Hartman of the South community told a group Tuesday night at the auditorium that he believes his 60 acres of castor will be a paying crop despite the three hails that have hit.

Mr. Hartman talked at length and answered a number of questions pertaining to beans.

subject of castor beans presented to the group by Wiley of the First National Bank who said that one firm agreed to build a shed and a huller here if as much as 100 acres were planted to beans in this community.

Lockney's injury-plagued Longhorns will open district play at Crosbyton Friday night of this week against the fighting Crosbyton Chiefs. Each team will be seeking its first win this season. The Longhorns having dropped three games while the Chiefs have lost two and had one week of rest between games.

The only comparative score possible is the two team's showing against the powerful Littlefield Wildcats. Crosbyton lost to the Wildcats 33-6 while the Longhorns dropped a game to them 38-6. However, according to daily newspaper reports at Crosbyton the Wildcats made three touchdowns in the first quarter and then started substituting while at Lockney the halftime score stood at 12-6 and the Wildcats first string played the entire game. At any rate, the Friday night game will determine which is the stronger team.

The Longhorns have been plagued with injuries to their signal caller for the past three weeks. First injured was reserve quarterback Orland Gilbert who suffered a jammed thumb and is still out of play. Then Stanley Conner, the first string quarterback and outstanding defensive man was injured and is also still unable to play. Last week in the Sudan game Mac Howard was calling signals and he was injured and removed from the game. It is possible that he will be able to play some against Crosbyton, however.

Coaches Curtis Kelly and Elvin Lyons have been drilling the boys on plays this week, trying to remedy the poor timing shown in the Sudan game. They have also had to change the starting line up some due to injuries of players.

The coaches said Tuesday that the probable starting lineup on the offensive would be Ray Ferguson, C. B. Smart, Pat Frizzell, and Norton Baker in the backfield with the line as follows: ends, Joe Cunyus and Sid Thomas; tackles, Bobby Baxter and Eddie Fortenberry; guards, Tip Jeffcoat and Joe Taylor, and center, Barry Thompson. Mac Howard and Bobby Griffith will probably be used some also on defense, as will other players.

Crosbyton relies chiefly in their big 185 pound fullback, Frank Hash. Hash is a converted lineman playing his first season in the backfield. He has been the star of the team in each game this year, doing a lot of the ball carrying, the punting and is also the chief defensive man for the Chiefs. The Crosbyton boys lost to Post 43-0 last week while the Longhorns were losing 33-0 to Sudan.

A large crowd of local fans will probably go to Crosbyton to see the Longhorns in their first district game.

Other District Games
Other District 3-A teams will also be playing their first district games Friday night. Here is the schedule:

The Ralls Jackrabbits travel to Floydada to take on the Whirlwinds in a game that Floydada should win.

Paducah entertains Matador in a non-district game since Matador is now playing Class B football. It should be a breeze for the Dragons.

The Spur Bulldogs go to Tulla. The Bulldog-Hornet game will reveal which of these teams will be the top contender for the district crown.

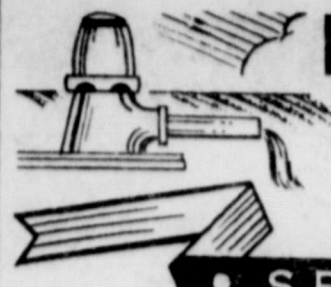

Abernathy has an open date but will come to Lockney next week end for their first district game.

Services At Sandhill Sunday Afternoon
The regular fourth Sunday Service will be held at Sandhill Sunday afternoon September 24 at 2:30. Mrs. Bessie M. Rose, Evangelist of the Church of the Nazarenes, extends a special invitation to everyone to attend.

Monday Is Promotion Day For Baptists
Monday is promotion day in the Sunday School at the Lockney Baptist church. It was announced this week. Pupils in all young people classes will be promoted to the next class or the next department as the case may be. There will be some reorganization and probably some new classes formed, it was said.

All pupils of the Sunday School both children and adults, are urged to be present in Sunday School Sunday morning.

Donald Moore and Donna Brownfield are spending the week at Lockney visiting their grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. and other relatives.

The petition circulated recently at Lone Star and which The Beacon last week stated asked for an election on consolidation asked instead for an election on grouping.

Plans For County X-Ray Underway

Plans were being carried out this week to insure that everybody will have a chance to have his x-ray made when the mobile unit is in Floyd County in less than two weeks. The unit will spend Wednesday October 4th in Lockney, and will move to Floydada on October 5th, and will operate in Floydada on Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Bob Gibson, the Floydada chairman, and Mrs. M. W. Wiley, the Lockney chairman have about completed plans to notify every person in Floyd county about the opportunity of this service. The schools, clubs, churches and other organizations are assisting in getting the information to the citizens in order that all who desire may avail themselves of this opportunity. Local residents of the county are being asked to assist the technicians when the unit is in the county; these helps make it possible for the unit to take care of many more people during its short stay in the county.

The school authorities have indicated that it is their wish that all students in the 15-year and above age group be x-rayed in conjunction with the health program in progress at the schools.

The unit will set up in the Lockney Auto Company showroom while in Lockney, and will be in the Chamber of Commerce office while in Floydada.

A film was shown at the high school gym on Tuesday night of this week, demonstrating the value of the x-ray to everyone. Mrs. Wiley was in charge of the meeting and about 30 local members of the committee were present. During the same meeting Dr. Wayne J. Greer, local dentist, explained a new program for the x-raying of school children's teeth which may be developed in the near future.

Charles Dippery Injured In Wreck

Charles Dippery was painfully but not seriously injured about noon Wednesday when the stripped down car he was driving sliced into the side of an auto parts truck just east of the Santa Fe railway on the cut-off out to Plainview.

His younger brother, J. W. Dippery, was thrown out of the car but was not hurt, it was reported. Charles suffered a bad cut on his knee, cuts about his face and a bruised rib, it was reported. He was treated at the Floyd County Co-operative Hospital here.

The accident happened as the two cars met, bystanders reported. A car in front of the Dippery stripped down had slowed up and as Charles put on his brakes, the left side grabbed and pulled his car into the truck. It struck the running board of the truck, slide on back and hit the dual rear wheels, breaking the drive shaft loose, breaking spring hangers and damaging the truck other ways. The front of the little car was crushed in. Driver of the auto parts truck was C. S. Carey of Merkel, Texas. He was not injured.

Watch your expiration date.

A number of men were inducted on Tuesday of this week among them being Delbert Caljoway, James Carroll and Tom Colvin, all from Lockney.

Plainview had 1.01 inches and heavy rains and hail fell in the Levelland area.

With present moisture it will be Monday of next week at least before any appreciable amount of work can be done.

Wiley at the First National Bank this week. Those local farmers who wish to redeem their cotton in order to sell their equity may come to the bank and sign a written request and the bank will send the papers to the proper authority, Mr. Wiley said. At the present price of cotton, equities are worth quite a bit of money.

Floyd Wins 1st At Amarillo Fair

Floyd County exhibitors took top honors at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo this week with the agricultural exhibits from the county. Robert H. Gibson, Floyd County Agent, assembled the exhibits and displayed them in a special booth at the fair. He was assisted by A. M. Standefer from the Floydada Chamber of Commerce and E. L. Angus. A total of 62 products which were raised in the county placed in the top four, 22 of which were first places, 19 were 2nd places, 11 were third, and 10 were fourth. Gibson stated that there was considerable competition on most of the exhibits.

In the class of head grain the county won the following awards: Martin 4th, Plainsman 1st and 3rd, Caprock 2nd and 3rd, other yellow varieties 1st and 2nd, Feterita 1st and 2nd, and Sunflowers 1st and 4th.

Lockney Firemen Make Good Grades At A&M Fire School

Two members of the Lockney Volunteer Fire Department, Vestal Eiland and Lowell Bilibrey, made good grades at the Texas Fireman's Training School held at A. & M. College this summer according to a report received by The Beacon this week.

Each man had a perfect attendance at the class periods. Eiland made a grade of 80 for the entire school and Bilibrey's grade was 85.

The training school is an annual affair held at A. & M. College. Attendance this year totaled 679 men representing 314 cities in Texas.

FARMERS HOLD OFF ON SETTING PULLING PRICE

It will be early October before Floyd County farmers will be ready to set a definite price on pulling or "snapping" cotton this year, according to action taken by a group of more than 200 farmers who met at the City Auditorium Tuesday night.

After considerable discussion on the cotton pulling price and hearing reports from the various other counties in this area on the price they propose to pay, the group voted down a motion to pay $1.50 in field plus 25c for hauling and then adopted a motion to delay the setting of the price and appointed a committee to investigate more fully what other counties are doing. Some reports from other counties were rather indefinite.

The committee appointed by M. W. Wiley, presiding officer of the meeting included Buck Sams, Buck Kellison, Doyle Harrison, Connie O'Brien, Robert Lee Smith, Melvin Potts, George Turner, Chester Mitchell, Leslie Ferguson, and Milton Ashton. These men were instructed to make their investigation and report back to a meeting of farmers to be held in early October, the date to be announced by Mr. Wiley.

After hearing the reports from other cotton producing counties, a number of men spoke in favor of $1.25 per hundred in the field plus 25c for hauling but the group as a whole was not in favor of setting a price at this time, it seemed.

Theme of the meeting was that the farmers wanted to pay the harvest hands a fair and reasonable price for snapping the cotton but they didn't want to pay an exorbitant price as they felt they were forced to do last year.

Counties Average $1.25
Reports from other counties seemed to average around $1.25 in the field. Here are the reports as received by Mr. Wiley, who had written various county agents for information:

Floyd County Agent Robert Gibson recommended a price no higher than $1.50 per 100 plus 25c for hauling. He pointed out that the crop was later than usual in Floyd County and he urged that farmers make preparations to harvest as much of the crop by machine as possible.

Motley County will pay an average of $1.50 per 100 delivered, it was reported.

Dawson County will pay $1.25 per 100 in the field plus 25c for hauling.

Hockley County will pay the same price as Dawson County and Terry County will do the same.

Quanah reported $1.50 to $2.00 in the field plus 25c for hauling. They have a light yield and the cotton is hard to get, it was said.

Altus, Oklahoma is paying $2.00 per 100 but the cotton is rank and tough. They will probably not need outside help.

Anson, Jones County reported $1.50 per 100 plus 25c for hauling.

No price has been set in Crosby County, the report said. Discussions were heard from (Continued on back page)

Cake 10 Feet High Will Catch Fair Visitor's Eye

Lubbock.—A birthday cake 10 feet high will be the central attraction in the Texas Technological College booth at the state fair in Dallas Oct. 7-22.

The cake—the non-edible kind—will focus attention on Tech's 25th birthday which is being celebrated on the Lubbock campus this year. Ed Smith, assistant to the president, said other features of the Tech fair booth in the Agriculture building will be an electronics "magic Show" and a series of architect's models made by Tech students.

One side of the booth will be covered with a detailed aerial view of the Tech campus. The huge photograph will be labeled with markers pointing out sites of the $4,200,000 building program now under way on the Tech campus.

Smith said a registering place for Tech ex-students also will be placed in the booth.

October 14 has already been designated by fair officials as "Texas Tech Day." Visitors on that day will see the Red Raider band make an hour-long appearance on the Hall of State steps for a concert of Tech songs and marches.

More than 100 birds have been added recently to the list protected by federal laws. Practically every song bird, shore bird and waterfowl is now protected by federal law and Uncle Sam has little sympathy for violators of that law.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service calls attention to the fact that the chaparral bird or roadrunner now is protected by federal law. Another lovely bird that is protected for the first time is the Cardinal or redbird. The bluejay, crow, starling, common sparrow and some of the hawks and owls still may be killed, although wildlife experts agree that most of the owls and hawks do more good than harm. Some states have laws protecting them. Of course, mocking birds are in the protected list and no exceptions are made in their case even though they sometimes damage fruit, berries and some vegetables rather extensively. Uncle Sam seems to take the stand that they are worth their food either in town or on the farm.

Some are putting their fishing tackle away for the season, but not here. If and when it stops raining long enough to let the water clear, we will still be after Mr. Bass. We have at least another month and half of good fishing, much better than the hot summer months. When you put your rods away here is a tip for you. Split Bamboo rods must be well cared for if they are to give good service. There are two main points to be considered at all times in this care. First: The varnish coat must be kept intact to sheet out the moisture which will work its way into the glued sections and spoil the action of the rod even if the strips hold. Second: The sections must be kept free from strain that would cause a bend to become a set. The owner will need to keep a watchful eye on the varnish and windings and be sure that everything is in tip top shape. It is not necessary to apply varnish as frequently as some claim (two or three times a season), unless the rod is in constant daily use and the weather is wet. The average bait-caster's rod will go through a season, possibly two of them, nicely with but a thin coat of high-grade rod varnish applied in the early spring. It is an easy matter to over-do the varnish job so that it will dull the rods action and we would advise having the rod rewound and revarnished by the manufacturers or some reliable tackle shop when it appears that the varnish is getting too thick. Of course a rod crank will desire to do his own work. We are not talking to rod cranks—but a high-grade rod should receive high-grade service.

Panhandle South Plains Fair To Be Bigger—Better

Lubbock—Vast improvements to the fair grounds will be definite factors in making this year's Panhandle South Plains Fair the most colorful event in 33 years of fair history, officials announced recently.

Paved streets and walkways are among the numerous improvements to the grounds. Interiors and exteriors of buildings have been repaired and re-painted, and concrete walkways have been installed in the cattle and swine barns.

This year's Mid-Century celebration also includes more outstanding exhibits in all departments, in addition to a gigantic production entitled "Panorama of the Plains," a historical pageant to be presented nightly during fair dates October 2 through 7.

The Bill Hames Shows, Inc., has been contracted to provide carnival fun with many rides, shows, contests and other modes of entertainment.

A giant cotton exhibit will be presented by a group of specialists headed by George Samson, of Post, who is superintendent of general agriculture activities.

A 4-H grass-judging contest will be headed by W. N. Williamson, of Lubbock, and D. F. Eaton, Jr. of Littlefield.

A Hereford exhibit will be included in the beef cattle department. Swine classes will include Poland Chinas, Spotted Poland Chinas, Durocs and Hampshires.

Lee Roy Colgan, county agent at Lamesa, will lead the Junior livestock activities. Boys agriculture exhibits will be in charge of Morris Duncan, assistant county agent at Lubbock, Lother Harris and L. E. Settle will conduct the rabbit show, and A. E. Quest will be in charge of Boy Scout exhibits.

A new department for Future Homemakers of America has been installed this year for the first time. It is directed by Mrs. Velma McWhirter.

The outstanding attraction of this year's fair will be the spectacle, "Panorama of the Plains," which will be presented nightly during the fair. The production, staged by the John B. Rogers Company, will require a cast of approximately 1,000 characters to reproduce the colorful history of the South Plains.

One of the main events heralding the approach of the fair is a lively Queen's Contest being staged in connection with the spectacle. Approximately 200 girls are already entered to vie for the titles of "Miss South Plains" and "Miss Lubbock County" who will receive an expense-paid trip to Havana, Cuba, or a $500 cash award. The winners will be chosen on a basis of ticket sales which count as votes for queen contestants.

The 14 runners-up in the contest will act as princesses of the Queens' court during the staging of the spectacle and receive valuable gifts, said W. O. (Bill) Keeney, general contest chairman, for the Lubbock Jaycees, sponsors of the contest.

All men in Lubbock will be expected to begin a beard growing contest soon. Those who do not desire to participate in the hair-race will have to purchase a shaving permit from the South Plains Spectacle committee, or suffer the judgment of a Kangaroo court.

Cover Practices Announced For 1951

The winter cover crop practices have been approved for Floyd County under the 1951 Agricultural Conservation Program. The specifications of the practices are as follows:

ESTABLISHING A SATISFACTORY COVER OF WINTER LEGUMES AND RYEGRASS SEED-ED IN THE FALL OF 1950.

This practice must be carried out in accordance with the specifications set forth below or a good stand and growth must be obtained and not harvested for hay, or grazed to the extent that a satisfactory cover is not left on the land.

Kind of Seed	Per Pound
B. Austrian Winter peas and Dixie Wonder peas	.055
C. Hairy Vetch	.12
L. Ryegrass	.07

Other rates on request at the county office.

Winter legume seed must be properly inoculated with fresh inoculants and seeded not later than the date established by the county committee—in Floyd County this date has been set as December 1, 1950. Phosphate must be applied at a rate of not less than the equivalent of 200 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate per acre, except on land where there has been an application of phosphate to some prior crop within such time that the residual effects are still available. Ryegrass must be seeded in the fall on land that has been allowed to become well settled after being plowed, or it may be seeded on land that has not been disturbed following the harvest of cotton, corn, or other crops.

TURNING UNDER OR LEAVING ON THE LAND A SATISFACTORY STAND AND GROWTH OF RYE SEED-ED IN THE FALL OF 1950—$2.00 PER ACRE.

This practice is applicable only to irrigated land and to land that the county committee determines is subject to wind erosion. Rye should be seeded at the rate of not less than 60 pounds per acre. A stand and growth that would justify harvesting as a feed crop must be obtained. The crop must be left on the land or turned under. A volunteer crop will not qualify.

ADVICE TO FARMER ON PER-

FORMANCE—Secure written approval of the county committee before carrying out the practice. Detailed information regarding either of the above practices will be available in the county office.

Curbs Clamped On Credit Buying

Washington.—The federal reserve board clamped curbs last week on installment credit terms, using authority conferred by the newly signed controls bill.

The limitations—which may be further tightened later if conditions warrant, will go into effect Sept. 18 and require: down payments of at least one-third on automobiles and completion of payments within 21 months.

Down payments of at least 15 per cent, and a pay-off limit of 18 months for these appliances: Refrigerators, food freezers, radio or television sets, phonographs, cooking stoves, ranges, dishwashers, irons, washing machines, clothes driers, sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, air conditioners and dehumidifiers.

Down payments of at least 10 per cent, and 18-month payment limits on furniture and rugs.

Down payments of at least 10 per cent, and a 30-month pay-off limit, on credit for home repairs, alterations or improvements.

The new rule made no down payment requirements for articles costing less than $100. Such purchases will be subject to the pay-off limits.

Installment loans are subject to the same limitations as sales where the loans are made for articles subjected to controls. Other installment loans must be paid off within 18 months.

An example was given for auto installment credits of more than $5,000 and other installment credits of more than $2,500.

BEAUTY IS YOUR BIRTHRIGHT

By MONA

Hi! Honey!

This is the first of a series of articles concerning your hair, mostly advice on how to keep your top thatch your "crowning glory" and not your "clowning" glory as crime so often was after I had decided that just plain brown hair was not good enough for me.

My first experience was when I bought some henna, plastered it on my head and slept in the resulting mud overnight. Next morning when I washed it out, my hair was a gleaming chestnut, I should explain that I had a polished mahogany tan of which I was annoyingly proud.

I thought my red brown hair and by red brown tan both beautiful, and no one could tell me that they weren't beautiful together.

All my family tried to often enough, their favorite saying being that I looked like a technician zombie. I didn't hear them. I thought that they were just color blind, and kept my hair flaming and my skin fried looking for about two years.

Being a home grown redhead in no way hurt my hair for henna is a vegetable dye without injurious chemical action. Actually, it made my hair appear more lustrous because henna smoothly coats the hair strands themselves. The only thing for which I criticize myself is that blazing tan that clashed so loudly with my bright hair, for now I know that all red hair, whether natural or drugstore, requires a clear, light skin to enhance it.

If you are thinking of changing your hair to red either with henna or a combination of henna bleach, I cannot emphasize it enough that the important factor, the one that will make you look either goonish or glowing, is your skin tone and that alone. If your complexion is flushed, muddy, sallow, or tanned, henna is not for you. But you still might experiment with one of the red rinses that will wash out at your next shampooing. Why not try one? They're fun.

To talk at a tangent, a word about permanents. They are excellent for hair so baby fine that it is almost impossible to hold a wave, to make very thin hair appear thicker, and a permanent on the ends of the hair does make some hair styles prettier. But isn't there anybody besides myself who likes straight hair? I so rarely see glistening, thick straight hair, so alive it swirls with the girl's movements and bounces when she walks. But I do see, unfortunately, female after misguided female with burnt, brittle, dull, dry hair with fuzzy, broken ends and a monotony of curls. How I admire seeing, when I occasionally do, thick, clean, shining, unashamedly straight hair, and I wish I saw more of it. By Honey, see you next week.

Mona.

Texas Tech Fresh Spend Busy Week

Lubbock. — New students at Texas Technological College have learned that campus life is more than just enrolling and wearing green freshmen caps. They spent a busy week, lining up classes during the day and taking advantage of programs every night. They first attended a reception and met President and Mrs. D. M. Wiggins and Vice President and Mrs. E. N. Jones. Tuesday night they witnessed the Texas Tech Chamber of Commerce Jamboree and were treated to a coke party.

The Association of Women Students entertained all freshmen women at a party the next evening, while the Student Council and Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity held a stag party for freshmen men students.

Thursday night, the students were initiated into Tech's improved dormitory setup. Student centers at Lubbock churches held open houses for the frosh Friday night.

Jetton At Brooks Army Hospital At San Antonio

Pfc. William Ray Jetton, who was wounded in the fighting in Korea on August 14 is now at the Brooks Army Hospital, San Antonio, according to a letter from him the past week.

Jetton suffered wounds in the shoulder, neck and jaw when he was caught by a burst from a sub-machine gun in the hands of a North Korean soldier. His present address is Pfc. William R. Jetton, RA18347550, Ward 37, Annex IV, Brooks Army Hospital, San Antonio, Texas. He would be happy to hear from any one in Lockney. He is the son of Mrs. Oscar Jetton, former Lockney resident, now living at Gainesville.

Following is a letter Jetton wrote to The Beacon telling of his adventure in Korea:

Dear Ed,

Will drop you a few lines to let you know where I'm at and what I'm doing here. I am at Osaka Japan and I'm in the hospital from a North Korean Tommy Gun. I got hit August 14. I was hit in the shoulder, neck and jaw. The one that hit me in the jaw came out my mouth making a split in my lip an inch long. It knocked out seven teeth and broke my jaw bone.

What happened is that my company was making an attack on a hill that was occupied by North Koreans. We were half way up and our left flank got pinned down by a sniper with a burp-gun. My squad leader and I dropped down in a gully on the hill and I guess that he spotted us. He opened up on us with the burp-gun. Our plan was to get to him and drop some grenades on him. I caught a burst of the burp-gun and got hit. I didn't think I was hit too bad. I had a captured burp-gun and I sent a couple of bursts up at him. Then I saw the place that the sniper was going to the 4 winds. My squad leader had got up to him and dropped some grenades in with him. I got out of the gully and my platoon leader saw me and he said that my whole face was covered with blood and my shirt torn to shreds on my right side. I guess that he saw me the same time my platoon Sergeant saw me. My platoon Sergeant took out my first aid packet and he took his and the platoon leaders and gave me his. My platoon Sergeant after he had bandaged me up took off his shirt and put it over me to keep me warm and to prevent shock. To the end of my days I will be grateful to Sergeant First Class Ralph Secor for what he did for me. I want other people to know that there are men on the front lines in Korea that will do anything for his buddy.

I remember one time at 3 o'clock in the morning the enemy attacked us while we were on hill 165. We had chased the enemy off it that afternoon. The next morning at 3 o'clock they came in the force of about 300 to 500 strong. They started blowing whistles and screaming as they came in on us. They would come right up to a foot of a foxhole and drop a grenade or try to drop a grenade in the foxhole with us. One of our men dragged one into the foxhole with him and bayoneted him. That man got the Silver Star. The attack lasted until around 8 o'clock in the morning. After the attack we stuck our heads up for a look around. I saw two North Koreans within 4 feet of my foxhole. It was a good thing they were dead. I must have got them when they tried to come up on me. We lost 7 men on that attack and 5 wounded.

Don't let anyone tell you that the fighting in Korea isn't bad cause it is rougher than the last war. I have seen companies wiped out and men blown to bits. Tell the people at home to pray for the boys that are in Korea fighting because they need prayer to bring them back. A friend, P. F. C. William R. Jetton. William Penn fostered freedom of the press in Philadelphia.

College Students Return To School

Last week was back to school week for the students attending various colleges from Lockney. As usual Lockney had a large number to leave. For some it is the first year and of course that means the little green caps and the horror of initiation, which really isn't so bad. For others it is either the second or third year, which is only going back to school. The last group are going back knowing that graduation is just around the corner and hoping that a bright future lies ahead of them.

Those attending West Texas State College are: Kay Norman, Eddy Wayne Cooper, Mary Louise Manning, Lena Sue Babitzke, Donnie Myers, and Lonnie Seaman.

Students attending Texas Tech are: Henry Neil Schacht, Tena Foster, Gene Messer, Delbert Shearer, Beth Kellison, Edwin Langford and Joyce Carthel. Those attending McMurry are: Janice Thompson, Janet Huffman, Sam Daniels and Hugh Daniels.

Attending Bethny College in Oklahoma is Charles Crouch and attending Business College in Plainview is Bonnie Harrison.

The Pilgrims brought with them the germ of a free press.

If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children; how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask Him?—Luke 11:13.

Some define middle age as that time in everyone's life when a night out is followed by a day in.

There is no reasoning with blind and dumb ignorance.

The wrong in hoarding is that by it the individual who is fortunate enough to have enough money buys up food items to the extent that the man of small means who must necessarily buy from day to day, is deprived of his share.

Those who venture a prediction say that the Korean war and others that will be the outcome of it may last for several years. The realistic view of the situation is that Russia is trying out first to see how far she can go before she is jerked up and second to find out what new weapons we have to carry on a war and also to test out her own weapons and tactics. The considered feeling is that Russia will go as far as we permit her.

A local family proudly displays an old silver watch with a chain slightly smaller than a log chain, which belonged to grandfather. A neighbor, upon being permitted to view it, says that he now understands why grandfather walked with such a stoop.

It is difficult to win an argument by the use of logic since it is difficult to find an opponent who understands your logic.

We congratulate the dock workers who refused to unloan Russian crab meat. We have quite enough Russian crab in Jake Malik.

One commentator puts it this way, following the rebuke of General MacArthur: The official government policy seems to be to take a firm stand on Formosa, but not very.

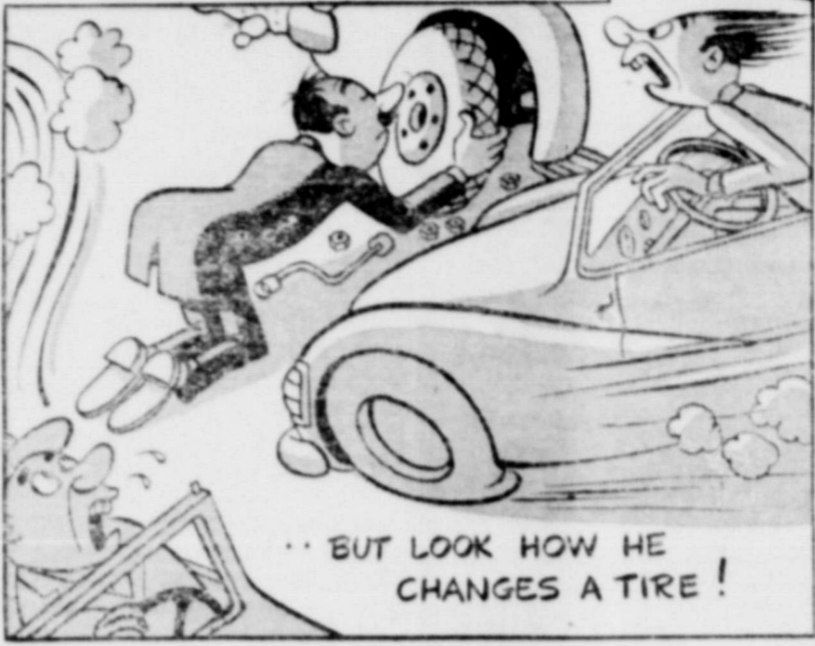

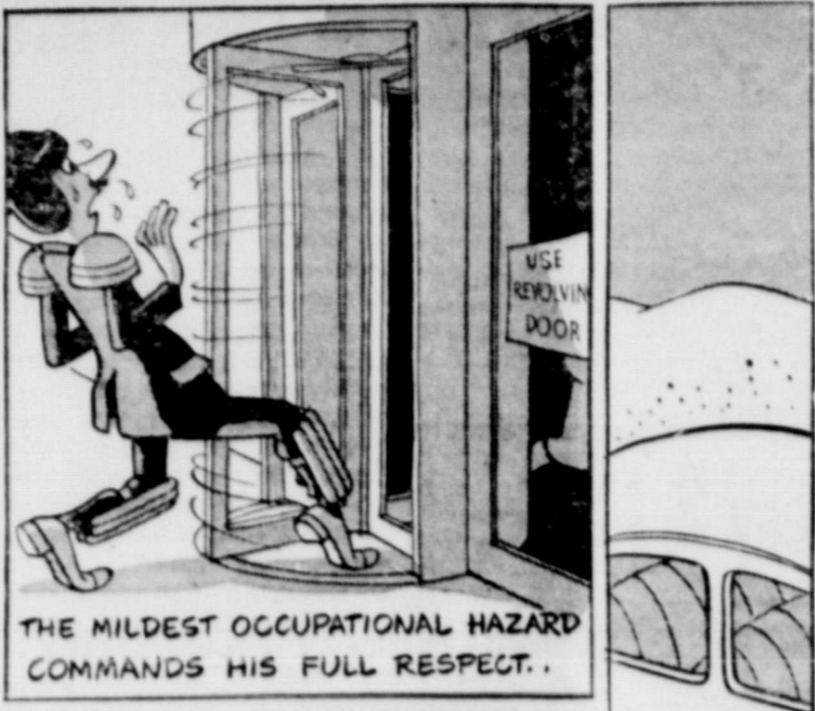

The hydrogen bomb, so we see by the papers, is to be manufactured some place in Southern Missouri, Arkansas or Eastern Oklahoma. This will be a pretty tame experience for some of the natives who in the past have built up a reputation for the manufacture of a grade of white mule for which that section is famous.

Our information is that whatever one does for self protection following the explosion of an A-bomb in his vicinity must be done within one second following the explosion. It is suggested that the proper procedure for one caught in the open, is to convert himself into a neat compact ball within one second. We have timed ourself and we find it impossible to convert our awkward form into the prescribed shape in the time allotted. Then how is one supposed to know whether it is an A-bomb exploding or merely a truck back-firing. The prospects of a dozen such strenuous nip-ups in a morning bewilders us.

SCHOOL KIDS TAKE OVER—

With the beginning of school last week the kids of the Dimmitt school district took over the streets of our town as their own to cross or use as they please. On their way to school many of them are not in too good humor. They believe that the rest of the world has conspired against them to place them in bondage for nine months to teach them things they are not interested in learning. While in that frame of mind they may become careless and forget to look up and down the street before crossing. And then in the afternoons when school is out and a brief respite from studying and learning about things is offered, they are apt to be over eager to get to their favorite spot of recreation, or home for a bite to eat, or any of the other things that would cause a kid to fail to look in both directions before crossing a street. That's the situation in Dimmitt today and for the next nine months. It's up to the motorists to look out for their well-fare and see that they come safely through the period and later have an opportunity to use the knowledge they have been forced to secure against their will. The kids will forget some of the traffic rules and regulations as they use the streets during the coming months, and motorists will be forced to give up some of their rights if tragedies are to be avoided. Give the kids a break, drive carefully, drive slow, don't try to figure out what the young'un is going to do, he probably doesn't know himself. —Castro County News.

COTTON BILL SHELVED

The Senate Agricultural committee seems to have acted in accordance with the national welfare in pigeonholing a new Cotton Acreage Allotment bill for 1951 and 1952. Even advocates of the measure agree that prospects for passage of any such measure this year are extremely remote.

Whatever justifications may have existed for tightened controls when the bill was passed by the House several weeks ago have been removed by the crisis in Korea. During the House deliberations, the prospects were that, even with controls, the crops of 1950 and the succeeding two years would add further to a cotton surplus then placed at about 8,000,000 bales.

That prospect has been changed radically. The surplus of a few weeks ago has been cut in half. Many conservative observers believe the nation and the world will be fortunate, in view of the reduced surplus and the short 1950 crop, if a serious cotton shortage does not develop before the 1951 harvest. Yet this bill proposed, in effect, to curtail production next year through restrictions upon the areas which can expand acreage most easily and can produce cotton most cheaply.

These areas include, in the order of their potential production importance, the Texas South Plains, the San Joaquin valley of California, Central Arizona and the Upper Rio Grande valley. The bill as passed by the House would have taken acreage from these areas and handed it to East Texas and Old South, where cotton production has been declining for many years, where production costs are high and crops more uncertain than in the Southwest and West.

The developments in the Senate do not mean the end of acreage controls next year. The prospects are that quotas of one kind or another will remain in effect. But the prospects are most favorable that acreage allotments in such areas as the South Plains will be no smaller than this year, and can be increased substantially and quickly in case of need.

By bottling the bill, the Senate committee has reduced the danger that any cotton shortages which may occur will be of short duration. Supplies are likely to run low before the 1951 harvest, and nothing can be done now to improve that prospect. But there should be enough staple to avert a serious crisis before the 1951 cotton begins to come in—and, by blocking the pending bill, the Senate Agriculture committee has given insurance that 1951 production will be sufficient for whatever needs may exist then.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Drawing Held For Antelope Hunt

The drawing for permits to hunt antelope in the Trans-Pecos area during the 1950 open season was held in Austin on September 11th, according to the Chief Clerk of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission.

Antelope hunting licenses will be issued within the next ten days to the first 337 applicants drawn from a total of 571 applications. The names of all applicants, some single applications and others by hunting parties, were drawn by a representative of the International News Service.

James Carroll was here last week visiting with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Carroll before leaving for the U. S. Army.

Farmers Hold— (Continued from page 1)

County Agent Gibson and from Robert Stewart, manager of Lockview Farm, among others. Gibson pointed out that last year Floyd County had 88,000 acres of cotton and harvested 71,600 bales of cotton. This year, he said, 31,000 acres were planted but the bugs and hail reduced that acreage to about 40,000 and he felt that Floyd County would be lucky to harvest 35,000 bales. He predicted that there would be a plentiful supply of labor.

Speaking further in discussion of the boll worm, and leaf worm infestation, Gibson said that some old cotton had developed a second growth and he recommended that the farmer let the worms eat on the second growth since it could not benefit him anyway. Also he stated that the leaf worm in some cases might be doing a good thing in defoliating the cotton for the farmer. However he said that if the farmer had young cotton he should poison for boll worms if they are working in the cotton. He said that he did not believe there were many boll worms in the county at the present time.

Other discussions at the meeting included a report on the regional farm bureau meeting at Plainview by Ben Quebe. Among other things Mr. Quebe said that farmers were warned against using farm labor under 16 years of age.

Some discussion on social security for agricultural labor was heard. Mr. Wiley reported that there is a bill in the congress at present on this issue.

Harry Hartman of the South Plains community discussed the growing of castor beans in this area, a report of which is given elsewhere in this paper.
