Lace also decorated the sleeves, neck and a tier fingertip veil of imported illusion edged in lace fell from a band of orange blossoms. She carried a fan-shaped bouquet of white gladioli centered with baby orchids on top of a white Bible flowing with satin streamers.

The bride's table laid with a white cut-work cloth over blue was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom flanked by blue tapers in crystal holders. Arrangements of gladioli completed the dining room decorations. Blue napkins lettered in silver bore the names Jeanne and Mark. Mrs. F. A. Zedrow, aunt of the bride, served cake. Miss Burleson and Mrs. Wesley poured.

For going away the bride chose a natural colored shantung suit trimmed with navy and navy accessories. Her corsage was baby orchids. The couple is at home at Kermit. Vets May Lose GI Insurance If Policy Expires

Veterans whose First Period Of Service in the Armed Forces be- gan after September 2, 1945, will lose all rights to any further GI Insurance if they let their pres- ent term policies expire. Veter- ans Administration, in making the announcement today, said these Veterans must do one of two things before their term pol- icies expire if they wish to re- tain National Service Life Insur- ance thereafter under the present law. They are:
1. Renew for another Five-year term; or
2. Convert to one or more of the six available permanent plans of National Service Life Insurance.
This requirement is contained in the NSLI Act of 1940, as a- mended, which stipulates that after discharge, only those who had Active Service between Oct- ober 8, 1940 and September 2, 1945, may be granted new Insur- ance.
This means, Veterans Admin- istration said, that if a Veteran's first period of service began after September 2, 1945, and he per- mits his Term Policy to expire without renewing or converting, he cannot apply for new insur- ance unless he re-enters active service.
Term NSLI Policies issued be- fore January 1, 1946 expire eight years from date of issue. Term NSLI Policies issued on or after January 1, 1946 expire five years from the date of issue.
These expiration periods are significant for Veterans whose first period of service began af- ter September 2, 1945, and who took out Term NSLI while in service.
If they took out their Term Policies before January 1, 1946, they have eight years from the date of issue to renew or convert before the expiration of their policies.
If they took out their Term NSLI Policies on or after Janu- ary 1, 1946, they have only five years from the date of issue to renew or convert before expira- tion.
There is still another group afected by another date. This group includes those who took out NSLI Term Policies on or after January 1, 1948. These Policies, under the present law, may not be renewed at their ex- piration, but they may be con- verted at any time prior to their expiration.

If you're being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things unto them that ask him?—Matt. 7:11.

It is apparent that the national administration is making additional statements of this kind and on various subjects with the intent to "wake up" the people to a more concentrated defensive effort. Presumably we are of the opinion that the administration needs waking up much more than do the people of this nation. Their various attitudes of "politics as usual" is much more of a detriment to the nation than the "business as usual" policy they are trying to combat.

ment to the nation that the "business as usual" policy they are trying to combat. If this nation is really facing the crisis that our leaders would have us believe we are really lacking in the type of leadership we need to face such a crisis.

Take for instance the administration's present fight with General Marshall over the nation's policy with Red China. Mr. Truman and his fellow travelers are wanting to play the safety game of avoiding any real tests and pretending that we are not really at war with Red China—that we are fighting only North Korea, Czechoslovakia and Denmark also want to play that game, chiefly because both nations have a very profitable trade built up with the Communists. The General has the upper idea that maybe we are at war with the Chinese since they are deserting at an astounding rate to go ahead and join China just as we have invited North Korea and also we are the 136,000 Nationalist Chinese troops that are now sitting idly in Formosa while our American boys are fighting and dying in Korea—especially since the Nationalists want to join the fight.

Personally we hope that the nation can hold things together until November 1952. We think there's going to be a change then.

Close price loyalty, desire for cleanliness and sanitation or whatever it might be that motivates us, everyone of the citizens of Lockney should cooperate to the fullest with the Public Health Department's Clean Up Day—April 25. Thorough plans have been worked out. The only thing that is needed now to assure Lockney of being the cleanest city in West Texas is everyone's cooperation. Let's do our part.

The acquisition of many things in this world may be the result of a happy break in the form of events or a special aptitude expressed at the strategic moment, but the achievement of happiness in the conventional sense is not an accident. It is attained through deliberate effort.

As a rule we do not believe in hypocrisy, but there is one instance in which we believe it is justified and that is when it is necessary to agree with a boss to get rid of him. Nothing an emergency justifies anything short of cold blooded murder.

WHO PAYS THE TAXES . . .

A prominent local rancher . . . a man who owns both town and rural property, by the way . . . was in our office a few days ago, following publication of a report in The Record concerning proposed increases in county property valuations . . . and he was considerably upset over the report that valuations on ranch land were to be increased from an average of $4 per acre to an average $6 per acre (an increase of one third, he pointed out) while valuations of town property were to be boosted only 10 per cent on the average.

This, he asserted, was inequitable and unfair . . . but then we shocked and surprised him by assuring him that he would be the last person in the world to want absolutely "equal" assessments. The present tax assessments, we said, are unequal, all right, but the big end of the burden is on the owners of city property . . . not on the rancher and the farmer.

The law says that all property shall be valued and assessed, for tax purposes, on the basis of "fair market value."

How much ranch land in Hemphill county can you buy for $6 an acre?

County valuations for tax purposes on farm and ranch land, unimproved, are based, conservatively, on about 20 percent of the "fair market value."

Valuations for tax purposes on farm improvements (which are being assessed for the first time this year) are based, conservatively, on about 10 per cent of "fair market value."

And valuations for tax purposes on personal property . . . which hits hardest at my business men on their stocks of merchandise . . . are based on 60 per cent of "fair market value."

These percentages are not official, of course, but they're approximately correct, just the same.

So what happens? The rancher who owns unimproved acreage with a fair market value of say, $10,000 pays taxes on about $2,000 valuation. And on his rural improvements valued at $10,000 he pays on a $2,000 valuation.

And if he happens to be in business and has a stock of merchandise valued at $10,000 he pays on a valuation of $6,000.

This is a common practice . . . but it's not equalization, by a long shot. We doubt if there is a county in Texas where taxes are assessed, according to the letter of the law, on the basis of "fair market value."

We are not even advocating that they should be. That's another question entirely.

What we were trying to point out is that even with a 30 per cent increase in tax valuations over last year, owners of ranch property are not being treated unfairly on their tax assessments. Rural property owners are still paying considerably less, proportionately, than their city neighbors . . . and less, by a good deal, than my business men.

Don't take our word for it . . . check up on the tax bills you send. But in every case of rural property think twice before demanding real "equalization" of the tax bills.—Canadian Record.

NOT FAIR . . .

Since the bitter days of the Civil War the United States has continued along a path which has seen the development of a non-discrimination draft policy. This policy was apparently tested to the hilt last week when President Harry S. Truman issued draft regulations to permit deferment for an undetermined number of college students whose selective service funds by a testing program failed to warrant their studies.

According to reports, the order does not apply to high school students or those who would enter college for the first time this fall. It only applies to those men now in college who plan to continue their studies, and to graduate students.

Presumably the argument presented that the nation needs trained technical men in placeable to many, but more the non-discrimination program is broken, who is to say where the final line shall be drawn?

It is certain groups were exempted from actual combat duty during World War II on religious grounds, but not from service. If a college student is granted a deferment on mental ability, who is to say a farm youth, auto mechanic, etc., should not be deferred on the basis of training to insure the nation's future security?

To make it plain, the program does not have the appearance of equal sacrifices for all. If we are to be engaged in wars and more wars, let every man bear his part of the burden.—Hockley County Herald.

OUR DEMOCRACY — by Mat

The Will of the People is the only legitimate Foundation of any Government and to protect its Free Expression should be our First Object.

IN THOSE WORDS, THOMAS JEFFERSON HAPPILY SUMMARIZED THE INHERENT STRENGTH OF THE DEMOCRATIC STRUCTURE.

THE RIGHT OF THE INDIVIDUAL, IN AMERICA, TO VOICE HIS OPINIONS AND VOTE FOR HIS CONVICTIONS, GIVES OUR DEMOCRACY THE ESSENTIAL VITALITY FOR GROWTH AND PROGRESS THROUGH THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE.

San Angelo Says Reported Matador Land Sale True
 San Angelo.—The San Angelo Standard-Times said last week end that a New York syndicate has purchased the Matador Land and Cattle Company for $20,000,000.

In a special story from New York City, the newspaper said information on the sale came from "unquestioned authority."

The general manager of the company, John MacKenzie of Denver, Thursday night denied the vast ranching interests would be sold.

But the Standard-Times said formal approval of the sale is expected at the 69th annual meeting of stockholders at Dundee, Scotland, April 16. It said a majority of the stockholders have committed themselves to accept the recommendation of the sale by directors of the company.

Details of the purchase are still being worked out, the story said. Exchange complications were reported, due to the fact the purchase money is to be paid in American dollars, but the British government is taking dollars and paying the shareholders in pound sterling.

Many shares are owned by residents of the United States. The new owners are expected to dissolve the company and sell the land. Stockholders of the present Matador company are scheduled to retain part of the mineral rights. The Matador company has 803,000 acres of ranching lands in Oldham, Hartley, Crosby, Cottle, Floyd, Dickens and Motley counties.

Wayland Honor Roll Is Released

Plainview.—Bob Hilburn maintained a straight A average to head the latest honor roll at Wayland College, Dean H. Preston James said here today.

Bob is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Hilburn of Plainview. Mr. Hilburn is editor of the Plainview Herald.

There is a smaller number on the honor roll this time because the standards have been raised. Students must have higher than a B average to be on the list.

Huntin' AND Fishin'
 By Harve Pennington

We now come to the wet fly. While the dry fly is constructed to float and be fished on the surface, the wet fly is made to be fished underwater. Usually it is tied on a heavy hook with soft hackles and other materials which tend to absorb rather than repel water. Hackles and wings—if any—should slant back toward the point of the hook, and if the hackles do not spread out from the sides, so much the better. This construction enables a wet fly to slip easily through the surface film of the water.

As a general rule wet flies should be sparsely tied. However there are exceptions to this rule, particularly in the case of those wet flies designed for catching brook trout, for these fish seem to prefer wet flies that are bulky. A wet fly may imitate immature insects in the various stages of their development—nymphs, larval or pupal. They may imitate drowned flies, those which are spent and are swept helplessly along by the current. Other wet flies imitate freshwater shrimp, or they may resemble small minnows or other fish.

Streamer flies and bucktails are not included here, for while these are fished wet and imitate minnows, their inclusion here might be confusing to the beginner. And the beginner is almost certain to be confused enough when he first looks over the vast array of wet flies and nymphs on display in tackle stores. He may think that all those designs and colors are needed to be a successful fly fisherman. Actually it is doubtful if one experienced fisherman in a thousand uses regularly more than a dozen patterns, and often the number is less. One seasoned fisherman started with six patterns some 40 years ago, and they still are among his favorites. Then why so many different kinds? One reason that sooner or later each of us runs into conditions where our favorites fail to produce, and we feel something else is needed. If we have imagination and can tie flies, then and there a new fly pattern is born. So don't be dismayed at the many patterns but stick by the good old stand-bys which have been taking trout for many, many years, and doubtless will continue to take them as long as there's trout to take.

Spring has officially arrived and this usually signals the beginning of a stepped-up gardening program. There is still time to get the spring garden going. It will provide lots of good exercise; help supply the family with the fresh vegetables needed and will help stretch the food budget.

What Does It Cost to Drive Your Car One Mile?

Lots of folks determine this by dividing the cost of a gallon of gas by the miles-per-gallon they get from their car. But for the TRUTH on cost-per-mile, try this method:

Divide the total cost of a YEAR'S driving (including oil, lubrication, repairs, parts etc.) by total amount mileage. Folks that trust their autos to us, find that cost-per-mile GOES WAY DOWN—because our experts keep cars running at peak efficiency, making minor preventive adjustments that ward off major repairs.

IT'S A PUT-UP JOB!

This pretty homemaker was snapped by a passing cameraman as the first breath of spring inspired her to get busy at the annual job of putting up canvas awnings on her windows. She absorbs her quota of sunbeams in a brief shorts outfit made of cotton canvas, while she puts up the awnings to protect her home from the sun. She may be a put-up girl here—but she also qualifies as a pin-up!

Sunday. They were dinner guests and afternoon visitors.

Game Night And Play Benefit Band

At a meeting of band mothers on Wednesday, April 4 it was decided to sponsor a game night to benefit the Lockney School band. Mrs. Joe Foster will have charge of the entertainment to be held the last of April. Also a play is being prepared by band members under the direction of Mrs. Hershel Carthel to be presented soon.

Mr. Tremble made a report to the Band Mothers Club stating that $120 was cleared from the band concert. Miss Mary Spence of Plainview presented the band with a $44 concert drum. The Lockney band will take part in an annual contest to be held at W. T. S. C. Canyon on April 26. Mr. Tremble said. The local group has a better chance to make a high mark in the contest this year, the band director said, because of a number of important new instruments recently added. The band will participate in Class B instead of class A.

New officers were elected to serve during the 1951-1952 term. They are: president, Mrs. Joe Foster; vice president, Mrs. Frank Brown; secretary, Mrs. Hugh Marble; treasurer, Mrs. Lloyd Reidhimer; reporter, Mrs. E. R. Hays.
