

Morckel Experimenting With Lake Water For Irrigation Purposes

FLOYDADA—Harry Morckel, who operates a piece of land in Campbell community that has a considerable lake on it, is making ready to use the water from this lake to put back on wheat when dry spells hit, and at the same time get better use of the land from which he drains the water.

First test to see if a new power plant and pipe would run water up to high ground was made last week. County Agent Robert H. Gibson, Assistant Agent James Murphee and several others were interested spectators. Morckel was gratified with the way the plant worked and thinks he is going to make it be worthwhile as seasonal conditions demand. He has his lake surveyed, knows the low spot, how much water capacity it has at various depths and things of the kind. Little unusual for a farmer to put the science to a lake but that is what Morckel hopes to do.

Among other results he hopes to get is to reduce the number of acres of wheat he loses from flooding in wet years. The best wheat grows down by the lake. Its the first to be lost when rains hit at harvest time. A year or two ago Morckel cut a few acres at a time as the lake dried up and finished the job in August. He can drain the lake and save all of his best crop quickly the next time that happens, he anticipates, with his new equipment.

THE 81ST CONGRESS

During the campaign, President Truman's heaviest guns were trained on the Republican-controlled 80th Congress. He aimed everything in the arsenal at it and, as the election result proved, it paid off in the precious coin of votes.

Now the Democratic-controlled 81st Congress has been a study in slow motion. Representative Jackson of California said, "I'm glad Truman called the 80th the second worst Congress in history. It looks like you fellows will make the grade for top honors." Senator Erewater of Maine observed that "practically the only action of the 81st Congress to date has been to increase the Presidential salary." Senator Baldwin of Connecticut asked, "What are great, earth-shaking, country-saving, highly patriotic measures that have been passed by the present Congress to date?"

It hardly comes under the head of flash news to report that the members of one major party are doing all they can to make hay at the expense of the other major party. Administration leaders in House and Senate have been able to come up with only feeble defenses of the 81st Congress. The plain fact is that the all-inclusive Truman program has fallen into the doldrums. There is small chance of the larger part of it becoming law. Majority sentiment in Congress favors making haste slowly.

The great social security bill is an example. It would raise the cost from the present $1,800,000,000 a year to something like $6,000,000,000. In the words of Newsweek, "The reaction of Congress to the revolutionary extension... ranged from a quiet lack of enthusiasm to outright hostility. There was bipartisan agreement that neither farmers nor housewives would tolerate the niggling bookkeeping required. . . . There was little predisposition to increase payroll taxes drastically at this time."

The matter of keeping books in accordance with the Federal laws is, in the view of many, a much more important problem than is generally supposed. Business finds more and more of its attention and resources given to filling out forms and dealing with government bureaus. And this burden is often heaviest on small business. The big business, with its established legal, accounting and auditing department is frequently able to adjust itself to new regulations much more easily than a small concern. That fact has Congress worried. It isn't eager to subject more of the population to Federal red tape.

What it all adds up to is that this Congress is far more cautious than expected.

COTTON ON THE BOOM

POLICY-MAKERS of the U. S. Department of Agriculture are entitled to credit for sincerity of motive in setting 1949 support prices of grain sorghum at 70 per cent of parity instead of the 90 per cent advocated by such men as our own Cong. George Mahon.

Mr. Mahon and many other authorities think the low sorghum parity is a mistake—that it may result in a huge surplus of cotton, for which 90 per cent parity is guaranteed, and to shortages of grain. The Morning Avalanche concurs with the preponderant view of qualified men in this area that the higher support for sorghums would be better and cheaper for the nation as a whole in the long run.

But, whether that be correct or not, the highly encouraging prospect now seems to be, according to practically all qualified opinion, that the South Plains isn't likely to be hurt much one way or the other. The typical South Plains farmer is in the exceedingly fortunate position of being able to choose between optional planting programs. Naturally he will plant with the view of making the money per acre from his land, and the indications now are that most of them will boost cotton acreage and cut down on sorghum.

Present prospects for the South Plains farmer, therefore, seem exceedingly bright, regardless of the sorghum support price. Prospects could be changed radically for the worse due to conditions beyond human control—but it would be pointless to worry about such things now.

South Plains residents cannot complain because of the 1949 farm prospects. They merely can hope that their predominant fear is groundless that the Agriculture department's sorghum support program will be detrimental to the national welfare. We can hope, in short, that we are wrong and the Agriculture department is right about sorghum parities.—The Lubbock Avalanche.

Ira Smith, Editor

Last Saturday night the Plains was visited by a light snow storm which ended with a several days wet spell. There is enough moisture now to help save the wheat and oats from the drouth. But we were not discouraged for most of the substantial wheat countries are ruined by the drouth and green bugs.

The editors, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Smith received a beautiful announcement from their friend, Clay Duniap, asking that they attend the commencement exercises at the Plainview High School on April 24. Clay graduated with honors.

C. F. Ramsey has bought a 35 horse power traction engine and a 4 disc 7 gang plow and will proceed at once to break a section of land on his farm east of town on which he will plant kaffir and June corn.

Fred Schmidt of Nebraska died at the residence of C. W. Smith in the Mickey community Saturday evening.

Miss Bulah Greer will begin teaching school at Ellen the first Monday in May.

The new school east of Lockney will be called Liberty. Lumber has been purchased and construction will start soon.

E. P. Thompson is erecting a fine residence east of Lockney.

Do you tell time by Baby?

At his feeding times, yes. He sounds off on the dot when a meal's due. But the rest of your day, you're wise to depend on electric clocks.

With a baby in the house, it's surprising how much you depend on electric service—to prepare and refrigerate his food, heat water for his bath and laundry, wash his clothes, and so on.

Of course, you depend on electricity to help take the work out of your housework too. Always ready, it lends a willing hand with heavy chores, provides comfort, ease and even entertainment. And best of all, you can depend on its economy—for what other item in your budget does so much for so little?

Your friends and neighbors in this company—under sound business management—are continually using their technical skill and practical experience to keep electricity the biggest bargain in that budget of yours. You can depend on that too!

Baptist Repay "Honor Debt"

Baptists in Arkansas are paying off a debt they do not owe. At least the federal courts say that the debt was settled in 1937 when the depression-harassed Arkansas Baptist State Convention paid off a million dollars worth of notes and bonds at 35 cents on the dollar. The courts wiped the slate clean, and the notes and bonds were cancelled.

Six years later, however, the Baptists got to thinking that a moral obligation still existed and they voted to pay the remaining $700,000. The money is being raised through an Honor Club in which members contribute a dollar each month. Dr. B. L. Bridges, the denomination's executive secretary at Little Rock, says everything will be paid in full by 1950.

Senator Corbin Is Lone Wolf In The Senate, He Thinks

(Reprinted from the Dallas Morning News)

AUSTIN, Texas April 7.—A New Dealer who thinks he's pretty much of a lone wolf in the Texas Senate is the new spokesman for the big South Plains and West Texas district of cotton, cattle, wheat and oil.

He's Sen. Kilmer B. Corbin of Lamesa. This tall, thin bruet is only 29. This is his first term in the Legislature. During the four years he'll represent the vast 24-county district that cuts a swath through the state in the South Panhandle, just below it and into West Texas.

This is the land of big ranches, irrigated and dry land farms. Lubbock is the city in the district. Texas Tech the big state school and the state hospital at Big Spring the chief eleemosynary institution.

WANT TAXES

Senator Corbin counts himself a New Dealer. And he adds, "I'd be more at home in the House with my political ideas than I am in the Senate." He doubts that there's anyone else in the Senate who shares his theories all the way.

"I'm for more taxes to give more services," Senator Corbin said. "The taxes would be on natural resources."

By the time Corbin was in the second grade in a country school in Dawson County, he knew he liked to make speeches. So he reasoned that he should become a lawyer. But probably the thing that turned him up the road to the Capitol was a state declamation contest in which he won the second prize. Then he was in Lamesa High School.

"In those days I thought all lawyers did was talk," Corbin said.

When he graduated from Lamesa High School, he went to Texas Tech to study pre-law. Then later at the University of Texas he entered Law School in 1939.

He married a girl he knew in school in Lamesa and decided to drop out of law school to teach. Corbin was one of three teachers in a little country school near Lamesa. There he turned his interest to coaching boys and girls for debate and declamation contests.

And in 1942 he decided to run for county judge. He was elected and served continuously until 1948. By then he knew enough people in the district to get elected Senator on his first state race.

Water is the big legislative concern of Senator Corbin. For water is the big economic need of the people he represents.

"The Legislature can't make it rain," the new Senator said. "But we can help protect the water that the people do have."

Corbin's idea of the best way to do that is to leave things alone, as they are. He's leary of proposals now before the Legislature to regulate water. One such measure would completely revise present surface water rights, cancel unused rights and reissue new rights through an enlarged state board.

Another water issue which Senator Corbin looks at favorably is a bill to set up water districts for underground water rights. Now there's no law controlling underground water except the principle that it belongs to the person who owns the land, he said.

If the surface water rights bill gets out of the committee where it is, Senator Corbin is ready to put an amendment on it that would protect the water rights of West Texas cities. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce asked his help on it.

Corbin is cosigner with Sen. Walter Tynan of San Antonio on the controversial basic science bill in the Senate.

The self-styled liberal Senator also believes in lifting the ceiling on old-age assistance. He wants bigger appropriations for eleemosynary institutions.

Personally he's sponsoring a bill to set up a state distribution system for the school lunch program in co-operation with the federal plan. It carries a $412,400 appropriation and so far hasn't gotten out of the finance committee. The Department of Public Welfare would administer the program.

FARM MAN

The Senator also introduced a bill to let private persons take over the county hospitals in counties which can not support them.

"I'm for the people because I'm one of them," Corbin said. "I've lived on a farm most of my life like most of the people I represent."

Senator and Mrs. Corbin have three children, Barry, 8, Blaine, 5, and Jane, 4. They are living in Austin during the session.

Don't Use DDT On Dairy Cattle

COLLEGE STATION.—Texas dairymen are warned not to use DDT for insect control. The warning comes from G. G. Gibson, extension dairy husbandman of Texas A. & M. College, who adds that small amounts of DDT in a food such as milk might prove harmful in time.

And the presence of DDT in milk goes strictly against the grain with the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act. So, it's best to use another chemical in the control of dairy cattle insects.

Entomologists recommended methoxychlor of pyrethrum in place of the DDT for dairy cows, and go on to say that DDT is still good for insect control on other livestock, including beef cattle, dairy animals or livestock being finished for slaughter should not be fed forage treated with DDT or other chemicals in the same class, cautioned the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine.

It's a different matter, when it comes to fly control in and around farm buildings. DDT is all right for this. So is chlordane and BHC. But methoxychlor is the one recommended for use around dairy barns where milk is being processed.

Even better than the chemical sprays, Gibson suggests that dairymen get to the bottom of the fly situation with proper clean-up and other sanitation measures.

With a clean dairy, only a small amount of chemicals may be needed, he concluded.

Farmers Urged To Treat Cotton Seed

COLLEGE STATION.—Nobody can guarantee that your cotton will produce a good crop, but there is a good insurance in chemical seed treatment.

There's often quite a difference in a cotton crop that has been planted with chemically treated seed and a crop that wasn't. Here's the difference. With chemically treated seed, chances are good for better stands and greater yields because the chemicals kill seed-borne germs and protect the seeds against molds and fungi in the soil.

Without seed treatment, it is harder to get a good stand for producing a good crop, says E. A. Miller, extension agronomist of Texas A. & M. College. Unprotected seed rots easily in the soil before it has a chance to germinate, especially if the ground is too cold or wet for quick germination. Even after the seed germinate, many young seedlings are killed by angular leaf spot, scorch or bacterial boll rot.

One of the worst cotton diseases is angular leaf spot. It often shows up first on the young seed leaves, and during damp weather after the seedlings come up, many of them will die unless they were treated with a chemical before planting. This same disease also destroys some of the early buds, and may prevent the growth of early fruiting branches. As the cotton plant grows, the disease shows up as angular spots on the leaves, and also as bacterial boll rot, Miller says.

Brown spots or cankers at the ground level or slightly below on a stem is a good sign of scorch. Many plants will recover from this disease, but they are often late in developing.

Experiments have shown that seed treatment greatly reduces these troubles and helps to promote more vigorous seedlings, which often can be chopped and cultivated earlier.

In a four-year test by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station with chemical seed treatment, results showed good increases. There was a 25 percent increase at College Station, a 15 percent increase at Temple, a 10 percent increase in the Brazos bottoms near College Station, and a 4 percent increase in the average yield at Lubbock.

In another test at the Temple Substation, treated seed gave 25 to 30 percent better stands than untreated seed. At the same time, the plants made greater yields per acre, and had less angular leaf spot. The difference in yields between treated and untreated seed varied from year to year, depending on the amount of disease germs on the seed and the condition of the soil at the planting time, Miller says.

Chemicals which have proved effective are ceresan M, common ceresan (2 percent), new improved ceresan (5 percent), Dow 9B and spermin.

Directions on the containers should be followed very closely, and the delinted as well as the fuzzy seeds should be treated. It is very important that the seeds are thoroughly and evenly covered with the dust in a container, such as a can on an axle that can be rotated, he concludes.

Honolulu is the capital of the Hawaiian Islands.

State Department Offers Aid To Crippled Children

Austin, Texas.—Almost four thousand Texas children from more than 25 counties have received beneficial services and aid to happy, normal living under the Crippled Children's Division administered by the State Health Department during the calendar year 1948. This information is shown by the annual report issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

According to Dr. Cox, the most commonly treated conditions are late effects of acute poliomyelitis, cerebral palsy, osteomyelitis, tuberculosis of joints, cleft palate, harelip, and clubfoot. Although the services are provided for children from birth to 21 years, the largest group treated were from the age bracket of 5 to 14 years.

The help given these crippled children represents 1,747 clinic visits, 42,433 days of hospital care, 2,897 days of convalescent home care, and 4,946 doctor's visits.

"As long as sufficient State funds are available, any crippled Texas child of normal mentality, under twenty-one years of age, whose parents or guardians are unable to pay for proper care, is entitled to the help of the Crippled Children's Division," Dr. Cox said. "If his doctor believes that it is reasonable to expect that the child can be improved through hospitalization, medical or surgical care, artificial appliances, or through a combination of these services."

Parents of crippled children should make application for this assistance by completing application forms, which should be signed by the physician and approved by the County Judge. The application is then mailed to the Crippled Children's Division, Texas State Department of Health, Austin, Texas.

Ask Funds For Re-paving Lockney Cemetery Road

A committee composed of Buck Sams, L. M. Honea, and A. R. Meriwether this week were seeking funds from the public to repave the road from Farm Highway 125 to the Lockney Cemetery.

This road was paved in the last paving campaign here but a very cheap job was done on it. Mr. Meriwether said and it has deteriorated badly and the plan now is to put the paving in up to the highway specifications so that it will stay. The statement from the committee follows:

"We are making every effort to get the cemetery road paved from the farm to market road east of Lockney down to the cemetery. We can get this done with a standard paving now at actual cost by the construction company that is doing the paving on the rural roads and the city streets. We will never have another chance like this and since so many people are interested in the cemetery this should be easy if everyone that is able will do their part. The price is only 50 cents per square yard but we have only a short time. You may mail your money to the committee and if the paving isn't done the money will be refunded to you. We urge that you act now."

date to be announced soon.

The district has nominated Edd Johnson as the professional man who has rendered the greatest unselfish service to soil conservation in this district. Edd came to Floyd County from Titus county, Texas, and he relates that he realizes now that so many farms that folks thought that they had worn out by farming in Titus County were, in effect, worn out by erosion. He recognizes that this erosion must be controlled if Floyd County is to evade the fate so many counties have suffered in the past decades. He also realizes that through planning and proper land use this goal of soil conservation can be reached.

He realizes that the very success of the clothing store in which he works, the bank with whom he deals and the community in which he lives depends upon its one industry, agriculture. He is a past president of the Floydada Lions club and during his tenure as president he instigated strong committee action on agriculture. His club supported the annual tour of the district last year by having an awards program with an outside speaker, familiar with agriculture and its erosion problems. Edd is at present on the agriculture committee of the Lions club and through his efforts the battle for soil conservation have definitely been strengthened in Floyd County.

The State of Texas is divided into five regions. $1200 in cash awards will go to region one, in which this district falls. Cash awards over the entire State will total $10,000.
