MAIMED HERO'S HONORS ARE MANY

Fireman George Poell Gets Medal From President

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Jan. 9.—Tribute to bravery was the letter received by George Poell, the hero of the Powell, Neb., life saving incident, from the President of the United States, advising him that he has been awarded the first medal of honor given under the act of Feb. 23, 1905.

This act provides for the awarding of bronze medals upon heroes who by extreme daring endanger their own lives from any railroad wreck, dis-ter or grave accident, or in preventing or endeavoring to prevent such wreck, disaster or accident.

The daring feat accomplished by Mr. Poell was at Powell, Neb. Mr. Poell was a fireman on a St. Joseph and Grand Island railway train. As his train was entering Powell the fireman saw a little girl standing on the track.

Mr. Poell crawled through the cab and alongside the boiler of the moving engine and stationed himself on the pilot, grabbing the child, who was a daughter of Paul Usary of Powell, sweeping her off the track and out of harm.

MERCURY DROPS TO 17 DEGREES

Coldest Weather of Winter Felt in North Texas

Coldest weather of the winter was experienced early Tuesday morning, a low mark of 17 degrees being recorded at the local weather bureau shortly before 7 o'clock.

Colly weather had been experienced throughout the night and the preceding day, the average temperature for the weather bureau day having been but 25 degrees. Freezing weather was experienced throughout that time, the highest temperature reached being 32 degrees. Partly cloudy and warmer weather is expected to follow.

The cold weather experienced in Fort Worth was general over the state, freezing weather extending to San Antonio, where a temperature of 32 degrees with a steady snowfall was reported at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Cold weather also exists in the southeastern states, 25 degrees being reported from southern Alabama. Frozen crossings and icicles from fountains and other falling water attested the winter weather in progress in this city. A bright sun caused a steady rise in the temperature Tuesday morning.

The weather throughout the Panhandle was no colder Monday night than in Fort Worth. The minimum temperature recorded at Amarillo was but 18 degrees, one above the Fort Worth temperature.

Temperature in this city showed a steady rise Tuesday morning and at noon the temperature was almost at 32 degrees again.

The reports from train dispatchers' offices this morning show that the weather is clear and cold in all directions except west, where it has been cloudy but is clearing up.

Official statement of the weather conditions is: "High barometer conditions dominate the lower Mississippi and the northern half of the Rocky mountain regions, causing generally fair weather and low temperatures, the freezing line extending near the coast in all sections. New Orleans reporting freezing weather. Snow is falling at El Paso and San Antonio. A low barometer area is over Florida, causing rain at Jacksonville."

COMPLAINTS MADE UNDER NEW LAW

Variety Theater Ordinance Alleged to Be Violated

Assistant City Attorney Parker and Captain Blanton of the police department made the rounds of the alleged variety theaters here last night to see whether the new ordinance relating to the sale of intoxicating drinks in places where dramatic or theatrical entertainments were given or in places adjoining was being observed, with the result that six complaints were filed for violations this morning.

Five of these complaints were against Frank DeBeque and are based upon observations made at the Standard Theater at the corner of Twelfth and Buck streets. One was against Dave Houghton, which was based upon observations made at the same place. One other place was visited but no complaint was filed.

Mr. DeBeque states that the proprietors of these places were notified Saturday night of the law according to the new ordinance and of the proposed enforcement, and that he now intends to prosecute the cases. "If there is no award of a medal of honor provided under the act of congress approved Feb. 23, 1905. You have, by extreme daring, endangering and almost losing your own life, saved the life of a child at the cost of crippling yourself permanently. The inclosed statement of facts sets forth what you did. No man could have shown greater, or more heroic indifference to his own safety. It is not in my power to make you any material amends for the crippling injuries you received when, in saving the life of a helpless child, you so nearly lost your own. But I trust that the medals will at least be proof to you that your countrymen realize that you have performed a deed which will serve as an inspiration to every American who hears or reads of it, and which lifts by just so much the standard of his citizenship of which we are so proud.

With earnest hopes for your welfare, believe me, sincerely yours, THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Mr. Poell was elected county clerk of Hall county at the recent election and he assumed his duties on Jan. 4.

WOLF AND LAMB USED SAME BED

WHEATLAND, Wyo., Jan. 9.—On going to a cattle shed at his ranch near this place, P. Cunningham was astonished to find a full grown coyote asleep in one corner of the building, while snuggled close to the animal was a small lamb, the only other occupant of the shed. The preceding night had been intensely cold, and Cunningham is of the opinion that the coyote sought shelter in the shed, and that it and the lamb were attracted to each other by their mutual warmth, the coyote forgetting his predatory instinct in his misery.

Cunningham killed the coyote, which was so afflicted with the mange that not a shred of hair remained on any part of its body.

DOCTOR TAKES CHLOROFORM

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Dr. R. W. Steger, said to be a graduate of Vanderbilt and Columbia Universities and of a family prominent in Nashville, Tenn., attempted to take his own life in the Audubon hotel at Broadway and Thirty-ninth streets Sunday night by taking chloroform and morphine. He was removed to Bellevue hospital, where physicians say he cannot recover.

Dr. Steger took the poison after leaving a note saying that he had suffered from suicidal and homicidal impulses for years and that he could not bear the suffering longer. He killed his body to the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University.

His letter, addressed, "Whom It May Concern," follows: "Sunday, Jan. 7, 1906, 7 p. m.—My name is Robert W. Steger and I am 43 years old. Occupation, physician; place of birth, Alabama; cause of death, suicide by means of morphine and chloroform. I give my body to the College of Physicians and Surgeons of this city for dissection. I am a graduate of that school, class of '93. I have not been mentally sound for several years, having suffered from frequent attacks of suicidal mania. These would sometimes take the form of homicidal mania and again a combination of both. The attacks usually lasted two or three days, during which it was impossible for me to stop. The present attack has lasted three weeks. A continuance would be worse than death, so I feel justified in taking my life. This condition has caused me to do things for which I have been severely censured. I trust my friends may know that my mistakes have been of the head and not of the heart."

JOCKEY WHOSE INCOME IS $50,000 A YEAR

From a bootblack's stand in Hartford, Conn., to the possessor of a yearly income of $50,000. That is the remarkable transition of Danny Maher, the best American jockey who ever went to England. At the age of 24 he has saved $250,000 from his salary and he bids fair to be a millionaire before he is 30.

In his old bootblack days young Maher thought himself lucky if he cleared up $1.50 a day. Now he has an automobile and a valet. He wears London made clothes, a fur overcoat and ties that make the aurora borealis look like a daub. He keeps his apartments all the year round in "dear old Lunnun" and is on terms of familiarity with the nobility.

PUBLICITY IN SMALL PACKAGES FOR USE IN THE HOME

All of the "home journals" and "household magazines" put together would be of less value to the house-wife than those pages of her daily newspaper which contain the want advertisements.

Through the want ad columns the house-wife not only secures her domestic help—seamstress, laundress, nurse, cook; but she trades her old piano for a nearly new dining room set; her old seal-skin coat for a costly sideboard; her "duplicate" silverware for cut glass and "hubby's" old overcoat for a load of kindling wood.

In the course of time she finds a better place to live at a lower rent; finds a cash buyer for that suburban lot which Uncle John willed to her a few years ago; discovers a better music teacher for Ethel; and rents the two extra rooms in the house for enough to pay the wages of her household help.

She finds that Publicity, harnessed for use in the home, is a thoroughly domesticated force; and that every penny that is invested in it returns an amazing per cent of profit

LEAGUE SEASON TO OPEN APRIL 25

Effort to Be Made to Get Into Class C

Special to The Telegram. WACO, Texas, Jan. 8.—The meeting here yesterday of representatives of the Texas League was harmonious, and though there was a good deal of discussion, yet everybody seemed inclined to give and take and accept the opinions and action of the majority. It was decided to open the season April 25, and close Labor Day. It was further decided, after considerable discussion, to provide a sinking fund of 10 per cent, to be divided equally between the clubs remaining in the league at the close of the season. A strong effort will be made in this direction. The constitution as prepared by a committee composed of Ward, Gardner and Simpson, was read by sections and adopted. Gardner moved during the meeting that such franchise holders only have one vote, but this did not carry. At present the president, in case of a tie, can vote twice. The next meeting will be held in Fort Worth Jan. 15, when the schedule will be further arranged, a ball adopted, further action probably taken on the salary limit question, etc. The league will open on the 25th of April as follows: Waco at Temple, Dallas at Cleburne, Fort Worth at Greenville. The following were present yesterday: Simpson and Dawkins of Waco, Ward of Fort Worth, Gardner of Dallas, Egan of Temple, Bailey of Greenville, J. Doak Roberts of Corsicana for Cleburne.

SPORTING SALAD

Abe Attell, one of the cleverest little fellows in the ring, is making into the limelight as a possible six-six in a six-round set with Jimmie Britt. Since Nelson has signed for a go with McGovern Britt is looking around for a chance to pick up some easy money, and Attell looks to him like "it."
Wild Conroy will succeed Dave Fultz in center field for the New York Highlanders next season. Fultz has quit the game to practice law in Gotham town. Conroy is an infielder, but played the outfield in a few games last year. He made such an impressive showing there that Griffith decided to make the shift permanent.

POLICE CAPTAIN WAS CITY BANK

By Associated Press. BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 9.—Upon his own request, William S. Bull, superintendent of police, yesterday was suspended pending an investigation of alleged irregularities in handling the police pension fund. The alleged irregularities were made public by Mayor Adam, who has been conducting an investigation. No money is missing now, but for eighteen months, up to Dec. 12, no money derived from dog taxes and from the issuance of licenses to carry pistols had been turned over to the city treasury. Superintendent Bull reported the amount of about $13,000, in various amounts, between Dec. 1 and Dec. 30. He says the money had been lying in a safe at police headquarters.

MORALES MAY BE DEPORTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The state department has advised from Santo Domingo City to the effect that the government there was disposed to accept the proposal of President Morales to surrender his office and quit a residence if he were not arrested and placed on the charge of treason. It is believed that Morales will be deported on one of the warships now in Dominican waters to insure the observance of the terms of his abdication.

HOUSE USED AS HIVE BY BEES

Wyoming Man Finds Queer Cache in Walls
SHELL, Wyo., Jan. 8.—E. C. Payne of this place is probably the only man in the world that resides in a beehive. That he had that distinction Payne did not know until a few days ago, when it became necessary for him to make slight repairs to his home. He ripped a slatboard from the wall of the house, and was astonished to discover that the entire space between the inner and outer walls of the structure was filled with honeycomb. Incisions made in the walls elsewhere, however, proved this to be the case, and the honeycomb was found to even extend under the floor. Payne removed a washtub full of honey without making any appreciable impression on the amount between the walls.

He had frequently noticed large numbers of wild bees near his home, but had not suspected that they had turned the house into a hive. So great is the amount of honey which they have deposited that the Payne home is not so valuable as the honey which it contains. Payne announces that he will go into the bee business next summer. The Shell district is a rich field for wild bees and many beekeepers are known to exist within a short distance of the settlement.

DEATH WITNESS BECOMES INSANE

State to Introduce Evidence From Texas

CANADIAN PRINTERS LEAVE NEWSPAPER

Montreal Gazette Subjected to Strike on Account of An Apprentice in Job Office
By Associated Press. MONTREAL, Can., Jan. 9.—Seventy-five union printers employed on the Gazette, a paper here, are on strike today. The trouble arose in the job office over an apprentice and the newspaper staff machine men were called out in sympathy. The Gazette proprietors have declared the establishment of an open shop a motive which dates back fifteen years to the time when the Horner family lived at Galveston, Texas. This, he says, he will bring to the front, at the prosecution.

CHILDREN TAKE PARENTS' PLACES

Minister Says Big Families Are a Mistake
NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—President Roosevelt's declaration in favor of big families was discussed before the New Rochelle peoples forum yesterday. Rev. Owen R. Lovejoy, secretary of the National Child Labor committee, declared that except in special cases the President was mistaken in promulgating such ideas among the American people. Many men, he said, were working today at the bench and in the factory for less wages than their fathers received for the same amount of work and it was costing them more to live. Such men, he said, if they were of a conscientious type would hesitate at the responsibility of bringing their children into the world to struggle and toil for a bare living without the probability of advancement. Mr. Lovejoy said the number of children employed at manufacture and mining in the United States was 2,000,000, which he thought was far too many, as they were crowding men and women out of work and lowering wages.

A LABORER'S MEALS

Are All Right for Him, But Bad for the Professional Man
A professional man writes from Chicago: "The food question has been an all important one to me. 'Up to a year and a half ago I had been a victim of stomach trouble and a most constant constipation, for at least six years. 'At a laborer's meals and did almost no manual work at all. I was fond of fried foods, meats, fresh bread, hot biscuits, etc. Consequences—many trips to the doctor, disagreeable nauseous medicines, and no relief. 'About a year and a half ago I began to use Grape-Nuts food, living on it almost entirely. Friends wondered how I could, and wonder yet how I can, make a few spoonfuls of Grape-Nuts take the place of the heavy meat courses in which I used to indulge. But wisdom is just a step from a breakfast. I have found in Grape-Nuts a perfect food. 'I have never grown tired of it yet, and I certainly have given it a good trial. And my constipation with its attendant ills has disappeared. My stomach has toned up so that I can eat almost anything, even at night, and I have no trouble whatever with my digestion. 'Before I began eating Grape-Nuts food I used to find it difficult to concentrate my thoughts on my work or ward off restlessness after meals. Now the reverse is true and I can settle down to brain work and complete my task in a workmanlike manner without becoming nervous or fatigued out. 'These facts, as well as the circumstances that I never tire of Grape-Nuts food prove that there is something in it. It is, to me, a breakfast food that is all of that and not a mere accessory.' Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. 'That's a reason. Read the little book, 'The Road to Wellville,' in each package."

FOR BETTER SIDEWALKS

The movement inaugurated the first of the year to begin a vigorous campaign for better sidewalks in Fort Worth has met with very general encouragement, and the matter is already receiving such favorable attention that relief in a considerable measure seems imminent from many of the prevailing unsatisfactory conditions.

The new charter gives the city council the right to compel property owners to improve the street adjacent to their property. It is of imperative necessity that immediate steps be taken to compel the laying of sidewalks and the improving of streets throughout the city.

I recommend to the city council that in the matter of street improvement, they adopt what is known as the "continuous street improvement plan"—that is, take the main thoroughfares leading to the different parts of the city and improve them from one end to the other in first class shape, and let these main thoroughfares be the first to receive attention by the council.

I desire to do and now renew the foregoing recommendations with additional ones as follows: "Let the city first proceed at once to put down around all property owned by the city good sidewalks of approved specifications."

"Adopt an ordinance prescribing uniformity of all sidewalks, distance from curb, width, etc."

"Let all work be done under regulations and grades furnished free by the city engineer's department."

"Prescribe by ordinance location from curb of all shade trees."

"I further recommend that the street and alley committee invite the co-operation of the business organizations and civic leagues of the city in this work and name some early date for a meeting of the various bodies to discuss and further this much needed improvement."

Under the provisions of the city charter, the property owner who has not sufficient public spirit and enterprise to make good sidewalks in front of his property, can be compelled to do so. The fact that in many instances this has not been done is an urgent reason why compulsion should now be resorted to. Compel all property owners to comply with the law, and make the sidewalks of this city just exactly what they should be.

work finished up as it should be. It is a movement that means much for Fort Worth, and should be fostered and encouraged by every progressive citizen.

ELDER AND BETTER STATESMEN

The esteemed Express has never taken very kindly to the elder statesman idea. It is apparently in the same category with the few Texas papers that have affected to believe they discerned some sort of political bug under the chip. But it is an idea that is at least worth demonstration.

The Express on the contrary is heartily in favor of elder in the sense of better statesmen, and all of its contributions to the campaign of agitation on this subject have been for that end. We hope that the beautiful and idyllic dream of high-minded statesmen actuated by pure patriotism indulged in by the Telegram will come true, but we have our doubts.

The idyllic dream of The Telegram of high-minded statesmen, actuated by the purest patriotism, is only possible through the action of the people of the great state of Texas, who owe it to themselves to accept the services of none other. It is morally certain that if the disposition is to accept the theories of the Express as facts and not indulge in the procedure of even attempting to induce such men to serve in the state legislature is carried out, then the dream must be wholly idyllic.

There is a wise old axiom handed down from former ages which assures us that the gods help those who help themselves, and the truth of this is strikingly illustrated in prevailing conditions at this time in Texas. So long as we are prone to believe that the best legislative material we have in the state cannot be induced to serve for the existing stipend and content ourselves with the other kind, just so long may we expect the other kind to continue to answer roll call at Austin. But when we make up our minds to put an end to the existing state of affairs by calling out and electing the other kind the task ahead of us will not prove half so difficult as it now seems.

Let nomination and election to the state legislature constitute the badge of honor the fathers intended it should be, and there will be no trouble about inducing the right kind of men to serve in that position. It is the low level to which this important office has been permitted to descend that has operated to keep the brain and intelligence of Texas at home. When the way is paved for return to proper conditions it will be found that there is plenty of material available in every legislative district in the state. It is simply up to the people of Texas to proceed to avail themselves of this material.

The officials of the Standard Oil trust evidently want the officials of Missouri to show them.

The season for summer travel to Mineral Wells, the great health resort of Texas, will soon have arrived, but there are no developments in that proposed interurban. It is about time somebody was getting busy.

More sidewalks and better sidewalks is one of the crying necessities of the hour in Fort Worth. And it is a demand that must be promptly supplied. Fort Worth must lead in this matter as she does in all others.

Bob Fitzsimmons has induced his erring spouse to return to her former allegiance, and it may be expected that his success in this undertaking may soon induce him to try for another bout in the fistie arena. There is nothing that succeeds like success.

Collector Sharpe has been duly installed as Pat Garrett's successor in the El Paso custom house, and the slayer of Billy the Kid, has passed out to resume his old avocation of tracking down the desperadoes who still do business in the southwest occasionally.

We should all bear in mind continually the fact that this is the year a great cotton mill is to be brought to Fort Worth. And great cotton mills do not often come of their own volition. Fort Worth must go out after a cotton mill and never let up until one of the biggest in the state has been safely landed.

If any foreign country is sincerely desirous of obtaining the Beef trust and is offering inducements in that direction, there will be no tears of regret shed on the part of beef producers if it is induced to emigrate. But the probabilities are those are only suggestions thrown out for the purpose of influencing public sentiment.

France and Germany are alleged to be rapidly preparing for war, and the Morocco affair is to be the bone of contention. But war is probably not so near as many people imagine. France and Germany have tried that game before and each country no doubt fully realizes the size of the job that lies before it.

It is an interesting story of rapid enhancement in land values that is now coming from every portion of Texas. Even out in the Abilene country lands are selling at from $30 to $35 per acre, and it is said there are more people looking for home than can be accommodated. All of which goes to prove that the era of cheap homes is rapidly passing from Texas, and the man who defers the acquirement of his home even for two years, is going to pay dearly for his procrastination.

People living in the trans-Pecos district of Texas believe that the forming of the great Salton sea, out in the California desert, has had a wonderful effect in bringing good seasons to that portion of Texas. The past year has been the most seasonable the section has ever known, and the belief is now freely expressed that it has been transformed into a great farming country. Perhaps when the next drought sets in out there it will be surprised the Salton sea has suddenly dried up.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Special to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—The Hepburn railroad-rate bill, which has been anxiously awaited by members of the house, and particularly members of the house committee, has been introduced by Chairman Hepburn. It is similar to the Dooliver bill, and embraces in a modified form, many of the features of the measure recently prepared by the interstate commerce commission.

Its most essential departure from the other bills is its greatly enlarged definition of the terms "railroad" and "transportation," as used in the proposed act. This definition, as found in the bill, is as follows:

DEFINES MOOTED TERMS "The term 'railroad,' as used in this act, shall include all bridges and ferries used or operated in connection with any railroad, and also all the road in use by any corporation operating a railroad, whether owned or operated under a contract, agreement, or lease; and the term 'transportation' shall include cars and other vehicles and all instrumentalities and facilities of shipment or carriage, irrespective of ownership or of any contract, express or implied, for the use thereof and all services in connection with the receipt, delivery, elevation and transfer in transit, ventilation, refrigeration or icing, storage and handling of property transported; and it shall be the duty of every carrier subject to the provisions of this act to provide and furnish such transportation upon reasonable request therefor, and to establish through routes and just and reasonable rates applicable thereto."

STRENGTHENS COMMERCE COMMISSION "This provision requiring railroads to furnish lodging and other facilities is regarded by Mr. Hepburn as a strong feature of the bill. "Midnight tariffs" are to be abolished by a provision that no schedule is to be changed without thirty days' notice. The salary of the members of the interstate commerce commission is increased to $10,000, and the membership of that body increased from seven to nine.

Discussing his bill after its introduction, Mr. Hepburn said: "It is substantially on the same lines as the Dooliver bill. That bill was prepared after a number of us had consultations, and was taken very largely from the bill prepared by the interstate commerce commission."

FITS PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE "It carries out, so it is the opinion of the attorney general, the recommendations of the President in his message. The modifications in the Hepburn bill are a direct provision that puts the rate into effect within thirty days after the commission has established one, subject to a review by the courts. There is no provision for having the rate suspended by the courts during the appeal, except by such processes as the courts now have by injunction.

"It increases the commission from seven to nine members, and disposes of the 'midnight tariff' by requiring the railroads to give thirty days' notice of any change in rates. It abolishes all distinction between advances and reductions in rates. In the present law the railroads are required to give ten days' notice of an advance in rates and only three days in case of a reduction.

"The bill further provides for a maximum rate and covers the private car companies by an interpretation of the meaning of the word 'transportation.' The thirteenth and sixteenth sections of the present law are rewritten. The old law provides that when complaint is made the commission may investigate it and may determine the amount of damage the party has received, and fix the sum he may recover. "Under my bill the record of the interstate commerce commission and the findings shall be accepted as prima facie evidence in the courts. My bill also provides that in case of appeal, the shipper shall not be assessed the cost and that he shall be allowed a reasonable attorney fee."

AMONG THE EXCHANGES

Dallas has a "Jim Crow" street car law which went into effect yesterday. The cars have no partition, but the whites are to occupy the seats nearest the front and the blacks those at the rear of the car. The negroes seem to have the best end of the proposition, as the white folk will be compelled to pass by them to reach their end of the car.—Bonham Favorite.

Fort Worth has a similar street car ordinance that has been in operation for some little time and seems to be giving very general satisfaction. In fact, it is generally conceded to be a great improvement over the former state of affairs.

Senator E. C. Smith is framing a bill that will prevent members of the legislature, as a class, from receiving free railroad passes, which retard legislation by breaking quorums and lengthening the sessions. Some of the members ride home for their meals and of course fall to get back on time, and the whole body is clogged. The necessary legislation could be enacted in thirty days but for the free pass microbes.—Denton Monitor.

All efforts made in the past to amputate members of the state legislature from their railway passes have proven futile. But Senator Smith is on the right track and it is to be hoped he may be able to push his measure through the next session of the state legislature.

The Democrats of Texas have the fight amongst themselves this year in Texas. There are several reform measures that demand the attention of the party and we hope that the state will prove equal to the demands and show to the whole union that Democratic rule is the best rule that any state can adopt.—Denton News.

There is no occasion for much of a scrap amongst Texas Democrats this year. The greatest issue yet developed is simply a desire for office, and that is a matter Texas Democrats can settle among themselves without any fierce fighting.

One New Year resolution that should be adopted all over Texas is to only elect the best legislative material that can be found in every representative district. That kind of resolution religiously adhered to would be worth a great deal to Texas.—Fort Worth Telegram.

The best material from every county is what Texas needs in the next legislature. Texas needs to be placed on a good financial basis so that the deficit may be wiped out and money put in the treasury to meet all expenses.—Denton Herald.

As long as Texas is content to be served by any old kind of legislative material just so long will our state laws show up in unsatisfactory condition. To have the best we must choose the best.

Senator Willacy wants to remedy the chaotic tax system of Texas by levying an income tax, hoping in this way to make the surplus of the rich contribute more liberally to the support of government. Admiration is practicable, but experience in other states and countries has demonstrated that the small salted men—the fellow who makes from $1,000 to $2,000 or $3,000 a year—is the only one who has any income when the tax assessor puts in his appearance.—San Antonio Express.

Capital is very shy when it comes to the matter of an income tax and every capitalist in the country can be depended upon to shy at the Willacy proposition.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Chicago Record-Herald, under the head of "Just a Wreck," has the following editorial:

When death comes to such a man as Charles T. Yerkes, frank comment sounds harsh and ungenerous, and there is a disposition to act in accordance with the sentiment.

There is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us, that it hardly becomes any of us to talk about the rest of us.

But so much has been said about the dead man's abilities that the awful wreck of his life is positively startling. And the more we dwell upon his remarkable foresight in business and his remarkable power over men the more impressive does the lesson of the contrast become. A dozen art galleries, and tens of millions of dollars where there was one would write the word "failure" all the larger. The perversion of character, the complete absence of any guiding moral purpose and of a decent respect for the opinion of mankind leaves a heritage of shame to the nearest of kith and kin and a taint upon every item in the vast fortune. Out of the wreck we can make nothing but a warning.

Speaking of the dismissal of the United States district attorney and marshal for the force of a fine of $300 and six hours detention at a club as "imprisonment" for two cattlemen in Nebraska, the New York Tribune says:

The judicial service is well rid of officers who thus contribute to turn the execution of justice into a travesty. Secretary Hitchcock has fought intelligently and persistently for years to exterminate the evil practices in public land administration which Western politicians have long winked at. He had little or no support in congress and was hounded by corruptionists who had profited by fraud or lax administration. But his steadfastness had its reward, and in Oregon he has exposed and disarmed a combination for plunder long backed by the most powerful political influences. The good work he has done must go on and will go on. But there seems to be still some federal violators of the land laws and criminals. The spirit which Secretary Hitchcock has shown needs to be infused into the whole prosecuting service, and district attorneys and marshals who regard the arraignment of trespassers on the public domain as a hollow comedy should find some other stage on which to indulge their perverted sense of humor. Pernicious inactivity is no more pardonable in a federal judicial agent than pernicious activity.

CHURCH NOTES FROM SUNNY TENNESSEE

We are having a revival, going on at Union Grove, conducted by the Devs. Dugan and Kilgore. I had the pleasure last Sunday of hearing Brother Dugan preach a very interesting discourse. Oh! what a solemn thought. Tom McNabb was all smiles Sunday. Guess Miss Somebody was at church. Arch McNabb had a smile on his face as long as a wave on a goose pond Sunday. "THE LURE OF THE OLD SONG"

You were playing, sweet and low, The songs of long ago; And the high lamp's crimson shade Poured a softened light that made Mystic shadows in your hair— Shadows that were laughing there As the shadows of the dawn Leaped and laughed in days ago.

So you played—and so I dreamed While the pranking firelight gleamed In its race along the wall; And I heard the boy days call In the songs that thrilled my heart With their subtly simple art— As when practiced hands are swept O'er a harp that long has slept.

Winding paths through meadowlands, Brooks that sang on silver sands, Bending branches of the trees, Noontime chants of honeybees, Drifting Indian summer haze, Pelting snows of wintry days, Wondrous stars that blazed above— All this you knew nothing of.

Yet you played, and, playing, wrought All the glories unforgot; And the high lamp's ruddy glow Where the glints swayed to and fro Seemed some way to blend and blur Into those fair days that were— Led me backward, mile on mile, To each golden olden while. —Chicago Tribune.

Miss Sophie Brandt, whose triumph in that delightful favorite "Princess Chic" will be remembered by Fort Worth theater-goers, will be at Greenwalls tonight in "The Madcap Princess," a new comic opera, said to be unusually successful. Miss Brandt's engagement continues through Wednesday matinee and night. Her appearance this season in "A Madcap Princess" is said to be the most successful in her, as yet, somewhat brief stage career. Regarding the production the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle, Nov. 26, said: "Miss Sophie Brandt in 'A Madcap Princess' captured the theater-goers of Augusta by her two appearances yesterday afternoon and evening. Every one was greatly pleased. Not an unfavorable comment has been heard and that is saying a great deal, when one thinks how hard it is to secure unanimity of opinion from a large number. make up a successful stage career. She is remarkably pretty in the face and shapely of form; is bright and vivacious and captivating in manner, and best of all has a wonderful voice. The ease with which she takes high notes is little short of astonishing, and one involuntarily marvels at it. The songs allotted to her are very sweet and she renders them not merely well, but extraordinarily so. It is safe to say that the melodies of "That Happy Isle," "Three Little Words," "When I Greet Him" and the Cavalier song with its male chorus, will linger harmoniously for weeks to come. In the part of Mary Tudor, Miss Brandt acts the hoyden without at all being coarse or rough. She is even able to throw a daintiness into the part that makes you keep in mind the fact that underneath all the boisterousness there lies a womanly woman, who loves deeply and tenderly."

AT THE MAJESTIC

Great bill they have this week at the Majestic. Everything from chuckles to laughs, and wonderment to goose-flesh thrills, comes off the stage in the two hours and a half of the program.

Take Rose and Lemon in "The Globes of Death." They ride bicycle races inside a hollow steel network in every imaginable position until their flying wheels and white costumes make the globe look like an old fashioned egg-beater in a bowl of whipped cream. If a wheel should slip inside the polished steel network—oh, well, the drop curtain would fall and there'd be a quick job for some surgeon in the audience.

The audience is requested to keep very quiet during the last part of the act, but the request isn't needed. You can hear the held-breath break loose into a big sigh of relief when the whirling riders finally descend to the bottom of the globe and leap to the floor.

But it is to laugh when J. A. Murphy and Eloise Willard do their comical sketch, "The Phenomenon." For sheer foolish fun, the Majestic hasn't had a better skit since it opened. A big audience Monday night chuckled, laughed and roared throughout its entire length and then made the two laughmakers come back and do an additional stunt. Mitchell and Cain have a hard job, coming immediately after the Murphy and Willard duet, but they make good with the crowd for the start and also get a generous encore.

Other features of the bill are the "Bud Farnum Trio," clever musical comedians; "The Mermaid," a mystifying illusion; Alanna O'Malley, Irish songstress; illustrated songs, and the kinetograph.

DRUGGISTS FEAST AND TALK TRADE

Business and Social Session of County Association Held

The annual meeting of the Tarrant County Drug Association was held Monday night at the Delaware hotel. There were two sessions, the first being a business conference. The second was a banquet at which pleasantries were exchanged and lighter and more enjoyable topics were discussed. The banquet, which took up the greater part of the evening, was a success in every particular.

Dr. J. L. Cooper acted as toastmaster and he also made a brief talk in which he referred to the change which had been brought about in the last few years in the matter of feeling toward competitors. He said that in former years druggists looked upon their competitors as enemies and were each trying to get the advantage of the other, but that now they had realized the folly of this course and had formed organizations, where they could work together for their mutual good. He then called upon John H. Reeves, the retiring president, for a toast.

Future Looks Bright

C. D. Ambrose, the newly elected president, next responded to a toast "Looking Forward." He stated that he thought the future of the drug trade in Fort Worth and Tarrant county was bright. He expected the merchants to be even more prosperous than they had been in the year just closed, which has been a very prosperous one. Mr. Ambrose said that he expected the meetings of the association to be more fully attended, that the druggists would become better acquainted, that they would become more independent and be able to take care of their own business, and that the families, Mr. Ambrose predicted further that the manufacturers should become less independent and the control of the drug situation would be placed in the hands of the retail drug trade, where it rightly belonged. He predicted also that the extremely high prices which the druggists were forced to pay for certain imported German chemicals, by reason of the high duty would be reduced.

J. P. Brashear was next called on for one of his original poems and he responded by reciting the "Night Bell," a humorous little poem describing the sensation of druggists when customers called at night after they had retired.

Mr. M. C. Cameron, a wholesale druggist, was next called on for an address, but he responded very briefly, stating that he thought the members present were very much like the small boy who was waiting for the Christmas tree to be stripped; who suggested that the minister say "Amen" and sit down.

Officers Elected

The officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows: C. D. Ambrose, president; B. A. Anderson, first vice president; J. M. Haddaway, second vice president; H. F. Lackey, secretary, and John M. Parker, treasurer. The president will appoint an executive committee which will be chosen from the officers mentioned.

The entertainment committee in charge of arrangements was: W. J. Fisher, H. F. Lackey and R. A. Anderson. Those present were: John M. Parker, S. R. McLean, J. A. Walkup, R. E. Martin, T. J. Haizlip, R. E. Barr, J. O. Sanders, Henry F. Lackey, J. P. Brashear, Dr. James L. Cooper, W. J. Fisher, W. Covey, H. Pangburn, E. S. Smythe, C. B. Ambrose, Cassius C. Martin, John R. Reeves, F. L. Rafferty and M. C. Cameron.

CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

A meeting of the Sans Parlel Club was held Monday night and officers elected for the coming six months. The new officers are as follows: President, King Taylor; vice president, Sam Smith; secretary, Claude Barber; treasurer, S. B. Carter; cotillion leader, J. O. Buck; sergeant at arms, Dale Smith.

SIDEWALK COMMITTEES BEGIN ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

Meeting With City Officials Ordered Called

TWO BODIES UNITED

Official Opinion of City Attorney as Power of City in one Matter

A joint meeting of the committees appointed by the Board of Trade and the Home Factory and Industrial Association was held Monday afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms and a permanent organization of the two perfected. Every member of the two committees was present during the meeting. The members of the committees are as follows: Board of Trade, Dr. J. L. Cooper, C. D. Reimers, A. E. Want, John B. Hawley and Elmon Armstrong; Factory Club, A. N. Evans, Bascom Dunn and H. Brann.

The joint committee decided to have a meeting called at which the mayor, the city attorney, the finance and streets and alleys committees of the city council should be asked to be present, and that the mayor be asked to have the city attorney prepare a written opinion of the improvement district law so that the members of the committee should know just where they stood before going ahead with plans for the improvement of the streets, especially the sidewalks.

Permanent Chairman Named

The first thing that was done by the committee was to appoint a permanent chairman, Elmon Armstrong was the unanimous choice of the committee for the position. A. N. Evans was selected as secretary of the committee.

Dr. Cooper first expressed his views of the sidewalk proposition and said that there were, to his knowledge, eight distinct movements of citizens in different parts of the town, for the purpose of getting the requisite number of signatures for the building of sidewalks in their portions of the city. He also said that through his influence the citizens mentioned in The Sunday Telegram has gone ahead with the work of preparing an improvement district in the Sixth ward. Dr. Cooper declared that he had gone with him to the city attorney and there seemed to be no question but that the delinquent citizens could be forced, unless 60 per cent declared against it, to put down sidewalks. He also said that to his surprise he had discovered that only one signature of a property owner in the district was necessary to petition the city council. The city council could then go ahead and order the improvement district, which would be organized as soon as time was given for protests.

Street Crossings Needed

Dr. Cooper said that he thought that it would be a good idea to have the sidewalk movement if the city would agree to put in crossings over the streets wherever a block should be completed with sidewalks. He then said that he hoped that the present committee would follow his plan of having the meeting at which the mayor, city attorney, finance committee and the streets and alleys committee would be present. He said that he would have included the city engineer, but as the city engineer was already a member of the committee that was not necessary.

Dr. Cooper then put the last part of his remarks about a meeting in the form of a motion, which was seconded by H. Brann and unanimously adopted.

Cost of Crossings

After the motion was carried City Engineer Hawley was requested to make a quick estimate as to what it would cost the city to lay brick crossings at the street corners. He said that the cost would be about 10 cents a square foot for brick and that it would be necessary to lay either a four or six-foot crossing. The average width of a street is forty feet, so each crossing would cost the city $16 for the four-foot width or $25 a crossing for the six-foot width.

Researched Dunn said that he thought it would greatly improve matters if the city council would adopt an official sidewalk for the city. If such a good, fair, substantial sidewalk were laid, he considered that many people who now were seemingly opposed to laying sidewalks would go ahead and put them down in front of their places.

Dr. Cooper said that he understood that the city was not in a position to do much in the matter of the crossings, but that he thought that perhaps they would agree to the crossings wherever the sidewalks were completed. He also declared the citizen who was preparing to have the improvement district organized in the Sixth ward had had a list of the valuations of the properties in the proposed district made by the city collector and that the list had been turned over to the city attorney, who had promised to look it over and see if the valuation was high enough for the formation of an improvement district. If the valuation is high enough the matter will be pushed immediately.

Mr. Dunn then declared that he considered the plan for making improvement districts of some of the most important streets leading into every ward of the city a good one and stated that he thought the best thing the committee could do would be to first petition the city council for the improvement district, East Front street, Jennings avenue and Texas street as some of those for first consideration, along with four or five others that might be decided upon in order to have at least one leading into every ward.

Investors Deterred

Mr. Armstrong said he had always been an enthusiastic follower of the plan for better sidewalks and stated that friends who come here from other parts of the country are deterred from coming here to settle because of lack of walks. He said that the only reason could give to such people was that the town was in its infancy and that it had had no time to build sidewalks, but this excuse was often met by the reply that Oklahoma City and several other towns in the section of the country had been able to get more sidewalks than Fort Worth. "Nothing makes a town like its streets and sidewalks," he declared.

A. E. Want stated that if the city attorney would give his opinion of the improvement district plan and say that it would be possible to make the people pave their sidewalks he knew that the committee would go ahead and this city would have the sidewalks that are necessary.

The meeting then adjourned, leaving the chairman and the secretary to make arrangements for the meeting with the mayor, city attorney and the two committees of the city council.

City Engineer's Letter

During the early part of the meeting a communication was read from John B. Hawley, city engineer, stating that it was very probable that he would be unable to be present. This communication set forth his ideas on the street and sidewalk improvement question. His communication, which was received and filed, is as follows:

"Dr. J. L. Cooper, Chairman Improvement Committee, Care of Board of Trade, Fort Worth, Texas: Receiving your notice of a meeting to be held Monday afternoon, I had made arrangements to test the North Fort Worth water works at that time, and upon being informed that you would stop the test until it repaired it will be impossible for me to meet with you. I will therefore put on paper some of my notions of our street and sidewalk problem for use of the committee.

"I notice in The Sunday Telegram an item stating that some citizen of the Sixth ward is preparing a petition to the city council, asking the organization of an improvement district of some size in that ward. This seems to me to be a most important move, for, if the improvement district provision in our charter is invalid, the quicker the city is organized, the more we may organize and proceed along lines of 'moral suasion.'

"However, should we be obliged to adopt the latter course, I am inclined to think that a thirty-foot roadway can be made and much good done after a fair start is made. Behold the case of Main and Houston streets paving.

"We had no provision in our charter for the improvement of streets, paving or citizens to arrange improvement districts, and yet both streets were paved by the voluntary action of individual property owners. It took a deal of work to bring these streets about, but it was done, and can be pretty generally done on residence streets, both as to paving and sidewalks, if proper energy is displayed.

"For many years, if you will remember, I have been advocating making our residence streets narrower between the curbs, with correspondingly wider sidewalks. For an eighty-foot street, that is, eighty feet between fence lines, I would like to see a thirty-foot roadway and two thirty-foot sidewalks in place of a fifty-six foot roadway and two twelve-foot sidewalks. Or a sixty-foot street, a thirty-foot roadway and two twelve-foot sidewalks in place of a forty-foot roadway and two ten-foot sidewalks.

"This would leave roadways narrow enough to be economically paved and maintained, allow ample driving room, and be a great improvement in the sidewalk space and generally improve the present situation. Of course on streets now having, or probably to have in the future street car track or trolley, the new system could not properly be used.

Paving Substances

As to street paving materials, there are several that seem to me suitable and economical. A preference for vitrified brick is quite well known to my professional brethren. Rock asphalt in some form, when properly laid, is also acceptable, and a first-class macadam, laid on a properly prepared sub-grade, well drained and well rolled, makes a roadway that gives great satisfaction and costs not very much to keep in repair if the repairing is systematically done.

"I am absolutely wholly and unqualifiedly opposed to the use of gravel in the construction of any new streets, if funds can possibly be raised for the other forms of construction just mentioned.

"In case macadam is to be used extensively we might install a crushing plant of our own to grind out the rock to be used in the lower finishing with some hard rock like Jacksboro or the Brazos stones, all of which may be obtained very cheap and yet are of excellent quality.

"As to material to be used in sidewalk construction, properly proportioned and instructed concrete seems to give the best results, although a thoroughly good walk can be made of vitrified brick, laid flat on a thin base of concrete. This costs considerably less than a good cement walk. A fairly good walk can also be made by laying the brick flat on a few inches of well rolled gravel, the joints to be thoroughly grouted after good evening and ramming. This latter costs only about half the cost of a good cement walk. I have seen it mentioned that the city should pass an ordinance regulating the location of sidewalk between fence and curb, and similarly the location of sidewalk trees. Please advise us not to do that. If any sort of regulation is to be made, let it simply be to have both trees and sidewalks uniform in each block, say the sidewalk in the middle and the trees two feet from the curb, in a certain block. In the next block, if property owners so choose, allow them to place their sidewalk near the curb and trees somewhere between the sidewalk and the fence line, in that block the sidewalk will be more uniform.

The third block might reverse conditions in the second, but also be uniform. This system has been found to be most beautiful in Detroit, Minneapolis and other cities which have spent decades of time and tens of millions of dollars in beautifying their streets and drives.

Placing of Curbs

In the matter of curbs the owner should be allowed to put in either concrete or stone, but each block should be curbed uniformly as to material, line and grade, and as for the latter items the engineer department, as soon as authorized by the city council, will be more than glad to gratuitously furnish them.

"Trusting that by united effort and plenty of it we may make this the Gem City of Texas, I am sincerely yours, JOHN B. HAWLEY."

MAN ABOUT TOWN

J. A. Vandoren of this city has in his possession a string of beads that were taken from the skeleton of an Indian warrior who was killed and burned in Eastland county three miles south of Cisco during the days when the savages made horse stealing excursions into that section of Texas.

Mr. Vandoren is interested in a coal mine that is being developed at the point mentioned and it was while a tunnel was being driven into the side of a hill where the coal is that the decaying bones of the Indian were found. They were those of a man nearly six feet tall, and near them were found, besides the beads, a tomahawk and a cap-lock rifle from which the stock had long since rotted. The rifle and tomahawk are in possession of the men who were engaged in driving the tunnel, the stock of beads being presented to Vandoren.

In the latter part of the 60s and in the early 70s Indian raids were frequent in that part of Texas now known as Eastland county and more than one body fight took place between the few settlers and the Indian raiders. On Deep Creek near the site of the old Hitson ranch years ago there was a hard fight between a party of Comanches and cowmen in which the Indians were worsted and driven off, taking their dead with them. The place where the skeleton was exhumed by the coal miners is not far from the old Hitson ranch house and it is more than likely that the dead Indian lost his life in the Hitson ranch fight and was buried by his tribesmen during their flight.

The beads are of a cheap kind, strung alternately blue and white on a thin wire, and are such as are yet worn by children, and which Indians use in making articles of bead-work and ornamenting moccasins.

The skeleton of only one man was found by the miners, and it was on a level just below the surface. From the articles found near the body there is hardly a doubt that it was that of a Comanche Indian who received his death wound in the fight.

"After three weeks I lost my nervousness, the insomnia which had troubled me was entirely relieved, and I began to enjoy the best and finest of sleep every night—and that condition still continues."

"After two months' use I got rid of my dyspepsia and piles, and they have not returned to plague me."

"Neither I nor any of my family would today think for a moment of going back to the old kind of coffee. When we entertain we give coffee to our guests, but we drink Postum ourselves, not only for its nutritive properties, but because it has become a truly delicious beverage to us."

"I feel that common gratitude requires this testimony from me."

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in each package.

Severe Cough—Consumption Threatened

MRS. MARY PAINTER

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

For more than fifty years has been prescribed by doctors of every school, recommended by temperance advocates and ministers of the Gospel, and used in over two thousand leading hospitals as the greatest tonic stimulant and health builder known to medical science.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey cures coughs, colds, consumption, grip, bronchitis and pneumonia. It stimulates and enriches the blood, fortifies the system against disease germs. It prolongs life, keeps the old young and the young strong. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey contains no fusel oil and no other impurities. It is a pure, reliable, medicinal and grocery or direct $1.00 a bottle. Doctor's advice and medical booklet free. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Mrs. Mary Painter, who was reduced to a shadow and threatened with consumption, is restored to health and strength by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Her husband could hardly move from backache, but she was cured and made as strong and sound as ever.

"It is with great pleasure I write to tell you what I think of Duffy's Malt Whiskey. I sincerely believe it is the greatest medicine ever made. I took a cough this spring and it got so bad my friends thought I had consumption. I was as thin as a skeleton for weeks and could scarcely live, so I bought two bottles of Duffy's Malt Whiskey. As soon as I began to take it my cough lessened, so we sent for a dozen bottles, and I am now as well as ever."

"My husband and I have been taking it all summer. He was down with backache till he could hardly move, and now he is as well as anybody. I am stouter and I have been since we were married. Please send us another dozen bottles, as we cannot get along without it."

MRS. MARY PAINTER, Phoenix, Mo., Sept. 22, 1906.

IN MANY GUISES A Story of an Exciting Dash for a Fortune by an Actor-Adventurer

CHARACTERS Agar Hume, alias Brown—Professional mimic, who becomes valet to Sir William Dagmar, and schemes to make a fortune. Sir William Dagmar—Wealthy bachelor recluse, whose house is the rendezvous of a mysterious coterie.

My method has always been to impersonate, that is, to duplicate as closely as possible, some living person with whose habits and idiosyncrasies I am familiar. On this occasion I chose for my model an old actor with whom I had once upon a time shared rooms in Birmingham, a tragedian of a bygone generation, with many tricks and mannerisms which I had delighted to imitate.

descended the hill slowly, and often he rested in a musing fashion, looking steadily before him for a minute at a time. I lingered at a great distance, confident of overtaking him when I wished. Crossing the valley he began to climb an opposing slope, and at length entered a long straggling thicket. Ten minutes went by, however, and he did not reappear. At the end of another five, I began to fear that he had given me the slip. I crossed the slowly rising vale and cautiously approached the thicket. A hundred paces brought me to the edge of a small clear patch of fresh green sward, furnished with a couple of rustic benches. Upon the further bench, my master was seated, his face set toward me, in earnest converse with a woman.

"I almost cried aloud in my surprise. Indeed, I must have in some fashion exclaimed, for he raised his eyes and surveyed me with an intolerant annoyed expression, as though to inform me that I intruded. On instant I pretended to be the worse for liquor. Shambling forward, I sank down upon the first bench, stretched out my feet before me and permitted my hands to fall limply by my sides. For three or four minutes a dead silence reigned. Conscious of their examination, I kept my face set straight, but kept my eyes cast about, and frowning heavily. I heard at length the mutter of exchanged whispers, and fearing to drive them away, I began to act. Flinging out my right hand with a fiercely tragic gesture, I declaimed in hoarse voice, broken with hicoughs, portions of Hamlet's immortal soliloquy. This gave me opportunity for an occasional glance at my quarry. Sir William was very pale, and he looked weary. His companion was watching me, but her face was veiled. Her figure was lithe, and beautifully shaped, and she was richly dressed. I knew she must be young. Of a sudden I resolved upon a bold stroke. I rose up, and ceasing to declaim, staggered toward them.

"What next, Marion?" asked my master in a hoarse hollow voice. "God knows, M'sieur. Soon I shall have exhausted the pharmacopoeia. Providence is very cruel to us, very cruel. We have been vouchsafed one-half of the secrets of life, and it seems to me that in seeking the remainder we expend our energies in vain. Meanwhile the hands of us all become more deeply dyed with blood! M'sieur, as God hears me, I sometimes think myself a murderer."

"Foolish child, you must not trifle with this weakness. Crush it, subdue it!" "Ah! Bah! M'sieur. A woman's life is not a trifle!" "But not the heart of a woman who loves, my child. Remember, this is George's life for which you are striving. And those others, what are they but worthless ones, condemned already past redemption. Granted, perhaps, that our experiments may hasten the inevitable end. Of what do we deprive them, but a few weeks or days of painful suffering? Ah, no my child, you must not turn back now. Any day the secret may be discovered, the door of life thrown open to us all. And that to you will mean the instant realization of your dearest dreams. Think of it, Marion, your lover yours to wed, yours for long years of happiness. The woman answered in a sobbing voice, "George is so miserable, M'sieur. He speaks of death. He is filled with despair!" "You must be firm with him, my child. I have discovered that he is in debt, deeply in debt. For that reason he most despairs, because he fears to leave you poor as well as desolate. I fear that he contemplates some desperate expedition. But you must persuade him to be patient. You know, Marion, that we are all pledged not to financially assist each other. On that account I dare not help your lover, though I care for him as if he were my son. But with you it is different."

POINTERS ON HOUSEKEEPING By CYNTHIA GREY

A little care given to decorations, furnishings and the arrangement of rooms changes a house from a mere place to stay, into a beautiful, restful home. Home repose comes from placing together the right colors and from setting off to advantage the natural beauties and cleverly concealing the defects of the rooms. Just now French gray is the popular shade in wall decorations. It dresses gray would give the clearest atmosphere to a room which opened only to the north. A French gray should be used only on rooms with a southern exposure and over them it needs tinging with a touch of cherry red or magenta.

"How, M'sieur?" "Why, my dear—you are not of our order, being a woman, although you are attached to us by ties which may be unraveled. Take this package, child. It contains a great sum of money. Ten thousand pounds. I shall not ask you to tell me what you do with it. No child, not a word." "M'sieur, M'sieur," cried the woman. I was so amazed, so confounded with astonishment, that I sat up and turned my head. The tableau is as clear to my remembrance now as though it had happened yesterday. My master was sitting at the woman, his companion, with a look of paternal tenderness. His countenance was transfigured beyond recognition, for in place of his half-artificial, half-querulous aspect, I saw an expression of such holy and unselfish love that in very wonder I caught my breath. The woman with both hands held the package had given her, to her breast. Her head and fell with deep inarticulate emotion. Moreover she had raised her veil. Never had I seen a face one-half so beautiful. Her eyes were large and finely shaped, in color a passionate red-brown. Her nose was straight and cut in the Grecian mold, with thin quivering curved nostrils. Her mouth a perfect bow. The lips were tremulously parted. I have since seen the expression they wore then, perpetuated on the canvas of Botticelli's most famous Madonna. It was indescribably pathetic, full of both bliss and pain.

Fortunately for me neither had recognized my moment. As soon as I perceived the indiscretion of which I had been guilty, I turned about again and bending my forehead to my knees, I groaned aloud. The sound broke the silence. I heard them mutter together, but at a moment later their departing footsteps.

PANAMA AGENT SAYS FOOD REPORT FALSE

Government Agent Here in Effort to Secure Carpenters for Isthmian Canal Work Henry A. Smith, Panama commission employment agent, arrived here Monday from San Antonio and has taken quarters at the Metropolitan Hotel, where he will remain a week. Mr. Smith is here for the purpose of employing carpenters, whom he offers $6 cents per hour for eight hours and a half for overtime. Only carpenters are wanted at this time, as there are not quarters enough there for other classes of employes at present. The carpenters are wanted to construct additional buildings. Mr. Smith says that there are now 25,000 men at work in Panama, of which 5,000 are skilled and 20,000 unskilled laborers. The former are nearly all negroes, while the latter are natives of Jamaica and the nearby islands. About 25,000 more laborers will be needed, the majority of the latter to be common laborers.

Mr. Smith says that thus far no difficulty has been experienced in getting skilled laborers as needed and that he anticipates none. The clerical help needed is secured entirely through civil service. Mr. Smith denies the report published yesterday in New Orleans that there is a scarcity of food on the Isthmus and states that the health conditions are as good as could be expected in a tropical country.

THREE ARRESTS MADE Three arrests of negroes have been made in the case of the robbery of the negro, Petty, reported in The Telegram Sunday. Petty claims that he was held up with a six-shooter by three negro men and a negro woman and robbed of $100. Complaint was filed against four negroes and three out of the four are now in jail. Jesse Davis was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Buck Saturday night and Monday Lewis and Lula Cowan were arrested by Deputy Buck at Handley.

SWIFTS TO ENTER SOUTH AMERICA

Planned to Sell Products to Germany From Argentina. SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Jan. 9.—Having failed in their efforts to avert a tariff war with Germany, and realizing that the new import duty on meats promulgated by Germany will be absolutely prohibitive to United States packing interests, Swift & Co. of Kansas City and Chicago are preparing to establish a packing plant in Argentine Republic. Through one of their local representatives, to whom this information was conveyed by L. F. Swift in person, it has been learned that the recent addition of $15,000,000 to their capital, realized by the sale of stock, was for the purpose of installing a plant in South America.

Germany's tariff does not apply to Argentina. The latter's meats are admitted to Germany duty free. This means a difference of $5 a head on cattle, $4 a head on hogs and $4.04 per kilogram on cured and salted meats. Cattle and hogs can be purchased at two-thirds the price in Argentina that is required by the farmers of the United States. Mr. Swift asserted that a difference of more than 50 per cent in the profit to the packing house would be realized by the change of base of operations. "Our trade with Germany has been enormous," Mr. Swift is quoted as saying while here. "Within sixty days, by the operation of the new tariff, it will have been entirely obliterated. We will be unable to sell a pound of meat or bi-product in Germany under the new duty. We are left no alternative but to erect a plant in Argentina, where the duty is not effective."

FRENCH "DEE-LIGHTED"

Italian Delegate Thought to Favor Contest for Morocco. PARIS, Jan. 9.—Public uneasiness over the Moroccan conference has undergone a distinct improvement on account of the confident attitude of the officials of the foreign office, who consider the election by the Italian government of Marquis Visconti Venosta to head its delegation as strengthening the position of France. The French delegates will start without the slightest thought of yielding or compromising the essential principles of France's privileged position, and therein lies the difficulty of the Franco-German outlook. The Berlin correspondent of the Temps says that Germany, following the action of the United States and Great Britain, is sending a squadron to Algeria. She paper says that France thus far has not ordered a squadron to the neighborhood of the conference. It adds that three British squadrons composing the channel, home and cruiser squadrons, will rendezvous in Cadiz bay near Algiers in the middle of February.

LETTER TO TELEGRAM READERS R. A. Anderson Guarantees Hyomeo to Cure Catarrh or It Costs Nothing. Editor of The Telegram. In view of the prevalence of catarrhal troubles at this season of the year, I want to tell your readers that I have never sold anything that gave more satisfaction than Hyomeo, when used in catarrhal troubles. You get immediate relief from the treatment, and consistent use will prove to every sufferer, as it has to many of our customers, the virtue of this preparation. Personally I am interested in Hyomeo, for it is made and sold on honor, and I do not want your money unless you are benefited and satisfied. There is no stomach dosing in connection with Hyomeo. It is a thoroughly local treatment for a local disease, and its soothing, healing medication goes direct to the spot where it is needed. The complete Hyomeo outfit consists of a proper inhaler, a small bottle and a bottle of Hyomeo, and the price is only $1, while additional bottles can be obtained for 50 cents. I positively guarantee a cure when Hyomeo is used in accordance with directions, or I will refund your money. This certainly shows our faith and belief in the virtues of Hyomeo. Yours very truly, R. A. ANDERSON.

Successful Organization of Two Years Ago May Again Be Seen on Local Diamonds

A movement is on foot among the younger men employed in the banks here to reorganize the Bankers' baseball team this year. A meeting will be called within a few days and plans made.

The Bankers' team of two years ago was one of the strongest organizations in the city. Last year the team was not organized, but prospects are bright this year. Jim Cheatham was the captain of the team two years ago.

NORTH FORT WORTH and ROSEN HEIGHTS

North Fort Worth and Rosen Heights office of The Telegram is located at 117 Exchange avenue, old phone 2359, where news items, subscriptions, advertisements and complaints of delivery should be left.

The elevator recently built by the Texas Grain and Elevator Company in North Fort Worth is now running night and day, adding another to its list of leading industries. The elevator has a capacity of ten cars of grain per day. The structure is of steel, fire proof and stands nearly a hundred feet high, thus adding to North Fort Worth's industrial landmarks. J. L. Moore is president and manager and E. M. Rogers, secretary and treasurer of the company.

WATER WORKS TEST

During the pressure test of North Fort Worth water works Monday, water was thrown against the wind to the top of the water tank in Main street, a height of ninety feet, demonstrating the efficiency of the water system in case of fire. Hose was then attached to two plugs at once and two streams were thrown 200 feet.

The inspection of the water system was not completed Monday, but so far as tests have been made the system has been found up to the standard required.

POSTAL SERVICE INCREASED

Four dispatches of mail are now received at the stock yards station instead of three, as heretofore. The hours of departure from Fort Worth are as follows under the new arrangement: No. 1, at 6:05 a. m.; No. 2, at 8:15 a. m.; No. 3, at 11:30 a. m.; No. 4, at 1:15 p. m.

The hours at which they will arrive at the stock yards station are designated as follows: No. 1, at 6:15 a. m.; No. 2, at 8:45 a. m.; No. 3, at 12 noon; and No. 4, at 1:30 p. m.

The additional delivery at this station is No. 3, at noon. It will prove of considerable advantage to the commission firms and packing houses.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. CITY PRISONERS TRY TO ESCAPE

Tampering With Floor of Water Office Discovered

Fourth attempt to escape from city prison through the city water works office has been made by city prisoners, but prevented by the placing of a heavy desk over the portion of the flooring that had been loosened in preparation for the attempted escape.

Flooding of the water works office was loosened during Sunday night, being discovered by Captain J. R. Doughty of that office, while walking from one desk to another. The covering on the floor prevented the tampering with the timbers being seen, the effect being noticed readily, however, by stepping upon that portion of the floor.

The police department was accordingly notified and Monday night a heavy desk was placed over the loosened boards. Officers were then stationed in the water works office to await developments, but the prisoners have evidently learned of the precautions taken and none tried to force a way through the opening.

The space loosened covers an area of several square feet, ample for a man to pass through readily.

The previous attempts, several of which have been successful, were made in a part of the water works office further toward the western side.

JUDGE COWAN OFF FOR WASHINGTON

Committee Hearing on 23-Hour Law Called

Judge S. H. Cowan leaves tonight for Washington, D. C., in the further interests of the amendment of the twenty-eight hour law for the shipment of cattle. He has received telegraphic communication that the matter is to receive a hearing before the committee and as the attorney of the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association he will represent the interests of that association and other cattle shippers in the matter.

Judge Cowan stated this morning to a Telegram reporter: "I would like to say that the live stock shippers throughout the country ought not to fall to write to their congressmen and to secure their services to persons by press that matter to extend the time from twenty-eight to thirty-six hours. If they ever expect to take up this matter now is the time to look after their interests and to write letters to the congressmen."

"The hearings before the committees will be held very soon, as I am advised from Washington. I expect that I will be there about two weeks.

"In regard to the Stevens' resolution for an inquiry into the advances of rates on cattle, that is fully answered by the decision of the Interstate commerce committee in the Texas cattle cases against the railroads recently decided in which advances set forth, and especially the last of March 3, 1935, were held to be unjust and unreasonable. There has been no general advance since that time."

MANY WILLING TO BE JUSTICES

Eight Names Already Discussed for Two Offices

Eight names are now being talked of in connection with the race for justice of the peace in precinct No. 1, two justices to be elected, and it is highly probable that half as many more will be considered before all the candidates are in the field. As neither Justice Rowland or Justice Terrell will be candidates for those offices, both being announced candidates for county judge, there is a general movement for their places.

Under the new law, candidates for justice of the peace in a district which more than one justice is to be elected are required to designate which of the two places he seeks. In precinct No. 1 the two offices will be designated as No. 1 and No. 2, but which is No. 1 and which is No. 2 has not yet been decided. This will be done later by the county executive committee. However, one candidate has already announced for No. 1, Joseph Myers, and one for No. 2, Thomas Bratton. Thomas Bratton will seek position No. 2. There are five others who, it is said, will be candidates, but whether to succeed Justice Rowland or Justice Terrell has not yet been settled, and will not be decided by the county executive committee determines what number each court shall bear.

No. 2, whichever that will be, appears to be a popular place, as besides Bratton and Dunn, Walter Russell is also in the field for that place, and probably A. W. Weatherford, who is talked of as a certain candidate for one of the places.

Other candidates for justices who are now being discussed around the court house, are J. G. Wilhart, at present in the real estate business; W. C. Smith, lawyer, and F. M. Leatherman. Mr. Leatherman made the race for justice once before, but failed to land, and has decided to take another shot at it.

There is almost as much interest manifested about the court house in this justice's race as there is in any other race that will be run this year. The justices in precinct No. 1 meet more people than probably any other judicial officers and this fact causes people to talk more about a race for that office than for those in the higher courts.

REALTY COMPANIES EFFECT CHANGES

C. I. Dickinson Becomes Associated With Former Partner, W. L. Ligon

Two important changes have been made in the membership of leading real estate firms in this city. C. I. Dickinson, who has been a member of the firm of Tempel, Dickinson & Modlin for a number of years, has withdrawn from that firm and has united with W. L. Ligon, formerly of the W. L. Ligon company. The new company is known as Ligon, Dickinson & Company. Mr. Dickinson and Mr. Ligon were partners in a company of the same name about six years ago, but that firm after it had existed for four years was dissolved and is now against re-formed.

The old firm of Tempel, Dickinson & Modlin will continue in the real estate business under the name of Tempel & Modlin.

POLL TAX OFFICE TO OPEN NIGHTS

City Collector Will Begin New Plan Jan. 15

Beginning Jan. 15, W. J. Gilvin, city assessor and collector announces that his office will be kept open nightly until 9 o'clock in order that all persons desiring to do so may have an opportunity to pay poll taxes.

Plan adopted last year of sending collectors out to the various industries of the city, prepared to issue poll tax receipts, will not be followed this year, having proved unsuccessful. In many cases the deputies lost much time in this way, the advantage of the change being taken by but few persons. For this reason and because objection was raised in some cases to the interruption of men at work, it has been decided the payment of taxes will be more greatly accelerated by keeping the force in the office and have been greatly in advance of those for the preceding year, total figures to Sunday for city collections being 1,477. Total for Monday was 113.

MEDICAL SOCIETY PLANS CONVENTION

State Organization of Physicians to Meet in Fort Worth During Month of April

Regular meeting of the Tarrant County Medical Society was held Monday night and plans for the meeting of the state organization here in April were discussed. The committee on arrangements was empowered to appoint subcommittees to be asked to report at the next meeting of the society. The committee on arrangements consists of Dr. Bacon Saunders, Dr. W. R. Thompson and Dr. Frank Boyd.

As yet no definite arrangements have been made for the meeting here in April. It is expected that there will be about 1,000 members of the state organization present at the meeting.

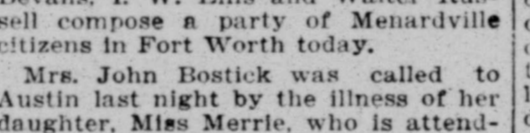

ENGINE REPAIRED

Did Much Damage, Although Receiving Little Injury

Texas and Pacific switch engine No. 46, which was wrecked at Dallas about two weeks ago, has now been repaired in the Fort Worth shops, and is again ready for service. The damage was only about $200. While this was all the locomotive suffered, it did a great deal more damage than that, having completely demolished a refrigerator car which it struck, after leaving the track. The locomotive was pulling a long string of heavy cars, and was under full steam when a coupling broke, relieving the weight behind the locomotive. The engine went forward with great speed and, before it could be gotten under control, it left the track and butted into a refrigerator car which was standing on a side track. The locomotive went half through the car, and it was a miracle that the engineer and fireman escaped without serious injury.

THE STORK BRINGS JOY

To the household but how about the mother? She she been joyful during the weeks and months preceding the advent of the new baby. Too many mothers find it a time of fearful anxiety because of the knowledge that they are not in good health. They have allowed weaknesses, pains and drains to accumulate and they are more than discouraged, and all because they have been misadvised by well-meaning friends or misled by an inefficient doctor.

Now such here is the news that there is a remedy that will cure and not hurt. It was discovered forty years ago by Dr. Pierce who searched Nature's laboratory—the earth, for the remedial agents to liberally provide them. He took the Lady's Slipper root, Black Cohosh root, Unicorn root, Blue Cohosh root, Golden Seal root, and by extracting, combining and preserving, without the use of alcohol, the glyceric extracts of these natural remedies he has given to the world DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION, which has to its credit the enviable and unparalleled record of more than a half-million of cures in the last forty years.

"Only those who have given Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a trial can appreciate what a boon it is to suffering women," writes Miss Virginia Saunders of 33 Elm St., Toronto, Ont. "For two years I suffered intensely from nervousness until life was a burden to me. I had distressing headaches, and I could scarcely stand up. Had but known of this wonderful medicine, I would have been so much better. My nervousness was so bad that I could not sleep. I tried several remedies but without success. I tried several times to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, but I began immediately to improve, and a month's use was as well and strong as ever."

Constipation cured by Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

After he had empaneled the jury Judge Smith announced that he would not deliver his charge to them until the first Monday in February, until which date the jury will not be in session, this postponement of actual work being because the grand jury in Judge Dunklin's court has so recently adjourned.
