LIBERTY DEAD IN CUBA, SAYS GOMEZ

Conditions Worse Than Under Weyler

BLAMES UNITED STATES

Says Troops Would Be Sent in Case of Any Uprising Against Palma

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Liberty is dead in Cuba, and the condition of affairs there is worse than it ever was under Spanish rule, even in the most ferocious periods of the Weyler government. Financial ruin and dishonor face the people, if things continue as they are the nation will be converted into one of hereditary rule.

That declaration was made last night by General Jose Miguel Gomez, governor of the province of Santa Clara and candidate of the liberal party for the presidency of Cuba, at the New Amsterdam hotel, where he is stopping. Upon his arrival on the steamship Monterey from Havana yesterday General Gomez refused to discuss Cuban affairs at length, but after he had rested at his hotel he was more communicative.

"I come to this country for a rest," he said, "and," he continued, "to breathe the air of liberty that is lacking in my own country and for which I have fought for so long.

"On false charges the government assassinated the liberals, the jails are filled with political prisoners and we have no hope of justice from judges and magistrates who recognize the will of the government.

"We are hindered in casting our votes and Cuba is now suffering a reign of terror never equaled under Spanish tyranny. It was such things as these that made us withdraw from the elections. Public funds are used for electoral purposes. The sanitary condition of the island is a disgrace. The Cuban government has employed thousands of men in the sanitary department, but for voting, not for working purposes.

"It has become impossible to dare oppose the government without risk of one's life and liberty. The mayor of Havana has been deprived of his office against the law and the whole city council have been dismissed because they were liberals. No one dares confess his political opinions for fear of assassination, for which purpose the most desperate criminals are allowed by the government to be at large.

United States Responsible.
"For what is happening in Cuba the United States government has a direct responsibility. Palma is enabled to do as he is doing only by telling the people every day that in case of revolution or disorder the United States would send troops to punish them and to sustain the Palma government.

"I believe that if the Platt amendment holds the United States government responsible for order in Cuba, it should never be supported for supporting the unlawful acts of the present government and to serve as a screen for the commission of such acts as have been committed against the opponents of that government. It is the duty of the United States to put a stop to such a condition and if affairs continue as they are much longer we shall have to appeal to the United States to do so.

Says Liberals Have Majority.
"If the United States should intervene in the matter of the elections, and insist that free elections should be carried on honestly, it would be giving to 80 per cent of the population a liberal. That proportion of the people hate Palma and his oppressions worse than they hate the Spaniards, and the conditions here are worse than have ever existed under Spanish dominion."

Before leaving Cuba General Gomez advised his resignation as a candidate for president in order, as he stated, to give the convention full liberty in its proceedings. Upon his arrival here he was informed that the convention was held last Sunday, that it had been decided not to accept the resignation. General Gomez said that before he could outline his next action he would have to learn the reasons for this action by the convention and would have to give the matter deep thought.

LABOR SITUATION GROWING CRITICAL

Grand Trunk Officials Called to Chicago in Effort to Prevent General Strike

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—High officials of the Grand Trunk railroad have been called to Chicago to prevent a general strike of strikers on the system growing out of the walkout of the seventy-five men in the yards at Elston.

Local officers last night admitted that the labor situation is growing more critical hourly.

Fourth Vice President McWegan and General Superintendent Brownlee of the Grand Trunk will arrive from Detroit tomorrow and will confer with Division Superintendent W. F. Egan and his assistant, W. E. Costello. It is expected also that a conference will be held with a committee from the strikers in an endeavor to adjust the dispute.

Vice Grand Master James B. Connors of the Switchmen's Union still hopes for peace, although the Grand Trunk officials have refused to consider the chief demand of the men—the reinstatement of the discharged members of the grievance committee.

IMPORTANT QUESTION BEFORE TYLER COURT

Allison Contempt Case Involving Constitutional Point, to Be Argued There

WACO, Texas, Oct. 4.—Minor L. Moore and W. L. Eason, of the state, and Newt P. Williams and J. T. Sluder, of the defense, in the R. J. Allison contempt case left Waco last night for Tyler, where they will today argue the case before the court of criminal appeals. The court will take the case under advisement before rendering an opinion, no doubt. It is an interesting case and the only one which has been presented to the higher court in this form since the amended law making it possible for injunction to issue from district court stopping the issue contemplated, threatened or actual, of buildings for gaming purposes. Mr. L. Moore secured an injunction preventing Allison to so use certain premises here and it is alleged that Allison violated the injunction and District Judge Surratt fined him $100 and sentenced him to three days in jail. Allison's attorneys sought a writ of habeas corpus at once and got the matter into the court of criminal appeals, claiming that the law is unconstitutional, as it deprived the men of jury trial, and the power of district courts to issue injunctions to prevent crime will also be attacked. Attorneys for the state believe they can offset this, however, and that the law is constitutional. The result will be watched with interest over the state.

Bomb Suspects Arrested

THEN TSIN, Oct. 4.—Six men suspected of being bomb throwers, along with two without names, from Peking were handed over to the victory for an investigation Tuesday evening, Oct. 3.

RAILROADS CONVERTED TO RATE LEGISLATION

But the Kind They Believe in Differs From That Advocated by Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Assisted by J. W. Hill, E. H. Harriman and the Moore brothers, who represent practically all the railroads west of the Mississippi, the republican senators, members of the Interstate commerce committee, who disagree with the President as to the kind of a rate regulation measure the senate ought to pass, will prepare a bill on that subject and ask their colleagues to pass it. Instead of being opponents of the regulation, as heretofore, the eminent railroad men mentioned will hereafter be advocates of it. They have been converted.

The conversion was made by the local attorneys here for the interests mentioned. The Washington lawyers advised their clients last winter not to oppose the proposition. They took the position that it would be to their interest to guide the lawmakers so that the legislation placed upon the statute books would not be as hostile to their enemies would as J. Hill, however, could not see any good in such advice. He therefore opposed it with all his might. At present he is on the Pacific coast with a party of financiers. One of the members of the party is a member of the law firm which represents the Hill lines, the Northern Pacific, Burlington and Great Northern. He is Mr. Hill, however, who is completing his conversion. As yet he is not beyond the danger of backsliding.

The Moore brothers control the Rock Island and the St. Louis and San Francisco. They were not so violently opposed to rate regulation last winter as Hill, but without him they could not afford to appear friendly to the proposition that came from the White House with the mark of the approval of the administration.

E. H. Harriman controls the St. Paul, the Southern, the Union Pacific and Central Pacific and the Oregon Short Line. The roads not embraced in the three combinations mentioned are hardly worth considering, they have no weight in the matter. Unless the inference is correct, it is inferred that the position to be taken by the western magnates is that which the eastern men have taken. It is easy to figure out how strongly backed will be the bill which is being incubated by the dominant wing of the republican membership of the senate committee of which Senator Elkins is the official head. Elkins is also the leader of the coteries which is preparing the bill which will be offered as a substitute for that which passed the house last winter, and which, it is presumed, will again be brought forward this winter by the supporters of the President in the house of representatives.

POLICE SAY FORGER DID WORK ALONE

Declare Harry Leonard, Who Has Confessed to Big Securities Theft, Worked Unaided

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The detectives and the police have satisfied themselves that Harry Leonard, the boy who did the National City Bank out of $350,000 worth of securities by means of a forged check, had no accomplices. They announced yesterday that all the evidence to convict Leonard had been obtained and that the case was closed. In court yesterday Leonard seemed eager to talk concerning himself, but the police would not let him. Once the reporters surrounded him, he decided to demonstrate the thing and make a name for himself.

GOULD IN OREGON

Western Pacific Surveyors in South of State

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 4.—The Chronicle today says that the Southern Oregon job of becoming interested in the activity of a crew of Western Pacific surveyors in that section of the state. From the engineering operations that are now in progress east of Eugene by a force that is said to be working in the interest of the new transcontinental line, the belief is growing that the Gould interests are planning to reach Portland and penetrate the rich Willamette valley on the way.

Prominent Railroad Men Engaged in Fight for Control of the Wabash Lines

GEORGE J. GOULD

GEORGE J. GOULD AGAIN WITH A FIGHT ON HAND

Age 47. Eldest son of the late Jay Gould. Chief trustee of the Jay Gould estate, estimated at $100,000,000. Was trained from youth to handle the Gould fortune.

Was left a special inheritance of $5,000,000 in his own name for his zealous attention to the affairs of his father. Lives at Lakewood, N. J. Is married and has seven children. After college went on a tour of Europe and returned with King Edward, then Prince of Wales. Polo is his chief amusement. Next to it is yachting.

Recently realized his ambition to make the Gould lines extend from Great Salt Lake to the Atlantic. Has increased the Gould mileage from 4,000 to over 16,000. Not afraid of late wars, having developed his railroads with the idea of carrying freight at a smaller expense than any other road.

His friends and backers in enterprise have included Russell Sage, Andrew Carnegie, John D. Rockefeller and James H. Hyde. Returned from abroad to commence his business career as a clerk in the Western Union office. Is of a serious turn of mind, and settled, determined manner. Often takes and sends his own telegraph messages at his 195 Broadway office or at his home.

SENATOR MOSES CLAPP ARRIVES AT MUSKOGEE

As Chairman of Indian Territory Affairs His Visit is Important to Its Welfare

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Oct. 4.—United States Senator Moses E. Clapp, chairman of the Indian Territory affairs, arrived in the city today from Duluth, Minn., and will remain here several days. Senator Clapp will be accompanied on his tour through Indian Territory by Commissioner Tamm, Bixby and Attorney W. E. Macartney, who accompanied the senator here.

Senator Clapp gave out the following interview: "Senators Stewart of Nevada and Platt of Connecticut have looked after the affairs of the Indian Territory, while I have been occupied with the affairs of the Indians in my own state, and for that reason I have never given much thought or time to the Indian Territory affairs, and for that reason I thought it was my duty to come down and make a personal investigation of the Indian Territory affairs."

LITT WILL FILED

Estates Amounts to Almost a Quarter Million

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The will of Jacob Litt, the theatrical manager, filed yesterday, disposed of almost a quarter of a million dollars. The bulk of the property will go to the wife and the two sons, Jacob Litt Jr. and Willard D. Litt.

In his will he named his friend and associate in business, Alexander W. Dingwall and his nephew, Sol Litt, as executors and trustees of his estate. Among the special bequests is one of $5,000 to Mr. Dingwall, who is referred to in these words: "To my friend, Alexander W. Dingwall of Milwaukee, $5,000 in recognition of faithful work in my behalf and as a slight token of my esteem for him after many years of intimate association."

RAMSEY CARRIES WAR ON GOULD INTO COURT

Applies for Injunction Restraining Meeting of the Wabash Directors

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—Suit for injunction has been filed in the St. Louis circuit court by Joseph Ramsey Jr., president of the Wabash, against the Iron Mountain and Wabash Railway Company, the Mercantile Trust Company of New York, Walter S. Wilson, S. M. Walker and George Gould. In his petition Mr. Ramsey asks the court to grant him an injunction preventing the proposed annual meeting of George Gould and his associates at Toledo, Ohio, where it is proposed to elect a board of directors and a president to control the Wabash road for the next year. As a reason he alleges that one result of this meeting would be to stifle competition in traffic between the Wabash and Missouri Pacific roads between St. Louis and Kansas City.

Mr. Ramsey, who is a resident of Missouri, while the defendants are non-residents. He owns $50,000 par value of the debenture bonds of the Wabash class B and 100 shares of the capital stock. He brings the suit, he says, for himself and others similarly situated. Missouri Pacific railway, he says, holds 29,000 shares of Wabash stock, the Iron Mountain holds 52,000 shares of preferred stock and $5,325,000 par value of debentures, the shares being held in trust by the Mercantile Trust Company of New York, Wilson, Walker and Gould.

VIEWS OF JOSEPH RAMSEY

Gould, he says, owns and controls a majority of the stock of the Missouri Pacific and controls the majority of stock of the Iron Mountain railway. P. W. Lesman, attorney for Mr. Ramsey, said: "The importance of this suit to the public is in that it is a suit to enjoin rival companies of the Wabash from voting its stock and debentures."

LIFE SPENT BEHIND PENITENTIARY BARS

After Serving Thirty-Nine Years, Chicago Prisoner Gets Ten More

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Frank Hope, 59 years of age, who has served thirty-nine years behind the bars, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of swindling and was sentenced to the penitentiary for ten years.

BLAST HAS NO EFFECT

Long Island City Workmen Drill in Vain

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Workmen engaged in blasting foundations for the New York Democratic club in Long Island city found a rock which gave so much resistance to their drills that they slipped it and worked all day about it. By last night they had uncovered a surface about six feet in extent without disclosing the entire formation. A piece was chipped off and was taken by John Brady, the contractor, to persons who pronounce it a meteorite.

HOW RAMSEY CLIMBED LADDER TO SUCCESS

Reputed the best all-around railroad man in the United States, Joseph Ramsey, president of the Wabash railroad, is now in the limelight on account of his fight to retain the presidency of the road against the wish of the Goulds, who control the Wabash and who employed him.

Age 55. Born at Pittsburg. Educated in public schools. Began railroading in 1868. Agent of Belle Gap railroad. Assistant superintendent of Belle Gap. Became general freight and passenger agent with Pittsburg, New Castle and Lake Erie. Auditor of the Pittsburg Southern. Chief clerk in accounting department of Baltimore and Ohio. General freight and passenger agent of the Pittsburg, Chartiers and Younglougheny. Auditor of the Dayton, Fort Wayne and Chicago. Manager Cincinnati, Wabash and Michigan. General agent of the Big Four at Cairo. General manager of the Big Four. Went to Wabash as vice president. Was advanced to presidency of the Wabash. Hard work with constant attention to details, and great conscientiousness, are given as the secret of Ramsey's success. His connection with the Wabash was marked by the extension of that road from Toledo, Ohio, to Pittsburg, a colossal undertaking, which the Goulds now claim was too costly, and for vindiction of which Ramsey is striving before the stockholders.

HARVARD PRESIDENT PRAISES "CLEAN" MAN

Elliott Gives Annual Address to the Incoming Class on Ethics of Wholesome Life

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 4.—President Charles W. Elliott addressed the incoming freshman class at the faculty reception yesterday evening. He said in part: "The foundation of all durable satisfaction in life is that each man be a clean, wholesome, vigorous individual. This means clean, vigorous, licentiousness and dirt of all kinds must be avoided. But this is not enough. It is the intellectual life that gives the educated man real satisfaction that endures. The cultivation of vigorous, intense mental work each day is bound to furnish one of the greatest and most lasting satisfactions that a man can have. Don't take three minutes to do what might just as well be done in two minutes. Don't take four years in college to do what might be done just as well in three years. The third great source of satisfaction is a decent reputation. In order to secure this be a man of honor. Act toward all women as though you were going to marry some pure woman inside of a month. Be honest to all, and more than that, be generous, especially to those poorer than yourself."

ACTRESS IS MARRIED

Katheryn Kidder Quietly Becomes Mrs. Anspacher

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Miss Katheryn Kidder, who is connected with distinguished Virginia families, has distinguished relatives in the north and south, has had a dramatic stage, notably in M. Victorien Sardou's "Mme. Sans Gene," has the Herald says, given her friends a surprise. She has been quietly married to Louis K. Anspacher, Ph. D. of Columbia university. The wedding is a surprise also to his friends. The ceremony took place last Wednesday at the home of her brother, Pancoast Kidder, in Fayetteville, near Syracuse, N. Y.

PORTLAND HAS FIRE

Entire Block of Wholesale Houses Is Burned

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 4.—Fire last night which did damage to the extent of $10,000 destroyed an entire block of wholesale houses in this city bounded by Salmon, Taylor and Front streets and the Willamette river. The fire started in the basement of the Neutra Paint and Oil company from spontaneous combustion, it is thought, and rapidly spread to the adjoining structures, which were all frame buildings. The insurance equals about half the loss.

STANFIELD GOES TO VINITA

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Oct. 4.—Judge Gill has announced the appointment of Thos. J. Parrot to succeed Wade S. Stanfield as United States commissioner at Vinita. Mr. Stanfield has been appointed to succeed Hon. Piny Soper as district attorney for the northern district. It is understood that the appointment is effective immediately.

Chicago Shippers and Railroads Adopt System to Prevent Expensive Delays in Handling

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Chicago shippers and Chicago terminal railroads have found a common field for labor in the movement to facilitate the handling of freight at the team tracks and freight houses. Representatives of the shippers and representatives of the railroads met yesterday and a mutual pledge was given that both parties would co-operate to bring about the desired conditions.

It was estimated that $5,000 a day is lost to the shippers through the delays in handling freight at the freight houses, and a considerable amount is lost to the railroads of the shippers and representatives of the railroads met yesterday and a mutual pledge was given that both parties would co-operate to bring about the desired conditions.

LOUISIANA TOWNS NOW RAISING QUARANTINES

Communication With New Orleans Being Renewed.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—To business men the most encouraging feature of the yellow fever situation is the disposition that is being manifested by the parishes and towns in Louisiana to raise the quarantines about Oct. 15 in harmony with the provisions of the White and President Souther. If the rule is generally followed New Orleans will recover more quickly in a business way than in 1897 and 1898, when the movement of the Government of the outside country refused to remove the restrictions until frost came. Thereville, Terrebonne, Kentwood and Acadia sent word they probably would do so. The number of towns that will attend to their own quarantines about the time suggested, while Baton Rouge now has the matter under consideration, Health Officer Depre and Surgeon Corbett both having made it plain to the citizens there would be practically no danger in resumption of relations with this city. The pace having been set it is probable that many more parishes will follow suit.

PHILANTHROPIST TAKES PART OF ROCKEFELLER

Dr. D. K. Pearsons Says Tainted Money Is Cry of Socialists and Drones

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 4.—"I would rather be John D. Rockefeller today, divested of his wealth and with a lovable personality than any of the crew, satyrs or sinners, who are attacking him," the foregoing is a quotation from an interview published today from Dr. D. K. Pearsons, the Chicago millionaire, nationally known as a philanthropist. "Tainted money," is the cry of the socialists. To the popular mind, excited just now by socialistic utterances, there is no wealth that is untainted. This cry of "tainted money" is not just a cry of un-Americanism. It has become the rallying cry of socialists, the drone and discontented member of society, who hates those whose talents or wealth exceed his own. Dr. Pearsons, after talking in this strain with vigor for some time, showed a letter which he had received from Mr. Rockefeller. Dr. Pearsons read it and concluded: "Thank you for your kind words, good friend. I appreciate them. Life is short and you and I have too much to do in this world to be dissatisfied. Let us keep right on and do our best in our day and generation, rejoicing in the beautiful sentiment expressed by our lamented Lincoln: 'With malice toward none and charity for all.' Sincerely your friend, 'JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.'"

BATTLE SURVIVORS TO FORM ON FIELD Reproduction of Petersburg Fight to Be Followed by Roll Call of Participants Still Living

Circulars have been received by veterans in this city announcing that the grand camp of Confederate Veterans of Virginia will hold its next annual meeting in the city of Petersburg on Oct. 25, 26 and 27. For the entertainment of the grand camp and visiting veterans, A. P. Hill Camp of Confederate Veterans of that city has determined to have on Thursday, Oct. 26, a sham battle by the Virginia state troops on the field of the Battle of the Crater, for which purpose an invitation has been extended to several regiments and other organizations of these troops.

A special committee of A. P. Hill Camp are arranging with the officer who will be in command of the troops to have the sham battle conform as nearly as practicable to that part of the famous battle July 30, 1864, in which the Confederate soldiers north of the Crater were recaptured by Mahone's brigade with some of other commands. The charge of eight hundred or more young infantry at a double-quick with the "rebel yell," and arms at a trail, from the very place at which and over the very ground over which Mahone's men made their charge on the morning of the battle, the charging military not firing a gun until reaching the crest of the hill, but being fired at by the enemy stationed there and along the rim of the Crater as they double-quick up the two hundred yards of hill slope, will present a stirring and striking spectacle, none well worth seeing, but one not less notable than will be the sight of the line of surviving participants who, a short time before the military make their charge, will be formed in line of battle as on the morning of the 30th of July, 1864, will have a short address from Colonel William H. Stewart, their commander, and then kneel in prayer.

All surviving ex-Confederate soldiers who participated in the battle, whether in infantry or artillery commands, have been asked to be present Thursday, Oct. 25, to witness these exercises on the battle field of the Crater.

Railroad Men Say Full Equipment Is Needed to Handle Present Traffic

Prosperous conditions generally are reported by traveling freight men of the railroads. Especially is the country in the Panhandle and in West Texas prosperous. In Donley, Childress, Hall and Hardeman counties times were never as bright as at the present time, and immigration into these counties during the past twelve months has never been as heavy. Every inland town within 150 miles of the Fort Worth and Denver City road is growing rapidly and business is on the increase. Cotton gins are running on full time, some of them night and day.

Tom Waggoner is selling off much of his 60,000-acre ranch near Vernon to farmers. This land is being cut up into small farms and is being sold at a rapid rate. The demand for furniture, stoves, wagons, implements, etc., throughout West Texas was never so large as at present, and drummers say that the sales are heavier than they were in the fall of 1900. In that year conditions were made prosperous by the sudden rise in the price of cotton. At that time there was an unaccounted demand for Texas horses for shipment to South Africa. All these things added to the prosperity in 1900, but this year conditions are much better than they were then and crops are far better, while cotton prices are very much larger. As a result of these good times the railroads are pushed to handle the business and all freight equipment is being replaced. Altogether, the roads were never in better shape from a traffic standpoint.

IN THE COURTS

DISTRICT COURT The bond of Kirby Williams was set at $750 by Judge M. E. Smith of the Seventeenth district court today.

T. N. Stafford, who is charged with sending a threatening letter through the mails, was admitted to bond by Judge Smith in the sum of $1000, which he gave.

Judge Smith was forced to continue the assault to murder case of O. G. Bradley on account of the absence of witnesses Tom Williams and Jack Bolling. Both were fined $50 each and ordered to appear in court ten days hence to show cause, if any, why the fines should not stand.

Judge Smith entered an order today that the sum of $165, money that was stolen from Allen Iregles by J. J. Koenig, and being held by an officer, be turned over to its rightful owner. Koenig was recently given two years in prison for the theft.

Charles Shoffit, charged with theft from person, was tried by a jury this morning in the Seventeenth district court and found not guilty.

DISTRICT COURT FILINGS Della Cook against C. W. Cook, divorce. W. R. Edgington against Board of Equalization of the City of Fort Worth et al, two cases; appealed.

John J. Johnson against Fort Worth Light and Power company, personal injury. In the Edgington case the plaintiff alleges that the board of equalization has assessed the sum of $25,775 on credits for the year 1905. Edgington alleges he has not said sum in credits and appeals to the district court for relief.

The Johnson suit mentioned is for damages alleged to have been received on the night of Sept. 9. Johnson claims, in his petition that while walking along East Ninth street he struck a protruding pipe on the sidewalk near the building of the company and fell to the pavement, breaking several bones in one of his arms. Damages in the sum of $2,000 is asked.

COUNTY COURT

Joe Colter was found guilty of lunacy in the county court today. Colter is 41 years of age and has been in this city since 1884. He claimed in his examination before the court that he had $50,000 in a Fort Worth bank.

Cases were today filed against Roy Trusty, charged with vagrancy, and T. W. Stafford sending a threatening letter through the United States mail. Roy Trusty pleaded guilty to vagrancy and was fined $10.

Bob Hargrove, aggravated assault, pleaded guilty and was fined $50. George Potts, pleaded guilty to selling to a minor and was fined $25. Lee Welch, aggravated assault, continued.

Frank Behrens, theft, was fined $10 and given thirty days in jail. Bob Merrill, aggravated assault, was fined $25 on a plea of guilty. Ella Johnson pleaded guilty to theft and was fined $1 and given one day in jail.

Louis Schmitt and Tom Williams, pursuing occupation without license, bond forfeited.

TEXAS CROP CONDITIONS

Average Condition of Cotton Shows Little Improvement—Soil Too Dry for Fall Work

GALVESTON, Texas, Oct. 4.—Following is the summary of the government's weekly crop bulletin report for the week ending Oct. 2, 1905:

The weather was generally moderately warm. Local showers occurred during the week, but they were very light, except on Sept. 28 and Oct. 1, when they were moderately heavy to heavy. Where the heaviest rains occurred vegetation has been revived to some extent, but over the greater part of the state the rainfall was insufficient to benefit crops materially.

Cotton—The average condition of the cotton crop underwent but little change during the week. There has been some improvement in a few localities and some deterioration in others. Fruiting is about at an end, and the bitter fruit that is being put on is being destroyed by boll weevils and other pests.

Wool—Harvesting corn continues generally in the state where time can be spared from cotton picking. The yield ranges from poor to very good. On account of the dry weather late corn is not a good crop as a rule.

Wheat—Harvesting wheat is well advanced in the state where time can be spared from cotton picking. The yield ranges from poor to very good. On account of the dry weather late corn is not a good crop as a rule.

Sugar—Harvesting sugar corn continues generally in the state where time can be spared from cotton picking. The yield ranges from poor to very good. On account of the dry weather late corn is not a good crop as a rule.

Wool—Harvesting wool continues generally in the state where time can be spared from cotton picking. The yield ranges from poor to very good. On account of the dry weather late corn is not a good crop as a rule.

IN CYCLES OF SEVEN YEARS. Tom Sotham, one of the best known Hereford breeders in the southwest, spent several days in Fort Worth recently, and in speaking of the cattle business, past and prospective, advanced the following unique line of argument:

"The cattle business is at low ebb now, and it has reached the point where there must be a turn. My judgment is that it will go the other way, and you can take down a little history. This is the third time in my life that I have watched the ups and downs of the live stock business. My first experience was in 1874. It is true that I was young then, but I was old enough to take points in the cattle business. That year my father bought Hereford bulls at $50 right along. Now and then he would pay $100 for an extraordinary good bull. There were in those days plenty of good Hereford bulls for sale in Michigan, Ohio and Canada.

"By 1885, the very men who paid $100 for their bulls got as high as $2,500 for them. In 1892, seven years afterward, the $2,500 animal sold at beef prices. In 1893 the dam or Sir Bredwell was sold by Frank Barnum, a Chicago millionaire, together with a whole herd, over the scales for $142 per pound, with the pedigree thrown in. In 1894 Beatrice, the dam of Sir Bredwell, sold for $125, she having a heifer calf in the side. The calf was sold by me in the spring of 1894 for $85. The next winter Beatrice dropped Sir Bredwell, who as a three-year-old bull won the grand sweepstakes at the Omaha exposition, as a four-year-old was sold to Colonel Slaughter of Dallas for $5,000. When Beatrice was a yearling she sold in England in 1893 for $300 to an American importer. He brought her to Chicago and showed her at the American Fat Stock Show on Lake front. The Saturday before the show opened C. M. Culbertson saw the heifer with three other mates and bought them at $500 each. After the show opened Frank Barnum saw them and bought them at $1,000 each. And yet her calves sold at beef prices of 2 1/2c per pound and as high as $5,000 each. So it goes.

"In 1878 there was the awakening, and it was seven years later (in 1885) that the cattle industry reached the top. In 1892, seven years later, the tide receded and the bottom prices prevailed. The tide came back and the prices were realized in 1899. So that, while I am not superstitious, I have great confidence in the return of the good time prices in 1906."

Sotham is a man who has suffered from these depressions in the cattle business as severely as any man in the country. He once owned one of the greatest breeding farms in the state of Missouri, but when the reverses came to the cattle industry he lost out and later moved to the state of Illinois, where he has since been engaged in business. Having passed through the experience himself, he is in pretty good position to judge of the result, and his line of argument coincides with the views of a number of west Texas cattlemen, who are inclined to the cycle theory. Men can be met every day who are firm in the belief that next year is to be the banner live stock year, witnessing a complete change from the conditions that have been prevailing now for several years. When pressed for an explanation of the faith that is within them, they answer, "Well, I have always noticed that these long periods of depression are always followed by corresponding periods of great prosperity, and the depression has existed so long I know it is time for prosperity to arrive." That is the sum total of the explanation offered, and there can be nothing gained beyond that simple assertion. There is an indefinable something within the cowman's breast that inspires him with this belief. It may be a remnant of superstition, or it may be the working of some occult force, or it may be just a haphazard guess at the situation. But we do know that experience has taught us that these things invariably come round in this way. It was the immortal Patrick Henry who said we have no manner of judging the future except by the past, and this is what the cowmen are doing in their prognostications of the future of the cattle industry.

Take the history of the live stock industry from the very beginning in the state of Texas, and it is but a case of history repeating itself. For a few years cattle will command high prices and the cowman is prosperous almost to opulence. He buys more land and invests in more cattle, with the hope of continuing to prosper until the time will come when he will be one of the wealthiest men in the state. Just about the time he gets his legs all set and is preparing to take life easy there comes the regular period of depression. The cattle depreciate in value, market prices slump to the point where they barely pay the cost of production, and the man who owns the most cattle is regarded as the poorest man in the community. If he is able to weather the period of depression, however, he is sure to win out in the end, provided he is smart enough to unload during one of the boom periods.

There are many cattlemen in Texas today who are holding back for the return of prosperity. They are neither buying or selling any stock, but are just letting them grow and multiply in the expectation of doing business just as soon as the tide of prosperity sets in. According to all popular estimates that long expected tide is due to arrive next year.

A VOICE FROM FORT WORTH

The Fort Worth Telegram has read the Galveston-Dallas News a time or two, and it is to be hoped, will not be lost upon that paper. The state press department of the News deliberately used a portion of a sentence referring to the Post so as to distort its meaning, and what was a good-natured stricture upon both the Post and the News was made to appear as a vicious and wicked sneer at the Post. Whereupon, the Telegram uses the following pointed language:

"But the Telegram must confess that it is surprised at the action of the esteemed News in thus distorting the editorial expressions of this paper. The Crosby County Clarion and Farmers' Vindicator would not have descended to such a position of degradation as that which prides itself on being the representative paper of the entire southwest descends to such a procedure. The Telegram is constrained to admit that the word 'sneer' is not in the vocabulary of its admiring optics and it sees that the esteemed News belongs to the earth, earthy after all. These things are said more in sorrow than in anger, and it is hoped the esteemed News will see the point and refrain from wounding the Telegram in such a vital spot in the future."

The wonder is that the Telegram should express any surprise at such contemptible tactics. The News has frequently committed such offenses against the Post and others. It misrepresented the position of Judge Brooks with regard to the "August" episode; it misrepresented the position of Mr. Love by placing him in the attitude of alleging that there was graft in the comptroller's office and it has frequently quoted around some of its own phrases and pained them off on the public as coming from the Post when the Post had never stated anything of the kind in either word or spirit.

The fact of the matter is that the Post no longer accepts any statement of the News pertaining to somebody else's views. It knows from a more reliable source than the News that it is not a deliberate and malicious misrepresentation.—Houston Post.

The Post is mistaken in the assumption that the matter referred to was treated in the state press department of the esteemed News. It was the basis of more than a column editorial, and that was what rendered the action so heinous in the eyes of the Telegram. The editorial columns of a reputable newspaper are always presumed to be clean, with no desire or intention to misrepresent any person or thing. The editorial columns are supposed to reflect the policy of the paper, and in this case, it has clearly been that of misrepresentation.

The Telegram has nothing but good will for both of its esteemed contemporaries. It has read and enjoyed their titls over the question of democracy and the efforts made by both to prove the other is not a democratic institution. Strong in the pride of its own democracy, which has never wavered or faltered in the slightest degree, it is amusing to the Telegram to watch the antics of these two big morning papers, both of which should have been a power for good in all matters pertaining to the democratic party, but each reduced to the necessity of explaining the whyfores and wherefores of past party dereliction. The Telegram has only sought to pour oil on the troubled waters by suggesting a line of procedure that would obviate such conditions in the future. That line of policy in brief is to get into the democratic band wagon and sin no more. That is what the constituency of both papers have a right to demand and expect, and if they are wise they will hearken to the demands of the situation.

While there is complaint of a lack of politeness on the part of street car conductors, it should be remembered that the patrons of street cars do not always show the proper spirit toward the street car people. A few days ago an esteemed citizen was seen to try to stop a car in the middle of a block, and when it ran past him, he shook his fist at the conductor and yelled, "Go on, you blanked son-of-a-sea-cod!" That was not exactly the language used, but it will give an idea of the politeness exhibited by some of the esteemed citizens in their dealings with the street car people.

Men of known and unquestioned ability should and must be sent to Austin as members of the state legislature. The time has passed when Texas could afford to send men down there as lawmakers who do not comprehend of what law-making is composed.

Roosevelt is coming to New Orleans, yellow fever or no yellow fever. Perhaps he wants to see for himself what effect the Big Stick will have on the steegomyia fasciata.

Fort Worth's taxable values show an increase of $2,000,000 for the past year, and those figures show with telling effect the history of Fort Worth progress and development.

The Patrick case is up again in the New York courts, and David B. Hill is making a strong fight for the Texas's life.

The first day of October brought Fort Worth a good rain and a change in the weather that is generally appreciated.

THE DRIFT OF POLITICS

Senator Gorman is in his last great fight in Maryland with all the vim and vigor that a man of his age and experience can command. Mr. Gorman has made the proposed amendment to the constitution, to be voted upon in November, his personal fight. He declares that if he shall win, he will never again seek an elective office. But if defeated he intends to continue in active politics. These proposed amendments, which the democratic state convention indorsed last week, were drafted by Attorney General Poe. It is designed to amend the state constitution, and among other qualifications of voters as to residence, taxes, etc., shall be the following:

"Every citizen of the United States having the above prescribed qualifications of age and residence shall be entitled to be registered so as to become a qualified voter if he be: "First—A man who reads any section of the constitution of this state submitted to him by the officers of registration and to give a reasonable explanation of the same; or if unable to read such section he may be assisted by any reasonable explanation thereof when read to him by the registration officers; or "Second—A person who on the first day of January, next, is entitled to vote under the laws of this state or any other state of the United States wherein he then resides; or "Third—A man who has descended from such last-mentioned person who may be 21 years of age or over in the year 1906. "No person not thus qualified by coming under some one of the above descriptions shall be entitled to be registered as a qualified voter, nor be entitled to vote."

Negro Problem Not Easily Solved

Both political parties in Maryland were glad to get rid of the negro. In the recent republican state convention a resolution was forcibly smothered to the effect that the republican party opposed to the negro holding and giving how the republicans can eliminate the negro and yet hold his vote is a mighty problem. As the democrats do not get away from the negro, they are looking out of business as a politician entirely. The democratic state convention adopted an anti-negro platform of the strongest kind. Some of the planks are: "By the common consent of the people of this state, the negro vote shall be restricted and its power for evil destroyed. "The negro vote as it stands today is a perpetual menace to the prosperity and peace of Maryland—a menace to our very civilization—for it is ignorant, corrupt, the blind instrument of unscrupulous and selfish leaders. "In the hands of the ignorant and depraved the ballot is a public peril. In the hands of the intelligent and virtuous it is the safeguard of the people's constitutions. The democratic party of Maryland appeals to the whole electorate to defend the honor, the integrity and the peace of this proud commonwealth. "Opposed to Senator Gorman, the independents of Baltimore—men of both political parties. They regard the measure as entirely too sweeping and as reposing power in a registration and election board that might not understand and give to the negro voters that action hostile to their interests. The democrats are demanding that they express themselves to the effect that "hides, coal, iron ore, lumber and wood pulp be placed on the free list, and that duties upon manufactured and other articles be reduced where existing duties are higher than are needed for any just purpose of protection." It is more than probable that the Massachusetts republican machine, dominated by Senator Lodge, would prefer to dodge the issue, adopting a conservative protection plank and insinuating a few mild and harmless phrases about reciprocity. The politicians in charge of the convention may find the problem somewhat more difficult now, especially in view of the widespread belief that it was the tariff issue which elected Governor Douglas, a democrat. The result of the complication will have an important bearing on the general political situation, and it is not unlikely that the republican organization purpose to meet the rapidly growing demand for a readjustment of the tariff.

President and Lodge May Break Relations

The preliminary campaign has been carried on in the name of President Roosevelt, and delegates have been told that to do certain things would please the President. Roosevelt desires the re-election of Massachusetts and wants a republican elected governor. He carried Massachusetts by 52,000 for president in 1904, and yet the unpopular Bates went down before Douglas, the democratic candidate for governor. It is said that unless the state convention platform is pleasing to the President, and in accord with the lines he demands, the relations between Lodge and Roosevelt will be broken. An attempt will then be made to wrest control of the state machine from Lodge and transfer it to Senator Murray Crane, so it can be seen that the Lodge machine will be able to nominate Mr. Draper by a good majority. Hall's slogan was reciprocity, but his combing seems to have been dropped. The democrats have not picked a candidate for governor, and there is but little enthusiasm in the party on this question. The state convention will be held next Saturday, 7th inst.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Great Battle for Reciprocity

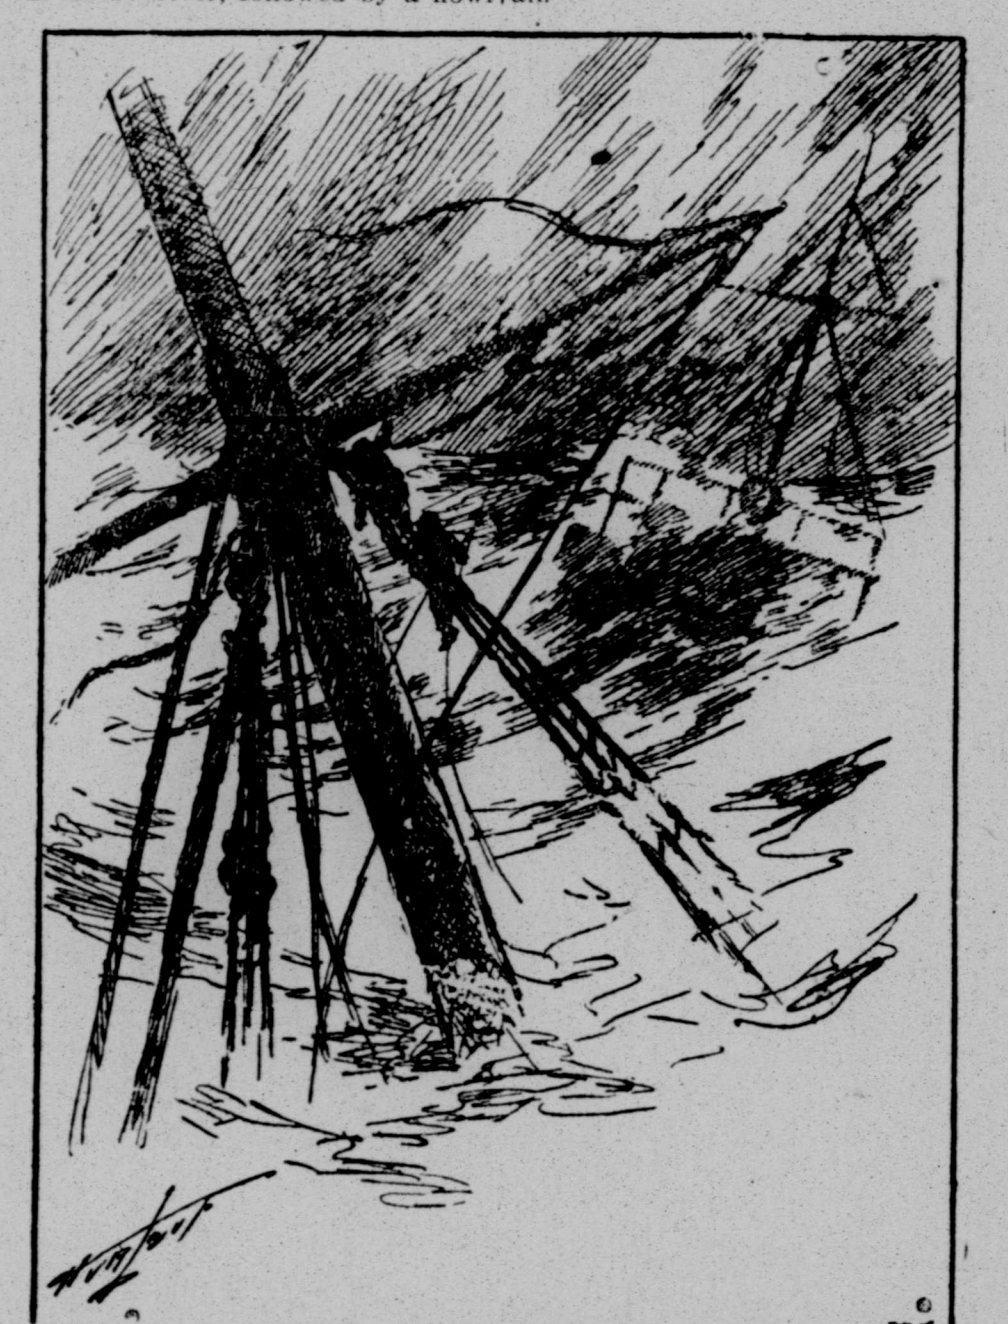

An organization known as the "Committee of One Hundred on Reciprocity" has carried on a vigorous agitation designed to force the republican nomination to adopt a plank favorable to ratify reciprocity. This committee is avowedly non-partisan, but significantly enough most of its leading members are republicans. A statement was issued warning the voters that action hostile to reciprocity is to be expected from the state machine. Petitions are in circulation for the purpose of compelling the blind instrument of unscrupulous and selfish leaders. "In the hands of the ignorant and depraved the ballot is a public peril. In the hands of the intelligent and virtuous it is the safeguard of the people's constitutions. The democratic party of Maryland appeals to the whole electorate to defend the honor, the integrity and the peace of this proud commonwealth. "Opposed to Senator Gorman, the independents of Baltimore—men of both political parties. They regard the measure as entirely too sweeping and as reposing power in a registration and election board that might not understand and give to the negro voters that action hostile to their interests. MILLIONS OF MISCHIEF

By HEADON HILL

Two of the Nighthade's foreign cutthroats were peering round the corner of the aft wheel house. They were armed with long knives, and were evidently on the point of attacking Herzog from the rear. As he turned at my scream they made their rush, but the moment's warning was enough for that ready hand and brain. Two shots from his revolver rang out in quick succession, and the treacherous ruffians fell, mortally wounded, one on top of the other. "Thank you," Miss Chilmark, I could wish for no smarter aid," said Herzog, whipping round and covering the bridge again. To my surprise there was another flash and report from his revolver, followed by a howl of rage and pain. "All right, Belcher, a flesh wound in the calf won't do you any harm," he shouted. "That is only a reminder not to play any more hanky-panky in the way of towing those beauties of yours overboard to scramble over the stern and steal a march on me. If it occurs again I shall make it a capital offense for you as well as for them, and shoot to kill you."

With that he slipped three fresh cartridges into the smoking cylinder and turned his broad smiling face on me. "I am taming him by degrees," he chuckled. "I don't fear that I shall have to alter my plans and take the risk of going ashore at Totland with you. A voyage to Barcelona, under the strained conditions existing between our good Belcher and myself, would not be a pleasure trip."

"But," said I, "if Arthur has been recaptured, and has told his story, mentioning you as 'Doctor Barrabbes,' you would be recognized as his late companion and arrested, would you not?" "That, my dear young lady, is the risk that I must run," replied Herzog, cheerfully. "I regard it as a lesser one than traveling to Spain with the truculent gentleman who is now binding up his leg on the bridge, and who would certainly murder me unless I could do without a stilet for ten days. We should be off Totland in an hour now, and do not believe have used place and power for their own ends." "That was the first and last of Herzog's confidences to me, but it is perhaps sufficient to explain why I refuse to regard him as the human monster whom Arthur has portrayed in the earlier pages of his narrative. For the sake of the strenuous aid he rendered me I try to persuade myself that he went into the affair of Lord Alphonso because he guessed that his employers had made an initial blunder in assuming Arthur's guilt, and that instead of assassination, he might be able to forge from it a weapon for his own emancipation. "All this time the gale had been increasing, but it was not till we had passed Yarmouth and come into the straight stretch ending in the Needles and the open sea that we felt its full force. And once through the narrow gulch, where Cliff End on the Wight and Hurst castle on the mainland jut out toward each other, the seas were running high. A minute later I was drenched to the skin by a shower of spray, and Herzog voiced the fear that had already seized me. He pointed to Totland pier, foam-besieged and deserted, across a mile of angry water. Away to the right, the dreaded Shingle Bank, the breakers were leaping with thunderous roar.

"I am afraid we are done," he said. "A boat would scarcely live in that sea, even if my pistol could induce a brace of these ruffians to man it." "You must induce them; I am not afraid to go in a boat," I cried desperately, for the sight of the little timbered village on the cliffs, round which all my hopes and fears centered, maddened me. I could pick out quite clearly the vacant house in which Arthur had sought refuge. In my agitation I had stepped out beyond the shelter of the deck-house and joined Herzog on the sloping deck, clutching his arm to save myself from falling. I had not seen Belcher for hours, but now as I looked up at the bridge he turned his evil face aft to us and shouted maliciously: "How about going ashore now? You'll have to shoot the whole crew, or I'll never get 'em to lower a boat in this sea."

Every member of the last legislature is to some extent to blame for the omissions and twiggings and other blemishes in the transcribing of bills, where by several important laws have been rendered invalid. The next set that goes to Austin ought to be under bond to allow no more of this kind to be done.—Benton Journal-Reporter.

The legislature as a whole has to answer for the misdeeds of its membership. Old Dog Tray was the best canine in the country, but unfortunately for his reputation, he was caught in mighty bad company.

The farmer who owns a pasture in the Brownwood country can feed his stock the best hay without having to cut it. This curly mesquite is fine dry feed in winter, and the winter rains and winds are seldom enough to rot it or blow it away. There is no grass more nutritious, and all stock love it. It is seldom that the winters are so severe except in the highlands as in the pastures working like beavers. The crop seems to be fairly good and prospects better than at first presumed. The conditions of the market cannot be ascertained until the first of December, but the prices for the first crop have been delivered as probably no one here has received quotations on the market conditions.—San Angelo Standard.

The Texas pecan crop is reported short in many localities, as a result of the dry summer, but there will probably be a better yield over the state as a whole than was generally expected.

The Collin county tax rolls have just been completed by County Tax Assessor J. W. McElwain and his efficient deputies, W. G. Barnes, W. B. Walden, Hugh Pierce and Robert West. The rolls show an increase of $1,859,660 as compared with last year, the largest increase ever shown over a preceding year.—McKinney Gazette.

And Collin county is located in the north Texas black land belt, where the San Antonio Express says tax-dodging is as common as pig tracks in Arkansas.

A businesslike administration at Austin, a legislature made up of the best men in the state and an assurance to the whole world that Texas stands for a square deal for every interest and you would not be able to see Texas for the dust.—Denison Herald.

The people of Texas will make no mistake in sending their best men to the state legislature next year. It is a movement that should receive a hearty support all over Texas, from the fact that it means much for the state. Call out the best.

With the movement in McLennan county to bring out George Clark and Walter Baker as candidates for the legislature, and similar movements in Smith to bring out Cone Johnson, in Bell to bring out George C. Pendleton, and in Tarrant to bring out R. M. Wynne, the elder statesmen movement starts out well. A number of the papers of the state have commenced the plan and the Post feels sure that the more the people think about it, the stronger the plan will appeal to them.—Houston Post.

The plan is appealing to the people of all Texas with much force, and they are proceeding to call out the elderly gents with neatness and dispatch.

Neither Judge Brooks nor Commissioner Colquitt will "let go all holts." Each would like to be governor, but neither will voluntarily quit the salary list. No matter what the result, each can smile and be a pie-eater still.—Waco Times-Herald.

Such a thing as a candidate resigning a state office for the purpose of making a campaign for another state office is unheard of in Texas. While such a procedure would be eminently proper, custom has legalized the other procedure, and Brooks and Colquitt are only following custom in holding on to the bird in the hand.

Verses That Ring

SONG OF THE MYSTIC

By Father Ryan. I walk down the valley of Silence— Down the dim, voiceless valley— And I hear not the fall of a footstep— Around me, save God's and my own; And the hush of my heart is as holy— As hovers where angels have flown!

Long ago was I weary of voices— Whose music my heart could not win; Long ago was I weary of noises— That fretted my soul with their din; Long ago was I weary of places— Where I met but the human—and sin.

I walked in the world with the worldly, I craved what the world never gave; And I said: "In the world each ideal, That shined like a star on life's wave, Is wrecked on the shores of the real, And sleeps like a dream in a grave."

And still I pine for the Perfect, And still I long for the False with the True; I sought 'mid the hums of Heaven, But caught a mere glimpse of its blue; And I wept when the clouds of the Mortal Veiled even that glimpse from my view.

And I toiled on, heart-tired of the Human, And moaned 'mid the mazes of men, Till I knelt, long ago, at an altar And heard a voice call me. Since then I walk down the Valley of Silence— That lies far behind mortal ken.

Do you ask how I found in the Valley? 'Tis my trusting place with the Divine, And I fell at the feet of the Holy, And heard his voice say: "Be Mine," And there arose from the depths of my spirit An echo—"My heart shall be thine."

Do you ask how I live in the Valley? I weep—and I dream—and I pray, But my tears are as sweet as the dew-drops— That fall on the roses in May; And my prayer, like a perfume from censers, Ascendeth to God night and day.

In the hush of the Valley of Silence I dream all the songs that I sing; And the music floats down the dim Valley, "Till each finds a word for a wing, That to hearts, like the Dove of the Deluge, A message of peace they may bring.

But far on the deep there are billows That never shall be hallowed by men; And I have heard songs in the Silence That never shall float into speech; And I have had dreams in the Valley Too lofty for language to reach.

And I have seen Thoughts in the Valley— Ah! me, how my spirit was stirred! And they wear holy veils on their faces, Their footsteps can hardly be heard; They pass through the Valley like virgins, Too pure for the touch of a word.

Do you ask me the place of the Valley, Ye hearts that are hallowed by care? It hath a nest between mountains, And God and His angels are there; And one is the dark mount of Sorrow, And one the bright mountain of Prayer.

MEDICAL STUDENTS STRENGTHEN TEAM

Prospects for Winning Eleven at Fort Worth University Materially Increased

Football prospects of Fort Worth University took on a more favorable aspect yesterday because of the opening of the Medical College. Although there were none of the new students in uniform yesterday, there were several on hand, looking on, who signified an intention to come out and try for the team. Practice for the team has been going on steadily every afternoon, although the lack of a heavier second team to line up against is felt. The practice yesterday consisted of a long drill, signal practice and a shorter practice in kicking off to the second team, which affords practice in getting down the field. The university is fortunate this year in having a number of excellent players to form a nucleus for the team. Chief among these is Captain Mills, who also acts as coach. Mills is a fine player and can, if necessary, fill almost any position. Among the other men back are Sawson, a guard and tackle of last year, now playing center; Peyton, fullback, and Charlemagne, a halfback. Hobbs, who played with the team several years ago, has returned and will likely be found at his old position at end. Smith and Kimball, substitute tackle and guard of last year, are back and have increased in weight. Among the medical students on the campus yesterday were Kopecke, the famous tackle of last year, and Serber, who comes from Austin College, where he played a fine game at end ago. The first game of the season will be played next Monday afternoon, with Daniel Baker College, on the university campus at 4:30 o'clock. The second university and the second high school teams line up on the university campus this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The second university team is composed of the following players: Ward, right end; Lassen, right tackle; Pittman, right guard; Horn, center; Kilgore, left guard; Scarborough, left tackle; Tandy, left end; Woodruff, quarterback; Burrell, right half; Fortwood, left half; Moore, fullback.

OLD LANDMARKS TO BE PRESERVED

Trees of Arnold's Fort Occupy Site of the Proposed Market House

The building of the Fort Worth market house, which will be carried out in accordance to the proposition as accepted by the city council from the Fort Worth Market House Company at Monday night's session of the council, is not likely to cause the removal of the live oak trees that are located on the ground to be occupied by the market house and farmers' square and that are the last existing landmarks of the beginning of this city in the founding of Fort Worth by Major Arnold in the fall of 1849. The market house will be so arranged that the trees are in the farmers' square adjoining. The trees are large and healthy and it is estimated today that they are approximately eighty years of age. When the fort was established the officers' quarters were on the south side of what is now known as Bolknap street and the stables were on the other side at the top of the bluff. In the spring of 1849, Adolph Gounah furnished the timber which was used for the building of Fort Worth's officers' quarters, stables and outhouses. A land survey in North Fort Worth bears the name of Gounah, according to C. C. Cummings of this city. In this connection it is learned that there is at present on file in the United States war department a claim for the timber used in the construction of the fort. This claim has never been paid by the government and is still due to the heirs of the Gounah estate, some of whom are residents of the city today. About Fort Worth there were no fortifications, although situated as it was at the top of the bluff. It was in a natural state of defense, which was probably better than much of the fortifications that were used in that day. The fall of 1853 Major Arnold moved from Fort Worth to Fort Graham, in Hill county, where he was killed shortly afterward in a personal difficulty resulting from a game of cards. The major was brought back to Fort Worth and buried at the side of his child, who had died here. The surgeon was tried by civil authorities and, after lengthy and troublesome fights in the courts, was acquitted of the charge. In the graveyard where are buried Major Arnold and his child, three soldiers had been interred previously, the spot of burial being marked today by a large stone slab in the southeast corner of what is called the old cemetery. There was a battalion of two companies under the command of Major Arnold and of the soldiers the only survivor living in Tarrant county is Colonel A. B. Harris, who is the oldest settler in the county today. The drill grounds of the fort were in the square at present occupied by the Tarrant county court house and grounds. The officers' quarters were on the spot at present occupied by the two-story brick house standing at the corner of Houston and Polknap street. residents of the city today. About Fort Worth there were no fortifications, although situated as it was at the top of the bluff. It was in a natural state of defense, which was probably better than much of the fortifications that were used in that day. The fall of 1853 Major Arnold moved from Fort Worth to Fort Graham, in Hill county, where he was killed shortly afterward in a personal difficulty resulting from a game of cards. The major was brought back to Fort Worth and buried at the side of his child, who had died here. The surgeon was tried by civil authorities and, after lengthy and troublesome fights in the courts, was acquitted of the charge. In the graveyard where are buried Major Arnold and his child, three soldiers had been interred previously, the spot of burial being marked today by a large stone slab in the southeast corner of what is called the old cemetery. There was a battalion of two companies under the command of Major Arnold and of the soldiers the only survivor living in Tarrant county is Colonel A. B. Harris, who is the oldest settler in the county today. The drill grounds of the fort were in the square at present occupied by the Tarrant county court house and grounds. MINISTERS DRANK IN PIONEER DAYS

Use of Liquor Declared Common in Early Days, at Temperance Meeting
That it was no uncommon thing for ministers of the gospel to indulge in intoxicating drinks a few years ago was the statement made by Dr. H. A. Boaz, president of Polytechnic College, in addressing the temperance rally held Tuesday night at Broadway Presbyterian church. Sentiment since that time, he declared, has so altered that now it is considered improper for a minister to touch liquor and to be seen in public. Dr. Boaz was followed by Dr. J. W. Caldwell of the Taylor Street Cumberland Presbyterian church and Dr. William Caldwell of the First Presbyterian church, who both discussed the advance made by the temperance movement. Dr. Johnson spoke in the place of Rev. R. R. Hamlin, discussing the duty of a minister to abstain from liquor. A number of solos were sung during the evening by Mrs. Minnie Smith and Miss Frieda Downing.

SHOUTED UP

In England They Politely Refer to the Stomach as "Little Mary."
"I try faithfully, but there's no use. I can digest part of it and the balance sour and I simply have to push it along to the liver. He says he's badly overworked now and gets so weak he almost collapses, so he sends the sour mass on down into the intestines to be digested and trouble of all kinds." We can't help it, and you must either select your food with better reason or stand more and more trouble down here. Suppose you try us on some cooked or raw fruit, a little Grape-Nuts and cream, two soft-boiled (not fried) eggs, some well-browned toast and a cup of Postum. Liver and I will guarantee to make you feel like being elected a hearty and well man if you will send those things down to us. There's a reason, but never mind that, try it first and when you find we know what we are talking about, we will be only too glad to accept of passage, and be become angry because he was asked to pay full

FATHER'S ONLY WISH IS DENIED BY DEATH

Aged Street Vendor Fails to See Children, Adopted by Others
Twice baffled by illness and poverty in his desire to see his two young sons, from whom he was separated ten years ago, J. W. Garrett, 65 years old, who has been a familiar figure as a street vendor in Fort Worth for many years, has died without realizing his only wish—that of again meeting his children and bidding them good-bye before his last hours.
Garrett died Thursday from hemorrhage of the lungs.
The story of J. W. Garrett, who has been running a peanut stand, which has been located alternately at the Texas and Pacific station and at Fourteenth and Main streets, is a sad one.
He had two sons, Joseph and David, who were given into the charge of a Benevolent Home about ten years ago, and then were bound out from there five years ago. About two years ago Garrett was very ill with pneumonia and at that time, thinking he was about to die, wished to see his boys, but it was thought that the time was too short, and they did not come to his bedside. He recovered from that illness and has been struggling ever since to make a trip to the homes of the boys to see them, but has never been able to get away. His last illness terminated so suddenly that he had not time to even ask that they be brought here.
Rev. I. Z. T. Morris, when seen this morning, said that the boys were bound out, one in Collins county and the other in Tarrant county, and that there had not been any objection to the father seeing them at all, but that he was too poor to go to their homes. The children were placed in the Benevolent Home and with his consent given homes. The father had always intended to go.
The funeral was conducted by the Salvation Army this morning. Interment was made in Oakwood Cemetery.

COTTON PICKERS ARE MOVING NORTH

Hundreds of laborers are being shipped out from this city over the different roads to points in the Panhandle along the Denver road and to Oklahoma along the Rock Island.
On an average 100 men leave here daily for the cotton fields in these sections of the country.
The Denver train Tuesday night carried fifty-five men to Vernon and Electra. The movement up the Denver Road to different points south from Clarendon has been very large and there are still hundreds of pickers to move to these places.
Railroad officials say that at least 2,000 pickers were needed in the Panhandle alone, and possibly as many more are wanted in the territory cotton fields.
There is some complaint of the charges being made by employment agencies. The men, it is said, are being charged $1 to $1.50 each for positions to pick cotton, and when they board the trains and show their certificates from the agency expecting that it is for their transportation, are told that fare must be paid. Some twenty or thirty were turned down when they boarded the train Tuesday.

TAX PAYMENTS MAKE RECORD

Receipts for First Two Hours This Morning Reached $9,000—Citizens Respond Promptly
Nine thousand dollars in taxes paid in the first two hours, during which in the office of the city assessor and collector was open this morning establishes a record for the city. Total taxes paid upon the first day was $2,400.
City Assessor and Collector Glyvin in discussing the heavy payments this morning expressed much pleasure, saying the response of citizens was unprecedented.
Prosperous conditions existing in the city at the present time are held to be largely responsible for the quick payments, showing a large amount of ready cash on hand.
No further protests have been filed regarding the valuations as filed by the board of equalizers.

RHEUMATISM AN INSIDIOUS DISEASE THAT BREAKS DOWN THE STRONGEST

Rheumatism does not come on in a day; it causes that produce it work silently in the system for years. This insidious disease becomes entrenched in the blood, and some exposure to cold or damp weather, or slight indiscretion brings on an attack. Poor digestion, stomach troubles, weak kidneys, torpid liver, and a general sluggish condition of the system are responsible for Rheumatism. Food souring in the stomach poisons the blood, the failure of the kidneys and liver to act properly leaves waste matter and impurities in the system, which, coming in contact with the natural acids of the body, form uric acid. This is absorbed by the blood, and as it penetrates to the muscles, nerves and bones produces the terrible pains and aches and other disagreeable symptoms of Rheumatism. Life is made a torture by its excruciating pains, nerves are shattered, the health undermined, and if the disease is not checked it breaks down the strongest constitution. It will not do to depend on plasters, liniments, etc.; such treatment is helpful in easing the pain and reducing the inflammation, but does not reach the blood where the real trouble is located. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism by purifying and invigorating the thin, acid blood, driving out all impurities and poisons and sending a stream of strong, rich blood to wash out all irritating particles that are causing the pain and inflammation. S. S. S. stimulates the sluggish organs to better action, tones up the stomach and digestion, restores nervous energy and builds up the entire health. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, whether acute or chronic, and the cure is thorough and lasting. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice desired without charge.

OF INTEREST TO THE CATTLEMEN

BIG STEERS SCARCE

E. P. Nance of Kyle, one of the best known cattlemen of Hayes county, was in Fort Worth Tuesday, and in good spirits, reporting his range and cattle to be in fine condition, but reports a great scarcity of young steers. He says that if present prospects of feed and water hold out that they will have no trouble in wintering their stock. Mr. Nance is watching the market here for stockers, for which he expects to have to pay a high price. He says that there is very little trading being done in his vicinity, but is well pleased with the prices both here and in Chicago. Mr. Nance recently shipped a car of first-class butcher cattle to this market and was well pleased with the price they brought. He reports a big demand for steers, three and four-year-olds, but that there is none on hand to supply the demand.

BROUGHT ARKANSAW JERSEYS

Frank Lindsay, from Addington, I. T., a man well known in the cattlemen's circles of the territories, arrived here Tuesday morning with a shipment of cattle which he bought and started from eastern Arkansas, Sunday night. With the shipment he had two cars of two-year-old heifers, weighing an average of 250 pounds, which he unloaded to a market of $175. They were, however, very poor stuff, being very near all Jerseys. Mr. Lindsay reports his ranches, of which he has three, to be in excellent condition, and that the present prospects for winter's feed and water are very encouraging, as there is plenty of milo maize, sorghum and kafir corn, and that spring wheat harvested from seventeen to twenty-one bushels.

MIDLAND COUNTY CATTLE

Thomas Voliva, a leading cattlemen of Midland county, was here Tuesday, and reports his range to be in better condition than it has ever been before, and that his cattle are also in excellent shape, and that the calf crop is bigger, in both number and quality than it has been in several years. Messrs. Garrett & Voliva recently bought from Fred Cowden 1,500 head of calves (heifers and steers), weighing 200 to 450 pounds, for which they paid $10 per head. Mr. Voliva bought from J. T. McElroy 1,500 head of heifer calves, paying for them $8 per head. He now has a shipment of sixteen cars on the road, which, on account of a wash-out was necessary to unload at Big Springs. Mr. Voliva says that he may possibly ship to northern markets, as there is a big demand in the corn belt states for highest class Texas range-bred steers.

ARCHER COUNTY CONDITIONS

C. W. Morgan, foreman of L. F. Wilson's "66" ranch at Holiday, Archer county, was here Tuesday watching the market for stockers for which he expects to have to pay from 20c to 2 1/2c. Mr. Morgan reports his ranch to be in excellent condition, and is well pleased with the condition of all the cattle in his vicinity. He says the calf crop is as good as it was last year. He also reports good prospects for feed and water and expects to winter without any serious loss.

Mr. Morgan says there is very much trading being done in his country, either in land or cattle, but that prices for both are satisfactory, and that the cattlemen in his immediate neighborhood are well pleased with the outlook. He reports a good crop of sorghum and other forage plants.

THE CALF MARKET

The National Live Stock Commission Company Tuesday received a shipment of seven cars of calves from West Texas, which it expects to market here at a good profit. They report a much larger calf crop this year than last year and prices much better, and that they cannot supply the demand for light veals, while the market is overflowing with heavies, and they are afraid that the West Texas cattlemen are holding their shipments too long for the best prices, as very few are willing to make a round-up for the veals. They advise that from reports there has been more calves marketed here this year than at any other market.

TERRITORY LIGHTLY STOCKED

R. J. Godfrey, a prominent cattlemen from Addington, was in this city Tuesday, having just returned from accompanying a shipment of 2,000 head of cattle to the St. Louis market, where he was very much disappointed by the market prices. Mr. Godfrey says that his range, which is near Menard, is in a fair condition, and that the cattle are doing nicely if it were not for ticks, which are bothering them to some extent, but that if they do not get some rain soon that his stock will suffer.

KENTUCKY LEAF CAUSE OF STRUGGLE

Farmers in Blue Grass State Are Emulating Cotton Growers in Holding Fast to Crop

Charles T. Bell of this city today received a letter from E. L. Rust, one of the largest tobacco raisers in Todd county, Kentucky, in which he says that there is little chance of this year's crop of tobacco being sold to advantage, as the tobacco trust insists on pressing down the price on the East side. The farmers, he says, who are the leading raisers of tobacco in seven counties of Kentucky, continue to hold their crop of this season, as well as much of the crop of 1904. "We cannot find buyers at satisfactory prices," says Mr. Rust, "and as a result some of the farmers are feeling in bad spirits. He says that there is some talk that there will be a break in the ranks of the farmers and the situation may be materially changed in the near future.

LADIES' HOME DOCTOR.

Straight Talk to Women.

If Men Had to Be Mothers

Alternately With Women, There Would Never Be More Than THREE Children in a Family—Why?

It's a sad fact, that thousands of weak women suffer terrible tortures with every child they bear. No pain that is known will compare with that suffered by these poor women.

Men could never endure such terrible agony. It has been said that if they had to be mothers, alternately with their wives, the woman might have the first child, the husband the second, the wife the third—and then there would never be any more.

But, as we have stated, it is the WEAK woman who suffers such fearful pains at childbirth. Perfectly sexed, strong, healthy women, don't. The Indian mother, on the trail, stops for an hour or so by a river or creek, and then starts on with the new papoose on her back, to catch up with the rest of the tribe, which has not even delayed its march to wait her.

It is possible for you to build up your female organs, functions and constitution, to such a state of vital, hearty health, that the Crown of Womanhood will come to you, without its Cross or Thorns.

To accomplish this, by natural methods, treat yourself with Wine of Cardui, the scientific, specific, health tonic, for women.

Cardui, a pure extract of medicinal herbs, exerts a natural, restorative action, on the weak female functions, regulates all irregularities, relieves periodical pain, restores falling womb, by strengthening the womb muscles, and revitalizes the entire female constitution.

In 70 years it has relieved the sufferings of over a million women. Wine of Cardui is for sale at all drug stores in $1.00 bottles, with full directions for use.

Try it.

For special directions, write us frankly, in full confidence, stating age and telling what is wrong, and we will send valuable free advice, in plain, sealed envelope. Address: Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

R. E. Best of Dallas, Texas, passed through the city Tuesday night, en route to his home in that city, after a week's visit to Greenwood, Wise county, where he has farming interests.

"The gin at Greenwood has handled 400 bales of cotton to date," said Mr. Best, "and I think I never saw cotton in such fine condition during the past eight years. The whole county appears to be blooming with it and prosperity will be the portion of the farmers of that section this fall.

"There is only one crop that troubles the most of them, and that is wheat. It is not that the crop has been a failure, for the county has a reputation of producing a high grade of grain, but the price is fearfully small this year. My place produced a fair quality of wheat, better than the majority of surrounding lands, while formerly I could sell at a price which would afford room for a good profit, after all expenses were paid, this year they tell me that I will do well to get 50 cents a bushel for it.

"Rain has been heavy throughout the county and the outlook for a fine wheat crop next year is very flattering, if present conditions count for anything."

Church Announcement

The Rev. Bishop Garrett will preach next Sunday morning at Trinity church, Pennsylvania avenue and Hemphill street. Last Sunday, the fifth anniversary of the consecration of the church, inauguration of the vested choir and opening of the Trinity Guild Hall not having been duly announced an account of the rector's indisposition, the commemoration of the three-fold event will be finished next Sunday, it being the Sunday within the Octave.

BIG SHOW COSTS $50 A MINUTE

What It Means for the Modern Arabs to Fold Their Tents Daily

Barnum & Bailey's No. 3 advertising car was in the city today and a small army of bill posters and lithographers was busy re-covering the bill boards and brightening up the gaily-colored circus paper in the store windows. This will be the last advertising car to visit the city before the coming of the big show, Wednesday, Oct. 11.

According to W. D. Coxy, one of the agents of the show, who called at this office this morning, the Barnum & Bailey circus will prove a revelation to local show-goers.

"There are many interesting features of the big show, however," said Mr. Coxy, "that the public never sees. The paradiamalia is impressive in its magnitude, and the performance sends the crowd away filled with wonderment. This will be the last advertising car to visit the city before the coming of the big show, Wednesday, Oct. 11.

"The Barnum & Bailey show employs the services of nearly eleven hundred men and women. It requires eighty-eight cars to transport it from city to city; its staff of agents embraces a dozen men who are paid salaries equal to those received by a bank president; it has four advertising cars, and nearly a hundred men engaged in posting the bills and spreading the tidings of its coming; it spends a quarter of a million dollars every year for printing; its newspaper bills aggregate another hundred thousand dollars; it maintains a press bureau with five newspaper men to keep in touch with the public through the press; it employs over 200 high-salaried performers; it maintains a spectacle at an average expense of $1,000 a day; it comes into town at daybreak, puts up twelve acres

LIVE STOCK SHOW MADE PERMANENT

Annual Display Allied with National Associations

HOME INDUSTRY URGED

Col. Wynne Discusses Matter at Enthusiastic Board of Trade Meeting

As a result of action taken at a meeting of Board of Trade members and citizens generally Tuesday night the fat stock show was placed on permanent basis and will be chartered under the name of "National Breeders and Fort Worth Fat Stock Show Association."

A petition was also called to the high rate of commercial interest charged by Fort Worth banks and the importance of patronizing home enterprises and home business firms and also the imperative need of harder work to build up Fort Worth.

Secretary B. B. Paddock was requested to announce the object of the meeting. He read a report on the collections and disbursements, showing there was a total expenditure for both the fat stock show and the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association of $7,014.50, $2,989.76 of which was used for the cattlemen's convention. Captain Paddock thought it opportune to take up the matter at once in order that details may be arranged in ample time.

"As we have no cattle convention next year, the fat stock show will stand on its own merits," said Captain Paddock. "It will develop whether the fat stock show is self-sustaining. It is deemed best by some that an admission fee be charged. Yard Display Charges.

Captain Paddock said there had been some discussion as to the charges made by the Fort Worth Stock Yards Company in handling display cattle. He submitted a list of comparative charges made by various cities, showing that Fort Worth yards charged less than any other yard. The charges made for the six days are: Fort Worth, $2.75; Chicago, $3.05; St. Louis, $4.67; Kansas City, $4.75; St. Joseph, $2.75.

Homer Judd said there was no question but that Fort Worth wants the fat stock show, and he moved that it be the sense that one be held in the spring.

Admission Fee. Captain Paddock asked that the motion be amended so as to provide that exhibitors be charged a entry fee and spectators be made to pay admission to the show.

Stuart Harrison wanted that part of the amendment referring to a charge for entries cut out, from the fact that it costs considerably more to make exhibits in Fort Worth than at San Antonio and Chicago in the state. He favored an admission fee.

Stirling Clark opposed the system of charging an entry fee; he thought it would keep away certain exhibitors and injure the show.

J. B. Burnside thought there should be no entry charge—that it would have a tendency to reduce the number of entries to the show.

Dr. Greene thought it inappropriate to change the system at this time. He thought an entry fee would lessen the number of cattle which would in turn diminish the interest.

No Entry Fee. Stuart Harrison moved a substitute for the amendment that no entrance fee be charged. The substitute prevailed.

Captain Paddock moved that an executive committee of nine be named to take care of the fat stock show, to organize and carry it through. President Bomar will appoint the committee.

New Board Members. The matter of enlarging the Board of Trade membership was brought up by Captain Paddock, who urged volunteers to be named to fill the vacant positions. Those who agreed to go into the field are: Jacob Washer, W. T. Ladd, H. A. Judd, Sam Davidson, J. B. Burnside, E. H. Saxe, J. W. Carter, J. B. Simpson and Dr. Greene.

Permanent Organization. Homer Judd wanted the fat stock show made a permanent association, as it would put the show on a more substantial basis and give it a stronger prestige with the similar national associations.

Stirling Clark moved that the local association be known hereafter as the National Breeders and Fort Worth Fat Stock Show Association. This motion prevailed.

H. L. Lassiter moved that a committee of five be appointed by the Board of Trade to perfect the new organization. The committee will be appointed at once.

Wynne on Home Industry. Colonel R. M. Wynne was asked to make a few remarks. He said he came on to hear and talk, but as long as he had been asked to speak he would offer a few suggestions. One was the importance of patronizing home merchants and home enterprises. This, he said, had been sadly neglected by Fort Worth people. He said that while he was ashamed to say it, one merchant alone in Dallas told him that he got $100,000 annually out of Fort Worth.

STRANGER THAN FICTION

A Remedy Which Has Revolutionized the Treatment of Stomach Troubles

The remedy is not heralded as a wonderful discovery nor yet a secret patent medicine, neither is it claimed to cure anything except dyspepsia, indigestion and stomach troubles with which nine out of ten suffer.

The remedy is in the form of pleasant tasting tablets or lozenges, containing vegetable and fruit essences, pure aseptic pepsin (government test), golden seal and diastase. The tablets are sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Many interesting experiments to test the digestive power of the active principle contained in them is sufficient to thoroughly digest 30 grains of raw meat, eggs and other wholesome food.

Stuart's Tablets do not act upon the bowels like after dinner pills and cheap cathartics, which simply irritate and inflame the intestines without having any effect whatever in digesting food or curing indigestion.

If the stomach can be rested and assisted in the work of digestion it will very soon recover its normal vigor, and no organ is so much abused and over-worked as the stomach.

This is the secret, if there is any secret, of the remarkable success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, a remedy practically unknown a few years ago and now the most widely known of any treatment for stomach weakness.

This success has been secured entirely upon its merits as a digestive, pure and simple, because there can be no stomach trouble if the food is promptly digested.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act entirely upon the food eaten, digesting it completely, so that it can be assimilated into blood, nerve and tissue. They cure dyspepsia and bloating after meals, because they furnish the digestive power which weak stomachs lack and unless that lack is supplied it is useless to attempt to cure by the use of "tonics," "pills" and cathartics which have absolutely no digestive power.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be found at all drug stores and the regular use of one or two of them after meals will demonstrate their merit better than any other argument.

POOR LO BECOMES RICH

The little tribe of Quapaw Indians is destined to be the richest in the world. About two years ago an adopted member of the tribe was digging a well in the Quapaw nation about four miles south of Baxter Springs, Kansas, when he struck what proved to be a rich body of "Jack," or zinc ore. This was quickly developed, and over this well now stands a large concentrating plant producing weekly 120,000 pounds of zinc and 4,000 pounds of pure lead.
