Man Who Lived in Luxury Now Does Clerical Work
 as No. 4717
 BY A. O. ANDERSSON.

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.
 FORT LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 28.—Convict 4717, formerly Frank G. Bigelow, president of the First National bank of Milwaukee, and embezzler of over a million and a half dollars, tumbled off his cot at 5 a. m. today, hurriedly put on the prisoner's garb of blue, made up his bed, washed, and, at the signal, walked to a nearby building, where he ate a substantial but plain breakfast, which had just been unloaded from a wagon. It was then 6 a. m., and the financier's daily unvarying grind had begun. Day in and day out he gets up at 5 o'clock and goes to bed at 8 p. m. Day in and day out he performs the same menial tasks and the same clerical work which the youngest boy in his generation could do as well as he does. Sunday and holidays alone is there any variation.

 From a palatial residence in Milwaukee to a cot in a laundry building, filled with felons, is a great fall. None knows it better than Bigelow. He broke down soon after entering prison gates and was put in the hospital. It was simply the collapse of a nervous strain, and within a day or so, his time came to go through the dreaded ordeal of being "dressed in." Bigelow's photograph in prison uniform is put away with thousands of similar pictures. His Bertillon measurements and thumb marks are printed on a card and stored with imprints taken from felons all over the country.
 There are two federal penitentiaries near Leavenworth, the old one and the new. The latter is in course of construction, and Bigelow is helping, in a way, to build it. The desire of the morbidly curious to see the noted embezzler was so great that Major McClaughrey, the warden, transferred him to the new prison, which is not in the run of curiosity seekers. It embraces seventeen acres, and on three sides is surrounded by a seventeen-foot wall. Not enough cells are completed to hold all the convicts at work here, so 100 or so are temporarily quartered in the laundry building. Bigelow is one of them.
 Bigelow is one of three clerks in the office of Will McClaughrey, record clerk of the prison. The former bank president enters into big books the daily records of a certain number of prisoners. Convict No. 17 gets a new suit of underwear. Bigelow enters it. Convict No.

in town, and in a misguided moment a delegation of them, headed by a minister, started to ask Warden McClaughrey to assign Bigelow to the task of operating the telephone exchange in the prison. The job affords much variety and would be pleasant compared to some convict tasks. What the warden said to the committee is not known, but it is safe to say that his remarks were to the effect that he knew his business.
 Warden McClaughrey has an international reputation as a penologist. Bigelow's photograph was being dressed in, he was game until it came to donning convict's garb. The only request he is known to have made was:
 "I would like to request permission to wear my own underwear."
 "If I were you," replied Storekeeper Hannay, "I would not make a request of that kind. It will only be a question of time till the government will have to supply this. You had better put it on now and get done with it. It will be easier now than later."
 So Bigelow laid aside his underwear of finest thread and put on that which Uncle Sam provides. The clumsy socks came next and then the blue trousers of light material and the four-button jacket of the same material. Roomy shoes were given him and a cap, and he was equipped, and upon his heart he bears the number 4717.
 Some of these days the government will put a little red circle surrounding a white star below the numeral. That will be when Bigelow has earned it by good conduct.
 Uncle Sam takes good care of his prisoners. Their food is plain, substantial, well-cooked and better than many an honest man gets.
 Each man has a knife, fork, spoon and quart tin. Bigelow and others doing clerical work are served first in one corner of one of the rooms and then the common herd is called in.

TOGO STARTS A SCHOOL
 Only One Child in Rumford Falls, Me., Knew About Admiral
 RUMFORD FALLS, Me., June 28.—Indirectly Admiral Togo has advanced the cause of education in Oquossoc, a part of the city of Rumford Falls. When it became known that only one child in the place was aware of Togo's victory in the Far East and other remarkable events of modern history a special meeting of the city authorities was called, and $800 was appropriated for the construction of the school house. The building will accommodate twenty children, none of whom has ever been in a school house.

 as No. 4717
 BY A. O. ANDERSSON.

21 breaks a spade. Into the book it goes in Bigelow's handwriting. Convicts 27 and 46 don't work as industriously as they should. Marks are recorded against them by Bigelow.
 The ex-speculator has relatives living probably will not be fit to wear after having been stored away so long. The government has provided for this, and about seven years and three months from now Bigelow, if still in prison, will be ordered to report to the head tailor and be measured for a suit of clothes. Then a complete suit will be made up for him by convicts and he can wear it away.

THE WISCONSIN EIGHT.

The husky Wisconsin are always looked upon as dark horses at Poughkeepsie. O'Day keeps his men at work "far from the madding crowd" of spectators, which gather to watch the practice for days before the big event. This year, Wisconsin and Cornell have large followings, although it is probable Syracuse will be favorite June 28, when the eights

THE SYRACUSE EIGHT GOING AT TOP SPEED

With this crew Ten Eyck scooped everything in sight last year at Poughkeepsie, surprising watermen in all parts of the country, and especially those identified with intercollegiate rowing. Their easy win makes the eight favorite this season. This remarkable photograph, showing the oars at the "catch," was made especially for The Telegram at Poughkeepsie.

Yale and Harvard meet on the historic New London course June 23. These rivals do not participate in the intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie, preferring to fight out a dual championship. Rube Waddell's Crown Transferred to Joss

ADDIE JOSS, (The Juneau Slat.)

What Joe McGlinchy was to the National League last season, and Jack Chesbro to the American League, Addie Joss of the Nationals promises to be this year. To date the ex-schoolmaster has pitched eleven games, winning ten, and his string of victories places him head and shoulders above the other pitchers in the American League.

When Joss returned from the training trip last spring, he announced he would pitch the game of his life. That he knew what he was talking about has been proven. His recent victory over the phenomenal left-hander, "Rube" Waddell, was the crowning victory of a great string of games won.

The game between the Athletics and Nationals in Philadelphia was a pitchers' battle, in which Joss, although he was hit for nine safeties, had the better of it. "Rube" passed six men to first and Joss did not make a slip. But for an error by Jackson in the first inning, the Athletics would have been shut out.

Ever since the season opened Joss has shown whirlwind speed. His control has always been his forte, and combined with a noodle that outguesses the batters, the ability to field his position better than any pitcher in the league, his speed has made him invulnerable up to this time.

When Joss broke into fast company

A FEARFUL FATE

It is a fearful fate to have to endure the terrible torture of Piles. "I can truthfully say," writes Harry Colson of Masonville, Iowa, "that for Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Protruding Piles, Buckle's Arnica Salve is the best cure made." Also best for cuts, burns and injuries. 25c at W. J. Fisher, Reeves' Pharmacy and M.

three years ago he was regarded as a wonder, but during 1902 and 1904 his work was mediocre, owing to malaria which followed him persistently. Perfect physical condition, loyalty to Lajude, whom he considers the greatest of managers, and a desire to give the club owners adequate return for the money invested in him, have helped Joss in his wonderful pitching this season.

RAIN STOPS GAMES

Nothing Doing in Texas League Tuesday

Jupiter Pluvius stepped in for fair yesterday and caused a suspension of operations in the Texas state league, the gates at the Fort Worth and Dallas parks both being closed. At Dallas the Giants and the Waco Tigers were unable to play because the "skin" diamond was turned into a bundle of soap. Here the conditions were about the same. The rain came on the last day of the Dallas-Waco and Fort Worth-Temple series, so that today the entire face of things is changed.

Temple left last night for Waco and will open up today for a three-game series. The Dallas Giants arrived here this morning and will play the Panthers this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Following the Dallas series, Waco will come back here for three games and then Temple will open up on the Fourth of July for a series of three games.

TO THE PUBLIC

The Consumers Light and Steam Heating Company is being organized for the purpose of doing a general light and steam heating business in the city of Fort Worth.

We propose to steam heat the business section from Tenth street to the court house with exhaust steam from our electric light plant. The electric plant will be one of the largest and most modern and economical in the country. The money has been pledged for this enterprise; the site purchased; plans adopted; bids on machinery asked for; franchise applied for, and the work on construction will begin about July 10.

Twelve of the leading business men and consumers of light and heat have subscribed for stock in amounts ranging from $100 to $15,000 each. It is proposed to make this strictly a "consumers company." Every consumer of light and heat is invited to become a stockholder on exactly the same basis as myself and every other subscriber. Nobody has anything to sell and there is absolutely no gain or advantage to me or any other person in the organization of this company, other than what will be obtained by its success.

The matter of building a gas plant will be taken up as soon as the electric light and steam heating plant is in successful operation. We propose to incorporate for $100,000, and to issue at this time $75,000 of stock of the par value of $100 per share. Less than $15,000 of this amount remains unsubscribed for.

Subscriptions should be accompanied by check for 25 per cent, payable to H. C. Edgington. You can obtain further particulars by calling on or writing R. C. Armstrong Jr. or myself at the Natator-Geo. W. Armstrong.

RHEUMATISM

COMMON IN SUMMER

The time to get rid of Rheumatism is in Summer while the blood is endeavoring to purge itself of all poisons and impurities, and the skin is active, with all the pores and glands open and able, in this way, to assist in the elimination.

Columbus, O., 1355 Mt. Vernon, Ave. Six years ago I had a severe attack of Inflammatory Rheumatism, and the doctors I had did me no good. They changed medicine every week and nothing they prescribed seemed to help me. Finally I left off their medicine and began the use of S. S. S. My knee and elbow joints were swollen terribly, and at one time my hands were so swollen and painful that I could not close them when opened. I was getting discouraged, you may be sure, when I began S. S. S., but as I saw it was helping me I continued it, and today I am a sound, well man and have never had a return of the disease.

R. H. CHAPMAN.

The inactivity of the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels causes the refuse matter to remain in the system, which, coming in contact with the different acids of the body, forms uric acid to be absorbed by the blood and distributed to the different joints and muscles, producing the pains, inflammation and other distressing symptoms of Rheumatism. The wandering pains of the disease remind the sufferer that the poison is still in the blood and he should lose no time in getting it out. S. S. S. neutralizes the acid and makes the blood rich and pure. It tones up every organ and cures the disease permanently.

S. S. S. contains no harmful minerals to disagreeably affect the system, but while curing the disease builds up every part of the body by its fine tonic effect. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice desired without charge.

TAFT CRITICISES TRIAL JURY SYSTEM

Says Administration of Criminal Law in United States is Disgrace to Civilization

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 27.—The Yale senior classes of the academic and Sheffield scientific departments of the university held their class day exercises Tuesday.

In the afternoon the Townsend prize speaking contest was held as part of the graduating exercises of the law school. Secretary of War Taft delivered the address to the class on the subject, "The Administration of Criminal Law."

Mr. Taft said in part: "One of the most useful results of our recent territorial expansion for those who have had to do with unifying our new possessions with this country and adjusting certain of the Spanish codes which were found in force in Porto Rico and the Philippines to the new American sovereignty has been the comparative study made necessary of the two great systems of law, the Roman, or civil law and the Anglo-Saxon, or common law.

"We have no right to force on the Porto Ricans or the Filipino institutions of our own which have proved of the highest benefit to us, unless we can see, on other than mere sentimental grounds, connected with our own history, that such institutions will now prove beneficial to them in their present condition.

"Trial by jury has been adopted in Porto Rico. It has not been adopted in the Philippines. I don't think it too much to say, however, that it has proven to be a failure thus far in Porto Rico.

"In adopting a system for the punishment of crime for a new country, the first question which can be asked is 'How have the so-called guarantees of liberty of the defendant worked on the whole?'

"While in England crime is punished with as much severity and uniformity as the public welfare demands, and this, although they have the trial jury, although defendant cannot be compelled to testify, and although all the other rules of evidence to which I have referred to have full application, how is it in this country? I grieve for my country to say that the administration of the criminal law in all the states of the union (there may be one or two exceptions) is a disgrace to our civilization. We are now reaching an age where we cannot plead youth or a newness of the country as a cause for laxity in the enforcement of the law.

"In this country the institution of trial by jury has come to be regarded as a fetish to such an extent that state legislatures have exalted the power of jury and diminished the power of the court in the hearing of criminal cases. The functions of the judge is held to that of mediator in various assemblies. Counsel for the defense, relying on the undiminished power of the court, creates by dramatic art and by harping on the inportance and unimportant details, a false atmosphere in the court room which the judge is powerless to dispel and under the hypnotic influence of which the counsel is able to lead the jurors to vote as jurors for a verdict, which after all the excitement of trial has passed away, they are unable to support as men of reason.

"And now, what has been the result in this country. Since 1855 in the United States there have been 131,951 murders and homicides and there have been 2,286

GOT A JOB FOR CHOATE?

FORMER AMERICAN AMBASSADOR TO ENGLAND LOOKING FOR A CHANCE TO MAKE AN HONEST LIVING

JOSEPH CHOATE AND HIS GREAT-GRANDDAUGHTER, JOSEPHINE DE GERS DORE, ON THEIR RETURN TO AMERICA.

NEW YORK, June 21.—"What would you advise me to do to make an honest living in America?"

That was the question Joseph Hodges Choate addressed to a party of newspaper men who were talking with him about his plans for the future after his return home from England, where for six years he had acted as ambassador to the court of St. James.

"I may go back to the law," he said. "I used to make an honest penny that way. I might go into the penny that executions. In 1885 the number of murders was 1,600. In 1904 it had increased to 3,462. The number of executions in 1885 was 108. In 1904 the number was 116. This startling increase in the number of murders and homicides as compared with the number of executions tells the story.

"Murder is on the increase. So are all offenses of the felony class and there can be no doubt that they will continue to increase unless the criminal laws are enforced with more certainty, more uniformity, more severity than they are now."

MISSOURI MOB THREATENS BANKER

Great Excitement at Clinton Follows Arrest of Cashier for Salmon & Salmon

CLINTON, Mo., June 28.—"I don't care. Let them shoot me, hang me, anything. It's all off with me anyway. I wish I could plead guilty tomorrow and begin serving my sentence right away."

Groaning in pain and agony of mind and body, Thomas M. Casey, cashier of the bankrupt bank of Salmon & Salmon, once one of the strongest financial institutions in Western Missouri, spoke these words Tuesday to a deputy sheriff, who sat by his side.

Casey had asked the deputy sheriff what the crowds in the streets were saying about him and the deputy sheriff had told him that the depositors who had lost their all were greatly excited and were making threats against the cashier who yesterday was arrested on the charge of forging notes to the value of $10,000. Casey turned his face to the wall and could not be prevailed upon to say another word during the afternoon.

Threats against Casey were heard on all sides and the authorities became fearful that violence might result from the excitement. Forty-five deputy sheriffs were sworn in to help preserve peace and the mayor of the city put on a large number of extra policemen. The local company of the state militia telegraphed to the Sedalia company for ammunition for their rifles in fear that it might become necessary to call out the state troops before the present crisis is passed.

SOME QUEER STORIES

King James of England Was Disappointed With the Lions

Just 300 years ago this month King James I of England visited the lions then kept in London tower—the show from which is derived "the lions" in the sense of the sights of a place. The king had had an arena built on to their cages for fights with bears, dogs and bulls; but the two lions that entered it on this day simply stood blinking. Two racks of mutton and "a lusty live cock" were successively thrown to them and devoured. "After this the king caused a live lamb to be easily let down upon them by a rope, and being come to the ground the lion lay upon his knees and both lions stood in their former places and only beheld the lamb; but presently the lamb rose up and went into the lions, which very gently looked upon him and smelled on him, without sign of any further hurt." However, a lion-and-mastiff fight that followed was better "sport."

A story is told in Paris of a diplomatist who represented a South American republic a few years ago. There had been so many revolutions at home that the financiers there had no time to send him his salary. But he took this misfortune philosophically, sold all the furniture of the legation except a bed, a table and some chairs and occupied one room with his principal attaché, who cooked the meals. Any one who called early on the minister would probably find him clapping the boots. "What would you have?" he would say, waving a boot expressively. "My country is in another crisis and has forgotten us again. But when I go back I shall make a revolution and appoint myself president. Then we shall have our reward for all this self-denial."

A lady writing in an English review tells this story as a reminiscence of her own: "The brother of a once-famous dean of Christ church was rector of a small parish. His eccentricity was somewhat remarkable. He was a famous whip and drove a splendid team, of which he was very proud. He was fond of showing off how he could flick a fly from either of his leaders' ears without touching the horse. This accomplishment he transferred to a rather unexpected locality; for he always carried his whip up into the pulpit with him and was to the unfortunate member of his congregation whom he detected nodding."

IMMIGRANTS TELL OF RUSSIAN RIOTS

Party En Route to Enid, O. T., Witnessed Recent Warsaw Uprising

Sam Kriss, a Russian Pole, who was in this city this morning, having come direct from Warsaw, where he was a witness to much of the recent rioting there. He is on his way to Enid, Okla., with a party of immigrants.

The following is the story of conditions in that part of Russia, as told by himself through an interpreter: "I am a tailor and worked in Lodz for a long while. I left Russia three weeks ago. No one can realize the conditions that prevail over Lodz and Warsaw. Conditions are ripe now for a revolution in that section, as the people have too many burdens thrown upon them, and are treated like cattle.

"The Sunday before I left Lodz the employes of a large factory went out on a strike, and asked for fairer conditions. When they were all assembled in the rear of the factory without warning the city officer ordered a body of Cossacks to fire on them. A number were wounded and some were killed. That was the reply they received in answer to their demands. In this riot two men were captured and held as prisoners, but during the night they and their comrades they escaped and left two other fellows in their place.

"On May 2 when I was in Warsaw, there were some bombs thrown. It is a general belief that they are English bombs smuggled into the country from England by friends of the people.

"Conditions all over Russia are practically the same, and if they had right kind of leaders the entire country would rise in revolt. I don't think it will be long until they do so anyhow, as the people are tired of being imposed upon."

The party to which Kriss belonged was at the Texas and Pacific station this morning en route to Enid. It consisted of a party of about 200 immigrants, brought by Catherine II, to Russia 150 years ago. When so brought they were promised certain immunities and privileges by the emperor, which they say, have been kept until recently, when military duty was required of them and other measures taken contrary to the original agreement.

They declared that conditions are not overdrawn in press reports and that conditions are even worse than pictured. All expressed themselves as being glad to get away. They pictured the sentiment by saying that the government was a system of graft and legalized robbery and that there was no regard for the rights of the lower classes. They are en route to lands in Oklahoma, where large numbers of their people have already settled.

They have retained the German language and dress and their own religion while in Russia.

WATER MAIN PLAN TO BE CHANGED

Mile of Six-inch Pipe Made Available in North Fort Worth

After arguing rules to determine a stoppage at Prospect avenue. The city council went into executive session Tuesday night, concluding remaining matters behind closed doors.

Reading of the report of the health committee was the first matter taken up at the open session, the committee saying that inasmuch as the office of city physician was still vacant, Dr. M. E. Gilmore had been employed at $2 per call while he is to attend to all duties of the office for a sum not to exceed $20 a month. The report was adopted.

City Engineer Hall recommended a change in laying the mains for the water system. The matter was referred to the water works committee and the city engineer.

Under the plan as suggested, the six-inch mains will be laid in streets running east and west instead of north and south in that portion of the city south of Central avenue, both east and west of Main street and east of Main street north of Central avenue. The city engineer said that this plan will give the same service, it is said an even mile of six-inch mains will be saved, which will then be used in running the service to other sections.

The mayor, J. C. Smith, appeared before the council, asking that Lake avenue be graveled in compliance with a former agreement of the council.

Alderman Thannish complained to the council that Rosen Heights cars were not stopping at Prospect avenue. The city secretary was instructed to notify the street car company to stop there in the future.

Because the purchasing committee failed to buy a horse for the fire department, after being instructed to do so at a previous meeting, the council was precipitated into a violent argument. Alderman Lydon, a member of the purchasing committee, maintained that the animal in question had kicked out of harness, then turned around and looked at the driver; and that, moreover, he was over 6 years of age, and that last but not least, the purchasing committee could not find the owner of the animal.

The statement of Mr. Lydon, in regard to the age of the horse, brought forth questions as to how the alderman determined an horse's age, this being followed by explanation of "hooks on his tusks."

It was finally decided that it was up to the purchasing committee to buy the horse per instructions.

At the conclusion of the equine argument, the matter of allowing bills was taken up, but before considering them the council went into executive session.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

"An incident that might be called an illustration of the average woman's idea of banking occurred here recently," said the teller of a Main street bank. "A woman came in here, handed out $65 and asked for a draft. She had been told, she said, that it was the best way to send $65 to her sister in Oberlin, Ohio, who wanted to come to Fort Worth. I gave her the draft. In a week or so she came back looking for trouble.

"My sister never got that money," she said, "and I want to know why."

"Did you send it to her?"

"Send her what?"

"The draft."

"I wrote and told her that you would send her the money."

"What did you do with that blue slip I gave you?"

"Why, I kept that as a receipt for the money I gave you," she said.

"And even after matters had been explained she protested angrily that the bank had been responsible for the delay."

Colonel Asa C. Hill, a Mexican war veteran, and the first man to receive a commission from President Sam Houston, is in the city from Austin.

Colonel Hill is traveling over the state collecting facts and figures to compile a history of Texas and Old Mexico. "I intend to have it in facts that have never before been in print," said Colonel Hill. "And I want it especially for school use. I think I will have the first volume completed by the end of the year."

All railroads furnish Mr. Hill with passes to aid his work.

Colonel Hill, his relatives and his ancestors, have been associated with Texas history since 1824. On that date his father came to Texas, bringing his family with him. Colonel Hill, his father and brother, served through the war in Houston's army and took part in the battle of San Jacinto. Colonel Hill's brothers, cousin and himself were also highly instrumental in getting the first railroad built in Texas, the Houston and Texas Central.

Colonel Hill is 81 years of age, but still strong and hearty. He attributes his good health at the present time to the fact that he has never used any stimulant, narcotic or tobacco.

AMUSEMENTS

"PEACEFUL VALLEY"

"Peaceful Valley" is one of the season's biggest successes, and will interest and amuse all classes of theatergoers. Its characters are all natural and true to life. A nicely woven plot, with a bright vein of comedy pervades the entire three acts—each seems to be more interesting than the other. "Peaceful Valley" is a bright, clean modern comedy, full of good, hearty laughs, with a few tears thrown in just for contrast. It is amusing, interesting and instructive. Is clear and refined and is a play that reaches the heart and the better side of mankind.

The New Orleans Times-Democrat said:

Two large audiences gathered at Farrant's theater yesterday to enjoy Albert Taylor and his excellent company. Not since the time that Sol Smith Russell appeared in this city had the theater-going public had an opportunity of witnessing a play in which pathos and humor are so delightfully blended. The entire company is to be commended for its most artistic work. The actors and actresses are natural in all the scenes and hold their auditors with keen interest through the entire play. Mr. Albert Taylor is certainly entitled to star in the character. He has a quiet and quaint method that draws tears as well as laughter, and proves realistic and true. The management is to be congratulated on securing such a splendid attraction for the amusement of the patrons.

The vaudeville acts, including the three Kelsey sisters, Clarence Oliver, Frankie Kane, Abner Cobb are far superior to any actors of their kind ever seen here.
