

LOW MORTALITY IS ENCOURAGING

Deaths From Fever Continue Few

NATCHEZ CASES TRACED

Infection Laid to New Orleans

Despite Long Shotgun Quarantine

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 30.—Up to noon today there were seventeen new cases of yellow fever and three deaths.

New Orleans Hopeful

Details of the peace settlement at Portsmouth, with the resulting gratification over the successful role played by President Roosevelt, temporarily distracted the attention from the local fever situation, which today was regarded as manifesting signs of improvement not dreamed of a month ago.

Mortality Report Low

The day dawned clear with some rise in temperature, though the weather forecast was still for showers. Notwithstanding the weather changes, however, the mortality report continues to be one of the most significant signs that the fever has lost much of its malignance.

Many Natchez Patients Negroes

Reports from Natchez today quote Dr. Wasdin, of the marine hospital service, as tracing the infection there to New Orleans, though most of the patients are negroes. The local authorities want further light on the subject in view of the fact that Natchez for several weeks has had shotgun cordon around the city.

A suspicious case of fever has been reported at Perlington, Miss., with the result Bay St. Louis and Waveland have put on a quarantine against Hancock county.

A suspicious case which spent a few hours in Wilson, La., and then came to New Orleans, partly bottled up that town and Natchez. La. is again being cut off because negroes are alleged to be sick there with suspicious fever.

Mississippi City notifies the public that all cases there have been discharged and desires the quarantine raised. The shipment of fruit from Chalmette, below the city, will begin today. The cargoes of ships discharged there will be placed in screened cars and workmen will be carried in and out of New Orleans in cars similarly protected.

MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 30.—City Health Officer Good has received a telegram this morning from State Health Officer Porter of Florida confirming the report of yellow fever at Pensacola. He says the Greeks did not have any medical attention and are now in convalescent stage. A cordon of guards has been placed around the squares where the case are located. The houses have been screened and fumigated.

ABBOTT APPEALS CASE

Was Sentenced to Serve Eighteen Months at Lansing

CUTHRIE, Okla., Aug. 30.—T. A. Abbott, who was convicted recently in the district court of Klowa county on a charge of assaulting with intent to kill a neighbor, A. T. Ramey, appealed his case to the Oklahoma supreme court. Abbott was sentenced to serve eighteen months at hard labor in the penitentiary at Lansing, Kan., and to pay the costs of the case amounting to $108.90. He asks that the judgment of the lower court be reversed and set aside, claiming that the evidence of his wife was excluded relative to threats made upon the life of Abbott by Ramey.

POLITICIANS WATCHING ILLINOIS' GOVERNOR

Believed Deneen Stands Good Show of Presidential Nomination in 1908

Special to The Telegram, WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 30.—Governor Charles Deneen, a quiet, unassuming man, whose impressive record as governor of the state that produced Abraham Lincoln is causing much favorable comment hereabouts, promises to be a strong factor in the coming presidential canvass.

That the Taft boom is on the wane there can be no doubt. Before Root entered the cabinet the Ohioan was generally recognized as the personal representative of the President. Since then, however, a remarkable change has taken place. We no longer hear "the master's voice" through Taft. The President is speaking for himself. All of this has been brought about since the advent of Root. The question then arises, has the erstwhile secretary of state exacted a promise from the President whereby the chief magistrate is not to place favorites and only entered the cabinet under that consideration. It looks very much as if that were the case.

MORAL VICTORY GOES TO JAPS

Concession Makes Position Stronger

PRAISE FOR ROOSEVELT

Foreign Press Filled With Approval of American Executive's Successful Role

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 30.—"A great diplomatic victory for M. Witte, but a great moral victory for Japan," is the verdict of Prince Oukhtomsky in his editorial in the Vedomosti today. He says: "Notwithstanding the difficult circumstances under which the negotiations commenced, M. Witte carried out his task with the greatest skill and obtained from Japan the utmost she was prepared to give. More we expect to receive, but through M. Witte wrested out of defeat these advantageous terms, the moral advantage rests with Japan. She will be recognized in the eyes of the east and of Europe as the victor and she has acquired a predominant position in Asia, while Russia's prestige what suffered by correspondingly heavy blow. However, Russia is only reaping the reward of a war conceived in injustice and resting on a policy of aggression toward a weak nation against which I and others warned the government. I was for peace before and have been since the commencement of the war, and I rejoice that peace has been concluded. I have no fear of the results on the army. Some of the men will object to this peace, but the great mass of them will be glad of the termination of war on so honorable a basis and will be content to return to their homes. It is impossible to tell what will be the result of peace on the internal situation. The revolutionary movement has its roots deep in the ground and its causes are entirely independent of the war, while proceeding, though its growth has been fostered by the misfortunes of the conflict. The agitation and turmoil will no doubt find an outlet in the coming elections for the duma, regardless of the outcome of the war."

In conclusion Prince Oukhtomsky pays a high tribute to President Roosevelt, "whose name should be blessed throughout Russia."

LONDON ASTONISHED

News of Peace Conference's Termination Surprising

LONDON, Aug. 30.—News of the conclusion of the Peace conference at Portsmouth yesterday reached London so late last evening that with the exception of official and diplomatic circles and those who were in the city at a late hour the announcements in the morning papers came as a complete surprise. Even many of the cabinet officials and other higher officials were ignorant of the momentous event until today, as those who compose the official and social circles in England are now gathered around the moors, some of them out of reach of the telegraph.

With the general public the news was received with the greatest satisfaction and admiration for Japan's "sacrifice" in the cause of peace.

The announcement peace had been arranged caused stock markets to open with a somewhat buoyant tendency today and prices established a smart advance, particularly in the case of Russian bonds, which gained four points.

Japanese bonds were also affected, but not to such a great extent. The opened at 1 1/2 points higher. Consols advanced 1-4 point and Americans were generally stronger. The evening papers follow the lead of the morning papers in bestowing unstinted praise upon President Roosevelt, to whom they give the fullest credit for the outcome of the conference, whose decision was entirely at variance with daily predictions since the opening of the negotiations. Both the papers and the people are so astounded at the outcome of the conference they feel there is something in the agreement arrived at which has not yet been published and that if this Japanese treaty affected the result in some way. In this connection the Pall Mall Gazette says: "The enlarged treaty with England may have had considerable weight in persuading the mikado and his advisers. Japan's position in the far east is now practically impregnable and peace may be made without pressing for the payment of the costs, which seems justified by the results the emperor of Japan has given the world a lesson in moderation and as we believe the result will show, in practical wisdom."

The Globe also claims Japan gained what she went to war for and says "to the ancient chivalrous feeling of old Saumura there must have appeared something serendipitous in continuing the conflict not for glory, for the safety of the empire, but for cash payment which assumed the form of liquidation for damages. Moreover, we write in the dark. We have no means of knowing the conditions which in all probability form part of the terms of peace, nor do we know how far the situation is affected by the Anglo-Japanese treaty."

The Evening Standard says: "Russia won one of the greatest diplomatic victories in the world. It is summed up in M. Witte's 'Pas Un Sou' (not a cent). We are not inclined to begrudge M. Witte his hour of glory. He fought magnificently for Russia and thanks in large measure to his tactical ability she has been able to save her face."

Referring to the results gained by Japan, the Standard says: "Perhaps she is the only nation on the face of the earth which would have rested content with what she went out to accomplish." In conclusion the Standard says: "We come to what from an international view may be regarded as the greatest victory there. It belongs as we think to President Roosevelt. He may, for instance, have held out to Japan inducements which have had a double effect in securing peace with Russia and rooting up the weeds of disagreement between Japan and America."

The Evening Standard prints a dispatch from St. Petersburg which says M. Witte will return there and that it is not impossible he may "become a sort of prime minister." The dispatch adds: "It is believed, however, that he will refuse unless freedom of the press and personality are guaranteed."

JAP CONSUL TALKS

Gives Roosevelt Credit for Securing Peace

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Great rejoicing was caused here yesterday by the news that a peace agreement had been reached at Portsmouth. At the Lake Mohonk Mountain house, the seat of the Lake Mohonk arbitration conference, the 500 guests held an enthusiastic mass meeting last night, the principal speaker being Japanese Consul General Tachida of New York.

Mr. Tachida said: "I am not certain that this happy result of the peace negotiations, the termination of the war, is not solely due to the most noble and strenuous efforts of Theodore Roosevelt. It is he who stepped in when there was a lull in the negotiations between Russia and Japanese plenipotentiaries. It is he who saved the conference from falling. President Roosevelt is entitled to the most profound thanks of Russia and Japan and of the whole world for the happy result of this conference."

VIENNA AMAZED

Emperor Franz Joseph Congratulates Roosevelt

VIENNA, Aug. 30.—The news of the conclusion of peace through Japanese concessions was totally unexpected here and was received with amazement so great that many persons are still of the opinion that the publication of the terms will show that Russia has made some valuable concessions. At all events it is admitted to be a memorable happening one that adds a new glory to that already gained by the Japanese on the battlefield. Great praise is given to President Roosevelt for his indefatigable efforts to secure peace.

The foreign office immediately forwarded the news to Emperor Francis Joseph, who is witnessing the maneuvers on the field of Roseno in the southern Tyrol. It is said that the emperor sent congratulations to the emperor of Russia and the emperor of Japan and ordered the ambassador at Washington, Mr. Hengelmueller, to express to President Roosevelt his majesty's sincere congratulations on the great success achieved through his initiative.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—With true femininity Mrs. Beatrice G. Young, who sought to kill the woman whom she declares had robbed her of her husband's love, did not attempt vengeance upon the man she says was a base deserter, and whom, by cruel murder, she expected to return to her side.

There is no mental suffering on earth compared to the suspense and uncertainty of a wife who fears that the husband she loves and has helped through all his struggles is unfaithful to her.

just a short time after we were married, a woman came between us," Mrs. Young continued. "My husband fell in love with her. I got him to come to New York, feeling sure that he would succeed here, and then after we got here it was Mrs. Morgan. He is a bright man and I felt sure that he would be at the top in New York and for this end I have struggled and worked ever since I married him."

by Sewell Ford. It is a clever thing in Mr. Ford's best vein, replete with fine humor. Among other good things, this issue contains the story of "THE LAST WAR OF THE CATTLE RANGE."

THE BACKBONE OF OUR NATIONAL LIFE

is the farmer. All wealth proceeds from the soil, and that nation which neglects to make agriculture a chief concern among all its industries cannot maintain a first rank in the family of nations.

There are no more engrossing chapters in the stories of nations than those that tell of the period when Russia was making history—infamous history, by the way—in the Far East. In

"OUTLAW HUNTERS OF RUSSIA"

Agnes C. Laut gives the second paper in this series, and one that is full of adventure and human interest. The pictures accompanying this are remarkable as being the actual ones taken by the Siberian exiles so many years ago.

Besides all the above, the September number contains "THE FALLACIES OF ROUGHING IT," a story of the woods. "PHEASANT SHOOTING IN CHINA," a paper for the sportsman. "WHERE TWO GREAT RIVERS MEET," a story of human life, with a strong, especial appeal to the Middle West.

This number contains, also, the closing installment of "THE ROMANCE OF RED FOX," the brilliant animal story by Chas. G. D. Roberts, and an article on JOHN PAUL JONES—the man. All that has been published of this famous sailor has had to do with his achievements on the sea,—but this story tells of the surroundings and the upbringing of the boy who grew into the man we know.

The departments, which are the helpful ends of the magazine, are particularly full and valuable. These range from everyday woodcraft for everyday people to practical hints to help automobile owners. Of course, the interests of the outdoor man are served seasonably in the field of fishing, of camping, of his dogs, of lawn tennis, of golf, and, in the college world, of football.

THE FIRST SENSIBLE MOVEMENT

A serious and apparently formidable attempt to check the capacity of the beef trust has been set on foot by independent butchers in New York city, who have opened a great abattoir which will supply 499 shops with fresh western beef.

Should the trust drop prices, as it probably will when the competition is felt, so that the rival company cannot profitably compete, the stockholders and customers of the latter will be allowed to buy from the trust. Whatever is saved by the operation is to go into the treasury of the independent company, to aid it in future operations.

The purchasing public will heartily endorse the view of the president of the company which proposes to buy the trust. This automatic check, being the trust in theory, has been distressingly tardy in the realization.

This new movement that has originated in New York is the first sensible procedure that has been inaugurated against the big packers who are alleged to have formed a combination to operate in restraint of trade.

The best method in the world for regulating and controlling the packers is through the medium of competition. They may control many things, but the wealth of the world is not one of them.

of compelling them to turn loose the situation. They are not going to deliberately spend all they have in an abortive effort to continue control when they are convinced the end has come, and good judgment suggests that the way to encompass their downfall is through the medium of competition.

There is more money invested in the production of live stock in the United States than there is in the packing business, and if the producers had gone to work to encourage the building of independent packing plants in all the leading markets they would already have the so-called beef trust on its knees, asking for mercy.

The New York movement seems to indicate, however, that capital is available for the desired purpose, and it seems a most hopeful indication.

WILLIAMS' DEMOCRACY

My venerable friend, L. J. Storey, has his bureau in fine working order and he is sending out campaign literature by the ton. His young men have already attacked the political record of Intangible Tax Williams. It is alleged that Williams, who is a well known republican speaker in the campaign of 1896 and that Hon. W. J. Bailey of Fort Worth converted Mr. Williams to the democratic faith.

Tarrant county is one of the banner democratic counties of Texas, and if Tarrant county has twice passed upon the democracy of Judge Williams by electing him to the state legislature, it looks as if that ought to satisfy the people of Texas as to the soundness of his political faith.

There are many brainy and distinguished members of the democratic party today who have voted against the party in matters they could not conscientiously support, and the financial question has been the chief of these.

Things have certainly come to a strange and peculiar pass in Texas when candidates for office are making an active campaign nearly a year in advance of the time such a thing is usually precipitated.

AN EXCESS OF POLITICS

Things have certainly come to a strange and peculiar pass in Texas when candidates for office are making an active campaign nearly a year in advance of the time such a thing is usually precipitated.

There is no excuse or justification of the keeping of Texas in a political turmoil just simply because some men cannot curb their desire for office.

The passing of the war between Russia and Japan will enable the news agencies of the country to begin to turn their attention to matters a little closer home.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR

A man can get fooled holding a girl's hand as much as he can in poker.

One of the easiest things in the world is to think you are economizing by buying lamb chops instead of roast beef.

What engaged people like about not seeing each other for ten hours is all the letters they can write each other in that time.

There is nothing makes a woman more indignant than to think the street car conductor has forgotten her and then have him come and demand her nickel.

Johnny—(To his sister's young man)—What baseball club did you play with this season?

Johnny—Cause I heard na tell sister that you were a splendid catch.—New Yorker.

comes too previous. There is a time for all things, and especially politics. During political years the people naturally expect to be harangued and bored by men who seek office.

The example set by the candidates for governor in this respect has been evil from its effects upon others. There are candidates in the field for other state offices and all over the state the congressional candidate is getting particularly active.

It has not been a great while since the papers of Texas were telling the people all about the inauguration of the governor down at Austin, but he had hardly had time to get the chair warm before the gubernatorial pot was set to boiling again.

On my walk down to the lake I fell among thieves. I was attacked, stabbed under the shoulder, robbed of all I possessed and left for dead. The perpetrators of the outrage were never discovered.

Three years elapsed before I met her again. I saw her now in Paris, at the entrance to the Gare du Nord. She was well dressed, well looked and well gloved.

Japan and Russia have agreed upon the terms of peace, and the war in the far east will come to a summary close. Theodore Roosevelt takes his place as one of the world's greatest and most powerful statesmen in consequence, and that sturdy Americanism of which he is the symbol commands the admiration of the civilized world.

Judge Brooks now says he did not charge that there were Angus stables existing at Austin. He merely said if they were there he would clean them out if he were elected governor.

The governor has issued the usual proclamation designating Sept. 4 as Labor Day, and it will be quite generally observed throughout the state as a holiday.

The Big Stick has prevailed in the peace conference between Japan and Russia, and the whole civilized world is standing with its mouth open accomplishing it.

The Sunday Telegram is a paper that you can carry into the sacred family circle with every assurance that it is perfectly clean and wholesome.

It must be cruelly disappointing to General Linvitch that peace has been concluded before he was ready to eat the whole Japanese army alive in Manchuria, but human life is full of cruel disappointments.

The loss of it led me to examine further, and I found then that I had been "burgled" of everything of any value. I was right in anticipating trouble from the beetle-browed husband.

THE TELEGRAM'S SHORT STORY THE PASSIONATE EYES OF USCA

Dangerous Were the Bewitching Orbs of a Beautiful Daughter of Italy

By Major Arthur Griffiths.

(Copyright, 1905, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

I only met her three times, but on each occasion misfortune, mischance, some serious troubles followed close behind.

I first saw her in her native village, half a dozen miles from the shores of Lake Garda, on the road between Riva and Bozzen. I had halted by a little wayside inn.

It was Usca, the landlord's daughter, who served me, and one look at her compensated for the coarseness of the fare. She was a peasant girl, but strikingly handsome.

Her costume de gala greatly enhanced her beauty. The striped skirt, short enough to show her shapely ankles and feet; the snowy kerchief that veiled her bosom; the spot of crimson blossom in her raven hair; I could see that she had admirers by the dozen, and that she was flouting them all for me.

I could hardly bring myself to part from her, although I was compelled to return to Riva that night. I told myself that I must see her again; that my future existence was bound up with hers; that I loved her madly, and so on.

Three years elapsed before I met her again. I saw her now in Paris, at the entrance to the Gare du Nord. She was well dressed, well looked and well gloved.

As I passed up the platform to take my own seat I found him hanging half out of a coupe, eager to catch my attention, and cordially inviting me to enter his compartment.

It was not, until we were on the steamer, that I remembered I had had a chance of exchanging a word with her alone.

Usca Francebolla was arraigned, with her husband as an accessory, and accomplice; but while he suffered the extreme penalty on the guillotine, she was only sentenced to seclusion for twenty years. I shudder when I think that she may survive her imprisonment.

AMONG EXCHANGES

The Fort Worth and Denver have started to extend to the sea. The Denver road will be prepared to furnish all sorts of weather and all kinds of country when it has one end resting on the crest of the Rockies and the other dipping in the Gulf of Mexico.—Sherman Register.

The Denver road is one that has always had the best wishes of all the people of Texas from the very excellent manner in which it has always been managed.

It is amusing to see how begrudgingly a newspaper will now and then make some brief mention of Roger G. Mills. A few years ago they fell over themselves trying to say something complimentary about him, and now they grumble at the thought of his again entering public life.

Senator Mills asks nothing now at the hands of the people except the privilege of attending to his own business. He regards himself as safely out of politics.

Governor Lauman wants the one who have been so bold as to bring so many sweeping charges against the state administration to come up with their proof, or in the parlance of the day—"to make good." That is nothing more than right. By all means the public and all concerned in the matter should have the proofs for the charges.—Terrell Transcript.

taxdry, dirty finery of a street musician. She saw me first, I think, but was disinclined to approach until I half rose and beckoned to her. Very reluctantly she sat down at my table and accepted some refreshment; but as I so evidently sympathized with her and meant kindly, she thawed a little and told me her story.

She came back more than once—not merely, as I hoped, for the alms I never refused. She said it comforted her to see and speak with me; that I reminded her of days long past and gone—happier days—and as she said this, her now hard, hungry face softened a little and the old look still strangely beautiful, brightened the dark depths of her passionate eyes.

When I came to the light was streaming in through the dormer window, and I gradually made out where I was.

I had free egress; the door stood unbolting. I met no one on the stairs or in the street, but made good my retreat homeward, where I threw my coat and hat just as I was, exhausted and still dazed, and confused like a man in a trance.

I was rudely awakened about midday by a commissaire de police, who, followed by a posse of policemen, arrested me and carried me off a close prisoner to the depot of the prefecture.

I had been in the company of known anarchists; had one, a woman—who was also in custody—was with me often. I had been seen in the opera house just before the outrage; nay, I had been seen in the act of throwing the bomb. Many people could swear to me—to my clothes, the very clothes I was wearing at the time of my arrest.

This at last enlightened me. I saw the whole devilish plot, its deep-laid cunning, and realizing it, gave way to complete despair. But for the untiring and almost superhuman sagacity of one loyal friend—a detective, whose interest had been aroused by the strangeness of the case, and through whom the real criminal was eventually brought to justice—I firmly believe that I should have paid forfeit with my life to the foul malignant intinnance of my evil genius.

Usca Francebolla was arraigned, with her husband as an accessory, and accomplice; but while he suffered the extreme penalty on the guillotine, she was only sentenced to seclusion for twenty years. I shudder when I think that she may survive her imprisonment.

UNCLE HENRY THINKS

The way of the plenipotentiary is hard. To the Voters of Leslie County: By an agreement entered into between J. S. soon as landed there. He takes the coal operator and the miners' union each in one hand and forces them to a compromise, dines with Booker Washington and preaches at his church while the pastor goes on vacation. He summons peace plenipotentiaries from the warring nations and practically dictates to them terms for mutual consideration, and to cap the climax, he now seems trying to snatch the little laurels left to one lamented McKinley by even going down into the bottom of the sea dressed in his best suit of clothes. Truly our President is a most remarkable man.—Clebure Enterprise.

There are too many clerks in nearly all the state departments at Austin. In some of them the employees are too often in each other's way.

Fort Worth has her franchise troubles and Dallas taxes thrift. Fort Worth has her packing houses and Dallas enjoys the distinction of being the metropolis of Texas. Every business man necessarily has a bitter. Let's look as pleasant as possible.—Dallas Times-Herald.

Fort Worth always looks pleasant. Thrift always was conducive to happiness, and Fort Worth is happy these days over the evidences of thrift and progress that are to be seen on every side.

Those political speculations which include only Bell, Brooks, Campbell and Colquitt as candidates for governor are subject to very general revision. It is well understood that Judge James B. Wells of Brownsville will enter the field a little later on, and the popularity of the Rio Grande sachein extends over the entire state.—San Angelo Express.

Senator Bailey, in an address at Gordon, advised the members of the Farmers' Union to keep their organization out of politics. But will it be possible to keep politics out of the union? Possibly so, with Bill Shaw and Milt Park to neutralize each other.—Waco Times-Herald.

Members of the Farmers' Union will take an interest in politics; but it will be in an individual capacity. The organization as a whole will endeavor to steer clear of all political reefs.

VERSSES THAT RING

LIFE AND DEATH We know not what it is, dear, this sleep so deep and still; The folded hands, the awful calm, the check so pale and wan, the lids that will not lift again, though we may call and call; The strange, white solitude of peace that settles over all.

Hilibrand started with a triple in the third, and scored when Wagner's waltz to Dahlen was thrown wild to the plate. Howard sacrificed. Brain singled, scoring Wagner. Ritchey fielded Taylor for a safety, pushing Brain, who had stolen second, to the meal table. Three runs. A wild and woolly throw by Bresnahan in the seventh gave Pittsburgh their final tally. A bad throw by Dahlen saved Gibbons' life, but he was doubled with Lynch when that thin-armed twirler struck out. Bresnahan threw to McGann before Lynch's three futile swings had ceased making the air palpitate.

A bad throw by Dahlen saved Gibbons' life, but he was doubled with Lynch when that thin-armed twirler struck out. Bresnahan threw to McGann before Lynch's three futile swings had ceased making the air palpitate.

Hilibrand started with a triple in the third, and scored when Wagner's waltz to Dahlen was thrown wild to the plate. Howard sacrificed. Brain singled, scoring Wagner. Ritchey fielded Taylor for a safety, pushing Brain, who had stolen second, to the meal table. Three runs. A wild and woolly throw by Bresnahan in the seventh gave Pittsburgh their final tally. WITH THE CATTLEMEN

THE CHICAGO CONFERENCE Live stock shippers all over the country are highly elated over the action of Secretary Wilson in nullifying the order issued by Dr. Salmon, July 27, which practically prohibited the continuous transit of cattle in stable cars by preventing loading to the minimum weight of 22,000 pounds or, in other words, forcing shippers to pay for about 5,000 pounds more freight than they were permitted to load.

ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT TEXAS Luke F. Wilson, a well-known Texas cattleman of Archer county, Texas, was at the yards Friday, and in an interview stated that the farm and stock conditions in Texas are quite satisfactory, pasture being good and cattle in fine condition.

THE LAND QUESTION The Express a few days ago published a letter written by one Mr. Pauli to the New York American suggesting that Texas, instead of selling her 6,000,000 acres of land outright, lease it to actual settlers at a rental equal to 5 per cent on its valuation, the lease to be perpetual but subject to transfer and the state reserving the right to increase the lease price from time to time.

THE DEVIL'S DUE

BY F. R. PAYNE How fashionable it has become to throw a stone at John D. Rockefeller! Magazine writers, at 25 cents a line, find that it pays to display and color the really extraordinary and interesting incidents of his career.

Who permitted these things? The monthly magazines, the daily press, the Sunday pulpits, the people! ISN'T THIS SO? Verily, we've got this devil "in our midst" by swallowing him, carelessly and in ignorance, as misguided young robins swallow wasps.

Let's look a little closer into this crushing of competition, this pollution of legislation, this institution of monopoly. Is there a merchant on Euclid avenue, Cleveland, or Race street, Cincinnati, or Olive street, St. Louis, or on any other street in any other city who wouldn't wipe out his competitor, if he could?

SHAM BATTLE ON INTERURBAN LINE

Dallas Military Companies to Meet Near Stop 23 Thursday Night

Paymaster General George T. West of the state national guard, said today that while the matter of holding a state encampment of the guard this year was still being discussed there is not a likelihood that it will take place, having been declared off on account of the strict quarantine regulations that are prevailing all over the south. He says there are a few who believe that later in the fall the encampment could be held, but he is of the opinion that if it is not held by Sept. 15 any time thereafter would be entirely too late, as many of the officials and the rank and file are engaged in the cotton business and would not then be at liberty to attend the encampment.

ARMSTRONG FRANCHISE PROPOSITION CARRIES

HEAVY VOTE IS POLLED

First Election Under Referendum Gratifies Friends of New Charter Clause

Wide interest displayed in the referendum election of Tuesday, in which the Armstrong franchise won by 235 votes, is the subject of comment throughout the city today. Total vote cast in the city was 1,180 votes, a number far in advance of that expected upon either side.

Total vote in the city at the last general election was practically all state and county offices to be filled, in addition to the presidential contest, was but 2,474 votes, or only double the vote cast Tuesday upon a single issue.

Desperate effort made to roll up a Park majority in the south, in view of the known losses in the north adds to the significance of the comparison.

Vote Was Scattered

Election officers, speaking this morning, declare the vote was scattered among all the people, bankers, business men, professional men, workmen and clerks. All express surprise at the vote cast.

In the Sixth ward, the vote of working men was especially noted, over fifty of the votes being cast after 6 o'clock, largely by workmen arriving home for the day.

Mayor T. J. Powell, father of the referendum in this city, expressed pleasure this morning at the interest displayed and declared it an encouraging sign that the people should come out in such numbers upon the occasion of the first use of the referendum. He admitted surprise and satisfaction at the large vote cast.

Altogether, friends of the referendum are well pleased with the interest shown by the people in the matter of city affairs.

Vote as cast for and against the measure in the various wards was received within a short time after the closing of the polls at the office of the city secretary. Telephone connection soon established the result unofficially, while the return of election officers with reports confirmed the figures so that the official result was known within an hour after the polls closed.

Size Causes Surprise

The election was watched with close interest and a large number of persons waited at the office until the result had been obtained. All expressed surprise at the size of the vote cast.

Vote by Wards Was:

Ward	For	Against	Total
First	109	21	130
Second	111	52	163
Third	67	64	131
Fourth	84	70	154
Fifth	52	63	115
Sixth	116	5	121
Seventh	42	45	87
Eighth	70	53	123
Ninth	68	22	90
Totals	709	471	1,180

GRAND ARMY MEN TO MOBILIZE HERE

Members of the local camps of the Grand Army of the Republic who have decided to attend the national encampment to be held in Denver, Colo., during the week beginning Sept. 4 are Messrs. A. J. Black, Charles Baggett, E. P. Brown, M. D. and J. L. Flowers, who reside in Tarrant county. It is stated that there will probably be several other members from the local party here, which will leave over the Fort Worth and Denver Saturday morning at 9:45 o'clock.

The entire Texas party will be mobilized at Fort Worth the preceding day and will include the delegations from Dallas, Sherman, Waco and Paris.

The general order of Department Commander F. A. Russell was sent out by Assistant Adjutant General J. O. Estabrook from Paris recently and contains the following regarding the trip:

Headquarters Department of Texas train will leave Fort Worth Saturday morning, Sept. 2, at 9:45 a. m., and reach Denver at 3 p. m., Sept. 3, and will run over the Fort Worth and Denver railway.

The department commander invites all department officers, representatives, alternate members of the department staff and comrades generally, with their ladies and friends and all officers and members of the woman's relief corps, to accompany him on this train.

A special tourist sleeper will be operated from Fort Worth to Denver, in which accommodations will be available at a cost of $2.50 for double berth, each berth being available for the accommodation of two persons.

Interested comrades and members of the woman's relief corps will please notify and communicate with Colonel James S. Dunlap, chairman of transportation committee, P. O. Box 516, Dallas, Texas, concerning sleeping car accommodations desired, remitting $2.50 per berth, with the understanding that reservations will be made only in the order in which the berths are received.

Free quarters will be furnished those desiring them by application to George W. Cook, 1725 Stout street, Denver, Colo., chairman of committee on accommodations. The committee will furnish single cots or new double mattresses, placed in the new and modern school buildings, having excellent lavatory arrangements. Applicants for free quarters should take blanket and pillow with them. Meals, good and substantial, can be had at restaurants for 15 cents and up. We have assurances that hotel rates will not be advanced during the encampment.

"Of course, a kodak camera takes pictures," said he.

"Of course it does," replied his wife. "What are you driving at anyway?"

"It was just going to remark that it also takes money," Philadelphia Press.

In the meantime the line is being built from Sweetwater south to San Angelo.

Regular schedule will be observed by the company just as soon as the road is finished to Knox City.

GOVERNOR SPARKS TO EAT 'POSSUM

Sad Fate Awaits Carload Shipped to Nevada by a Former Texan

John D. Sparks, governor of Nevada, and once a Texan, was in the city this morning on his return home from Williamson county, where he has large landed interests, which include a pasture of 11,000 acres.

"How about that car load of 'possums you shipped to your Nevada ranch some time ago," was asked of the governor.

"Well, to make a long story short, most of them died from some cause or other, but I propose to utilize the balance of them before they pass in their checks by eating them," said the governor.

Governor Sparks expressed himself as well pleased over the ending of the peace negotiations between the Japanese and Russian governments, and said that in his opinion the Japs were rightfully entitled to all the territory they have acquired by conquest. He was not certain as to what would be the proper thing in regard to the indemnity.

The Goldfield mining district in Nevada, said Governor Sparks, is the greatest in this country. He is very enthusiastic over the outcome of that district, and believes that it will be one of the greatest gold camps in the world.
