JAPANESE LEARN TERMS OF PEACE

Political Leaders Meet Premier Katsura

BETTER THAN REPORTED

Right to Fortify La Perouse Straits Not Forfeited as Thought

JAPANESE CAPITAL QUIET

TOKIO, Sept. 9, 10 a. m.—Last night was uneventful and this morning Tokyo is orderly and quiet. The belief is growing here that the disorders have ended.

TOKIO, Sept. 8, 5:20 p. m.—(Delayed in transmission.)—At an informal meeting which took place today between the premier, Count Katsura, and members of both houses representing respective parties and association, Count Katsura made a full statement concerning the peace negotiations.

It now transpires the report that Captain Soya, on La Perouse Straits, could not be forfeited is unfounded, the only stipulation made with Russia being in regard to free passage of the straits. Japan acquires a suzerainty over Korea and will control entirely with a free hand the affairs of the peninsula railroad south of Chang Chun, not Chang Tu, the former being ceded to Japan with the right to retain military garrisons for the protection of the railroad. Japan also holds the right to retain the collieries at Fu Shan and Yental even after the evacuation of the country by the Russians. About ten months is the period allowed to complete the removal of the Russian troops from Manchuria.

Actual expense of keeping the Russian prisoners of war is to be paid to Japan. Baron Yamamoto, minister of the navy, who was present at the meeting, said although there was strong popular dissatisfaction with the terms of peace, it must be borne in mind that a far heavier sacrifice of life would be necessary to take Vladivostok than that involved in the capture of Port Arthur, besides the heavy monetary outlay. It was advisable, therefore, he said, to be satisfied with the present terms.

M. Oishi, leader of the progressive party, suggested the cabinet should sign a declaration of peace upon such unsatisfactory terms.

When the fact that no stipulation exists against the fortification of Cape Soya and Japan is to have a free hand in the government of Korea becomes known, it is believed popular indignation will be considerably allayed.

MINISTER'S RESIDENCE ATTACKED

TOKIO, Sept. 7, 9 a. m.—(Delayed in transmission.)—Another attack was made upon the residence of Home Minister Yoshikawa early this morning. Members of the mob closed in on the building into which they threw fire brands and succeeded in starting a small blaze which the military guards extinguished and beat off the attacking party.

It is reported an explosive was thrown at the building during the attack, but this is not confirmed. Guards captured twenty of the attacking party and imprisoned them within the compound. Later on the crowd sent emissaries to the guard house begging for release of the captives. Their petition was refused and the guards are still holding their prisoners.

CARRIED CHILD'S BODY

Mother Was Afraid It Would Be Put Off Train

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 9.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Stockton, Cal., says:

With the body of her 18-month-old baby clasped in her arms as though it was a living child, Mrs. Abraham Coulter covered the journey from Reno, Nev., to Carlin, Tuolumne county, the state, keeping back the tears, as best she could, clinging with no one the fact that her child had died on the train.

Mrs. Coulter feared that if the conductor of the train on which she was coming west from her old home in Wisconsin should learn of the little one's death, he would take the corpse from her. Accordingly she resolved to tell no one the facts and took care of her other two children, who were with her, while holding the tiny corpse.

She arrived at Carlin yesterday, where her husband, who had gone there several months ago from Wisconsin, has made a home for her.

SEVEN CHOLERA DEATHS

Nineteen New Cases Reported in Official Bulletin

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—The official bulletin issued this afternoon announces that nineteen cases of cholera and seven deaths are reported during the 24 hours ending at noon today.

GERMAN SHIP AGROUND

Protected Cruiser Strikes Rock Near Singapore

SINGAPORE, Sept. 9.—The German protected cruiser See Adler, which left this port yesterday for German East Africa, in view of the rebellion there, struck a submerged rock twelve miles from here and remains stranded there in a bad position. All efforts made to haul her off have proved unsuccessful.

The See Adler is of 1,640 tons displacement and 2,700 indicated horse power, giving her a speed of about sixteen knots. Her armament consists of eight four-inch quick-firing guns and a number of smaller rapid-firing guns. Her engines, boilers and deck are protected by one to three inches of steel. The See Adler was built at Hamburg and was launched in 1892.

BRITT AND NELSON READY FOR FIGHT

Question of Referee Is Left Undecided Until Men Enter the Ring

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—At 10 o'clock this morning James Britt and "Battling" Nelson were weighed in. They agreed to weigh at 133 pounds or under and both men reached the prescribed figure.

In regard to the question as to who shall referee the fight, the Call says an important conference was held at an early hour this morning, and as a result Eddie Graney will probably referee the fight.

Britt has been shown that Nolan will not give in, and after an extended conference with Manager Goffroth it was decided that the referee should be named on the ring side. This meeting was the last resort to straighten out the tangled skein.

The sheriff of San Mateo county, where the battle will take place, says that if it comes to a slugging match between the men he will stop the fight.

BIG ELEVATOR BURNS

Loss to Santa Fe in Chicago Totals $1,000,000

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—The Santa Fe elevator containing 1,500,000 bushels of grain was destroyed by fire here today. The loss is $1,000,000.

ITALIAN CABINET TO RELIEVE SUFFERERS

King Victor Alone Gives $20,000 for Calabria Earthquake Victims

ROME, Sept. 9.—A meeting of cabinet ministers probably will be held tomorrow to consider measures of relief for the sufferers from yesterday's earthquake in Calabria. King Victor Emmanuel has given $20,000 for the relief of the families of the victims. At Messina, Sicily, the walls of many houses and churches were cracked by earthquakes and otherwise more or less seriously damaged.

TRAIN SERVICE DELAYED

NOCERIA, Italy, Sept. 9.—Signor Ferrari, minister of public works, arrived here today by special train and continued his journey toward Montecore. Trains coming from Calabria are much delayed. The Naples express is five hours behind time.

Railway lines in Calabria are much damaged, making it necessary for trains to proceed slowly after inspection of the route. Travelers arriving here from Calabria are profoundly impressed with the disaster. The depot at Parkella was completely destroyed. Travelers recount seeing villages reduced to ruins, men and women, half-clothed, weeping, seeking to find and bury bodies of their relatives. All depots from San Giovanni to Santa Eufemia are invaded by the homeless and suffering. The spectacle is terrifying. The search for the bodies in the wreckage is slow and it will be some time before anything like an estimate of casualties can be made.

ANNUAL FALL HOLDUP IN THE HOME

CHEMIST SELECTED TO HEAD A. & M. COLLEGE

Prof. H. H. Harrington Chosen Successor of Late President Houston

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 9.—After an executive session of six hours, the board of directors of the State Agricultural and Mechanical College announced yesterday afternoon that Professor H. H. Harrington had been elected to the presidency of that institution to succeed Hon. David F. Houston. Mr. Harrington has been professor of chemistry at the institution of which he is now the president for about eighteen years, and was selected out of a list of twenty-five prominent educators who had applied for the position.

Previous attempts to select a successor to Mr. Houston had met with failure and much interest was manifested in the special meeting of the board held here yesterday. There were about twenty-five candidates for the position.

In addition to Mr. Harrington, the more prominent candidates before the board were Colonel J. C. Edmonds of Bastrop, T. U. Taylor, professor of engineering at State University; R. B. Cousins, superintendent of public instruction; Arthur Leffevre, Victoria; W. S. Sutton, dean of pedagogy at State University, and Professor Harzog of Arkansas University, prominent educator.

Professor Henry Hill Harrington, the successful applicant for the presidency of the school, has been professor of chemistry and mineralogy at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Mississippi since 1887. He was graduated from the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Mississippi with a degree of A. B. in 1883, and with a degree of A. M. in 1885, and was engaged in special chemical investigations before graduation in the Michigan Agricultural and Mechanical College in 1882.

He was assistant professor of chemistry and physics in the Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College from 1882 to 1885. In 1885 he studied in the Connecticut experiment station at New Haven, Conn., and at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in 1888.

In the same year he was elected professor of chemistry and mineralogy at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas and chemist of the Texas United States experiment station. He was vice president of the Texas Academy of Science in 1899 and is the author of numerous papers on economic agriculture and of a bulletin of the Texas geological survey on the soils and water of West Texas.

In 1892 he married Miss Florine Ross, a daughter of late Governor L. B. Ross, who afterward became president of the Agricultural and Mechanical College.

STATE TO RECLAIM VALUABLE MARSHES

Vast Hunting Preserves in Indiana to Be Drained for Farming Purposes

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 9.—The ditch commissioners of Lake county, Indiana, are projecting the reclamation of the hunting marshes which range for miles along the Calumet river, on both sides. These marshes include the celebrated hunting preserves of the Talbotton Gun Club of Chicago, comprising thousands of acres of valuable wild rice fields. The reclaiming of the marshes will destroy the big hunting preserves, but the land reclaimed will be the most valuable farming land in Indiana. It was intended at first that the project should only embrace the land adjacent to Hammond, but the work of cutting a new channel and deepening the Calumet river bed will affect not only the low land in that vicinity, but

SCRUBWOMAN ACCUSED OF STEALING $15,000

Police Say She Took Jewelry from Pawnshop in Month's Time

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—While employed as a scrubwoman, Mary Drennan, an aged widow, is accused of having acquired in the last month jewelry valued at $15,000 from a large pawnshop in Brooklyn. Her nephew, twenty years of age, is alleged to have been used in disposing of the plunder. Both were arrested last night, the police stating that they have confessed and that about one-third of the property has been recovered. A pawnbroker through whom the nephew disposed of considerable jewelry also is under arrest.

During her work of scrubbing, Mrs. Drennan, the police say, managed to secure a great quantity of small but valuable gems and gold. So secretly was the work conducted that it was only detected by accident. About a week ago a patron of the pawnshop applied for the redemption of a diamond ring valued at $300, which he had pawned for $200. When the manager endeavored to find the ring it was missing. Subsequent investigation disclosed the heavy loss noted.

STOCKS DEPRESSED

Demand for Currency Forced Liquidation

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The necessity for liquidation of securities to meet the growing demands for currency was effective this week in depressing stocks. However, the great strength of the industrial and business situation has operated as a brake which tends to limit the offerings to the lines of necessity and leads to occasional rallies due to covering by bear traders. The problem of floating government loans by the lately belligerent powers complicates the money situation and leaves a doubt of the extent to which the New York market may resort to foreign centers for relief in the event of stringency here.

REPORT OF SECRET TREATY IS REVIVED

London Dispatch Says Czar Agreed to Pay $500,000,000 Indemnity

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—A dispatch to the world from London today revives the frequently and officially denied stories that a secret treaty had been made between the emperors of Russia and Japan. "The intermediaries in the negotiations," says the dispatch, were the minister at London and the German ambassador at St. Petersburg.

"It provides that the emperor of Russia shall pay the emperor of Japan $500,000,000 indemnity in five years, less the amount which Russia will pay Japan for her care and maintenance of Russian prisoners of war, $100,000,000, as provided in the treaty of Portsmouth."

"It is reported also that Russia agrees in the treaty to give Japan a free hand in the land adjacent to Hamdon, but the work of cutting a new channel and deepening the Calumet river bed will affect not only the low land in that vicinity, but

PRINTER PALMER IS OUSTED BY PRESIDENT

Disobeyed Orders in Cases of Two Employees Asked to Resign

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 9.—President Roosevelt yesterday took summary action in the case of Frank W. Palmer, public printer, and head of the government printing office at Washington, by removing him from office.

Last Monday the President directed Mr. Palmer to send him his resignation, to take effect on the 15th inst. At the same time he directed him not to take any further action in the cases of Oscar J. Ricketts, foreman of printing, and L. C. Hay, a division foreman in the government printing office, whose resignations Mr. Palmer had requested. Mr. Palmer had given Ricketts and Hay until Tuesday to show cause in writing why they

THEOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT OPEN

WACO, Texas, Sept. 9.—The formal opening of the theological department of Baylor University since its enlargement into a regular school of divinity took place last night, and was attended by an immense number of people. The step is regarded by many as the most important taken by Texas Baptists in a long while. The address of Dr. B. H. Carroll Sr., dean of the department, was the feature of the exercises.

MANAGER IS RESCUED

Among the rescued is Mr. Rand, manager of the plant. There are said to be from thirty-five to forty bodies still in the ruins. The explosion started in a car of powder and spread all over the plant. One odd feature of the affair is that a passenger train on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was passing the scene at the time the explosion occurred. The train was jarred tremendously and every window broken. A number of passengers were cut by showers of glass which fell about them. Nobody was killed on this train, but it is said some were very seriously hurt. The concussion was like an earthquake to the country round about and in surrounding towns caused great excitement, which was not lessened by the fact that communication on trolley line was broken off several miles from here.

INSURANCE INVESTIGATION DEVELOPS ASTONISHING FINANCIAL METHODS

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Today's session of the executive life insurance investigating committee was devoted exclusively to the affairs of the New York Life Insurance Company and searching examination was made of its officers on the stand. Beginning with the salaries paid to the officers, the line of inquiry extended through all the details of the company's participation in various underwriting syndicates for railway securities, the New York Life's connection with trust companies, and finally, near the close of the day, developed the fact that it was not an unusual thing for clerks or messengers in the employ of the company at salaries as low as $500 a year to sign notes for millions of dollars to be used by the company in relieving its books of undesirable securities.

MAY SEND FOR LAWSON

An interesting feature of the day was the statement that Thomas W. Lawson of Boston might be called as a witness.

The committee's chairman, State Senator Armstrong, said if the information Mr. Lawson is supposed to hold could not be secured from others the financier would be asked to testify. Not being a resident of the state, Mr. Lawson cannot be compelled to give testimony.

Officers of the New York Life testified today that on one occasion it became necessary for the company to sell certain securities in order to satisfy the Prussian government. Two clerks signed notes aggregating $2,325,000 and on the books the securities appeared as sold to these parties, although they really had been turned over to the New York Trust Company as security for the loan made on the notes.

It was declared that since 1899 the New York Life Insurance Company had not been connected with trust companies, but subsequently it was admitted that the stock of the New York Trust Company was now held for the New York Life by a committee of trustees. The New York Trust Company is a connection of the New York Security and Trust Company and the Continental Trust Company.

Edmund Randolph, treasurer of the New York Life, testified that the salary of President John A. McCall of that company had been increased from $40,000 in 1892 to $50,000 in 1893, $75,000 in 1895 and $100,000 since 1901.

Mr. Randolph's statement of the salaries of other officials showed a steady increase.

HOW INVESTMENTS ARE MADE

John Claffin, a director and member of the finance committee of the New York Life Insurance Company, described the company's method of making investments through the finance committee. The lists of investments as a rule were prepared as he said, not by individuals, but by a great number of financial institutions—practically the whole financial community. The proposals were first passed on by a subcommittee, which submitted the possible ones. If the proposals came on the day of the finance committee's sitting, the whole finance committee considered the proposals.

"Does the New York Life from time to time enter into syndicate agreements?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"Yes," Mr. Claffin replied. "If the New York Life were to dispose of its holdings carefully and slowly as an individual, I would have no doubt that such holdings could be sold at a price equal to that for which they were purchased."

In answer to questions concerning the New York Life's participation in purchasing syndicates to hold bonds for a specific time, Mr. Claffin said he did not consider it a serious matter for the company to tie itself up so that it could not dispose of large blocks of stock for a year.

Mr. Randolph of the New York Life, being recalled, told the counsel for the committee that the modern underwriting syndicate was so operated that the members of it did not know whether they received their share of the profits, and that the insurance companies participating in the syndicate were not insured against loss, though some banking houses always demanded and secured written agreement when participating in a syndicate. The committee adjourned yesterday afternoon until 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning.

DONLEY COUNTY'S OUTLOOK FLOURISHING

Crops in Excellent Condition and Cattle Prospects Are Also Good

CLARENDON, Texas, Sept. 9.—"Conditions in this territory especially Donley county, have gone beyond expectations," said Captain E. E. McGhee, one of the largest farmers in this section today. "With the bumper crop of fruit—peaches, cantaloupes, grapes, etc., and the excellent forage crops of Junco, corn, milo maize, Indian corn, sorghum, etc., this section is reveling in prosperity. The acreage in cotton this season is nothing to brag about, yet quite a number of bales will be made, but as a money-maker it is not among the first. I have traversed a great deal of Donley and talked with several of the neighboring farmers and they all prefer fruit and cattle as the money making crops for this section, as both find ready markets."

"Handle cattle, as is well known, always bring top prices and this year is no exception, good cows taking the lead this season so far, although calves are being bought right along. Cattlemen generally all over this territory are anticipating a favorable outlook so far the outlook is very encouraging and they are grading to make good money, as cattle were never in better shape than this year." As a whole Donley county has gone to the top notch this year and no one has any "kick" coming, as everybody has prospered.

Insurance Investigation Develops Astonishing Financial Methods

Manager Rand is seriously hurt. The first thing he did after being removed was to insist on being carried to a telephone so that he could talk to his wife in Union, because he knew she would hear the report of the explosion and believed nothing else than his voice would reassure her.

FAITH INCREASING IN THE MOSQUITO THEORY

Country Districts of Louisiana Are Modifying Quarantine Restrictions

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 9.—Although the health authorities here have made it known there will be no objections to opening the public schools in October, provided that certain precautions are taken, the school board decided upon definite postponement of the original date, which was Sept. 25. If there is a steady improvement from this time forward a special meeting of the board will be held between Sept. 25 and Oct. 1 to fix the time of opening. The school children are scattered all over the country and many will not return here until the fever is practically wiped out.

While the death rate remains so low, Federal and local authorities continue to be alive to the situation, which is steadily improving, in spite of the slight jump in new cases yesterday. In several instances lately deaths have been due rather to neglect. The fever now appearing is of a form so mild that it responds readily to a fairly decent treatment. Every day evidence comes of increasing faith in the country in the mosquito theory. The success of the fight here has amazed many rural communities, who from experience in the past thought that yellow fever was uncontrollable once it got a firm hold, as it did this year, early in the summer. An instance of the good impression made by Dr. White's work is shown in the action of the town council of Amite City, La., which now announces that it will receive all kinds of fruit and vegetables from New Orleans, except bananas and cabbage.

Greenville, Miss., on the other hand, is an instance of the other extreme in quarantine. Because there has been an inconspicuous spread of infection in that state Greenville health officers announced nobody new outside of the county would be allowed to enter after Sunday and that unless there is remarkable improvement in conditions the rigid quarantine will be continued until frost comes.

Believed Fort Worth Will Be Made State Headquarters of the Union

Members of the executive committee of the State Farmers' Union are in the city this afternoon and before leaving the city will announce finally the decision of the organization regarding the establishment of permanent state headquarters.

A. N. Evans and Secretary Hard Butler, representing the Fort Worth Factory Club, and F. V. Evans, organizer for the Farmers' Union, went to Dallas this morning, meeting the members of the committee at the Dallas Commercial Club and brought them to this city over the interurban.

A meeting is being held in the office of the Factory Club late this afternoon, following which an announcement of decision will be made. It is practically assured that Fort Worth will secure the headquarters.

Members of the Factory Club Friday made a canvass of the city securing the necessary subscriptions to insure an offer to the organization equaling that made by other cities. Additional offers for several important things, it is also learned, will be made.

Four fine sites have been offered as headquarters rooms, all within the business center of the city, easily accessible to roads and having an important matter in view of the large number of visitors upon headquarters from all parts of this and adjoining states.

Following the inspection of the buildings offered, with which the committee expressed themselves as highly delighted, adjournment was taken to the factory club headquarters where the following program is being followed:

Talk by Captain Paddock of the Board of Trade, "Fort Worth as a Commercial Center and Her Business Men." Talk by Judge Booth of the Factory Club, "Fort Worth Manufacturers and Liberal Citizenship."

Talk by C. W. Woodman, "Labor Organizations and Their Attitude to the Farmers' Union." Talk by Hard Butler of the Factory Club, "The Proposition made by Fort Worth Citizens."

Headquarters of the organization are a rustic, Texas. Transfer to this city will bring eleven families to Fort Worth at once beside employing a large office force and attending thousands of visitors. National headquarters are expected to follow Texas state headquarters. Present membership in the state is 150,000.

KIDNEY TROUBLES

Increasing Among Women, But Sufferers Need Not Despair

THE BEST ADVICE IS FREE

Of all the diseases known, with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal, and statistics show that this disease is on the increase among women.

Mrs. Emma Sawyer

Unless early and correct treatment is applied the patient seldom survives when once the disease is fastened upon her. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most efficient treatment for kidney troubles of women, and is the only medicine especially prepared for this purpose.

When a woman is troubled with pain or weight in loins, backache, frequent, painful or scalding urination, swelling of limbs or feet, swelling under the eyes, an uneasy, tired feeling in the region of the kidneys or notices a brick-dust sediment in the urine, she should lose no time in commencing treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it may be the means of saving her life.

For proof, read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Sawyer.

"I cannot express the terrible suffering I had to endure. A rearrangement of the female organs developed nervous prostration and a serious kidney trouble. The doctor attended me for a year, but I kept getting worse, until I was unable to do anything, and I made up my mind I could not live. I finally decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a last resort, and I am to-day a well woman. I cannot praise it too highly, and I tell every suffering woman about my case." Mrs. Emma Sawyer, Conyers, Ga.

CIVIC LEAGUE WILL ASK BOAZ TO RUN

Committee to Wait Upon Him and Urge His Aldermanic Candidacy

Mayorality matters were sidetracked though discussed at the meeting of the Fifth Ward Civic League Friday night, action, however, being taken in the aldermanic contest and a committee named to urge the candidacy of Clem Boaz. It was generally conceded that another mayorality candidate will yet appear.

Report of the league canvass, as formerly given in The Telegram, was made at the meeting. Dr. L. M. Whitstait then detailed a conversation he had with Mr. Boaz on the subject, and though admitting he had been unable to secure the consent of Mr. Boaz to enter the race, said he believed it could be secured.

Definite action was taken in the appointment of a committee to wait upon Mr. Boaz and request his candidacy or at least secure a quiescent attitude until a canvass of the ward, which was ordered, would enable them to demonstrate the number of votes that would be pledged him.

The ward was divided into territories and committees of two assigned each division to secure pledges. It was estimated that at least 250 voters could be pledged. The voting strength of the ward is 576. The canvassing committee was instructed to report in two weeks, at which time another meeting will be held.

Members of the committee who made the original canvass declared they found no one who had objections to Mr. Boaz, the question of his age alone being brought up at the meeting. It was explained that all his and his father's interests were in the Fifth ward and they could naturally be depended upon to do the best possible for the ward.

President George Nies, in addressing the meeting, said that the organization was attacking no person, but that they believed in the democratic allotment of four years' service and were therefore casting about for the most available material for representative of the ward.

IMBODEN SAYS HE IS THE HEAVIEST LOSER

Talks to St. Louis Paper About Closing of Bank of Commerce Here

In an interview regarding the closing of the Bank of Commerce in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Leonard Imboden, who is now in St. Louis, is quoted as follows: "The only thing I have heard in a telegram this afternoon from a friend in Fort Worth, stating the bank had closed. This was unexpected by me. The bank is a private one, and I own the largest interest in it. Several days ago I sent word to my attorney to liquidate. I thought that this could be done without having to close up. I have not been in Fort Worth for four or five months, and have no recent information on the bank's condition.

"I don't think that the deposits exceed $10,000, and no more than that is involved. He stands to lose but me. If there is a deficit I will lose. The bank was involved to some extent by the failure of the Denver Savings Bank, through having taken up some of the latter's loans and paper. At one time we had close to $200,000 in deposits, but the Denver bank affair reacted on us, and the deposits shrunk to almost nothing. J. A. Hill, president of the Denver bank, was vice president at Fort Worth, and, naturally, this connection did us no good when the Denver trouble arose."

Imboden also said that he had no intention to come here, but would remain in St. Louis, according to the statement printed.

A MATTER OF BUSINESS The effort to secure broader markets for our grains, flours and meats is to be made through the medium of the American Reciprocal Tariff League, to be organized at once in accordance with the decision of the delegates to the national reciprocity conference recently held in Chicago.

The Gazette entered upon this agitation solely with a view toward helping to create, if possible, additional competition for the surplus farm products of the United States, but the movement has broadened so rapidly that it now bids fair to take the form of a general agitation in favor of a revision of the tariff in the interest of the entire American export trade. The simple fact is that our agrarian interests could have been fairly well cared for through the medium of reciprocity treaties negotiated under the auspices of the Dingley law had the senate been willing to ratify them, but as the necessary two-thirds vote could not be mustered in their favor they are allowed to lapse, and the time limit being now expired, it is impracticable at the present time to approach the subject in that manner; hence the decision of the Chicago conference to ask congress to consider the idea of resorting to the so-called tariff or maximum and minimum tariff plan of applying the established American protective policy to international commerce.

This is regarded by tariff experts as the most modern and most businesslike method of arriving at fair reciprocal trade relations between nations adhering to the protective principle, and when the plan is understood by business interests it should commend itself to every one who can explain this plan of practical reciprocity and to demonstrate that it involves nothing more than the actual carrying out of what the Dingley law really contemplated will be the work of the tariff partisan business men's organization, and the Gazette trusts that the farmers and stockmen of this country in particular will give the matter their careful consideration.

Unfortunately, designing politicians and interests that are profiting largely by the failure of the reciprocity clause of the existing law are working assiduously to obscure the real issue and to mislead the public in regard to the aims and objects of those who believe that much could be done in behalf of our export interests without real detriment to the industries specially favored by the law of 1897. Bitter factional strife, sharp struggles for the control of party machinery in such states as Iowa, for example, prevent that dispassionate consideration of the matter which is essential to wise conclusion. Really there is no occasion whatever for the charges which the so-called "stand-pat" element in the republican party is making against their fellow republicans who believe honestly and conscientiously that our farm products can be introduced into the markets of continental Europe with no violence to our protective policy whatever and with no disturbance to the fair and reasonable profits of any other American industry. Nobility connected with the American Reciprocity Tariff League, so far as we know, has any idea of assailing the protective tariff principle—Breder's Gazette.

The recent reciprocity convention held in Chicago was a matter of pure business and had no reference or relation to politics whatever. The democratic Texas cowman stood shoulder to shoulder with the republican Iowa farmer in the demand that congress shall take the necessary action to protect and develop American trade among all the nations of the earth, and congress would do well to hearken to this non-partisan demand that is coming up from the producing element of the country. Of course, it is a movement that can be easily diverted into politics, for it can be made to embrace all there was in the old cry of a tariff for revenue only, and the necessity for an entirely new tariff alignment. But such is not the object of those who are at the head of the movement. The desire is only to broaden the field for the exploitation of the surplus live stock and agricultural products of this nation by encouraging the nations needing that surplus to let us send it to them.

The big packing concerns of the country assert that the bulk of the depression that has existed in live stock circles for the past three years is the direct result of the falling off in the foreign demand for their products, and the packers are very largely responsible for the big conference that was recently held in Chicago, and which has given some of the leading politicians of the country a very bad case of quakes. At the Denver convention held last January the packers were to the front with the suggestion that efforts be made to broaden and widen en the demand for the American product, and while it was quite generally believed to be a simple dodge to avert continued talk of the beef trust, the cattlemen of the southwest have since come to look upon the matter with more favor. Statistics reveal the falling off in the foreign demand, and as America is left with a surplus on her hands, it is a self-evident proposition that an improvement in the foreign demand must result in a corresponding increase of prosperity at home.

The big politicians of the country are alarmed over the situation, and affect to believe that it involves the opening up of the entire tariff question, but that is untrue. The demand is simply for reciprocal relations with those countries with which we are doing business that will enable us to sell our surplus stuff abroad by extending them a mark of favor commensurate with that extended to us. If they give us the privilege of sending them our surplus products on a favored basis, then we are to extend them the same privilege on some of their products we need in our business. That is all there is in the dual tariff idea as promulgated at Chicago, and there is nothing in the suggestion to give the member of any political party a case of nightmare.

It is evident that the leaven of the recent Chicago conference is working all over the country, and it is a gratifying indication. Those at the head of the movement should keep up the good work regardless of the politicians, for it is a matter of business in which all our people are directly interested.

WEATHERFORD AND MINERAL WELLS Weatherford and Mineral Wells are busy making faces at each other over the interurban proposition, and the entire cordiality between the two towns has not been facilitated by the failure of the Beardsley interurban proposition. A prominent business man of Weatherford has written a letter which was published in the Mineral Wells paper congratulating that town on having failed in its interurban project, and suggesting that it hereafter when Mineral Wells desires more railroads she will find it to her advantage to communicate further with Weatherford.

It occurs to The Telegram that there is really no occasion for a row between these two enterprising little cities over this matter. The Beardsley interurban railway project has evidently gone the way of all flesh, and there is nothing remaining of it to justify any wry faces. The announced desire of Mineral Wells has been to obtain interurban connection with Fort Worth, and it should really be a matter of indifference whether that connection is obtained via Weatherford or Springtown. If Weatherford desires interurban connection with Fort Worth and Mineral Wells she has a perfect right to offer all the inducements of which she is capable to obtain it, and Weatherford's enterprise in that respect should not cause any display of displeasure on the part of Mineral Wells.

It is true that a line constructed along the route proposed by the Beardsley project would open up a fine section of country tributary to Fort Worth, but a line via Weatherford would not be without its advantages. Weatherford is a live and progressive little city, and the earnest desire of Weatherford people for an interurban line was manifested by the action taken in raising a very handsome bonus for the proposed Beardsley line. Those Weatherford people deserve a great deal of credit for their enterprise and liberality in this matter, and that is the way Fort Worth feels about it.

What Fort Worth wants is an interurban line from this city to Mineral Wells, and it is a matter of not much moment whether it goes by Weatherford or Springtown. If Weatherford is able to put up the necessary amount to secure the building of such a line, then Weatherford is entitled to due consideration, without any regard for the feelings of rivalry that may exist in either city. There has always been a feeling of friendship and good will existing between Fort Worth and Weatherford, and Fort Worth will not go back on her plucky little western neighbor in a matter of this kind. If Weatherford is desirous at any time of co-operating with Fort Worth and Mineral Wells in the matter of interurban connection, Fort Worth will be glad to hear from her on the subject.

The Houston city council has passed an ordinance that imposes a fine of $100 on the masher who gets on the street corner and makes goo-goo eyes at each passing female. Other Texas towns and cities should do likewise.

Colonel Morgan Jones is preparing to build his Wichita Valley railway line from Seymour to Abilene and Stamford, just as if Major Beardsley was not preparing to operate in the same section.

The Japanese people are showing the Russians that they can do a little rioting on their own account. And Japanese rioting is much more dangerous than the Russian article.

Ellis county comes to the front with a negro burning for the usual cause, and the act is deplored almost as much as the cause which led to such action.

The Southern Cotton Producers' Association has fixed the price of cotton this season at 11 cents per pound, and the question now to be considered is whether or not the consumer will pay it.

Senator Culberson believes that railway rate regulation legislation will be possible at the next session of congress, through the co-operation of democrats who favor such a procedure.

Fort Worth is preparing to take a fresh start in building operations with the advent of cool weather. There are no idle mechanics in this town.

RAINS OUT WEST TOYAH, Texas, Sept. 8.—Good rains have fallen in this section for several days past, causing the stockman and farmers to feel much encouraged over the outlook. Crop prospects are very bright, and a large yield of cotton, corn and other products is expected this fall. Stock is in good shape and ranges are assured of plenty of fall grass.

66 TAKING TIME TO THINK, FINDING LEISURE TO LIVE

Some carpenters were at work upon my place this summer. They came in the morning after I had finished my breakfast and was busy with my mail—and in the afternoon on the stroke of 5 they hung up their aprons, lighted their cigars and went home. Watching them pack up their tools one day, I said that they had cut off the best hours at each end of the working day.

"When I learned your trade, 40 years ago," I said, "we went to work at 6 in the summer and quit at 7 in the evening. In winter the day was from sunrise to sunset."

And they laughed. "And you had no Saturday afternoon off. Many things can happen in 40 years."

That Saturday afternoon found me in a particularly busy neighborhood downtown, where, at the rush hours, the crowds of workers hustling to and from their shops made the streets fairly impassable. The street was still deserted in fact. Coming over, I had met trolley cars jammed with a holiday throng bound for the beach. I thought of my carpenter's "Many things can happen in 40 years." He might have said 20. It is just that number of years since the Saturday half-holiday, coming over from England, took root in New York, championed by organized labor.

It was Mr. Gompers who was instrumental in forcing the law, establishing it upon financial New York, much to his disgust. It protested loudly to the legislature that business would desert the metropolis and move to Jersey and Connecticut, where it was not so hampered. Instead, the half-holiday has invaded those states and all the others, as Mr. Gompers predicted it would. And from a month, or two months, it has stretched over the whole summer and the winter, too, in the trades.

The working day has been shortened at both ends, as I said. There is no longer a 16 or 17-hour day for street car drivers, as some of us remember in Chicago. The other day, they had to change the time for keeping the bridges closed to a later hour because the early morning crowds were no longer there. The mechanic, the laborer, has time for his family, for play, for life. His wages have gone up so that he can afford a day off. This also he owes to organization, some of it perhaps to greater power of production, greater efficiency of machinery, but the lion's share to the union that has fought his fight. "The effort of men, being men, to live the life of men," has prevailed to this extent. The nation is his debtor. The old senseless hurry is lessening. We are taking time to think, finding leisure to live.

Only at the top and at the bottom does the waste go on. The get-rich-quick man is in as much of a hurry as ever. Perhaps a feeling that it won't last makes him go at even a harder pace. In Beverly Row, where children work, the day is as long as ever.

There are sixteen rice mills in operation in Texas, and including canals and levees, they represent an investment of $3,500,000.—McKinney Gazette.

The growth of the rice industry is one of the remarkable things incident to South Texas development. It has not been many years since the discovery was made that rice would grow in Texas.

Many hearts are saddened by the news of the death of Harry Haynes. He was a master in English composition. He could charm an audience by the magic of his words. His one drawback was his poetic temperament—that kept him from performing masterful deeds. He was beloved by those who came within the circle of his intimate acquaintance, and not one of these but will drop a tear to his memory.—Waco Times-Herald.

Harry Haynes was one of the most capable and popular newspaper men at the state capital. His untimely and tragic death is quite generally regretted.

The early settlers in the southwest all had their smokehouses and raised and cured their own meat. The packing house products were unknown in this section thirty years ago, and the farmer who did not cure his own meat died without. The once common custom of raising and curing meat on the farm is a good one to revive.—Texas Farm and Ranch.

And the people had meat that was fit to eat when it was prepared and cured in the old way. There is a fortune in sight for the packing outfit that will return to the old method.

A well known railroad attorney of Galveston says the damage suit industry in Texas is on the wane. There is a greater tendency now on the part of persons who think they have a claim against the railroad to go directly to the company with it and try to obtain a satisfactory settlement before resorting to the courts.—San Antonio Express.

It is always heat for the man with a grievance against the railways to seek settlement outside the courts. Litigation is a process that should be employed only as a last resort.

The Courier claims the salaries of the district judges of the state are not large enough. It also thinks that the ignorance of law of some of the judges in the past was a disgrace to the state. So long as we must have judges, the state should have the best money can procure. Such men will not give up a lucrative practice unless there is money in being a judge. The corporations of the state are well aware of this fact.—Texarkana Courier.

Walter Wellman, the veteran contractor, forecasts the re-nomination of the President in 1908 and his re-election. President Roosevelt has given his pledge to retire at the close of his second term, and President Roosevelt is a man of his word.—Dallas Times-Herald.

President Roosevelt has stated publicly he will not accept renomination, and that settles it. Newspaper correspondents are but wasting space when they figure on any other contingency.

Every county in Texas ought to have a million more hens than it now has. The Texas hen can be the Texas farmer who the Missouri hen is doing for the Missouri farmer—make him rich.—Houston Post.

The Post is evidently among the number who would have the old hens of the country do all the scratching for the living.

It is said that an Austin man will sometimes forget his best friend, occasionally his relatives, and once in a great while his wife and children, but he has never been known to forget the man who owed him a dollar.—Austin News-Tribune.

The average Austin citizen looks upon a dollar with an eager hungerliness that seems to be indicative of desire for a closer relationship. Austin always was addicted to the worship of the almighty dollar, and the music in its single never fails to soothe the Austin heart.

A womanly woman is one of the sweetest things on God's green footstool. Yet it is not at all inconsistent with womanliness for a woman to be strong and manly in so far as being able to care for herself in all emergencies.—Childress Post.

There are many strong and manly women working in the cotton fields of Texas today, while the men who promised to love and cherish them are at the corner grocery figuring on the best method of saving the country.

The "hurry along of the beef trust cases," which is the purpose of Attorney General Moody's presence in Chicago, will afford the trust an experience entirely new to it.—Galveston Tribune.

The attorney general cannot hurry along the beef trust cases any too fast for the producers and consumers of the country. The demand for relief goes up from one end of the country to the other.

Verses That Ring

BE PATIENT AND BE WISE

Be patient and be wise! The eyes of death Look on us with a smile; her soft caress, That stills the anguish and that stops Is natures' emanation, meant to bless— Our mortal woes with peaceful nothingness.

Be not afraid! The power that made the light In your kind eyes and set the stars on high And gave us love meant not that all should die— Like a brief day dream, quenched in sudden night, And wake refreshed where the new morning breaks, And golden day her rosy vigor takes Full from winds that fan eternity's fair light And the white crests of God's perpetual deep.

"His time is spent, out pilgrimage must be— So the wise poet—wisest of mankind— In admonition that should make us see— Though half distraught, and in our misery blind— That our sole refuge is the constant mind, The steadfast purpose, brave and strong and free, To bear affliction and to be resigned; Knowing that ruthless time will one day rend The veil that hides the deep that all must cross.

Think that to die is but to fall asleep, Made precious with the soul of many a friend— Is richer, lovelier, holier, for our loss; Where crown'd with peace, as with a diadem, Our loved ones long for us even as we long for them.

IDAHO SHEEPMEN PROSPERING

"Twenty years ago if a man had talked hundred-dollar an acre land in Idaho, he would have been branded as a visionary, a dreamer of wild chimerical dreams," said Joseph Jones of Teton, Idaho, who was here yesterday. Mr. Jones had just sold a bunch of ewes and lambs that made him a "bunch of money," and was in a happy and talkative frame of mind. "Some of our irrigated lands are selling as high as $100 per acre," said Mr. Jones.

"Of course, when we talk of hundred-dollar land, we refer to land that has been subject to intensive cultivation and are pushed to the limit. It is only in the best districts that lands are so high priced. We have two best factories in Fremont county and one in Bingham. And best producers, our lands cannot be beat. We produce an average of about sixteen tons of beets per acre with instances last year of twenty-six tons to the acre. These beets are contracted at $4.50 per ton. So you can see that our factors in making our lands high priced. In a general way, improved irrigated farms in our country are worth from $10 to $175 per acre, while unimproved but irrigable lands are worth $15 to $20 per acre, and it will cost another $15 to $20 an acre to get them watered.

"Dry farming is becoming more popular every year. All there is to dry farming is to stir the ground and water down. We are raising fifteen to thirty-seven bushels of wheat to the acre right along on this process of dry farming.

"Our long suit, however, is sheep. We have plenty of sheep in this country. I should think about as many as a year ago. But owners are generally bullish and holding for high prices. And why shouldn't they? Agents for eastern wool houses are now in the country offering to contract next spring's clip at as high as 20 cents per pound. It won't cost much to winter a ewe that will shear two dollars worth of wool and raise a four-dollar lamb next spring. Even a down-dread-dollar an acre beef farm won't make money faster than that. Feeder buyers have been scouring that country hunting for lambs and with both wool and feeders scouting after the best, either trying to contract wool and lambs, it is my guess that flock owners have plenty of inducement to build them.

"Last January I bought this bunch of ewes that I sold yesterday at $1.80, and sold $1,800 worth of wool off of the lot and am going back to Idaho with something like $7,500 dollars in my jeans. The sheep business suits 'Happy Joe first rate and am going back to take the next flyer in the game."—St. Joseph Journal.

GRASS CURING WELL I. A. Coffee of Canadian City, Texas, and J. L. Gray of Parhamville City, Texas, were on the market today with two carloads each of cows and heifers. They encountered a very bad run on account of the immense passenger traffic westward and the big volume of dead freight business. Mr. Coffee reports grass as abundant and curing fine and the cattle are doing exceptionally well. Mr. Coffee is the owner of eleven sections of land that cost him 75c per acre a few years ago. It is now worth, and similar grass is selling at $1.25 per acre. Immigration has been very great this year and the country is becoming dotted with small ranches and farms. The land is proving very productive when put into cultivation, what this year is going from fifteen to twenty-nine bushels per acre and Kaffir and maize around two tons to the acre, and with the application of the Campbell system of soil culture, which will be put into effect next season, they expect their cheap lands to be just as productive as the higher priced lands of the east.—St. Joseph Journal.

CONDITIONS IN OKLAHOMA "One of the most peculiar conditions in the settlement of a new section of country is now presented in the big Klowa and Comanche Indian pastures, in the East, Okla. Engle," the Interior department having announced that the pasture would be opened to settlement under the lease plan, some way spread the report down in the jungles and snuff-stick regions of the Chickasaw Nation and Texas that it was simply that the cattle people, who never read a newspaper or vote for a republican, have gone into the pastures and are taking claims in blissful ignorance of the real conditions. The department has taken no action in the matter as yet, but it does not require the son of a prophet to make a fairly accurate guess as to what Secretary Hitchcock will do in the premises."

CATTLE ARE PLENTIFUL While the marketward movement of range cattle has been to some extent hampered by green grass and the telegraph strike, it is already assuming formidable proportions and displaying disposition to dominate prices. Cattle in the trade is looking for a scarcity of beef. Present indications are that the run advertised and while choice natives are not by any means—in fact, the trade is puzzled regarding the number of good rigs have rapidly been letting them come in expectation of western competition of the keenest kind. There has been some improvement in beef demand recently, although Chicago received 60,000 cattle last week and all were taken care of. Naturally a good share of the grass beef to be marketed during the next few days will go into freezers or be utilized for canning purposes, but there will be plenty everybody who was present went away well pleased. Captain B. E. Paddock opened the entertainment with a short address on the work of the committee and said that great praise was due those who were putting forth heroic efforts to swell the fund. He urged all to take up the work faithfully by the committee and declared he believed that the enterprise would eventually succeed.

Captain Paddock said that since the council in its wisdom had seen fit to withdraw the city hall auditorium from general use of the public for entertainments there was not a single suitable place in the city that could be used for public gatherings, and in consequence it was more apparent there should be provided a hall for meetings and conventions in the future. He said he deeply deplored this situation, but said that it cannot be helped and should only stir the citizenship of Fort Worth to increased vigor in an effort to provide a hall.

OWNERS ORGANIZE NEW DRIVING CLUB

Horsemen Complete Plans for Track and Stables on Land South of City

At a well-attended meeting of the Fort Worth Driving Club in the parlors of the Worth Hotel Friday night with President G. H. Colvin in the chair, a motion was carried unanimously to make the temporary organization permanent.

The officers are as follows: President, G. H. Colvin; vice president, J. C. Harrison; treasurer, James Harrison.

Discussion of the charter of the old driving club brought out the fact that the larger part of the members of the present organization were stockholders in the old club and that the charter is at present in charge of J. H. Maddox.

The secretary reported to the meeting that the number of members secured to date has reached the one hundred mark and one over.

The election of a directory for the year being next in order, the chair appointed Messrs. Harrison and Williams a committee to select seven names from the membership roll.

The offer of a tract of land beyond Hemphill Heights for a site of track and stables, with grand stand, was discussed at length.

The majority of the members speaking on the matter were heartily in favor of accepting the proposition, which has been outlined in the Telegram in the report of the former meeting at the hotel.

"I see no earthly reason for not securing another hundred names for the membership list. I think that, with the assistance of the committee who suggested names to me during the past week, it will be an easy matter to get another hundred." The secretary's remarks were received by those present with enthusiasm.

TEXAN FLAG SENT GRAND ARMY MEN

Albert Sidney Johnson Camp, United Confederate Veterans, Have Banner Displayed in Denver

The following announcement appears in a Denver paper in connection with the Grand Army of the Republic reunion there: "At Texas headquarters is displayed a beautiful silk flag which belongs to the Albert Sidney Johnson camp of Confederate Veterans. The flag was presented to this post by the Daughters of the Confederacy. The body of the flag is white with a tip of red, with a cross of St. George in blue studded with thirteen white stars on a red field."

"The post to which this flag belongs bears the distinction of being the first camp to send official invitation to President Roosevelt to visit the south."

LOSES SKULL BONE REGAINS MEMORY

G. H. Dashiell Now Carries Bit of Bone Removed as Souvenir

G. H. Dashiell of 1461 Peach street, this city, is one of the few men who can carry a portion of his skull about in his pocket.

Mr. Dashiell, who was recently discharged from St. Joseph's Infirmary, where the portion of his skull was removed July 31, is still under the care of physicians, though the wound upon his head is healing rapidly and he seems in perfect health.

Mr. Dashiell, who was a conductor on the Texas and Pacific railway, was injured three years ago in a collision between Ranger and Elstland. Though apparently recovering from his injury, he began to lose his memory and finally was obliged to give up railroad work.

Physicians came to the conclusion that his malady, forgetfulness, was caused by pressure of the skull, due to his injuries. He was accordingly brought to this city and trepanning resorted to, a silver plate being inserted in place of the portion of the skull removed.

The operation, performed by Drs. Durringer and Morton, proved entirely successful and Dashiell now carries the round plug taken from his skull as a souvenir. This morning he declared he will likely have it engraved with the Masonic emblem and wear it as a watch chain.

His memory has now returned fully and he will likely engage in civil engineering work as soon as the hot weather is over.

Following the accident, damages in the sum of $2,400 was secured from the railway after a decision of the supreme court.

TEXAS QUOTATIONS REMAINING STEADY

Despite Quarantines, Railroads Here Escape General Stock Market Reaction

During the past two or three weeks of rather severe reaction in the general market, stocks of Southern and Southwestern railroads have attracted much attention by their comparative strength.

Touching these conditions a dispatch from New York says: "As a matter of fact, stocks like the Southern railway, Missouri, Kansas and Texas; St. Louis Southwestern and Texas and Pacific have suffered only nominal declines. The steadiness of the Texas and Pacific line of the Gould system is especially gratifying, if it is borne in mind that the yellow fever situation at one time caused severe apprehension regarding the influence it would have on earnings. The earnings of July and August, indeed show decreases as compared with those of last year, but friends of the property consider those decreases insignificant. They argue that, with the fever situation well in hand, there is no cause for further apprehension from that source, while general business conditions in the south and the outlook of the present crops are such as to warrant the expectation that the balance of the fiscal year will at least make up for the previous losses."

NEW INTERURBAN

Palestine and Corsicana to Have Electric Connection Information from Palestine is to the effect that chances are very good for the construction of an electric line from that city to Corsicana.

The line is being projected by eastern capitalists who say they have the funds ready to begin work just as soon as the right-of-way, franchises and terminals have been secured.

The line will be seventy-five miles long and will cost approximately half a million dollars. Large bonuses are to be given the promoters of the road. The prospectus, in speaking of the resources, mentions the big salt works near Palestine, large oil interests at Corsicana, immense forests of virgin timber, 37,000 bales of cotton grown in contributing territory, and 50,000 people who will be patrons of the road. The promoters claim that water power can be secured to operate the power plants.
