

EYE-WITNESS TELLS SHOCKING STORY OF TERRIBLE MASSACRE IN ODESSA

Correspondent Tells Both Sides of Awful Tragedy

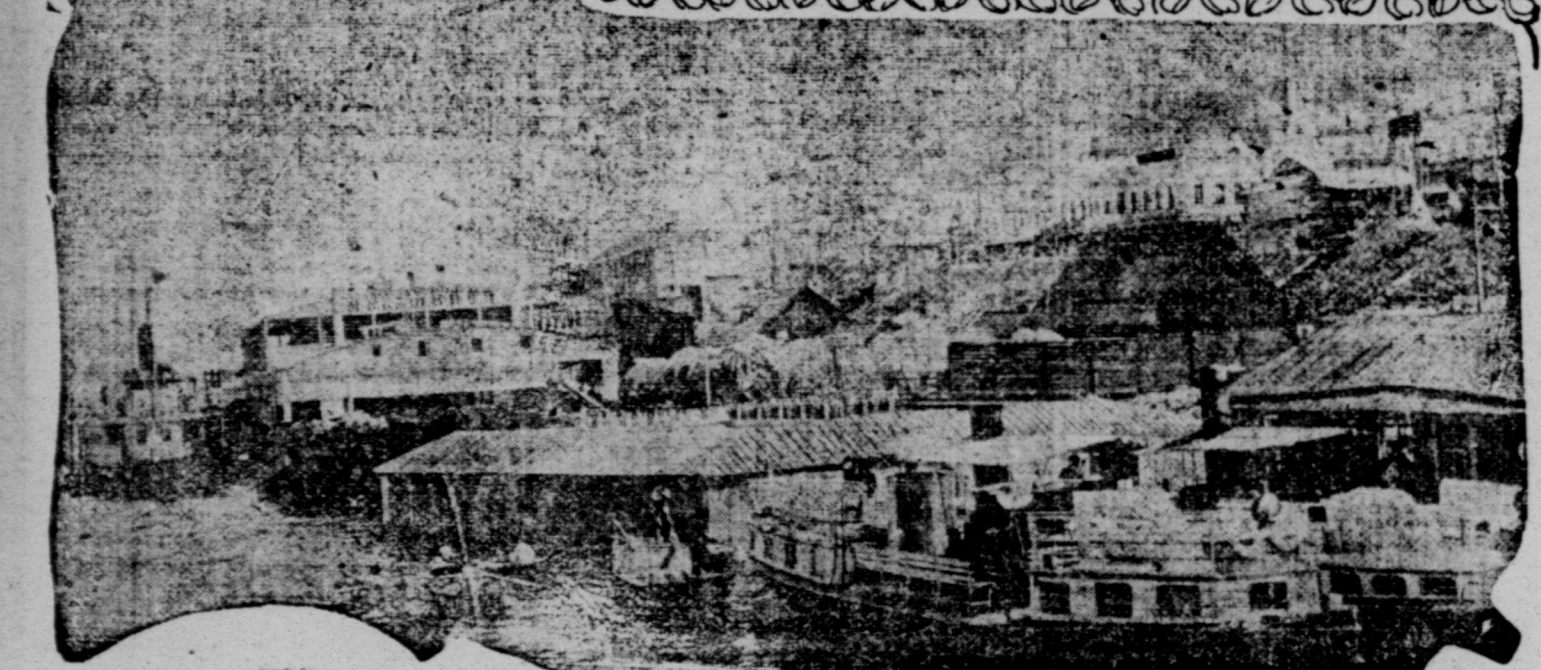

5,000 WERE SLAIN

Rioting Started by Students, Ended in Slaughter, Looting and Carnival of Crime

This is the first story by mail (and therefore uncensored) which has come from Odessa since the recent riots there.

BY R. T. FLEMING. Special to The Telegram.

ODESSA, Nov. 6.—The first days of

SCENE IN ODESSA WHERE THE RECENT JEWISH MASSACRES TOOK PLACE AND PHOTOGRAPHS OF SOME OF THE MEMBERS OF THE BUTOWSKY FAMILY, THIRTY OF WHOM WERE WIPED OUT.

The general strike in Russia gave no warning to the people of Odessa of the awful massacre and reign of terror which was to follow.

The city was peaceful and calm to Sunday, Oct. 29. Then rioting was started by the students.

Many of the most intelligent of the students were Jews, and they collected crowds at the street corners.

The people listened to the Jewish orators, some with stolid indifference and others obviously inflamed by the oratory.

At last the students, carried away themselves by their own speeches, made a rush for a number of street cars in the principal thoroughfares of the city.

The young collegians all together could not hope to withstand an attack by even a company of soldiers.

People gathered about the barricades, curiously watching the school boys, as people in an American city watch a parade.

The incident cooled the desire of the students for active resistance.

They continued making inflammatory street speeches, particularly the Jew students, until Wednesday, Nov. 1, when, at 11 o'clock in the morning, news arrived from St. Petersburg that the czar had given in to the demands of the revolutionists and had granted a constitution. Immediately the streets became the scene of the wildest enthusiasm.

Strangers hugged and kissed one another, people shouted and sang, and students, carrying red flags, boarded the street cars and made the passengers uncover and cheer for the new Russia.

There began to gather an ominous anti-Semitic feeling, that ran like fire through the city. It was fed by the Jew students, who went about claiming that it was they who had given Russia her freedom.

"We have given you your God, and we now give you your freedom." The Jews trampled on portraits of the czar, and tore down all the Russian flags they could find.

Russians addressing each other in the streets said: "What is this, little brother, freedom?" "Yes, freedom; but freedom for us Russians, not for Jews."

This kind of talk, by the Jews on the one hand and by Russians on the other, continued throughout Wednesday. In the afternoon it was reported that a general massacre of Jews was being planned, and the latter began to show fear.

Wednesday evening the rough element in Moldavanka, Peresik and other suburbs of Odessa started the murderous work. They looted a number of Jewish shops, injuring several Jews who attempted to protect their property.

Thursday morning, Nov. 2, the news of what had happened in the suburbs the night before spread through Odessa and drove the people of the city mad with excitement.

Then began the slaughter, men rushing through the streets like Malays amuck, carrying revolvers and knives and slaughtering every Jew they encountered. It was a chaos of destruction.

The city edition, which is on the streets between 3:30 and 4 p. m. daily, will be better than ever.

By direct wire into its news rooms the Telegram receives the Associated Press copy and this, up to the latest possible moment, will be included in the noon edition.

Former President of Bnai Brith Expects Many to Leave Russia for United States

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 25.—Simon Wolf of this city, former president of the National Organization of Bnai Brith, and a leading member of the executive committee, declared in an address last night he feared the recent atrocities in Russia will bring about another exodus of Jews to this country.

Today we have 90,000,000 happy, intelligent and prosperous American citizens and at least 1,500,000 are Jews.

The wonderful growth of the Jewish contingent of American citizens is larger in proportion than almost any other and has become so owing to persecutions, privations and lack of equal rights in other countries.

"I fear recent atrocities and horrors that surpass in their tragic results pictures Dante painted of inferno, will bring about another exodus surpassing in volume and misery that which preceded it."

A Solemn Duty.

A solemn duty which we owe society, our children and ourselves is that nothing which can be done to assist nature at that time when our wives are to become mothers should be left undone. Of all the countless details to be observed at such a time, no single one is of more importance than the bodily welfare of the expectant mother; she must not experience undue suffering through any lack of effort on our part.

jump on the fellow that is down and that other people are pounding. I should like to see a man as mayor of Fort Worth who takes a lively interest in current affairs and who is willing to lead off and express his opinion whether it coincides with mine or not. I cannot have great respect for the man who waits for some one else to speak, who waits the public pulse before speaking and who then joins the popular chorus. There are theories of government now being discussed throughout this country. One, that of the referendum, is on probation here now; and another, that of municipal ownership of public utilities, is agitating the public mind throughout the land. Not one word has Judge Harris said, so far as I have been able to observe, upon these two important questions except in response to a direct demand for an expression of his views made to him by the Third Ward Civic League. On this occasion, if I remember correctly, he stated that he favored both the referendum and municipal ownership, with such conditions and "ifs" and "buts" as to mean that maybe he was on the other side. In other words, he will be in favor of it to such an extent that those who favor it could say that he was a municipal ownership and referendum man, and opposed to it to such an extent that those who are opposed to it could say that he was not a municipal ownership and referendum man to hurt. It was a magnificent straddle.

There are other questions of local concern, such as providing a public park boulevard while land is cheap, present methods of assessing property and the present high assessment; the extension of the gas franchise of the Fort Worth Light and Power Company before its expiration; having a government by a commission as other cities are doing, etc. I should rather know his views on these important questions than to know whether or not he had been mayor. He would have voted for or against the extension of the water mains to the Fairmount addition or to the Capps Land Company or would have been in favor of paying John Hawley the $250 or any of the other matters that are now settled. They are all settled; maybe right or maybe wrong, but it is past, and he can give no relief. It is the future we are looking to.

As the gentleman is so much interested in the dead past, I should like to know whether he would like to know whether we have just held, all of which were of some interest to the public—and how he voted. I am informed by one of the judges of those elections that he did not vote in any of these elections. Is this true? I ask him: Is this true? If true, I would like to know if he was absent from the city, sick or disabled? If not, then how is it that a man who has such a lively interest in current things affecting his city and who is so deeply concerned about its welfare failed to exercise the privileges of citizenship? ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

THOUSANDS OF MEN AND WOMEN HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND NEVER SUSPECT IT

To Prove What the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root, Will Do for YOU, Every Reader of The Telegram May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Absolutely Free by Mail

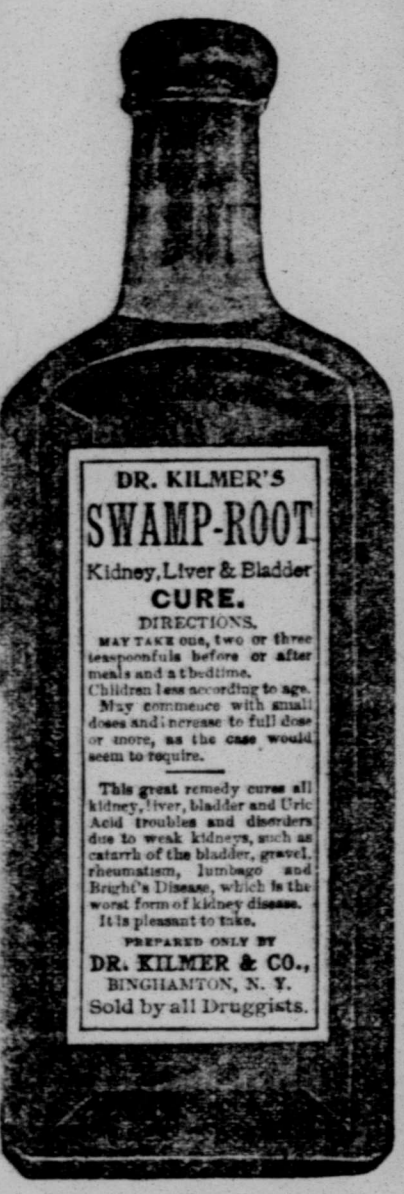

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected, and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel lousy," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys begin to get better they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

I was out of health and run down generally; had no appetite, was dizzy and suffered with headache most of the time. I did not know that my kidneys were the cause of my trouble, but somehow felt that they might be, and I began taking Swamp-Root. There is such a pleasant taste to Swamp-Root, and it goes right to the spot and drives disease out of the system. It has cured me, making me stronger and better in every way, and I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers.

Gratefully yours,
MRS. A. L. WALKER, 331 East Linden St., Atlanta, Ga.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for many kinds of diseases, and if permitted to continue, much suffering and fatal results are sure to follow. Kidney trouble irritates the nerves, makes you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable. Makes you pass water often during the day and obliges you to get up many times during the night. Unhealthy kidneys cause rheumatism, gravel, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints and muscles; make your head ache and back ache, cause indigestion, stomach and liver trouble, you get a sallow, yellow complexion, make you feel as though you had heart trouble; you may have plenty of ambition, but no strength; get weak and waste away.

The cure for these troubles is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the world-famous kidney remedy. In taking Swamp-Root you afford natural help to Nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect, tender and gentle aid to the kidneys that is known to medical science.

How to Find Out

If there is any doubt in your mind as to your condition, take from your urine on rising about four ounces, place in a glass or bottle and let it stand twenty-four hours. If on examination it is milky or cloudy, if there is a brick-dust settling, or if small particles float about in it, your kidneys are in need of immediate attention.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is used in the leading hospitals, recommended by physicians in their private practice, and is taken by doctors themselves who have kidney ailments, because they recognize in it the greatest and most successful remedy for kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

(Swamp-Root is pleasant to take)

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle

EDITORIAL NOTE—So successful is Swamp-Root in promptly curing even the most distressing cases of kidney, liver or bladder troubles, that to prove its wonderful merits you may have a sample bottle and a book of valuable information, both sent absolutely free by mail. The book contains many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women cured. The value and success of Swamp-Root is so well known that our readers are advised to send for a sample bottle. In sending your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say you read this generous offer in the Fort Worth Daily Telegram. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Judge Harris, having adjourned his performance from Wednesday night for prayer meeting—as if the twenty-five or thirty men who go out to hear him would break up all of the prayer meetings in town—made another speech, in the Fifth ward Thursday night. From the Record's report it appears that he has made the same old speech with slight variations. His position now seems to be that there has been no actual grafting—no downright dishonesty—but that several things have been done which he thinks are mistakes and should not have been done.

If this argument means anything, it is that when he is elected mayor there will be no mistakes—every duty will be so discharged that nobody can find fault; whereas, Mr. Lassiter and Colonel Taylor will continue to stumble along in the old blind human way. It must be admitted that his logic is a little lame, for it does not follow because Captain Padlock or Mayor Ponce all have erred that Mr. Lassiter or Colonel Taylor will do so. Grant the charge that the things complained of by him were all mistakes and all wrong, and that his opponents are liable to err also; then the only question for us to consider is whether or not Judge Harris is infallible—and if it is possible for him to err, then whether or not it is probable that he will do so. Of course, if we concede infallibility to him that would settle the question. It would then necessarily be my duty and the duty of every man to support him. Does he claim this? If he does, his record would disprove the claim. He has committed errors as a public official and as a man beside which some of those mentioned by him would pale into insignificance.

If this campaign is to be waged along these lines, it is cast upon a very low plane and not becoming the dignity of the office sought. It will be both frivolous and ridiculous. It will involve an investigation of the character of the candidate who claims to be immaculate and infallible as well as the one who does not make such extravagant pretensions. The gentleman should not complain, as he seems disposed to do, when he and his record are attacked, for he should remember that people who live in "glass houses should not throw stones."

The only difference between the Fifth ward speech and those heretofore made is a reference to the extension of the water mains to Fairmount addition. As to this he is reported to have said "that he was not saying that it was not right to extend these mains, but he is unalterably opposed to extending pipes to any man's addition in order to enable him to sell lots." Was this particular act of the council right or wrong? If right, why not say so? Why discuss it at all? If wrong, why not condemn it as such? If he thinks it right, but merely wants to call attention to the fact that Ben Waggoner profited by it, why not say so in terms rather than by intimation, and why not say in that connection also that Ben Waggoner voted against the proposition, and why not say also that one of the signers of his petition to make the race for mayor, Jake Zurek introduced the resolution to make this extension? And why not say also that one of his leading supporters, Ed Maddox, voted for the proposition?

It would seem that the candidate is trying to find something to criticize and that is always an easy thing to do. But a fault-finding campaign will hardly appeal to the reason of intelligent men. In this enlightened age the public demands that a man come out and stand for something. If there has been corruption let the gentleman say it and place the responsibility on the guilty man. If he has any idea as to what policy this city should pursue in the future or any theories about its government, let him courageously step forth and proclaim them, regardless of who may differ with him.

Notwithstanding the fact that the street car company has done more for the development of Fort Worth than any other institution here except the packing houses, and more for its convenience than any other institution unless it is the telephone company, still it has apparently many enemies and few friends. Notwithstanding the aldermen serve the city, giving it their time and thought and effort for a nominal consideration of $6 or $8 a month, there are always but few people to speak out in their favor and many to speak against them. It may be good politics to appeal to the supposed prejudice against the Traction Company and the city council and to crystallize this prejudice into a platform, but it is not good taste, nor is it—I came near saying, good morals. At any rate, it does not require a great deal of courage to

A Live Wire

Every nerve is a live wire connecting some part of the body with the brain. They are so numerous that if you penetrate the skin with the point of a needle you will touch a nerve and receive a shock—pain it is called. Aches and pains come from a pressure, strain or injury to a nerve; the more prominent the nerve the greater the pain. When the pain comes from a large nerve it is called Neuralgia whether it be the facial nerves, or the heart, stomach, sciatic or other prominent nerve branch. To stop pain, then, you must relieve the strain or pressure upon the nerves. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do this.

"I suffered intense pain, caused by neuralgia. I doctored and used various medicines without getting relief until I began taking Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They never fail to cure my headaches, and their use never leaves any bad after-effects."

Winter Itch

It's not a pretty word—"Itch"—it's not used as much now as it used to be when people spoke plainly. Nowadays it's called "skin trouble," or "rash," or "eczema," anything but the true, old-fashioned name. So people not hearing the name think there's no such thing as "Itch" any more. There is, but it's known by another name. You can't afford to overlook a single thing the matter with your skin—just a little roughness, or an itching that hangs on, or a succession of pimples, any unnatural condition of the skin. There's always the possibility that the "itch" will result. If you had to go through a long and expensive course of treatment in curing any of these small troubles, there might be some excuse for taking chances that they would not amount to anything—but as it's so easy to check and cure them, it seems almost reckless to neglect them.

OF INTEREST TO THE CATTLEMEN

FEEDING IN IOWA

WALL LAKE, Iowa, Nov. 25.—There is as much speculation regarding the number of cattle on feed in Iowa today as there is regarding the volume of the corn crop. As the consensus of opinion is that feed lot population is less than last year, the natural inference is that more cattle will be shipped to Chicago. It is always well to "copper" public opinion on this topic.

Iowa is full of home-bred young cattle," said a stocker dealer. "Because buying of feeders at Missouri river markets has been light during the past season does not mean that cattle are not in the country. I am convinced that the volume of country feeder trade is larger than last year. Most of the good feeders never go to market. They are either finished by their breeders or are sold in the neighborhood."

The feeding situation has been complicated by uncertainty regarding the price of corn. Cattle feeders did not expect a bull movement at Chicago in the fall in the face of a bear government estimate. Many of them are fearful that when their own supply of feed has been exhausted, they will be "held up" to replenish their cribs. This happened last January and February, causing the heavy movement of unfinished steers to market that so severely depressed the market at that time. It was a condition that caught feeders unawares and caused heavy loss. Shrinkage, owing to severe weather, was enormous, railroads were unable to supply cars, and markets were glutted, demoralizing prices. It is with the object of avoiding similar experience that many are shipping out cattle now.

A drop in the price of corn would undoubtedly prove a stimulus to cattle feeding operations. It would at least be an incentive to feeders to hold their stuff longer and make it better.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

It was with some misgiving that I engaged a man whom I had not heard to be the star lecturer of the Popular Lyceum for this season. But after thorough inquiry Guy Carlton Lee, Ph. D., LL. D., was decided upon as that man. I have no fears now, since hearing him in McKinney this week in "The True Jefferson Davis," but can unqualifiedly pronounce him a great lecturer. It is with great pleasure and confidence that I announce him for Saturday night in his greater lecture, "The Man of So-called Rows." He is a deep thinker, a scholarly man, an eloquent and forceful speaker, and has a great message. He is the third number of the lyceum. Season tickets honored. Prices, 50c and 75c, at Conner's.

LITTLE PROGRESS IN RATE MAKING

Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce Is Divided

Thus far in the discussion of the rate-making question by the senate committee on interstate commerce nothing tangible has developed, and the discussions seem to indicate that there is a sharp division of views on what is the best thing to do.

There is of the further indication that a majority of the committee will favor a measure giving the commission more power, which means, in some form, control over rates. It seems to be quite well understood that three republicans and enough democrats favor such legislation to insure a rate-making bill be reported. It is understood in Fort Worth that the measure to come up in congress will embody the ideas of Sam H. Cowan of this city on the question, as it is well known that he has been asked for suggestions along the line of rate-making.

Under existing conditions in congress it is more than likely that the rate measure to be considered will be along conservative lines, and will not be radical or to extremes, in an effort to not cause a rupture among republican members who are not inclined to favor a rate-making bill.

President Roosevelt's position on the matter is well known. He favors relief to shippers and will, at the proper time, make his recommendations touching the matter of regulating railroad rates.

The general belief is that there will be prolonged consideration of the matter in both the committee and the senate before the question is finally settled. Some members of the senate have already expressed themselves and say they favor comprehensive action on the whole matter of transportation by means of a national incorporation act covering the incorporation of new companies as well as the consolidation of old, guarding strictly against overcapitalization, preferences, rebates, discriminations and compelling an automatic but gradual reduction in rates as the total business of the country increases, by a limitation of dividends.

NEW COUNTRY OPEN

Santa Fe to Build Through Historically Picturesque and Fertile Section of New Mexico

In its successful effort to lower its grades for the transccontinental haul from Chicago to the Pacific coast, the Santa Fe railroad is now opening up a virgin territory in eastern and central New Mexico larger than many of the eastern states, reached heretofore only by the sheep path and the Indian trail.

The new line from Texico on the Texas border, to Belen, on the main line of the Santa Fe to El Paso, just south of Albuquerque, is now well under way. Construction work has been going on for some time, but very little has been said about it by the company. This work has been progressing now for nearly one and a half years.

There are now 4,000 men at work on the grade of this cut-off. It is said that by next summer the Santa Fe company will have achieved its long-cherished dream of a low grade line across the continent. And while it will accomplish this it will also have opened up this hitherto untouched section of New Mexico, 200 miles in length, with thousands of acres of range for cattle and sheep.

The cut-off will pass through an interesting country, where lie the ruins of the Grand Quivera, the famous Indian city pointed out as one of the seven cities of Cibola. A vast lava bed stretches through it for fifty miles. It was in this section that the Apaches had their sunset retreats. Indian trails are still plainly to be seen, and it is a country that but few white men have ever traversed before the surveyors for the Santa Fe entered the country.

This cut-off of the Santa Fe is a very expensive piece of railroad building, but it will save that company several hundred miles of hauling from Texas to the Pacific coast, while it will also give a very much more satisfactory grade.

PLANNING MEXICAN SCHEDULE

Passenger Agents and Officials Confer in Chicago

General Passenger Agent Price of the International and Great Northern of Palestine, who was here a few days ago, has gone to Chicago, where he will confer with the officials of the Iron Mountain and the National Lines of Mexico. The object of the conference is to agree on a schedule for the St. Louis-Mexico train-de-luxe service that is to be inaugurated by the lines named between St. Louis and the City of Mexico, Jan. 16.

The Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain interests are being represented by General Passenger Agent H. C. Townsend, while those of the National Lines are to be represented by George W. Hibbard.

This service will be the quickest, it is said, that has ever been provided between points in the United States and Mexico, while the equipment to be used will be the most modern ever used by any railroad in the country.

HOMESEEKERS MOVING

All Trains Compelled to Increase Equipment

The first movement of homeseekers from the north and east to the southwest began last Tuesday and trains out of St. Louis were crowded with passengers. As the lines found it necessary to increase their equipment, especially to increase the case with the Frisco, which was forced to run the evening trains in sections.

It is reported here that about 1,500 or 2,000 homeseekers passed through the St. Louis gateway Tuesday for the southwest. Many of these came to Texas and the territories, while a few went on into Mexico.

RAILROADS IN SPEED WAR

Rock Island and Santa Fe After $250,000 Contract

A $250,000 mail contract is considered a speed war contesting for and to this end a speed war was inaugurated between Kansas City and Los Angeles, by the Rock Island and the Santa Fe companies.

Already these roads have reduced the running time between these two cities from thirty to forty-five minutes, and each company is striving to further shorten the running time.

The government pays $250,000 to the railroad that secures the contract for hauling the mails between Kansas City and Los Angeles for one year. This sum has been the incentive to cause these roads to make the time between the two points as short as possible.

STEEL RAILS WANTED

All Mills Rushing to Meet Railroad Orders

All steel mills are crowded with orders for rails and many orders will be placed by the railroads before Christmas. The price of iron ore has advanced 25 per cent over prices of last season and it is believed that advances will reach as high as 50 per cent.

There is a surprisingly strong demand for steel rails, the principal sales of the present week being: Illinois Central, 35,000 tons; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, 5,000; Cotton Belt, 12,000; Alaska Central, 5,000; Texas and Pacific, 5,000; Seaboard Air Line, 6,700, and the Illinois Traction Company, 4,000.

The rails being purchased by both the Cotton Belt and the Texas and Pacific are being used in betterment of the tracks in this state, the former making several extensions.

The Texas and Pacific is using its new rails in enlarging sidings, especially the tracks between Fort Worth and Dallas. It is the intention of this company to eventually have the track between the two places a double one. Work to this end has been under way for several months.

REVAL CABLE RECEIVED

B. Z. Friedman Hears From Family in Russia

B. Z. Friedman of this city this morning received a cable message from Reval, Russia, informing that his relatives in that city have survived the massacres and are well.

The message saying "All well," was in response to a cable inquiry sent by Mr. Friedman Friday afternoon, following the receipt of a postal telling of the danger in that city and expressing a fear of worse to come.

The postal received by Mr. Friedman was:

"Dearest Ben—Today I am able to write you a few lines. God knows whether I will be able to do so tomorrow. We are awaiting a program (massacre) in Reval tonight or tomorrow. We are all very excited, but still we hope it won't come to it. We are all half dead. In case anything shall happen, which God beware, you will get to know it. We all bid you all good-by, and beg you not to forget us and don't know whether we will be living by the time you get this. Good-by, our dear ones, once more. We shall meet again on the beautiful shore. Your mother, sisters, brothers and Lydia."

REVIVAL OF THE SHEEP INDUSTRY. While the figures compiled by the state comptroller for the present year show a falling off in the number of cattle and horses, it is shown there are about 25,000 more sheep in the state now than one year ago.

side had 4,795,751 head, a gain of 100 per cent in the census period from 1860 to 1870, while the eastern section had 23,882,200, a gain of practically 20 per cent for the same time.

In 1880 the western division had 12,301,837 sheep, a gain of near 300 per cent, between 1870 and 1880, while the eastern section had 22,890,237, a decrease of 791,963 head.

In 1890 the western division had 15,264,538 head, an increase of three millions in the ten years census period, while the eastern division showed a decrease of 2,250,000 sheep.

In 1900, when the largest sheep population ever recorded for the United States was reported to be 61,605,811 head, the western division had to its credit 33,701,380, a gain of 18,426,842 over the previous census of 1890, or an excess of 3,172,304 sheep more than double its population in the ten-year period, 1890 to 1900.

The review of statistics taken from the government reports, shows conclusively that the western half of the United States has become the great sheep and wool center, and that it has been won on merits as being the best adapted district of the country to the successful management of flock industry.

THE PLEA OF THE PACKERS

Commissioner Garfield has not given out any denial of the packers' plea to the effect that he promised them immunity; but Attorney General Moody's statement seems to cover the case and to saddle the burden of proof squarely upon the defendants, both as to the assertion that they testified under contract and the further assertion that the bills were found upon their testimony.

Attorney General Moody explains that "while Commissioner Garfield, acting upon the resolution adopted by congress, which ordered an investigation of the meat business by the bureau of corporations, obtained a vast amount of information about the trade, none of this was used by the department of justice before the Chicago grand jury which found true bills against the packers."

While Mr. Garfield has filed no counter affidavit and has not denied positively over his own signature the allegations of the defendants, this statement through the attorney general amounts to an emphatic denial of the claims of the packers and at once establishes an issue of fact.

As it is explained further, it will be recognized, however, that Attorney General Moody's statement by no means settles the matter. The government will resist the plea in bar, and it is for the courts to say whether or not its position is correct.

A late report from Washington indicates pretty broadly that the packers have been caught in a trap of their own setting. It is alleged that the defendants in the beef trust cases asked Commissioner Garfield for immunity from punishment or prosecution if they would furnish him with certain testimony and this promise of immunity was denied by Commissioner Garfield.

It is now alleged by the government authorities that this request of immunity on the part of the packers was tantamount to a confession of guilt, and their plea of immunity made at this time is but another evidence of a monumental bluff.

Commissioner Garfield made no promise of immunity to the packers. The government did not deprive itself of the right of a criminal prosecution under the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law because it, in the first instance, asked for an injunction against the packers.

Commissioner Garfield, if the government needs him, could now go on the stand in the packers' trials and his statement would go far toward securing conviction by itself.

All of the foregoing points are necessarily and obviously involved in a very important statement recently given out by the attorney general and referred to by the News. This statement contains the points which will be made in reply to the packers' plea in bar, and will be filed in Chicago in a few days.

The attorney general asserts in the most positive terms that none of the information obtained by Commissioner Garfield, was used before the grand jury, and further says that he is informed by Commissioner Garfield and believes that at certain stages of the investigation the defendants declined to give information unless they were put in a position to obtain the immunity provided by the act of congress and required by the constitution of the United States, and that when such instances occurred, acting under a conference with the attorney general, Commissioner Garfield refrained from pursuing the inquiry further and made no other attempt to obtain information, documentary or otherwise, along those lines.

Another point in the situation that is weakening the case of the packers every day is the fact that they are claiming this immunity. If they are innocent there would be no occasion to invoke the aid of a technicality to save them from the penalty of their alleged wrongful acts.

It is clear, then, under this view of the situation, that in the frenzied efforts made by the packers to keep their cases from going to trial, they have been digging an additional pitfall under their own feet, which will be a strong factor in securing their

AMONG THE EXCHANGES

Secretary Taft, in a recent speech in Kansas City, says there is no possible show of independence for the Filipinos for at least a generation. The United States must govern until the people are densely ignorant, become educated enough to self-govern.—Mineral Wells Index.

The American people have announced very emphatically that they do not intend to give up the Philippines. And the people rule.

The Cleburne papers do not appear to be so anxious to drive the Poindexter band wagon this trip. Maybe our Cleburne contemporaries contemplate flying the Odell kite.—Grandview Tribune.

The Cleburne papers may be weary of driving a band wagon that never has occupied a place near the front of the congressional procession. They may be looking for something better.

Judge Terrell ought to enlighten the public as to the conditions existing among the daily newspapers of Texas that make so much legislative supervision necessary.—Houston Post.

Judge Terrell's residence in Turkey, where there is such a rigid censorship of the press, appears to have given him some ideas very much out of place in free America.

Every politician in the country is now more or less a reformer so far as his public utterances are concerned. Reform is the popular cry if it seems to have the requisite number of voters behind it.—Denison Herald.

All the men who are crying reform throughout the length and breadth of the land are not genuine reformers. Many of them are only ordinary plebeians and place hunters.

If we are to believe what all candidates say, there are very few of them that would ever enter the race for office if they had not been overpersuaded by their friends in whose judgment they had confidence, and for whose preferences they had respect.

The average candidate enters the campaign with confidence in all humanity, only to find at the polls that he must henceforth agree with the prophet who said in his haste that all men were liars.

Governor Lanham should convene the Twenty-ninth legislature and ask for the repeal of all that portion of the Terrell election law regulating party primaries and conventions.—Waco Times-Herald.

Unless the governor takes such action and the Terrell election law is cleared of the incubus it now carries, there is going to be a great deal of chaos and trouble over election matters next year.

President Harvie Jordan of the Southern Cotton Association is out in official circulars announcing a new minimum price on cotton which he fixes at 15 cents. How many minimums are we to have this season? We fail to find any authority in these notices for the change from 11 cents to 15 cents. Why this thushness, Mr. Jordan.—Texas Farm and Ranch.

President Jordan is weakening the cause of the cotton producers through the avaricious spirit he is displaying. Fair-minded people think they can see in his actions too much of the disposition the cotton producers are organized for the purpose of combatting.

Some of the defenders of the free pass system grow very eloquent in the eulogiums on the untarnished ermine of the judiciary and the unimpeachable integrity of the gentlemen who represent the great state in the legislative and poker halls at Austin. The News would not for a moment cast any reflection on any of these honorable gentlemen, but would gently inquire, "Why do the railroads give passes to judges and legislators?"—Denton News.

Because of the friendly feeling such action is expected to inspire. The railroads bestow no favors of this kind except with the expectation of receiving value. They may be disappointed in their expectations, but the animus is plain.

For the eight months of the summer packing season from March 1 to Oct. 1, a million and a half more hogs were slaughtered than for the corresponding period last year. The Cincinnati Price Current places the number at 15,100,000 this year against 13,462,000 last year. The Fort Worth market shows the largest percentage of gain, having slaughtered 275,000 against 160,000 for the same period last year.—San Antonio Stockman.

And still, the Fort Worth packers are unable to obtain enough hogs here to supply the demand for bacon. Shipments have to be made here from other packing houses to meet the requirements of the trade.

Mark Twain is said to have a new cure for "bossism" in politics. Mark, always humorous, has many "ideas" that are more or less impractical. There is no reliable cure for bossism, save the old, old remedy to hit a head every time it bobs up. When a man gets to be a boss, or shows signs of wanting to be a boss, trim him down.—Sherman Register.

There is but one kind of boss that should be permitted to stand, and that is the one the average ultimate conviction. The cases have been continued until the first week in January, and it is generally hoped that they will be forced to trial at that time.

Dallas is setting her pegs for an international exposition, but she is advised to let well enough alone. Some people can never realize when they are doing well until they have failed in an effort to overshoot the mark. One grand success as a state fair is not sufficient to insure the magnitude of an international exposition. While it is none of Fort Worth's business, the friends of the enterprise over here would much prefer to see Dallas confine her efforts in the direction of making this the greatest state fair in existence.

The state railroad commission has agreed to give the Texas railroads the privilege of waiting one hour for their eastern connections, after trying the half-hour proposition for a short time. And the probabilities are the commission will soon be ready to give the whole undertaking up as a very bad job. The railroads are about as anxious to make schedule time as the public is to have them do so, but there are some obstacles in matters of this kind that cannot be overcome as readily as a horse can be led to water.

The fine weather we have been having lately is almost phenomenal. It is now the latter part of November, and the long-expected killing frost has not yet materialized. Roses are in full bloom out in the open yard, and tender vegetation has not yet been seriously nipped. The next cold snap, however, can be depended upon to do the work.

The death roll of the Confederate veterans in this state is an enormous one, and the ranks in the Confederate Home fill up as fast as broken, while the applications for pensions are growing more and more numerous continually. All of which admonishes upon us that the generation of those who fought the battles of the Union and the Confederacy and made history for all time in this country is fast passing over the divide, and soon the last survivor of them will answer the call that summons him before the Supreme Commander. It was a gallant host.—San Antonio Light.

It was a gallant host and in the South the old veterans have received but a fraction of the recognition due them. Southern pensions are pitifully small, and many of these old heroes prefer to go down to their graves without any assistance in preference to entering the Confederate Home.

We have contended all the time that cotton would go up and that it would be worth 12 1/2 or 15 cents by the first of March. Yesterday it jumped about $4 or $5 a bale. All that has kept us from being rich today was having money enough to back our judgment. We would have been buying all the time if we had been able to do so. If we had we would have made it fine.—Athens Review.

There are thousands of men in the United States who have felt the same way about cotton in previous seasons. And when the season closed they had some very bitter experience and the other fellow had the coin they so rashly invested.

The Fort Worth Telegram says that in the race for mayor of Fort Worth the office is seeking the man, and that man is Newton H. Lassiter. There is another man whom the office is seeking for the same position, and there is promise of a lively tussle before it is all over.—Brownwood Bulletin.

And there is still another man—three in all, who desire to be mayor of Fort Worth. These gentlemen are presenting their claims to the voters in such a thorough manner that there will be no trouble about making the proper selection. Judge Lassiter's friends are very confident as to the result.

The call for elder statesmen to serve in the next legislature has not and will be receded by the people. There is a genuine demand coming up from the masses that only the best material in the state be elected as representatives next year.—Fort Worth Telegram.

Age qualification should count for little. Some young men are old in experience, while some old men are away behind the knowledge procession. What is wanted in the state legislature is men endowed with good horse sense.—McKinney Gazette.

It is the old horse who has gained wisdom from experience that has the most horse sense and has learned to stand hitched without pulling back on the hitch rein. The young horse is usually too coltish.

EVERY YEAR

The spring has less of brightness, Every year; And the snow a ghastly whiteness Every year; Nor do summer flowers quicken; Nor the autumn fruitage thicken; As they once did, for they sicken Every year.

It is growing darker, colder, Every year; As the heart and soul grow older, Every year; I care not now for dancing, Or for eyes with passion glancing, Love is less and less entrancing, Every year.

"You are growing old," they tell us, "Every year;" "You are more alone," they tell us, "Every year;" You can win no new affection; You have only recollection, Deeper sorrow and dejection, Every year.

But the truer life draws nigher, Every year; And its morning star climbs higher, Every year; Earth's hold on us grows slighter, And the heavy burden lighter, And the dawn immortal brighter, Every year.

LITTLE TALES WELL TOLD

VERY CLOSE GUESSING

James J. Hill, at the Fillmore county fair, pleased the Minnesota farmers with an apt illustration. "Reformers of that stripe are reactionists, an' tricksters," he said. "They are like the chap who went to the state fair."

"This chap stood looking at a fine steer when a couple of farmers came up and joined him. All three praised the steer. Then the city chap said: 'I wonder what he weighs?'"

"Well," said one of the farmers, slowly, "it should be easy enough to guess pretty nigh his weight." "This farmer, you see, was an expert cattle raiser. He could, without difficulty, guess a head of cattle's weight within a few pounds. But the city chap scoffed at him."

"Guess its weight! Ho, ho," he sneered. "You couldn't guess its weight any more than I could." "I don't say I could guess its weight precisely," said the farmer. "I say I could guess near it."

"Well, I'm a greenhorn," scoffed the city chap, "but here's $10 that I can guess as near to that steer's weight as you can."

"I'll take your bet, young man," said the farmer, quietly. "The other farmer held the stakes. 'Guess first,' said the city chap. 'Well,' said the other, calmly and slowly, 'I guess 1,975 pounds.'"

"I guess the same," said the city chap. "Now give me the money." "What?" gasped the others. "Why, I bet I'd guess as near as you, and I've done it. I've guessed the same. Give me the money."

LASSITER URGES UNITED EFFORT TO BUILD UP CITY

Candidate Addresses a Mass Meeting of Voters

"LOOK AHEAD" IS HIS ADVICE

Opening Address of Campaign Enthusiastically Received at City Hall

"The city is growing; all classes of business prospering; no laborer is idle who wishes to work. Shall the old spirit of union and harmony continue? Do you love Fort Worth and wish it to build on and on, until it becomes the metropolis, planned and wrought for by its early makers? Do you wish to see the dreams of those early spirits who first worked and wrought, realized? If you do turn away from the advice and leadership of any grumbling, disgruntled pessimist, who would lead you backward toward the setting sun. March forward, if you will; but if not, in heaven's name don't block the way, to grumble and complain. Don't hang a dead weight around the neck of progress. Turn your faces with me to the future and give the command, 'Forward March' and never stop until you have worked and wrought your full part in making Fort Worth the greatest, the best, the most cultured, the most healthful and the most progressive city in the south or west."—From opening campaign speech of N. H. Lassiter.

Progress in city building, and an economical but not niggardly administration of city affairs, were offered as live issues for consideration for voters at a mass meeting of citizens in the city hall Friday night, addressed by N. H. Lassiter, latest candidate in the Fort Worth mayoralty race.

These two ideas, first suggested by Mr. Lassiter in an informal meeting before citizens of the Fourth ward Monday night, were amplified in his address Friday night, provoking much applause from the two hundred or more voters present.

Office Holding a Duty

"I have not now and have never had at any period of my life any ambition to hold public office; but I believe that it is the duty of every citizen, when properly called, to devote a portion of his time and talent to the discharge of public business, even though it involve a personal sacrifice. Prompted by this sense of duty, and this alone, I have consented with much reluctance to enter the race for mayor.

"Since my announcement you have been told by some people and a part of the public press that I should not be elected to the office, because of my professional connection with a railway corporation; that by reason of this connection, the other corporations of the city, their officers and employees are endeavoring through me to secure control of the office, for the purpose of exploiting the city in the interest of corporations of all kinds. In this connection, you will pardon me for some personal references.

More than twenty years ago, as a young man just entering professional life, I selected Fort Worth as a place in which to work and live; and in spite of several good offers that have been made me at various times, since then, to change my place of residence, my love for the city of my adoption has kept me here. Some eight or ten years ago, the citizens of the Fourth ward, where I have lived for fifteen years, were partial enough to elect me, without the asking, their alderman, in which position I served for nearly two whole terms. At the time of that election, and during my service, I represented and was connected with many corporations that I represent or am connected with today; and no man lives or ever lived who can truthfully say that any act or vote of mine while alderman was improperly influenced.

Nobody who has any regard for their stomach thinks of taking cod liver oil in the old way when Scott's Emulsion is to be had. It is equally certain that no one having a regard for their health will accept a cheap emulsion or alcoholic substitute for Scott's Emulsion. It fulfills every mission of cod liver oil and more.

secure many or all of them it will be necessary to have the sympathy, confidence, help and co-operation of every good citizen and every business interest.

But in the effort to secure the office I am not seeking personal gain, nor do I want or expect the support of any party or any corporation, or that I was prompted in anything I did by any motive inimical to the interests of Fort Worth.

"With this one exception, I have neither sought or held office since becoming a citizen of Texas. In my twenty years residence in Fort Worth, I have endeavored to live and discharge the duties incumbent upon me as a professional man and a citizen that at all times my conduct and methods would meet the full approval of my own conscience, that arbiter lodged in each one of us that always condemns any wrong thought or deed, and approves the right. There is nothing in my business life or short in consequential public service to which any man can point as an evidence of the fact that I have ever been swayed, prompted or controlled by any improper influence, individual or corporation, and I am persuaded that those who make the charge directly or by innuendo, do not believe what they say; they are either too dishonest or too full of prejudice to rightly judge the motives of anyone other than themselves.

"If it be true that my connection with a corporation would improperly or corruptly influence me, if mayor, then it should be equally true that no man who is connected with a corporation in any capacity is either free, honest or patriotic in his relation to the public. If employment by a corporation can in fact result in such an influence, then all men employed by them should be disfranchised, and not allowed to participate in public affairs.

No Time to Arouse Prejudice

Look the situation in the face. There never was a time when this city needed so badly as now the united, persistent efforts of all its loyal citizens. A flood of immigrants and money is pouring into Texas from all points of the compass. Every city in the state is making, each in its own way, a loyal, united effort to secure more than its share of this flood. The city that best succeeds in its efforts while the flood is flowing full has the best chance to become the metropolis of the state. In no other city is there a division of sentiment or lack of harmony. No false prophet is preaching the doctrine of pessimism in any other city. Do you think this is the time to appeal to hatred, to kindle into flame latent prejudices, to arraign one faction, one business interest against another? The men who do it are traitors to Fort Worth.

The Mayor's Opportunities

"Suppose I should be elected mayor, and was mean and base enough to purpose using the position in favoring special interests, how could I do it? There could be only two things that such a corporation could want from the city government: First, a low assessed value on its property; second, an extension or renewal of its franchise over the streets and alleys of the city. The mayor cannot control the value at which such property can be assessed, because the people elect a city assessor, whose duty it is to appraise all property. There is no reason why this officer should not be as independent of the mayor as any other citizen; certainly there is no law authorizing the mayor to interfere with the administration of his office. After the property is assessed, the value is passed upon by the board of equalization, composed of three men, one appointed by the district judges, one by the county judge, and one elected by the city council. It seems that this statement of the facts conclusively shows that the mayor could have no direct power in reducing or increasing the value of the property for taxation.

The question of whether a public service corporation shall receive a franchise or extend its franchise to do business over or under the streets of the city, depends ultimately and solely upon the will of the people, expressed at the ballot box under the referendum. These facts, to my mind, make it practically impossible for the mayor, as such, to directly and corruptly serve the interests of any public service corporation, if he desired to do so.

"The present mayor is not asking for re-election, and it is not profitable that I should either praise or condemn his administration. He is entitled to full credit for many great things accomplished, including artesian water supply, construction of viaducts, increase in school facilities, and a reduction of interest charges, for which the whole people give him and his administration unstinted praise. If he has made any mistakes, he is answerable to the public. For what he did or failed to do, I can neither be praised nor blamed. I am facing the future, not the past; the past is gone, and I have no use for it for inspiration and guidance; but don't scold and fuss about things that cannot be helped.

"The question of the hour is, not what has been done, but what can and should be done.

Administration Promises

If nominated and elected mayor, I promise, so far as may lie in my power:

"First—To familiarize myself with the condition and details of every department of the city government, and also to institute any reform that will secure better service at less cost.

"Second—To supervise the expenditure of every dollar of the public money, and prevent all waste or misapplication in its use.

"Third—To secure and maintain an adequate supply of artesian water, and, as soon as possible, an extension of the sewer and water mains to every part of the city.

"Fourth—To supply the necessary buildings and facilities to properly accommodate all children who are entitled and desire to attend the public schools.

"Fifth—To use every effort in keeping the city clean and free of contagious or infectious diseases.

"Sixth—To reduce the tax rate, if conditions justify it, or can be made to justify it.

"Seventh—To secure in any reasonable and legal way the paving of additional streets and sidewalks, and an improved method of cleaning and repairing the streets.

"Eighth—To devise a way, if none now exists, to compel street railway companies and other public service corporations, to maintain and furnish efficient facilities and adequate service.

"Ninth—To maintain and perfect the present charter provision, authorizing a referendum.

"Tenth—To enforce impartially all laws and ordinances.

"Eleventh—To give every individual and every interest equal, impartial and unbiased consideration.

"Twelfth—To fill and perform every function of the office, and by the use of business methods in a business-like way, promote to the best of my ability the peace, progress and prosperity of the city.

"These are some of the things, briefly stated, that I shall attempt to accomplish if elected your next mayor. To

"BUSTER BROWN"

Buster Brown and Tige made friends with every person in the big audience that filled Greenwall's Opera House Friday, honors being about equally divided.

The play proved that a successful representation of a child part can be formed on the stage, Master Gabriel forming an ideal of Outcast's famous mischievous angel. All the Brown family appear in the play from Sue to Grandama, whose desire to see Papa Brown mayor of Brownville forms the plot upon which has been hung a series of catchy songs, pretty marches, character sketches and dances.

The dances formed a feature of the performance. Al Lamar and Rosa Crouch being called out again and again for their light foot work. A mother Goose chorus, with Kris

"SCENE FROM HUMAN HEARTS."

Kringles, Riding Hoods, Bo Peeps, Shepherds and Milkmaids, was one of the prettiest ever seen in the city, while the march and drill of the Scotch Fusiliers with cornet sextet, the curtain piece of the first act, was encored time and again.

A number of exceptionally good voices and catchy songs soon had the gallery whistling and feet downstairs going.

"OVER NIAGARA FALLS"

"Over Niagara Falls," Messrs. Rowland and Clifford's superb sensational scenic melodrama, which will be seen at Greenwall's Opera House Tuesday matinee and night, Nov. 23, contains some novel characters, among them one old Chief Starlight, an old Indian chief of the Seneca tribe, and his daughter, Bess. They show a side of the American aborigine that has never before been depicted, and are probably the best Indian characterizations that the stage has ever seen. Their unique dressing, which is historically correct, adds largely to the picturesqueness of the various scenes. Those in the company include James M. Dougherty, W. H. Belmont, John E. Gordon, Walter Coyne, Miss Hattie Dougherty, Miss Ada Anderson, Miss Leith Belmont and others of much prominence to theater patrons.

JOSEPH DE GRASSE IN "RICHELIEU" AND "LADY OF LYONS"

Last year this eminent young actor star made many admirers by his excellent acting in the trying roles of "Hamlet" and "Shylock." He will be seen as "Richelieu" and "Lady of Lyons" at Greenwall's Opera House, presenting at the matinee Wednesday, "Lady of Lyons," and Wednesday night, "Richelieu." In "Richelieu" Mr. De Grasse finds a character to which his talents fit him admirably. His portrayal of this powerful character has added another triumph to his already long list.

"HUMAN HEARTS"

Arkansas has often been the theme of song and story, and no melody ever written has evolved more genuine pleasure than "The Arkansas Traveler." The same may be said of "Human Hearts," which is a strong story, dealing with life in the Arkansas Hills, and in addition to laughter, it is mingled with heart interest and tears. "Human Hearts" will be seen at Greenwall's Opera House Thursday (Thanksgiving) matinee and night, Nov. 30.

"BABES IN TOYLAND"

"Babes in Toyland" will visit Greenwall's Opera House Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee, Dec. 1 and 2. This is one of the sterling events of the entire season. Hamlin & Mitchell outran all their brother producers in presenting original ideas in the production of this beautiful play, founded on the fairy story of "The Babes in the Woods."

WILL INVESTIGATE YARDS

Sanitary Condition of Hog Pens to Be Studied

An investigation of the sanitary conditions of the hog yards at North Fort Worth will be made some day next week by John K. Rosson of this city. W. J. Moore of San Antonio and M. M. Hawkins of Quanah. The inspection will be made with the purpose of rescinding the order which caused the governor to quarantine the yards against stock hogs going to the country.

Mr. Rosson returned Friday from San Antonio, where he talked with the other two men mentioned. He reported the attendance at the fair to be good, although the weather is very unfavorable. The live stock department is fine and the sales were far beyond the expectations of the live stock breeders.

CITRUS FRUITS MOVING

Much of California Product Goes Through This City

The movement of citrus fruits from Southern California eastward this season has been the largest in several years. For the year ending Oct. 31 the movement has been as follows:

Oranges, 25,553 cars; lemons, 1,336 cars. From Northern California there were 1,835 cars of oranges, making a total from the state of California of 31,725 cars, an increase of 2,104 cars over the preceding year. According to reports said to be authoritative, the number of cars of oranges sent north from Florida this year has been 7,500.

Much of this citrus shipment went over the southern route—the Texas and Pacific and the Southern Pacific. In former years these shipments have been by the Rock Island and the Santa Fe. In order to secure the orange and lemon traffic there was quite a spirited contest between the railroads, but the southern lines won out and secured the business.

TO THE TELEGRAM

LOOK FORWARD, NOT BACKWARD

In the interim between the Quixotic assaults on the windmill by our chivalric candidate for mayor, to prevent interest from lagging, I will inject a few remarks to keep the pot boiling.

I have been trying to discover some issues in this campaign, but all I have found so far is, "What I would do if I were mayor."

It is an old saying that it takes an old maid to tell you how to raise children, and it takes a candidate to tell you how profligate all (other) office holders have been. This old method of campaigning is worn out and the candidate who has nothing better to offer is as obsolete as his methods.

We want candidates who have ideals, who look forward and upward, instead of backward and downward. We want a candidate who sets his standard high up ahead and works toward it, instead of groveling in the garbage of the past.

I have no very intimate acquaintance with any of the candidates and do not expect any thanks for my advice, but as an additional remark I will say that a candidate who has nothing better than himself to offer is not much.

Have any of the candidates made a study of municipal government? Do they know what other cities have done or are doing in the matter of paving water, light, schools and the various other public services that affect the people of the city?

There are issues and problems in Fort Worth as in every other city of the country and the people are anxious and eager to back the candidate who has the courage and brains to espouse them.

We want honesty, but what earthly use is honesty without brains? We want economy, but not parsimony in municipal expenditures.

When you are offered a conservative man find out what he is going to "conserve" before you vote for him, and don't be fooled with a reformer; they remind one of a crawfish—always backing up, and like the school boys frog, will land you in a hot place if they hold out long enough.

Under our charter the mayor is not much pumpkins, anyway; he can't hire anybody, and he can't "fire" anybody, and the only way he can wield any influence is through the city council. So it is best for all concerned that he should try to be on speaking terms with the council. The mayor's pay is not much, so that all that is left is the honor, and this is the one thing worth striving for. It is an honorable office and should be filled by an honorable, large-hearted, big-brained man. Voters, measure the candidates and vote for the man who in your estimation best meets these requirements.

A. H. McCARTY.

FROM COL. E. W. TAYLOR

Letter from Candidate Setting Forth His Intentions if Elected

To the Citizens of Fort Worth:

I desire to be elected mayor of your fast-growing city, and as it will be impossible to meet all of the voters in person, I take this method of reaching you. If elected, I promise to give my whole time and attention to the affairs of the city, making my office at the city hall. Will either of my worthy opponents do likewise?

I shall advocate all public improvements, especially our public schools, water supply, better streets and sidewalks, also extending the sewerage system as fast as the means can be provided, until the entire city shall be covered.

If you will elect me your mayor I shall guard the interests of the city as carefully as an individual does his own private affairs, and shall give a "square deal" to all. No friends to reward nor enemies to punish—looking only to the interest of Fort Worth.

Thanking my friends for the encouragement given, I remain,

Yours very respectfully,

E. W. TAYLOR,
Candidate for Mayor.

FORT WORTH IS TURKEY CENTER

Immense Texas Supply Moves From This City

Fort Worth is now the shipping point of Texas for dressed turkeys. More turkeys are shipped from here during the year than from any other place in the state. Texas, too, is fast coming forward as the leading turkey state in the country. Thousands of Texas turkeys are shipped every year to all states in the union, including California, which is one of the best markets for the Texas turkey. The shipments north and east are growing every year.

Fort Worth's location and railroads combine to make this city the turkey center of the state, as the northern and central parts of the state are the leading turkey raising localities.

It has been estimated that 5,000,000 pounds of Texas turkey will be used outside the state this fall. One firm in Fort Worth alone has shipped 600,000 pounds of turkey from here within the last thirty days and there are at least a half dozen firms shipping turkeys in large quantities. During the past two years farmers have been paying more attention to raising turkeys and great droves of them can be found on nearly every farm, especially in the black land country of Central Texas.

Turkeys are received here from Waco, Houston, Brenham, Navasota, La Grange, Austin, and many other cities in the turkey region. Dallas also ships her turkeys through Fort Worth, although turkeys are not raised in that locality in as great quantities as elsewhere.

A dressed turkey averages about seven pounds. Turkey dealers count on about fifteen turkeys to the 100 pounds. From this it can be seen how tremendous is the number of turkeys handled in this city, as the firm which has shipped 600,000 pounds in thirty days has sent approximately 90,000 turkeys out of the city.

Many of the cities of Central Texas employ an army of turkey pickers during the turkey season and high wages are paid. Most of those who engage in this work are girls and boys, and for the past few weeks few idle boys were to be seen on the streets of any city in the turkey district.

CAN YOU ENJOY A SQUARE MEAL?

Do you sit down at the table with a fine appetite intending to enjoy your meal immensely and after a few mouthfuls give up in despair? That's a typical "well along" case of indigestion or dyspepsia. Hundreds, yes, thousands are in the same boat and are willing to do almost anything to be as they used to—healthy, well and strong with a good sound stomach.

The best and quickest cure offered to that big army of sufferers is DR. SPENCER'S ENGLISH DYSPEPSIA WAFERS.

The curing powers of these wafers are very simple to understand. They are natural in their workings and effects, taking up the work of the worn and wasted stomach, digesting the food thoroughly and completely.

GRAIN

Written for The Telegram. CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 25.—The wheat market was rather heavy, as there was nothing in the news which particularly favored the buying side. Argentine weather is favorable for maturing the crop and cables today indicate there has been no appreciable damage to wheat. Primary receipts were nearly 1,500,000 bushels, or 400,000 more than last year. The movement the past week totaled 121,000 bushels, which is 1,700,000 more than for the corresponding week last year.

With the exception of an early decline in November, due to heavy deliveries yesterday afternoon, provisions were firm and closed at some improvement over yesterday. There was a moderate investment demand, and aside from liquidation in November, no large offerings were made. A further increase in the speculative demand for provisions will result in a bull market. Estimated hogs—Monday 47,000, and for all next week 190,000.

COTTON

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—For the third successive day Liverpool failed to meet expectations, and the local market opened irregular with near positions at a decline of 3 to 5 points, while distant options were up about 2 points.

In the early trading the market showed a disposition to do better and prices advanced on rather active short covering and also professional buying, until a gain of 10 to 13 points above last night's final had been reached.

In the last hour profit-taking by the early purchasers led to a recession and the close was at an advance for the day of only 2 points.

Spots are unchanged at 11:55 for middling.

The most complete bullish victory which has so far been attained came in the shape of a statement from Mr. Price, after the market had closed. He practically admitted his defeat by acknowledging that he had today covered all of his short contracts, and gives as his reason for doing so, a fear that the forthcoming bureau report will show a crop of under 100,000,000 bales.

Cotton for March delivery was bid up to 17.00 on the curb trading.

Following is the range in futures:

PRICE ADMITS DEFEAT

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Theodore H. Price today sent the following to his correspondents throughout the country:

"Pursuing the policy of frankness, which I ever endeavor to follow in regard to my operations in cotton, I desire to state that I have today covered the bulk of my short interest in the market. My reason for taking this action is the fear that the forthcoming estimate of the agricultural department will indicate a crop of under 100,000,000 bales, while I personally believe in a much larger crop than this, and while all of my study of the question supports that belief, it is idle to ignore the fact that the size of the cotton crop has today become a political and sectional issue rather than a statistical or commercial fact and political forces are not among those that I care to contend with."

LAWSON ENDORSED Insurance Agents and Employes Are Excluded From Meeting. SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 25.—At a meeting of policy holders in life insurance companies held in this city yesterday resolutions were passed endorsing Thomas W. Lawson and roundly condemning the more prominent members of the management of the large life insurance companies which have been in the limelight of publicity for some time. The meeting was attended by about 150 persons, many of whom are prominent in the state. Life insurance agents and employes were excluded from participation in the meeting and the attempt to be conservative was not a marked success. The division of the house was close between the radicals and conservatives and there was no large majority in any of the votes. A permanent organization was effected by the election of the following officers: Winchester Kelso, chairman; R. G. Callaghan, secretary, and an advisory committee consisting of Jot Gunter, J. W. Blake, J. H. Kirkpatrick, L. C. Stewart and Shirley W. Johns. Many conservative men left the hall, saying it had been packed by the Lawson crowd.

CANDIDATES MEET IN THIRD WARD

Taylor, Harris and Parker Discuss City Affairs

Judge W. D. Harris opened a meeting of citizens of the Third ward at the ward school house Friday night, his remarks following the lines of his previous campaign speeches.

Taking up the matter of the Third ward car line, he referred to the efforts of Judge Parker, alderman from the Third ward, to build a street car line in Jones street. He said this resolution was introduced the very day that the Arlington Heights Company franchise passed and after the right of the Traction Company had been forfeited for about two years.

Such things would not happen, he said, if he were mayor. Colonel E. W. Taylor was introduced. He said he was a candidate for the office of mayor and that he was running on his record of eighteen years' residence in Fort Worth and running because hundreds of the best people in this city had requested him to run.

"I refuse to ride into office over the ruin of any man," said Colonel Taylor, "and what we want is to stop all this vituperation against the other fellow. We are here trying to get into office. I want to be mayor; Judge Harris wants to be mayor, too. We are trying to get the other fellows' places, and I am not ashamed to say so. Now, I have a good plan to present to you."

My plan is this: Elect me mayor and Judge Harris city attorney—that's what he's fitted for. Then we'll have a city that will be worthy to continue the good work done by the Powell administration.

Talk of abusing the other fellow, why, Mayor Powell has done more for the up-building of Fort Worth than was accomplished by any administration known in the history of the city. If you don't believe it, go down and look at the most magnificent water works in the country. Or give the water works to me to sell and see if I don't get $5,000,000 for the plant. Fort Worth is in better shape today than ever in her history.

If there has been graft, let the evidence be given to the grand jury. If there is not the evidence, let's shut up about it."

Colonel Taylor's speech was received with intermittent cheering, which showed that his audience heartily appreciated the most salient points made. At the proposition presented to elect him mayor and Judge Harris city attorney, the entire audience broke into wild cheering and continued laughter.

Following the speech of Colonel Taylor, someone moved that speeches of candidates for alderman be limited to twenty minutes. To this Judge Parker objected, saying that owing to the implications of Judge Harris' speech, he would have to notice it, a matter that the other candidates would not have to touch.

Judge Parker, alderman from the Third ward, was introduced and greeted with cheers. He said in part: "I have enjoyed the discussion that has taken place here tonight. It is a rare thing in the Third ward, for candidates for mayor to come out and address the people on issues of the day. They realize, probably, that the people are beginning to study municipal affairs and that our people are not an exception to the rule in Fort Worth, but are rather entitled to the title of leaders in this matter."

"It is an important thing to elect a mayor and representatives to manage the business affairs of the city. We have here in Fort Worth a vast business enterprise: the corporation of the city of Fort Worth doing municipal business. The mayor and the aldermen are, so to speak, the board of directors, and every citizen in the Third ward and every other ward is a stockholder in this company. We are all interested in the welfare of our own business and we should be interested in the welfare of our city."

"It devolves upon the mayor and aldermen as the directors of the municipal affairs to transact the business of the city, and hence the importance to have the very best men you can get for the office who will see to it that the city affairs are properly administered."

"I stand tonight as your representative in the city council for the past eighteen months and am ready to account for my every action. While the meager salary attached to the office of alderman may not permit a man to give it the time it really should have to promote the best interests of Fort Worth, yet in that time I have performed my duty to you as I saw it and am not ashamed to tell what I have done."

"Now, it is quite easy to stand at a distance and criticize the actions of another man; but it is another thing to be in his shoes and do the things properly and without mistakes. I don't say that there have not been mistakes on the part of the present administration. I am part of that administration. But I do assert that the present alderman from the Third ward has done his best to do his duty to the people of this part of the city as he saw it. Scores Politicians

"Politicians, when they are running for office, when they want to get to the pie counter, oh! how they scrutinize what has been done by those who have preceded them. They pick up every mistake that was made and never say a word of the good things accomplished. If the present administration has done any good thing you have not been told of it in this campaign by Judge Harris, who is aspiring to get to the pie counter to the tune of $2,000 a year.

"The figures of Judge Harris on the sprinkling contract, which was made before I was a member of the council, remind me of a time when I was a boy. I had a hen and chickens and I sat down to figure how much I could make from them. I used up a good lead pencil and a few reams of paper, and before I had done I proved to my own satisfaction that I would be the richest man in the world from those chickens. The fact about that contract is that the company received but $52,000 from the city, and they now allege that their books are open to the public showing that they have cleared, above expenses, $4,500 since the contract was made.

"In regard to the extension of water mains by the Capps Land Company, Mr. Capps simply purchased through Alderman Lehane the pipe necessary and the money was paid. The pipe was put in by the city force of laborers, so the work would be in conformity to that already done and being done by the city. I voted to extend the water mains. We have water to sell and want to dispose of it. We need the money to run this city. Furthermore, that contract specifically states that, when the water supply runs short, they shall be cut off. The company paid for everything except the meter. I understand there is still some controversy as to that. I want to say now that if there is a man here tonight or in the Third ward who wants water I will see to it that he gets water. No such petitions have been refused. No such petitions have been refused. Judge Harris was interrupted with the question: "Do you know any reason why an ordinary engineer could not have connected with the pipes as well as our own engineer?"

"Yes, the very best reason known to people who have any knowledge of the business. A proper connection might have been made that would protect the city against loss, and by another engineer, but the work, in a large percentage of cases, would have been unsatisfactory to our engineer. We have the best engineer in the state, one of the best in the country. He is a man required by large cities to do consulting work occasionally. We have just reason to be proud of the work accomplished here by John B. Hawley. We should want our work supervised by him in order that it will stand the test of the years that are to come. There is not an engineer in this country able to find flaws in the engineering work of John B. Hawley. The very best reason that could be given why our own engineer should do the work—to protect Fort Worth.

"As to the street car proposition in Jones street, it is not a new question with me. There are men here tonight who will recall that one of the things I pledged myself to try to do was the extension of a street car line into the Third ward. I have tried my best to accomplish this in conferences with Mr. Mappleford and Mr. Bishop and also with Mr. Cole of the Arlington Heights Company. When Alderman Maddox presented the resolution providing for the forfeiture of the franchise in Jones street by the Traction Company I voted against it. I opposed it and did all I could to defeat it. Why? Because I wanted the line built and I still want it built."

"Do you think the Traction Company has a shadow of a right to build the Jones street line?"

"I think they have a big shadow and I hope they will build it. The difference between Judge Harris and myself on this question is that I believe that the company has a right and I want them to build the line and the judge don't believe they have a right and don't want them to build the line."

"There is nothing in any speech I have made to show that I don't want them to build the line."

"Yes, Judge," Alderman Parker replied, "but your actions speak louder than words." The reply was followed by wild cheers and continued laughter, with cries of, "Go on, Parker; tell it to him!" The speaker continued:

"The difference is also one of opinion. Lawyers often differ in matter of this kind. When the ordinance was passed giving them a franchise in Jones street, they built a part of the line and the city has never taken any steps to rescind the contract until recently. Now, I hope they build the line or take up their tracks. There are two ways the city could have proceeded: First, notice rescinding the contract; and, second, suit for the performance of the contract. This obviates the argument likely to be presented that the forfeiture is self-operative."

"Now, a last word as to the street car question. I wish there was some way we could relieve Sam Rosen of the 2 per cent gross receipts tax on his company. I want to see street car lines built in every street in the city if possible. It will raise property values and give accommodation to the citizens of Fort Worth. I have no use for the man who is always ready to cry 'Traction Company' and howl calamity in the face of the most prosperous city in Texas."

Other candidates in the ward followed, it being late when the meeting adjourned.

TO THE VOTERS AND CITIZENS OF FORT WORTH:

It is our duty in selecting a mayor to look solely to the best interests of the people of our city. Of the three excellent gentlemen who are avowed candidates for that office, which one is likely to give the best service when elected and installed in office? That is the question now for every voter to consider, who desires the well-being and prosperity of the city and its people. The candidates are all men of high character, interested in the peace and progress of Fort Worth, and each one would, as mayor, sincerely desire to promote the public good. The office of mayor of this city demands the undivided and constant thought and service of the incumbent, and he should not be encumbered with, nor his time and attention occupied by other cares and employments. He should be free to give all his thought and energies to the service of the city and its people. The duties of the office are such as require the constant exercise of the highest intelligence in the management of its complex, financial affairs and its other administrative and executive functions. Which one of the candidates is best situated in his business affairs to give all his time and effort to the duties of the office? It cannot reasonably be expected that Mr. Lassiter will lay aside his lucrative employment as attorney for one of the largest railway companies in the state, to say nothing of his other professional business, in order that he may devote all his time to the labors of the office. Nor can it be reasonably expected of Judge Harris that he will lay aside a profitable law practice, to enable him to give all his time to the service of the city as mayor.

It is fair to presume that neither one of these gentlemen will abandon his professional business during his incumbency of the office, for to do so would necessitate a new beginning in the practice of law after the expiration of the years of service as mayor.

On the other hand, Colonel Taylor is so circumstanced that if elected he can without detriment to his private affairs devote all his time to the office. He is well equipped for the office by reason of a long business career as merchant, railroad builder and promoter, and other business enterprises. He was mayor of the city of Jefferson when it was one of the largest cities in the state, and accepted the office at the earnest solicitation of its citizens, at a time when financial ability was indispensable in the management of its fiscal affairs. His administration accomplished much for the city and people, and more than the most sanguine believed could be accomplished.

He will, if elected, give his undivided thought, time and energies to the city's best interests, and being a progressive and enterprising man, it is fair to say that he will give Fort Worth and its people a satisfactory and successful administration.

SNOW OBSERVER COMING Enos A. Mills to Visit Brother in Fort Worth

Enos A. Mills, the Long's Peak Guide in Colorado, will be in Fort Worth shortly to visit his brother, Enoch J. Mills, captain and coach of Fort Worth University football team.

Enos Mills is a writer and lecturer on nature topics, and has acquired a flattering reputation by his addresses and articles on the Rocky mountains. In addition to being a noted guide, Mr. Mills is also government snow observer in the Rockies, a unique position. He will likely lecture at the university or city hall while in this city.

Mills is also a defender of forests, and has lectured in many cities of the country on the necessity for preserving timbered land. Following extract from an address delivered before the Federation of Women's Clubs meeting at Denver shows his opinion on such matters:

"Each person should become a forest missionary and whenever a company of boys are going on a camping trip the parents should take them and deliver a lecture on the dangers and damage of camp fires. They should also urge the necessity of guarding the lives of the little Douglas squirrel, which is the greatest forest planter in the world. Tell the boys to kill their pet dogs, or canary, or the cat, but to leave the Douglas squirrel."

RETURNS TO LOCAL MARKET R. W. Dudley, a farmer well known in the Azle district, was in town Friday with the first load of cotton that he has brought to this city in eleven years. Formerly Mr. Dudley brought in several bales of cotton to this city every year but when the importance of the cotton market was forgotten here he went to Arlington with his cotton and has taken it there for eleven years up to yesterday. He sold his cotton here Friday for 11 cents and was well pleased at the sale and said that as long as the present action of the merchants here is continued he will bring his cotton here.
