

25 YEARS VERDICT FOR NEGRO AT QUITMAN

Jury at Quitman, Tex., Returns Verdict of Guilty

CITIZENS ARE SATISFIED

Town Quiet Following Announcement—Was Charged With Attacking Woman

QUITMAN, Texas, Jan. 11.—A verdict of guilty and punishment assessed at twenty-five years in the penitentiary was brought in by the jury in the case of Ernest Turman at 8:39 o'clock this morning. The verdict seems to satisfy the people and the town is perfectly quiet this morning.

Attack Christmas Day The offense for which Turman was today adjudged guilty was attempting to attack Mrs. Willie Bateman, a white woman, at her home near this place Christmas day. Identification was made of the clothing and hat worn by Turman at the time. An attempt to arrest him at his own home Christmas night resulted in his flight from the house and pursuit by the officers. He was later arrested and taken from a barn in which he was hiding at the time of the search. There were rumors of mob law being meted out to the accused and the sheriff succeeded in spiritedly his prisoner away from Quitman, causing the report to be circulated that he would be taken to Greenville, Texas.

Taken to Dallas Instead of lodging his prisoner in the Hunt county jail, the sheriff took Turman to Dallas, where he was held until the special term of the criminal district court was called to convene here by Judge R. W. Simpson, as was told exclusively in The Telegram at the time.

SHERMAN, Texas, Jan. 11.—County Judge G. P. Webb, whose agitation of the necessity for juvenile courts in Texas has attracted attention throughout the state, is persistently testing his plans in the best way possible under present laws. He never puts a child in prison if it can be possibly avoided. At the call of his docket this week he was confronted by two small boys, charged with petty theft. He lectured them on the evil of such practices and appealed to them to resolve to be better boys and to try to make honorable men.

WITTE REFUSES ANY CONCESSION Says Emperor Has Not Given Up Power

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 11.—Premier Witte, according to the Novoe Vremya, at his reception yesterday of the delegation headed by the mayor of St. Petersburg, which called on him to request relaxation of the orders of the prefect of police against the meetings in the interest of the electoral campaign, declared emphatically that the government would not go an inch beyond the imperial manifesto in the question of transforming the national assembly into a constituent assembly, for the purpose of formulating a constitution, and will not tolerate any attempt to do so which would make it a revolutionary assembly and subject to a dissolution by the emperor.

CASE LIKELY TO GO TO PRESIDENT May Be International Question as to English Woman

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 11.—Unless Secretary Metcalf of the department of commerce and labor orders the immediate discharge of Mrs. Lydia M. Thompson, who, it is alleged, went insane on the high seas in coming to the United States from England recently and who was placed in the care of friends pending an investigation as to her mental condition, the case is likely to assume an international aspect. In fact a protest has already been made to the British ambassador against Mrs. Thomson's further detention. James Wood of New York City, a friend of Mrs. Sarah Sull of Overbrook, Pa., whom Mrs. Thomson was to visit, has arrived here armed with a number of letters from noted New York alienists, declaring that examinations of Mrs. Thomson made by them last yesterday disclosed the fact that she is perfectly sane and competent.

SCHOOL TO GIVE BANQUET TONIGHT Southwestern University Affair Likely to Have Great Effect Upon Future

WACO, Texas, July 11.—Methodists here are much interested in the banquet which is to be held at Georgetown tonight, as this banquet, given by the faculty of the university to the businessmen of Georgetown and promoters leveled to be fraught with potent possibilities as regards this school. The question of raising a large fund—probably $150,000—for buildings and other equipment, will probably be presented at this meeting, and the opinions of those present given. This is the chief school of the Methodists in Texas, though the denomination has a number, and some highly successful and prominent Texans have been educated there, including Congressman R. L. Henry.

THE SITUATION AT DENVER DENVER, Colo., Jan. 11.—Leonard B. Imboden and James A. Hill, the convicted Denver Savings bank wreckers, will probably remain in the county jail at least thirty days longer—until a higher court has intervened. Local attorneys for the wreckers, the defendants, will press the appeal, first to the state supreme court, and then if need be, to the United States courts. The two defendants were on last Saturday sentenced to the penitentiary at Canon City for a term not exceeding ten years nor less than nine years.

IMBODEN TO APPEAL TO SUPREME COURT Attorney Davis Is Back Home A HABEAS CORPUS WRIT Application to Be Made Immediately Before Justice Peckham of U. S. Court

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 11, 1906. James S. Davis, Fort Worth, Texas: Meet Banks Washington, D. C., Monday noon. See letter for your general delivery Washington. S. A. DeBOLD.

When Judge Palmer sentenced the two men to hard labor in the Canon City penitentiary, no objection was interposed by either when asked by the court if they had reason why sentence should not be passed.

MRS. MINOR MORRIS IN CRITICAL STATE Special to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—At the New Willard hotel this morning it is learned that the condition of Mrs. Minor Morris, who was recently forcibly ejected from the white house office and grounds, at the direction of assistant Secretary Barnes, is serious. She lapses into a comatose state at times.

DAVIS TO GO TO CAPITAL Following his arrival in Fort Worth this morning, Mr. Davis was seen by a reporter for The Telegram and said he was willing to make a statement for publication, with the express understanding that he was talking for the benefit of Fort Worth publications exclusively and to the express exclusion of the other newspapers published in Denver. Upon being asked the fact that the interviewer was not interested in any publication beyond The Telegram, Mr. Davis said:

"I left Fort Worth Wednesday morning, arriving at Denver Thursday morning, delayed about four hours. While en route I discovered through the columns of Denver newspapers that at least one paper favored the meeting of the Denver wreckers on the bank wreckers, as Messrs. Hill and Imboden were termed by the press of Denver. Further perusal of their news matter and editorial pages led me to become apprehensive for the safety of my clients and I endeavored to ascertain by wire as to whether anything serious had happened to them. In this I was unsuccessful and immediately and decisive action was advised by J. J. Banks, chief counsel for my clients, not to appear publicly in the case and to avoid all publicity while in the city. I readily acquiesced in this statement to keep down any higher feeling against my clients."

"Many questions were considered by Mr. Banks, former Attorney General Hershey and myself, in consultation with Mr. Imboden, and after the refusal of the motion for a new trial by Judge Palmer and of the East Side criminal court at Denver, we reached the conclusion that the case demanded immediate and decisive action on our part. In this consultation we saw somewhat at variance in matters of legal opinion. I maintained some things which did not appear excellent to the other counsel. In the case, but the plan which was decided upon was the one remedy for the situation which I had urged in the beginning. That is what is now to be done, to apply for and obtain an original writ of habeas corpus from the supreme court, under section No. 2 of the judiciary acts this may be done from one member of the supreme court alone, and anywhere in the United States where a prisoner is unlawfully restrained of his liberty in violation of the constitution of the United States. Local counsel denied this proposition at first and maintained that a writ could be obtained by the sheriff in error, following the discharge by habeas corpus. Upon my question as to what court could entertain such a writ of error, following the habeas corpus proceeding in the state court of the United States, counsel yielded and maintained that this is what is to be done."

Before leaving Fort Worth Mr. Davis telegraphed to Washington and arranged for the presentation of the application for a writ of habeas corpus before Justice Peckham, an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States.

IMBODEN'S ATTORNEYS ARE MAKING A HARD FIGHT FOR THEIR CLIENTS AND CLAIM THAT THE COURT WHICH TRIED THE DEFENDANTS ARE WITHOUT JURISDICTION, AS THE CRIME WAS NOT COMMITTED IN THIS COUNTRY. Another contention is that Imboden and Hill should not be made to serve penitentiary sentences until the other eight men indicted at the same time and on the same charges have been tried and convicted. But all objections were brushed aside by Judge Palmer.

It is believed that the final hearing of the application of the defendants' attorneys in an effort to have their clients released from jail will not be acted upon by the higher court for another year.

When Judge Palmer sentenced the two men to hard labor in the Canon City penitentiary, no objection was interposed by either when asked by the court if they had reason why sentence should not be passed.

THEY ALL WANT THIS PRETTY BOY

Habeas Corpus Case of Interest Is Now on Trial

There is a highly interesting habeas corpus case now on trial in the Seventeenth district court, and Judge Mike E. Smith will have to decide as between father and grandfather and grandmother, who is entitled to the custody of Samuel F. Reynolds, a pretty 5-year-old boy. E. P. Reynolds of Denton county, father of the boy, instituted habeas corpus proceedings in the Seventeenth district court against Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mock, the grandparents, for the custody of the child, the facts in the case being as follows: The boy's mother died about one week after his birth and the infant was given in charge of the grandparents to raise, they becoming so much attached to him that they refuse to surrender him to his parent. It is a case of a yearning affection on both sides that Judge Smith will have to settle.

NO STOCKINGS NOR CORSETS FOR THIS FAIR SONGSTER

Mrs. Marta Sandal Bransen

PITTSBURG, Jan. 11.—Society gasps at the discovery that Mrs. Marta Sandal-Bransen, prima donna and wife of the first cellist of the Pittsburgh orchestra, doesn't wear stockings and she doesn't wear corsets. And to cap off her eccentricities, she hates jewelry. She says it is barbaric. The gifted Swedish soprano appeared as soloist with the Pittsburgh orchestra several weeks ago, and a few people got a glimpse of bare ankles. Well—their suspicions were confirmed several days later when Mrs. Bransen entertained one evening at her home and appeared sans hosiery. Mrs. Sandal-Bransen explains that she thinks corsets abominable, and is greatly shocked at seeing so many American women wearing them. As to hosiery, she says it does a positive injury to the foot, in addition to being superfluous. She takes just as much care of her feet as of her hands. Instead of shoes she wears sandals. In the house she wears typical Norwegian dress. When she sings she wears low throat should be open. Mrs. Bransen is an extremely athletic woman, an accomplished horsewoman, a good tennis player and an expert on snow shoes. When she married M. Bransen several years ago, she chose as their honeymoon trip a tour of Lapland, and they traveled much on skis, sliding for miles down hills and walking over huge snow drifts. She can speak Swedish, Norwegian, Danish, French, Italian and German, and is now studying English. King Oscar II of Sweden heard Mrs. Bransen sing when she was 14 and arranged to have her enter the royal conservatory at Christiania, so she could perfect her musical education. When only 10 years of age she sang before an audience of 20,000 in her native city. She has been singing in public ever since.

WHY MRS. ANTOINETTE TOLLA SHOULD BE GIVEN NEW TRIAL

Mrs. Lillian D. Blake Discusses Legal Side of Case. BY MRS. LILLIE DEVEREUX BLAKE. Author and President of the National Legislative League. For years thousands of women in this country have protested against the injustice which denies to all of their happy girl in New Jersey, the beautiful Antoinette Tolla. Six years ago she became the wife of John Tolla and together they left their native land, Italy, to make a home in the new world. Two little girls were born to them and the proud and happy mother toiled day and night to make her home comfortable. This man, Jos. Sonta, had a family and it never occurred to her that he had more than a kindly interest in her. But from the moment that she became his debtor he began to force his odious attentions upon her. She resisted him and evaded him and escaped him, as a woman will a man whom she detests, but whom she fears. Her life was made wretched because she could not repay him.

The one day when he forced himself into her home and demanded that she should share it with her and her husband, when he sought to inflict upon her the last degradation, she shot him. She was at once arrested, and when asked why she had done this thing, she replied: "What else could I do?" To her mind there was no way of escape from the danger that threatened her except by making it impossible.

And so she is to be slain because she protected her honor! What a long way have we traveled from the classic days when the probity of a man and the chastity of a woman were things to be honored and maintained at any cost, even of life itself! There is one reason why in equity this unhappy young woman should have a retrial. The constitutional of the United States guarantees to every person within its jurisdiction the right of trial by "a jury of the peers" of the accused. This inalienable right was denied to this poor young thing. She was tried by a jury of men who cannot by any possibility be considered her peers. Politically they are her superiors and poetically they are, in the language of gallantry, her inferiors. Every man of them probably considered the members of his sex so superior to the members of hers that it was a sort of lese majeste, the attack of a subject on a king, for a woman to kill a man.

What did any one of them care for his own chastity that he should feel it worth defending even to the death? How much could they realize what it is to a woman to be hounded by a man with odious attentions that terrify her? Never will there be real justice in this country, or in the world, until women have an equal part in framing and executing the laws. We have recently been shocked and sickened by the hanging of a woman in Vermont with every horror of a bungled execution! Must we who are of the silent sex, with no means to make our voices heard in the great deliberative bodies that frame the laws, must we again be distressed by the taking of a young life, the killing of a faithful wife and a devoted parent? Let us consider the case of this un-

HIGH CHINESE FEAR FOR LIVES

Tell Chicago Police They Are Pursued by Highbinders

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 11.—Fearing for their lives at the hands of the highbinders, several well known Chinese merchants have sought protection from the police within the last few months.

Those who have complained to the police refuse to give their names, saying should it become known that they have informed the authorities they will meet with violence at the hands of the members.

The organization is known as the Hip Sing Tong Society, and according to those who know it is the same as is generally known in New York and San Francisco.

The society has employed an interpreter, it is said, and has elected regular officers, and meeting are held nightly in Chinatown, at which reports from the different secret agents are heard and the names of persons who are not friendly to the organization are reported.

WILL LOVE CAUSE RECONCILIATION?

Report Is Corey's Made Up Because of Child

Special to The Telegram

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 11.—The report is that love for their only child has led the parents of Alan M. Corey to decide that the Corey scandal shall hereafter be a closed incident.

This decision is said to have been reached by W. Ellis Corey, president of the United States Steel Corporation, and his wife, Mrs. Laura Cook-Corey, through the medium of mutual friends, for they did not meet.

Mr. and Mrs. Corey will remain husband and wife, Mr. Corey will make suitable provision for supporting his wife in the position to which she is entitled by virtue of their relationship.

The feeling of mutual friends was evidenced at the annual banquet of the operating officials of the Carnegie Steel Company, at which sixty men were present in the Duquesne Club.

The affair was one of the most gorgeous ever held in this city, and was conducted with great secrecy, the carriages and automobiles not being allowed to stand in front of the club, but ordered to wait on another nearby street.

The brilliancy of the decorations was not exceeded by the wealth represented around the table. There was scarcely a man present who was not a millionaire, and the majority were millionaires many times over.

INSURANCE MAN GOING TO EUROPE

President of Mutual Reserve Company Disposing of Personal Effects—Attorney Jerome

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Frederick A. Burnham, president of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company, is selling his horses and disposing of other property, preparatory, it is said, to a trip to Europe.

Mr. Burnham's intention became known to a few of his intimate friends within the last three days, when he let it be known that his stable of cobs and carriage horses as well as several and new numbers more than 100 members.

District Attorney Jerome manifested no surprise when told Mr. Burnham was selling his property preparatory to going abroad. He said he had earned of it only a few hours before.

"I was told of it," said Mr. Jerome, "by a man who seemed to believe I ought to know it."

"I am not intended, in view of the evidence before the legislative committee relative to certain transactions of Mr. Burnham as president of the Mutual Reserve, to talk over the matter with going abroad. He said he had earned of it only a few hours before."

SENATOR'S LIFE IS THREATENED

Alarming Letters Received by Heyburn of Idaho

By Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Washington, D. C., says:

Some alarm is felt by the friends of Senator Heyburn of Idaho, a number of threatening letters having been received by him during the past few months.

The senator and friends with whom he has discussed the matter were facilitated to look upon the threatening missives as the work of harmless cranks, but since the assassination of former Governor Steiensenberg, more importance is attached to them.

Threatening letters have been received by Representative John C. Chaney of Indiana, also, who appeared before a congressional committee at the time it was investigating the Idaho mining troubles.

Senator Heyburn has expressed the opinion that the state authorities of Idaho ought to take decided steps to apprehend the writers of the threatening letters.

WHAT IS A LIE

Converse of Truth Proposition Discussed by Rockefeller's Class

New York, Jan. 11.—What is a lie? If a lie is opposite to the truth, is it ever justifiable?

These questions caused John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and 200 members of his Bible class to perform mental gymnastics.

Mr. Rockefeller, after discussing the case of Esau and Jacob, said: "What do you think, now? Let us decide if a lie is ever justifiable."

The clergyman replied that a lie was a misrepresentation of facts, with a selfish motive. The question will be decided on Sunday next.

SIX PERSONS HURT IN CAR ACCIDENT

Pullman Drops to Levee From Elevated Tracks

By Associated Press. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 11.—Plunging from the terminal elevated tracks at Carr street, near the Eads bridge, the Pullman sleeping car Harcourt, attached to the Wabash train from Chicago, due in the union station at 7:30 a. m., dropped sideways fifteen feet to the granite paving of the levee this morning and six passengers on board were injured.

The remainder of the train continued to the union station. The crash of the car as it landed on the pavement resounded through a half dozen warehouses and factories that stand near the scene.

Many volunteers among the workmen, directed by Police Sergeant Quinlan, broke open the vestibule of the sleeper and carried out the injured passengers.

The injured: W. E. Minor of Roswell, N. J., kneecap broken; I. Rogi, an emigrant from New York, head cut; Mrs. D. F. Ury of Chicago, rib broken; J. W. Watterston of Milwaukee, left arm broken, head cut and rib broken, unable to speak; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Fomeroy of Chicago, Mrs. Fomeroy injured internally; Charles E. Sumon of Providence, R. COTON GROWERS OPEN SESSIONS

Southern Association Begins Meetings in New Orleans

By Associated Press. NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 11.—With a large and representative attendance from all the cotton growing states, the Southern Cotton Growers' Association opened its three days' session at the Odd Fellows' hall here today.

The association was organized in this city just one year ago, when cotton was selling at 6 cents. Its officers point to the reduction in acreage and to fertilizers for the increase in the price of cotton to 12 cents, the disclosure of the scandal in the crop reporting department of the government and the improved condition of the farmers, as the tangible results of the work it has done during the year.

Important matters were to come before the convention. There will be a proposition to hold the balance of this year's crop until cotton goes to 15 cents. The decision as to the acreage for 1906 will be made.

Congress will be urged to provide for a commission to visit the cotton markets of the world, including China and the Orient, to find new fields for the surplus of the product.

Diversified farming and more perfect county organization in order to increase the efficiency of the national association will be recommended.

The question of permanent headquarters is to be discussed. Atlanta, Memphis and New Orleans will be candidates.

Officers are to be chosen and President Jordan will be a candidate for reelection. Through there has been some talk of opposition, the sentiment among the delegates already here indicates that he will be elected to succeed himself with practically unanimity.

NOTED EDUCATOR DIES IN CHICAGO

Dr. Harper, Head of Chicago University, Victim of Cancer

By Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Private services over the body of the late Dr. Harper, president of Chicago University, were held today at the family residence.

Addresses were made by Dr. Frank W. Gonsalus, pastor of the Central church; Dr. T. W. Goodspeed, secretary of the university, and Rev. I. L. Jackson, pastor of the Hyde Park Baptist church.

As President Harper wished, work went on at the Chicago University as usual today, despite his death. The public funeral will be held Sunday. The body will lie in state.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 11.—Dr. William R. Harper, president of the Chicago University, died yesterday afternoon.

It was announced early in the day that Dr. Harper's condition was critical, and later it was asserted by Dr. Frank G. Billings that in his opinion Dr. Harper would not survive longer than the end of this week.

The death of Dr. Harper, however, came more suddenly than had been anticipated. Dr. Billings has left the Harper residence on the Midway Plaisance and gone to his home five miles distant, when he received, at 2 o'clock, a message from the relatives of Dr. Harper stating that a serious change had taken place in the condition of the patient, and urging him to come at once.

Dr. Billings at once entered his automobile and hurried as fast as the machine could carry him to the home of Dr. Harper, but arrived after his death. For two years Dr. Harper had suffered from cancer.

William Rainey Harper was born in New Concord, Ohio, in 1856. He graduated at Muskingum College in 1876, took the degree of Ph. D. at Yale in 1875 and the degree of D. D. in 1891 at Colby. Later there was conferred upon him the degree of LL. D. by the University of Nebraska, by Yale and by Johns Hopkins Institute.

Dr. Harper was principal of the Masonic College at Macon, Tenn., principal from 1879 to 1880 of the preparatory department of Denison University at Granville, Ohio, professor of Hebrew in the Baptist Union Theological Seminary of Chicago until 1886, professor of Semitic languages at Yale from 1886 to 1891 and professor of Biblical literature from 1891 to 1891. He was principal of the Chautauqua College of Liberal Arts from 1885 to 1891, when he became president of the University of Chicago.

"WHAT IS TO BE WILL BE," PERHAPS

In our day few people believe, unreservedly, in fatalism. Particularly as regards business affairs, and the minor episodes of life, practical folks have learned that events are as clay in our hands, to be shaped and fashioned as we will.

"In our course through life we shall meet the people who are coming to meet us, from strange places and by many strange roads—and what it is set to us to do to them, and what it is set to them to do to us, will all be done. Be sure that there are men and women already on their roads who have their business to do with you, and who will do it. They may be coming hundreds or thousands of miles over the sea—they may be close at hand now."

This fragment has characteristic power and beauty, but nowadays we must amend it. "What it is set for us to do to them" may in truth, "all be done"; if, indeed, anything is set for us to do to them or for them to do to us! Of this we have no very strong assurance. We all hope, too, that there may be a long procession of men and women on their roads who have business to do with us, and who will do it—but we greatly fear that, unless we advertise effectively, many of these people will get into the wrong shops and transact their business with the wrong people!

In fact, if we hide our lights pretty thoroughly we may be sure that these pilgrims will miss us completely—and thus violate the fatalistic creed. But by mixing our fatalism with a liberal amount of want advertising we may be of potent assistance to the Fates in bringing things to pass concerning ourselves—and, if you have noticed the Fates seem to appreciate a helping hand now and then. If it is "set" for you to get a raise of salary, or ordained that you shall live in a better house, or pre-destined that you should make some money on that real estate of yours you will be surprised to find how effectively a little want advertising will co-operate with Fate in bringing these things to pass!

KEEPING OUT OF DEBT

There is no harder taskmaster on the whole face of the earth than is debt. There are thousands of American freemen today who are bowed down in gloom and despair through the fact that they have enjoyed the privilege of too much credit, and have indulged a million dollar appetite on a $25 salary.

One great reason for this is the ease with which credit may be obtained. Only a few days ago a small boy, only 13 years of age, in this city, was able to purchase an article valued at $18 of one of the leading business houses here, upon the payment of $7 cash, and the promise to pay $2 per week until the debt was liquidated. It made no difference that the boy referred to was making the princely stipend of $3 per week and had no special need for the article he had purchased. He was given the credit by the business man, and the trade would have stuck but for the objection of the boy's father.

Of course, the business man had a perfect right to sell his wares to whom he pleased and upon such terms as he pleased. No special blame attaches to him for his willingness to accept the boy as a credit customer. The incident is only referred to as an illustration of the ease with which any one may become burdened with debt, and to point out how early in life the disposition to get in debt becomes manifest. The boy who acquires the debt making propensity at the early age of 13 years is pretty sure to develop into a prince of his class by the time he attains maturity.

There are thousands of men in Texas today who would buy a bull elephant or anything else offered them if it could be obtained on a credit. It makes no difference that figure as they may, they are unable to arrive at any conclusion as to just how the indebtedness is to be liquidated. If the vendor is willing to trust to their honesty and willingness to pay, they in turn are willing to trust to luck and become the possessor of the thing that nine times out of ten they could very conveniently dispense with. And when the time for payment comes around there is pressure and worry and annoyance until the man who has promised to pay mentally resolves that he will reduce his business operations to a cash basis in future in order to avoid the constant howling of the wolf about his door. If he was able to do this it would be a valuable experience for him! But in the majority of instances he must perforce continue in his moneyless career and work his credit for all it is worth until ruin finally overcomes him.

There is no question but that credit is a good thing when properly utilized. There are thousands of successful men about us today who could not have attained their success unless they had enjoyed a fair measure of credit. But you will find the men who have prospered as a result of that system are those who have never abused their credit. They have been just about as careful in accepting credit as the conservative business man has been in extending it, and in such cases credit has been a genuine blessing. But it is not so with the man who abuses his credit and loads himself with impossible obligations. In his case credit is a curse and an impediment to any possibility of success.

There are some men who can only accumulate of this world's goods through the process of going in debt and working out the indebtedness by degrees. They set their pegs a year ahead and then work to them. Such men are usually so conservative in their operations that they are able to meet their obligations and gradually accumulate a competency. But where you find one of this class you find one thousand who have loaded themselves with obligations they are unable to meet, and who are being ground down into the very dust of penury and despair. Bobby Burns, the immortal Scottish poet, gave good advice in the matter of debt and its slavery, which he, poor fellow, was unable to follow for himself. He said:

"To catch Dame Fortune's golden smile, Assiduous wait upon her; And gather gear by every wile That's justified by honor; Not for to hide it in a hedge, Nor for a train attendant; But for the glorious privilege Of being independent."

The man who is in debt is never independent. He belongs body and soul to the other fellow, and must continue to eke out a most miserable existence. Young man, if you would be independent, pay as you go and avoid debt as you would a pestilence.

A steady and united pull among all Fort Worth's progressive citizens will result in much real benefit to the city during the coming year. And every citizen should get ready to do a full grown man's part.

The cotton growers are holding meetings now and are at work on a plan for a reduction of acreage again this season. But with the price of the staple soaring as high as it is, it will be difficult to persuade Uncle Reuben that it is not proper to plant a bumper crop.

The supreme court of the United States has affirmed the decision of the lower courts in the case of James E. Howard, convicted of the killing of Governor Goebel of Kentucky. The sentence is life imprisonment.

Cattlemen are expecting a great change for the better during 1906, and the faith of these good people deserves the brightest kind of reward. They have been expecting the same thing now for three long years in succession.

Business at the Fort Worth postoffice shows a very gratifying increase for every month of the past year, and that fact within itself is sufficient to demonstrate the onward march of this city. The increase for the month of December was more than $2,000 in excess of the same month for the previous year.

Senator Culberson, at the request of Democrats, has introduced in the senate a bill for the regulation of railways that is said to be both virile and simple. Senator Culberson evidently believes that brevity is the soul of wit, and had no occasion to seek to inculcate hidden purposes by the use of ponderous and superfluous language.

As the luscious south Texas strawberry is again in evidence, the fact but serves to remind us that Texas is so big and so great that while one portion of the state is covered with snow, strawberries are ripe and oleanders in bloom in another. Texas is the greatest state in the union. There is no mistaking that proposition.

There has been another stiff advance in the price of lumber, and if the present lack of advancing is kept up prices will soon be at the point where many contemplated improvements will be prohibited. People are already casting about for a substitute for building purposes.

Governor Jefferson Davis of Arkansas showed his contempt for the federal government by demanding of President Roosevelt that it pay $15,000 expense incurred by that state in keeping out yellow fever last summer. And President Roosevelt showed his contempt for Governor Davis by promptly ordering that the claim be paid. Honors between these two executives are consequently again even and the country is still safe.

Admiral Rojestvensky, who was in command of the late Russian fleet at the time Togo did business with it in the sea of Japan, declares that the English squadron in those waters was drawn up in line of battle and prepared to send the Russians to Davy Jones' locker if they had been so fortunate as to have escaped the Japanese. But due allowance should be made for the fact that Rojestvensky was wounded in the head during that engagement, and this is the first time he has had opportunity to do any talking.

The report of President C. A. Keating as to the profits made by the Dallas fair last season, places the amount at $51,000. The people of Dallas are so joyful over this fine showing that they have been in a wrangle over the fair ever since the announcement was made as to its success. It is to be hoped that in the interest of future exhibitions all this trouble will soon be straightened out. The good people of Dallas cannot afford to chew the rag over as important matter as this.

Friends of President Roosevelt appear to have completely routed the opposition in shaping up the affairs of the New York legislature, and it begins to look like the old machine is going to fall to pieces. It has been evident for some time that the people of New York, irrespective of party ties, are standing for cleaner politics. And that is what we must come to all over this great country of ours. Cleaner politics means individual independence, and some of these days we will all awaken to the propriety of always voting for the best man who offers for any position.

AMONG THE EXCHANGES

The day has passed in Texas when it was possible to scare the farmers of the state by a little humbuggery. The farmers are getting so they look into matters for themselves and form their own opinions. When you want to influence them now you must appeal to them in a logical manner.—Denison Herald.

The average Texas farmer is a man of power and intelligence. He reads the daily papers and is thoroughly posted as to the appearance and dimensions of the latest gold brick manufactured. The daily papers and rural mail delivery are doing much for the Texas farmer.

There can be little question that congress ought to pass a law forbidding the issuance of a revenue liquor license in a prohibition district. Strictly speaking, the federal government has no right to disregard local self-government—that's what local option is—nor to interfere with a state's enforcing proper police regulations.—Belton Journal-Reporter.

There is food for reflection in the above for those who want federal supervision and interference with so many things. As the power of the federal government is extended local self-government must be correspondingly abridged.

A few state papers continue to harp on the necessity for a special session of the legislature, and are trying to induce the governor to call a session. We cannot see one spat of reason for such action, and we believe the public good will be better served with no extra expense of a legislature.—Memphis Herald.

A quorum of both branches of the state legislature has agreed to serve in extra session without compensation. And it is better to have the extra session, even at considerable additional cost, than to permit the Terrell election law to remain in its present muddled and contradictory condition.

There is a man in Chicago who claims to be the rightful heir to the throne of England, and Michigan has a citizen who has a family tree which shows that he ought now to be the king of Norway. We don't believe there is anybody in these parts though who is anxious to prove that he should be the czar of Russia.—Bonham Favorite.

Or president of the republic of Santo Domingo: American claimants to royal or ruling positions are choice in the matter of selection.

Xylander Carson, former editor of the Winnsboro Wide-Awake was in the city Tuesday. He was on his way to Anson to teach school. Editor Carson called on the Round-up and stated that he had been forced to close down his paper on account of crop failures in East Texas. Mr. Carson is one of seven brothers, the names of all of whom begin with an X as follows: Xerxes, Xenophon, Xanthus, Xylander, Ximenes, Xuthus, Xystus.—Ciseco Roundup.

And if there is anything in names, it is clear that every one of these seven brothers are most excellent gentlemen.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Chicago Chronicle remarks: The military academy at West Point is reported to be contemplating the addition of the beginnings, at least, of a knowledge of cooking to its curriculum, and along with the report is another that the women's colleges and seminaries denounce the move as entirely outside West Point's educational field. With all respect for these women's schools, they are wrong. Probably no American officer ever went to war without regretting that he and all other officers and men had not been taught cooking. Cooking is quite as important for a soldier as fighting, and the only wonder is that West Point did not teach its rudiments long ago.

The Philadelphia Record indulges in speculation and prophecy in an editorial entitled, "The Presidential Finger in the New York Pie," in the course of which it says that he submitted to Platt when he was himself governor of the state. Next he supported Odell as long as he could make use of him. It continues:

Even Odell's corrupt practices, they intimate, had no repulsion for him until it became necessary to put Odell out of the way of his ambition as sole boss and dictator in national politics. Whether this project shall succeed is the issue in the preliminary struggle for speaker of the New York assembly. But if, in the condition to which the Odell machine has fallen in consequence of the insurance revelations concerning its chieftain, President Roosevelt should elect his man for speaker there need be no serious misgivings as to his attainment to the position of national boss, insatiable as is his ambition, independent spirit of the Republican leaders of the United States senate, indicate that he has reached the height of his influence. Between now and the next Presidential election a good deal of water will run under the bridge, and in that time the American people will be able to make a proper measure of their hero. The probability is that in the reaction of public opinion as little justice will be done to his qualities as they have been overestimated.

"ROUGH ON RATS"

F. F. Scannell contributes to the Boston Record this story of a passage-at-arms between the late Mayor Patrick A. Collins and the late Senator Conkling:

It was in 1857, during General Collins' last term in congress. A hearing was given at the treasury department in Washington on petition of Colonel Roger Scannell of Boston before Secretary Fairchild on the question of placing an import tax on certain mineral waters. Conkling was counsel for the water company. John H. Burke of Boston, now Judge Burke, represented Mr. Scannell.

General Collins entered the chamber before the hearing opened and introduced Mr. Scannell and his counsel to Mr. Fairchild. The secretary then presented all three to Mr. Conkling. The latter immediately began to banter the general after this fashion: Conkling—Mr. Collins: That name seems familiar. Perhaps you are acquainted with Mr. Collins, the congressman from Massachusetts, whose speeches I have read with much interest?

Collins—I know the Mr. Collins you speak of very well, indeed. In fact I see his face every time I look in the mirror.

Conkling—Oh, indeed. I believe you have refused another term. That must be rough on your constituents. If your constituents were rats, I should say it was rough on rats.

Collins—My constituents are the best in the world, and I do not resign in the middle of my term.

This last shot was too much for Conkling and he quickly subsided.

MOONSHINE AND MUSINGS

BY SID BARTON

Be good, and the newspapers won't make your obituary so long as Yule's.

"Did you keep open house on New Year day?" "Yes, open, but dry."

Having been sworn in for four years, Mr. McClellan will be sworn at for the same length of time.

Walter Wellman's plan to reach the north pole in an airship has been approved by Senator Beveridge. Thus the only formidable obstacle has been removed.

THE HALL OF HAS-BEENS

New nominations—B. B. Odell. Unanimously elected—John A. McCall, Senator Blackburn.

"Everything in this country, it seems to me, is machine made," observed the English tourist. "You have been spending most of your time studying politics, I see," said his American friend.

"Buckton does a great deal of bragging about being a self-made man."

"That's one thing I like about him."

"You mean his bragging?"

"Yes, it shows what respect he has for his parents."

"Why do so many people call barbers tonsorial artists?" asked Mrs. Smithers.

"What's wrong about that?" asked Smithers. "I don't see how they are artists."

"Well, they are. A good barber is always clever with the brush."

LITTLE TALES WELL TOLD

LOGICAL

Prior to the Thanksgiving holidays a group of girls in one of the higher schools were discussing the approaching vacation, which one of them lamented was too short.

"What do we come to school for any way?" was her query.

"Because we have to," replied a second.

A teacher overhearing the discussion told the girls they were having the best time in their lives while they were at school.

"Then you are always having a good time!" exclaimed one of the students, "as you are always in school."

UNANSWERABLE

A Scotchman and his servant, who were coming home from a wedding, began to consider the state into which their potatoes at the wedding feast had left them.

"Sandy," said the master, "just stop a minute here till I go ahead. Maybe I don't walk very steady and the good wife might answer something not just right."

He walked ahead of the servant for a short distance, and then asked:

"How is it? Am I walking straight?"

"Oh, ay," answered Sandy thickly. "Ye're a'richt—but who's that who's with you?"

VERACIOUS

At a certain Scottish dinner it was found that every one had contributed to the evening's entertainment but a certain MacDonald.

"Come, come, Doctor MacDonald," said the chairman, "we cannot let you escape."

The doctor protested that he could not sing. "My voice is altogether unmusical and resembles the sound caused by the act of rubbing a brick along the panels of a door."

The company attributed this to the doctor's modesty.

"Very well," asserted the doctor, "if you can stand it I will sing."

Long before he had finished his audience was uneasy. There was a painful silence as the doctor sat down, broken at length by the voice of a braw Scott at the end of the table.

"Mon," he exclaimed, "your singin's no' up to much, but your veracity's just awful. You're right about that brick."

VERSES THAT RING

SANTA IN SALT LAKE

To a thrifty Mormon household came the patron saint of Yule; He was puffing like an engine, he was laden like a mule.

For he knew a row of stocking such as nowhere else is seen Would be yawning there before him in the home of Elder Green.

So he shoved his pack ahead of him and started down the flue, While he muttered, "This is something that I hate like smoke to do."

Then he followed with reluctance through the smooty, smudgy air, Quickly landing where the hosiery was hung in manly pair.

There were papa's socks and twenty pairs of lengthy wife's hosiery; There were socks for Eddie, Willie, for Eliphabet and Mose;

There were stockings of Matilda's, Esmeralda's and Susanna's, There were Charley's hose and Molly's, Cora Belle's and little Dan's;

Amaryllis, George, Alphonso, Peter, Joseph, Maude Eugene, Arthur, Lizzie, James, Angelia, Mary, Frances and Irene, Briggie, Reed, Lucile, Clorinda, Arethusa, John, Estelle, Mattie, Lucifer, Elfrida—from his lips their title fell.

But about the shelf there dangled other hose whose owner's names He could not recall to save him as he watched the dying flames.

Seven pairs, all baby sizes, each in age not quite a year— "Geel!" cried Nick. "Been something doing since the last time I was here.

Glad I brought a stock of rattles and a lot of teething rings— Utah always gives a market for such kindergarten things.

From "race suicide" she ever has discreetly held aloof And there's not a home in Zion free from stork-tracks on the roof."

STRICKLAND W. GILLILAN, in Judge.

QUAKER REFLECTIONS

Some men are stronger in adversity than in prosperity. A necessity always seems less important than a luxury.

It is better to take a canter before breakfast than a decenter. Politeness is generally expended on people we don't know very well.

It's a good plan to forgive your enemy, if he has the drop on you. The marriageable age generally depends on the size of the bank account.

A man makes allowances for his faults, even though his wife may be one of them. Oldbitch—And have you told her everything in your married life? Newlywed—Not yet. We've only been married two weeks.

The young man of today may not be quite up to the mark, but don't turn him down for the uncertainty of the young man of tomorrow.

The fellow who is always talking about what he has done is almost as tiresome as the fellow who is always telling you what he is going to do.—Philadelphia Record.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

An egotist is a man who points with pride. If they couldn't remarry few women would want a divorce.

Some men find it easier to stand adversity than prosperity. Generally the widow's grief lasts as long as the bride's happiness.

There are some pretty well fixed stars in the theatrical firmament. Let them give credit to whom credit is due—but insist on spot cash for yourself.

A woman is never old enough to know that she will know more when she is older. Sometimes the business cares of a man fall to worry him until he goes home to dinner.

Every woman is a firm believer in the Biblical statement that "it is not good for man to live alone."—Chicago News.

GIVE HIM TIME

It will be all right if in days to come Mrs. Longworth doesn't give Nick the deuce because he cannot provide her a home like papa's.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

WHITE FLAG OF SURRENDER IS UP

Weather Man Brings Good Cheer to the People

The white flag is flying from the Federal building and it is the sign that most of the people interested in the weather at the present time are most glad to see, as it says that the bad weather of Wednesday has surrendered and passed on, leaving fair weather behind. The white flag in the weather service indicates that fair weather is to come with about the same temperature.

Along the railroads running out of here this morning the weather is clear or partly cloudy in all directions. There is no rain reported anywhere in this vicinity, the temperature at Texline this morning being 16 degrees.

A Year Ago

A year ago today the weather in this city was far different than it is at the present time. On Jan. 11, 1905, Fort Worth suffered a thunder storm with a heavy rain. The total rainfall on that date was 1.07 inches. The minimum temperature was 26 degrees and the maximum 41 degrees. The lowest barometer of the month of January last year was recorded on the 11th, when it went down to 29.88.

The weather map this morning conveys the information that the temperatures throughout this part of the country have all advanced slightly since the issue of Wednesday's map.

Official statement of weather conditions are as follows:

"A low barometer area is centered over Oregon, causing rain in Idaho this morning. The low areas over the Gulf region and the Upper Mississippi are causing snow in the northern half of the Mississippi and Missouri valleys, and rain and snow in the Lower Mississippi and eastward into Georgia and the Carolinas.

"A high barometer area centered

WEDDINGS

MATHER-WILLIAMS

Miss Nannie Williams and Vernon Kenzie Mather were united in marriage Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in St. Andrew's parish house, Rev. B. B. Ramage officiating. Smilax and white roses and carnations were used in the decorations.

Miss Minnie Williams, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and William T. Coleman was best man. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, J. M. Williams. The ushers were Cecil Stuart and Willis Lea.

The bride was attired in a gown of white wisp chiffon, elaborately trimmed with Valenciennes lace, and carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid wore a blue mull gown, trimmed in pink, and she carried bridesmaid roses. Mrs. Beattie Gordon sang an arrangement of "O Perfect Love" to the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Mr. Starr.

Shortly after the ceremony the couple left for their future home in Dallas, where Mr. Mather is cashier of the Equitable Insurance Company.

GOLDTHWAITE-HARRIS

Miss Sybil Harris and Howard B. Goldthwaite were married Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the Broadway Baptist church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles A. Stewart, pastor of the church. The church was very prettily decorated.

Miss Erin Huff was the maid of honor, and Byron Goldthwaite, brother of the groom, was best man.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white chiffon, trimmed with Meubin lace, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and roses. She also wore a cluster of lilies in her hair. Miss Huff was gowned in white silk and carried pink roses.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Goldthwaite left for a short wedding trip. Their home will be at 1014 Hemphill street after Jan. 20.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be Friday at 3 p. m. in the Cumberland Presbyterian church, corner Fifth and Taylor streets.

Among other matters which last Friday's meeting transacted was a letter voted upon by the union, and signed by the four general officers, petitioning Governor Stokes of New Jersey to pardon Mrs. Tolla, which was sent on its way Friday night.

An ingot mold casting of unusual dimensions was completed recently by an English foundry. The casting was a gun forging, the weight of the cast metal molded and poured into the mold was eighty-four tons. The casting measured fifteen feet by eight feet six inches.

"WOULD DO NO HARM"

To Quit Coffee, the Doctor Said

One Oak Park lady writes of her coffee experiment:

"I am of middle age and had been a coffee drinker all my life up to five years ago, when my physical condition became so serious and medicines did so little good that I began to suspect that coffee was doing me harm.

"I had gradually become very nervous, my heart grew subject to distressing palpitations and my mental faculties had got into dull, torpid condition. With it all came bodily weakness that made it almost impossible to get around.

"My physician examined me and said my heart was affected. I asked him if coffee was injurious to me and he replied that it 'would do no harm' to stop drinking it for awhile. And so I quit it.

"But I felt very much the need of a hot beverage, and in that way came to try Postum Food Coffee, which I had seen advertised. I had it prepared strictly according to the directions, and the result was a delicious, clear drink which I found most refreshing and satisfying, with a flavor similar to that of the finest coffee.

"I have used it as my sole table drink ever since. Soon after I began to drink it my nerves steadied down to normal, the heart trouble ceased to annoy me, and my head has been clearer, my mentality more active and efficient during these five years than ever before in my life.

"My son-in-law was a victim of dyspepsia, until I induced him to stop drinking the old kind and begin the use of Postum Food Coffee. His digestion rapidly improved until it became perfect and, as he still uses Postum, it has remained so." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

FRUIT MOVING BY TRAIN LOAD

Frisco Expects to Handle 500 Cars in Next Ten Days

There is an exceptionally heavy movement of California fruit and vegetables passing through Fort Worth. About 150 cars passed through here Wednesday and railroad men expect that the heavy movement will continue during the next ten days. The freight department of the Frisco alone expects to handle about 500 cars during the next ten days, against 300 for the corresponding period last year. The heavy shipments this way are attributable to the bad condition of the northern roads rather than to any phenomenal crop of fruit and vegetables from California. The principal portions of the shipments are oranges destined for Kansas City, Chicago and St. Louis.

WILL GIVE PASSES

Movement in Central Association Proves Unsuccessful

The anti-pass movement, which has been under consideration by the Central Passenger Association at Chicago, seems destined to failure as far as the territory embraced by this association is concerned. Chicago advises state that lines, such as the Hocking Valley and Ohio Central, have insisted upon the matter being optional. While other lines favored the movement, they were unable to overmaster the opposition. The matter was left optional. As a result of the meeting it is stated that the Big Four is notifying publishers that it is willing to exchange mileage books for advertising.

SPECIAL RATE ANNOUNCED

The Fort Worth and Denver has announced a special rate of one fare plus $2 for the round trip to Denver, Colo., by way of the Colorado and Frisco lines, to be held at that place. The tickets will be on sale Jan. 27-29 and will be limited to return Feb. 17. Stop-over privileges will be allowed at Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Trinidad.

E. W. RICE APPOINTED

Circulars have been received here announcing the appointment of E. W. Rice as southwestern agent of the American Refrigerator Transit Company, with headquarters at Dallas. Mr. Rice succeeds M. S. Robinson, resigned.

NOTES AND PERSONALS

F. J. McNamara, general purchasing agent of the Fort Worth and Denver, with headquarters at Denver, Colo., is in the city.

J. W. Marling, traveling passenger agent of the Chicago and Alton at Dallas, was here yesterday evening.

D. B. Keeler, vice president and general manager of the Denver and General Superintendent Cotter are expected to return from an inspection trip over the line.

LAZARUS IN GALVESTON

St. Louis and Brownsville Trains to Be Running Soon

GALVESTON, Texas, Jan. 11.—Sam Lazarus, personal representative of B. T. Yeakum, head of the Frisco-Rock Island system, is in the city on matters pertaining to the entrance into this city of the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico railroad now in course of construction. Mr. Lazarus says that barging unimpaired by the Brazos river will be running into Galveston not later than March 1. He said that in all probability no regular service will be established on any part of the road until track construction is well completed.

The work has been completed between Brownsville and Bay City and also from Alton to the Brazos river, and the graders are now at work about fifteen miles out of Bay City. Two or three gaps have been left where the conditions in the bottoms of the Caney and San Bernard have made it impossible to do grading. The work is being pushed as rapidly as possible and Mr. Lazarus hopes to have every foot of steel down by the latter part of February.

JUDGMENT AGAINST SANTA FE

DENVER, Col., Jan. 11.—Although the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company took ties from the track behind the train and used them as fuel, and this unusual proceeding has been sworn to in court, yet it did not deliver 558 head of cattle on time. Judge Mullins, therefore, has rendered judgment against the company in favor of the Wabash Cattle Company in the sum of $12,782. Judge Mullins had the matter under advisement since last February.

HARRISON DAMAGE SUIT DISMISSED

Judge Dunklin Refuses Injunction Asked by M. C. Allison, in Ar-ton Heights Controversy

At the hearing of the injunction and damage case instituted by M. C. Allison vs. Stuart Harrison et al., Judge Irby Dunklin Wednesday afternoon refused the restraining order asked for by the plaintiff, who complained in his petition that Harrison had broken a fastening on plaintiff's pasture gate that permitted Harrison's cattle to graze on the plaintiff's pasture.

Harrison, in his answer to the complaint of Allison, set up a claim to equal rights in the inclosure, the lease to the same having been secured by his (Harrison's) suggestion to Allison, who acted as agent for Harrison; that the lease was for one year and that since it was made the property was sold to the Arlington Heights Realty Company, and that he now holds another lease for said land from the Realty Company. Allison denied that this claim was well founded, but the court did not grant the injunction.

COMMISSIONERS ADJOURN

It required but two days for the county commissioners to finish up the business before them this week, an adjournment being taken Wednesday afternoon. There was less business than expected, the dockets and none of it required much time. The last order made before adjournment was for the improvement of the road that connects the Fort Worth and Grapevine roads with the Keller road, a distance of about a mile and a half. It was not determined just what kind of improvements would be made, but it is probable that the stretch of road will be both graded and gravelled.

HE MAKES MONEY ON LOVE LETTERS

OMAHA, Jan. 11.—From girls and women so foolish as to write and ask him to marry them, and from others asking financial assistance, A. J. Seaman, 62, Nebraska's wealthy textile buyer and reclusive, is making money. His method is very simple. "I never reply," he says, "as it would be a waste of postage stamps and writing material. That would not be economy. But when they inclose me a 2-cent stamp, why, I write them a reply on a postal card, which only costs 1 cent, and in that way I make a penny."

During Mr. Seaman's business hours he can usually be found at the court house or city hall. He can transact his

ECONOMY IN TRAVEL

When going from one county seat to another on business, Mr. Seaman has made it a practice to walk, securing what rides he could from section hands or farmers who were driving by. In starting out on these trips, Mr. Seaman would trade needles, pins and similar notions to the farmers for his meals and for the privilege of sleep in their barns at night. Trip after trip has been made this way from Omaha to Denver, down into Kansas and through other states.

Only once has Mr. Seaman been known to make a mistake in his tax title business. He purchased for about $50 the title to what was purported to be a 10-acre tract of land lying north of Omaha. Investigation showed that by changes in the channel of the Missouri river, the entire ten acres are now

MANY MAIL GUIDES HERE

Eight Hundred Copies Received Here for Distribution

Eighteen sacks of mail containing the official postal guide for January, 1906, have been received for the use of the railway mail clerks in the Eleventh district, railway mail service. There are forty-eight guides in each of the sacks, making a total of over eight hundred for the use of the clerks. Each clerk is supplied with one and also every postmaster in the country. The guide contains 1,155 pages.

The guides have an alphabetical list of all the postoffices in the United States, with county and state, a list by states, a list by states and counties, showing money order offices, domestic and international; also rates of postage, synopsis of postal laws, orders and rulings of the department, information relative to postal matters and general regulations regarding foreign mail.

The guide shows that the total number of postoffices in the United States and territories has been reduced in the past few years because of the establishment of the rural free delivery routes. The highest mark in the number of postoffices established was in June, 1901, when there were 76,945. The number according to the latest figures is but 68,131. The decrease within the year from the date of the last figures issued was exactly 3,000, the number previous being 71,131.

REV. CARLISLE P. B. MARTIN, LL. D.

of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take, I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing a medicine for throat or lung trouble." business there and keep warm without expense. In the evenings he takes advantage of the free lounging rooms of the Y. M. C. A.

HOW TO DRESS CHEAPLY

Mr. Seaman is frank in talking about his expenses for clothing. "I paid 65 cents for these shoes," he stated. "These pants I paid $1 for and the last pair I got for 50 cents. This coat I paid 50 cents for, and the one I had before cost me 25 cents. This hat I've got on I only paid 2 cents for, and I bought it of a clerk at the court house. But my summer hat I got for 10 cents. I was offered 25 cents for it before I got home.

"This collar and these cuffs," he said, displaying some greasy celluloid affairs, "I got for 2 cents each. I did that by buying them in the winter time. This vest I've got on I paid 10 cents for. My overcoat cost me 50 cents three years ago. I figured some on getting a new one this fall, but I found I could make this one last another year." Mr. Seaman positively refuses to say anything about the extent of his tax title business or how much money he has accumulated. He keeps no bank account.

SAVES THE TAGS

One of Mr. Seaman's greatest hobbies is that of getting premiums on tobacco tags. He has collected tens of thousands of them, but does not smoke or chew.

"Why, when my sister's daughter got married I sent her a wedding present, 1,500 tobacco tags with which she got her a sewing machine. Some time before that my sister had let an agent convince her that she wanted a different brand of a machine, and so she turned in her old machine and paid out a lot of money, with the result that

KENTUCKY GIRL JILTED BIG TOM SHEVLIN

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 11.—Cupid failed to kick goal in the love-making game between big Tom Shevlin, famous Yale halfback, and Miss Elizabeth Sherley, noted as one of the beautiful women of the Blue Grass state. Shevlin objected to the interference of other men who insisted upon paying attention to Miss Sherley while she was visiting in Baltimore. Miss Sherley rather liked the homage of the gallant Marylanders, and told her foot ball lover so when he protested. Then the presents were sent back and the game was declared "no contest."

A Story of an Exciting Dash for a Fortune by an Actor-Adventurer

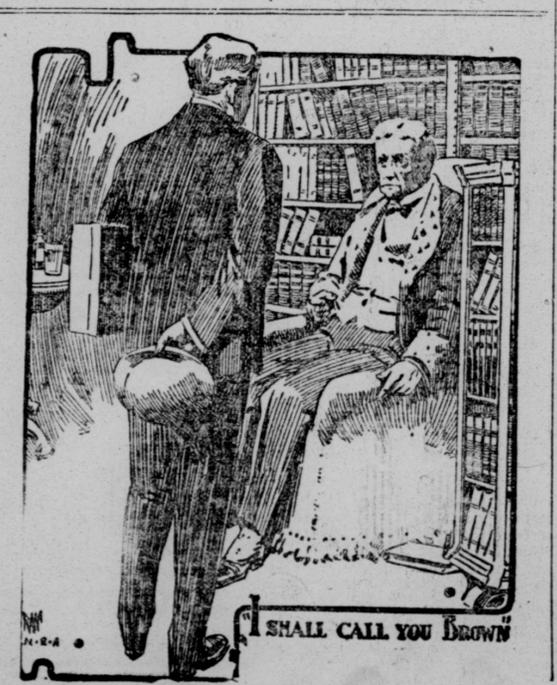

Copyright, 1905, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.

CHARACTERS

Agar Hume, alias Brown—Professional mimic, who becomes valet to Sir William Dagmar, and schemes to make a fortune. Sir William Dagmar—Wealthy bachelor recluse, whose house is the rendezvous of a mysterious coterie. Sir Charles Venner—Wealthy specialist, member of Sir Dagmar's morbid society of seven, chief promoter of a series of ghastly experiments. George Cavanaugh—Artist, another of the society, who has a romance. Marion Le Mar—Beloved of Cavanaugh, who is in the secret of the society's experiments. Dr. Fulton, Mr. Humphreys, Mr. Pardo, Mr. Husband—Members of the queer society. Dr. Vernet—A French medical fanatic. Justen, Beaudant—Negro assistants to Sir Charles Venner. Sefton Dagmar—Heir to Sir William's title. Butts—A butler.

THE OPERATION

IV. Tuesday arrived before I knew quite what to do. On that particular morning the postman handed me a letter sealed with a peculiar signet, addressed to my master. I had plenty of leisure to investigate its contents. It puzzles me how any people can be foolish enough to imagine that a mere dab of wax, however cunningly impressed, can confer security upon their correspondence. In two minutes the seal was lying safe and uninjured upon my pantry table, and the detached envelope rested condignly across the mouth of the bowl of boiling water. The letter ran as follows: "My Dear Dagmar—Whoever the rascal really is who imposed upon Cavanaugh and myself on a recent memorable evening, he fled in declaring himself an emissary of the police. I have just succeeded in establishing this fact. I have no longer any doubt but that our adversary is a black-maller, and I feel sure that before long one or other of us will be approached. I sincerely trust that the fellow will turn out, as you suspected, to be your scapegrace nephew. In that case you, of course, must deal with him, but in any other event I am convinced that our best course will be to prosecute. This will notify you that I intend to propose such a resolution at our next conclave. Yours sincerely, CHAS. VENNOR. "P. S.—If you can, see Cavanaugh today. I have been weak enough to permit him to witness the operation. It is possible that you may dissuade him."

and for that reason I took the liberty of refusing to admit him." "You did well, Brown. What had he to say?" "He asked me to tell you that Mr. Sefton Dagmar wished you to meet him alone on the railway station at Newhaven, at 9 o'clock tonight precisely." (Butts had told me that Sefton Dagmar lived at Newhaven.) "My master's eyes glistened and his cheeks flushed." "Oh, indeed!" he muttered. "Anything else, Brown?" "Yes, sir!" I lowered my eyes and tried to look abashed. "Never mind, Brown; tell me exactly what he said." "He declared, sir, that if you did not keep the appointment you'd have leisure to repent your foolishness in going." "What!" he thundered, and threatened me with his clenched hands. "I'm sure I beg your pardon, sir," I muttered, stepping back quickly and attempting to be serene. "With a great and manifest effort my master recovered his composure. He even contrived to smile. "I—you must forgive me, Brown," he muttered. "I could not, for a moment, conceive that my nephew would dare to send me such a message. Mr. Sefton Dagmar is my nephew, Brown, and I am sorry to say that—"

I raised my hand and quickly interrupted him. "Please don't say any more, sir," I cried in tones of deep respect. "Have your way! Now return to the subject. What more have you to tell me?" "Very little, sir, except that the man tried to pump me, but I gave him not a whit of satisfaction."

My master nodded, and, turning, walked thoughtfully into the adjoining bath room. We did not converse upon the matter again, but all that day the poison I had distilled into his mind was working, working. Somewhat late in the afternoon his bell rang. I hurried up to find him standing in the hall for his street, a heavy fur-lined overcoat upon his arm and a bag in one hand. "I'll not be home until tomorrow morning," he said curtly, so you need not wait up for me, Brown; but please, on no account, leave the house."

"Very good, sir." A cab was waiting for him beside the pavement. The clock struck 5 as he entered my little stronghold in Bruton street. At 8 I descended the stairs, in all things my master's double. In all things, I declare advisedly, forewarned by experience, I wore upon my forehead my left hand just such a little finger-stall of violet velvet as Sir William Dagmar used in order to conceal his deformity whenever he went abroad. I proceeded by three different passages to my point of destination, a secluded little tree sheltered by a hundred yards from the gate of the Gineprose hospital for consumptives. There I alighted, and bidding the driver await me, I hurried toward the hospital. It was my opinion from what I had observed, that all welcome visitors to that building possessed master keys to the front door, and were accustomed to enter unceremoniously. Since I had no latch key, I passed down the side of the house, a parking the sheds, approached the kitchen door. It was shut, the window blinds were closely drawn, but a light gleamed through the crevices. I rapped gently on the panels. Upon the third summons I heard the door cautiously drawn open an inch or so, and a pair of eyes peered out at me. "Qui va la? what is there?" demanded a gruff voice.

"I'm your friend, Sir William Dagmar," I replied very softly in French. "Enter, Monsieur," he said, politely. I did not require a second invitation, but before attending to me the old man reflected for a moment. He then turned and looked at me inquiringly. I saw at once that he was astonished at the manner of my coming, and that he was entitled to an explanation. I wish to see Mademoiselle Le Mar, privately and quickly. I muttered in his ear.

"But, Monsieur," he began. "I took a saucer from my pocket. He stepped dead in his speech and stared at me with wide eyes. He peered and peered out of the kitchen. My object in sending for Marion Le Mar was to obtain a guide over the house, a very important desideratum, since I had never been inside before. The old fellow suddenly reappeared. "Monsieur! She comes," he muttered, and stretched out a skinny paw for the door.

I turned at a sound to behold standing in the doorway the woman I had seen in my master's company last Sunday on the beach. I had thought her beautiful on that occasion. Now I caught my breath, and for an instant almost looked upon a spirit from some other world. The one week's rest in my composition is that I am the slave of female beauty wherever found, and yet until that moment I had collectively sought to worship the sex collectively. But standing in the doorway I recognized my fate, and I bowed my head before her.

She advanced and offered me her hand. Only then I perceived that she wore a uniform, a nurse's uniform. "Monsieur," she whispered, "you sent for me." "Yes, my child," I answered in still lower tones. I pressed her hand, then let it fall, though I grieved to release it. "Where is Cavanaugh?" "Upstairs in the operating room with Dr. Fulton. I must be quick, for they are almost ready to begin. Sir Charles has just arrived."

"Ah! So Cavanaugh still persists. I had hoped to find it otherwise." "Alas! Monsieur, I have begged him to go, but he has determined to see all." "In that case, for your sake, my child, I shall bear him company."

WARD OFF DISEASE

By fortifying your system with a reliable blood medicine. An alcoholic stimulant would do more harm than good and the reaction from it would leave you nearer complete prostration than ever before. With stomach and blood in good order you can fight the disease promoting the renewal of the blood. Both of these are used in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in such a way, by skillful extraction, combination and solution without alcohol, that their best effects are secured.

Many years of actual practice convinced Dr. Pierce of the value of many native roots as medicine agents and he went to great expense, both in time and in money, to perfect his own peculiar processes for rendering them both efficient and safe for continuous use as tonic and rebuilding agents. The enormous popularity of "Golden Medical Discovery" is due both to its scientific compounding and to the actual medicinal value of the ingredients. The publication of the names of the ingredients on the wrapper of every bottle hereafter to be sold, gives full assurance of its non-alcoholic character and refutes all objections to the use of an "unknown remedy."

NOT A "PATENT MEDICINE."

Scott's Emulsion is not a "patent medicine." It has no secret ingredients. Your doctor can, no doubt, tell you as much about it as we could. We have merely perfected the method of blending the Norwegian cod liver oil, hypophosphites of lime and soda and glycerine. As one grocer will blend coffee better than another so we have succeeded in making Scott's Emulsion a little better than any other cod liver oil preparation. There's no "patent" and the only secret is the secret of knowing how, with the perfected mechanical means at hand to do it. Get Scott's and you get the perfect emulsion. It's the greatest thing in the world for regaining strength and flesh lost through wasting.

NEW MEXICO RANCHMAN FROZEN Word has been received at the Fort Worth Live Stock Exchange that James Yates, a half-breed ranchman, who lived near White Oaks, Lincoln county, N. M., was found dead in a snowdrift two miles from his home, having perished during the recent severe cold weather. He had used his hat and scarf for a pillow and had straddled his body out with his hands folded in an attitude of prayer. A 12-year-old herder also perished in the snow drifts in the Sacramento mountains.

THE INDIAN TERRITORY Martin Kerr, a stockman from McAllister, I. T., came in with the snow Wednesday morning and was found at the stock yards with the intent of purchasing a string of cattle to carry back with him. He said: "We had a very fine range country up our way, but few farms. When I had a winter as this comes on the range is practically useless for stock, as the moisture injures the grass and makes the pastures very sticky and it is hard to handle cattle so that they will not graze. Feeder find it hard to get roughness in our section, for there are practically no farmers and consequently all stock feed to be had must be shipped in at the present price of cotton seed meal and hulls and even cotton seed itself makes it a risky business to feeders."

INTERESTING FACTS

For Nearly Every Man, Woman or Child A short time ago we published an article recommending to our readers the new discovery for the cure of Dyspepsia, called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the claims then made regarding the wonderful curative properties of the remedy have been abundantly sustained by the facts. People who were cautious about trying new remedies advertised in the newspapers and were finally induced to give Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial were surprised and delighted at the results. In many cases a single package costing but 50 cents at any drug store made a complete cure, and in every instance the most beneficial results were reported. From a hundred or more received we have space to publish only a few of the latest, but assure our readers we receive so many commendatory letters that we shall publish each week a fresh list of genuine, unsolicited testimonials and never publish the same one twice.

From James Yemmelser, LaCrosse, Wis.: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are doing me more good than anything I ever tried, and I was so pleased at results that I gave away several boxes to my friends who have also had the same benefits. From Mrs. M. K. West, Preston, Minn.: I have received surprisingly good effects from using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I gave one-half of my last box to a friend who also suffered from indigestion, and she had the same good results. From Mrs. Agnes K. Ralston, Cadillac, Mich.: I have been taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I am very much better, and feel very grateful for the great benefit I have received in so short a time.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a certain cure for all forms of indigestion. They are not claimed to be a cure-all, but are prepared for stomach troubles only, and physicians and druggists everywhere recommend them to all persons suffering from Nervous Dyspepsia, sour or acid stomach, heartburn, flatulence or wind on stomach and similar disorders.

WOMAN PITIES HETTY GREEN

Southern Dame Would Not Change Places Special to The Telegram. ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 11.—After visiting Hetty Green of New York, in an effort to negotiate a loan of $50,000, Mrs. Minnie Hogan, a wealthy woman of Atlanta, says she would not change places with Mrs. Green for all her millions.

Mrs. Hogan wanted Mrs. Green to lend $50,000 on $50,000 railway securities. "No," she said, "I will not consider placing any money on outside railroad securities, but if you have something to offer in a first-class 4 or 4 1/2 per cent real estate loan I will be pleased to consider it." "I asked her what she considered a 'first-class loan,'" Mrs. Hogan says. "Oh," she said, "fifth avenue, above fourteenth street, Broadway and adjacent property." "I had something to offer and began to describe a piece of property valued at $350,000. She said to me: 'Car you get to the desk there and put that in writing?' It was, 'Yes, then you directed me to do so. Mrs. Green then asked me if I was a widow, and when I said 'Yes,' she spoke of the death of her husband. She looked at my dress and said: 'That is a pretty dress, what did it cost you and where did you buy it?' 'Why, this dress is one of the satin foulards that was on special sale at one of the department stores, and I think I paid something like $1 for it.' 'Well,' she said, 'I thought so. It is pretty and becoming.' Then we turned to my watch, which had just been given me as a birthday present. I remarked that it was a fine watch. Then she said: 'You know I have all ways cleaned my dresses with ammonia.' I replied, 'Why, Mrs. Green, I don't know that all my life.' She turned and looked at me, and said, 'You know, then said, 'You know, she said, 'If I were not so busy I would take you out to lunch.' 'Mrs. Green impressed me as a tired, hearty, old woman, stocky, and stout, and there I was, a woman with not $100 at my command, feeling deep sympathy for a woman worth nearly $1,000,000, and I would not exchange places with her for all her millions."

FARMERS NOT IN POLITICS?

Montgomery's Report Shows Work at Austin Special to The Telegram. DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 11.—The legislative report of General Organizer J. D. Montgomery of the Farmers' Union has been printed and is now ready for distribution.

It will be remembered that the union sent Mr. Montgomery to Austin during the Twenty-ninth legislature to represent its interest in legislation pending before that body. Mr. Montgomery did not present any bills, but gave his backing to the tax bills and the anti-free pass bill. Report on Legislature In his report he gives the legislative history of these measures and the details of the work done by the Farmers' Union in connection with them. "These measures, known popularly as the Williams, Love and Kennedy bills, deriving their names from their authors, sought to increase the taxes of various corporations doing business in the state of Texas and by that means meet the deficiency of over $1,000,000 existing in our treasury. There was a strong element in the legislature favoring the increasing the ad valorem taxes in order to meet that deficiency. On that issue we joined the fight and succeeded in securing the passage of these bills despite the formidable array of lobbyists that opposed the passage of these measures.

THE INDIAN TERRITORY Martin Kerr, a stockman from McAllister, I. T., came in with the snow Wednesday morning and was found at the stock yards with the intent of purchasing a string of cattle to carry back with him. He said: "We had a very fine range country up our way, but few farms. When I had a winter as this comes on the range is practically useless for stock, as the moisture injures the grass and makes the pastures very sticky and it is hard to handle cattle so that they will not graze. Feeder find it hard to get roughness in our section, for there are practically no farmers and consequently all stock feed to be had must be shipped in at the present price of cotton seed meal and hulls and even cotton seed itself makes it a risky business to feeders."

RETURNS TO RANCHING James W. Montague, vice president of the Evans-Montague Commission Company, who retired recently from active management of the commission company, will still, however, retain his interest in the firm, and his son Joe W. Montague will continue as salesman for the commission company. Mr. Montague has large ranch interests in Crockett county, near Sherry, which he has stocked with something like 15,000 head of cattle, graded well up. He will, with another son, spend much of his time on his ranch, looking after his stock interests. His shipping point is San Angelo. He has been a resident of Texas for many years before moving to Texas. However, he was engaged in the horse and mule business in Kansas City and St. Louis. He is a native of Tennessee.

SNOW NO ADVANTAGE Marlon Sansom, president and general manager of the Cassidy Southern Commission Company and a prominent stockman, when asked what he thought about the fall of snow, said: "I do not see where it can be of any benefit to anybody. What is about all that it could be just now, and it has about enough moisture, and this snow will make it almost too sloppy to graze cattle on it to advantage. I am feeding something like a thousand head of cattle on my place, two or three miles up Marine creek, and this snow has entirely covered the grass and I had to get straw to feed the animals along with the cotton seed. It is necessary to give cattle roughness of some sort to help along the other feed and when grass is out of sight under the snow other stuff has to be furnished."

COUNTY EXPENSES SHOW AN INCREASE Report of J. F. Prosser is Filed With County Commissioners The expense of running the business of Tarrant county for the month ending Dec. 15, 1905, was $1,672.62 more than for the same period in 1904. Enormous Activity in Union Pacific. T. C. and I. Also Attract Attention—General Close Firm

The feature of today's session of the stock market was the extreme activity in Union Pacific, there being enormous dealings in that issue. Before midday there were several orders executed for 5,000 shares and one hour bought 20,000 shares. The price advanced steadily, opening at 154 1/2 and reaching 156 1/2 before the close of the day's business. The closing price was practically at the best. There was no authentic information as to what caused the sudden outburst of activity, but the earnings have been enormous and it has been freely predicted that at the next meeting of the directors, which will occur in the near future, some steps would be taken to increase the distribution of dividends among the stockholders. The tip was distributed on the street that the stock would reach 175 before the end of the month. Great Northern preferred also reached a new high record and North Pacific was extremely strong. There was also good buying of Missouri, Kansas and Texas common on the opening. A feature which was only second in importance to the movement of Union Pacific was another phenomenal advance in Tennessee Coal and Iron. This issue sold at one time during the day at a net advance of 8 points, to 153, and closed near the top of the market. Today received a dividend of 1 1/2 per cent on their holdings. Amalgamated Copper was exceedingly steady, but there was heavy selling around 110 1/2. This caused a slight reaction, but there was a recovery in the late trading. Southern Pacific advanced in sympathy with Union Pacific. There was special movement in Denver common and preferred, but it was largely the result of manipulation and attracted but little attention. The balance of the list was comparatively quiet. Sales to noon were 701,500 shares. Money loaned at 5 1/2 per cent. The general close was firm.

DAMAGES AGAINST ONE ROAD ENOUGH

Llano Man Wins Suit Against Katy and Houston and Texas Central. AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 11.—The court of civil appeals yesterday affirmed the case of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway company of Texas against I. S. Phillips. The contention of the appellant was that the Central as a connecting line was also liable. The court says that it was sufficient for the plaintiff to allege the damages as caused by the defendants, and that the court of jury could apportion the damages according to the proof and if the proof showed the entire damages to have occurred on that defendant's line, the judgment should be against that defendant for the entire amount, and it was found all damages occurred on the Katy.

Wheat Market Firm, Closing Prices the Best—Corn and Oats Higher—Pork Strong

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 11.—The wheat market ruled firm today. Early cables reported better prices in Liverpool. On the first call in the local pit prices were unchanged to 1/2 higher. Trading was only moderate in volume and the bulk of the operations were in the July option. Scattered buying by commission houses and short covering effected an advance of 1/4 to 1/2 before midday. This was increased to a net gain of 3/4 in the afternoon and closing prices were a shade under the best. Local receipts were 29 cars, 1 of which was contract grade; receipts this day last year 232 cars. Corn derived strength from the advance in wheat and the better prices on the foreign market. Closing prices were 1/4 to 1/2 higher. Local receipts were 122 cars, 27 of which were contract grade; receipts this day last year 232 cars. Oats were steady. Closing prices were unchanged to 1/4 higher. Local receipts were 122 cars, 27 of which were contract grade; receipts this day last year 232 cars. Provisions were firm, the feature of the trading being the buying of pork for May delivery. At the close pork was 122 cars, 27 of which were contract grade; receipts this day last year 232 cars. Lard showed a gain of 5c.

PROMINENT RANCHMAN DEAD

Colonel B. J. Williams, a prominent stockman, who for many years has been a resident of Dawson, Navarro county, died in a San Angelo hotel Friday night. Colonel Williams owned what is known as the El Dorado ranch in Navarro county, a magnificent property. He also owned near San Angelo a ranch which he had been visiting when death overtook him. He was a very wealthy man and with his son, who had lived with him on the El Dorado ranch, looked after his great interests. He was reputed to be the largest land owner in Texas. His body was shipped to Dawson for interment.

CATTLE TAX ABOLISHED

E. C. True of the Indian Territory said that the 25c tax per head on cattle, which had heretofore been collected from stockmen in that territory, had been abolished and that this went into effect last December. All the stockmen he said, were for single taxation, but were not willing to themselves much one way or the other.

FEEDING TERRITORY STEERS

H. B. Johnson is a large operator in stock and is now feeding a large string of steers in the city. He has a 2-year-old now that will weigh 1,300 pounds. He will ship his tallings to this market and he expects them as 2-year-olds to average 1,200 pounds. He is now feeding a car of long 28 that he will exhibit at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show, and shall have them on the scales at 1,450 pounds. He is feeding alfalfa, prairie hay, cotton seed meal, corn and hulls. These are the same things that will be among the winners, he hopes.

ROTTING THE GRASS

Dick True and his brother, E. C. True, who have ranches in Indian Territory on the line of the Rock Island railway, are in the city with stock this week. "We are in worse shape now," said Mr. True, "than we were last spring, owing to the excessive wet weather that has rotted the grass and made it so much more difficult to haul feed to any extent. We are feeding meal, hulls, cake, hay and cotton seed and yet the animals are losing flesh. However, about the 15th of this month we will ship into the market some steers that will average from twelve to thirteen hundred pounds. We are feeding now at Chickasha and will have a lot of good stuff for the market. The Fat Stock Show, although we will have it in condition then to compete for prizes. We return here tonight, but will be on the market again soon."

INDIAN TERRITORY GRASSES

J. M. Lewis brought in a car of cattle and said that he was born in Texas, but moved to Indian Territory at the early age of 1 year, but is still counted himself a Texas stockman. As he lives in the same time that the True Brothers, he said what they had said about conditions as they apply to range and stock he could confirm. The grasses up their way were sage and mesquite—good grasses, would be but not equal to standing up under the constant soaking they had gotten this fall and winter. He is a regular shipper to this market.

A citizen of Gluckstadt, Germany, has returned a census paper in which he describes his trade as that of a basket-maker, while the question regarding his position is answered thus: "We do our work sitting."

COTTON

Initial advance, Followed by Reaction, Closed Prices Lower

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The cotton market opened firm with prices 6 to 8 points above last night's finals. The advance was attributed to the strength of the foreign market, early cables reporting higher prices than were due on our close of last night. Following the call the gain was immediately reversed, and the market closed at a matter of 4 to 5 points from the opening figures. Sentiment was bullish, but there was no great activity during the initial trading, the only event worthy of note being the sale for the account of a prominent firm of 5,000 bales for the March delivery. Business was restricted to some extent by a disposition to wait developments from the mass meeting which was held at New Orleans today. The market weakened around midday, and prices eased off, touching the low point in the afternoon and closing were at a net loss of about 3 to 4 points. Spots are up 5 points at 11.50c for middling.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Special to The Telegram. NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 11.—The cotton market was quiet, with prices unchanged at 11.9-16c for the middling grade. The future market opened active with near positions four to six points up in response to the strength of the Liverpool market, after a further gain in the initial trading, the market weakened and prices declined steadily, reaching the low point in the late trading. The close was barely steady at a net loss of 12 to 13 points.

LIVERPOOL COTTON CABLE

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 11.—The cotton market opened firm with prices 4 to 5 points above last night's finals. The session was fairly active and the closing tone barely steady with prices at a net advance of 7 to 8 points.

Spots were steady and in good demand at an advance of 4 points on a basis of 6.14d for middling. Sales were 12,000 bales; imports, 13,000. Following are the opening and closing prices for futures:

TRADE NOTES

In 1904 New Zealand exported 2,038,084 sheep carcasses and 1,915,153 lambs, valued at $3,951,237. During the same period Australia exported 450,283 sheep and 595,773 lambs, or a total of 1,046,056.

Hogs must not be too fat to make the best meat or bring the best price. Lean meat is in the greatest demand and that means more protein food and less corn. It also means longer time on pasture and shorter in the feeding pen.

A sheep buyer said that when a thing gets higher everybody wants it, and that is one reason he gave for the demand for mutton at present. It seems to be human nature to want what is hardest to get.

If a horse of a distinct breed is put to a mare of the same breed, there is a reasonable degree of certainty that the produce will be of the same sort and resemble its parents.

The number of the sheep in the world is best understood when we consider that we now have about one sheep for every two inhabitants of the globe, while ten or fifteen years ago it stood about one for each person.

Many counties in the Panhandle section of Texas are rapidly being settled by the farmer and stock farmer. The people are land hungry and it will not be many years before the large ranches in Texas, suitable for farming purposes, will have been taken as a cattle range.

THURSDAY'S REVIEW AND SALES

Receipts of cattle today were a trifle larger than those of yesterday, 2,499 head, counting calves. Steers of the beef type largely predominated. Some extra fat cattle sold up to $4.15, and several head of heavy steers were held back for better bids. The tone of the market was fully steady. Sales:

Cows and Heifers

Cows were short in supply, relatively speaking, the run showed more medium to good cows than common or fancy. The usual strong demand prevailed from packers and outsiders and the market was quoted steady to slightly higher. Receipts were 1,400 head, a bunch of extra good cows sold at $2.50. Choice heifers sold up to $3. Sales:

MANAGER MURRAY RESIGNS OFFICE

Is Succeeded by John C. Casler With Local Telephone Co.

It is announced that Manager Joseph Murray of the Fort Worth Telephone company has forwarded his resignation to the officials of the company, and has been succeeded by John C. Casler, for some time connected with the local office. Mr. Murray's resignation, it is stated, is made in order to permit him to devote his attention to other business interests. Regarding a rumor in circulation to the effect that the Fort Worth Telephone company's property was about to be merged with another telephone company, Sidney L. Samuels, attorney for the Fort Worth Telephone company, said today: "Any rumor to the effect that the Fort Worth Telephone company is to be merged with the Southwestern company or any other company is absolutely without any foundation. From the very terms of the Fort Worth Telephone company's charter, such a thing would be impossible, thereby providing that such a step would immediately forfeit the company's right to do business in Fort Worth. There is not the slightest degree of truth in it."

Senator Thomas C. Platt attended a wedding in New York city the other day and gave the bride away. The aged politician was too infirm to move unaided. When he tried to alight from his carriage he was unable to do so, and two of the ushers literally lifted him to the sidewalk and supported him into the church. Senator Platt's march to the altar with Miss Snow on his arm was tedious and painful to watch.

FOUR NOW IN THE JUDGESHIP RACE

With Probability of Additional Candidates

The race for the county judgeship is already on and there are four candidates now in the field, with a probability that there will be more. At the court house, where politics is the paramount topic at this time, it is said that the race for this office is going to have more ginger in it than the race for any other office with the exception of that of sheriff.

The four candidates are all well known and popular young members of the legal profession and all have been prominently before the public. One has made one race for the county judgeship, two are now holding office and the other served in an official capacity for five years in the county attorney's office.

Charles T. Rowland, who is now serving his second term as justice of the peace of precinct No. 1, has been an avowed candidate for the county judgeship for several months, and his friends have been at work in his interest wherever good results could be had. Mr. Rowland is a product of the White Settlement, and it is claimed that section of the county is not going to throw him overboard in this race.

Right across the hall from Rowland's office Justice John L. Terrell dispenses justice, and he, too, is a prominent candidate for the judgeship. It was recognized when Mr. Terrell was elected justice of the peace the second time that he would be a candidate for the county judgeship this year and quiet work in his interest has been going on ever since then. He is a Fort Worth product, having been born and reared in this city, but it is claimed he has a good following in the outside districts.

W. B. Paddock, another Fort Worth young man, is a third candidate, who, it is said, will cut no unimportant figure in the contest. He made a creditable race for the office against the present judge, Hon. Robert H. Milam, and it is claimed for him that he not only has not lost strength since that race, but has gained some in addition.

The fourth candidate for the county judgeship is R. H. Buck, who, through his own personality and because of his official positions, has an extensive acquaintance all over the county. For two terms he was county superintendent of public schools, after which he engaged in law practice and was appointed assistant county attorney by O. S. Lattimore during his two terms in that office, but he did not retire from politics entirely when he retired from that position, it being generally understood that he would be to the front before a great while.

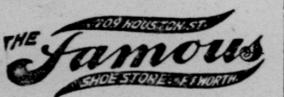

All four of these candidates have energy sufficient to make the race for the office they want a lively one, and just how it will result is a question on which the crowd of political laymen at the court house is widely at variance.

COLORED TEACHERS HOLD INSTITUTE

Discussion of Work Among Negro Children Made at Ninth Street School

A colored teachers' institute was held at the Ninth street public school building at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. After singing by the teachers an address was made by Superintendent Hogg, in which he spoke of the good spirit he hoped to infuse in the school work by the discussion of practical, helpful subjects.

Miss Wilkinson read a paper on physician culture and S. H. Fowler spoke on moral power being the most important in school life.

An address was made by Principal McGee, in which he took up the matter of the great importance of the work of improving the moral condition of the colored children whose families live in a certain fixed character, which is not the case of the Anglo-Saxon in family life. Addresses upon the same subject were made by Professor J. T. Landston, Professor James E. Gulnn and Professor I. M. Terrell.

Professor Parker of the Fort Worth high school then discussed the need of the teachers knowing the subject matter which he was discussing and of his being thoroughly acquainted with the order of the development of the child's faculties.

Professor Hogg closed the meeting with a few remarks upon the coming examinations, in which he impressed upon the teachers that the examinations were meant as a test of the child's knowledge and not as a puzzle which he must work out.

CASES AGAIN PASSED

Charges Against Frank De Beque and Dave Houghton Held

The cases against Frank De Beque and Dave Houghton, charged with violating the new ordinance relating to the sale of intoxicating drinks at places where theatrical or dramatic entertainments are being given, were again passed in the corporation court Thursday morning, but with the understanding that the conditions complained of by Attorney Parker be discontinued pending the settlement of the cases. Should fresh violations occur, the cases will be brought to trial immediately, but otherwise the request of the attorneys for the defense to be allowed more time to investigate the law upon the subject will be granted.

Mr. Parker stated that he visited the Standard, the Star and the Crown theaters last night, and that the Crown had suspended business and there were no violations of the ordinance as he understood it to be observed at either the Standard or the Star.

Police officers are always on duty at these places when performances are given, the officers being under the control of Chief Maddox, but paid by the proprietors of the establishments.

LITTLE POCKET PHYSICIAN

Hymel Inhaler That Is Guaranteed by R. A. Anderson to Cure Catarrh

Thousands who have been cured by Hymel call the inhaler that comes with every outfit "the little pocket physician," as it is so small that it can be carried in the pocket or purse. Prior to the discovery of Hymel, statistics showed that at least 97 out of every 100 persons in this state were suffering from catarrh in some form. The remarkable results following the use of Hymel are shown by the smaller percentage today of people suffering from catarrh.

There is really no excuse whatever for anyone having catarrh now that Hymel is so readily obtainable. If you have any doubts about its value, R. A. Anderson will let you have a complete outfit with the understanding that unless it cures catarrh, it will not cost you a cent.

A complete Hymel outfit consists of "the little pocket physician," a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hymel, and costs only $1, while additional bottles of Hymel can be procured for 50 cents, making it the most economical, as well as the most reliable treatment for the cure of catarrh.

Do not delay longer the use of Hymel if you have catarrh. This is a purely local disease, and Hymel goes right to the spot where the catarrh germs are present, destroys them, soothes and heals all inflammation and makes a permanent and lasting cure.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR KIDNEYS or they will soon undermine your health. Those Backaches, Swollen Feet, Spots before your eyes, and especially the general worn out feeling in the morning are sure signs of Kidney Trouble.

Irving's Buchu Waters cleanse the blood, build up the shrunken walls of the kidneys, removing the cause and the pain with it. Sold at 50c a box by H. T. Pangburn Drug Co., Ninth and Houston streets, Fort Worth, Texas.

CONDUCTOR SHOT AT MONTAGUE, TEX.

James Mack, Probably Fatally Wounded—Man Arrested

James Mack, a passenger conductor on the Rock Island railroad, who runs between Fort Worth and Caldwell, Kan., was shot and perhaps fatally wounded at Montague, Texas, at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening. Finis Bryan, son of the sheriff of Montague county, is under arrest, charged with the shooting. Conductor Mack had been running out of Fort Worth ever since the Rock Island railroad was built to Fort Worth, twelve years ago.

Conductor Mack was 45 years old and married. His wife resides at Caldwell, Kan., and is now en route to Montague. He has been in the service of the Rock Island longer than any other conductor in the service and has been running out of Fort Worth ever since the Rock Island railroad was built to Fort Worth, twelve years ago.

MEETING POSTPONED

North Fort Worth Kindergarten Association postponed their meeting which was to have been held Wednesday in their rooms at Clinton avenue and Fourteenth streets.

As soon as a convenient date is settled on Mrs. M. E. Gilmore, president of the association, will call a special meeting. This is to be the regular annual business meeting and election of officers.

NOTES AND PERSONALS

The Epworth League met at the home of Rev. M. M. Lane Monday night and elected officers for the following year. As this was the annual business meeting, much of the regular work was disposed of. After business there was a social.

The gravel crossings at the corner of Main street and Central avenue are much appreciated this muddy weather. The city council has also voted to put a man permanently to work on the streets.

Every one who attended the box supper at Rosen Heights school house Tuesday night reports a good time.

There was a social dance Wednesday night at Eritchard Hall.

Brookas Hunt, who is well known in North Fort Worth, was in Benbrook Monday.

Woodmen of the World and Ladies Circle have their annual installation of officers at their hall Thursday night. After the installation they will have a banquet at Rosen Inn.

SCORES OF NAMES FOR MRS. TOLLA

Many Eager to Join in Signing Telegram's Petition

Since The Telegram announced in its noon edition Wednesday that it would receive names for a petition addressed to the governor of New Jersey in behalf of Mrs. Antoinette Tolla, scores of names have been sent to the editorial rooms of this paper, with the request that they be attached to the list. The first name was received within forty-five minutes after the noon edition of The Telegram was off the press Wednesday, and since then names have been received at intervals of five minutes or less.

In several places petitions have been circulated and large lists secured in this way.

One petition was circulated among the brokers' offices Wednesday afternoon, another at the Waters-Pierce Oil Company's offices, one at the Richelleu Hotel and still another among residents of the South Side.

So rapidly have these names been secured it is impossible for The Telegram to publish all of them, but a partial list will be printed in today's issue. The list will be kept further action in Mrs. Tolla's case has been taken by the governor of New Jersey it will be forwarded to that executive.

As told in all editions of The Telegram Wednesday, after the noon issue a copy of thirty days has been granted Mrs. Tolla, postponing the date of her execution until probably Feb. 12.

FROM ROSEN HEIGHTS
The following letter has been received by The Telegram, regarding the case of Mrs. Tolla, in addition to those already published:
To The Telegram.

Is the kingdom of womanhood going to be abused so that every woman of America must feel the shame and sting to the quill?

If the governor of New Jersey or any of the jury that sentenced Mrs. Tolla to death, or any man, had a dog and another man, who roars at his premises to abuse the dog, there would very near be bloodshed. If so, the law would protect the man who defended the dog. Can we not claim this much protection for the hand that rocks the cradle? Mrs. Tolla dies on the gallows. It must not crush woman's courage. Better die on the gallows, if we must, than go against our honor. If I am true to nature I cannot take the life of a woman for any reason, but let the intruder come in the way poor Mrs. Tolla faced him, and I would shoot him down like a dog and never flinch a muscle.

Do I believe in capital punishment? Not in the case of Mrs. Tolla. Although I am not a woman's rights worker, yet I believe in the right of every man to be king of my country and to rule as God intended him to do, but I want him to rule with sympathy and with justice.

A word for Texas. You hear a cry everywhere against Texas and her laws. Yet I am safe to say that if Mrs. Tolla had shot a man while defending her honor in Texas she would not die on the gallows. If the law had been against her, the men of Texas would have stood by her. We have many of the true-hearted men who wear broad-brimmed hats and carry sixshooters tucked to their saddles, who never forget home and mother.

SNOWBALLERS MUST KEEP IN BOUNDS

Chief Maddox Notifies Boys They Must Pay for Negro's Hat, They Spoiled

Boisterous snow ballers caused the police considerable trouble Wednesday afternoon, and while it was the desire of Chief Maddox to let the boys and men have all the fun they could without overstepping the limit and interfering with others, it was found necessary several times to put a stop to the sport at various places. Where the snow throwers confined their targets to people whom they knew, there was no complaint made, but several instances came to the attention of the police where this was not done. One of the most serious was that of a negro preacher known to Chief Maddox as an unoffending, law-abiding and honest man. He reported that he had been attacked while passing the medical college and that hard balls had been thrown at him which completely ruined his hat, making it necessary for him to purchase another. One ball, he reported, struck his mouth and loosened two of his teeth.

"This kind of rowdiness," stated Chief Maddox, "will not be tolerated, and I have notified the boys that if they do not pay for a new hat for the negro and stop such attacks I will arrest them."

Other cases where runaways were narrowly averted by reason of snow balling were reported, and instances where ladies were made targets of also came to the notice of the police, who immediately took action to prevent it.

CANNING FACTORY DEED IS FILED

Site in town of Kennedale Is Purchased for $5,000 by M. C. McCraw & Co.

The deed for the site of the new Kennedale canning factory was filed with the county clerk Wednesday. The property on which the plant is to be located was sold to the Kennedale Canning and Preserving Company by M. C. McCraw & Company for $5,000, and consists of lots 43 and 45, in the town of Kennedale.

The deed for the Jennings avenue property recently sold by W. J. Bailey to A. J. Long for $32,500 was also filed Wednesday.

A deal was closed Wednesday by which George Reynolds becomes the owner of the corner of Fifteenth and Houston streets, occupied by a two-story brick building, for $20,000. The former owner was Frank J. Stangle. The building is at present occupied by the Citizens' Light and Power Company.

TOOK PRISONER BACK

Kansas City Officer Returns With John Cable

Captain Jack Kelley of the police department of Kansas City arrived here Wednesday afternoon. He came to convey John Cable, alias Cooper, who was arrested by Detective Al Ray, back to Kansas City. As has been mentioned in The Telegram, Cable was wanted in Kansas City to answer to a charge of highway robbery. Cable, or Cooper, was well known to the Kansas City police, and his photograph had adorned the rogue's gallery, and in effecting his arrest the police believe they have made an important capture.

RAILWAY CLERKS MAY SERVE AS DIRECTORS

Affiliation With Benevolent Associations Charging Not More Than Legal Interest, Permitted

A letter has been received by Superintendent S. M. Gaines of the railway mail service, which is published in the general orders of the division issued today, stating that clerks will be allowed to serve as directors in investment companies in the nature of benevolent organizations if these companies do not exact more than a legal rate of interest. The letter was received from General Superintendent James E. Whitely of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.

The orders also contain an order to the clerk to transfer all mail at the time of a wreck whenever it is possible, provided that all mail is taken to the other train. The mail clerks are instructed to notify the conductors that the rules of the service demand this change and that a failure for the mail to go forward on the first train possible will result in a fine against the railway company.
