CITY TO HAVE NEW PACKING HOUSE

Dallas Man Will Establish Plant Soon

WILL EMPLOY 200 MEN

Option on Ground Near Stockyards Secured—Deal Nearing Completion

Plans are being completed whereby a new $100,000 packing house will be added to the industries already in North Fort Worth. It is expected that within six weeks the work on the plant will be started. The plant will be built by a prominent Dallas butcher, who will close up his Dallas plant and locate his entire business in Fort Worth. The negotiations for the ground which is to be occupied by the new house are not yet completed, but they will be within a few days. The Dallas man now has an option on the ground and has practically assured the owner that he will buy. The ground is situated near the present packing houses and on the river.

The present Dallas house is engaged in the wholesale and retail butchering business. Most of its products are shipped to Chicago. The owner plans to come to Fort Worth and engage in the wholesale business entirely and ship all his products from this city north. The retail business will be dropped entirely. The Fort Worth plant will be five times as large as the Dallas plant, which now kills from fifty to one hundred head a week. The plant when running full force will employ from 150 to 200 men.

By coming to Fort Worth the owner of the plant will save the $20 a car that it costs him to ship his cattle from here to Dallas. He is at present buying all his cattle here.

The owner of the plant originally came from Chicago and has been in Dallas for about a half dozen years and now finds Fort Worth to be a more favorable place for his line of business.

CROWD OF 25,000 AT CHARLOTTE, N. C.

President Meets Widow of General Stonewall Jackson and Makes Short Address

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 20.—The President's train arrived at 7:10 o'clock last night on schedule time and during the short shay here he had from 25,000 people the most enthusiastic reception accorded him since entering the borders of the state.

Through brilliantly lighted streets he was hastened in a motor car four blocks to Vance Park, where he spoke a few minutes. The crowd was so great that fully 10,000 people were denied the privilege of hearing him. He created the wildest enthusiasm by referring to the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, who lives here, and William E. Shipp, the monument of whom he passed on the way to the park.

The feature of his stay here was his meeting with the widow of Stonewall Jackson, who lives in a stone's throw of the station, and she was present when the train pulled in, at the head of a committee of ladies appointed to receive Mrs. Roosevelt. When she was introduced by Mayor McNinch, the President took her hand and remained talking for fully five minutes.

"Mrs. Jackson, you don't know how glad I am to meet you, the widow of the great Stonewall Jackson. Why, it is worth the whole trip down here to shake your hand."

He referred to her grandson, Jackson Christian, whom he appointed to a cadetship at West Point.

"He is a mighty fine fellow, Mrs. Jackson, a mighty fine fellow, by Jove."

The citizens' committee stood in waiting while he escorted Mrs. Jackson to Mrs. Roosevelt and introduced her. While the President was speaking in the park, Mrs. Jackson entertained Mrs. Roosevelt at her home and a hundred Charlotte ladies helped to make her stay pleasant. After Mrs. Roosevelt had returned to the car she sent a handsome bouquet of American Beauty roses and a note to Mrs. Jackson.

$5 REWARD SPURNED

Was Offered for Package Supposedly Worth $50,000

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Cincinnati says:

"A reward of $5 for the return of a package of certified checks, notes and other commercial papers supposed to be worth $50,000 was spurned yesterday by Casper Schlei, a well-known business man, who acted in behalf of his 15-year-old son, Raymond, the finder of the package. Mr. Schlei said if the papers were valuable the reward should be more than $5. This sum was offered by John Peterson of Brandon, Minn., who claimed the papers, but did not clear up the mystery surrounding their recovery in a suburb of this city. They were said to have been lost in Virginia.

EXPERT'S FIGURES DECLARED GARBLED

Captain Oberlin Carter's Defense Alleges Figures on Which He Was Convicted Were Incorrect

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 20.—Charles McPherson, who is assistant general counsel for the Pere Marquette railroad, and an expert accountant, testified yesterday in the defense of former Captain Oberlin M. Carter, charged by the government with misappropriating nearly $3,000,000.

McPherson took up the figures of Special Bank Examiner Johnson, who prepared them for the court martial, and systematically attacked their authenticity.

Carter, in speaking of his defense, said:

"I was condemned on figures prepared by Johnson, which were faked and contorted in every respect. I hope to show by McPherson's testimony as an expert that such was the case. I have a number of such witnesses to put on the stand."

AUDITORIUM CIRCUS SPECIAL EDITION

The Sunday issue of The Telegram for Oct. 22 will be known as "The Auditorium Circus Edition." The particular object of this issue will be to help advertise the coming circus under the auspices of the committee working in behalf of the proposed auditorium in Fort Worth, to be given on the Texas and Pacific reservation on the night of Oct. 24 and the afternoon and night of Oct. 25. The committee has engaged the Campbell Bros. two-ring circus to assist in the performance and menagerie, and with local talent in a number of attractive and special features, and with local business men as "spielers" at the ticket wagon and gates, in front of the side shows and at the peanut and lemonade stands, a very creditable performance will be presented.

The Telegram has donated to the committee a special page advertisement for the circus to be printed in its issue of Oct. 22, and in order that this announcement may be read by those in the city and county who don't read The Telegram regularly, the issue of Oct. 22 will consist of at least 5,000 extra copies over and above the regular run. These will be sent as sample copies among non-subscribers to the paper in Fort Worth and in Tarrant county outside of the city, and will make the total number of copies circulated Sunday exceed 15,000.

Advertisers in Fort Worth are taking advantage of this special sample copy edition and regular edition combined for special advertising. Copy for this edition should be in the hands of the composing room of the paper as early Saturday morning as possible.

M'CURDY TELLS DEALS WITH TRUST COMPANIES

Two Became Very Prosperous After They Were Taken Up by Mutual Life

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Closing one of the most sensational and strenuous weeks of the investigation, the committee just before adjournment yesterday concluded the examination of Richard A. McCurdy with the exception of a few details he is to supply next week. Mr. McCurdy has been on the stand the greater part of the three days of this week's session, and some of his testimony has been the most startling of any that has been adduced before the committee. His testimony yesterday, however, was very much of a technical nature, though it was of much value to the committee in its work.

When he resumed the stand he took up his testimony as to the Mutual's connection with the trust companies, that was interrupted by adjournment Wednesday. The information furnished by Mr. McCurdy disclosed that the trust companies with which the Mutual Life was connected became very prosperous soon after they were taken up by the Mutual. Two cases in point were the Morristown Trust company of Morristown, N. Y., where the McCurdy family lives, and the United States Mortgage and Trust company.

The former is now controlled by the Mutual Life, and McCurdy testified that besides being a director of this trust company he is a large stockholder and would take more stock if he could get it.

The Mutual Life keeps a balance of not less than $200,000 with this company, on which it draws from 2 to 3 per cent. The latter rate has been paid only since Sept. 1.

Mr. McCurdy did not know the amount of the holdings of the other members of the family in this company.

In the syndicate operations, Mr. McCurdy said he participated not with the idea of drawing dividends, but to obtain his share of the commission allowed by bankers.

Didn't Remember Own Insurance

Mr. McCurdy was asked what life insurance he carried and he was unable to say at once, but James M. Beck, his counsel, presented a statement showing when the policies were taken out, for what amounts and plan. These aggregated $200,000, all in the Mutual. Mr. McCurdy testified that he was also insured in the Equitable, the Washington and the Connecticut Mutual. Before he left the stand Mr. McCurdy said he paid $4,500 for his apartment in the Grosvenor building, which is owned by the Mutual.

When Mr. McCurdy was excused, his son, Robert H. McCurdy, was called to explain some charges for traveling expenses in 1904. He said one of his duties as general manager was to visit the agencies about the country. Three such trips were made, the expense of which aggregated about $3,600. Mr. McCurdy said that while on one trip he was accompanied by his father, mother, wife and the latter's maid, but that the expense accounts were for himself individually and did not include those of any other member of his family or party. He had a private car on one of these trips. He could not tell why the expenses of these trips were so large, but said he would furnish the details later.

Mr. McCurdy was followed by W. W. Richards, controller of the Mutual, who explained the matter in which the Mutual acquired by foreclosures.

The committee adjourned until next Tuesday.

It was announced from the district attorney's office that no action would be taken regarding the George G. Plunkitt matter that was turned over to the district attorney Wednesday by the legislative committee that is investigating the insurance companies.

AMERICAN COMPANY AIDED REBELLION

President of Asphalt Concern Tells of Paying $130,000 to Support General Matos in Venezuela

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The payment of $130,000 by an American Asphalt company to support General Matos' revolution in Venezuela was testified yesterday by General Avery Andrews, vice president of the National Asphalt company. Mr. Andrews gave this testimony before United States Commissioner Gilchrist in the taking of evidence to be used to settle the suit of the Venezuelan government against the New York and Bermudez Asphalt company for $11,000,000 damages for the company's alleged participation in the revolution.

General Andrews said that the $130,000 had been furnished by the Asphalt Company of America, a subsidiary of the National company. He said that this money was really extorted; that it was paid to protect the property of the company and not in voluntary support of the revolution. He said that General Matos came to New York in the summer of 1901, and upon his representing that the company's property was in danger, they had paid first the $100,000 and later $30,000.

The witness told of an attempt made by the Castro government to seize the property of the company through the granting of pretended concessions to others in 1900.

"I WAS TEMPTED AND FELL," SAYS CUNLIFFE

Express Clerk Who Stole $100,000 Says He Couldn't Resist Opportunity

BRISTOL, Conn., Oct. 20.—Nearly $80,000 of the money stolen by George Edward Cunliffe Oct. 9 from the Adams Express Company in Pittsburg, was recovered last night at the home of Joseph W. Boardman, Cunliffe's brother-in-law.

For just a week the fortune had lain in an old suit case, unknown to Boardman, who was holding the valise expecting the owner would call for it any day. The exact sum found was $79,955.55. As the result of the statement made by Cunliffe in Bridgeport that he had sent $85,000 of the plunder to his brother-in-law, a representative of the Associated Press called at Boardman's house last night. Boardman, who is the agent of the Electric Express Company of Hartford, said that on Oct. 12 a dress suit case came to his house from Bridgeport and as there was no name on it he had placed it in a closet, thinking it was sent to him as an agent of an express company, to be called for later.

Bills Rolled Out

Chief Meims and Captain Belden of the police force were sent for, and in their presence the case was torn open. Huge bundles of money in the shape of bills tumbled out. Superintendent Curtis of the Adams Express Company's New England agency took the money to Hartford last night.

Cunliffe, who disappeared from Pittsburg, Pa., with $101,000 in cash, was arrested in Bridgeport, Conn., yesterday.

He made a confession and expressed his willingness to return at once to Pittsburg.

On his person when arrested the detectives found $290.

Detectives traced Cunliffe here. All the hotels were watched carefully, but Cunliffe was not arrested until late in the forenoon, when he was seen walking down Middle street. He made no attempt to deny his identity and offered no resistance.

Couldn't Stand Temptation

"Five minutes after I took that money I was sorry," said Cunliffe, "but it was too late to do anything. What can you expect from a man getting a salary of $65 a month and handling thousands of dollars a day? I was tempted and I fell. I have handled larger sums. I remember once we had $250,000 in cash. I was tempted then, but thought it over and decided to be honest.

"The night I left Pittsburg I rode in a sleeper on the way to New York and I stuck my head out of my berth and saw Slater pass by. Slater is our local manager in Pittsburg. I thought then that I would turn back, but knowing that he did not see me and that I had the money with me in cash, I thought I would take the chance. I want to go back to Pittsburg, restore the money and throw myself upon the mercy of the court."

TEN INDICTMENTS FOR FORMER BANK PRESIDENT

Grand Jury at Louisville, Ky. Finds Bills True Against W. B. Smith

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 20.—W. B. Smith, former president of the Western National bank of this city, was indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury on ten counts charging him with embezzlement, making false entries and the misappropriation of funds of the bank.

The total defalcation charged in the indictments is $198,103.92, divided as follows: False entries, $135,966.65; misappropriation, $12,044.27; embezzlement, $50,000.

Mr. Smith is said to be in Porto Rico and it is alleged a cablegram has been received from him saying he will return to Louisville on Oct. 29.

Smith went to New York from Louisville last week and was at the Fifth Avenue hotel. Last Saturday he wired President Jackson his resignation as a director of the Western national. Mr. Smith bought a controlling interest in the Western national two years ago and became its president but owing to the dissatisfaction of the directors over his administration he was forced to resign on July 10 last. He was succeeded by E. L. Jefferson, the present president of the bank.

Mr. Jefferson and the old members of the directorate asserted all their energies to hold the bank up, but on Aug. 21 the comptroller of the currency ordered it closed. The bank has since reopened under favorable conditions.

Smith is 32 years old. He came here from Paducah, where he was interested in several enterprises. At the age of 21 Smith was cashier of the Lewisburg Banking company at Lewisburg, Ky., and two years later held a similar position in Slaughterville, Ky.

In 1902 Smith helped to organize the Globe Bank and Trust company in Paducah and became its president. He remained in this position in Slaughterville, Ky., for two years, going to Louisville a year later.

While in Paducah Smith took a prominent part in church affairs and taught a class in the Broadway Methodist Sunday school. He owned an interest in the Ledger. He had also stock in the Jackson Whig, a newspaper published at Jackson, Tenn. He was formerly president of the People's Home Purchasing company of Paducah, which is now in the hands of a receiver, a fraud order having been issued against it by the government several months ago.

ROCKEFELLER-ROGERS GAS PROFITS DISCLOSED

Each Cleaned Up Over $3,500,000 in Boston Consolidation, According to Rogers' Testimony

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 20.—William Rockefeller, brother of the Standard Oil king, and H. H. Rogers, each cleaned up $3,565,500 in the Boston gas consolidation, according to the testimony of Mr. Rogers before Master in Chancery C. Austin Brown, which was made public yesterday.

This is the first time that William Rockefeller's part in the famous deal has been revealed. The testimony, which was taken secretly, resulted from the suit of George W. Pepper, receiver for the Bay State Gas Company of Delaware, the holding company in the gas deal.

Receiver Pepper alleged that Rogers received from the New England Gas and Coke Company $3,000,000 in addition to the amount stipulated by him for the sale of his interests in other gas companies.

Mr. Pepper held that this $3,000,000 belongs to the Bay State Gas Company of Delaware under a trust agreement.

Mr. Rogers gave a statement of his holdings of gas secured in November, 1897, and said he gave an option on these stocks and bonds to the Central Trust Company of New York, receiving a check for $8,063,102, bonds of the New England Gas and Coke Company to the face value of $1,000,000 and 4,000 shares of stock of the same company in payment.

At the same time a check for $6,000,000 was drawn to the Central Trust Company and a check of $2,063,102.44 drawn to William Rockefeller.

These entries are in Mr. Rogers' check book and not in the cash book, he said.

"Were these transactions carried on with funds furnished by William Rockefeller?" was asked.

"Mr. Rockefeller financed the transactions with others," responded Mr. Rogers.

B. & O. PRESIDENT ILL

Oscar Murray's Condition Reported Serious in Chicago

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 20.—Oscar G. Murray, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, is ill at the Auditorium Annex. He arrived in Chicago Wednesday afternoon, accompanied by Vice President George L. Potter, T. Fitzgerald and D. D. Carothers, chief engineer of the Baltimore and Ohio. Vice President George F. Randolph has arrived here to confer with his chief, but was unable to see him.

Statements differ somewhat as to Mr. Murray's condition, but his inability to see Mr. Randolph caused a rumor to spread that for some time Mr. Murray's health has not been the best and that he has been suffering from an old complaint. He is constantly attended by a masseur and a body servant.

GEORGIANS WARMLY GREET ROOSEVELT

Crowd of Strangers in Atlanta Estimated at 75,000—Gov. Terrell Welcomes President at Station—Speech Devoted to Railroad Regulation

ROSWELL, Ga., Oct. 20.—President Roosevelt today carried out a long cherished plan, visiting the home of his mother in Roswell. One of his reasons for coming south was that he might see the old homestead where his mother spent her girlhood and which she left a happy bride. That the visit was fraught with many tender recollections was evident and as the carriage drove away from the old Bulloch mansion, where the President's mother lived and was married, the President murmured to Mrs. Roosevelt: "I can hardly bear to leave here."

The President was joined here by Senator and Mrs. Clay, who were his guests at breakfast. He then entered a carriage and was driven to the mansion.

Here he was greeted by two old servants who lived on the place during his mother's young womanhood. One of these, "Mom Grace," acted as maid to Miss Martha Bulloch, who afterward became Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, and the other, William Jackson, who decorated the mansion on the occasion of the marriage of its young mistress. The President was deeply touched as he shook the hands of the old servitors. In company with Mrs. Roosevelt, he then inspected the house, calling attention of the company to many incidents connected with his mother's childhood. Before leaving the mansion he and Mrs. Roosevelt posed for their picture, which included "Mom Grace" and "Daddy William." From the homestead the President was driven to the town park, where a stand had been erected from which he delivered an address.

Arrived at 7:30 a. m.

After a night spent in passing through part of the "Tar Heel" country and traversing the state of South Carolina, the special train bearing the presidential party crossed the Georgia line near Toccoa early this morning and spent the succeeding hours wending its way through the heart of the Piedmont region. The route lay along the foothills of the eastern end of the Blue Ridge mountains, but it was too early for the members of the party to be up and appreciate its picturesque-ness. The train traveled slowly and ran on schedule time. The day's program for the President embraced stops at Roswell, Atlanta and Macon.

Here at Roswell, at one time the home of the President's mother, a small town that lies just off the main line of the Southern Railway, the President was scheduled to remain until 9:30 o'clock this morning.

Owing to the early hour of arrival, the presidential party did not leave the train until 8:30 o'clock, although due here at 7:30 a. m. This left an hour for the President to visit the old homestead.

The bulk of the day is to be spent at Atlanta, where the city is handsomely decorated and the strangers are expected to aggregate 75,000.

REACHES ATLANTA ON TIME

PIEDMONT PARK, Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 20.—The presidential train rolled into the terminal station exactly on time, and as it came into the city every steam whistle in the city blew a noisy welcome. Waiting on the station platform was the reception committee, headed by Governor Terrell, Senator Clay, Congressman Livingston, Mayor Woodward and Bishop C. K. Nelson.

To greet Mrs. Roosevelt was a small committee of ladies, led by Mrs. Terrell, wife of the governor, and Mrs. Clark Howell. Mrs. Roosevelt and her escort departed almost immediately for the governor's mansion, where she was greeted by a reception committee of about one hundred society ladies and witnessed a parade from that point of vantage. The line of march quickly formed and the President and his escorts started for Piedmont Park. The President reached the fair grounds at 11:20 o'clock and was greeted with deafening cheers.

The President was escorted to the fair grounds, at Piedmont Park, three miles from the terminal station, by two troops of the Twelfth United States cavalry, followed by citizens, detachments from the Seventeenth United States infantry and from several state militia organizations, together with a representation of organized labor.

At the fair grounds the President delivered an address immediately following the review of the parade. Luncheon and a general reception followed.

Mrs. Roosevelt will take the train for Washington this afternoon. The President is scheduled to leave Atlanta at 7 p. m., arrive at Macon at 10:05 p. m., spend five minutes there and proceed on the over-night trip to Jacksonville, Fla.

The President's address was largely devoted to railroad and corporate regulation by the government. He also referred to the cotton market of the south and the extent to which it was affected by the Chinese boycott, advocating the securing of an understanding with China whereby the danger to the cotton industry might be removed.

BLOWN OUT OF BEDS

Territory Family Has Narrow Escape in Storm

TULSA, I. T., Oct. 20.—The tornado that passed west of here Tuesday night wrought great havoc at the place of J. V. Leabo, near Le Roy, Okla. The house, barn and all outbuildings were demolished. The family had just retired for the night and the storm blew them out of bed and carried them for a distance of several feet, and all were injured. Mrs. Leabo was ill at the time and serious apprehension is entertained for her. Chickens which had been roosting in trees about the yard were found dead all over the farm. LeRoy was not in the direct path of the storm.

ROOSEVELT VISITS HOME OF MOTHER

Stops at Roswell, Ga., on Mission of Love

HOUSE WELL PRESERVED

Only Three Persons Living Who Attended Martha Bulloch's Wedding

Special Correspondence to The Telegram.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 20.—When Theodore Roosevelt today reaches Roswell, Ga., the girlhood home of his mother, he will find, with the exception of a new set of faces and a different order of living evolved from the abolition of slavery, things pretty much as his mother left them, a bride, 50 years ago. Bulloch Hall still stands, as it has stood for nearly seventy years, a monument to the founder, who, like all gentlemen of his day, built a home for the use of future generations.

It is at the first sharp turn that one sees, through an avenue of giant oaks, a great, white-columned house; this is the Bulloch home—the girlhood home of the mother of the President. The old homes are all in this section of the town, and form what is known as "the old colony." There is also Barrington Hall, the handsomest old country seat in North Georgia, the home of Mrs. Baker, who was pretty Evelyn King, now the only living bridesmaid to Martha Bulloch.

Saw the Wedding

There are three people now in Roswell, Ga., who were present at the wedding of the President's mother. These are Mrs. Baker, present mistress of Barrington Hall; William Jackson, the old sexton of the Presbyterian church, and Grace Robinson, better known as "Mom Grace."

William Jackson and Grace are old family servants. William is spry for his 79 years, and is by no means toothless or baldheaded. "Mom Grace" is younger, but looks older, having worn a dark hole through her teeth by years of pressure on a reed pipe stem. She may have some hair, but this is purely speculative, as a skin-tight bandana outlines the edge of the scalp.

"Mom Grace" was the maid, or body servant of Martha Bulloch ("Miss Mittie" she calls her), and helped to dress "young Missus" for the great event of her life. At least she was allowed to brush out the wealth of dark brown hair before it was arranged in a high coiffure, and was also allowed to put on the beaded satin slippers. And tradition has it that she slipped "er rabbit-toe" in the bosom of the bride's white satin gown.

Uncle William Talks

But if "Mom Grace" helped dress the bride, Uncle William claims the important function of taking part in the actual wedding.

"I pusht de do' open, Miss—me and Henry Hobby. Henry he pusht open one do'—I pusht de odder, and in wa'k Miss Mittie wid de ugly man frum de norf—Miss Mittie's wedd'n' gown all trailin' out behin' her. I dunno whut she carr'd, nor what she had on, except it was all white an shinin' and dere was a sweet-smellin' flower in her back hair, and her big gray eyes were merry and sorf, jes' lak she'd ben bad and had done got furgiveness.

"You say de President's a big man? Is he ugly? Um—um—" drawing on his p'pe, "jes like his pa, I reckon. 'Bout Miss Mittie? Why, she could a mah'd any of de country gent'men 'roun' here—and—" shifting his position from the woodpile to the back doorsteps of his cabin—"I min' me, he warn't de only gent'man come down here arter her. Miss Mittie come back once or twice, but dat man she mah'd, he ain't never been back.

"Yes, miss, I'll be powerfu' glad to see his son—I hopes he looks lak Miss Mittie, howeber, Miss."

GOV. HOGG'S CONDITION IS STILL ENCOURAGING

Family Physician Says Patient Is Doing as Well as Could Be Expected

Governor Hogg passed a restful night Thursday night and thus far today his condition generally is very encouraging. This is the statement made by Dr. McLaughlin, the family physician of Governor Hogg at Austin, who is now in Fort Worth assisting in looking after his welfare.

Dr. McLaughlin is very hopeful of the outcome and says that the governor is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances. He is in good spirits and talks with members of his family just as though nothing serious threatened him. "My time has not come yet, by gatlins," said the governor this morning to Dr. McLaughlin, when his condition was being discussed by himself and Dr. McLaughlin. He added that he was going to recover.

Dr. McLaughlin said at 2 o'clock this afternoon that it was not advisable at this time to consider moving Governor Hogg to Austin, as he had a weak heart and that an attempt to disturb him might result seriously. For this reason there is no immediate thought of taking the governor to Austin. His surroundings here, the doctor says, are congenial and there is less likelihood of bad results to leave the governor undisturbed in this city.

The swollen condition of Governor Hogg's stomach is gradually disappearing, said Dr. McLaughlin, which fact is very encouraging, and the governor seems to be in less pain now than at any previous time since he reached Fort Worth last Saturday night.

IN THE COURTS

DISTRICT COURT

The F. M. Johnson murder case came up in Judge Irby Dunklin's court this morning on application for continuance. The motion was overruled, to which defendant excepted.

Attachments for absent witnesses were ordered returnable instanter against B. F. Hedges, W. K. Logan of this county, John Borne of Johnson county and six or eight others who live in Wise county.

A fine of $100 was imposed upon each absent witness for disobedience of process.

Johnson is accused of killing J. P. Robinson, who was shot on the square just west of the court house Sept. 13, 1902.

Johnson has stood two trials. The first resulted in a hung jury. In the second he was found guilty and given four year in the penitentiary. A reversal was secured. Considerable interest attaches to the trial of this case. Both men were members of the Lee camp, United Confederate veterans.

THE HILL CASE

The Bertha Hill against F. Hill, divorce case, which was taken up Thursday in the Seventeenth district court, is still being heard. A decision will probably be reached by Judge M. E. Smith late this afternoon.

JUSTICE COURT

Bob Salmon, charged with theft from person, waived examining trial in Judge Rowland's court today. His bond was fixed at $750, which was furnished.

PROBATE MATTERS

Application for administrator in the estate of H. E. Elliott, deceased, was filed in this court today.

Application for temporary administration on the estate of Mary Gaines was granted and J. P. Huyler was appointed.

PAVING EXTENDED ON SEVENTH STREET

Work Being Done West of Houston Street Will Form Another Connection with Recent Paving

Work was started this morning on the paving of Seventh street, between Houston and Throckmorton streets. The work is being done by Parker-Lowe along their store. The street will be paved with brick from the curbing to within two feet of the car tracks.

When completed the entire block between Houston and Throckmorton streets will be paved on one side of the street as the other half of the block is already completed. An effort is being made to have the other side paved also, in which case the street car tracks will also be paved.

The paving now under way will form another connection with the Throckmorton street paving recently completed.

THE DRIFT OF POLITICS

All nominations have been made for the election of Nov. 7 over the country. The decision is now up to the voter. There will be just enough spice in the various contests to keep the people on tiptoe of expectation. For an off year, when there are only municipal officers, a few governors and legislators and some state officials to be chosen, there are some mighty lively fights. Philadelphia leads the van, and the country at large has its eyes on this city. People have but little conception of the interest taken in the independent fight that is being made here. From Maine to California, and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico the newspapers teem with criticisms of the conditions in Philadelphia. Next to Philadelphia comes Pennsylvania and the independent uprising against the state machine that has debauched the legislature. Popular interest then turns to McClellan's fight for mayor of New York city with the thought that it is "little Mac's" son's pilgrimage toward the White House. With Jerome and William R. Hearst injected into the New York campaign, it will not lack for spectacular features.

In Ohio, Maryland and New Jersey

Ohio needs watching, as Governor Herrick is getting full measure in his fight for retention as governor. If the democrats were a unit and honest they would sweep Herrick out of office, and there would be no tears at the White House. Maryland may be preparing Senator Gorman's political funeral. The contest over the proposed amendment to the constitution, which would disfranchise thousands of persons, is very bitter. Republicans and many independent democrats have joined hands against Gorman and they may accomplish his defeat. Massachusetts will elect a republican governor to succeed Democratic William L. Douglas, and the campaign there has fallen flat. In Rhode Island the democrats have named ex-Governor Garvin again, and he may be elected. The hot fight in Virginia, in which President Roosevelt is enlisted with all his enthusiasm, is attractive. New Jersey will have hot fights in spots, most attractive of which is Mayor Fagan's battle against the corporations in Jersey City. The mayor is a candidate for re-election and is encountering opposition from Secretary of State Dickinson and other republicans who see in his success a new star for state honors.

New York Campaign Will Be Hot

From this date until the polls close New York city will divide attention with Philadelphia. The democrats in the former city are united and enthusiastic, with four years of patronage ahead of them if they win. The republicans are distracted by internal dissensions, one faction seeking to destroy the power of State Chairman Odell, not only in the city, but the state; another faction clinging to Senator Platt and still others looking about for a safe place to jump. George B. McClellan will lead Tammany in the mayoralty fight in Greater New York. William M. Ivins, an independent and former county democrat, has been named by the republicans for mayor. His chief qualification is his undying hatred for Tammany; therefore his campaign will be a personal one. He has been out of politics for fifteen years and newcomers had to scratch their heads to recall his personality. But the spectacular part of the performance is the municipal ownership ticket, headed by William R. Hearst. He has ex-Senator John Ford, a popular republican, whom Odell wanted for mayor, as his colleague on the ticket for controller. For president of the board of alderman the Hearst ticket has J. G. Phelps Stokes, the young millionaire, interested in charitable work on the East side, who created a sensation last spring by marrying a Jewess, Rose Pastor, who has also devoted her life and talents to charitable work. District Attorney Jerome will be a candidate, of course, and will run independent. The chances are that there will not be a dull day or night in New York city from now until the vote is counted.

Previous Voting of New York

Unless all signs fail, McClellan will be elected mayor; but who will be second in the race cannot be told at this time, whether it will be Hearst or Ivins. In 1903 McClellan received 314,782 votes in Greater New York, and Seth Low, the fusion candidate, 252,086. In 1901, Low, fusion, was given 296,086 votes and Edward F. Shepard, Tammany, 265,177. In 1904 Roosevelt received 155,055 votes in Manhattan and the Bronx, and Parker 189,721. In Brooklyn Roosevelt 113,352; Parker, 111,855. In Queens, Roosevelt, 14,128; Parker, 18,153. In Richmond, Parker, 7,148; Roosevelt, 6,997. McClellan's administration has been clean and he has a good record upon which to go into the present contest.

As to McClellan's future, the democrats argue this way:

In 1882 the republicans were in control of New York and the country. Democratic prospects generally were poor. In the country at large there was nobody in sight. General Hancock had been laid out cold two years before. Tilden was feeble and out of the question. Hendricks stood impaired by age and defeat. Bayard was still too austere for leadership. In New York the most conspicuous man was Roswell P. Flower, rich and ambitious, but not especially able. He was best known as a liberal spender in politics. When the democratic fortunes were at the lowest ebb the republicans of New York got into a ripping row, and Daniel Manning, an astute politician, saw an opening. Grover Cleveland was mayor of Buffalo, but demonstrated some strong qualities, and Manning pushed him to the front. The republicans continued their factional fighting, carried their grievances into the state campaign, slaughtered their candidate for governor, and Cleveland, the democratic candidate, was elected by a majority so large he became by force of it his party's nominee for president. Thus did the republicans of New York pull the democrats out of their hole, both locally and nationally.

McClellan's Position Before the Country

At the present time there is nobody in sight nationally but Bryan, and he spells defeat. The old leaders are all out of it—Hill, Gorman, Cleveland, Watterson, Vilas. In New York there is nobody in sight but McClellan, and Murphy is doing for him what Manning did for Mr. Cleveland—grooming him for state honors, with the presidency in view. And the republicans seem to be helping all they can. They have all but abandoned the city race, and the family row now threatens to extend into the state race next year. Is Mr. McClellan, through their aid, to go into the mayor's chair for a second term by a record-breaking majority, and then by a like majority into the governor's chair and thus qualify for the democratic nomination for president in 1908?

Bitter Fight Against Odell

Republican Leader Odell is under attack by opponents inside the organization in New York. As master of the machine he has had full control of the situation. It was generally agreed that if he could defeat Tammany or even if he could make a respectable showing at the polls he would be in a much stronger position to fight for the control of the next republican state convention and his own re-election to the chairmanship of the state committee than he would be in if Mayor McClellan should be re-elected. Odell's enemies have been careful not to interfere in the New York city situation. They have left everything to him, with a view of holding him accountable for the result, and they profess to be more than satisfied with the situation which has been brought about. They assert that the republican organization has been "made ridiculous" to serve Mr. Odell's purposes, and they anticipate a heavy reduction in the republican vote. Odell's friends are much worried by the situation. The alliance between Frank S. Black and William Barnes Jr. of Albany, which defeated the nomination of Judge Hasbrouck, Mr. Odell's candidate, in the Third judicial district convention in Albany last week, is looked upon as the opening gun in the anti-Odell republican campaign, and the opposition proved stronger than was expected. The bitterness which marked the convention indicates the intensity of the fight which is dividing the party. New York city republican leaders are still obedient to Odell, though some of them are very angry at the part they are being made to play and are outspoken in their criticism. They object to being held responsible for the result on election day of a situation brought about without consultation with them, and they fear the worst.

Hearst's Candidacy

Now, as to Hearst and Stokes. Both are millionaires and have money without limit. If they use it freely, they will have plenty of followers—until election day at least. Hearst was elected to congress last year from the Eleventh district as a Tammany democrat. He has not resigned his seat in congress and need not do so in order to make the race for mayor. He was a candidate for the democratic nomination for president last year and received more than 100 votes in the national convention. Hearst's advocacy of the municipal ownership plan will be weakened somewhat in New York by the result in Chicago. Mr. Hearst was a factor in the mayoralty race in that city, which was won on the issue of municipal ownership. He supported Judge Dunne with his Chicago newspaper and was esteemed a leader. But Judge Dunne, as mayor, has so far accomplished nothing, and many of those who helped elect him are bitterly complaining of his failure to make good. Some of them fear that they have been gold-bricked.

Tammany's Whack at Jerome

In the nomination of James W. Osborne for district attorney, Tammony has surely taken the bull by the horns. Osborne's reputation is of the best and he is an able man. Tammany does not want Jerome nor any man it cannot control. It would prefer to have a recognized antagonist in the district attorney's office. But if it can capture the mayoralty for four years, the district attorney's office for a like period, with Leaders Murphy and McCarren sharing in the big contracts like the Pennsylvania railroad station, etc., surely the outlook for clover in Tammany Hall is excellent. The district attorney of New York is perhaps the most influential man in the town. His power for good or bad is great. He can shut his eyes to crime, or keep both wide open, as Jerome has done. The fight between Osborne and Jerome will be one of the features of the election.

Lifting Lid About Insurance Legislation

If the debate keeps up between President John McCall of the New York Life Insurance Company, State Senator Brackett of the investigating committee and others interested in uncovering the methods of the insurance companies in New York City, and their plans for purchasing or smothering legislation someone is sure to let the cat out of the bag. The whole story is bound to be made public sooner or later. Senator E. T. Brackett, for ten years a member of the New York legislature and prominent in its councils, takes exception to President McCall's statement that three-fourths of the bills relating to life insurance introduced in the various legislatures are for blackmail. He denies flatly that the predominating sentiment in the legislature of New York is one of hostility to insurance companies or a disposition to blackmail them. It has been testified that a sum exceeding $750,000 was spent to defeat blackmailing legislation in the various states. Mr. Brackett asserts that so far as New York is concerned this allegation is untrue. On the contrary, he intimates that such part of the "yellow dog" funds as has been expended in New York has been spent to defeat good legislation, and he cites interesting instances of his contention.

Many Good Measures Were Killed

Among the bills introduced in the New York legislature and defeated was one to compel the companies to place in the policy the whole contract with the insured; another to forbid them to say that their agents, employed and paid by them, were the agents of the insured. Other bills, says Senator Brackett, designated to correct various iniquities of the law, all of them very mild bills that should have passed without objections from the companies and fair-minded legislators, died "a-bornin'." The provision of the New York insurance law which Senator Brackett considers most objectionable, forbids the companies to be sued on certain of their contracts without consent of the attorney general. That law gives the companies an immunity which is not possessed by any other corporation or by any individual. Mr. Brackett explains the passage of this "infamous measure" on the ground that the man who drew it had money from the "yellow dog" fund in his pocket, and that "the men who passed it were either careless of the people's rights or did not believe in equality before the law." An attempt to repeal the law last winter, years after its passage, was defeated by a vote of 50 to 7 in the senate.

The "yellow dog" fund is the money contributed by the life insurance companies to control legislation. The cash was paid to certain persons and no public record kept of the expenditures. The money was supposed to have been used in the state egislatures of Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey, Illinois and New York. The investigation on this point has only begun and promises the most interesting if Andrew Hamilton, the legislative agent, returns from Europe and goes on the witness stand. He is absent from the country just now.'—Philadelphia Ledger.

NEW UNION STATION PLANNED FOR CHICAGO

Five Roads to Spend Millions in New Building and Enlarging Their Terminals

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Plans for the construction of a new union railway station at a cost of from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 and the enlargement of passenger terminals to cost the balance of $25,000,000 are being considered by the five tenants of the present union station at Canal and Adams streets. The five roads, including the Pennsylvania, Panhandle, also Pennsylvania properties; the Chicago and Western, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroads, have agreed to share equally the cost of the improvements, the Pennsylvania to receive from each of the other companies one-fifth of the value of the property to be occupied.

ARMOUR MAKES MILLION

September Wheat Holdings Closed Out at Profit

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 20.—P. A. Valentine sold the greater portion of his wheat yesterday through brokers, following up his tactics of yesterday, and, in the language of the pit, "the lambs have it."

The estimated profits of the Armour house by its operations in September wheat approximate $1,000,000.

While Valentine's brokers and agents were persistently circulating reports of damage to Russian, Indian and Argentine crops, Finey Barrett, Trego & Montgomery, Harris & Scotton, Champlin, Kneeland, Clement & Curtis and lesser lights in the speculative arena were distributing wheat in chunks, small lots and driblets to shorts and a reassured public.

At the same time firms which have been conspicuous in filling orders for the Valentine-Armour combination were buying. O'Brien and Sydney C. Love bid valiantly in order to keep the market from breaking too suddenly, but their efforts to sustain prices were futile and when the great gong in the dome clanged the closing hour, prices were almost 1c lower.

"WHAT YOU DOING?" ASKED "DEAD" MAN

Undertakers' Assistant Started to Embalm Paralytic, and Got Badly Scared

CAMBRIDGE, N. J., Oct. 20.—Raymond Christy, an assistant to W. B. M. Burrell, funeral director of Camden, came near embalming a live man.

The undertaker was summoned to 641 Willard street. When Christy went into the parlor he saw a body lying on a couch, and, thinking it was the corpse, started in to embalm it. To his surprise the supposed dead man opened his eyes and asked the funeral director what he was doing.

It was then discovered that the man was the son of Mrs. Virginia Johnson, who had been paralyzed for eight years, and that the body they were to prepare for burial was that of his mother, Mrs. Virginia Johnson, who had died early yesterday morning. The body was on the second floor of the home.

HEAVY GALE SWEEPS OVER LOWER LAKES

Navigation Suspended and the Loss Is Heavy — Two Sailors Lost

DETROIT, Oct. 20.—The lower lakes were swept last night by the heaviest storm of the season. Navigation across the lime kilns crossing at the mouth of the Detroit river was entirely suspended today for all but the light craft, a forty-mile southwest wind last night having greatly lowered the stage of the water. Lake Huron is being lashed by a forty-two-mile gale off Alpena, while the reports from Lake Erie state that the wind is blowing fifty miles an hour. Grand Haven reports a sixty-mile wind blowing over Lake Michigan.

DAMAGE IS $50,000

MARINETTE, Wis., Oct. 20.—The storm of last night did $50,000 damage along the north side of the lake shore near Menominee river. The docks have been washed away, the boathouse torn to pieces and all fuel supplies washed into the bay.

COAL STEAMER TOTAL LOSS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 20.—During the fierce storm on Lake Erie early today, the steamer Sarah E. Sheldon went ashore four miles east of Lorain. She carried a crew of thirteen, a number of whom jumped overboard when the vessel began to go to pieces. It is believed that at least two of the crew are drowned.

The Sheldon will be a total wreck. She was loaded with coal for Detroit.

ROCKEFELLERS OUT OF COLORADO FUEL CO.

Burden of Responsibility Shifted to George Gould and Associates

DENVER, Col., Oct. 20.—Representatives of John D. Rockefeller who have stepped out of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company are J. D. Rockefeller Jr., E. A. Parmlee Prentice, F. T. Gates and Starr J. Murphy. The Gould men who succeeded the Rockefeller representatives are Edwin Gould, E. T. Jeffery, Winslow S. Pierce and Alvin W. Krech. An entire board of directors representing George J. Gould was elected at the annual meeting of the stockholders. The explanation given for the sweeping change is that the Rockefeller people wanted to place the entire burden of responsibility upon Gould, and look to him to make the Pueblo steel plant a paying proposition. An officer of the corporation said there was no friction between the Gould and the Rockefeller interests. The annual report will not be made public for two weeks yet, although officers and stockholders have it.

FILIPINOS SURPRISED

Couldn't Understand Democratic Tastes of Alice Roosevelt

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 20.—By a letter just received from Tacloban, in the Philippines, from the Rev. C. E. Rath of the representatives of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions in the islands, it is evident that the Filipinos were disappointed in Miss Alice Roosevelt.

"They had their imaginations all wrought up about the way she would appear," says Mr. Rath. "They had her pictured in a royal robe sparkling with jewels, a crown on her head, and with everything that should go with royalty. What they saw was a young American woman in a plain white dress, with a sailor hat and no display of jewelry. Some of them, in fact, did not see her, of if they did, did not recognize her as the daughter of the president, for they were looking for emblems of royalty.

"I am glad she came to us as she did, for she could have done nothing better to illustrate the democratic spirit of America."

Haste, after being unable to make arrangements for cashing the draft at Hillsboro for the purchase of a ticket to his destination, Waco, Texas, started to walk down the track and was struck by a freight train about six miles south of this place, sustaining a compound fracture in the leg, and was brought into Hillsboro for medical attention and cared for by Sheriff Satterfield. He succeeded in cashing the draft here and is reported to be resting easily at latest accounts. The man came from Tennessee to Texas several years ago. He will proceed to Waco as soon as sufficiently recovered.

SHOE PRICES ARE CLIMBING UPWARD

Jobbers' Advances Are Being Borne in Most Cases by Retailers at Present

Price of the lower grades of shoes will go up in this city within a short time, according to local dealers, as the jobbers have raised the price on wholesale lots. Prices have been raised by the jobbers upon everything but the highest grades of shoes on account of the scarcity of leather.

The price of the middle class shoes will not be raised by retailers at present, as they will stand the loss that comes from the extra price that they have to pay.

Shoes costing from $2.50 down, however, will be put up in price by most retailers, as the cost on them has been raised by the jobbers on an average of 15 cents a pair. In some cases the shoes will now cost 50 cents a pair more than formerly.

Makers of the prominent $3.50, $4.00 and higher priced shoes are desirous of raising the price of their shoes, but on account of extensive price advertising cannot do so at present. Therefore, the retailer must lose.

OPENWORK STOCKINGS ARE DECLARED SINFUL

Massachusetts W. C. T. U. Condemns Them Along With Peek-a-boo Waists

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Diaphanous ladies must go! The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Massachusetts says they are improper!

Unsuspecting man is hereby warned that the curiosity aroused by the pink revelations of perforated stockings and shirt-waist transparencies is of the morbid variety. It is not a matter of the neck or the ankle, to be guessed at by the imaginative mind! Both may be entirely within the proprieties, rounded to a turn—that is to say, just what they should be. It is the wicked little holes through which they peep out at you! They are tantalizing and sinful.

Mrs. Katharine Stevenson, state president of Massachusetts, in her annual address at the convention in Cambridge, roundly condemned "the steadily growing tendency to immodest, unnecessary display of woman's person."

"Our purity crusade," she said, "will be directed against the dangers of immodest dressing. Openwork has its place, but that place is not in public, and it is seen altogether too frequently out of place.

She Considers It "Deadly"

"When we remember who sets the fashions to the world, we may well question if an insidious purpose, deadly to the highest womanhood, may not run through it."

The Boston Mothers and Domestic Science Leagues have enthusiastically indorsed Mrs. Stevenson's views and will begin the crusade in the families of their membership.

New York women fail to see the connection between openwork and original sin. They admit there are openworks and openworks, but cry out that the woman, determinedly immodest, would be so if she wore a sweater and overgaiters.

"It seems to me," said Mrs. John Flower Trow, the parliamentarian, "that the W. C. T. U. members have missed the most glaring need of their crusade in fastening their eyes upon women's openwork stockings. Why not agitate against the socks that children wear, which not only display a little leg, but as often injure the child's health. I see no objection to showing a glimpse of the flesh as long as it is modestly done."

Discretion of the Openwork

"It all depends on the discretion of the openwork," said Miss Velma Swanston of the New Century Theater Club. "If the openwork is notoriously inclined all the dignity in the world could not circumvent it. Properly applied it is one of the greatest comforts ever invented for the summer season, and I doubt if even the exaggerated bows of ribbon beneath are sufficiently distracting to demand its suppression."

"Though I do not take that way of cooling myself," said Mrs. J. L. Niver, of the West End Republican Club, "I cannot see anything wrong in it. If I desired to wear an openwork waist, I should certainly not hesitate on the score of being immodest. I think the proportion of women who wear it immodestly must be very small or public attention would have been called to it before this."

PRONOUNCES IT A MIRACLE OF HEALING!

Dr. J. A. Allen of Detroit, Texas, Is Surprised by the Results of

J. Austin Larson's

Treatment on One of His Patients

DR. J. A. ALLEN, DETROIT, TEXAS, SAYS:

(This letter was written to the Paris, Texas, Daily Advocate by a physician who was converted to the Teleconi treatment after one of his patients, hopeless from a medical standpoint, was transformed under it.)

Detroit, Texas, June 20, 1905.

I have been very closely associated with the case of Mr. Alex Mangrum since he was taken sick four years ago, and in spite of everything we could do for him he declined gradually. His disease, when he went under the treatment of J. Austin Larson and associates, was an entirely hopeless one from a medical standpoint. The medicines we gave him got so they would have no effect on his fever. He had several degrees of fever every day and for three weeks prior to his beginning this new treatment it had registered 102 1-4 degrees every day. Since taking the treatment it has never gone to 100. This condition of improvement has been general; good appetite, which was entirely lacking before; good digestion and assimilation of food. This has brought new strength and our patient gained seven pounds in the first two weeks—all this without any medicine, as at Prof. Larson's request I stopped giving medicine. In my forty years of practice I have been able to witness in the closing days of my work the greatest recovery without medicine, mark you, that it has yet been my good fortune to witness before. It is undoubtedly the coming treatment of the age. (Signed) DR. J. A. ALLEN.

Dr. J. A. Sadler, of Sherman, Texas, Says:

(The following interview was given to the Sherman, Texas, papers by a physician who was converted to the Teleconi treatment by the wonderful recovery he experienced under it after medicine had failed.)

"He's a man of the most marvelous vitality I ever saw, and has the hottest hands—hands that burn you."

This remarkable statement was made by Dr. J. A. Sadler, a man who at one time had the largest practice any physician ever had in Grayson county, and the subject of his eulogy was the noted healer, J. Austin Larson.

"In strength I have improved over 100 per cent in a week." Dr. Sadler continued, addressing the reporter. "When I came here a week ago I was suffering from asthma, constipation, nervousness, sleeplessness, irregular heart action and depression. Now everything is changed. My asthma has not bothered me once since I began Prof. Larson's treatment; my constipation has disappeared, his power acting on me like a physic; my nervousness is gone and I am much stronger. For ten days and nights I hadn't been able to sleep, but now I sleep soundly every night and I slept four hours this afternoon, something I had not been able to do in a long time."

"How's your heart?" queried the reporter.

"It is cured," was the emphatic reply. "My physicians warned me not to think of climbing stairs and said that I was liable to die at any time from heart failure. They said that nothing could help me. I guess the quick results in my case surprised Prof. Larson, and I know they did me. When I first came to him and he learned that I was 72 years old, he said: 'At your age, doctor, I'm afraid I can't do anything for you except, perhaps to make you a little more comfortable.' He has done that and more."

"What do you think of his treatment?" was asked.

"It is the greatest treatment in the world," the doctor emphatically replied. "The medical profession is coming to recognize this."

Few men are better known in Sherman than Dr. Sadler. For nearly half a century he has practiced medicine, and for thirty years he has lived here. Previously he practiced at Bonham, and during the war served three years as a surgeon in the Confederate army—Sherman Register.

OUR HEBREW CITIZENS

There is to be suitable observance of the 250th anniversary of the settlement of the Hebrews in the United States. This anniversary occurs during the present year, and celebration all over the country will take place on the Saturday and Sunday before Thanksgiving. The Jewish churches and the social, benevolent and literary organizations will all co-operate in an effort to make the anniversary a memorable one, and when the Hebrew citizen starts out to do things he generally does them.

In the two and one-half centuries that have elapsed since the first body of Hebrews settled upon this continent the pioneers of the race have been followed by multitudes of their creed, seeking and finding religious liberty and freedom of existence. The Hebrews have waxed prosperous and influential on American soil, and have made a record for citizenship that is unblemished and which has demonstrated to the world, not without decided effect, that the Hebrew, if given a square deal, never fails to prove a veritable bulwark of civilization. Here are some statistics concerning the race:

It is divided thus: Europe, 8,786,122; Asia, 342,410; Africa, 382,432; America, 1,574,022; Australia, 17,403.

New York appears to have the greatest Hebrew population of any city in the world, 672,778.

Next come Lodz (Poland) and Vienna, 150,000 each.

London has 128,860, which is but 2.1 per cent of its total population.

Berditschev, Russia, is almost exclusively Jewish, its 47,000 Hebrews forming 87.52 per cent of the population.

Philadelphia has 75,000 Hebrews; Chicago, 60,000, nearly as many as Paris.

Madrid is credited with only 300 Hebrews, Dublin with only 2,700.

Jerusalem has 41,000 Hebrews, about 68 per cent of the population.

But mere figures do not convey any idea of the influence of the Hebrews, since the importance of the work they have done and are doing in the world is out of all proportion to their numbers.

In the world of music are Offenbach, John Braham, Mendelssohn, Sir Julius and Sir Arthur Sullivan. The theater has largely attracted the genius of the Hebrew and the greatest are Judith, Rachel and Sarah Bernhardt. Among dramatists are Alfred Sutro and D'Ennery.

In America the theater is largely in the hands of Hebrew managers.

The list of famous Hebrew writers includes Israel Zangwill, Georg Brandes, the Danish critic; Lombroso, the Italian; Catulle Mendes, the French novelist and critic; Jean de Bloch, the Russian writer on war; Max Nordau, the late M. Blowitz and many others. Sir F. C. Palgrave, the historian, was a Hebrew, as was Baron Reuter, and as is Jos. Pulitzer, the proprietor of the New York World.

Josef Israels, the Dutch painter, was a Hebrew; Rosa Bonheur was a Hebrew. There have been many well known Hebrew chess players, of whom Steinitz is perhaps the most famous name. Lord Herschell had on Hebrew parent.

As for America, no community is without one or more Hebrews of more than local fame.

Some of Fort Worth's leading and most progressive citizens belong to the Hebrew race, and they are daily proving their general worth to the community.

GOVERNMENT MAY ISSUE CHARTERS

A new proposition is to be sprung on congress when it assembles in December, growing out of the agitation of the public corporations question that has received such an impetus by virtue of the insurance scandals that have recently been brought to light. The facts brought out concerning big campaign contributions made by the leading corporations of the country have elicited a storm of angry protest from one end of the country to the other and this is to be followed by a demand upon congress that some method be devised for preventing such occurrences in the future. It is believed that this situation may end in the enactment by congress of a law which will confer upon the Federal government authority to issue charters or license to all such corporations, leaving to the various states the power of taxation. President Roosevelt and Secretary Metcalf of the department of commerce, who have been for some time seriously considering this question, hoping to develop a remedy, are said to look with favor upon the new idea.

The President in his forthcoming annual message, and Secretary Metcalf in his annual report will discuss the all absorbing problem, and are expected to outline the character of legislation which is expected to protect the people from future fraud and corrupt practices. Both of these officials are going slowly in their investigations, however, as they are too sound in mind not to give corporations full credit for the large part they are playing in the development of the country. Their suggestions will not be made as a blow to these corporations, but as remedies for existing evils which the people feel cannot be longer tolerated. It is well known that President Roosevelt is in hearty sympathy with the masses in the burdens that have been placed upon them, but he does not believe the great corporations of the country should be legislated out of existence. He thinks they should be brought to the point where they will be entirely amenable to the laws of the country, and if existing laws are not sufficient for the purpose new laws must be created that will answer the purpose. He is in favor of the square deal for all interests, and a square deal is all that is necessary. If the people of the country can rest assured that they are obtaining the square deal, it will only result in the determination to extend the same line of action to all interests.

In the official documents in which these matters will be treated the present condition of affairs will be described accurately with due respect to the great interests involved. A long list of supreme court decisions has been faced by the President and Secretary Metcalf in their consideration of the insurance question, to the effect that insurance is not interstate commerce, and consequently not amenable to Federal jurisdiction in the matter of regulation and control. One of the proposed laws will be to define this point, and as soon as a law can be passed declaring insurance interstate commerce, it is to be taken to the supreme court to test its validity. If this proposed new law should be invalidated, it will then be necessary to have an amendment adopted to the constitution of the country. Eminent legal authorities all over the country are divided on this question and the only thing that can be done in the premises is to have the highest court in the land pass upon it as soon as possible.

In the matter of the Federal government issuing licenses or charters, it is believed the states will co-operate. The Federal government would then see that the corporations did not issue stocks and bonds to a greater amount than the capital actually paid in. In the case of improvements contemplated, stocks and bonds only to the value of such improvements could be issued. This, it is believed, would stop much disastrous speculation and would be approved by the great majority of the leading financiers. It would result, it is believed, in weeding out wildcat concerns and giving a surer foundation to the sounder corporations.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Metcalf, according to Washington advices, are not committed to any policy as yet, but are working together in an effort to sift out the best from many ideas they have gathered on the subject. It is a great big question, and there is a whole lot of things involved in it of direct importance both to the masses and the big corporations involved. The general tendency of the day is to fly to the Federal government for relief from all the real and imaginary ills that afflict the body politic, and this is contrary to the teachings of democracy. The democracy of the country does not believe in a strong and centralized government, but rather adheres to the old idea that the best form of government is that which governs least.

Secretary Loeb talked too much in the matter of the rumored retirement of General Luke Wright as governor general of the Philippines, and was very promptly called down by his chief. There are a whole lot of people who talk too much, and many of them just naturally can't help it.

President Roosevelt is receiving an ovation from one end of the sunny south to the other. Governors Vardaman and Jeff Davis are the only ones who seem to be the least disgruntled over that southern trip.

Governor Lanham is resting for a few days at his home in Weatherford, and the state government is running so smoothly that he should extend his vacation until he is entirely rejuvenated.

The Texas cotton crop is pretty well gathered now, and the indications seem to be that the bulk of the cotton has been sold. It is hard to get the farmers to hold back when prices are ranging in the vicinity of ten cents.

Fort Worth is growing faster than any other Texas city. This is a fact that does not admit of any form of argument.

"I must be going," I said, looking at the clock.

Blanche only laughed, and bade me sit down by her side.

"I'm so glad dad brought you in to-night," she said. "Did he say anything to you?"

"What about?"

"Never mind," she answered archly. "Did he say anything at all?"

"He did make me a very kind offer," I admitted.

She looked at me eagerly.

"Well?"

"I told him I was expecting an offer of work of some sort from the duke. Of course it may not come. In any case, it was very kind of Mr. Moyat."

She drew a little closer to me.

"It was my idea," she whispered. "I put it into his head."

"Then it was very kind of you, too," I answered.

She was apparently disappointed. We sat for several moments in silence. Then she looked around with an air of mystery, and whispered still more softly into my ear—

"I haven't said a word about that—to anybody."

SHE WAS THERE IN THE ROOM WITH ME . . . SLIM AND SHADOWY.

"Thank you very much," I answered. "I was quite sure that you wouldn't, as you had promised."

Again there was silence. She looked at me with some return of that half fearsome curiosity which had first come into her eyes when I made my request.

"Wasn't the inquest horrid?" she said. "Father says they were five hours deciding—and there's old Joe Hassell; even now he won't believe that—that—he came from the sea."

"It isn't a pleasant subject," I said quietly. "Let us talk of something else."

She was swinging a very much beaded slipper backwards and forwards, and gazing at it thoughtfully.

"I don't know," she said. "I can't help thinking of it sometimes. I suppose it is terribly wicked to keep anything back like that, isn't it?"

"If you feel that," I said, "you had better go and tell your father everything."

She looked at me quickly.

"Now you're cross," she exclaimed. "I'm sure I don't know why."

"I am not cross," I said, "but I do not wish you to feel unhappy about it."

"I don't mind that," she answered, lifting her eyes to mine, "if it is better for you."

The door opened and Mr. Moyat appeared. I was correspondingly relieved. I rose at once, and took my leave.

"Blanche got you to change your mind?" he said, looking at me closely.

"Miss Moyat hasn't tried," I answered, shaking him by the hand. "We were talking about something else."

Blanche pushed past her father and came to let me out. We stood for a moment at the open door. She pointed down the street.

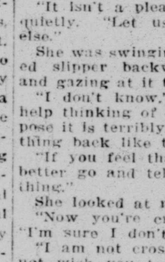
"It was just there he stopped me," she said in a low tone. "He was very pale, and he had such a low, strange voice, just like a foreigner. It was in the shadow of the market hall there. I wish I'd never seen him."

A note of real fear seemed to have crept into her voice. Her eyes were straining through the darkness. I forced a laugh as I lit my cigarette.

"You mustn't get fanciful," I declared. "Men die every day, you know, and I fancy that this one was on his last legs. Good-night."

CHAPTER VIII.

A Wonderful Offer.



On my little table lay the letter I expected, large, square and white. I tore it open with trembling fingers. The handwriting was firm and yet delicate. I knew at once whose it was.

"Rowchester, Tuesday.

"Dear Mr. Ducaine—My father wishes me to say that he and Lord Chelsford will call upon you tomorrow morning, between 10 and 11 o'clock. With kindest regards, I am, yours sincerely,

"ANGELA HARBERLY."

The letter slipped from my hands on to the table. Lord Chelsford was a cabinet minister and a famous man. What could he have to do with any appointment which the duke might offer me? I read the few words over and over again. The handwriting, the very faint perfume which seemed to steal out of the envelope, a moment's swift retrospective thought, and my fancy had conjured her into actual life. She was there in the room with me, slim and shadowy, with her quiet voice and movements, and with that haunting, doubtful look in her dark eyes. What had she meant by that curious warning? What was the knowledge or the fear which inspired it? If one could only understand!

I sat down in my chair and tried to read, but the effort was useless. Directly opposite to me was that black uncurtained window. Every time I looked up it seemed to become once more the frame for a white evil face. At last I could bear it no longer. I rose and left the house. I wandered capless across the marshes to where the wet seaweed lay strewn about, and the long waves came rolling shoreward; a wilderness now indeed of gray mists, of dark silent tongues of seawater cleaving the land. There was no wind—no other sound than the steadfast monotonous lapping of the waves upon the sands. Along that road he had come; the faintly burning light upon my table showed where he had pressed his face against the window. Then he had wandered on, past the storm-bent tree at the turn of the road pointing landward. A few yards farther was the creek from which we had dragged him. The events of the night struggled to reconstruct themselves in my mind, and I fought against their slow coalescence. I did not wish to remember—to believe. In my heart I felt that for some hidden reason Ray was my friend. This visit of the duke's, with whatever it might portend, was without doubt inspired by him. And, on the other hand, there was the warning of Lady Angelo, so earnestly expressed, so solemn, almost sad. How could I see light through all these things? How could I hope to understand?

The duke came punctually, spruce and debonair, a small rose in his buttonhole, his wizened cheeks aglow with the smart of the stinging east wind. With him came Lord Chelsford, whose face and figure were familiar enough to me from the pages of the illustrated papers. Dark, spare and tall, he spoke seldom, but I felt all the while the merciless investigation of his searching eyes. The duke, on the other hand, spoke at greater length and with more freedom than I had heard him.

"Mr. Ducaine," he began. "I am here to offer you employment, if you are open to accept a post of some importance, and also, to be frank with you, of some danger."

"If I am qualified for the post, your grace," I answered, "I shall be only too willing to do my best. But I am almost a stranger to you. I am a complete stranger to Lord Chelsford. How can you rely upon my trustworthiness?"

The duke smiled grimly.

"In the first place," he said, "we are only strangers from the personal point of view, which is possibly an advantage. I have in my pocket a close record of your days since you entered the university. I know those who have been your friends, your tastes, how you have spent your time."

I was impressed into silence.

"You have heard, my young friend," he said, "of the committee of national defense?"

"I have read of it," I answered.

"Good! This committee has been formed and sanctioned by the war office in consequence of the shocking revelations of inefficiency which came to light during the recent war. It occurred to the prime minister, as I dare say it did to most of the thinking men of the country, that if our unreadiness to take the offensive was so obvious, it was possible that our defensive precautions had also been neglected. A board was therefore formed to act independently of all existing institutions, and composed chiefly of military and naval men. The commander in chief, Lord Chelsford, Colonel Ray and myself are amongst the members. Our mandate is to keep our attention solely fixed upon the defenses of the country, to elaborate different schemes for repelling different methods of attack, and in short to make ourselves responsible to the country for the safety of the empire. Every harbor on the south and east coast is supposed to be known to us, every yard of railway feeding the seaports from London, all the secret fortifications and places south of London, capable of being held by inferior forces. The mobilization of troops to any one point has been gone thoroughly into, and every possible movement and combination of the fleet. These are only a few of the things which have become our care, but they are sufficient for the purpose of illustration. The importance of this board must be apparent to you; also the importance of absolute secrecy as regards its doings and movements."

I was fascinated by the greatness of the subject. However, I answered him as quickly as possible and emphatically.

"The board," the duke continued, "has been meeting in London. For the last few months we have had business of the utmost importance on hand. But on Jan. 10, that is just six weeks ago, we came to a full stop. The commander in chief had no alternative but temporarily to dissolve the assembly. We found ourselves in a terrible and disastrous position. Lord Ronald Mathson had been acting as secretary for us. We met always with locked doors, and the names of the twelve members of the board are the most honored in England. Yet twenty-four hours after our meetings a verbatim report of them, with full particulars of all our schemes, was in the hands of the French secret service."

"Good God!" I exclaimed, startled for the moment out of my respectful silence.

The duke himself seemed affected by the revelation which he had made. He sat forward in his chair with puckered brows and bent head. His voice, which had been growing lower and lower, had sunk almost to a whisper. It seemed to me that he made a sign to Lord Chelsford to continue. Almost for the first time the man who had done little since his entrance save watch me, spoke.

Whales" without a diagram.

"Herd of Fifty Milked Every Day," says its headlines. Professor Muller, of Newfoundland, is the man who has succeeded in domesticating fifty sulphur cow whales and has perfected an apparatus for milking them. Note the subtle "kidding." It is made plain that the whales which are being milked are cow whales.

"The yield from a full-grown whale is from five to seven hogshead a day. It is much thicker and richer than the best Jersey milk, and possesses a peculiarly pleasant and distinctive flavor, which those who have tasted it pronounce superior to any known milk."

Imagine London ringing with merry laughter at the thought of the professor strolling down to let down the harbor bars and crying "Coo-ee! Coo-ee!" as the lady whales come in through the gloaming behind a bell cow, all switching their tails and chewing their cud of fragrant seaweed. No doubt the British pater familias riding down to the city in a bus nearly dies of apoplexy as he thinks of the rich yield of say 300 hogsheads of milk which the professor has to lug up to the springhouse.

Ha, ha, ha! Hee, hee, hee! Such a bloomin' joke and not a diagram. Only fawncy. What bally rot to say that the English have no sense of "humour."

Those who believe the English sense of humor is ossified will do well to go to the London Express and consider its ways. Knowing, as it must, its constituency, it would not publish, as it has, a story about "Domesticated

When the United States government finds a national bank insolvent, or violating the laws regulating banks, it promptly closes the doors until matters are straightened out and the institution is on a solid legal footing. And Texas might follow the example in dealing with the life insurance companies.—Houston Post.

The permits of the various insurance companies to do business in Texas will expire Dec. 31, and it is probable steps will be taken at that time to properly deal with the situation. As the New York authorities are now investigating these concerns, Texas can well afford to wait and see what New York will first do in the premises.

If each state had its own life and fire insurance companies and the people of the state would place their insurance with these companies a big step forward would be made in crushing the system which is sucking the life blood out of the people of the whole country. Texas has only received one-third as much money from life insurance companies during the past twenty-five years as has been paid to the companies by citizens of this state. And that is a pretty strong argument in favor of home companies.

There has been material improvement in the condition of Governor Hogg, and it is hoped he will be spared to the people of this state for many years yet.

With the CATTLEMEN

MIDLAND COUNTRY CATTLE

"The Midland country now has the Panhandle on the run to maintain the proud distinction of being the breeding ground of fine Texas cattle, and I believe we already have them bested," said H. N. Garrett of Midland, who was a stock yard visitor, Wednesday to the Live Stock Reporter.

"We have not yet established the reputation for fine cattle that the Panhandle holds, for it is only during the last few years that the Midland cattlemen have realized that it takes fine bulls to make fine cattle, and that they are living in a country which for general conditions is unequaled for the raising of high-grade stock. Once realizing these facts, however, we have been quick to act and the results of our labor speak for themselves. Our country is fast filling up with registered bulls, Herefords, shorthorns and Polled Angus, the best that can be bought in the United States. During the last ten days 4,000 head of calves have been sold by cattle raisers living right at Midland to go to Illinois, Ohio and New York, and buyers are still busy traveling through that country for more. Our high grade calves are all dehorned at from two to three months of age. Steer calves are being taken from their mothers at the very satisfactory prices of $12 to $13, and I sold recently 350 head of heifer calves at $9, the equal of about $10 on the Fort Worth market. T. F. B. Sotham, the big Illinois cattle breeder, who has recently built a fine sale pavilion at Kankakee, Ill., and who is endeavoring to meet the demands of corn belt and eastern feeders for the best feeding cattle that can be bought, purchased the 2,000 calves which came through the Fort Worth yards last Monday, of Midland cattle breeders, and he paid the price asked for them in all instances, remarking to me that he was most agreeably surprised at the quality of the calves in the Midland country, and that he had never seen their better on the range. George Elliott sold him about 800, O. B. Holt about 500, and our firm (Garrett & Voliva) about 800 head.

"It's the registered bulls which nearly every cattleman in the Midland country are now using that are causing Northern feeder buyers to flock there for feeding stock, and the fact that our calves are out-weighing the calves of the upper Panhandle. We can safely breed to have our calves come in February and March, because our springs are earlier than in the Panhandle. Our falls are also later, and our winters less severe. Many a norther which causes losses to the cattleman of the upper Panhandle never reaches us, and it is very seldom that we have any loss due to severe weather.

"The big end of the calves that are to be marketed from there this season have been shipped, or are bought and will be shipped right away. Fat cows cannot be bought there at market prices. We have lots of them, but owners are naturally not very desirous of taking $13 for a cow that they can raise a $13 calf from."

Mr. Garrett says several hundred high grade and pure-bred cattle will be fattened around Midland for the Fat Stock Show to be held in Fort Worth next March, but that there will probably be no other cattle put on full feed there this fall. There will, however, be a good deal of milo maize, sorghum and Kaffir corn fed, and with the quantity of these feeds raised there this year, an excellent winter range assured, and continued improvement in the quality of the cattle, stock is sure to be in fine condition next spring.

"There is but a poor demand for the milo maize raised there, although it is of excellent quality," he said, "and unless much of it is fed, I don't know what will be done with it. Several hundred acres near Midland were planted to cotton this year, for the first time, and the merchants of Midland, to accommodate those who raise the crop, built a $4,000 gin at Midland." Mr. Garrett claims little knowledge of cotton, and would not undertake to say what the yield was, saying that he could speak much more accurately on this subject a little later, when the figures are in.

THE PANHANDLE COUNTRY

"People in the eastern and central states have been more or less prejudiced against the west as a farming proposition, and this prejudice has been in a large measure due to bad farming," said Mr. Barbee, the dry farming advocate, the other day. "I don't know where they got their ideas, but the slip-shod methods of many of the men who have tried farming in the west don't deserve a crop in western Kansas or anywhere else on top of the divine footstool.

"Dry farming is intelligent farming. Old settlers were slow to take hold of it. But they are beginning to see that by loosening up their soil so moisture can get down into it, and then treating the surface of the soil right they can have moisture on tap at all seasons of the year, and they are making a rush for the dry-system band wagon.

"Nowhere in the whole southwest is dry farming receiving more interest right now than down in the Panhandle of Texas. Down there in a great section of country embracing hundreds of thousands of acres and of which Amarillo is the center, these vast ranches are rapidly being cut up and sold off into section tracts for farming purposes.

"Experiments with crops suitable to that dry region have been going on and increasing in number each season for several years. Kaffir corn, sorghum, alfalfa and other crops have been tried with more or less success and they gave the country a start toward breaking up the great pastures and putting a family on every section. Lately, interest is being taken in the dry farming systems and it is meeting with much success that no other part of the southwest is now attracting as much attention as is the country around Amarillo. Hundreds of thousands of acres are being bought up by syndicates to be cut into farms and sold out to actual settlers at reasonable prices and on attractive terms.

"In its westward course the star of the empire is now hovering over Amarillo. The tide of immigration is now flowing in that direction and transformation of the Panhandle will be at its flood within another year. The desert has begun to bloom and the great pastures where the short grass cattle once roamed is fast becoming nothing more than a theme for legend romance and poetic imagination."

VISITING MEXICAN RANCHES

W. H. Jennings, John R. Blocker and Captain John T. Lytle leave today for Piedras Blanca ranch in Coahuila, Mex., where they will spend about fifteen days looking over the ranch and inspecting the cattle before they go into the winter. The Express threw out an intimation that if there was to be a sale of their steers it would like to be put next, but there was nothing doing in that line. Colonel Tom Moore of Llano is also interested in Piedras Blanca, but the trio, who were in the city yesterday, stated that he was not going. He wanted to go, and in fact had in a measure prepared himself to some extent for the outing, but he seemed to be non persona grata with the other members of the Texas party and all they would say was that he was not going. The Express is not informed whether it is their intention to slip off from him or whether they just simply told him that he couldn't go this trip. They said he would probably go out later when the bears get ripe.—San Antonio Express.

Verses That Ring

THE AUTUMN DAYS

The autumn days have come
With chill and cheer and shine;
The fruitage of the orchard trees
And clusters of the vine.
The fragrant fields their luster add
To keep the world from being sad.

The waning days have come
With fog and wind and rain;
The garner season of the year
With pensive-keyed refrain.
With cawing crows that steal the fruit
In contrast with the dulcet lute.

"The saddest of the year?"
Alas! should it be so?
Fruition adds its highest joy,
The best it strove to know.
The bees have hived their precious store,
And glow the leaves of autumn lore.

Now lifts its joyous head
The bright-starred goldenrod,
While Ceres bears in grateful arms
Thanksgiving to our God.
The chestnut burrs their secrets tell,
And stores for evening nuttings swell.

Jack Frost with skillful hand
Has set aflame the woods.
Their Tyrian dyes outvie the skies
In most artistic moods.
The bracing air life's currents fills
And with new vigor being thrills.

The evening fireside
Now glows anew with cheer.
The garnered hopes of summer days
The crowning of the year.
The seasons in their round are best,
Each has its own peculiar zest.

NORTH FORT WORTH ORDERS DEEP WELL

Special Meeting of Council Orders Further Work—City Ground Sold

Decision to sink the shallow well of the North Fort Worth water works system to a 400-foot strata, an additional distance of 150 feet, was made at a special meeting of the North Fort Worth city council, held Thursday night.

The matter was then left in the hands of the water works committee, with power to sign a contract for the work.

Recent report of a special committee regarding disposal of the dumping ground was also taken up at the session, the report of the committee favoring the sale of five acres of the ground for $1,750 being approved. The matter was left in the hands of Aldermen Arthur and Lydon to complete arrangements.

Plans are now being prepared for the addition to the plant of the North Fort Worth Cold Storage Company, the capacity of which will be doubled this fall.

Dr. J. A. Sloan of 2217 Chestnut avenue had a bad fall recently, receiving severe bruises about the head and body.

Rally day will be observed at the M. E. church next Sunday on Rosen Heights.

MARION SANSOM TO BE APPOINTED

Fort Worth to Have One of Two Southern Representatives on Reciprocity Tariff Board

A letter received here by Captain B. B. Paddock Thursday from Secretary W. E. Skinner of the American Reciprocity Tariff league, which was organized at Chicago in September, announces that Marion Sansom of Fort Worth is to be appointed one of the executive committeemen of the association. This will give the south two representatives on the board, the other being E. T. George of New Orleans, La.

Captain Paddock does not think that the south has been properly recognized in the selection of an executive board, from the fact that the south is probably more interested in the matter of reciprocity than any of the other sections of the country from the fact that her cotton is one of the most important products that is exported.

At the Chicago convention the main question was the appointment of the executive committee. There was a division as to the number that should constitute it. Some wanted only fifteen members. Captain Paddock was one of several delegates who advocated that each state in the union should be represented on the board. The latter proposition, however, was defeated by a vote of the convention. In the face of this action the present committee is now composed of twenty-two members and is to be further added to according to the letter from Secretary Skinner.

The board of trade of Fort Worth has been asked for a contribution to this league. Action has not yet been taken on the request, but will be when the annual meeting of the board is held next month.

WHEAT TARIFFS ARE TO DROP AGAIN

Second Reduction Through the Ports of Entry Scheduled to Be Announced

Another noticeable reduction is to be made in the freight tariff on wheat from Texas ports of entry to City of Mexico common points just as soon as the Federal government approves the reduction, which is to be from $19.09 to $17.

The reduction has been brought about in order to permit the shipment of wheat from the United States into the Republic, the former rate of $23 being declared practically prohibitive. There has already been one reduction and now the second is to be made.

The rate will apply on all lines entering the ports of entry—El Paso, Laredo, Eagle Pass and Tampico. To points not common special rates will be applied.

It has been discovered by the Mexican government that the wheat crop in that country is short, making it necessary to import that grain into the Republic. Under the first reduction to $19.09 it was discovered that very little wheat was finding its way to that country.

Early in the season the government and the railroads thought that the wheat crop of Mexico would be sufficiently large to meet the demands. It has now become apparent that it will be necessary to use grain from the United States.

BUSINESS DOUBLED

Winter Goods Arriving for Merchants of City

"Business in the local railroad yards has doubled within the past week," said a Texas and Pacific yardman to The Telegram today. He referred to the fact that large numbers of goods are being received by merchants for fall and winter trade. He said that it had been a long time since there was so heavy a movement of this character of freight to Fort Worth.

Shipments this year are also reported much larger than for any preceding year.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSED

Much Speculation As to Control of Trinity and Brazos

There is considerable discussion in railroad circles here as to who will be placed in charge of the affairs of the Trinity and Brazos Valley when that line has been completed to the Gulf coast.

The belief is prevalent that the management of the line will be placed in the hands of those who control the Fort Worth and Denver City Company.

It is believed that the management of this road will be directed from the Texas end of the new system. However, nothing definite on this point is known here at the present time.

APPOINTMENT MADE

Official notices have been received here of the appointment of J. G. Gwyn as assistant chief engineer of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad, with headquarters at Denver. The appointment was made by Chief Engineer E. J. Yard and is effective at once.

STATE FAIR RATES

The Rock Island has issued reduced round trip rates on account of the Dallas Fair, Oct. 28 to Nov. 12. Special train service will be inaugurated, leaving Graham on each Sunday, Oct. 29, Nov. 5 and 12. The rate from Graham to Dallas will be in three classes, $4.70, $4 and $1.50. From Fort Worth, 95 cents, 80 cents and 70 cents. The train will leave Graham at 6 o'clock in the morning and arrive at Dallas at 11:20. The train leaves Fort Worth at 9:55. Returning the train will leave Dallas at 5:30 p. m.

NOTES AND PERSONALS

According to an opinion rendered by District Judge Aikman at Sedan, Kan., a railroad cannot speculate upon its right of way. The court's decision prevents the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe from leasing its right of way for oil-drilling purposes. The railroad company has filed notice of appeal to the supreme court.

President Britton of the Cotton Belt has just had completed a new private car. It was made by the St. Charles car factory. The car is divided into compartments, consisting of a kitchen, porter's room, dining room, stateroom, private room, parlor and observation room. Its furnishings and appliances are all up-to-date.

Annual election of the Belen cut-off company, a Santa Fe project, known as the Eastern Railway of New Mexico, was held at Las Vegas, N. M., a day or two ago. The officers elected are: President, E. P. Ripley; secretary, E. Wilder of Topeka, and Mr. Morawetz, general counsel.

There has been a change in local railroad circles at El Paso in the past few months. Charles Beck is to succeed H. D. McGregor as depot ticket agent of the Southern Pacific. The latter becomes city agent for the Rock Island and Southwestern, while F. L. Waterman is made traveling passenger agent of the latter system.

George W. Wetherby, voucher clerk and stenographer in the general passenger department of the Texas and Pacific at Dallas, has been promoted. He is now private secretary to General Passenger Agent E. P. Turner. The position of advertising clerk has been abolished.

INTERURBAN SUITS HIM

Illinois Promoter Willing to Take up Mineral Wells Line

Captain B. B. Paddock, secretary of the Board of Trade, this morning received a letter from U. P. Hord, a railroad promoter of Illinois, suggesting that he become interested in the projected interurban road from Fort Worth to Mineral Wells.

Information is furnished by Mr. Hord that he has successfully projected similar lines in other states and has a desire to become associated in the Mineral Wells proposition.

Major M. K. Van Zandt, Commanding Texas Division Confederate Veterans, Praises President's Address

Major K. M. Van Zandt, commanding the Texas division of the United Confederate Veterans, commenting upon the speech of President Roosevelt made at Richmond, Va., pays the chief executive of the United States a high compliment, saying today, referring to the address:

"It was a speech of an American, and no man in this country can find objections to a single utterance of the President."

FUNERAL OF CAPTAIN WOODS

SHERMAN, Texas, Oct. 20.—The burial of Captain J. D. Woods took place at West Hill Cemetery this afternoon, following services conducted at the late residence in Washington avenue.

MANY PUPILS ARE NOW NON-RESIDENT

Superintendent Estimates Are Twenty-five to Thirty in Various Buildings

Following the announcement in The Telegram that citizens are complaining that pay pupils are received by the schools, which are at the same time declared to be overcrowded, Superintendent Hogg said Thursday night that he was unable to give the exact number of pay pupils, as they are scattered throughout the various schools in the city.

When asked further as to about what the number would be he said that according to the best of his information there were between twenty-five and thirty pay pupils in the public schools of Fort Worth at the present time.

The objections raised by South Side residents to this matter, which causes the transfer of pupils from one school to another, are being continued, inasmuch as they consider that taxpayers are entitled to first preference.

What action will be taken in the matter has not been decided.

FUEL MEN READY FOR WINTER RUSH

Fuel Shipments for This Year Have Broken All Railroad Records

The railroads running into Fort Worth are doing a big business hauling wood. Every day car load after car load is received here over the Texas and Pacific, the Rock Island, Katy and Frisco. This wood is being sold at retail for from $4.50 to $5 per cord.

One railroad man said today that he had not seen such a movement of wood into Fort Worth for many years.

Numerous wood yards in the city are piled high with fuel and the only difficulty being experienced in supplying the cold weather rush orders is in ability to make immediate deliveries.

Coal men also have good supplies on hand and even a protracted spell of cold weather would cause no inconvenience here. Large supplies of coke, patent fuel and oil are also ready.

LEONARD WEINHEIMER.

"I never felt so well as I have since I began its use, and I recommend it as the greatest tonic in the world."

"I tried many different remedies in the effort to build up my system, which had become nervous and rundown from overwork, worry, loss of proper rest and unreasonable hours, but nothing seemed to help me, so I began to take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. One bottle of your medicine almost cured me, and in three months I was a healthy, strong man. Really I have never felt so strong and well as I have since I began its use. I cheerfully recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as the best health-builder and tonic-stimulant in the world."—LEONARD WEINHEIMER, 1306 S. 3d St. Louis, Mo.

We Are Distillers

We are the originators of selling whiskey direct from distiller to consumer. Our success has bred many imitators, who call themselves distillers. They are simply dealers who don't distill a drop of whiskey and have no connection with an active distillery. For proof see list of distillers in U. S. Government Reports. You'll find HAYNER in that list, but you won't find any of our imitators.

Our distillery at Troy, Ohio, is one of the most modern and best equipped in the world. We distill an average of 9,580 gallons of PURE HAYNER WHISKEY a day, all of which is sold direct to consumers at the distiller's price. When you buy from us you are sure of getting PURE WHISKEY and you also save the dealers' big profits.

MUST PAY ALL TAXES AND BIG PENALTY, TOO

Waters-Pierce Oil Co. Liable in Eighty Counts at $25 Under Kennedy Bill

Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 20.—According to developments yesterday the Waters-Pierce Oil Company will not only have to pay its taxes under the Kennedy tax bill, but is likely to be called upon by the state to pay $2,000 in penalties, as the company is liable to eighty penalties at $25 per day. This is due to the fact that the concern failed to pay any attention to notices sent to it, advising that the tax under the Kennedy bill was now due. Attorney General Davidson is considering the matter. It is estimated that the Waters-Pierce Company will pay about $20,000 per year to the state under this act.

VANDERBILT CUP MUST GO BEGGING

Automobile Club of France Will Not Accept Trophy Won on Long Island Course

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A letter is now on its way to the Vanderbilt cup commission from the automobile club of France and as soon as it is received, the racing board of the American Automobile Association will hold its first meeting since the running of the Vanderbilt cup race. Baron Adrienx de Turckheim, the official representative of the Automobile Club of France, at the recent race, declared yesterday that the cup would not be accepted by the French club.

"The French club has already declined to promote another Gordon Bennett cup race," he said, "and it could not very well accept the Vanderbilt cup under the condition of holding a race for that trophy in France next season."

Baron de Turckheim, who will sail for home today on the La Savoie, intimated that the French club would offer suggestions regarding future competitions for the Vanderbilt cup.

"I would like to see it turned into a trophy for a big touring event," he added. "We have so many high class cars of acknowledged reliability that the mere fact of winning a big speed event counts comparatively for little."

MAN SAID HE WANTED TO KILL MR. JEROME

Attempt to Batter Down Door of District Attorney's Office Ends in Arrest

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—An attempt to batter down the door of the office of District Attorney W. T. Jerome was made Wednesday by Jacob Meyer, who said he wanted to kill Mr. Jerome.

Meyer attacked the door before the district attorney's arrival and was found by the police trying to get through the panels an shouting that Mr. Jerome had failed to pay him sufficient fees for his services as a witness in the Red Light investigation a few days ago.

When Meyer was arrested a bottle of morphine and a hypodermic syringe were found in his possession. The police recognized him as a man who testified for the prosecution against Inspector Cross, Captain Herhily and Wardman Heagan in the Red Light district disclosures by Mr. Jerome. He was arraigned in police court on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment on Blackwell's Island.

THURBER, Texas, Oct. 20.—Wednesday afternoon about 4 o'clock, Dale Gilbert, an employe at the big mill and wood yard of the Thurber Coal Company, accidentally got his right hand against the saw and it was almost severed at the wrist. The doctors say amputation may be avoided, but the hand will be a weak and stiff one after it gets well.

Army Trials Increased

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.—The annual report of General George Davis, judge advocate general of the army, shows that of the commissioned officers tried during last year by the general court-martial, thirty-five were convicted, while 356 were acquitted. The total number of trials before the general court-martial of 4,800 cases shows an increse of 551 cases over last year. This increase is mainly due to the fact that a large number of deserters have been apprehended and brought to trial, the number of convictions for desertions being 1,476 this year, an increase of 440. This gain is chiefly due to the increased reward to all civil officers for the apprehension of deserters, inducing greater vigilance on their part. The number of men sentenced to dishonorable discharge was 2,529.

The other expenses will bring the cost of sending this big shipment east up to $50,000. There are about six hundred horses, consisting of 503 brood mares and about ninety-seven stallions.

CATTLEMEN ARE COMPLAINING

ABERDEEN, S. D., Oct. 20.—An investigation into the practical workings of the leasing of Indian lands for grazing purposes is in progress at Cheyenne agency, west of the Missouri river in South Dakota, under the direction of an attache of the interior department and an attorney representing the Indian Rights Association. The big cattle raisers, who for many years enjoyed the free range and who made millions out of the business, are alleged to have complained to the association, which in turn complained to the department of the interior that the leasing system was not working to the advantage of the Indians. The present inquiry, which has been under way for several weeks, was undertaken as a result of the complaints.

Prior to three years ago a few big stockmen and cattle syndicates in Sioux City, Omaha, Chicago, Kansas City and elsewhere grazed thousands of head of horses and cattle on the lands of the Indian of the Cheyenne reservation absolutely free, except for small sums paid "squaw men" and half-breeds who possessed influence with the Indians and who acted as their representatives. In 1901 Major Ira Hatch, the agent at the reservation, undertook to clear the reservation of trespassing stock. It was estimated that there were 190,000 head of stock grazing upon the range at that time, and for the privilege the Indians received nothing. The total value of this great number at $30 a head was $5,700,000.

Going to Bed Hungry

It Is All Wrong and Man Is the Only Creature That Does It

The complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, sleeplessness and general weakness so often met with. There is a perpetual change of tissues in the body, sleeping or waking, and the supply of nourishment ought to be somewhat continuous and food taken just before retiring, adds more tissue than is destroyed, and increased weight and vigor is the result. Dr. W. T. Cathell says: "All animals except man eat before sleep and there is no reason in Nature why man should form the exception to the rule."

If people who are thin, nervous and sleepless would take a light lunch of bread and milk or oatmeal and cream and at the same time take a safe, harmless stomach remedy like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in order to aid the stomach in digesting it, the result will be a surprising increase in weight, strength and general vigor. The only drawback has been that thin, nervous, dyspeptic people cannot digest and assimilate wholesome food at night or any other time. For such it is absolutely necessary to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they will digest the food, no matter how weak the stomach may be, nourishing the body and resting the stomach at the same time.

Dr. Stevenson says: "I depend almost entirely upon Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in treating indigestion, because it is not a quack nostrum, and I know just what they contain, a combination of vegetable essences, pure pepsin. They cure Dyspepsia and stomach troubles, because they can't help but cure." Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. They are in lozenge form, pleasant to take, and contain nothing but pure pepsin, vegetable essences and bismuth, scientifically compounded. Your druggist will tell you they give universal satisfaction.

RHEUMATISM THE TERROR OF WINTER

Rheumatism is usually worse in Winter because of the cold and dampness and other changed conditions of the climate. The occasional twinges of the disease that are felt during the warmer weather are changed to piercing pains, the muscles become inflamed and swollen, the nerves get sore and excited, the bones ache, and Rheumatism, the terror of winter, takes possession of the system. Then the sufferer turns to the liniment bottle, the woolen clothes, the favorite plaster or some home remedy, in an effort to get relief. But Rheumatism is not a trouble that can be rubbed away or drawn out with a plaster; these things relieve the pain and reduce the inflammation, but do not reach the real cause of the trouble, and at the next exposure another attack comes on. Rheumatism is caused by a sour, acid condition of the blood. The refuse matter and bodily impurities which should be carried off through the channels of nature have been left in the system because of indigestion, weak Kidneys, torpid Liver and a general sluggish condition of the system. These impurities sour and form uric acid, which is absorbed by the blood and distributed to the different muscles, joints, nerves and bones, causing the painful symptoms of Rheumatism. S. S. S. goes to the root of the trouble and cures Rheumatism by cleansing the blood. It neutralizes the acids and filters them out of the circulation and sends a stream of pure, rich blood to all parts of the body. Then the pains cease, the inflammation subsides, the nerves are quieted, every symptom of the disease passes away, and the cure is permanent. S. S. S. is purely vegetable and does not injure the system as do those medicines containing Potash and other minerals. Book on Rheumatism and medical advice without charge.

VOTERS DISCUSS STREET CAR LINE

Committee Named to Secure Opening of Street Needed in Third Ward

Alderman Parker introduced a petition before a meeting of the voters of the Third ward, held at the home of Frank Summers, on East Fourteenth street, Thursday night, addressed to the city council and asking that body to call upon the Northern Texas Traction Company to build the car line from Seventh and Main streets east on Seventh street to Jones and south on Jones to Front street within ninety days or forfeit the franchise that the company holds. The petition was signed by a majority of the voters present, who said that if the Traction company were thus forced to build or get out that the line would be built and thus would benefit the ward by building through part of the ward. Judge Parker announced that, petition or no petition, he intended to introduce such an ordinance at the next council meeting.

Others were opposed to the petition, and said that the Traction company had already forfeited its rights to using the street by not building in the time originally specified, and were in favor of making the petition read "to forfeit immediately." There was quite a discussion over the petition and it was allowed to stand as it read.

Another Plan

Judge Parker also offered to the voters of the club a proposition for a street car line through the ward, which met with approval of all present. The only hitch in the proposed line is the necessary opening of a right of way through one block of the ward, as the streets thereabout have too many corners to allow a street car to be run. The proposed line of the street car as given by Judge Parker is down Houston street to the Triangle and thence to Front street, east on Front to Crump street, and north on Crump to Fourteenth, where a street will have to be opened up parallel to the railroad tracks to Twelfth street. From Twelfth street the line is to run to Harding and north on Harding street to Ninth, the end of the line. It is also proposed to make a short loop near the end of the line for cars to turn around.

Efforts For Line

Judge Parker announced that as soon as the citizens of the Third ward came to him and stated that the street could be opened through the block mentioned and at a reasonable cost, he would be able to close the deal with the Northern Texas Traction Company within twenty-four hours for the line. He then went on to detail the steps taken in order to get the line. His first work was to get the railroad companies to move their tracks back from Seventeenth street and make it safe for a street car to cross there into the heart of the ward. The proposed line was first taken up with the late F. M. Haines, but his death came just before the plans were completed. B. A. Mapledoram was the next one to be seen and before the arrangements could be made the company sold out. Judge Parker then said that when President Tripp arrived in town he had to interview him and had finally gotten his consent for the line proposed.

A committee composed of Judge Martin, chairman; Roy Bracewell and John Addison was appointed to confer with the owners of the property in the block through which the proposed line is to run and report as soon as possible.

Arlington Heights Line

Judge Parker also said that he was in favor of the new Arlington Heights street car company. He went on to say that he believed that it was a very good thing and that he was always in favor of any new enterprise, as it brought competition and competition will always given the public better service, especially in the matter of street cars.

A committee composed of Messrs. Lowry, Helm and Schumacker was also appointed to invite L. C. Cole of the Arlington Heights Street Car Company to address the meeting of the citizens of the ward to be held next Thursday night.

The matter of the Jones and Front street franchises was left by the city council several weeks ago to the attorneys of the city and the Traction company, but has not been taken up by them as yet.

Letters to The Telegram

STREET CAR FRANCHISES

To The Telegram.

Now that your reference to paving Ninth street in front of the library has taken root and will probably bring good results, backed by the prominent gentlemen who presented it to the city council, why not urge the amendment of the Arlington Heights street car franchise so as to keep it off that very busy thoroughfare that is so narrow buggies and other vehicles could not possibly pass along the side next to the library, were one standing in front of it, while the occupants were inside the building, as is very frequently the case, to say nothing of the confusion and noise that will be caused by cars passing. By all means keep that section of the street free and open. The library is one of our show places and should not be marred or rendered unavailable to favor a few individuals who are bent on money profit alone as against the entire city, especially ladies, who enjoy an afternoon in the quiet of this delightful retreat, together with the young and rising generation, whose minds must not be robbed of this gratuitous opportunity to receive for more valuable returns now and in the future, subject to call of the city, state and nation as men and women fitted for all the walks of life, than can ever emenate from the dollars gathered together by a corporation wholly in its own interest. There are other as equally profitable routes for through or pick-up business that can be occupied, without doing thousands of persons damage and untold inconvenience to the public at large, besides destroying the usefulness and beauty of this grand monumen to education and civic pride. Urge the selection of another route or ask the voters to deny the privilege of entering the city at all. Such valuable rights must not be given away by this generation to their own detriment, at the same time saddling injury on posterity.

GEORGE F. ROBERTS.

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 19.

THE REAR-PLATFORM NUISANCE

To The Telegram.

Any ordinance that will clear the rear platforms of street cars in Fort Worth ought to be hailed with delight.

We have long wished for an ordinance that would prohibit anyone standing on the rear platform. First, it impedes our progress in getting on or off the car. Second, if his apparent solicitude for the ladies were sincere, it occurs to me that no gentleman would insist on standing upon the rear platform until women were compelled to crowd and jam into the car, and furthermore have the "gentleman" puff clear smoke in their faces.

I believe the ladies need as much protection from the platform rider as from any other class that patronizes our street cars.

I realize the Northern Texas Traction Company wants the nickel the platform rider pays, but now that an ordinance has been passed which gives it a chance to get rid of this nuisance. I think the company is to be congratulated for the position it has taken.

WEDDINGS

WILSON-CALLOWAY

Miss Vera Calloway and Charles Irving Wilson were married Thursday night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Calloway, in Florence street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. B. B. Ramage. It was a family wedding, only the immediate relatives being present. The bride wore a traveling gown of blue cloth with a hat to match. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left for a wedding trip through the north and east. They will live at Sedalia, Mo., where Mr. Wilson has an extensive law practice.

VINNEDGE-MOORE

The following account of the marriage of H. D. Vinnedge and Miss Beryl Moore appeared in the Indianapolis News. Mr. and Mrs. Vinnedge arrived in this city and will be at home after Nov. 10 at 1106 Hemphill street:

"At the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Moore a wedding took place last evening. The bride was their daughter, Miss Beryl Moore, and the bridegroom Harry Dean Vinnedge of Fort Worth, Texas. The Rev. George Heninger, pastor of Hall Place church, officiated. The best man was Charles Edgar Talbert and the little ring bearer, Wilbar McDevitt Moore. A harpist played the Mendelssohn 'Wedding March,' and during the ceremony the intermezzo from 'Cavalleria Rusticana.'

"The house was a bower of autumn foliage, white and pink dahlias, palms and ferns, and was lighted with candles. In the hall there were pedestals holding pink roses in tall vases.

"After the ceremony a wedding supper and reception were given. The bride's table was arranged with a basket of bride roses tied with pink ribbon, and green tapers in crystal candle holders with green shades.

"The bride wore a gown of white chiffon cloth made princess style and trimmed with lace and her veil was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses.

"Mr. and Mrs. Moore were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Vinnedge, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Talbott and Mrs. Bryant of Evansville. Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Dolly Henley of Portland, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Earle Martin of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Sheridan of Frankfort, Mr. and Mrs. Linn of Greencastle, and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Vinnedge of Chicago.

AMUSEMENTS

"McFadden's Flats," considerably rebuilt, entirely refurnished, attractively decorated interioraly and with a number of the most modern improvements, were out for inspection on the Greenwall stage last night.

As a temporary stopping place for three hours or so of enjoyment, the flats offer strong inducement. They appealed favorably to a good-sized crowd last night, which saw and heard plenty to laugh at and nothing to tire.

The flats abound in bits of funny "business," which tickles even the most sober-minded. There are some gorgeous scenic settings, a shapely, youthful ballet, a good crop of new jokes and music that goes well with the combination.

Here is one of the funny "businesses" that amused the audience last night immensely:

A policeman runs down a long stairway, fires his revolver at a spot on the stage floor, stoops down and picks up a lighted cigarette from the spot at which he had aimed. McFadden runs down the stairway immediately afterward, snaps a toy pistol at the floor, stoops down and picks up a lighted corn-cob pipe.

Such burlesque sleight-of-hand runs all the way through the Flats and calls out a laugh wherever it appears.

Then there was a "Stars and Stripes Forever" spectacle, which brought forth patriotic yells in encouraging numbers. The spectacle includes a ballet drill, a cornet quartet and a dwarf bandmaster burlesquing Sousa. The spectacle got a lively encore.

"UNCLE JOSH PERKINS"

"Uncle Josh Perkins" is the title of a play that has scored a success this season unprecedented in recent years. It is to be given here in all its entirety by the original company which first carried it on to prosperity and popularity. It will be produced here Saturday matinee and night, Oct. 21, at Greenwall's Opera House, and it is certain to play to a packed house. "Uncle Josh Perkins" is a comedy-drama; there is a touch of tragic nature in it that excites to an intense pitch the emotions of the spectators, but all ends happily. The play is also livened up by the excellent comedy and when the spectators are not in tears over the misfortune of the beautiful young heroine and the shadows that appear to threaten her future, they are laughing and applauding unreariously at the funny antics of the comedians. Some new and exceedingly clever songs and specialties are also introduced at appropriate stages of the play, a vast amount of new and magnificent scenery is used for the impressive stage pictures presented in each of the four acts of the piece.

SHEPARD'S PICTURES

Archie L. Shepard's exhibition of high art moving pictures, with a vast collection of new novelties comes to Greenwall's Opera House Monday and Tuesday nights, Oct. 23-24, matinees daily. The great standard of excellence so long maintained by Mr. Shepard will be far enhanced this season by a new and elaborate series of pictures obtained at a great expenditure of time and money.

"THE LIBERTY BELLES"

"The Liberty Belles," which will be presented at Greenwall's Opera House Wednesday matinee and night, Oct. 25, is one of the brightest, daintiest and most delightful musical pieces that have been staged in New York for years. It is interpolated from start to finish with remarkably interesting specialities and musical features.

It is presented in three scenes, which represent the dormitory of a young woman's seminary, with the pupils indulging in a clandestine midnight supper, the cooking school of "The Liberty Belles" and the veranda and grounds of a fashionable hotel in Florida.

The first scene is strikingly novel, revealing thirty handsome young women in all sorts of costumes.

Two roles are played by Leonora Robertson, one of the cleverest singing comediennes on the American stage, and Virginia Levick, who possesses a wide reputation as an interpreter of comedy roles and as a mimic. Among the men, William Conley is the feature. He, it will be remembered, was the popular favorite in many of Hoyt's comedies.

The bill for the opening night at the new Majestic theater is a strong one and almost sure to please the first audience to be greeted on Nov. 27. The interest of the public has been kept waiting for some time and now the opening bill is announced. There are nine head-line acts in the bill, all from the Proctor, Keith and Orpheum circuits. The opening bill runs the whole range of modern vaudeville, from a violin virtuoso and grand opera to a flavor of the sawdust of the circus.

The interstate circuit first offers Miss Jacoby, a remarkable girl violinist, graduate of the conservatory of Leipsic. She has made a trimphal tour in vaudeville since her return from Germany two years ago.

Thos. J. Keogh and company will present their latest success, "How He Won Her." Mr. Keogh is well known on the legitimate stage, having played leading parts in "The Mocking Bird," "The Silver Slipper" and "The Girl from Dixie."

"The Mysterious Crucible" is the much talked of liquid air act and, a startling scientific demonstration. Bars of steel are made molten in three seconds and a kettle boils on a cake of ice. These and many other wonderful acts are performed by Prof. W. H. Van Dorn.

The Prosper Troupe, five in number, are among the leading performers in their line of work. Last year they alternated between Barnum and Bailey and Ringling Bros.

Orgorita Arnold, singer, is an importation from Australia. Her personal magnetism and fire have carried her audiences with her throughout the eastern circuits.

Marie Stoddard, with her pure mimicry and impersonations, and C. Grant Gardner with his musical parodies have an act that well illustrates the laughter and action phase of vaudeville.

Gus Bruno, the originator of "Gloomy Gus" and "Happy Hooligan," is the really funny man on the bill. The Interstate circuit has secured him for his first appearance off the "legitimate" stage.

Prof. Chas. N. Rice's complete dog, pony and monkey circus is said to be the highest trained animal act of its kind on the vaudeville stage. Two cars are required to transport his show, which is, as the name indicates, a complete circus in itself. The Rice circus comes direct from the Keith circuit to open this engagement on the Interstate circuit, beginning at Hot Springs.

The performance is closed with the kinetograph with 1,000 feet of film, introducing latest events in the social, theatrical and political world.

RED LEGGED WONDERS

When the Aurora Zouaves, whose various successful competitions with the crack companies of both Europe and America have gained for them the reputation of being the best drilled organization known to military history, made their appearance with the Forepaugh and Sells shows at Madison Square Garden, New York, the Times said of them:

"The Aurora Zouaves from Illinois, the interstate champions for drill, are exciting the wonder of regular army and militia men. They are wide-awake boys, and their evolutions are so varied and quickly changing that all attempts to follow in description is absolutely futile. The manual is performed with clockwork-like order; they tread as quickly and softly as cats; they come in on the run, and they go out in skirmish order till they reach a stockade at the far end of the arena, and the escalade that follows is accomplished with the same unceasing motion that marks their drill. One follows another up the slippery side of the boards until the last one is hauled up by his gun; the whole operation of boosting and pulling and climbing having been gone through with as gracefully as though the men were treading on a floor to the music of a band."

LECTURER ATTACKS FREE IMMIGRATION

Professor John B. De Motte Delivers Strong Plea for Posterity in Fort Worth Lyceum Course

The keynote of "A Plea for Posterity," delivered by John B. DeMotte, at the city hall Thursday night, was heredity versus environment as the most important factor in human development, the handling of the subject in its many phases, showing the lecturer a deep student whose investigations have been conducted with but one probable end in view—the betterment of the race.

Professor De Motte held his audience with an increasing interest from the utterance of the first few sentences. The lecture was illustrated by original stereopticon views, enforcing the expressed views with remarkable force, being skillfully arranged and bringing out the finer points of hidden meaning in a manner more potent and lasting to memory than mere speech could have done.

Probably the most striking part of the address, regarding influence of heredity, was the inference drawn from verses 24 and 25 of the first capter of Genesis, reading as follows: "And God said, 'Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle, the creeping thing, and beast of the earth after his kind;' and it was so. And God made the beast of the earth after his kind, and cattle after their kind, and everything that creepeth upon the earth after his kind; and God saw that it was good."

The speaker, during the course of the evening, introduced facts, figures and their logical result to be a menace to the present civilization; unrestricted immigration, the throwing into the United States of thousands of undesirable and dangerous immigrants, making the plea for posterity in an appeal to young manhood and womanhood to remove the cause for jails, penitentiaries and insane asylums, rather than to increase their capacity.

The audience was large and gave frequent evidence of appreciation of the lecture.

TYPHOID NERVES

Mr. Worth Suffered Six Months of Misery But Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured Him.

Typhoid fever is sometimes called nervous fever. During the course of the fever the nerves are always profoundly disturbed, and when it is over they are left so sensitive that the patient has to be guarded against all excitement. In the tonic treatment then demanded, regard must be paid not only to building up flesh but also to strengthening the nerves. A remedy that will do both, make sound flesh to repair waste and give new vigor to feeble nerves, is the most convenient and economical. Such a remedy is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

One proof of this is the experience of Mr. Charles Worth, of East Vassalboro, Maine. He says: "I had a severe attack of typhoid fever late in the fall which left me very weak and debilitated. My heart palpitated, my breathing became difficult after the least exertion and there was numbness in both hands. I suffered in that way for fully six months. As I did not grow out of it, did not in fact see the slightest improvement as time passed, I decided to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as I knew of some cures they had effected in cases like mine.

"Almost as soon as I began taking them I could see decided improvement and after keeping on with them for several weeks I was completely well. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a most valuable remedy, and I am in the habit of recommending them to others afflicted as I was."

Thousands of testimonies from all parts of the world agree in supporting that of Mr. Worth. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the remedy to use when the blood is thin, as in anæmia; or impure, as in rheumatism; or when the nerves are weak, as in neuralgia; or lifeless, as in partial paralysis; or when the body as a whole is ill-nourished, as in general debility. When the nerves ache and tremble it means that they are starving. The only way to feed them is through the blood, and the best food is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are absolutely guaranteed to be free from opiates or other harmful drugs. They are sold by all druggists, or may be obtained directly from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The principal feature of today's market was another sensational advance in American Locomotive. This issue opened strong and advanced steadily, reaching a high mark in the last hour of 4 points above yesterday's closing figures. Although there was nothing in the session to compare with this, the general market was strong and displayed considerably more activity than has been apparent for the past few days among the rails. Brooklyn Rapid Transit, New York Central and Reading were especially active, while all of the industrial issues showed strength. The general close was strong and near the highest of the day. Money was easy. Call loans were made at 4½ per cent. Sales to noon 432,200 shares.

At a meeting held in Dallas Thursday night organization of a company to start a Fraternal Club lake on the line between this city and Dallas was effected. Twenty fraternal organizations are interested in the project. An effort was made last winter to interest Fort Worth organizations in the project, but no action was taken by them

WOULD SPEND $10,000 FOR UNMARRIED GIRLS

Indiana Young Woman Says She's Not Mercenary in Suing on Breach of Promise

CHICAGO, Oct. 18—Miss Freda Albright, a pretty young woman of Crown Point, Ind., is suing Thomas C. Dougal, manufacturer, of Chicago, for $10,000, so she may establish an institution wherein unmarried young women may be taught how to earn their livelihood. Incidentally they may be instructed how to escape the wiles of men.

Miss Albright visited the family of Thos. McCarthy, 19 Mohawk street, Chicago, last winter. Her friends there gave a dance in her honor. Among the guests was Dougal, who won her. The day for the wedding was one of disappointment and humiliation for the Indiana beauty. The appointed hour passed, and inquiry then revealed that Dougal had some weeks previously decided to wed Miss Margaret Kerr of 1447 North Whipple street.

The young woman was greatly shocked and suffered "mental anguish," which it is estimated can only be assuaged by the payment of $10,000.

Miss Albright says: "I hope nobody will think I am actuated by mercenary motives. Should I be able through this law suit to prevent the blighting of other young women's lives, by frightening the young men who blight them, I will be satisfied. If I collect the $10,000 I will use it to aid young spinsters. I think a school of stenography, business correspondence and bookkeeping would lift many girls out of poor circumstances into positions of greater usefulness and ease.

"My experience has not made me cynical. There are many worthy men. Because there may be a derelict man or woman now and then is no indication of the depravity of the times. The world is full of good people. Those who escape an alliance with others whose fickleness is demonstrated are fortunate, and should be congratulated."

GIRL ESCAPES STRANGER

Telephone Operator Runs Screaming Into House—Assailant Not Captured

WACO, Texas, Oct. 20.—Some man, whether white or black is not yet known, attempted to seize Miss Mary Lou Rogers, who works for the Independent Telephone company here, as she started in the yard of her residence on return from work last night. She screamed, ran and made her escape. Although dogs took up the trail of the assailant, no arrests have yet been made.

THE "LITTLE LOSSES"

Of today—the loss of a good clerk, of a good tenant, of a good cook, even of a good customer—may be repaired promptly by a few lines of type.

CAPTAIN REFUSED TO RESCUE SAILOR

Inspectors Suspend License of Frank W. Swayles for Six Months

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 20.—Because he did not stop his boat to rescue a sailor who had fallen into the lake the government license of Captain Frank W. Swayles of the steamer Iroquois was suspended yesterday for six months by government steamboat inspectors.

The testimony showed that Oct. 6 John McHughes, a sailor, fell from the ship as it was leaving Chicago, and that although the captain knew the man was overboard, he did not stop. Captain Swayles said that he had seen the life saving boat start for the man and that he supposed it would pick him up. McHughes, however, drowned before the life savers reached him.

NEW CURE FOR CANCER

All surface cancers are now known to be curable, by Bucklen's Arnica Salve. James Walters of Duffield, Va., writes: "I had a cancer on my lip for years, that seemed incurable, till Bucklen's Arnica Salve healed it, and now it is perfectly well." Guaranteed cure for cuts and burns. 25c at Walkup & Fielder, Holland's Red Cross Pharmacy, Renfro Drug Co.

COLD WEATHER MAKES NEW ORLEANS HOPEFUL

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 20.—The weater here today is threatening with a fall in temperature forecast. Out in the northwest the blizzard is prevailing and there is hope that the wave will come this way and add the finishing touches to the present fever fight. It only needs another cold snap to wind up most of the remaining quarantines.

Among the latest parishes to order the raising of the quarantine is St. James, which threw down the bars today.

Today's discharges are expected to bring the cases now under treatment within the hundred mark and, owing to the slump there has been since last Saturday in new cases, there will be a heavy decline in cases still existing by next week. All signs point to the fact that the present week records the lowest number of deaths since July. Though the situation here is so much improved that Dr. White will be able to spare some of his men to be returned to their stations, it is understood that all who are now here or nearby will remain until President Roosevelt's arrival, so they may be resented in a body to the chief magistrate.

The second case of fever at Franklin has been reported, but it is of a mild type. There has been a case reported also at Jeanerette, and another at Baldwin, both near Franklin and both in St. Mary's parish. It is considered not improbable that these cases came from Patterson, which is also in St. Mary's parish. The people are much alarmed, but Dr. Corput made a reassuring address, indicating that there is little danger of a spread of the disease at this season.

COMPTROLLER REFUSES WATERS-PIERCE TAXES

Declines to Accept $15,539, Unless Penalty for Failure to Report Is Paid

Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 20.—The Waters-Pierce Oil Company will have to pay $2,000 penalties under the Kennedy bill for failure to make report and pay the tax when due, as indicated heretofore in these dispatches. Today the comptroller received a remittance for $15,539 covering the tax for the quarters ending June 30 and Sept. 30, 1905, but on the advice of the attorney general the comptroller declined to accept the tax unless the company paid the penalties, aggregating $2,000. If the company fails to pay the penalties suit will be instituted.

Emergency Dry Goods Rate

Referring to a report printed in certain papers that the railroad commission had written the attorney general, asking if it could cancel the emergency rate on dry goods, an injunction on which is now pending in the federal court, without contempt to that court, Railroad Commissioner Colquitt said he knew absolutely nothing about any such letter, nor had he discussed any such proposition. Commissioner Mayfield declined to discuss the matter, saying that his conferences with the attorney general regarding the case were private.

Chairman Storey of the commission said: "We do not propose to make our methods of procedure in this case public. I can say this: The commission will not back down in its fight to sustain our class rates on dry goods."

RAILROAD RECORDS DESTROYED BY FIRE

A fire at Palestine this morning destroyed a building of the International and Great Northern, which is disconnected from the main office building in which were stored the records of the accounting and auditing departments of the system. The majority of the records were those accumulated during the past seven years, while a small proportion were current records, the value of which cannot be estimated by the company and in a measure can never be replaced. The property loss is not heavy.

It is not known here how the fire started.

LEGAL NOTICES

ELECTION PROCLAMATION

By virtue of section 55B of the amended charter of the city of Fort Worth, and by direction of the city council at a regular meeting held in council chamber of city hall, Sept. 1, 1905, I hereby call an election of the qualified voters of said city, to be held on the 4th day of November, 1905, during the legal hours for holding general elections, for the purpose of submitting to said electors for their approval or disapproval the following ordinance:

ORDINANCE NO.....

An ordinance granting to G. E. Montgomery and his assigns the right and franchise to construct, maintain and operate a street railway over and upon certain streets in the city of Fort Worth, and to erect and maintain poles and overhead trolley wires thereon.

Be it ordained by the city council of the city of Fort Worth, and by the duly qualified voters of said city at an election upon a referendum in accordance with the law in such cases made and provided:

Section 1. That in consideration of the stipulations and agreements hereinafter contained, to be kept and performed by G. E. Montgomery and his assigns, and subject to the limitations herein set forth, the city of Fort Worth, a municipal corporation in the county of Tarrant and state of Texas, has granted and does hereby grant to the said G. E. Montgomery of Tarrant county, Texas, and to his assigns, the right of way for a single track street car line, together with all necessary switches, side tracks and turn outs, over, along and upon the following streets and portions of streets, within the corporate limits of the city of Fort Worth, to-wit:

Commencing on Arlington Boulevard at the point where same is intersected by the corporate limits of the city of Fort Worth; thence eastward on said boulevard to the bridge over Clear Fork of Trinity river; thence eastward over and upon said bridge and across said river; thence east on West Seventh street to Penn street; thence south on Penn street to Texas street; thence east on Texas street to Monroe street; thence north on Monroe street to Jackson street; thence east on Jackson street to Throckmorton street; thence south 30 degrees east on Throckmorton street to Fifteenth street; thence east 30 degrees north on Fifteenth street to Jones street; thence north 30 degrees west on Jones street to Ninth street; thence west 30 degrees south on Ninth street to and across Houston street; thence in a direction a little west of south on the street lying southeastward from and adjacent to the Carnegie library building to and upon Throckmorton street to a convenient point of junction near the city hall with the line as hereinbefore set forth; and also from the above mentioned line on Fifteenth street where it crosses Houston street, and forming a junction and connection with said line, thence south 30 degrees east on Houston street to Front street; thence eastward on Front street as near as practicable to the track of the Texas and Pacific Railway Company to and upon Main street to a point as near as practicable to the Northern Texas Traction Company's tracks; and the right is hereby granted to cross any and all street car tracks that may be intersected by said line of railway.

Sec. 2. That upon the conditions, limitations and considerations aforesaid and hereafter mentioned, the said city of Fort Worth has granted and does hereby grant unto the said G. E. Montgomery and his assigns the right to construct, equip and maintain along and upon each of the said streets and portions of streets as set forth in section 1, hereof, a single line of street car track with all necessary switches, side tracks and turn-outs, and all necessary poles and wires and overhead equipment for propelling electric street cars by an overhead trolley system, and the right to operate street cars along and over its said tracks, to carry goods and passengers for hire upon and over said tracks, and to do all other things necessarily incident to the rights and privileges in this ordinance expressly granted.

Sec. 3. All tracks laid under the provisions of this ordinance, except switches, side tracks and turn-outs, and except at places where turns are made, and where the street is partially occupied by some other street car track, shall be laid and kept as nearly in the middle of the street as is practicable, and the top of each rail of each and every part of said track and the space between the rails shall be kept level with the surface of the street alongside, and the tracks, rails, poles, wires and all other equipment shall be of standard quality, and so constructed and maintained that travel upon said streets shall not be unnecessarily obstructed or endangered at any place, and all matters of construction and maintenance shall be under the supervision of, and subject to the approval of the city engineer and city electrician and the city council. All rails on portions of streets that are now, or shall hereafter be paved shall be first-class nine-inch grooved rails, and shall be laid in such manner as to make the least possible obstruction to vehicles, and shall be maintained in that condition.

Sec. 4. The said G. E. Montgomery or his assigns shall at his or their own and sole cost and expense, pave and repave, or otherwise surface and resurface and keep constantly in good order and condition with the same material with which the street outside is paved or surfaced, all that part of each street occupied by him or them which lies between the rails of said tracks, and for eighteen inches on each side thereof, and the said Montgomery, or his assigns, shall conform his or their tracks and every part thereof to the proper grade of each street, and change the level of said tracks as often as and whenever the grade of any such street is changed, so that every part of each track shall always be kept at the duly established grade line, or as near thereto as the surface of the grade of the street outside of the said track will permit.

Sec. 5. The city engineer shall direct and point out the places at which poles erected under this ordinance shall be set, provided, however, that no poles shall be set in violation of any city ordinance.

Sec. 6. The rights, privileges and franchises granted by this ordinance shall exist and continue in favor of said G. E. Montgomery and his assigns for a period of twenty-five years from and after the date of the passage of this ordinance.

Sec. 7. Said G. E. Montgomery or his assigns shall have thirty days in which to accept this ordinance, and the provisions thereof, and shall do so by filing with the city secretary of Fort Worth his or their written acceptance, and shall have six months from the date of said acceptance in which to begin the construction of said road, and twelve months in which to finish and equip said road.

Sec. 8. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

SOLD OUT TO DRAUGHON'S

Practical Business College. Southwestern Business University Is Absorbed

Many New Schools to Be Opened Soon

Yesterday afternoon J. T. Brantley of Fort Worth, Texas, superintendent of the southwestern division of Draughon's Practical Business Colleges, was in this city, and in fact has been for several days, and yesterday only succeeded in completing the deal whereby the entire stock of fixtures, good will, patronage and every particle of the Southwestern Business University, of which Mr. T. M. Milam was the president, became the property of the Draughon system of schools.

This is one of the most important changes in the business world that has taken place for some time, and is one of the criterions of the recognition that Oklahoma City is receiving. The Draughon system never makes a mistake in a location, and their coming to this city marked an epoch, and their growth, and eventual absorption of another college which was in a flourishing condition proves that they have not lost their original faith in this city as one of the best in the southwest.

Mr. Brantley talked to a reporter of the Times-Journal today and said, among other things:

"We think that Oklahoma City has a very bright future before it. I have not been here for four years or more ago. I came in 1900, and if I had not known where I was coming or if I had been suddenly landed without knowing what place I was coming to, I shou d have failed to recognize the place. The growth of this city is marvelous. We are proud of this school here, proud of our quarters, and more than proud of our patronage. We have just now begun to grow. We are placing new schools all over the United States, and there is a plan on foot to establish schools in Old Mexico."

Very little need be said regarding the importance of this college to this city. It already ranks as one of the largest, business colleges in the southwest, and it has the patronage of nearly the entire territory and Indian Territory, especially as the people are beginning to realize the sterling worth of a business education, and the sterling qualities of those affiliated with the faculty of this great school.—Daily Times-Journal, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Draughon's Practical Business College of this city, which is located in the large white stone building, corner of Fourteenth and Main streets, is perhaps the largest business and shorthand college in the south. Professor J. T. Brantley, the superintendent, states that the cash receipts for the past month at th's place show a gain of nearly 200 per cent over the corresponding period of last year—which is shown on the books of the Continental Bank and Trust Company of this city.

Both local and long distance telephones have recently been placed in every room of this college for the accommodation of the great number of pupils enrolled. Fort Worth appreciates such a substantial institution as is evidenced by the large local patronage.

DOCTOR BLAMES SCHOOLS FOR WEAKNESS IN RACE

Says Present Educational System Tends to Imperfect Physical Development

Chicago, Oct. 20.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Omaha says: "No one thing contributes so much to race suicide as our modern school system," said Dr. Fred A. Lankton yesterday, addressing the Missouri Valley Homeopathy Medical association. His subject was "the imperfect development of our girls."

He said:

"One of the most grievous problems of the day is the lack of development of our girls. Our school system so crowds the child as to divert to the brain those energies which should go to its physical upbuilding. From the nervously developed mothers the child becomes an invalid from child birth. While the body is in process of development the brain should be rested.

"It is not possible to produce a perfectly developed body and compass an education in the short period of 20 years. Owing to the strain upon our girls during the years of physical development we are creating a race of women incapable of producing a normal child.

"If you are to have a race of strong, symmetrical and capable men and women, you must modify your school system. Dull children in our schools up to the ages of 13 and 14 often develop into the most brilliant students after that time. Nature has been developing the body during those years of apparent intellectual dullness.

NEW ORLEANS FAVORED

Brigadier General Knights of Pythias Wants Convention There

John H. Tiller, brigadier general of the Texas division, Knights of Pythias, has forwarded his opinion on the question whether the 1906 convention of the supreme lodge, Knights of Pythias, should be held at New Orleans or elsewhere. This question has been raised, as was noted in The Telegram a few days ago, because of the prevalence of yellow fever on the grounds that it might not be safe to hold the meeting there.

Mr. Tiller is in favor of not making a change of place, but he does want the date changed. He thinks it would be better to hold the meeting in May rather than in September, thinking that if the date is postponed until May there will not be any possible danger from fever.

Chicago is working hard to get it changed, but Mr. Tiller does not believe that city will succeed in its efforts.

On Oct 30, officials of the supreme lodge will meet in Indianapolis to discuss this matter and to decide according to the wishes of the majority.

SMALL BOY HAS "COFFEE HEART"

Child of Eight Is in City Hospital Slowly Regaining Health

HEART BEATS TOO FAST

Muscle Was Wearing Itself Out—Drank a Dozen Cups a Day

Excessive coffee drinking, City hospital physicians say, is the cause of little Johnny Murphy's heart disease. Although only 8 years old, he has one of the worst cases of heart lesion that has ever come to the institution.

When he entered the hospital the child's heart was beating 160 to the minute, just twice the normal rate for a child of his age. For one month he has had no coffee and his heart action has been reduced to 100 beats a minute.

For two years the child has been drinking from nine to twelve cups of strong coffee every day. He began to complain of pains as if needles were sticking in his heart, and for a year has slept scarcely three hours a night, and then only when sitting propped up in a chair beside an open window.

Johnnie did not care for things to eat; coffee was all the food he craved, and except when cake or candy was given him he took no other nourishment. As he was sick and not expected to recover, he was given all the coffee he desired until a physician saw him and advised that he be sent to City hospital.

Heart Was Overworked.

Every beat of the child's heart could be plainly seen. To one inexperienced in medicine, it would seem that the heart extended over two-thirds of the chest region, and the pulsation is of a heavy, prolonged character, quite different from the sharp, quick beat of the normal heart.

The boy is small for his age, and efforts of physicians have been to build up his strength. His treatment has been largely tonics and heart regulating medicines, such as strophantus or digitalis.

As the heart, like other muscles, can stand only a given amount of work, hospital internes estimate that the 60 beats a minute he is now being saved will prolong his life ten or twelve years.

The heart of a man who dies at 70 years has beaten 260 million times, and if the normal beat is 72, little Johnny Murphy was living twice as fast as any normal person. When he first entered the hospital, physicians freely prophesied that he could live only a few weeks. Under the treatment and total abstinence from coffee he has so improved that his chances for a long life are considered good if the heart lesion and degeneration already set up can be healed.

He is a son of John Murphy of 116 South Fourteenth street. Mrs. Murphy told the physicians that none of her other children had showed signs of heart disease nor had they a marked fondness for coffee.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Literally thousands of people suffer more or less from heart weakness caused by coffee, and with some, even one cup a day will bring on heart trouble.

The heart that has been only slightly attacked by coffee will protest and make its weak condition known under slight exertion, and it is plainly a dangerous condition to get into. It is a curious fact that coffee does not always attack the heart but goes after the stomach, liver and bowels of some and leaves the heart alone.

It is plainly classed as an active toxic and its work shows somewhere on most users. It is easy to rid one's self of the habit by using well-brewed Postum Coffee. The change in symptoms is shown in a day or two as a rule, and that change shows the used to a certainty that coffee was the destroyer.

It is useless to warn some people, even when it is easy to quit and be well again. So they peg along, sick and miserable, charging their ails to "food," "east wind," "heredity," and what not, until some day the stroke comes when abused nature reaches the limit. It's easy to be well if one cares for the joy of health. One of the plain, sure, well-built and well-kept highways, with sign boards on each side, is the Postum route.

There's a reason.

SPORTING SALAD

Young Herman is seeking a match with Young Corbett, who is in Philadelphia and "nearly broke," according to report. If this report is true Herman should have no trouble getting a match.

Chicago prize fighters came early to avoid the rush, and Mayor Dunne promptly killed the goose that lays the hard-boiled egg. An inability to distinguish between liberty and license has killed the game in other towns besides Chicago.

The decision of Mr. Keene to race Sysonby as a four-year-old will be received with joy by track followers. Such racers as Sysonby do not come often.

The veteran Phil King is coaching the Badger eleven, assisted by Eddie Holt and Kraxlein. Not a "W" man is missing from the team. The dissension which has marred Wisconsin athletics for several years is said to have entirely disappeared.

President C. W. Boyer of the South Atlantic League, and part owner of the Savannah team, is critically ill with typhoid fever in Hagerstown, Md.

The failure of Frank Gotch, champion wrestler of the world, to shine as a prize fighter, recalls that few wrestlers ever made good as pugilists. Gotch was put aside by a second-rater named Boomer Weeks. His defeat recalls that Eugene Sandow, one of the strongest men in the world, once thought to turn his immense strength to advantage in the prize ring. Sandow could strike a blow that would shatter a twenty-pound rock, he could lift the combined weight of twenty persons, and with a rope around his chest he could cutpull two horses. Sandow arranged a tryout with Fitzsimmons, and when the lanky one got through hammering him, Sandow concluded that nature never intended him for a pugilist. He was muscle-bound and too slow moving to use his great strength to any advantage in the ring.

FOOTBALL TERM

A FINE FULLBACK.

In a test of heavy electric automobiles made by Paris manufacturers it was shown that heavy cabs and landaus weighing from 3,300 to 4,000 pounds averaged from sixteen to twenty-eight miles an hour on stretches of fifty miles over country roads. The tests disclosed the great advancement that has been made in electric autos.

Al Kaufmann, who is in Los Angeles, says he will take on all aspirants for top-notch honors as fast as they can sign the articles. He says he prefers to meet Marvin Hart. As Hart has signified a willingness to fight Kaufmann there should be no time lost in fixing the date for the match.

That athletes are not immune from the "white man's scourge" is again illustrated by the death of Frank J. Parvin, 35 years old, formerly a pitcher with the St. Joseph, Mo., Western League team. Parvin died of tuberculosis at his home in Carrolton, Mo.

Campaigning on the Grand Circuit is an expensive luxury, according to F. G. Jones, president of the Memphis Trotting Association, and he has decided to retire from the harness game as an owner. Among his string of horses are Tom Axworthy, Baron Gratton and Morning Start.

The success of the international auto race for the Vanderbilt cup means that there will be another international race on Long Island next year. E. R. Thomas, a Buffalo maker, has signified a willingness to put up a $2,000 cup for a race next year, the trophy to be known as "The Home Industry Cup," and to be raced for under a commission of American makers.

The report that Hemery's victorious Darrack was destroyed by fire the day after it had won the Vanderbilt cup in the Long Island races was correct to the extent that the tires and cushions were slightly damaged.

The challenge of Alta P. McDonald, driver of Sweet Marie 2:04¼, to race the mare against any trotter in the world for any amount up to $10,000, should bring a response from the owner of Major Delmar. What a race these two premiers of the turf would make!

In an interview in Kansas City, Battling Nelson says football is entirely too brutal. Wouldn't that knock your block off?

In the world's championship series the Athletics stole two bases, while the Giants purloined eight; each team made three double plays; New York made seven two-base hits, the Athletics five; in twenty-seven innings Mathewson made one wild pitch and gave one base on balls. Mathewson struck out eighteen men in twenty-seven innings, McGinnity seven in eighteen, Plank struck out eleven, Bender thirteen in eighteen innings, Coakley struck out two; in team batting New York stood .208 to Philadelphia's .161; in team fielding the Giants led off with .977 to their opponents .964; Bresnahan was the only player on either team to bat over .300, being 13 points over that mark.

TEXAN EXPECTS WEALTH FROM KLONDIKE MINE

Former Paris Man Looks for $12,000,000 to $30,000,000 From Land Near Dawson

DENISON, Texas, Oct. 20.—Colonel J. S. Williams, a former United States marshal, who is well known in North Texas, but who for eight years has been engaged in mining in the Klondike, was in Denison Wednesday from Paris, Texas, which place he makes him home while in the states.

Colonel Williams has prospected over a large portion of the Klondike, but has now concentrated his efforts upon a single piece of property—a tract of 220 acres near Dawson where the rich land is found. Upon this he has placed improved machinery, costing in the neighborhood of $350,000. He estimates that the land will yield from $12,000,000 to $30,000,000 in gold.

The Klondike has only been scratched, according to the statement of Colonel Williams, and people are still pouring into the country, and sensational finds are still a matter of common occurrence.

"Within a radius of ten miles around Dawson," said Colonel Williams, "$125,000,000 in gold has been taken out, and three-fourths of this amount has been found along Bonanza creek. When I arrived in the Klondike this stream was thought to be non-gold producing, but a chance discovery led to its being known as the richest place in the region."

DISFIGURING ULCER

People Looked at Her in Amazement. Pronounced Incurable. Face Now Clear as Ever.

THANKS GOD FOR CUTICURA

Mrs. P. Hackett, of 400 Van Buren St., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I wish to give thanks for the marvelous cure of my mother by Cuticura. She had a severe ulcer, which physicians had pronounced incurable. It was a terrible disfigurement, and people would stand in amazement and look after her. After there was no hope from doctors she began using Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills, and now, thank God, she is completely cured, and her face is as smooth and clear as ever."
