was so weak from bronchitis I could not raise my head. I had a low fever and all the symptoms of a relapse. The doctor ordered my whiskey, and I would not be living today but for its use. I made me strong, vigorous—better than I have been in years." July 26, 1904.

For over half a century men and women prominent in the affairs of the nation have been using and endorsing Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as the one certain cure and preventive of disease. The opinions of a few of them are published in a booklet which we mail anyone free on request. The unrivaled record of this splendid medicine is over 4,000,000 cures. More than 7,000 doctors use it in their homes and prescribe it regularly in their practice, and it's used exclusively in over 2,000 hospitals. It's an absolutely pure distillation of malt, scientifically combined with medicinal ingredients of highest quality. It acts directly upon the diseased organs and parts in a natural manner and strengthens and builds up the entire system. It contains no fusel oil. Every testimonial is published in good faith and guaranteed.

CAUTION.—When you ask your druggist or grocer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It's the only absolutely pure medicinal whiskey, and is sold in sealed bottles—never in flash or bulk. Look for the trademark, the "Old Chemist" on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is broken. Write for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

BOWDEN CASE SETTLED

Veteran to Apologize to Managers of Confederate Home for Criticism

AUSTIN, Texas, May 2.—A settlement has finally been reached in the famous Bowden case, which has occupied the attention of the courts for several months. After the jury had been out about two hours, the lawyers representing both sides in the case came to an agreement and the case was taken from the jury.

According to the agreement, which was in the nature of a compromise, J. T. Bowden, the plaintiff, will be permitted to return to the home from which he had been dismissed, provided he goes before the board of managers and apologizes to it for any remarks or strictures he may have made against the board when the matter first came up. This Bowden agreed to do, and he will also sign a statement to obey the rules and regulations of the home in future. Under this agreement judgment was entered for the defendant in the case.

Several months ago Bowden was dismissed from the home under a resolution adopted by the board, for alleged insubordination and for criticizing the management of the home. Before he was finally ousted, however, he sued out for a writ of injunction to enjoin the superintendent from carrying out the resolution of the board, and this was granted, and upon hearing the temporary injunction was dissolved. The case was then taken from the Fifty-third district court into the Twenty-sixth district court and went through the same course there, and finally Bowden's attorneys applied to Judge Kittrell of the Harris county district court at Houston for a restraining order, which was granted, and made returnable to the Fifty-third district court, and again heard and dissolved.

BAPTIST MISSION IN WEST ADDITION

Sunday School Being Held Regularly in Van Zandt Addition School House

A mission between this city and Arlington Heights has been established by the First Baptist church. Sunday school service being held regularly in the school house in the Van Zandt addition each Sunday. Between forty and fifty families have become identified with the mission which is growing rapidly. Dr. Luther Little, pastor of the First Baptist church, said this morning that as soon as the strength of the congregation justified the step a mission house will be erected. The projection of a car line to Arlington Heights and the recent plotting of that suburb by Louisiana capitalists who announce extensive improvements, places the mission in a field in which it is believed it will develop rapidly.

COLLEGE BANQUET BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Eighth Annual Gathering of Philo Society of Polytechnic College

The eighth annual banquet of the Philo-sophian Literary Society of Polytechnic College was held at the Hotel Fort Monday night, being attended by fully 150 guests, members and friends of the society. Jesse P. Luton of Bonham was orator of the evening and delivered an original address upon "The Progress of the Mind," responses to which were made by President Boaz of the college and Professor W. F. Mister. Other numbers upon the program were "Lines of Longitude," delivered by A. C. Ferguson, with a response by Miss Don Higginbotham; "What the Sleepers Miss," by J. W. Hill, Jr., with response by Miss Elma Staples; "Me Lady," by W. F. Young, with response by Archie Gordon. Those responding were guests of honor. Mr. Luton in making the oration of the evening, said in part: "The most exalted existence in the universe is mind, because God is mind. In outward, visible nature, stupendous and magnificent though it is, in the glowing light and in the starry night, in the earth and in the sky, we can discover nothing so vast as mind. Indeed, the universe is but the product of mind, the crystallized thoughts of the Infinite Intellect. Every bird that sings, carols forth the music of God's thought; every flower in fragrance exhales it. There is not a wind that kisses the flower, curls the clouds or howls over the mansions of the dead; there is not a wave that breaks upon the echoing beach but answers to the movings of His thoughts. The valleys bend in love, because He has put forth His creative thought. "Now, man belongs to the great family of mind. He has this power of thought, and who can take its measure and forecast its destiny? "And now look for a moment at what this power has accomplished. What a glittering, monument-strewn path of triumph it has left across the ages! It has conquered the earth and made it a neighborhood, so that we hourly converse with distant continents and pass from point to point with a rapidity which gives promise of the fulfillment of the dream of annihilated time and distance. It has conquered the seas, and the raging main, in a state of nature as impassable as the Gulf of Dives, has become a royal highway for the intercourse of nations. Yes, having conquered the earth, opened up its hidden forces and resources, read the story the ages have hidden in its rocks, it has launched out into the abysses and with lassos of telescopic light has reined up other worlds, riped up their carpets, bored into their floors, run its measuring lines around them, grouped them into families and given them names. It has pierced the starry roof above us, only to emerge upon the plain of unseen universes, from which glimpses have been caught of myriads of other systems, towering and flashing in the distance. "And now the wonder becomes complete when we see how this mighty power returns from all these fields of research laden with the rich spoils of its conquest. What becomes of all this rich and shining truth? It is not lost. There is a vast storehouse, the memory, where its gathered treasures may be safely shrined. "We know, and the unfolding history of every day proves, that we have not seen the highest triumph of the mind, that it is capable of a reach of power to which its present achievements are as the germ to the perfected fruit. Indeed, we have just begun to quarry out the first stratum of its endless riches. Poets have written many beautiful things, but they have not flung all the heart's beauty into language. Visions divine and holy have clustered upon their impassioned souls, that have been like the wings of angels, half seen, and then withdrawn. Artists have crystallized in objective expression the rarest forms of beauty. They have made the canvas almost speak, the marble almost breathe—but these have been dark and dead beside the inner and diviner types of beauty, the fresh and undimmed originals, upon which the mind has looked with enraptured gaze. Orators have voiced many grand conceptions, con-

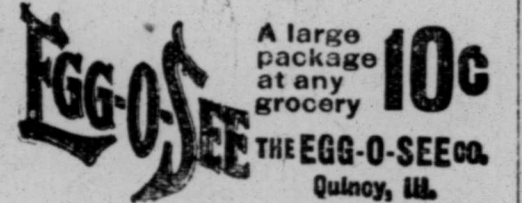

"The Simple Life" Proper Food Is Really the First Step in Right Living

One of the evils of our complex modern way of living, is our unnatural and unhealthy foods.

To have really good health and a good stomach it is necessary to eat simple nourishing food. Egg-O-See is the ideal food, and reaches the proper requirements in this direction more nearly than any other cereal now on the market.

To make Egg-O-See the kernels of the choicest California white wheat are first cleansed by brushes, then thoroughly steam cooked, then flaked and crisped to a maple tint and delicately flavored with natural fruit juice and pure grain sugar.

In these delicious flakes, lies the mighty strength-giving power of the whole wheat grain that evenly nourishes every part of the body, and gives physical and mental energy that means splendid health and successful endeavor.

ceptions that have swept like storms over listening thousands, but their most glowing periods have failed to express the intensity of their souls were fired. There were still grander conceptions bursting into being within the charmed palace of the mind, but they could not speak them; they could not smile them; they could not weep them; there were no grand gestures by which to crystallize and convey to others their transcendent, their unutterable beauty. The truth is this mortal instrument is of far too small a compass to voice its divinest harmonies. This frail framework is too weak to bear the heaviest strain of its immortal burden. How often the body has become weary to fall and die beneath the stress of mental labor! What do these things teach us but that the conditions of this mortal existence are barriers to its highest flight and grandest attainment! And more, the wisest and highest scientific proposition with which we grapple is but the broken beginning of the bare alphabet of things, and we must leave it before the lesson is half learned.

But he cannot occupy for aye this narrow sphere. He is destined for something better, a broader and an illimitable sphere. The facts of material nature may be exhausted, but the divine ideas which constitute the sense and soul of all things, rise like temples through which eternity may be spent joyously.

"Here the mind is projected upon an endless plane of progress. The mind is immortal and can, therefore, never wear out. The longer it runs the faster it runs. The longer it lives, the intenser it lives. And when, with all its beating and throbbing and battling after various kinds of knowledge it still goes on, living more intensely in its chosen spheres, drinking more deeply at the fountains that satisfy it, the power and momentum of eternity being crystallized within it.

"We cannot measure the power of mind and its progress by the material conditions of this life, for mind and body do not run in parallel lines. "The mind, then, is the nucleus of an illimitable possibility. We watch its development here without much remark because mind and body grow along together. But the current of rippling in the cradle is gradually gathering into a mighty, eternal stream which may float all the treasures of knowledge upon its tide.

"We have already something of what has accomplished here, and this is but the first budding of its capacity. What are great minds conceiving now!

"There is no picture more inspiring than that of the mind sweeping upward in an immortal career, freighted more and more with richer and richer gatherings of knowledge, sweeping with tireless wings the heights of wisdom and truth, and penetrating those regions that burn with the footsteps of cherubim, onward and upward forever! Where will it end? I do not know. Thought breaks down under the attempt to grasp it. But there are energies for which we find no terms in human speech; there are ineffable longings and premonitions and anticipations which tell us that this is no nation which tells us that this is no day dream with which I have tried to entertain you tonight, but the sober, yet inspiring voice of reason and faith."

Committees having the affair in charge were: Committee on reception—Oscar Sennebaugh, D. M. Cavannes, C. C. McKinney, Edna Miller, Edna Miller, Jack Castles. Committee on arrangements—E. W. Cavannes, M. B. McCarter, H. Ashburn, L. H. Tandy.

NORTH FT. WORTH AN ROSEN HEIGHTS

Thought it Was Indian Arrow. Discovery May Solve Old Murder Mystery

The regular meeting of the North Fort Worth school board was held Monday night in the city hall, the plans and specifications for the new school buildings being considered by the board. No special action regarding the matter was taken. Bids have not yet been received for the building and it is likely action regarding them will be postponed until the election of the new school trustees, the election to take place May 6. Advertisement for bids each to be accompanied by a certified check for $1,000 was ordered. S. E. Daniel was chosen census taker, to take the school census during the present month.

SIN THE CAUSE OF WORLD'S SORROW

Rev. Luther Little Says Death Is Traceable to Violation of Divine Law

"Death itself is traceable to sin," was the statement made by Dr. Luther Little, pastor of the First Baptist church, in a sermon delivered at the union tabernacle last night. The sermon was based upon the Biblical account of the healing of the sick with palsied with the declaration, "Thy sins be forgiven thee."

Taking up the thought first that where Christ sin is forgiven, Dr. Little declared that Christ gives the healing of the sick with palsied with the declaration, "Thy sins be forgiven thee." "The need of absolution from sin was next taken up. Men forget that they need absolution from sin, and they really feel in their souls the need for absolution and forgiveness there would not be the present difficulty in getting them to the point where they may be washed clean.

Continuing, he said: "Sin is the cause of all sorrow in this world. It may be your own sin, but some sin causes every tear. Death itself is traceable to sin."

"When you realize that the sorrows of this world come from sin you must recognize the need of absolution from sin. Sin is the human being from God and therefore needs absolution."

The nature of sin was next taken up, the term defined, and the distinction drawn between the apparent definition of some that it consists in the commission of a murder or a theft, and the larger meaning of sin in thought and heart without deeds. The human race, he declared, is in sin even with no act of sin, the highest ender of transgression from the Garden of Eden.

FORGIVENESS AND WHAT IT BRINGS Taking up next forgiveness and what it brings, Dr. Little declared as sin caused each sorrow and despair in the world, so forgiveness upon the other hand was the fountain head of every joy and every hope. This question of forgiveness or forgiveness, he said, is that upon which man's final judgment must be had.

Detailing next the theories of forgiveness, he declared that the theory of priestly absolution, declaring that there was no foundation for a belief that man's sins can be forgiven by man. "He alone who bought the right on Golgotha's cross can say my sins are washed away."

Human endeavor to purify one's self of sins was next rejected; no penance or scourging being held by Him effective. All theories having for their basis the destruction of sin by destruction of the body, he declared, were founded on the false belief that sin was embodied in things material and by destroying the material, sin was also destroyed. This theory, which he declared was also embodied in Christian Science, he said was not acceptable, the one forgiveness by Christ remaining as the true one.

THE CONDITIONS OF FAITH Faith as another condition he divided into intellectual belief, the emotional feeling and final surrender of the soul. Many men, he declared, avowed a belief in the historical existence of Christ and admitted His divinity, yet refused to believe in Him. Such faith, he declared, was without effect.

Taking up finally the effect of forgiveness, he described the multitudes glorifying God at the forgiveness of a man, freeing him from the bondage of sin and making a touching appeal for converts among those present.

Finally he asked that those who honestly knew in their hearts they were Christians should bow in silent prayer, and then he asked the others wishing aid in their heads. These were finally asked to acknowledge Christ before the world and to give their hands in promises to seek after Christ.

Song service preceding the sermon was conducted by a number of popular hymns being sung with increasing force by the audience which continued to flow into the tent.

Announcement that but a small sum remained to be paid on the tabernacle stated, that the collections would cease when the necessary sum had been raised. Morning and noonday services are not made at the tabernacle, but at 8 o'clock being held daily.

BOY FOUND KNIFE IN INDIAN'S SKULL

Thought it Was Indian Arrow. Discovery May Solve Old Murder Mystery

The finding of a skull into which a knife had been driven and the blade broken off, recently near Paducah, Cottle county, was a clue which bids fair to solve the mystery of murder committed over two years ago. Some time previous to the killing, John Spiker, who was known as a hermit shoemaker, suddenly disappeared, and no one was able to tell where he was. His whereabouts caused much talk among the citizens of the little town of Paducah. Spiker could not have been more completely lost sight of if the earth had opened and swallowed him up. It is more than likely his murder would never have come to light had not a detective from the east quietly appeared upon the scene and worked up the evidence which led to the arrest several months ago of three or four prominent citizens of Paducah. One or two were admitted to bond but the others are still in jail and their trials will come up in the district court of Cottle county during the month of May or June.

The detective who worked up the case went about the town carrying a sack of dry bones across his shoulders, occasionally sitting down against the side of a building where he would gnaw them apparently unconcerned as to what was going on around him. He kept this up for nearly two months until the finding of the necessary evidence to warrant the issuance of warrants for the arrest of parties he believed were guilty of the murder of old man Spiker, then he threw aside his disguise and suddenly left the town.

The finding of the skull in a pasture about five miles from Paducah and its identification as being that of Spiker, started the investigation into the disappearance of the old shoe maker.

The skull was found by Ratha Campbell, a boy, in the Cook pasture, at the head of a small draw. He picked it up and discovered that a knife blade had been broken off in the forehead. This fact impressed itself upon the boy as being singular and he carried the skull home with him. The idea struck the boy that the skull was that of an Indian with an arrow point driven into it. He hastened home with it and placed it upon the mantel as a relic.

Immediately after the disappearance, Sheriff J. M. Barron began an energetic investigation and secured sufficient circumstantial evidence to warrant his pushing ahead to secure further facts. It was then that the detective appeared on the scene.

Sheriff Barron says that it is probable that the trial of the men accused of the murder of Spiker will come up during the May term of criminal court which convenes at Paducah on the 15th instant.

The sheriff says further that nothing will be left undone to convict the guilty parties. He adds that if Spiker had relatives no one has yet been able to locate them.

WOMAN INJURED BENEATH BUGGY

Mrs. H. F. Denney in Critical Condition as Result of Serious Accident

Mrs. H. F. Denney of 312 South Boaz street lies in a critical condition at her home today as a result of injuries received Monday afternoon by being run over. Dr. E. P. Hall, the attending physician, said this morning that Mrs. Denney had sustained a fracture of the right leg, a fractured rib, a severe bruise on the temple and a serious scalp wound. Lucy Wade and Nellie Long have been arrested for fast and reckless driving.

The accident occurred on Boaz street near Mrs. Denney's residence. She was going across the street and stepped back to avoid a passing street car. As she did so she was struck by the vehicle and knocked down, the wheels passing completely over her body.

The matter was immediately reported to Chief Maddox, with the result that the women named were arrested. Another woman who was in the vehicle at the time was discharged.

The cases are set in the corporation court for Wednesday morning.

THE EVENING NEWSPAPER

It is called a "newspaper" by courtesy. It should be spoken of as the evening miscellany or the evening fable.

How can it be a newspaper when the whole solar system is working to prevent it? Nine-tenths of the important news of the world makes itself known at midnight.

How, then, can a paper that goes to press at 2 o'clock and that must be made up an hour earlier be a newspaper? It may call itself a "5 o'clock edition," but this does not alter the case.

How does the evening newspaper look in the morning newspaper of the next morning? Its paragraphs are expanded to columns and its column stories are reduced to paragraphs.

Why is this? Because it has been unable in the first case to get the real news in time to print it, and because, in the second case, its full-length story is generally a fabrication.

The life of the so-called evening newspaper is its market report and its sporting edition. Without these it would suspend publication at once, and both of them are made up of news that is not news.

What sort of newspaper do the statesman, the politician, the lawyer, the merchant, the broker, the society man and the sportsman read? Do they take the evening fable seriously or do they bank on the morning newspaper? How long would they last if they pinned their faith to the 2 o'clock vacancy?

The heavenly bodies, which have forbidden such a thing as an evening newspaper, are leagued together to make the morning newspaper the great event of every day. For its pages the important news, all of which culminates during the afternoon and early evening, garnered, weeded out and composed by midnight, after which there are six hours in which this half of the world sleeps and little real news develops and in which the wonderful story of the preceding day is printed and distributed.

This is the genuine newspaper. The sheets that are flying around the streets all the day long with headlines in three-line type, printed in red, yellow or green, announcing the sudden death of thousands of people, the burning of entire cities, and dreadful scandals in the best society—what are they? It would be flattery to call them a mass of nonsense or a fable. They are journalistic billboards and nuisances.—Chicago Chronicle.

The evening newspapers of the country have made such serious inroads upon the circulation and advertising business of the morning papers that there appears to have been engendered a concert of action on the part of the esteemed morning contemporaries to put their more sprightly and up-to-date rivals out of business if such a procedure can be accomplished. But the morning publications reckon without their host. They are butting up against a brick wall of the most pronounced type when they essay to change public sentiment in the estimate it has very rightfully placed on the evening paper of today.

This is an age of progress and development. All modern business establishments are being conducted at high tension. Just as the morning paper supplanted the weekly, so has the evening paper dislodged the morning publication. The people of today are interested in knowing what has happened today. The news of yesterday has become ancient history by the time it is served to the readers of the morning paper, and it is only the close student of ancient history who has time to wade through the ponderous reports that cumber the columns of the morning press to gain the grains of real news that could have been gleaned from the afternoon paper of the evening before. Thousands of readers of the morning papers satisfy themselves by merely reading the headlines of such publications to verify the news they learned from the evening paper. Their time is too valuable to pore over the stilted and labored reports of unimportant matters that go to fill up the columns of the morning paper.

The evening paper serves its readers with the cream of current events served in bright, crisp and readable style. It has the very same facilities for securing news that is possessed by the morning publication. The same wires that bring the morning report to the morning publication bring the evening report to the evening paper. Those reports are gathered by the same agency, and nine times out of ten the morning report is but an elaboration of that already served the evening paper. While the morning publication is sleeping and resting from its ponderous efforts of the night before, the evening publication has its machinery running, its great news agencies actively at work all over the world, gathering the news that is to be served to its constituency while it is yet news. And the serving of news while it is news is what is hurrying the morning publications and elicits such howls as that which comes from the Chicago paper.

In comparison with the evening paper, the average morning publication looks like a leaf from the remote past that has fluttered down and dropped into the progressive present. The evening newspapers of today are the newspapers of today. The morning paper is the product of yesterday and comes into a field that has already been covered. The progressive reader has just about as much use for the morning paper as he has for a last year's almanac, for it occupies just about the same relative position with regard to the current events of today. It is a hack number, and it is the realization of that fact that is hurting.

Bigelow, the defaulting Milwaukee banker, is said to have been the victim of speculation induced by his own son. It is also said that he has done more to help deserving young men on in successful business careers than almost any other man of the present day. While he has done wrong, the good he has done should stand to his credit and he should be judged in a charitable manner. If he had not been caught on the wrong side of the market the speculation in which he engaged would have been adjudged perfectly right and proper by the world at large. The world likes to pat a successful man on the back and then kick him hard when he starts down the ladder.

Those insurance companies which are preparing to resist taxation in this state by taking refuge behind an injunction, are but breeding trouble for themselves. The people of Texas are already very sore on the insurance question, the belief being quite general that combination exists between them, and this proposed injunction business will not redound to the best interest of the companies engaged in it. Some very drastic future insurance legislation may safely be set down as an accomplished reality.

The Lewis and Clark exposition at Portland comes too soon after the St. Louis effort to insure the success that is its due. The people have been very greatly surfeited on the exposition idea, and will not travel such a great distance to see something that cannot hope to in any degree equal what so many had an opportunity of witnessing closer home.

Enforce the laws now on the statute books of this state against the pistol carrier, and make an object lesson of every man caught with a gun concealed about his person. That is the only way in which killing scrapes can be averted, and it is too late to discuss that feature of the situation after a wholesale killing has occurred. Enforce the laws now.

Texas is receiving a steady inflow of immigration, the cheap lands of the state proving a powerful magnet in the attraction of a desirable class of citizenship. And the day of cheap land in Texas will soon be numbered among the things of the past. The man who puts off the acquisition of a home is losing money every day of the procrastination.

The man with the hoe is making himself felt out in the western part of the state, and the big ranches are steadily giving way to his continued advance. The big Wylie ranch, the largest ranch in Runnels county, is now being cut up into small tracts for sale to farmers. The cowman is being steadily pushed in the direction of the setting sun.

John Hay will not be permitted to retire from his position as secretary of state upon his return from his European trip. The desire of the president is said to be that the smooth diplomacy of John Hay shall be available when the treaty of peace is to be negotiated between Japan and Russia, which it is generally believed is now not far distant.

Stricken Laredo has appealed to the people of Texas for assistance as a result of the severe storm which devastated that little city a few days ago. The people of Texas are proverbial for their generosity in cases of this kind, but it should be borne in mind that he gives twice who gives quickly.

With her Factory Club in active working order, which will soon be the case, Fort Worth proposes to take a hand in the encouragement and location of such enterprises in future, and will leave no stone unturned in an effort to land all desirable ones that can be induced to come to this city.

The medical men of the state will hold their next annual gathering in Fort Worth, and those doctors are mighty nice people. Sick or well, they are pretty safe people to tie to.

Up to last accounts, the run on the Milwaukee banks had ceased and the brewerage "which made Milwaukee famous" were all still doing business at the old stand.

Gleanings From the Exchanges

The Journal would suggest to Roosevelt democrats in Texas that they obliterate their old effete democratic ideas about negroes, and invite them to eat at their tables, appoint them to office over white people and get up a grand ball at which dusky damsels in low-necked dresses are whirled through the maze dance by southern sons, just like they do "up north."

The Journal should not permit its antipathy toward Governor Hogg to lead it into making such rash statements. There are no Roosevelt democrats in Texas. The democracy that is rampant in this state is of a different vintage and dates back to the days of Thomas Jefferson and other fathers of the state. It is a democracy, too, that is broad enough to lay aside the narrow partisan spirit displayed by the Arlington paper, and as Americans lay the garlands of appreciation upon the brow of a manly man who is infinitely greater than his own party.

Governor Lanham vetoed the bill providing for the appropriation of $10,000 with which to build a home for the widows of the Confederate veterans and the wives of indigent Confederate soldiers. This measure was introduced by Senator Hicks of San Antonio. The governor holds that it is unconstitutional, and it was for this reason that he vetoed it. Just what phase of the bill is unconstitutional we are not informed.—Bonham News.

No doubt there will be a great deal of adverse criticism of the governor's action in vetoing this bill, but the fact that it was contrary to the provisions of the state constitution is ample justification. The governor is himself an old Confederate soldier, and his sympathies are unquestionably with the objects sought to be attained by this bill, but when the constitution of the state looms up as a barrier, there is nothing to do but bow in submission to its provisions.

Mr. Townsend says the same arguments now used in opposition to regulation of railroad rates by Federal authority were used against the original interstate commerce bill. It may be recalled in connection with this statement that the original interstate commerce bill was reported to have been drawn by John C. Brown, formerly governor of Tennessee, but at the time of preparation of that bill, general attorney for the Gould line, and subsequently president or general manager of the Texas and Pacific railway, with headquarters in Dallas. Subsequently the bill was taken up by Hon. John H. Reagan of Texas, then a member of congress, and in a different shape from the original bill, was enacted into law. Mr. Townsend ought to be familiar with this bit of alleged history.—San Antonio Express.

Hon. John H. Reagan was the father of the interstate commerce law, although Senator Cullom of Illinois has been content to receive credit where credit was not due.

There are a number of papers, especially the dailies, that are inclined to poke fun at the Williams intangible asset bill passed by the legislature. To these we ask if a railroad should only pay tax on its improvements, land and rolling stock at the price it was worth when built, why should a farmer pay more taxes on his land after the country has settled up? Again, if the railroads are allowed to levy on traffic a rate sufficient to pay them 6 per cent on $45,000 to the mile (when the actual value of the road is not more than $12,000), why should they not pay taxes on $45,000? If our railroad commission values the road at $45,000 to the mile, and allows them to tax the people on that amount, they certainly have no right to register a kick when the state asks them to pay taxes to the state on the same amount.—Big Sandy News.

It certainly seems an equitable proposition to compel the railways to pay taxes on a valuation of $45,000 per mile when they in turn tax the people to pay annual interest on the same valuation. If the people must submit to such a tax on the part of the railways, it is eminently fair that the railways should in return stand the same kind of a tax at the hands of the people.

The democratic reorganization, concerning which so much has been said and surmised, seems to have had its birth in Indiana. Taggart has surrendered to Bryan, foot, horse and artillery, and the free silver ideas of Bryan and the free consultation methods without any boss are to govern in the next campaign for state officers in Indiana. No assessments upon any candidate nor any payment for any service in the campaign, speakers, printers, livermen and others donating all that is required in these lines, and Bryan to tour the state on his own expense for six weeks in the interest of the candidates. It is a program that will mean a whole lot to the other states if it is carried out successfully. Time will demonstrate that.—San Antonio Light.

The democratic party has simply returned to Bryan leadership after receiving the worst drubbing in its history when its affairs were dominated by men who were incapable of leading. Just what lines the next campaign will be pitched upon are not yet apparent, but the indications are that radicalism will be the main feature. Bryan is a very aggressive man, and is tinged with some things that have not been cardinal democratic principles, but he has been able to command more democratic support than any other living democrat, and there is none to dispute his right to the leadership.

A week ago O. B. Colquitt, now serving as a member of the Texas railway commission, came out in a formal statement, announcing his candidacy for the governorship. Then Judge C. K. Bell, late attorney general, followed suit. "I aspire to get the democratic nomination for governor next year," is about all he said. We doubt if Judge Bell wanted to open the campaign so early, but suppose he was in a measure impelled by Mr. Colquitt's course. Plenty of time yet to discuss the issue. In fact, it will be the ripper and more enjoyable if let lay over until after Christmas.—Waco Tribune.

Yes; there is plenty of time in which to select the next governor for the state of Texas. The present incumbent has nearly two years yet to serve, and all the good material is not going to leave the state during the interim. Next year will be ample time in which to discuss men and measures, and just now Texas has more important matters to look after than attempting to cross a bridge that is located so many miles ahead.

The Sixth annual meeting of the Panhandle Stockmen's Association is now a matter of history, and interesting history it is, too. The attendance was larger than was anticipated by even the most sanguine, while the secretary's books show a most remarkable growth in membership and power. From a humble beginning six years ago has sprung a powerful organization, destined to make history not only for the Panhandle, but for all Texas as well. The members are the men with whom the northwestern buyers do business, and the attendance of these buyers at this convention indicate that they recognize the importance of the organization. More cattle were sold at this meeting than at any other live stock convention which has been held in Texas in recent years.—Clarendon Banner-Stockman.

The Panhandle Stockmen's Association is doing a great work for the live stock industry in the Texas Panhandle and deserves the success and prosperity that it is enjoying. Its membership is largely composed of small stockmen and stock farmers—the class which is engaged in working out the salvation of the Panhandle country. The Panhandle Association does not put on much dog and is making no great noise over what it has accomplished, but the fact remains that it is a very live institution, and is doing a monumental work for its people. Its growth is rapid and it has become a powerful factor in the live stock situation.

Hogg is to speak at the big Labor Day celebration in Fort Worth. The committee will doubtless be thus able to save the price of an elaborate fireworks display. Whatever the ex-governor says will be sure to have plenty of ginger in it.—Terrell Transcript.

Governor Hogg's speeches are always interesting from the fact that he has a faculty of saying just what he thinks and uses pretty aggressive English. While this faculty of the governor's causes his enemies to writhe and raise a howl after his every public appearance, it constitutes one of his greatest charms in the estimation of the masses.

The time seems to have come when it is dangerous, in many places, for ladies to be found among a gathering of men. The pistol is nearly always on hand and without any reasonable provocation will begin to shoot. The tragedy at Hempstead was too awful to find suitable expressions of condemnation. The man who would begin a difficulty and go to shooting in the presence of women and children and other innocent people ought to forfeit his own life at the hands of the law.—Tyler Courier.

The suppression of the pistol habit is a live topic of discussion all over the state since the Hempstead tragedy, but it will result in little practical good. Such occurrences always bring about a sentiment of just indignation for the moment, but this soon passes and there is no curtailment of the habit. Officers of the law should be constantly on the lookout for the man with a gun, and when he is located he should receive the limit of the law in every instance.

Denver comes to the front with a man who, having had his leg amputated, is now reported to be growing a new one at the rate of an inch a month. The name of the newspaper man who wrote the article regarding the same has very considerably been withheld from public review.—Austin Statesman.

The mystery attendant upon the rapid elongation of the Denver man's member has been satisfactorily explained. He is a prominent and wealthy citizen interested in several measures pending before the state legislature, and every time one of these measures comes up for consideration his leg is pulled. In order to avoid any kick, the pulling is always on the leg from which the foot has been amputated, and in that way it is being rapidly lengthened and promises to soon be longer than ever.

PANTHERS LOSE LAST TO OILERS

Unlucky Decision, Error and Bunch of Hits, Gives Visitors Safe Lead

Corsicana took the third and last of the series with Fort Worth at Haines park Monday afternoon.
With Dorsey and McIver on second and third respectively, Empire Sheehan called Block out for a foul strike but allowed the two men named who had advanced a base, to remain so. Two hits and an error by Mauch behind the bat followed, resulting in four runs for Corsicana, making their total number of runs five. This number the Panthers failed to exceed during the remainder of the game.
Defeat of the local team came as a surprise yesterday. Fort Worth began the run getting business, Sullivan scoring in the first inning, Burleson in the second, Hubbard in the fifth and Boles in the sixth. Up to the sixth inning Corsicana had gotten only one run and three hits, then came the unlucky sixth with Sheehan's decision, three bunched hits by the Oilers and the unfortunate error by Mauch and the game was lost.

Fort Worth should have won the game yesterday. The home team excelled in stick work, getting thirteen safe ones against eight of the Corsicana players. Johnson pitched a good game for his men, but was not accorded just support.
Sullivan was easily the star of the game. He got five hits out of five times up, besides taking in six flies without a miss. He made one or two pretty running catches with the sun in his face.
Boles and Burleson each made slips and are recorded with a black mark in the error column.
Monday was the last of the first three game series with the Oilers, Dallas tries her luck, beginning this afternoon.

WHERE THE CROWD GOT ITS MONEY'S WORTH

Memphis and Shreveport Played Thirteen Inning Game and Tied at 11 to 11
The old time spirit of baseball may be decadent, according to blasé twentieth century fans, but the following dispatch describing a game at Memphis Monday, when Memphis and Shreveport played for three hours, striding out thirteen innings, and stopping on account of darkness with the score standing 11 to 11, doesn't read like it:
Darkness ended a thirteen-inning game between the Shreveport and Memphis teams today, the final score being a tie—11 to 11. Many errors by local and visiting players, and the slow play, which lasted three hours, offset the extra inning. Tanssett was put out in the sixth for kicking and Herr was knocked out of the box in the seventh, being succeeded by Suggs. Bartley suffered the same fate in the sixth and was succeeded by Fisher. The locals tied the score in the ninth and Weikhart's home-run in the eleventh, with Hanley on base, looked good enough to win, but the locals, in their eleventh inning, bunched three hits, with a wild pitch, and tallied two. There was no scoring from then until the call of time.
Score: R. H. E.
S. 0 2 0 1 1 4 1 0 0 0 2 0 0—11 12 4
M. 0 0 2 3 2 1 0 0 1 0 2 0 0—11 14 8
Batteries—Fisher, Bartley and Graf-fius; Suggs, Herr and Rafter.

At Galveston Monday, Galveston and Houston played a ten-inning game to a tie, with the score 1 to 1. The Houston team quit only because it had to catch a train for San Antonio. From what San Antonio did to Beaumont, it looks as if it might have a chance for another tie. San Antonio got 3 and Beaumont 2 runs Monday after fourteen innings.

ELKS PICK THEIR BASE BALL TEAM

Players Who Will Tackle Dallas During Convention Announced

After several preliminary games and much "weeding out," Manager Goetz of the local Elks team has finally selected the men who will represent the lodge against Dallas Elks on the second day of the convention.
The line-up was given out Monday as follows: Hercock, catcher; Smissen, pitcher; Honea, first base; Laird, second base; Littlejohn, third base; Cheatham, short stop; Colp, left field; May, center field; Moore, right field.
Manager Goetz says that the Elks have taken up no subscriptions for the entertainment of the visitors during the convention, but that they do want a big crowd at the ball game. "Two thousand tickets have been printed and when the man comes round you want to buy," says Mr. Goetz.
The game between the two rival clubs of Dallas and Fort Worth promises to be the event of the convention.

RUSSIAN COLONY ON SIERRA MADRE

G. T. Dulaney, Promoter, in This City on Way to Arrange Opening

G. T. Dulaney of Clinton, Okla., who is promoting a large colony enterprise in Chihuahua, Mexico, was here Monday en route to the republic. Mr. Dulaney is to colonize thirty Russian Mennonite families on the lands. Eight thousand acres of land have already been secured besides options on additional property. The colonists will come from southern Russia. Mr. Dulaney says that he has been delayed in his enterprise by the Russian-Japanese war. The Sierra Madre extension will pass through the land on which the colonists are to be located.

CREAGAN FAMILY HAVE REUNION

Dr. M. V. Creagan of This City Attends Gathering at Bellflower, Illinois

Word has been received in this city of a reunion of the Creagan family, of which Dr. M. V. Creagan of this city is a member, at Bellflower, Ill., Easter Sunday.

"One of the happiest events of the year at Bellflower occurred when on Easter Sunday the family reunion of the esteemed citizens, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Creagan, commenced at their old homestead in Bellflower. After a separation of sixteen years the three sons and six daughters, with their several families, together with a host of neighbors and friends, assembled at their old home to bring good cheer to this old couple, who have reached their three score and ten.

Clever Use of Opportunity

The Chicago Apparel Gazette, one of the well-known authorities in men's dress for the trade, has this splendid endorsement of the advertising of Washer Brothers, referring to the reproduction of the sales slip in the newspaper advertising columns of Fort Worth papers of the purchase made at the Washer store by President Roosevelt when in this city just before he started on his hunt in the Panhandle.

Have the Home Beer Pure

Whatever you drink outside, let your home beer be Schlitz. That is pure beer. No bacilli in it --- nothing to make you bilious.

Beer is a saccharine product, and germs multiply rapidly in it. The slightest taint of impurity quickly ruins its healthfulness.

We go to the utmost extremes to prevent that. Cleanliness is a science where Schlitz beer is brewed.

We even cool the beer in plate glass rooms, in nothing but filtered air.

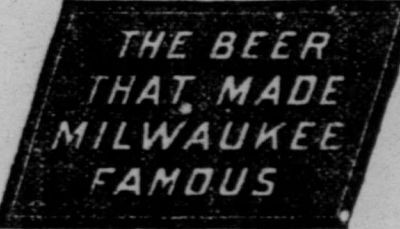

Then we filter the beer. Then we sterilize every bottle.

And Schlitz beer is aged. The beer that makes you bilious is green beer.

When you order beer for your home, get the healthfulness without the harm. Get a pure beer - get an old beer - get Schlitz.

WAL LEADERS TALK OF CHICAGO'S LABOR FIGHT

CHICAGO, May 2.—So great are the interests involved and so determined the spirit of the contestants that it is feared a general battle over the issue of unionism has been precipitated in this city.

BY FREDERICK W. JOB, Secretary of the Employers' Association of Chicago. Chicago has long been a sufferer from the fetich "labor unionism."

are performing their duty in protecting property, and paralyzing the industry of a great city. They have broken contracts in a number of instances, and contracts with countless other firms will be broken without regard to their supposed inviolability.

They have grown in numbers until they believe they are powerful enough not to regard the rights of others. They have driven the business men into a defensive attitude. They have restricted the number of apprentices in lucrative trades until they have created a scarcity of union labor.

BY CORNELIUS P. SHEA, General President of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. Threats to exterminate labor unions have been made so often in Chicago that the employers have come to really believe they can force us out of business.

Now every member of the employers' organization is prepared for the struggle that is on. They will devote their time, influence and money to combat the evil which threatens to plunge Chicago into an endless illness and restricted productivity.

At a meeting we have decided to win this strike, if it becomes necessary to tie up the whole town. If union labor orders its 250,000 members to quit work in Chicago there will be no engineers to make heat or power, no coal teamsters to deliver fuel, no freight handlers, railroad brakemen, clerks or laborers to distribute food and other supplies. In short Chicago would experience a famine of everything necessary for the existence of its inhabitants.

TO CALL FOR CONVENTION

The official call for the first annual meeting of the American Stock Growers' Association has just been issued by Secretary George W. Kew.

The first annual convention of the American Stock Growers' Association is hereby called to meet in Denver, Col., at the Tabernacle, at 10 o'clock a. m., Tuesday, May 9, 1905, for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization, adopting a constitution and by-laws, electing permanent officers and for such general business as may properly come before it.

The present basis of representation of this association is individual membership, and any citizen, a live stock grower, feeder or owner, is eligible for membership upon payment of initiation fee of five dollars, and will be entitled to one vote in this convention.

The order of business for the first convention shall be as follows: Convention called to order by the president; invocation; address of welcome; response to address of welcome; roll call; appointment of committees; election of permanent officers and general business.

Your co-operation, interest and membership is earnestly desired in this organization formed in Denver, Col., on Jan. 14, 1905, consisting of live stock producers only (meaning breeders, feeders and owners) and called the American Stock Growers' Association.

It is believed that at this time the live stock producer has better standing in the public eye, before congress, and with the president of the United States than at any previous period in the country's history, and it is of the utmost importance that he be up and doing to secure improvements in the present methods, correction of abuses, recognition of the importance of his business in the affairs of the world and proper legislation.

Among the objects to be attained are the extension of the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission so as to give it authority to name what is a reasonable freight rate to secure proper service for the transportation of live stock; to impress on the proper authorities at Washington the importance of securing admittance for our meats and meat products in certain foreign countries that are now closed against us. Success in this direction would mean an added value of not less than 10 per cent to the meat producing animals of the United States; to support and aid the various bureaus of the federal government in their investigations of the business of the large corporation with whom the stockmen have to deal, and in determining the true position of such corporations towards the live stock producing public; and also in the matter of better federal corporation laws. For the suppression of diseases among domestic animals and protection of the various states against others where contagion may exist; to secure adequate measures that will forever prevent the introduction of contagious diseases among domestic animals through the importation of hides from foreign countries, or otherwise; to make practical recommendation to congress in regard to the public land and forest reserves. To secure federal action by all the states and federal government for the destruction of predatory wild animals.

For the first time in the country's history, the stock growers have a friend in Washington in President Roosevelt. This is a great advantage to you, and as public sentiment is with you, it is important that you, as producers, advance your cause through this organization, that is free from all interests other than those of live stock producers, and demand in no uncertain terms recognition and your just rights.

Producers of live stock only are invited to become members of this body. There is no limit to what you, as producers, can accomplish if you will organize, band and act together for mutual benefit. It is your failure so to do that makes you weak and unappreciated by the great corporations who, through mutual understandings and agreements, one with another, are powerful and successful. Therefore, you are now urged to join this organization, the membership fee in which has been made practically nominal, or the small sum of $5, which you are respectfully solicited to send at once to the secretary and treasurer of this organization, A. E. De Rujles, at his address, All Union Stock Yards, Denver, Col. All money received from initiation fees will be used immediately for the purposes set forth in this "call," and under the direction of the executive committee, and to support and strengthen the work of the interstate cattle growers' executive committee, to whose efforts many of the present improvements are largely due, and as these matters are now before congress you are urged to remit at once. All members of the executive committee and officers of this new association are serving without charge of any kind, and receive no salary nor compensation whatsoever.

We request your presence at the convention, as above, to be held in Denver, Col., May 9, 1905. Railroads have agreed to make greatly reduced rates. AMERICAN STOCK GROWERS' ASSOCIATION, By Order of the Executive Committee.

APRIL MOVEMENT OF CATTLE HEAVY

More Than 1,100 Car Loads Shipped from San Angelo—Mutton Trade Opening

SAN ANGELO, Texas, May 2.—During the past month of April 1,100 car loads of cattle were shipped from this point, most of these cars being destined for the territories, where the cattle will be pastured. A few cars of fat cattle were shipped to market and a few car loads of fat muttons have gone out to market. The fat muttons will be going forward now at a heavy rate.

J. I. Conway, general live stock agent of the Gulf system of the Santa Fe, was here during the week and says he looks for some 50,000 head of sheep to go from San Angelo during the mutton season. Most of these sheep will go to Kansas City, St. Joseph and St. Louis, while a part of them will also be sent to Fort Worth.

There will be a good many shipments of muttons from now on. This week the shipping will open up in good shape. McKenzie & Ferguson will ship nineteen car loads. R. L. Carothers will ship ten cars and there will be other shipments.

Billy Hoenig has sold Perry McConnell 100 steerlings.

Harris Brothers have purchased from Lee Brothers five head of registered Hereford bulls for their Three C ranch in Crockett county. Harris Brothers are improving their herd all the time. These bulls cost them $150 each.

Bud Means, a mutton buyer from Kansas City, has made several purchases of muttons, among them being a purchase from Bob Massie of Ozona of 703 muttons. Stanton Keith, the Lipan cattleman, bought of J. M. Stone of Eldorado 150 2-year-old steers at $15.

Lee Brothers, fine Hereford breeders, have sold to the 09 Cattle Company, J. Montague, manager, forty-one high-grade Hereford bulls for $4,500.

S. J. Blocker, another returning stockman from the Territory, has losses to report because of his stuff being dipped there in Beaumont oil, according to the regulations. He reports a loss of sixteen big steers and the rest of his stuff was badly affected by the dipping and several hundred head of steers are in bad shape.

S. Trimble of Coleman has recently shipped in three head of fine registered Pol Durham bulls to San Angelo. He disposed of one bull to John R. Nasworthy and sold another to Bird & Mertz for $75. Herman Gillis had been buying up a lot of steers lately. He has purchased from W. C. Huey 150 head and 28, W. T. Grinnell 150 head and 28, and about four hundred head and 28 from other parties, paying from $10 to $15.50.

In the last day or two the following shipments have been made from this place: Harris Brothers, 10 cars of cattle to Kaw; R. R. Russell, 12 cars to Addington and 2 cars to Elgin; Hayden & Rucker, 10 cars of cattle to Choteau; Broome & Farr, 1 car beef cattle to St. Louis; Hugo Milde, 13 cars to Kaw; J. D. Sugg, 1 car horses to Kaw; J. A. Shum, 15 cars cattle to Lindsey; R. R. Russell, 1 car cattle to Elgin; E. B. Harold, 39 cars cattle to Summit; B. M. Boyd, 2 cars cattle to Newkirk; J. D. Sugg, 4 cars cattle to Lindsey; R. R. Russell, 15 cars cattle to Addington; Robert Manders, 10 cars sheep to Chicago; J. R. Hamilton, 2 cars sheep to Chicago; R. M. Hamilton, 2 cars sheep to Chicago; A. E. Lovtexas, 1 car mules to Madison, Kan.

Birthday of the Southwest Limited

"Some of our readers will remember that this paper has always thought The Southwest Limited of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway a fine train. Last week we found ourselves on The Limited, and by chance learned it was just one year ago that the train made her first flight out of Chicago and folded her quivering wings a few hours afterward at Kansas City Union Depot, this state. She is sure out of pin feathers now. During the first few months, after this train was started, we often felt solicitous as to her success. Our recent trip was on the train's birthday anniversary, and it was the first in eight months. We want it distinctly understood that we are not going to lie awake nights any more worrying about The Southwest Limited losing any money. We walked the entire length of the train to find a seat. It is at this moment the most popular and best patronized train between Chicago and Kansas City."—Chula, Mo., News.

The Southwest Limited leaves Kansas City, Union Station, 5:55 p. m.; Grand Avenue Station, 6:07 p. m.; arrives Union Station, Chicago, 8:55 a. m. Electric lighted throughout. The Southwest Limited carries compartment and standard sleepers, observation-library car, dining car, chair car and coach—all owned and operated by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway.

"It's the Oil" Says the Painter

If you could put a coating of pure, raw linseed oil on your house, and that oil would stay there, it would protect your house from the elements and preserve the material underneath. Any honest painter will tell you that oil is the life of paint and that the pigment mixed with the oil is put there to prevent the oil from drying out and dropping off, and to hold the coloring matter. Therefore to have a good, durable job of painting, you must have pure linseed oil.

is the old-fashioned thick pigment that you mix gallon for gallon with raw linseed oil—mix it yourself (or let your ten-year-old boy mix it) and you know what you are getting. Kinloch Paint will preserve the lasting qualities of linseed oil and produce the most durable and economical job of painting possible to procure.

Buy Kinloch Paint, the paint that "likes" linseed oil—the paint that does not fight the oil and destroy all its protecting and durable qualities—the paint that you mix yourself and know what you are getting.

The Paint that Saves you Money.

For every gallon of Kinloch Paint buy a gallon of fresh, pure, raw, linseed oil in bulk of any reliable dealer, get a good painter to apply it and you can have a job lasting four or five years for a smaller outlay in the first cost of materials and a saving of one-third to one-half in the per year's wear cost of the job.

Important Memorandum—The painter is the most important factor in the painting. A job complete, done by a good painter with the best quality of paint, costing say $40.00 (labor $20.00 paint) will last five years. The same paint applied by a dunder ($20.00 labor $20.00 paint) will last only two years. Thus the "per-year-cost" of the good painter's job is $12.00—the poor painter's $20.00.

See your dealer to-day about this and if he does not yet have Kinloch Paint in stock, write us for complete booklet on paint and painting, with color card. Sent free.

RUSSIA GRANTS LIBERTY OF FAITH

Fully 40,000,000 People Affected by Czar's Gift of Religious Freedom

ST. PETERSBURG, May 2.—Real religious freedom conferred upon his subjects by Emperor Nicholas as an Easter gift is a historic event of the highest significance in comparison with which the remission of millions of dollars of taxes to the peasantry, a long list of decorations and six pages of promotions of bureaucratic officials, are hardly worth comment.

Liberty of conscience has been repeatedly proclaimed and Procurator Pobedonostzeff in his famous reply to the evangelized petition of 1888 contended that it existed in the empire. The fact is that as a trusting place all religions have been tolerated in Russia, but none has been allowed to trespass upon the orthodox faith, enunciated from the mosque that faces the church on the Nevsky Prospect in St. Petersburg. People were free to remain true to the religion of their fathers, but were forbidden to make proselytes. Everybody might enter, but none might leave the orthodox church without forfeiting all civil rights, including the right to inherit crown property, and in the train of that policy persecutions of every conceivable character were directed against the "Raskolnik" or dissident sects, especially the old believers.

SECTS NUMBER THOUSANDS Among the Raskolniki are numbered a thousand and thirty-two heretics bred of the Great Schism, caused by reform of the ancient liturgy and augmented by the suppression of the patriarchate by Peter the Great. The other believers who clung to the old liturgy and made the sign of the cross with three fingers instead of two were broken upon into numerous sects, some discarding priests and sacraments, and some trending toward free love and immoral practices, while others instituted an episcopate and priesthood of their own and dealt with all innovations from the west as inventions of the anti-Christ, eschewing tea, coffee and sugar, and deeming shaving wicked. These latter survive countless persecutions for years without legal recognition of marriages conducted by their priests, but nevertheless became commercially the ablest class in Russia. Morality and wealth were the secrets of their strength. This branch of old believers includes merchant princes of Moscow, rivaling those of America, but they never have ceased to be regarded as apostates of the orthodox church, and have been subjected to all sorts of legal persecutions as such. The humbler dissenters have had a much harder time, being hunted down until secretly they gave rise to a brood of strange sects. One preached redemption by suicide and a fiery or a bloody baptism; others worshipped images of Napoleon and the Messiah, believing he escaped to Siberia and will return some day and establish a reign of justice and peace, and still others like flagellants have eunuchs, jumpers and admites, which are practically wiped out, indulged in most heinous rites. The student and moksans of Southern Russia, now the principal native non-conformists, who might be described as the Quakers of Russia, have made tremendous progress in recent years in spite of persecution which often has driven them eastward and made them pioneers of Russian colonization. There are in all about twelve million of these dissenters.

AFFECTS 40,000,000 PEOPLE The emperor's act will also affect about 40,000,000 belonging to alien faiths, such as Jews, Catholics and Lutherans of Poland and the Baltic provinces, the Protestants of Finland and the Furs of Islam and Buddha in the Ural, the Crimea, the Caucasus, Turkistan and Central Asia. These figures are only approximate as probably millions who are nominally orthodox secretly profess other religions. Whose villages of Mussulmans baptized into the orthodox communion by a ruse, petition in vain to be permitted to return to Mohammedanism.

While the emperor's approval of the action of the committee of ministers distinctly holds to orthodoxy as the state religion and creates the usual commission to work out many details in connection with the offspring of mixed marriages during minority, legitimization of marriage, registration of deaths and births, it also rescinds a number of acts aimed specifically at various religions and establishes the principle of absolute freedom of worship and the right of every Russian who becomes of age to change his profession of faith with the assurance of religious freedom. It also contemplates relief of Catholics and Poles from the present vexatious restrictions as to preaching, teaching the catechism in the Russian language, etc.

Logically the emperor's action involves a complete reversal of the Russian policy of seeking national unity in conquered provinces in religious unity. He has accepted the axiom of the metropolitan Antonius: "You can not hold strange children in the church against their will," and recognizes in religious variety good for the nation, as well as for the church itself. It is a step which if acknowledged politically, would mean a federated Russia.

WITH THE CATTLEMEN

WOULD SELL COWS

These remarks are written after a trip that has included the following stock conventions: The Western Cattle Raisers' Association at Fort Worth, the Western South Dakota Stock Growers' Association at Rapid City, S. D., the local stock growers' association at Belle Fourche, S. D., the two conventions of the Montana Stock and Cattle Raisers' Association at Helena, Montana and the other at Miles. In addition to the live stock growers who belong in the states where these conventions were held, there were many representative people from other states whose interests in live stock matters are extensive. For example, at Fort Worth many from New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma people were present. In Dakota owners of cattle from Wyoming and Nebraska, and in Montana Northern Wyoming, Canada and Idaho were represented. Possibly one-third of all the cattle in the United States are represented in one way or another at these meetings, and the feature that was evident at every place and among all the people, and the most startling of all, was that not a single individual could I meet, hear about or locate who wanted to buy she-stock of any kind, and about every man present, either in person or by proxy, wanted to sell cows of some sort of she-stock, and in many cases at very low values.

Steers, steers, steers, is all one hears on every hand in every place—all going into steers. But where on earth are they to come from if everybody sells cows or makes breeding impossible by spaying heifers? Now, gentlemen in the cattle business, it is time to call a halt in this madness and to recall the fact that modern methods have not gone so far that the old cow can be replaced by any new invention, and that if this wholesale destruction of the breeding business keeps up the country will be confronted with a shortage of feeders and young stock, and with it the unhealthy condition that comes with unnatural values.—A. E. de Riquies, Denver, Colo.

JUDGE SAM COWAN

Among those who accompanied the Chicago delegation on its pilgrimage to the northwest to attend the meetings of the live stock associations was Judge Sam Cowan, the astute lawyer of Fort Worth, Texas. He was on the program at the various meetings to tell the people a few things about the interstate commerce commission. If there is any man in the country qualified to discuss on this important subject it is Sam Cowan. For the past ten years he has bumped against it on all sides in his strenuous efforts to straighten out some kinks in the railroad freight rates. Western stockmen are considerably disgruntled over the way they have been treated by the railroads during the past few years and their ears were wide open to hear what the Texas attorney had to say about the interstate commerce commission. Mr. Cowan handled his subject with his wit and wisdom drew out volleys of applause. It was evident that stockmen were pleased with his diagnosis of the case and were glad to learn that the time was not far distant when the probabilities are that the commission would have power to do effective work. Mr. Cowan took occasion to say a few things about the so-called beef trust. He said there may or may not be a beef trust; he did not know. People said there was, and the government was making an effort to find out. "I am not prepared to say whether there is a beef trust or not," said Mr. Cowan, "but I have always observed this, that when the supply is light, prices go up, and when it is heavy, they go down. The packers may be convicted and sent to jail, but the law of supply and demand will go on forever, and whatever may be the result of the present investigation you men must sign your cattle to market, as you always have, and buy your cattle, and when there is a surplus, they will buy them lower, and when they are scarce, they will have to pay more for them, and that is all there is to it."—Chicago Live Stock World.

THOSE ABSENT WITNESSES

CHICAGO, Ill., May 2.—Government authorities in charge of the Federal grand jury investigation last evening made public a list of missing witnesses who are either in Canada or Europe. Those whose absence has not already been made public are:

E. Butterworth, branch house manager for Schwarzschild & Sulzberger. Frank Elwood, private secretary of M. J. Sulzberger, in Canada. J. R. Mitchell, car line department; W. A. Morgan, beef sales department; E. A. Phelan, car line department, and H. N. Stevenson, beef sales department, at Swift & Co.'s. George Mariels, head of casing department, and J. A. McNaughton, traffic manager at Omaha for Cudahy Packing Company, gone to Europe. A. E. Allen, assistant secretary, and C. H. Beauchamp, department manager, for the National Packing Company, in British Columbia. Federal officers have located most of the witnesses, but they cannot prevail on them to return to Chicago.

BOUGHT 20,000 STEERS

E. A. de Riquies, general manager of the American Live Stock Association, who was in the city to attend the stock meeting, stated that his firm had already contracted for 20,000 head of cattle to be delivered on the Montana range this spring and among the heaviest purchasers was the Pioneer Cattle Company, composed of Helena parties. He thinks that the good prices that are promised for this year will be maintained and there will be a general cleaning up of the ranges of the stock that has been held for a couple of years back waiting better prices.—Montana Stock Growers' Journal.

The democratic party has been sorely tried with sophistries in the past, and has lived in spite of all the blunders of an incompetent leadership, but it will buck at the suggestion of government ownership, which is a socialistic demand utterly repugnant to the teachings of a sane democracy.

Your Life Current.

The power that gives you life and motion is the nerve force, or nerve fluid, located in the nerve cells of the brain, and sent out through the nerves to the various organs. If you are tired, nervous, irritable, cannot sleep; have headache, feel stuffy, dull and melancholy, or have neuralgia, rheumatism, backache, periodical pains, indigestion, dyspepsia, stomach trouble, or the kidneys and liver are inactive, your life-current is weak.

Power-producing fuel is needed; something to increase nerve energy—strengthen the nerves. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve is the fuel you need. It feeds the nerves, produces nerve force, and restores vitality.

"When I began taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve and Anti-Pain Pills I was confined to my bed. I had severe nervous spells, the result of two years illness with malaria. I gradually grew so weak that I was unable to sit up. The spells commenced with cold chills, and I would become weak and almost helpless. My circulation was poor, and had doctored right along but grew weaker and weaker. The Nerve seemed to strengthen me right away and my circulation was better. I have taken in all seven bottles of the Nerve, and I am entirely well." ROSA E. WEAYER, Stuart, Ia.

Dr. Miles' Nerve is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind fuel on hand in State street averaged from two to four days. Marshall Field & Company have coal for two weeks or more.

It is admitted by the coal dealers, who are even more reticent than the department store managers, that the crisis in the fuel situation will come today or tomorrow.

The peril of the situation was emphasized by John C. Felzer, receiver for the Union Traction Company, who said:

"In several of our stations, unless we get coal in twenty-four hours, we will have to close down. Of course we will try every possible scheme first."

STRIKERS STOP BUNDLE CARRIERS
The cordons of union pickets stationed on the curbing in State street and Wabash avenue have been supplemented greatly in numbers with the result that in spite of the vigilance of the police, carriages and hacks are stopped and drivers and their fares warned against attempting to carry purchases home from the boycotted stores.

Store employes burdened with bundles are stopped and their parcels taken from them, and torn open and searched by the pickets and union sympathizers to see if they are attempting to deliver goods to customers by carrying their own property to their homes. After assuring the pickets that the contents of the bundles belong to them they are not disturbed further.

In one instance a hired carriage was stopped in Wabash avenue and the occupant, a woman shopper, compelled to get out and walk. Another woman with both arms full of bundles was caught by the skirts and stopped as she was about to step into a cab in State street. The cab driver was warned not to take her as a fare. Undaunted, the shopper walked to another corner, where she hailed a second cab. Again she was stopped by the union sympathizers. Finally she boarded a street car.

Only a few hacks or cabs venture to drive up to the entrances to any of the State street stores. In most cases the drivers request their passengers to alight on the opposite side of the street and walk over to their destination.

With one exception, none of the State street stores attempted to make deliveries in the residential districts yesterday, although at all boycotted establishments assurances were freely given that the wagons would start out today. With few exceptions, the liveries generally refuse to carry passengers to a boycotted store.

The sidewalks and the surface and elevated cars are thronged with men, women and children carrying bundles of all sizes and descriptions.

SOUTHERN BISHOPS MEET
Joint Rehearsal in Preparation for Houston Festival Held Under Director Dexter

Preparatory to the state musical festival to be held at Houston, May 8 and 9, the five singing societies of this city held a joint rehearsal at the First Presbyterian church Monday evening. The choruses of the St. Cecilia, the Harmony, the Enterprise, the Arion and the Trio Clubs, numbering altogether about 125 persons, were present. The rehearsal was directed by F. F. Dexter of Houston, director of the State English Singing Societies, as well as the mass choruses during the festival.

After the rehearsal Mr. Dexter was entertained at the Arion Club rooms.

Delegates to the festival numbering at least 100 will leave for Houston Saturday and Sunday. Each of the five clubs named above will send about twenty delegates.

The festival is technically known as the meeting of the State Federation of English Singing Societies. It will meet here in 1907.

PATTERSON CASE TO CLOSE TODAY

Actress' Attorney Makes a Strong Plea in Five-Hour Address to Jury

NEW YORK, May 2.—"This case is one of deliberate murder or suicide. There can be no manslaughter about it. There should be no compromise verdict. She is either guilty of murder in the first degree or not at all."

With those words, Abraham Levy, counsel for Nan Patterson, brought to a close yesterday afternoon his five-hour argument in defense of the former chorus girl, charged with the murder of Caesar Young.

During the long argument Miss Patterson faced the jury unflinchingly. The court room was crowded, most of the attendants being women, who struggled to get a look at the defendant. At one time during the afternoon the judge was compelled to stop Mr. Levy, while court officers expelled from the room some women who persisted in discussing the case in audible tones to the annoyance of all present.

Mr. Levy reviewed all the testimony in detail and declared not a word had been introduced which showed any purpose on the part of Miss Patterson or her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan Smith, to threaten the life of Caesar Young.

The suicide theory was strictly emphasized by Mr. Levy, who contended that the powder stains on Young's fingers proved he had shot himself. Mr. Levy scouted the idea that a girl would be able to make such an assault upon a trained athlete like Young. He also ridiculed the idea that Miss Patterson should have chosen a crowded public street as a place for murder, when she had so many opportunities to attack Young where there would have been little danger of detection.

Assistant District Attorney Rand will close for the people and it is possible that the case will go to the jury this afternoon.

Mr. Levy, in his argument, warned the jury that circumstantial evidence must be considered with the greatest care, as any judgment it might make could not restore the life that had been taken.

Mr. Levy argued that Nan Patterson was a victim of her own weakness and the blandishments of Caesar Young. It was admitted that she had been the mistress of Young, he said, but before that she had been true to her husband, and she was as loyal to Young as if she truly had been his wife. Young was the master, she the weakling.

Mr. Levy insisted that the testimony of the witnesses who told of scenes directly after the death of Young pointed to the innocence of the defendant. She was overcome with grief at the death of the man she loved.

"It has been said that Caesar Young did not have a pistol," the lawyer declared. "You remember that he was a bookmaker and carried large sums of money. He came from the west, where pistols are carried a great deal. Is there any evidence in this case that this weapon was not bought for Young by a friend?"

"There is not a single fragment of evidence in this case which will show a threat on the part of the defendant to do Caesar Young harm, except in a letter written by Julia Smith, which was excluded from the case."

Mr. Levy ridiculed the contention of the district attorney that Young was marked for slaughter from May 3. He said that if the defendant were a mercenary woman she would not think of cutting off the source of her money.

"I say, gentlemen, that in my judgment, this is a case of deliberate murder or suicide. There can be no manslaughter about it. There should be no compromise verdict."

It was 6 o'clock when Mr. Levy, who had spoken, in all, over five hours, concluded his address. During his long talk Miss Patterson kept her eyes fixed on the jury, watching the effect of Mr. Levy's argument, which may decide her fate.

When adjournment was announced she walked back to the prison with a steady step. She made no comment on the day's proceedings.

Assistant District Attorney Rand will make his closing argument today. The district attorney's office is making a thorough investigation of a story as to suppression of certain evidence in the case. A number of witnesses have been subpoenaed and affidavits will be taken from them at the conclusion of the trial.

Housecleaning at Postoffice
Permission to renovate the lower corridor and stairways of the Federal building up to the second floor has been granted by the postoffice department at Washington. Postmaster Burroughs will soon advertise for bids on the work. All the woodwork of the corridor will be cleaned and revarnished, and the stairway will be cleaned and revarnished, while both ceiling and walls will have a new coat of kalsomine. The front doors will also be gone over, both inside and out. The work of cleaning will begin in a few days.

Yacht Mayflower Missing
NEW YORK, May 2.—With eight or ten persons aboard, the yacht Mayflower is said to be missing. It is said the yacht is that which once successfully defended the America's cup in 1886 and recently had been fitted with an auxiliary engine. Mrs. E. M. Barker, who purchased the Mayflower only a few weeks ago, invited a party of three to accompany her Sunday to try the boat. There were four men in the crew. What course was taken by the excursionists is not known, but no word has been received from them nor has the boat put in at any nearby anchorage so far as can be learned. No provisions were carried for the voyage and it was intended, according to relatives of those on board, to take only a short sail about the harbor.
